3000 Persons Clamor For Resignation Of Daladier Cabinet In Wild Demonstration

PARIS, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—Troops were called out to reinforce police battling with a mob in the Place de la Concorde across from the Chamber of Deputies today. A mob estimated at 3,000 men had broken into a mad riot across a bridge over the Seine which divides the Place from the Chamber building. They howled "Resign, resign" and their voices were heard into the Chamber. An auto bus caught in the jam was destroyed by fire. Mounted and foot police charged into the demonstrators repeatedly and were pelted by stones and broken glass. The police called for the troops. In the midst of this wild demonstration the Chamber of Deputies passed its second vote of confidence of the day in Premier Edouard Daladier. It gave (Continued On Page Three)

Fire Chief Asks Help From Local Motorists

An appeal was made today by Fire Chief Mac Cleveland that persons hurrying to the scene of a fire should not drive automobile or trucks over the fire hose which is stretched along the street, either when the hose is empty or filled with water. Chief Cleveland also urges residents not to block streets, leading to the scene of any fire with motor vehicles of any kind. "We never know when we may have to send for another fire truck or piece of equipment," he said, "and although we have been delayed only a little because of blocked streets near fires, there may come a time when we will need plenty of cleared space in streets so that we may properly handle a fire." Chief Cleveland asks motorists to park their cars at least two blocks away from any fire unless they are able to use vacant lots or driveways nearer, and provided they may be reached without driving over hose.

Local Hunters Bag 18 Pound Turkey Gobbler

Two local hunters—Charles F. Marshall and Daniel Obery—returned from a hunting trip in the Wekiwa Swamp late Saturday night with a prize that many sportsmen have long wished for—an 18 and one-half pound genuine bronze wild turkey gobbler. Mr. Marshall is authority for the statement that these birds are very rarely seen because they are scarce, and the utmost skill is required to bring one within shooting distance. A corn cob turkey caller that Mr. Marshall has been using for years was employed to decoy this turkey to the scene.

BREAK LOWER TARIFFS

HAVANA, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—A committee representing American fruit and vegetable growers on the Isle of Pines, off Cuba's southern coast, yesterday called on Jefferson Caffrey, President Roosevelt's representative in Cuba, to urge lower United States tariffs for sale of Pines fruits and vegetables.

Cawthon Takes No Action On Charge That Distribution Of Federal School Cash Is Unfair

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—A charge that distribution of federal school money in Florida was on an "unfair basis" drew from W. S. Cawthon, superintendent of public schools, yesterday only a reply that he hoped the protests would be "heard in Washington." "We protest," W. J. Walker, Manatee county school superintendent, telegraphed, "the use of federal aid through your office to continue or supplement the present teachers' salaries unless distribution is made on a teacher-unit basis, and is uniform in all counties whether schools many classes or not. Counties which set salaries within the budget and will run the full term should not be penalized for efficiency. It is unfair to teachers in such counties."

The federal government directed payment of salaries through the relief administration to teachers whose schools are closed because of lack of local and state funds. Cawthon replied to Walker that the education department here was requested only to furnish information to federal education authorities, who direct the method of distribution. The state department does not handle the money. Cawthon said while he favored distribution on a teacher-unit basis, he would cooperate in compiling necessary information for this state. "We want to help all we can in getting whatever federal fund is allocated for the aid of our schools," he said.

3 St. Augustine Men Believed Drowned

ST. AUGUSTINE, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—An empty green canoe bobbing about on the surging waters of an inlet near here told the fate of three young St. Augustine men who paddled off to fish Saturday afternoon. The shrimp boat found the canoe about 5:30. Positive word of the finding of the canoe was not flashed here until yesterday and meanwhile airplanes and a fleet of fishing boats and private craft had combed nearby waters in a frantic search. Two men in an airplane had seen the missing men—Betram Dale, W. C. Carter and Howard Gordon—fishing in the inlet about 4:30 Saturday afternoon. The shrimp boat found the canoe about 5:30.

