A soldier's life: Iran, Grenada, and now Bosnia

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - A photo has arrived from Bosnia. It was taken recently in a place called Herzegovina. Long way from Central Florida for Master Sgt. James Voltoline, whose Army Reserve unit - the 351st Military Police Company from Ocala - is on call.

The 351st has been deployed to Bosnia and Herzegovina as part of Operation Joint Guard, an international peacekeeping effort in the Balkans.

The Army sends pictures and details to hometowns across the United States. It's a morale booster. People who know the soldiers may be prompted to write to them or pray for them.

Voltoline, a 34-year-old soldier from Sanford, won't be home until late April.

Sanford blasts Lake Mary over land deal

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Citing inappropriate protocol by Lake Mary officials, Sanford City Commissioners by a vote of 3-2 rejected an agreement for a proposed 630-unit apartment complex. Instead, commissioners proposed a modified agreement to avoid possible litigation.

Following a decision last month by Sanford to allow a land use change to the comprehensive plan permitting the construction of the proposed Twin Lakes complex, Lake Mary officials on behalf of the city and homeowners had planned to file an appeal with the state's Department of Community Affairs.

Commissioner Whitely Eckstein said he did not like the way Lake Mary handled the issue and questioned the protocol of city officials calling their attitude toward Sanford "arrogant."

"I don't like the way they mandate our quality of life in Sanford," Eckstein said. "It's sad the way they're looking at this for their own benefit...the more we let them get away with this type of thing they'll just keep on doing it."

Eckstein said Lake Mary would try to do the Argument at homeless camp leads to stabbing

By DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - An argument between two men in a homeless camp left one of them stabbed in the neck and foot, according to Sanford Police.

Sanford Police Department spokesman Sgt. Pat Smith detailed what he called an attempted murder and conspiracy to commit murder Friday in a wooded area located approximately 300 feet north of Airport Boulevard and 75 feet east of Toll Road 417.

Around 7:35 a.m., at a transient campsite near the aforementioned location, victim Daniel Rehall stated he was sleeping in his tent when a man that is known to him came into his tent threatening to kill him.

According to Sgt. Smith, the suspect, described as a white male with dark skin, short black hair, wearing blue jeans and missing four front teeth, had an argument with the victim the night before. Still brewing from the altercation,

Smith said the suspect came back, stabbing Rehall once in the right side of the neck and once in the left foot. When Rehall told him to stop, the suspect allegedly said that he could not and that he would have to kill Rehall.

Michael Ferritto heard what was going on from his tent and went to help Rehall. Another suspect then pulled a knife on Ferritto so that he could not interfere. The second suspect

Students' play respects colorful world around us

By JEFF BERLINICK
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Those kids at Idyllwild Elementary sure are acting like a bunch of Sneetches.

At least they will tonight when Idyllwild's fifth-grade drama club puts on its play for the holidays, "The Rainbow Forest." Showtime is 7:30 p.m. in the school's auditorium and admission is free.

The premise of the play, which also features five songs, is unique in that it begins by showing a world of black and white and evolves into a culturally enlightening experience that some of the actors hope will turn into a lesson for some of their closed-minded classmates.

ful pink circles on her face gave a spirited description.

"We have a big banner on the back of the stage," Lynsey, the self-proclaimed class clown, said. "It's all in black and white but, as the play goes on, it turns into a rainbow forest. It's about learning how to not be prejudiced. There are more colors in the world than black and white."

During the play the black and white world suddenly become colorful and happy and the black characters and white characters learn that they are only a small part of all the colors in the universe. Charlie Arvai plays Santa Claus who shows up about halfway through the show.

"All Santa Claus sees is black and white and he tells

Sanford woman dies when train strikes car

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - A Sanford woman was killed Saturday when the car she was driving was hit by a train. A passenger is expected to survive.

Sherry Willard, 25, of 308 Miller Street in Sanford died enroute to the hospital or shortly thereafter, after she was airlifted from the scene of the accident, according to Sgt. Tom Jackson, spokesman for the Longwood Police Department. After failing to stop at the barrier of the railroad crossing on County Road 427, Willard, who was driving a 1985 Pontiac Sunbird was broadsided by an Amtrak train.

