Ford Considers Help For South Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration, responding to a South Vietnamese call for help, says it is considering supplemental assistance to the Thieu government. State Department press officer Robert Anderson said Wednesday that President Ford and his advisers have the matter "under intense consideration." South Vietnamese officials have asked for an increase in U.S. military aid to help counter the thrust of the Communist offensive that has resulted in the fall of Phuoc Long province. The Ford administration asked for $1.4 billion in military aid to South Vietnam for the current fiscal year. Congress authorized $1 billion — then cut the amount to $700 million. The administration has been quietly preparing the way to introduce a $300 million supplemental request to restore the cut, which Congress made last month. Congress has similarly cut military aid for Cambodia approximately in half — compared to authorizations for the past year. A $200 million ceiling was placed on U.S. aid to Cambodia, plus another $47 million worth of military equipment, which can be drawn from Defense Department stocks. Since the Communist offensive that toppled Phuoc Long, ammunition, artillery and aviation fuel have been on short rations, according to the South Vietnamese. South Vietnam sent waves of U.S.-supplied fighter-bombers against Viet Cong headquarters and Communist positions Wednesday night of Saigon. The Viet Cong said the attacks caused heavy civilian casualties.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Raft Crossing Atlantic To Dock At Trinidad

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A raft crossing the Atlantic in a United Nations research project will end its journey at Trinidad within a few days, says a Jacksonville amateur radio operator who has been in daily contact with the three-man crew. "The Last Generation," as the raft is named, left Safi, Morocco, on Oct. 26, and Robert Reid, 66, said he has been in touch with the crew every day since. "They expect to arrive at Port O' Spain, Trinidad, by the end of the week," Reid said Wednesday. "I even talked to them before they left Belgium for Morocco to begin the journey across the ocean," Reid said.

Residents 'Stunned, Shocked'

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer Like ripples in a fast moving stream, the news of the arrests of four local policemen has spread over Sanford residents and left them stunned, shocked, fearful, speechless and in some instances — disbelieving. "I think it stinks! Yes, it's horrible. Ain't nobody to protect you when the lawmen don't do it. What am I gonna do...?" "Guess I'll buy me a shotgun and shoot at the first sound I hear at my door," Mrs. Tabitha Sorrells said this morning. If Mrs. Sorrells' reaction was one of outrage, then W. J. King, a Sanford resident since 1920, was stunned to learn city police are charged with burglary. "Not around here... Naw, it's never happened before. I've heard about it in other places — but not in Sanford. "I kind of always trusted the police department, but now I don't know. I know one thing. When I go off on vacation — I'm gonna slip this time without notifying police," King said. King said he always thought a lot of Police Chief Ben Butler. "It ain't Ben's fault," King said. But philosophies of thought were as abundant as people trusting Sanford streets this morning. A shopper, whose husband teaches law enforcement at a junior college, was outraged the suspects were allowed to go free on their own recognizance. "Bond was initially set at $5,000 each for the six suspects, but authorities said County (Continued On Page 2-A)

State Attorney To Decide Grand Jury May Get 'Cop' Case

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer A spokesman said State Attorney Abbott Herring will make a decision this afternoon on filing of formal charges against six City of Sanford employees arrested yesterday in connection with an alleged burglary ring. Herring was reported enroute to Sanford from his Titusville office at noon and unavailable for further comment. Released on their own recognizance after arrests were four police patrolmen, an auxiliary policeman, who is a city building inspector, and an animal control officer. Herring could decide to take the case before the Seminole County Grand Jury, which will be in session early next week, or file direct informations charging the six in circuit court. It is also possible that, based on further investigation by his office, Herring could file lesser charges against the men than those on which they were arrested by Capt. C. B. Fagan and Lt. Mike Rotundo. Animal Control Officer Robert Ray Campbell Jr., 23, 1513 1/2 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, was charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny. Paul Haleigh Sessions, 22, 428 Scott Ave., Sanford, an auxiliary policeman and also a city building inspector, was charged with breaking and entering. Central Florida Zoo Near Goal; Sets Moving Date