Mystery Covers Death Of Jacksonville Pa Jar

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—A mystery which divided police opinion into three lines of investigation last night surrounded the deaths of two elderly women found slain at their cottage in a quiet residential district here yesterday. Authorities were at a loss to understand of whose hand Mrs. Laura Mae Green, 81, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Rae Anderson, 60, came to their deaths. Mrs. Anderson was beaten to death with a hammer and her mother had been stabbed through the heart.

Gold Price Moves Up On Foreign Exchange

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—A gold price jump to a new high record level and weakness of the French franc yesterday relegated dollar dealings to a place of subordinate interest on the foreign exchange market. The United States dollar closed at $4.93 3/4 to the pound, little changed from Saturday's quotation of $4.93 1/2. Gold advanced to the record price of 140 shillings a fine ounce ($34.51 on the basis of a pound quotation at $4.93).

Seminole County Leads In Pushing Florida Celery Week Campaign In State

Celery growers of Florida, about 300 of them, had been advised today that Seminole County will take the lead in sponsoring Florida Celery Week which begins on Feb. 19. These growers also were advised that they can lend a hand in the drive to make all visitors to, and residents of, Florida conscious that one of Florida's finest products is celery, by spending only three cents. The three cents will buy the stamp for a letter which they are urged to write to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. This letter should contain the names of at least five out-of-Florida friends or relatives of the writer. All of these out-of-Florida persons will be sent booklets telling of the health-giving properties of celery, recipes showing how easily celery may be prepared for eating, and other data of a similar nature. "The idea is to advertise Florida celery in a big way," each celery

MARRIAGE RULED NO BAR AGAINST SCHOOL TEACHING

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—Married school teachers got a break today as the supreme court ruled that they must be considered on an equal footing with unmarried women in employment when they comply with the statutory requirements of teacher ability. The county board of public instruction is without authority, the court held, to reject the nominations of district school teachers except upon valid grounds, and the mere fact that a teacher is married or has an independent source of income was held insufficient to reject a teachers' nomination.

Senior Fairbanks Named As Party To Action For Divorce

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—Douglas Fairbanks, 52, American film star, was served notice today that he had been named as a respondent in a divorce action instituted by young Lord Ashley against his wife, Lady Ashley. Lord Ashley, whose family is one of the most impressive in England, was educated at Eton and the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst and Cambridge University. He and his pretty brown-haired wife, the former Sylvia Haskett of the stage, had been married since January, 1928, after less than a year of wedded life.

Missouri Quits Trial Of Lynch Mob Leaders

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—The state's attempt to punish leaders of the mob that lynched Edward Warner, negro youth, here the night of Nov. 28, 1932, failed yesterday. All pending cases will be dismissed as the result of the refusal of a jury Saturday night of Walter Gardner, one of the men charged with first degree murder in connection with the lynching. In making the announcement at Jefferson City, Attorney General McKittick said that Gardner was the strongest link in the chain of evidence. Gardner was the strongest link in the chain of evidence.

Farm Hand Describes Killing Of Employer

CANNONVILLE, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—James W. Hill, 32 years old farm hand, yesterday told a grand jury that he was the man who shot and killed Mrs. M. J. Martin, 40, on the farm here on an Ohio road. He described the killing as a "cold blooded" murder. Mrs. Martin was shot in the back of the head with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver. She was found lying on the ground, and her body was discovered by a neighbor who called the police.

Altamonte Town Board To Decide Maltbie Suit

The Altamonte Springs town council will deal directly with former mayor B. E. Maltbie who had indicated that he would bring suit against the town for $2,000 in connection with a loan he made the town in 1926 for road building purposes. Taxpayers and residents, pathing their way through a lively debate over the matter, decided to give the town council full authority in the matter.

MORE RECORDS FALL IN STOCK MART TRADING

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—Securities markets raced forward afresh yesterday, trading in corporate bonds in the New York Stock Exchange reaching their largest volume on record. American markets were undisturbed by a sharp decline in the French franc, and a jump in the Paris bourse. In fact, foreign funds continued to pour heavily into American securities, indicating that political tension in France may be driving timid capital to New York.