Following impact, Jackson said the southbound car was pushed about 1,100 feet down the track across to State Road 434. The car's owner, John Robinson, 37, of the same address, was found sitting on the tracks after the accident. He suffered internal injuries and is expected to recover, Jackson said.

Jackson said witnesses saw Willard go through the barrier when the lights and whistles

Pine Crest Elementary School Panthers created their own Central Florida rendition of the big ride, Santa Panther in flowered shorts, led by pink flamingoes.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale and Sanford's own County Commissioner Daryl McLain bring a touch of the old West to the holidays, as they saddle up and move along little doggie amidst colorful floats and youngsters charmed with the gentle horses they ride.

Sanford loves a parade, the annual Christmas parade, held Saturday to the delight of young and old. Sanford Main Street organized the event, held under blue skies with a crisp wintry nip in the air. First Street merchants claim it was the best parade ever.

His daughters - Jade (8) and Samantha (5) miss him. They talk to him by telephone every two weeks or so.

"We send him packages," said Voltoline's former wife, Patty. "The last package had chips and Coke. Things he doesn't have."

Voltoline has some military history under his belt. He previously served at Granada and in Operation Desert Storm.

"That's a load for anyone," says Frank Voltoline, James Voltoline's dad from DeBary. "He was a paratrooper when the Granada invasion took place. He's been on reserve duty since. Called up for Desert Storm and now Bosnia. That's a pretty good haul for anyone, but he answered the call each time."

Voltoline's mother, Linda Robb, said she is concerned about his well-being but "I do not fear for him." Whenever Robb thinks about her son she reads Psalm 27, verses 3-5 and feels comforted. "I get shivers when I read the line about living in tents."

"Jimmy was never a quiet child," she said. "Each moment seemed to be an adventure. I still picture him in his football uniform. He was the place kicker for the Seminole High School team.

"In a game against Lyman, Seminole's arch rival, he had an extra point kick that would win the game if he made it. They called a couple of time outs, hoping that it would get to him."

"Then came the kick. We held our breath and watched, and most of us thought it was a good kick. But when the referee made the call, the only cheering was on the Lyman side of the field."

"Jimmy survived that. He's survived a lot tougher situations," Robb said.

Voltoline has been in the Army Reserve for 12 years.

In addition to his experience with the Seminole high football team, he was a member of the track team and has been an avid golfer in recent years. Not long before his last reserve call, he shot a hole in one at Timacuan County Club in Lake Mary. "The last time we talked, he said it was cold and getting colder," said his father, Frank Voltoline. "It was 20 degrees and dropping. Everyone lives in a tent. Not exactly all the comforts of home."

were going off. "Most people don't realize that those trains just keep going," Jackson said, adding that he sees a large number of drivers ignoring crossing barriers every day. Sometimes, as many as 400 travelers on S.R. 434 go through those barriers without stopping.

"They take their chances," he said. "Do they think the trains are going to stop?" Jackson said the trains that weigh about 640,000 tons don't even feel the impact when something like this happens.

"When we spoke to the conductor he said passengers didn't even realize what happened and were asking about the delay," he said.

same type of thing with the airport. He said he had spoken to Lake Mary commissioners including one who owned a $280,000 house and didn't like to hear the noise of planes flying overhead.

"That city commission is going to come after us," he said. "They'll sue us over the airport."

After several months of discussions, Lake Mary officials, the Hills of Lake Mary Homeowners Association, and developer Wallace R. Devlin Jr. on Thursday reached an agreement over the proposed complex, which would be located off County Road 46A in Sanford.

Homeowners and Lake Mary officials had tried to halt the project unless certain conditions were met by the developer, including reduced density, set backs, walls and entrance requirements. In addition the developer agreed to pay $25,000 for beautification in the Hills of Lake Mary.

Acting on behalf of Lake Mary, Commissioner Thom Greene told city officials Monday there would be no appeal if Sanford signed the agreement.

"I've never seen anything like this," Eckstein said. "This is our city."

"It's like we are the have nots and Lake Mary are the haves. Sometimes there are principals at stake. I will not respond to threats."

Eckstein asked why Sanford was not included in discussions regarding the proposed agreement.

Commissioner Velma Williams questioned the need to sign the agreement.

"I feel pressured into making a decision," she said. "Also to be told it's a threat if we don't sign this doesn't sit well with me. I'm struggling with the way this was done and the strategy used."

