Gossip Clouds

TATTLING
Constructive information, not destructive gossip, is accepted and appreciated.
Aren't Rosemary Southward and Ronnie Hussie a keen couple. They enjoy being together immensely. Ronnie is another Senior who is proud of his freshman girlfriend. Another Senior-freshman combination is Judy Petty and David Brown. Their friendship has lasted almost a year. But what has happened to his classing?
Annette Yates, could that Senior you've been seen in the halls with be David Henderson? It's too bad he has to move away from Sanford. You look so noble together.

At the dance this past Friday were seen Betsy and Gary Swain. Don't they represent the freshman class well?
Am I seeing things or was Shirley Jones really with Ray Hudson the other night? Now there is one sensational couple. I think we should see more of that in the future.
Amoret Spears and Barry St. Johns are seen together at all the social functions around S. H. S. Everyone is glad to see them together, especially the hand members. Amoret sure knows how to pick them doesn't she.
Have you heard Sandra Kader's new nickname? Tell us about it! Hippol! Just how did you acquire that one?
Buddy Fealer has chosen himself a sharp number this time. She's a dream in his book. Let's hear all about her again, Buddy.
Are Linda Cannon and Alva Collins still dating each other? No one seems to know, especially them. Linda has been seen with other handsome fellows on certain occasions. I haven't seen Al with any other girls though. Just what is the deal you two.
Do you fellas realize that Irma Jean Corley isn't going with any special boy now? Now's your chance to get a date with her, so get on the move.
Did any of you see Sandy Anderson and Tony Gelman at the game against Seabreeze the other night? Don't they look nice together? And look at all those things he carries for her, even some of her sister's things. Just who has who there.
Kathy Carlos, that gleam you developed last year for that one certain boy seems to be going out. What's up? Could it be there is another man in the situation?
Speaking of availables, it seems that Helen Adams isn't going steady anymore. If you fellas have your eyes open, you can see she's a nifty chick. Let's see a little action, boys.
Have you heard? Kathleen Wood is going with Robert Garrett. Now there's a sharp looking couple, both of them being dolls. Robert is from Apopka. Which side of the football field did they sit on last Friday night? Kathy, it was left to you to make it the Sanford side.
That's all the info—this week. Turn all your suggestions in to Delores Bailey.

Student Of Week

By Kathy Carlos
For my interview this issue it was a hard decision to make because we have so many swell new personalities around but I finally chose Charles Hall.
Charles Hall, our new student this week, is a member of the junior class. He comes from Merrimack, New Hampshire, where he attended a school strictly for boys (can you imagine that, gals?) Charles is a devoted hot rod fan and can give you all kinds of interesting information, for those who are hep, that is. He also takes the rock and roll in a big way and thinks Bo Diddley and Little Richard are the most. When asked how he liked S. H. S. he replied, "It's all right." Well, just stick around, Charlie, my boy—we're just getting started. Remind me to ask your opinion a little later. As for our school spirit, he thought that it was "really great" (in an Ed Sullivan manner). He seems to be quite studious, but I just have a sneaky suspicion that he could be a real live wire—watcha say, gang? His ambition

Chuck Wiederhold, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiederhold, Lake Mary, is a member of Seminole High School's Diversified Cooperative Training Program.
Chuck is, at the present time, employed by the Food Mart located at Park Avenue and 25th Street in Sanford. The owner, Mr. Charles Atkinson, and the manager, Mr. Tony Trama are cooperating fully with the school's D.C.T. Program.
The duties expected of Chuck are learning the operation of the check out station, the stocking of frozen food cases, and the operating of the produce department. He will be expected to become familiar with the administration of the store before the end of the school year.

By ANNETTE YATES
This week in Who's Who we have a good looking freshman boy. He has beautiful brown eyes and blond hair. This lad stands 5'11" tall and is lean and lanky. He is on the football team. He goes steady with a cute freshman girl and is liked by everyone. Do you have any ideas about who he could be?
Answer for last week: Sandra Kader.