Married Women Given Break By Ruling Of State Supreme Body

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

FEAR DESTROYED: Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee, yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. Isaiah 41:10.

THE BACK

Time is a phantom that I chase,
But he cludes me in the race,
I try to catch him as he goes,
Yet he escapes me on tiptoes.
I tried once quick to hold his hands,
But he moved fast, with rapid hands.
He glided past a month, a year,
And left me shivering with fear.
Both day and night he treads
The same old path of my dreams.
While I am weighted down with
Some day no phantom shall I chase,
But time will still keep up the race.
—Gatha Wood Taylor.

Chief difference between 1933 and 1934 is that in 1934 it was criminal to possess whiskey and in 1934 it is criminal to possess gold. —Wichita Eagle.

Having found out over its mania for noting even with the advantage of an American reorganized government. It is, of course, impossible for any government to satisfy everyone and please those anyone who isn't satisfied is pretty likely to be a revolutionist.

Almost everyone who has any thing to say about it is in favor of continuing the CWA rent work. But the rent work is costing the government in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 a week. That is at the rate of $2,000,000,000 a year. That is almost as much as the cost of operating the federal government, including veterans pensions, three or four years ago.

We see no reason why unemployed bridge experts should not be given jobs by the CWA, teaching bridge lessons to other unemployed, as they are in New York, if unemployed laboring men are to be given jobs digging ditches. An unemployed bridge expert, biologists tell us, can get just as hungry as an unemployed laborer.

We see by the papers that the city of Miami Beach is having a veritable boom this winter. Building permits in that resort climbed above half a million dollars during the month of January. That is an all time record. The largest amount of building permits issued during any one month prior to this January was during the same month in 1926 when the total was $411,000. Miami Beach is setting a pace which may stir other Florida cities out of their inertia.

Rumor has it that the fourteen Army engineers located in Sanford by the War Department for the purpose of conducting a survey of the proposed St. Johns Indian River canal are also looking into the advisability of digging a cross-state canal through this section. Such activities on the part of the federal government, if actually carried through to their logical conclusion, will prove a boost to Sanford that would make the 1926 boom look sick by comparison.

Asher Frank laments the fact that last year saw the deaths of fourteen children between the ages of 10 and 14 who were killed in accidents while driving automobiles. He insists that children of these tender years already prohibited by law from driving cars, should not drive them. Many children, however, of 10 or 14 years, are more alert, better drivers, than their parents of 45 or their grandparents of 65 and 70, none of whom is prevented by law from driving, even though he be deaf, dumb and blind. A driver's license law, by which one would have to prove he could drive, might be fair to both the 14 year old child and to his grandparents.

Saving A Fortune

World-wide depressions do not make all people free, but they are likely to make them equal—equal in the sense that they are all broke; that they all have equally little of the world's money. In 1928 there were 511 persons who boasted incomes in excess of one million dollars a year; in 1932 there were only 20; the rest, presumably, had slid down the ladder. In 1928 there were 43,200 persons with incomes of at least $50,000 a year; in 1932 there were only 7,430; 35,770 millionaires had lost their money.

For centuries periodic depressions have been recognized as the great leveler of all classes. During prosperity a few men get richer and richer; then a slump comes and everybody loses everything. They all start out again from scratch, or nearly so. Samuel Crowther says in this month's Cosmopolitan that only one large fortune in America is over a hundred years old—that is the Astor estate. The three largest fortunes in America—the Ford, Rockefeller, and Mellon estates—are still in the first generation.

In his interesting article, "From Shirtless to Shirt-sleeves," Mr. Crowther shows that large fortunes inevitably vanish quickly, that the more spectacular fortunes are generally dissipated during the lifetime of the maker, and that no one has yet figured out any really safe way of preserving a fortune. The Astor estate may prove to be an exception, but he insists that if the present trend of high taxation and low rents in New York City continues, even this estate may prove to be more of a liability than an asset.