Greene said there was no strategy and he was willing to do whatever it took to reach an agreement to avoid litigation.

"These issues were already presented to you," he said. "We're not trying to step on anyone's toes."

Commissioner Kerry Lyons said the agreement was premature and not necessary at this point.

Commissioner Brady Leonard, who along with Mayor Larry Dale voted to accept the agreement not including the $25,000 beautification clause, said he was shocked that Hills of Lake Mary had sold out for about $80 a home. He said he voted with the mayor to avoid future litigation and the cost of litigation.

Dale said although he did not approve of Lake Mary's protocol, he would swallow ill feelings and sign the agreement to avoid litigation costs to the taxpayers.

"We would have addressed these issues without Lake Mary putting the bite on us," he said.

After twice voting against the proposed agreement, Sanford agreed to appoint Dale as the city's representative in negotiations scheduled for today at 4 p.m. in the County Services Building at 1101 E. First St. in Room 3024. Should Lake Mary decide to file the DCA appeal, the deadline is 5 p.m. today.

them that there are more colors and that everyone should give each other a chance."

Charlie got the Santa Claus job for a good reason. Melonie Freeman said Charlie can make the announcement like the public address guy for the Orlando Magic.

"At first, no one believes he's Santa Claus," Angel Jackson said. "Then he explains it to them and they believe him."

Of course there's much more, but you'll have to let the Idyllwild kids show that to you tonight.

Some of the kids who talked about the play explained that there is a need at their school to respect other people of different color.

"There are some white boys here who pick on me," said Angel. "When they see me coming, sometimes they tell me I don't belong here."

Amanda Obayashi, an Oriental fifth-grader, said she hears the same kind of taunts some times.

is described as having long, dark hair wearing a sweater and jeans.

The first suspect broke off his attack and Rehall was able to go for help. Rehall received care for his injuries at Columbia Medical Center and was released.

Officers found two men in a tent later on Friday around the same area where the attack took place and took photographs for possible identification by Rehall. They also found a machete and steak knife matching the description of the weapons used in the attack. Sgt. Smith said that arrests are pending.

Another one of the cast members, Sarah Weiss, said some kids used to make fun of her because she had a small speech problem.

Yet, the cast members have as good a grasp on race as anyone should have, despite their young age.

"Slavery is over," Lynsey said. "People need to realize that everybody is the same. We should all know that."

Melonie added, "It's a free country. People can say anything they want but not everybody has to listen."

That's the message the Idyllwild kids will take to the stage tonight. Actually, they'll also perform twice today for the rest of the school, so they should be fine-tuned by tonight. All of the cast members said they have been working hard on the project with the directors, Doug Rice and Melony Hillsman.

The kids have been practicing after school and said that Mr. Rice's patience has paid off.

"They wanted us to have fun but kept telling us to take everything seriously," Angel said. "Then at the last rehearsal, they told us that we were fine and never saw why they gave themselves so much stress. They told us we would be great."

Prior to the play, other Idyllwild students - the program features over 40 in all - will read from Dr. Seuss' book, "The Sneetches." The book is about typical Seuss characters, some of whom wear green stars, and some who don't. They learn to get along when they realize they are all the same. Sounds like people can learn a lot from a bunch of Sneetches.

Lake Howell for real Silver Hawks boys win Rotary Tip-Off Classic

From Staff Reports

WINTER PARK - During a conversation last week Lake Howell boys basketball coach Steve Kohn expressed his dissatisfaction with the coverage and respect his team was being given because he felt his squad was as good as Oviedo or Lake Mary.

If the Silver Hawks' performance in the Rotary Tip-Off Classic at Winter Park High School last week was any indication he is right.

For the second straight night Lake Howell took out a state ranked team, bouncing the No. 2 ranked team in Class 6A, and the two-time defending champion of the tournament, Dr. Phillips, 73-61, Saturday night to claim the championship.

The victory came on the heels of a 98-88 triple overtime win over No. 2 Class 5A ranked Mainland on Friday as the Silver Hawks improved to 7-0 on the season. The Panthers fell to 6-1.

Dr. Phillips took a 20-14 lead after one period of play, but Lake Howell outscored the Panthers in each of the final three quarters, including a 19-10 bulge in the third quarter, to easily erase the disadvantage and post the victory.