Clubs At SHS

By Pam St. John
This year at S.H.S. we have approximately the same clubs we had last year, but for the benefit of the new students and the freshmen, or the "kiddies", I will try to explain their functions.

At one time or another we've all gone into the library looking for a book, and of course we couldn't find it. So we ask one of the helpful library assistants to help us. These boys and girls make up the Library Council, for which we are very thankful because without them we couldn't get that book report done on time. This club is taught as a class and students receive one credit for it.

The Student Council is really the governing body of our school. They decide on the special new rules for us and they also sponsor a lot of the dances. Two representatives are elected from each class and they are available for any suggestions we might have. One of the projects this year is to get a jukebox for our lunchroom, and we all hope they succeed.

The Tri-Hi-Y is an honor society for junior and senior girls. It is devoted to maintaining, creating, and extending Christian morals through the community. It sponsors the Middle Party for the freshmen. It sells Christmas cards and uses that money for the All-Sports Banquet which is held during the year. This is really one of the fine clubs of S.H.S.

The Future Nurses Club gives girls an idea of nursing. The junior and senior girls get a chance to do work in the hospital. Freshmen and sophomores helped in the T. B. X-ray Unit last year, and this year they will probably do many other interesting things. All girls wear cute little uniforms too!

The Latin Club is made up of all the students that take Latin both first and second years. They have regular meetings and elect officers. Their Latin Banquet is the big highlight of the year. Probably a lot of you are in this club; so not much explaining is necessary.

The Glee Club and the Band take care of the musical end of our school. The Glee Club is divided into five groups. The Triple Trio, the Double Quartet, the Traveling Squad, the regular Boys glee club and the girls' glee club. This is also taught as a class, and one may receive one credit for it. The Band is divided into Majorettes, the Pep Club, and the regular Band. You may also receive one credit for this course.

There are other clubs, of course like the "S" club, D. C. "A", Key Club, F. P. A., Future Teachers' (T. W. Lawton) Club, Theatricals Club, Journalism Club, etc.

Three Teachers Attend Business Meet In Orlando

By JOHN MILLER
On Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28, three of the business teachers of SHS attended the Sixth Annual Florida Business Conference in Orlando. Mrs. Mary Rogers, Miss Martha Simpson, and Miss Rosevera Stevens attended this conference put on by different educational groups in Florida.

The main speaker was Dr. D. D. Leisenberry, who was an author of a typing manual, 20th Century Typing. He has taught in both high school and college.

There were groups that discussed typing, business English, and other subjects. There were also some good films.
We can be glad that our teachers can and are able to go to such conferences. In this way they can learn new things and better methods of teaching their subjects. We appreciate the fact that all three teachers were able to go.

Dear Ma,

By Lisa Jane
Dear Ma,
Wal' here I am and boy I sure "enough" don't know why. This "here" school is pretty crowded and "them there" halls are "plum" dangerous. One of these "here" days I'm 'gonna give my ol' wild goose call and then I'll watch 'em scatter.
"Boy an' howdy", Ma but this ol' school must be "plum" important cause they're a' gitting top talent for their chapel shows. I never heard 'em tell of them but the man said their names were the "Musical Monsters". An ding dang it all Ma, if'n they warn't middling! They sang a couple of songs and twinkled on their guitars and left. One ol' boy came down the aisle screaming and a 'hollering (like 'a did when the cow had triplets) about his sister's singing. And right when she came on the stage I knew that she warn't a sista. She was a he. You see Ma, I'm a 'learning more than school work.

Some of the clubs around here are "plum" crazy. Take for instance the Pep Club and Band. They been a 'practising marching and a' playing at 8:00 in the morning. Now lo ol' country gal like me that ain't early, but a lot of people's sure do look sleepy out there. I figure they must be city dudes.
There's a brainy club around here that writes for our school paper. They call themselves the Journalism Club and they use them there mite long words that nobody understands. But we tell them they're good and they go around happy. You got to be careful with these temperamental artists, you know.
The Key Club's been a' selling deals with Indians on 'em. I bought one because I'm kinda sweet on this here one guy. I'm a' hoping he'll take me to one of these here dances after the football games that the Junior class is putting on. Them oughter be fun.
Wal' I guess that's about all for now, Ma. Take care of my pet skunk, Abigail, for me.
Love, Ya,
Lisa Jane

What Are Your Interests? You Take A Newspaper

You take a newspaper . . . because you take an interest. An interest in everything going on about you now and in the future, in your community, our state, our nation. All these things big and little add up to what we are proud to call our way of life.