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer The Central Florida Zoological Society is shooting for a late April, early May date to move the animals from the old Sanford Zoo at Seminole Boulevard and Park Avenue to the more spacious 104-acre park, off U.S. 17-92 near Interstate 4, west of the city. Net proceeds from the tournament to go to the society are expected to total from $10,000 to $15,000. Animals from the zoo were on display during the Pro-Am meet today. The $87,000 is the minimum required to complete work at the zoological park to move the animals into the facilities under the most austere conditions, Rozon said. The next goal will be to raise $117,000 to fence the facility, pave roads and finish building interiors, he said. After the second phase goal is reached, the zoological exhibit areas, picnic facilities, nature trails, a rehabilitation center, road and parking facilities, utilities and the beginning of a botanical garden. There are no projections on the number of people that can be expected to visit the new facility. Construction is proceeding at the new site on the children's petting zoo, elephant, hippopotamus and alligator housing, enclosures for grazing animals, the medical center, the concession building, an office building and the three buildings to house the monkeys, the large cats and other animals.

Bushor Is Jailed On Escape Charge

An ex-Seminole County constable and Longwood Police Chief was briefly jailed today at Sanford on escape charges. Sheriff's Deputy Donald Dreggers arrested Jack Bushor, 40, at his 10107 Durango Way home in the Oakland Hills subdivision in South Seminole about 4 a.m. on a disorderly conduct charge. Bushor was in the front yard "cursing his brother-in-law in a very loud voice" and didn't heed warnings from the deputy, Dreggers reported. Enroute to county jail in a patrol car, Bushor "started attempting to damage the car or possibly injure himself," Dreggers said, and he stopped the car at SR 436 and SR 431, Altamonte Springs. When Dreggers opened the rear patrol car door Bushor "slipped from his grasp" and bolted into a nearby orange grove, according to sheriff's reports. Deputies summoned to the scene searched the grove and captured Bushor, charging him with escape. Bushor posted $5,100 bond and was later released from county jail. Dreggers said he was "reluctant to use very much force" since Bushor has gunshot wounds that are only partially healed. Mrs. Genevieve Bushor, a former Altamonte Springs Justice of the Peace, told deputies Jan. 1 that her husband shot himself with a pistol while sitting at the kitchen table in their home. Sheriff's deputies and Oviedo Police arrested a Geneva man last night after a high speed chase from Oviedo to SR 46 and Lake Harney Road, Geneva. Larry Eugene Kinnauld, 23, Lake Harney Road, was jailed on $1,250 bond, on charges of driving while intoxicated and fleeing or attempting to elude police. Deputy R. E. Fritchard said he and Oviedo Police Sgt. Kelly Fore chased a car at speeds "in excess of 110 miles an hour" (Continued On Page 2-A)

Seminole County Sheriff's Deputy H.D. Kirby "stands by" as contraband collected from 39 counties during the past 18 months was burned Thursday at the Sanford Airport, location of the Regional Crime Lab. According to Pete Raszynski, laboratory director, the total street value, which included approximately two tons of marijuana, plus other drugs was valued at approximately $1 and $5 million. Blood Donors Needed

Blood supplies provided by the County Blood Bank for Seminole Memorial Hospital are being drained by post-holiday surgery combined with an increasing number of traffic accidents and are slow in being replenished, a Blood Bank official said today. Mrs. Mary Eiselein, supervisor of the Seminole Blood Bank, said "because of the business of our donors over the holidays they didn't find time to get in." She termed the situation "serious". The County Blood Bank is a branch of the Orlando-based Central Florida Blood Bank, from which Seminole Memorial Hospital could obtain blood if the county blood supply became too low, she said. But the Central Florida Blood Bank announced this week that its blood supplies also were running low and officials there were requesting volunteer donors. The blood supply ran "about 20 per cent less during December than is normal," she said. "But we get a good response from donors when they know they are needed. We have many faithful donors." The County Blood Bank, located at 1302 E. Second St. directly behind the hospital, is open on Mondays and Wednesdays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 7 p.m. Mrs. Eiselein said donors should be between the ages of 18 to 65, in good health and should have something to eat before donating. She said it takes 30 to 45 minutes to donate a pint of blood.