The Silver Hawks' 6-foot-8 center, Ryan Smith was chosen as the Most Valuable Player of the tournament and tied teammate Reggie Kohn for game-high scoring honors with 18 points. Mike Shipp also scored 18 points for the Panthers.

Robert Jordan and Shawn Braddy joined Smith and Kohn in double figures for the winner's, scoring 17 and 11, respectively.

Lake Howell will be at Central Florida Academy for a 7 p.m. game tonight, then return home for an important district and Seminole Athletic Conference battle with once-beaten Lake Brantley on Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m.

Tribe girls, Lion boys get soccer victories

SANFORD - The Seminole High School girls' soccer team came up with a major victory Monday night, blanking a strong Class 6A power, Dr. Phillips, 3-0 at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

C.C. Guillen broke a scoreless tie with a goal off a penalty kick 24 minutes into the game and Niki Snell added goal number two just two minutes later.

The Fighting Seminoles added an insurance goal with nine minutes left in the game when Courtney Newman found the back of the net after a brilliant set piece.

"It was a tough game, but we played on an equal footing with them and had some breaks," said Seminole head coach Tony Arena. "We also got a super defensive effort in the second half."

The Tribe will return to Seminole Athletic Conference action on Wednesday at Lyman starting at 7 p.m.

Guillen helping Tribe gain respect

By JEFF BERLINICK
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - One minute, she's shy and unassuming, the next minute she's in the face of her Seminole High girls' soccer teammates demanding a better effort.

C.C. Guillen - the first name came from an early coach - is the star of a team that is fighting to find its way in the nationally-tough Seminole Athletic Conference. The team struggles against its county rivals but is a legitimate threat in Class 5A and Guillen is a major part of the reason.

She is a little bit shy, at least to someone seeing her off the field for the first time.

But when she's on the field, she has no problem introducing herself to Seminole opponents, usually in the form of a goal or assist.

As a consummate competitor, she also has no problem talking to her teammates on the field if things aren't going well for the Lady 'Noles.

Guillen is a junior, and she and her senior sister Paula are two of the team captains for a Seminole team looking to compete and win their first game in conference play in over three years, and to compete in the state playoffs for their Class 5A district.

She has been playing soccer since she was eight and is on the Olympic Developmental Program team where she has played since she was 14. She has worked with Orlando Olympian Michelle Akers.

Guillen and her sister are among the key players in the Seminole lineup. Guillen might be younger than her sister, but she admits there is a bit of a sibling rivalry.

"It's a good competitive rivalry," C.C. said. "It makes me work harder but we're both happy when one of us does well."

Guillen certainly doesn't limit herself to Seminole High soccer. She plays on the powerful F.C. Amer-

Flat Jaguars miss clinching playoff spot

By JEFF BERLINICK
Herald Staff Writer

JACKSONVILLE - The Streak was going to end some day.

Someday, Cal Ripken will miss a game, someday Nick Anderson will make a free throw and everybody knew someday the Jacksonville Jaguars would lose a home game.

It just happened at the worst possible time.

The Jaguars fell to the New England Patriots, 26-20 Sunday, before a record crowd at Alltel Stadium, ending their 13-game home winning streak. The streak was the second best in the National Football League behind Green Bay's 26-game tear.

It was a game that would have clinched a playoff berth for the Jaguars and in all probability, would have guaranteed them at least one home playoff game.

Instead, the Jaguars were forced to see Pittsburgh's win over Denver posted on the scoreboard just as the seconds were ticking away in Jacksonville. The combination knocked the Jaguars out of first place in the AFC Central and has them scrambling with a group of teams stuck at 9-5.

It was a bitter loss that had everyone from the stern Tom Coughlin to the saintly Mark Brunell shaking their heads in frustration.

"We didn't play well enough to win," Coughlin said. "This year is when the strong get stronger and we never created anything in our entire team history that's been easy and we aren't doing that now."

The Jaguars clearly didn't show up to play although offensive tackle Leon Searcy, who committed a key offside during a long fourth quarter drive, disagreed.

"We came out flat?" Searcy answered a questioner. "I know I didn't come out flat, but I can't speak for our team."