This article is a little chat with you—the reader of the daily newspaper. You probably seldom think about it but you are the most important element in the business of publishing a newspaper. You take a newspaper because you take an interest in people, places and things, what's going on now and what's likely to happen in the future. It can and will affect you and you want to know about it. All those responsible for daily newspapers must gear all their efforts to satisfy your interests.

Your newspaper takes an interest in you so it can anticipate and fulfill your reading desires. Only through meriting your approval can your newspaper grow. More than 87,000,000 daily newspapers are bought every day. At least one daily and one Sunday newspaper for every family is printed and sold in the United States, and there is an additional copy for any family or individuals who want one.

Your interest in what's going on is pretty broad. In fact, it is so broad only a newspaper can satisfy it. No abbreviated news-cast or predigested news summary will do. They won't tell you about all the little things in your community that add up to a lot of information you want. So you take an interest in all these things.

Births, marriages and deaths are chronicled faithfully in your newspaper. You put the clippings in your family scrapbook. Who ever heard of a clipping from a TV program? Big subjects, too, like religion education, law enforcement, health mean a lot to you. You want to know about them. Education means many things. It means action by the local school board on a new teacher for the third grade, an improvement to the school gym. Those things are specific, and you want your newspaper to tell you about them. You take an interest.

In Washington high government officials talk about a great debate on big issues of the day. They mean they want time to get the reaction of the public in our free form of government. They get it, too. Your newspaper and all other newspapers report in detail on the divergent points of view. You make up your mind. Maybe you write your Congressman, maybe he attends a public meeting and hears expressions from citizens. Your newspaper was the channel of communicating all this information to you, the public. And don't forget, no television program ever reached as many people as the top wire service story out of our nation's capital reaches every day through 87,000,000 copies of daily newspapers.

Sometimes newspapers have to move into the news picture themselves, do more than report what has happened. Sometimes they see a need and make something happen. If it had not been for the newspaper, a high official in Illinois would still be stealing public money instead of serving a jail term. If it hadn't been for newspapers, a union leader would still be enjoying the fruits of an alliance with the underworld.

Throughout the country, smaller newspapers are doing the same kind of job serving their readers. The newspaper of every size and only the newspaper performs a service every day to the public which no form of government has ever been able to set up for the protection of its citizens. Your newspaper doesn't try to tell you what to think. Its editorial page explains, interprets, tells you what the newspaper believes but always leaves it to you, the reader, to make up your own mind.

You take a newspaper because you take an interest in many things. That includes advertising. Many polls have shown you want the advertising as an important part of your newspaper. It gives you information you are seeking and it is there for you to read when it is convenient for you.

After a recent national survey of newspapers and their readers, Dr. George Gallup wrote "The evidence is overwhelming as to the basic strength of the newspaper with the American public." He found readers especially interested in health, education, financial news, personal opinions and personalities of people in the news.

All this adds up . . . You take a newspaper because you take an interest . . . in everything. (Roanoke (Va.) Times) Prepare Now For Asian Flu!

All too often epidemics have struck without warning, finding us unprepared. The same cannot be said of Asian Flu. We know that this highly infectious disease is imminent and is expected to become critical this winter. The Red Cross tells us there are certain things we can do to be ready for it.

Asian Flu is a much less lethal type of respiratory ailment than the Spanish influenza which swept the country in the closing months of World War I and claimed an estimated 635,000 lives. But the time to prepare for it is growing short.