The Vanderbilt and Gould estates are no longer large and seem gradually to be disintegrating, he says. Of the few large estates in the third generation, that of the late Payne Whitney is notable. When Payne Whitney died in 1927, his estate was appraised at $186,000,000. In an accounting filed in 1929, it had increased to $239,000,000. By 1931, it was back to 1927 figures—a loss of $53,000,000.

Edith Rockefeller McCormick of Chicago, was once known as the world's richest woman—the daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., she married into the wealthy McCormick family. At one time she was supposed to have at least $10,000,000. At her death, virtually all that was left was her home, too big to sell, with a mortgage of half a million dollars. Robert W. De Forest, former president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, died in 1931, leaving an estate then valued at $4,500,000. At the final accounting in 1933, the value of that estate had shrunk by 95 percent.

But if it is true that the big rich are not as big as they were, nor as rich, what has become of all the money that used to be in the country? One thing is certain. The little fellow has seen none of it for several years. We all thought that what the little fellow lost the big fellow made. We all thought that all the money in the United States had gravitated to the pockets of a few smart men who had become very rich at the expense of the general public.

If the big rich haven't got it, then who has it? Perhaps we would understand the answer to this question better if we knew more of the nature of money and wealth. If we could realize that much of the money which was made during the past decade was really paper profits, and that many of the so-called millionaires of those days were not really millionaires, they only thought they were during the real estate boom, then we might understand what became of the money.

Much of it simply evaporated, like the values of subdivisions lots. In 1929, there were 57 billion dollars on deposit in the various banks of the country. In 1933, there were only 42 billion dollars on deposit in all the banks. There's a shrinkage in the nation's money supply of 15 billion dollars. What became of all this money? Much of it was lost in banks that failed. Some of it was cancelled out when notes were paid at the banks. All of it vanished. Nobody actually has it.

Other forms of wealth have depreciated proportionately. Office buildings once worth $100,000 are now valued at $10,000. There's $30,000 of the nation's wealth which simply went up in the smoke. Corporation stocks which once sold for $300 a share now sell for $50 a share. There's $250 of the nation's wealth which has vanished into thin air. Practically all stocks and bonds have suffered in this manner. Sanford bonds which once sold for par now bring 12 or 15 cents on the dollar. The millionaire who put his money in these securities lost nearly 90 percent of his wealth.

Realizing that many persons made fabulous fortunes during the past decade, we find it difficult nevertheless to discover what they could have put their money into during the past few years where it would have been safe. A few no doubt have managed to find such a place. They were probably more lucky than wise. Before they die their luck may change. If not, the second or third generations will get rid of it for them.

Large fortunes are hard to preserve.

SIX OUT OF every ten dollars spent by the government during the past week went out through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. This single agency alone spent almost seven times as much as all of the routine government departments combined. The total expenditures of 172 million dollars for the week were divided as follows: for ordinary government functions, 13 million dollars; for emergency agencies, 154 million dollars. Of the emergency spending 116 million dollars, 75 per cent, went to the RFC. The Public Works Administration spent 13 million dollars of the emergency money, ranking second to the RFC. While it was spending 172 million dollars in a week, the government was collecting only 35 millions in revenues, leaving it a deficit of 137 million dollars which it had to make up by borrowing money.—United States News.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The board of County Commissioners of Seminole County met on Tuesday, Feb. 3, in regular session with Frank L. Woodruff, J. F. Hagan, C. W. Entminger, J. A. Clark, J. T. McLean, and E. A. Douglass in attendance.

Mrs. Ellen West Brown of Okech, Wisc. and Mrs. J. A. Lane of Brockwell, Canada are spending the winter with the former's son, Frank Brown, at "The Turkeys," near Pauls on Banana Lake.

Sunday morning at the Methodist Church the Rev. Smith Hardin, the newly appointed presiding elder of the Palatka district preached for the first time in this city. He preached an eloquent sermon and created a most favorable impression on his hearers. H. H. Hill of Tampa was greeted by many Sanford friends as he arrived at this week. Mr. Hill has a grocery store in Tampa and also has a position on the road for the wholesale firm of T. S. Lewis and Company.