He didn't need to. The ramblers and results spoke for themselves. Although the Jaguars outgained New England in all key offensive categories penalties and turnovers killed them. Returnman Reggie Barlow had the first kickoff return for a touchdown in Jaguars history late in the fourth quarter, but he also fumbled on a kickoff return early in the first quarter which led to a Patriot touchdown.

Penalties hurt when, trailing 23-7 early in the third quarter, the Jaguar offense finally got untracked, but a holding penalty by Brian DeMarco and offside on Searcy and later by Tony Boselli forced the Jaguars into a fourth-and-19 situation. Brunell's pass was incomplete.

The Jaguars got themselves into that hole. New England took the opening kickoff and converted an Adam Vinatieri 44-yard field goal to cap off an eight-play drive.

On Jacksonville's opening drive, the Jaguars moved to the New England 45 before Brunell was sacked by Willie McGinest and fumbled. Three plays later, New England quarterback Drew Bledsoe found Troy Brown for a nine-yard touchdown to make it 10-0.

Brunell spent a lot of time with McGinest and the New England defense which sacked him four times and alarmed him down plenty more.

After the ensuing kickoff, Barlow fumbled and Vinatieri knocked down a 41-yard field goal to make it 13-0. New England was chewing up time and yardage despite the absence of leading rusher Curtis Martin. New England was held to just 55 yards rushing but Bledsoe had all day to pass and he took advantage of the Jaguar defensive lapses.

"We didn't play with any fire or intensity, and it showed today," linebacker Kevin Hardy said. "Buffalo (next week's opponent) will look at this film and figure they can throw against us."

Jacksonville finally got on the board late in the half when Brunell capped off a nine-play drive, finding Keenan McCardell in the back of the end zone, but the Patriots stuck a knife in the Jaguar hopes with a five-yard strike from Bledsoe to Ben Coates with five seconds remaining.

"That was the sagging part for us," Coughlin said.

With the score, New England had taken most of the Jaguar momentum and a missed Mike Hollis field goal early in the third quarter temporarily took away the rest.

Vinatieri added another field goal late in the third and New England led 23-7 as a tide of teal Jaguar fans began to empty the stadium.

But if the Jaguars have taught their fans anything over the course of the streak, no matter how quirky it might be, they'll come up with some way to keep it exciting. Brunell hit McCardell with a 12-yard touchdown pass - McCardell rolled in from the three - and after a failed two-point conversion, it was 23-13.

Vinatieri hit again, this time from 39 yards but that's when Barlow raced down

See Jags, Page 2B

Jacksonville Jaguars quarterback Mark Brunell threw a pair of touchdown passes to Keenan McCardell, but he was under pressure all day as the Jags fell to New England 26-20 Sunday and missed clinching a playoff berth.

Magic ignore injuries

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO — The Orlando Magic are making John Gabriel look like a genius.

The bench came through in a big way again Monday night at the Orlando Arena as the Magic held off the Philadelphia 76ers 98-88 despite playing without Penny Hardaway, Nick Anderson and Derek Strong.

Strong was placed on the injured list over the weekend and Penny joined him on the list Monday.

Anderson did appear in the lineup Monday night, but left after just four minutes with a broken left hand that will put him on the shelf from four to six weeks.

The victory was the 14th in 21 starts for the Magic, and sixth in seven starts without Hardaway, which makes Gabriel look so much the better for making the off-season moves that have finally given the Magic a bench.

Derek Harper appeared fully recovered from his injury as he came off the bench to score 10 points and take away three crucial steals.

Rony Selkaly scored a game-high 24 points and also pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds despite playing on an injured ankle that probably would have kept him out if the other player's were not injured.

Horace Grant (12 points), Brian Evans (11 points), Gerald Wilkins and Derek Harper (10 points each) also scored in double figures for the Magic.

ten club team, coached by Danny McAvoy of Winter Springs High and Roby Stohl.

The team is one of the most powerful in Central Florida and Gullien is picking up countless amounts of experience against the best in the game.

She is hoping to share that success with her teammates this season. The Lady Noles have at least one future star in freshman Elyse Cepuran.

Seminole coach Tony Arena describes Cepuran as "the future of the program."

But it is still C.C. that will have the most to say about whether or not Seminole finally gets untraced after several losing seasons.

"We put a lot of pressure on her," Arena said. "But she just loves soccer and she can handle it."