Red Cross has already set in motion its contribution to an effective nation-wide community preparedness plan. The national organization has asked those Red Cross chapters that include the 14-hour Course of the Sick and Injured course in their chapter program to increase the number of classes available to incorporate special information concerning the care of Asian flu victims in the home and to recommend to community residents that at least one member of each household take the training course. All Red Cross chapters have been supplied with fact sheets containing pertinent information about the Asian flu. Women already trained as volunteer Red Cross nurse's aides are being alerted and, other women urged to enroll in the 40-hour nurse's aide training course qualifying them to assist professional nurses in hospitals and clinics during outbreaks of the disease. There will be need also for many trained Red Cross volunteers to transport patients to and from hospitals and clinics, to assist in preparing and serving meals, and many other assignments.

Onset of Asian flu is rapid, with fever up to 103 or 104 degrees. But there is no reason for panic. The need is for preparedness. Don't wait until the fever strikes.

Good Food Important For Dad's Lunch Box

By HERMAN H. BARNES, M.D.

MOST mothers know what they should provide in a child's lunch box. I've advised you countless times on the foods a growing child needs. I'm sure other health writers have done the same.

But what about Pop? How about his lunch box? All too frequently, I'm afraid, a working man sets off for the plant with nothing more than a soggy sandwich and maybe a thermos of coffee in his lunch box.

Needs Proper Foods
Dad may not be growing much any more, but he still needs the proper foods to give him the energy to continue working.

Every day each of us needs some of the seven basic food groups to keep healthy. And just in case you've forgotten, let me remind you what these foods are: Leafy green and yellow vegetables; citrus fruits and tomatoes; potatoes and other vegetables and fruit; milk, cheese, ice cream; meat, poultry, fresh eggs, dried beans and peas; nuts, bread, cereals and butter or fortified margarine.

A working man's lunch box should carry some of these items. Typical Lunch

A good lunch would be a sandwich (or sandwiches) of meat, eggs or cheese, or a combination of these foods; raw fruit and vegetable; milk and a simple dessert of some kind.

For variety, you can add soup should provide in a child's lunch box. Or, instead of sandwiches, once in a while you times on the foods a growing child needs. I'm sure other health writers have done the same.

Here's another thing to remember: try to keep the food as fresh and as wholesome-looking as is possible.

Wrap It Separately
For example, if you plan to include lettuce in the sandwich, wrap the lettuce separately. Instruct your spouse to add it to his sandwich at lunchtime.

Take time to plan these lunch box meals so they will be a little different every day. Lunchtime for a working man is a time to relax and to forget the tension of the job. Make sure your working man enjoys his food so he can relax happily.

As a plant executive once told me, "A good lunch box is a good safety device."

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. B.: What causes itching around the rectum?

Answer: Sometimes the itching is due to parasites such as pinworms in the rectum. Irritation of the skin around the anus by ringworm or a fungus is a common cause.

Other causes are due to sensitivity to certain foods in the diet. Occasionally, infected piles or anal fissures may be responsible.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain: ye are yet in your sins."

TO THE WHITE HOUSE.—At the height of the disturbance in Little Rock, Congressman Matthews, of Gainesville, wrote a four page letter to President Eisenhower on the subject. Here in the limited space of one column are the highlights of that letter. (A copy of the entire letter may be obtained by writing to the congressman's office.)

"Dear Mr. President: . . . I am writing about the terrible tragedy that has happened to the nation at Little Rock and I think it is so important that you be advised not only by the NAACP, 'Satchmo' Armstrong, Mr. Brownell and Mr. Nixon, but also by representatives of some forty million of us who live in the Deep South. I know you are going to have a conference with the southern governors next week, but please keep in mind that the integration question has not been forced in some of our states, so when it is forced you don't know what attitude another southern Governor might take.

"No matter what the decision of the Supreme Court regarding school segregation, or the contemptuous attitude of Judge Davies from North Dakota who is in such a hurry to see that the Little Rock High School was integrated, the overwhelming majority of the people in the South feel that the matter of running their schools is a state and local responsibility. I share that feeling with great conviction. . . .