PRICES AND WAGES
TAMPA TRIBUNE

The declared intention of President Roosevelt and the group of advisers who assist him in framing his economic program in dealing the quality of the money can dollar and increasing the quantity in circulation is to raise prices. It is the experience of all nations which have inflated their currencies that prices do rise when the quality of money is cheapened and the quantity increased. Therefore there is every reason to believe that prices will continue to rise. The fact is they have already risen appreciably.

The experience of nations which have followed the inflation theory is that while prices always rise wages do not always. In no case recorded have wages risen as rapidly as prices. It was this set of circumstances which caused Daniel Webster to declare: "Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money."

The situation in the United States at the beginning of this declared inflation policy is that the trend of wages is not upward, in concert with the price of commodities, but actually downward. There are exceptions to this. For example, as a result of certain NRA codes the wages of very low paid individuals have been increased. The setting of minimum rates of pay in the specific codes and of a general minimum in the blanket code has had the effect of raising the very lowest stratum of rates of pay. It is no known just how many individuals were affected by this wage raise, but the number is fairly substantial. However, the individuals who were below the minimum do not constitute the employees doing the bulk of the nation's work.

The fact which is regarded as of principal importance in relation to the entire picture of currency inflation and rising prices is that the great middle class of workers have not had their pay raised. A great many have had their pay cut down to the minimum allowed in codes, the minimum being adopted as a maximum, even though such an action is contrary to the spirit of the NRA recovery movement. Moreover, not a few employees, while not having the hourly rate of pay cut, have had their hours cut to meet NRA maximum working periods. In some cases, additional workers have been taken on to special employment, as contemplated by the NRA. In other cases, not a few have merely been cut to meet the code requirement, and other production per worker speeded up on the volume of production diminished.

There is no doubt that total employment has been materially increased. The American Federation of Labor's last report places employment in the last year at 1,800,000. That is clear gain and the New Deal is credited with having brought it about.

The matter which is deeply concerning leaders, however, is that there has been a reversal in the general trend of wage rates. In ordinary circumstances, in a situation such as obtained during the last great depression, that of 1932, a downward trend of wages would be regarded as normal. Wages customarily lag in recovery.

CWA RELIEF BILL PASSES HOUSE, 382-1

relief drain on the treasury and that the spending was preventing the normal return to business by industry. They were not registered as voting against the appropriation, however.
The Democratic leaders brought the measure up under a procedure which presented any action on amendments to increase the fund. On the roll call that this group forced, 382 voted for the appropriation and only Terrell against.
The Senate finance committee formally reported the measure favorably and Senator Harrison D. Miles, chairman, indicated it would be brought up for action tomorrow in view of the statement by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that funds available for Civil Works would be exhausted on Saturday.
The measure carries a provision to permit the federal relief administrator to make grants for relief within a state to a public agency without the consent of the governor.

Oklahoma BadMenDie In Battle With Cops

SAPULPA, Okla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The guns of Sapulpa officers Sunday had cut three from the list of wanted Oklahoma bad men, but their own ranks were augmented by the loss of two who took part Saturday in one of the bloodiest battles between the law and the lawless the state has seen in years.

Edison Wilson, robber fugitive who was brought to jail with four bullet wounds, died yesterday morning.

The others killed were: Tom Bramley, 18, Sapulpa police chief; Charles P. Flood, 32, a patrolman; A. C. Elliott, a dangerous gunman and also a fugitive; and Raymond Moore, known to the officers only as an accomplice of Elliott and Wilson.

entative corporate issues, reached the best level since November of 1931.
Shares, measured by the price index of 90 representative issues, came within little more than a point of the peak last July, and with that exception, touched the highest level since September of 1931.