Gullien came to Seminole by a strange route. Her parents are Argentinean but C.C. was born in Canada. She lived in the northeast until she finally made it to Florida where she started to pick up soccer. Canada's loss to Seminole's gain.

"We're building champions here," Arena said. To build champions, Arena said, his team is starting to build itself. For the first time, the Lady Noles are being encouraged to do weight training. Mickey Yasko has been working with the girls since October, at least twice a week.

"We're doing it to prevent injuries," Arena said. Last season, the Lady Noles were injury-plagued and, with only 15 girls on the team, Arena can't afford to lose anyone.

"Weightlifting is increasing their confidence and it's so important to have everyone healthy for the district games. We can't afford to lose anyone."

Most of all, he can't afford to lose Gullien. She leads the team in scoring as well as the will to win.

"I hate losing, especially if I think we could have won the game," Gullien said. "It got frustrating last year when we lost games we could have won."

Gullien did her part, leading the Lady Noles last season with 21 goals and 13 assists in 27 games, a slight decline from her freshman year when she posted 23 goals and 7 assists. Arena said it was partly his fault she didn't have more goals last season. He said he encouraged Gullien to look off and pass more last year and the increase in assists showed.

This spring, however, Gullien said she asked Arena to take the reins off and Arena agreed and told her to do whatever she had to do.

In the opening game of the season, a 10-0 rout, Gullien had four goals and an assist. Now, her goal is 100 career goals. With 44 after two seasons and the freedom to fire away, look out, record books. In the opening win, Gullien fired 12 shots at the goal.

She plans to have a long career in soccer. The Olympics are in the back of her head and college soccer seems assured. After her playing career is done, Gullien said she'd like to coach.

As captain, along with her sister and Lyndsay Koppke, she is a coach on the field already.

If Seminole continues to win, Gullien will have quite a coaching resume by the time she graduates in two years.

rebuild their confidence and brought home a 8-2 victory against West Orange Monday night.

The lackluster effort of last week seemed to be far from the Lions' minds as they roared past West Orange.

"There was no effort in the game against Lake Mary," said Oviedo head coach Joe Avallone. "It was an eye opener for us and it also built some character."

With a strong performance by captain Justin Cook, who scored four goals and had two assists, the Lions proved they were back from the loss. Shawn Duda helped out, scoring two goals for his team while Erik Rodriguez and Rellly Mitchell each added one.

Victor Panos, a freshman playing his first game of the season, gave Oviedo a big lift.

Denis Panos, Ben Laker, Miguel Diaz, Sasha Chouguine each had one assist while Cook and Sergei Kolometa had two for the evening.

"We had a real team effort and that's what I am focusing on this season," said Avallone.

Oviedo travels to Winter Springs on Thursday with variety at 7:30 p.m.

The Rams' junior varsity squad also thumped their hosts, crushing the Bulldogs 58-18.

Bradley was the lone Lake Mary player in double figures, but Mary Leah Sutton and Lindsay Manz added eight points each and Stephanie Dale contributed six points.

The Rams return to the court tonight, traveling to Winter Springs to take on the Bears in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest starting at 7:30 p.m.

the right sidelines to make it a game. A second onside kick attempt failed but Vinatieri finally missed, on a 32-yard attempt (his shortest of the day) and Jacksonville had 28 seconds to go.

But this time the Jaguars were out of miracles. A long Brunell pass from the Jacksonville 37 fell short of the end zone and the streak was over.

"We didn't play with any enthusiasm," Brunell said. "We're not accustomed to playing like this. We had the inside track, now we don't."

Now, the Jaguars have to resort to scoreboard watching. Last year, everything went their way, but now the Jaguars find two regular season games, at Buffalo and at Oakland, are suddenly looming as a lot more important than they were before kickoff on Sunday.

Raiders split on road trip

Special to the Herald

PENSACOLA — The Seminole Community College women's basketball team went on the road and proved that it is a contender for the state this season after splitting a doubleheader with two of the state's powerhouses.

The Raiders, 9-3 and ranked fifth in the most recent state poll, overcame a 12-point halftime deficit and made a game of it before falling 82-74 to No. 19 nationally-ranked, and No. 3 in the state poll, Okaloosa-Walton Community College in Niceville on Saturday.