"May I humbly and earnestly give the following thoughts about the future in connection with this grave problem of school integration:

"First of all, please tell Mr. Brownell and Mr. Nixon to proceed with caution. Tell Mr. Brownell to plead with the Federal Judges to give every American citizen his day in court. Let's have no more of the contemptuous haste of Judge Davies. If admitted rapists and communists must be arraigned immediately, can't we at least have the same treatment for white citizens of America? . . .

"May I suggest that this whole matter be taken out of politics. Please again tell Mr. Nixon and others of your party that we ought not to try to make Modern Republicans out of this tragic situa-

Foreign News Commentary

The first clash between civil and military authority over the West German armed forces has resulted in a distinct defeat for the army.

A brigadier general who refused to approve the promotion of a staff officer in the defense ministry has been summarily dismissed.

To make it worse from the army viewpoint, the man who dismissed him, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, is a butcher's son. On the surface the incident was a minor one. But it points up the fact that Germany, like Japan, is a historically militaristic country in which army men always have sought to run their show by themselves.

Rearmament Risk
It points up also the fact that in rearming West Germany and Japan the Western Allies are taking a calculated risk. At the present stage of world history, the threat of Communist aggression is much worse than the threat of the possible revival of German and Japanese militarism.

The incident of the general's dismissal was something new in German military history. In the old days, the Prussian generals of the German armed forces regarded themselves as above civil authority, and they really were. Hitler succeeded in making himself the supreme authority during the days of Nazism. But the army never accepted him in fact and members of the general staff took the leading part in the attempt to assassinate him in July 20, 1944.

SEE WHERE Nelson Rockefeller of THE Rockefeller family is now interested in keeping the Dodgers in Brooklyn. Even if the team don't move to L. A., the Braves don't move to L. A., things may turn out all right for them.

Previously, Louis H. Wolfson was reported to have offered $5 million for the team. No other bunch of sums ever had it so good!

The Dodgers may wind up second or third in the National League but they are certainly first to the hearts of millions.

Should the Dodgers remain in Brooklyn but move into a palatial new ball park, as now seems possible, it might be fitting, suggest the man at the next desk, to name their new Flatbush home Fort Knox Field.

None will hereafter hold its congressional elections in November instead of September. Being a political barometer must have gotten monotonous.

Shee alone now cost $1 in Albany, according to a news item. How can they possibly lose that sort of expense?

A live pony was mailed and delivered by the post office of Queens, England. That definitely seems to have been a horse on the poor, old postman.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

REP. BROOKS HAYS, of Arkansas, tells this story about a meeting of a ladies' club (mostly wives of U. S. congressmen) in Washington, D. C. The treasurer, more cheerful and unperturbed than one might expect under the circumstances, reported a steadily mounting deficit. One member promptly demanded the floor to propose, "Let's contribute our entire deficit to the Red Cross."

Another member didn't like this idea at all. "The Red Cross does a good job," she conceded, "but the Salvation Army needs help, too. I propose, therefore, that we give 50 per cent of our deficit to the Red Cross and the other 75 per cent to the Salvation Army!"

The motion was carried unanimously.

A clairvoyant was caught faking his act, and was rushed off to the local hoosegow. "Thirty days," decreed the judge, "just to remind you that the way of the transgressor is hard."

Former Sanford Ballplayer Writes

People who visit Sanford once just never forget it.

Example: A card received from a baseball player who played for the Sanford team in 1940 and 1947. Jerry Silverman wrote The Sanford Herald yesterday "Just a line to let you and all the wonderful people of Sanford know that I am one of the playground directors in the St. Petersburg Recreation Department."

This is one of probably hundreds of cards and letters from those who have been to Sanford and never forget it.

Collins Declares Oct. P.T.A. Membership Month In Florida

This is National P. T. A. Month. All over the United States parents and teachers are getting together to plan their programs for the coming year. These programs create a better understanding of all three parties involved, parents, teachers and children.

Here in Florida, Governor Collins has proclaimed October as P. T. A. Membership Month. Local P. T. A.'s are having drives, stressing that membership is a privilege, not a duty.

There are 42,182 P. T. A.'s in membership with the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, which has its home office in Chicago, Ill.