The stock market wobbled as heavy profit taking swept through the list from time to time, and many issues lost their gains in the late declines, although individual net advances of $1 to $4 a share were still numerous at the finish.
Commodities did not fare as well as securities. Cotton was up about 75 cents a bale to new highs since 1930, for a time, but a lot more of its advance before trading ceased. Wheat futures at Chicago rose more than a cent a bushel, temporarily, but finished with net advances of only 3-8 to 3-4 of a cent.

In foreign exchange dealings, which were still favorable, the dollar and the British pound—the world's two leading currencies—appeared momentarily to have achieved a degree of stability. Fluctuations of the dollar in London were narrow, and the pound closed in New York unchanged at $1.93 1-2.

The Democratic leaders brought the measure up under a procedure which presented any action on amendments to increase the fund. On the roll call that this group forced, 382 voted for the appropriation and only Terrell against.

"I Like It That Way," Is Milane Offering

A treat in music and laughter is promised for everyone with the announced booking of "I Like It That Way." Universal's newest and latest comedy drama since "Moonlight and Pretzels" looked into the Milane Theater starting tonight.

There have been musicals and there have been comedies, but here is a picture that combines both with a tasty, tangy flavor that guarantees to keep your spirits up. Beautiful girls, lifting melodies, composed by Conrad Michell and Gottler, flashing cadences of the night, and Pever as a salesman who wouldn't take NO for an answer. It will teach you men how to make yourself irresistible to the ladies! A working, wise cracking tale, with situations that will surprise you!

Glamorous Gloria Stuart and wise cracking Roger Pever are co-featured in this scintillating tale with such ensembles as Mexican March, Shirley Gray, Greta Stone Moore, Kenneth and Geneva Mitchell, together with Noel Madison, Joseph Glesson, Mickey Rooney, Onslow Stevens and many others.

TROOPS CALLED OUT TO QUELL RIOTS IN PARIS

The Premier declared that the "Fundamentals of this agitation lie in an economic and financial crisis. In these incidents we are witnessing the rise of a crystallization of discontent."

He said he had shaken up the government because of a "Certain letdown" which was revealed by the operations of Serge Stavisky and the resultant collapse of the Hayonne municipal pawnshop.

In a vibrant appeal to all united Republicans to support the firm measures of his young cabinet, threatened by overthrow, Daladier said that the Stavisky scandal had paralyzed the chamber and demoralized the country, enabling adversaries to renew their attacks. He promised to shed a full light on the scandal.

A challenge to the weak government of Premier Edouard Daladier in the form of a demonstration by 1000 war veterans in front of the President's residence was put down by mounted Republican Guards last night.

That the government feared other disorders, was indicated by the mobilization of troops armed with machine guns in the capital as the stupefied Daladier plunged grimly into preparations for a fight for his cabinet's life in the chamber's deputies today.

A force of several thousand police massed in the neighborhood of the Elysee palace and the nearby Ministry of the Interior, which the crowd also tried to reach by blocking the manifestations, members of the Croix de Feu veterans' organization.

M. Hamby of this city who was called to Bonoke last Saturday. Funeral services will be held Thursday at Columbus, Ga.

Majority Of Celery Growers, Shippers Seek Pact Hearing

(Continued From Page One) agreement chaper by chapter, and probing into its many ramifications agreed that it offered a solution to the marketing problem which finds growers with their finest celery in years and a market at one of its lowest ebbs.

Again it was pointed out that the agreement had really but two principal features. The first is the creation of the control board, and the second is the manner in which celery will be marketed when an emergency arises, it was pointed out.

In answer to several questions that all seemed aimed at the man or organization which refused to sign the agreements as a shippers' representative, it was pointed out that the agreement is first signed by shippers of 70 percent of the tonnage sent from Florida last year and then by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, it will become binding upon every shipper in the industry, whether he signs or not.

It was pointed out that the term "shipper" is as covered in the proposed agreement that it includes every person handling celery, whether by freight, truck, boat or any other form of transportation.

"Shippers" and a part of the proposed agreement, "means any person, firm, or organization or growers' association engaged wholly or in part in the business of shipping, selling, consigning or otherwise handling in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, celery grown in Florida."