Leading the way for SCC Gemma Riley (16 points, five steals, three assists), Daria Kudryvtseva (14 points). Therese Westergren (12 points, five rebounds) and Jaana Kotova (11 points, six rebounds, five blocked shots).

On Sunday the Raiders made the trip on over to Pensacola and came away with a 71-63 victory over the state's No. 4 ranked team.

SCC only led 33-29 at intermission, but behind the shooting of Kudryvtseva (10 points) and Izzy Medhanie (nine points), the Raiders outscored Pensacola Community College 38-32 to pull off the upset.

A bad 'break' can't stop Sutton

By KELLIE WERNER Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Last year at this time, Mary Leah Sutton was finding her game.

This year, the Lake Mary girl's basketball team is finding that she is a very important member of the squad.

That's why everyone, including Sutton, was so eager to have her back on the team after she suffered an elbow injury.

"I injured myself during the Lyman game," Sutton explained. "I went for a fast break and went up with my right arm. I got clobbered and landed on my arm and then the girl landed on top of me."

Sutton knew that her arm hurt, but continued to play. In fact, she played in three more games before the pain was too much for her and she finally asked her mom to take her to the doctor.

Turns out, Sutton had actually sustained a unicortical fracture of the radial head of her elbow. In layman's terms, she fractured her elbow and it was really painful.

Being a truly rugged athlete, Sutton cared more about getting back to her team in time for the Oviedo game than about her elbow.

So she rested.

Sutton wasn't allowed to do any type of activity and was only given a 30% chance of being released in time for the game.

In fact, on Wednesday before the game, Sutton had to beg her doctor to just take a shot and see her.

"My doctor said it was pointless to see me but I begged him," Sutton said. "And when he looked at my X-ray, he was very surprised. I had already grown bone back and that's what I needed to be able to play. So he released me."

Lake Mary coach, Carl Brown, made Sutton produce the X-ray to prove she was really ready to play. And although he only wanted her if she was truly healthy, Brown was very glad to have her back so soon.

"We'll have to take it one game at a time and she'll only play if she feels good," Brown said. "She had a clear X-ray and wanted to play, so that was good enough for me."

Sutton came onto the court Thursday like she was on a mission. She looked like a war victim, with a knee brace from a previous knee problem and a brace on her elbow.

She sure didn't play like one.

Sutton racked up 18 points on the evening and picked up rebounds that would have made Dennis Rodman jealous. That, however, will depend on how she's actually feeling on a game-to-game basis for now.

Based on her desire and ability, it's doubtful that Sutton will be seen on the bench at the start of a game anytime soon.

And that's just fine with her team.

Mary Leah Sutton (No. 35) sure didn't play like a person just recovered from a broken elbow as she led the Lake Mary Rams to a key Class 5A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference win over Oviedo last Thursday night.

Is chaparral harmful to use?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am taking the antioxidants vitamin C, vitamin E and chaparral tea. Is there any harm in this?

DEAR READER: This is the seventh in my series on herbal remedies.

Many people believe that taking antioxidant vitamins will help protect against cancer and heart disease. Vitamins C and E are relatively innocuous. Chaparral isn't.

Taken as a tea made from a desert shrub found in Mexico and the American Southwest, chaparral is promoted by health-food purveyors as an antioxidant. However, it is a dangerous drug that can poison the liver. Therefore, most authorities discourage its use. Of the 13 cases of chaparral-related liver toxicity reported to the Food and Drug Administration, two patients suffered massive liver failure and required transplants. Don't use chaparral; it's too dangerous. (Next time: pennyroyal.)

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from seasickness. In the past, I have had success using Transderm-Scop. However, I've learned that it is no longer available. What are my options?

DEAR READER: Seasickness can truly spoil a lovely trip. Although most passengers become accustomed to the movements of the ship, heavy seas may upset even the most experienced traveler.

Transderm-Scop was a terrific product because the patch, worn for three days at a time, could negate the effects of motion sickness. As you stated, the product was removed from the market for reasons that I do not understand. However, my pharmacist sources reassure me that the patch will soon be available again. Therefore, don't lose hope.

In the meantime, try either of two time-tested antidotes: Dramamine or Bonine. Both types of pill are available without a prescription.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A lady friend has been diagnosed with fibromyalgia. Some local doctors say that there is no such disease, but doctors at the Mayo Clinic claim there is. Who's right?