As a member of the local P. T. A., the individual belongs to a nationwide, democratic, volunteer organization that centers its whole interest on the welfare and education of children and youth. He has an opportunity to give every child in the community a chance to achieve a life that is satisfying to himself and useful to others.

A member in the U. T. A. will meet the teachers, principal and school officials, who, through the P. T. A. programs, keep the parents up to date on the objectives, curriculums and achievements of the schools.

Members may join study discussion groups in the field of parent and family life education. These groups are concerned with the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual development of all children. The national organization provides a wealth of interesting, up-to-date and authentic materials for P. T. A. study-discussion groups.

Members will learn how the P. T. A. cooperates with other community organizations and agencies for the welfare of children and youth. In all inclusive membership, the individual will be doing his share in strengthening the entire organization and its program. This will increase the educational opportunities and community resources for all children.

More than ten million adults belong to the P. T. A.'s all over the country. Through these citizens and their efforts, the schools have been able to secure more funds for teacher's salaries, for Improved school equipment, construction and the general enrichment of the school program.

It is hoped that all responsible citizens in Florida, and especially in Seminole County will join their local P. T. A. this month. A hearty welcome awaits them.

Test Satellite Firing In Line With GOP Political Necessities

WASHINGTON — The United States plan to begin next December the firing of test satellites into outer space is in line with urgent Republican political necessities.

If it is a successful firing—and it better be—the U. S. Sputnik will be in outer space when Congress reassembles here in the first week of January.

Anything short of the successful launching of a space satellite by the United States before Congress reconvenes would leave the Eisenhower administration in a bad spot.

Next year is an election year in which the foreseeable trouble for the Republican Party and the Eisenhower administration already is sufficient to give party men the gollywobles.

On the record of the current fire year to date, the Eisenhower administration is unable to hold the spending line at the point where, the President insists that his department heads hold it. Neither the President nor the Budget Bureau offers more than faint hope and good intentions toward reducing spending and taxes in the immediate years to come.

Eisenhower must come up with new budget figures next January.

Another spending program of 70 billion dollars or more with no tax relief seems to be in the works. It will invite all over again next year the high tax, high spending rebellion of 1957.

That would be trouble enough for any lot of politicians but there is more. Inflation is still with us making the high cost of living higher month by month. Elements of the U. S. Army remain on duty in Little Rock, Ark., and none knows how they may, finally, be got out of there.

Moreover, the most severe test of the Supreme Court's order for the racial integration of public schools still is to come in the Deep South. In those states the people appear to be solidly behind the determination of their state officials to undertake massive resistance.

There may be some political comfort for Republicans in the possibility that the dispute over racial integration of public schools goes into the Republican Party. Aside from that, the Republican prospect in next year's congressional election is grimly unpleasant.

Eisenhower achieved two personal triumphs in the presidential elections of 1952 and 1956. The Republicans won a scratch decision in the 1952 congressional election but were voted out of congressional power in 1954 and even last year, when Eisenhower was piling up his presidential points in the year since his reelection in 1956, Eisenhower's personal popularity has slipped. Democrats no longer fear to make personal political attacks on him. Republican politicians are critical and the word in Washington is that the party organization, coast to coast, is disrepair.

The Republicans are the congressional out and should be on the political offensive as the off-year campaign approaches. But that is not the way the cocks crumble. What used to be regarded widely as the Grand Old Party is back to the wall in defense of the modern Republican administration and of its minority position in Congress.

PINECREST BAPTIST CHURCH will be dedicated at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The entire building will be thrown open to the public for inspection. The church facility houses the Sanctuary, Education Building, and Nursery. (Photo by Bergstrom)

New Pinecrest Baptist Church Opening Sunday

Dedication service of the new $125,000 Pinecrest Baptist Church will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Joe Courson, pastor of the church, said today.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Dr. John Maguire, Executive Secretary of the Florida Baptist Convention.

Mrs. Thelma Bell and Mrs. Manita Savage will be heard as soloists during the musical program of the dedication service. Following the dedication service, the entire facilities of the church will be thrown open for an "Open House." Visitors to the church will be presented with a brief history of the church and refreshments are expected to be served.