Further, the agreement defines the word "ship" to mean "to convey or cause to be conveyed in the continent of the United States and its lands, by rail, truck, boat or any means whatsoever except by parcel post, whether as owner or otherwise, celery grown in the state of Florida, which is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce."

Mr. Raoul after having explained the implications of the proposed agreement stated that it had remained up to the shippers of celery, the growers of the same, for a hearing and now they had indicated that they demanded a public hearing on the agreement that they wish to abide by its rulings, he explained.

If the shippers of at least 60 percent of the celery moved from Florida last year would sign a petition asking for the public hearing, Mr. Raoul explained, the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace would grant such hearing.

It was explained that the hearing probably could be arranged within 10 days, and that it might be held at Lakeland. All growers or shippers of celery would be notified through the press and by other means that they are invited to attend this meeting where they might register their complaints or make suggestions that would strengthen the agreement further, if possible.

Mr. Raoul's report that the shippers present affirm their agreement to the petition at once resulted in the securing of names of representatives of shippers who had handled nearly 50 percent of the tonnage last season.

Local names included J. E. Powell of the Palm Beach interests at Bonoke, Mr. Raoul on behalf of Bonoke and Raoul, Mr. Van der Riet of the Manatee County Growers' Association and Mr. Herbert of Bonoke, an independent grower and shipper.

It was indicated at the meeting last night that among the local growers not represented at Lakeland but counted as being in favor of the agreement are: J. E. Patton, R. K. Deas, Lee Hamilton, A. H. Moore, Sam Langley and Nelson, and many other growers and shippers of celery.

The organization expected to name themselves that is, to be that by Mrs. J. E. McElholland, secretary of the circle, at the hearing.

Stock Exchange Regulation Act Is Nearly Ready

"We ought to prohibit pools, not merely regulate them," Fletcher said with emphasis. "We should make it a criminal offense to engage in pool operations with a 100 percent imprisonment as the penalty."

It added he hoped to have his bill which will serve as the basis for hearing by the Senate committee ready for introduction by the end of the week. It is determined to have such legislation passed in the session of Congress this fall.

George A. Swift, representing Chase and Co. of the city, did not sign for his firm.

Other names included: Mr. Powell of the Palm Beach interests at Bonoke, Mr. Raoul on behalf of Bonoke and Raoul, Mr. Van der Riet of the Manatee County Growers' Association and Mr. Herbert of Bonoke, an independent grower and shipper.

It was indicated at the meeting last night that among the local growers not represented at Lakeland but counted as being in favor of the agreement are: J. E. Patton, R. K. Deas, Lee Hamilton, A. H. Moore, Sam Langley and Nelson, and many other growers and shippers of celery.

The organization expected to name themselves that is, to be that by Mrs. J. E. McElholland, secretary of the circle, at the hearing.

Mr. Raoul after having explained the implications of the proposed agreement stated that it had remained up to the shippers of celery, the growers of the same, for a hearing and now they had indicated that they demanded a public hearing on the agreement that they wish to abide by its rulings, he explained.

If the shippers of at least 60 percent of the celery moved from Florida last year would sign a petition asking for the public hearing, Mr. Raoul explained, the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace would grant such hearing.

It was explained that the hearing probably could be arranged within 10 days, and that it might be held at Lakeland. All growers or shippers of celery would be notified through the press and by other means that they are invited to attend this meeting where they might register their complaints or make suggestions that would strengthen the agreement further, if possible.

Mr. Raoul's report that the shippers present affirm their agreement to the petition at once resulted in the securing of names of representatives of shippers who had handled nearly 50 percent of the tonnage last season.

Local names included J. E. Powell of the Palm Beach interests at Bonoke, Mr. Raoul on behalf of Bonoke and Raoul, Mr. Van der Riet of the Manatee County Growers' Association and Mr. Herbert of Bonoke, an independent grower and shipper.