DEAR READER: Fibromyalgia, a complex and puzzling disorder of unknown cause, may affect up to 10 million adults in the United States; therefore, I side with the Mayo doctors.

The disease causes widespread muscular pain (present for at least three months), associated with marked tenderness over certain muscle groups ("trigger points"); fatigue; stiffness; sleep disturbances; anxiety; and depression. Women are affected up to 20 times more frequently than men are.

There is considerable overlap with other common disorders, such as chronic fatigue syndrome, hypothyroidism, myofascial pain, and irritable bowel syndrome. This makes precise diagnosis difficult. In addition, there are no satisfactory laboratory tests for fibromyalgia.

There are many intriguing theories about what causes this affliction. The most appealing hypothesis is that fibromyalgia is due to a nerve imbalance, so that muscles fail to respond appropriately to nerve stimulation. Furthermore, some cases appear to follow certain infections. Finally, brain waves during sleep are often interrupted, leading to sleep deprivation and a host of other symptoms.

Fibromyalgia is treated with a variety of drugs (especially antidepressants), in conjunction with supervised exercise programs, psychotherapy, biofeedback, education and behavioral modification. Psychologists and specially trained physiatrists can help. Support groups can also administer vital assistance. Fibromyalgia is neither crippling nor life-threatening. Nonetheless, it can be a considerable handicap. The main purpose of testing is to identify other treatable conditions that may mimic fibromyalgia.

Computer-oriented readers can obtain further information from the Internet (USA Fibromyalgia Association: <http://www.w2.com/fibrot.htm>).

WIN AT BRIDGE

Handle with care

By Phillip Alder

Most adults can relate to this observation by Mark Twain: "When I was a boy of 14, my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be 21, I was astonished at how much he had learned in seven years."

In bridge, we have the Rule of Seven. If you are in no-trump and the lead is in a suit for which you have only one top-trick stopper (usually the ace, but sometimes the king if your right-hand opponent wins the first trick with the ace), you may use the Rule of Seven to decide how long to hold up your winner. You subtract from seven the total number of cards you have in the suit between your hand and the dummy combined, and hold up for that number of rounds.

So, after West leads the heart two, the Rule of Seven tells you to hold up the ace for two rounds and win the third. But that isn't right here!

You have eight top tricks: one spade, one heart, one diamond and five clubs. The extra trick will come from diamonds, but the finesse will probably fail, given East's takeout double.

What does the lead tell you? Right — that West has only four hearts. Therefore, if you win trick one and take the diamond finesse, you will lose at most four tricks: three hearts and one diamond.

What happens if you duck the first trick? A thoughtful East will switch to the spade king. Then, when the diamond finesse fails, you will go one down, losing three spades, one heart (at trick one), and one diamond.

Apply the Rule of Seven when you fear the leader has a five-card suit.

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Dec. 10, 1997

The present course you're steering appears to be the right one. Do not make changes in the year ahead just for the sake of change. Success is indicated if you make every move count.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your chart indicates that your work habits might not be up to par today. This is because your ability to concentrate might not be fully operative. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If your attitude is "easy come, easy go" today, there is a possibility that something with potential for profit could slip through your fingers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) As a salesperson today, you should be able to captivate prospects with interesting stories about your merchandise. Try to be a good closer as well.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today you might be inclined to blurt out things without thinking. You may repeat some confidential information to more than one wrong individual.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This might not be one of your better days for visiting shops that specialize in selling unique merchandise. You might spend foolishly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Usually, your tenacious qualities are quite pronounced, but today you could waver as your enthusiasm for your endeavors ebbs and flows.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Review your flashes of inspiration very carefully today before swinging into action. Under closer scrutiny, some overlooked flaws might appear.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you're involved in a new endeavor, be sure the procedures are methodical and designed to take things one step at a time. Rome wasn't built in a day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Involvements with associates whose goals are not in sync with yours may not work out today. Do not expect more from your cohort than you have to offer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be patient and tolerant today when working with people whose minds don't work as fast as yours. It won't hurt you to repeat your presentation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might be a tad clumsy when handling delicate objects. Do not borrow anything that could get broken because you didn't know how to use it properly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not be too hasty in making decisions today that affect family members as well as yourself. More time for review might be essential.