"We have set a goal of 300 for Sunday School at 9:45," the Rev. Courson said.

acre plot on Onora Road which provides sufficient space for expansion, the Rev. Courson explained.

"Our future plans," he said, are to provide facilities for 1,400 in Sunday School and 1,000 in the church auditorium.

The present auditorium and sanctuary which will be dedicated Sunday seats nearly 400 and the Sunday School facilities will take care of approximately 650.

The facilities include a complete nursery department with four departments and reception room as well as kitchenette and rest room. It has a terrazzo floor, is fully heated and air conditioned.

The kitchen and dining room area in the educational building will comfortably serve 150 people said the Rev. Courson and there is a paved parking area in the rear of the church that is lighted and will also serve as a recreation area with volley ball, tennis, basketball and shuffle board facilities.

In front of the building is a three-acre lawn which is landscaped and has a sprinkler system. "We are planning to build a barbecue pit near the parking area for social and other events."

The office suite, said the Rev. Courson, includes records room, church office and a pastors study. The latter two are air conditioned.

About 75 members attended last night's meeting.

French Government Suffering Crisis

PARIS — Jacques Soustelle, wartime aide to General Charles de Gaulle, said today he doubts the National Assembly will call de Gaulle to help solve the current French government crisis—the gravest since the war.

Soustelle, a former French governor-general of Algeria who took the lead in defeating the "frame-work law" for limited Algerian home rule and thus helped plunge France into its latest crisis, said that nevertheless de Gaulle should have a part in any French constitutional reform.

"I do believe that General de Gaulle should be instrumental in bringing about a change in constitutional law because he has been advocating such a trend for the past 12 years," said Soustelle, 45, in an exclusive televised interview with United Press Movietone News.

He was asked if the French National Assembly, many of whose present leaders opposed de Gaulle when he quit the premiership 11 years ago, would accord him a role in constitutional reform.

"I don't know," Soustelle said, "but just for the moment I'm afraid not."

to establish such a system as obtains in Switzerland or the United States.

"The legislative system should not necessarily agree with the executive branch. They should function separately. In the United States, when a bill is repulsed, the president does not go."

Soustelle said he also favors a federal system for the French Union which at present is centralized with all control in Paris.

"I have advocated a federal system for the past 10 years" he said. "Separate territories, such as those in Africa, would have their own governments."

Soustelle denied that he led the fight against the framework law because it was "too liberal" or that he wanted to overthrow the government of Premier Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury.

"The proposed law, we believe, would have made for the oppression of the Christian and Jewish elements in Algeria," he said.

"I suggested two amendments which were rejected by the Premier Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury government without debate.

"It seems to me that, after a reasonable cooling-off period, an organic law would stand a fair chance of being approved by parliament."

"One of the amendments was for an upper house for the Algerian legislature, based not on numerical population, but on communities, just as Delaware has as many senators as New York state."

Charge Favored

Soustelle said he, as does de Gaulle, favors changing the French constitution in order to stop the overthrow of governments on an average of once every six months.

"There is a provision in the constitution that when a bill is repulsed the government falls," Soustelle said. "What I propose is

Turkey Accused Of Massing Troops On Syrian Border

By United Press Staff Correspondent

Syria disclosed today it had formally accused Turkey of new provocations along the border and of interfering in the internal affairs of Syria.

The danger of a flareup in the Middle East led the U.S. State Department Thursday to warn Russia that the United States will honor its defense commitments to Turkey.

Communist diplomatic sources in London made it clear the Kremlin expects the Middle East to blow up somewhere near the Turkish border, and the sources repeated Moscow's warning that Russia would assist Syria.

Both Syria and Russia have accused Turkey in recent weeks of massing troops near the border and Monday there was a 45-minute and potentially dangerous border skirmish between Syrian and Turkish troops.

Official sources in Damascus disclosed today Syria sent a stern note to Ankara Wednesday accusing Turkey of "unjustified provocative actions" along the border.