It was indicated at the meeting last night that among the local growers not represented at Lakeland but counted as being in favor of the agreement are: J. E. Patton, R. K. Deas, Lee Hamilton, A. H. Moore, Sam Langley and Nelson, and many other growers and shippers of celery.

MUST MAKE PAYMENTS

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The supreme court held in effect yesterday that the city of Orlando must make payments on property it bought in 1926 from the Dr. P. Phillips Investment Company. It reversed a lower court's decision which sustained the city's demurring to action by creditors seeking to establish legality of a contract covering the property transfer.

JOE KNIGHT GETS DRAW IN BATTLE WITH CHAMPION

23,000 Fans Pack Arena At Miami To Witness Championship Title

MIAMI, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Meeting the champion on equal grounds Joe Knight, 24 year old Cairo, Ga., southpaw last night battled Maxie Rosenbloom, that Harlem playboy to a draw in a 15 round title bout at the Madison Square Garden arena here. Approximately 23,000 persons saw the fight. Showing surprising form and speed, Knight, who won a decision over the champion in a non-title bout at Daytona Beach 18 months ago, exchanged blow for blow with Rosenbloom from the starting bell. He carried the scrap most of the way, and the champion was forced to extend himself to the limit in the final round to save his crown.

The decision was unpopular to Rosenbloom, who walked to his corner at the end of the fight, mumbling to himself. Rolling up a margin of points in the early rounds, Knight rushed the champion about the ring, landing hard lefts to the

Seminole High Will Play Ocoee High At School Auditorium

Winners of seven out of 11 games, Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High School basketball squad will attempt to score another victory when it meets the Ocoee High School quintet at Seminole High School tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock.

Seminole won from Ocoee 44 to 14 some days ago, but the West Orange school has improved considerably since that defeat, and Coach McLucas anticipates a different story tomorrow night.

The Seminole "B" squad will play the Lyman School squad at 7:30 o'clock as a curtain raiser.

Friday night, the strong Eustis team which defeated Orlando some weeks ago will come to Sanford for a double-header which starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Saturday night, probably the best school basketball team in the northeastern Conference, the Leesburg Yellowjackets, comes to Sanford for a pair of games that are to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Seminole High holds victories over St. Augustine, Daytona, DeLand, Ocoee, Apopka, Oviedo and Landon High of Jacksonville. It has dropped games to Orlando, St. Augustine, Landon, and Leesburg.

U. S. Publishers Plan To Fight Their Code

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—An effort by the newspaper producing industry of this country and Canada, to fix prices encountered determined opposition from American publishers who left with national recovery officials a virtual threat to go to court should it be approved.

The newspaper code, authority asked for modification of the existing code to include an agreement, tentatively negotiated with the Canadian mills, for holding the price at a basic $41 a ton delivered. Though maintaining even this price would not cover the actual cost of many mills on both sides of the border.

The publishers attacked the plan as illegally monopolistic and uneconomic, saying they should not be expected to pay the cost of preserving an American industry which was not able to supply their requirements, and that the Canadians would be the ones to profit. Objection also was presented by the plan of the mills to absorb transportation costs and eliminate any advantages held by

ROOSEVELT IN FAVOR OF DEBT INTEREST CUT

President Also Tells Attorney-General To Go To Limit In Probe Of Contracts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(A.P.)—A delineation of President Roosevelt's attitude on questions of the hour brought out at the White House today that he favors a broad policy of reduction of interest rates on the outstanding obligations of industry, foreign governments, and all other forms of debts.

The President also told the attorney-general to go the limit in investigating alleged irregularities in war department contracts. The United States gold stock continued to grow today, reaching a new high of more than $7,000,000,000 or $500,000,000 increase over preceding day which also showed a substantial gain in the government's profit on dollar devaluation.

The profit increase indicated that most of the new gold received was coming from hoarded metal for which the government still pays the old price of $20.67 an ounce.

Treasury officials were interested but would not comment on developments in Paris and what effect they may have on world money conditions.

The prevailing opinion is that should disturbances create public sentiment in France, the French people might seek to demand gold for hoarding, and create a confidence crisis.