These included the old charges of massing troops and added allegations that Turkey had flown planes over Syrian territory and that Turkish soldiers fired at Syrian border residents.

The Syrian press said a helicopter believed to be American "violated" Syrian air space over the border district of Midan Ibbis Thursday.

Syrian security forces also reported the discovery of "several hundreds of modern individual weapons" in a crackdown on the banned Socialist Nationalist Party. A military spokesman said they were hidden to "kindle a civil war designed to topple the current Syrian regime."

Syria had outlawed the party before it accused the United States recently of plotting to overthrow its pro-Communist government.

The State Department warning to Russia followed a statement in Moscow by Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev that the United States is trying to incite Turkey into war with Russian-backed Syria.

Salvation Army Advisors Discuss New Building, Lodge

The possibilities of a new Salvation Army building and lodge were discussed by the local Board of Advisors at a meeting held yesterday at the Salvation Army headquarters on East Second St.

"A new building is the most important thing we can do now," Lt. Marcella Reynolds, officer in charge here, told the board.

"Our present quarters are much too small to take care of the numbers attending our services," she said as she pointed out that more than 50 are attending Sunday services and Sunday school alone.

Lt. Reynolds explained to the Board of Advisors that one of the great needs right now is a lodge for both men and women. "We have no place to house these needy people when they come in to us except at a local hotel," she said. "Just last week," said the Salvation Army officer, "we had a woman with nine children come in. They needed both lodging and food."

The spiritual and material program of the Salvation Army is conducted by Lt. Reynolds and Lt. Virginia Kellner and they report their activities to the Board of Advisors at quarterly meetings.

In her quarterly report, for the nine months of this year, Lt. Reynolds said that the local Salvation Army has already exceeded last year's program in both the spiritual and material assistance.

She pointed out in her report that 54 grocery orders have been given, 8005 garments of clothing given, 660 pairs of shoes and 368 other aids which include medicine and furniture.

"In our program we have supplied 133 lodgings, 336 meals, transportation for 10, 117 garments given, 183 men assisted, 13 women and 17 children," she said.

In spiritual guidance, Lt. Reynolds pointed out, "we have conducted 49 street meetings with 576 people attending; 78 indoor meetings were held with 2116 attending; 37 ladies meetings with 452 attending, and 72 weekly meetings with 1335 attending."

Youth meetings, she said, have been well attended. There were 39 Sunday School meetings with 1591 attending; 32 Junior League meetings attracting 411; 39 Young Peoples League meetings with 825 taking advantage of the lessons; 31 Corps Cadet meetings with 93 attending and 49 band practices with 161 attending.

A highlight of this year's program, she said, was the Daily Vacation Bible School with 331 attending the sessions.

The camp will begin operation during the latter part of June next year and continue through the middle of August, Ganas said in an interview when his appointment to head the camp was announced.

"With the facilities of the New York Giants training center here we will have one of the finest camps in the country," Ganas said.

"We will stress golf, baseball, tennis and swimming," it was stated yesterday as plans for the huge camp were announced.

"It will be a little different than most camps," said Frank McHane

Jr., "for we will be able to offer more of a variety of activities including trips of interest to various places in Florida from the camp."

Mario Carfagno, McHane said, will serve as golf counselor and the camp will have a coach baseball leaders as Hans Robert and Carl Hubbell here to teach and instruct in baseball.

"It will be a character building physical building camp" said Ganas, "along with the teaching of moral training and responsibility."

Ganas explained that "we have facilities to take care of 300 boys all under the guidance of personnel trained in youth building."

"We will use the same facilities used by the New York Giants in their training program which has seen many go up through the leagues."

Fred Ganas, the Athletic Director of Seminole High School, received his masters degree at New York University and returned to Sanford where he has directed the Citywide program, has served as football coach, and has become intimately associated with many youth building programs.

Ganas actually started his youth leadership experience with the Boys Club in New York.

"We expect to have one of the finest boys camps in the country," Ganas said as he outlined many programs that will be included in the overall two-month camp. Recreation will include fishing, boating, archery, nature lore, arts and crafts and many other programs that will interest boys.