23 Persons Killed In Plane Collisions

NEW YORK (AP) — In-flight plane collisions over California and Virginia took an apparent toll of 23 lives Thursday in a collision involving a commuter airliner and a small plane. Another nine were feared dead in a Newport News, Va., crash involving an Air Force training plane and a single-engine craft. The California collision involved a Cessna 150 and a Golden West Airliner. The Virginia collision involved a Cessna 150 and an Air Force T23 propeller driven plane on final approach to Langley Air Force base in Newport News.

Pueblo Charge Surfaces

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The controversy over the capture of the U.S.S. Pueblo has surfaced again with a charge by the ship's former executive officer that Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher prolonged the crew's suffering with "self-centered antics." The charge came Thursday at a small military ceremony at which Edward R. Murphy, once Bucher's second-in-command, was to be awarded the Navy Commendation Medal. Murphy was about to get his medal, he suddenly said, "I'd like to read a statement." He rejected the medal as "shallow" and said that he and another officer had returned a North Korean offer to "buy" the U.S.S. Pueblo and accept it as a North Korean ship. He said Bucher and other officers refused.

Cold Blankets Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — It is too cold in Alaska to mush. The 49th state is being for a subzero storm and the accompanying warming winds to boost the thermometer above zero. But forecasters say immediate prospects for such relief are dim. Even dog teams are staying home because of the cold blast. Sled dog mushers canceled last weekend's scheduled races. Thursday, Anchorage recorded temperatures near 20 below zero. Some charge recorded temperatures near 20 below zero. Some charge recorded temperatures near 20 below zero. Check Plan Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is toying with a novel plan to send government checks to all U.S. taxpayers in hopes Americans would spend their way out of a deepening recession, administration officials say. The President has not yet decided whether he will propose the unorthodox approach. Officials said such a program might prove to be too risky economically or too difficult to implement.

Bomb Wasted Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bomb on board caused the Trans World Airlines jetliner crash which killed 88 persons on the coast of Greece last September, the National Transportation Safety Board says. The successful sabotage was the first against a United States aircraft since 1964 when a Pacific Airlines flight crashed after the pilots were shot.

Lake Mary Guessing About Chief's Plans

LAKE MARY — Will he or won't he? That's the question on the minds of city council members regarding Police Chief Gerald Fitzgerald's pending resignation. "We have a flock of applicants," Mayor Walter Sorenson told The Herald late Thursday, "but we are hoping we can persuade Fitzgerald to stay." Meanwhile, Chief Fitzgerald refuses to discuss his plans for leaving the department with the press until the "appropriate" time. Fitzgerald, in a surprise move recently submitted a letter of resignation to the new council saying, "I feel I can no longer effectively protect the citizens of Lake Mary with our police department as it now exists." He also said in the letter the resignation is to become effective Jan. 14. Sorenson said that if the chief does stay, "We will certainly have to look into improving the department."

Residents 'Stunned'

(Continued From Page 1-A) Court Judge Harold Johnson orally ordered four policemen, a building inspector and an animal control officer released on their own recognizance. Mrs. Sandi Hunt said the charges warranted a high bond. Her husband teaches law enforcement at Valencia Jr. College, and she said she believes those arrested received preferential treatment. "They shouldn't have been released on their own recognizance. Your general citizens wouldn't have been," Mrs. Hunt said. "It seems like a shame, but I tell you the truth... I just don't know." Melvin Mauldin quickly added: "He said because some policemen are arrested doesn't mean all are bad." "I know some of them, some are nice policemen," Mauldin said. His companion, Roy Winstead, agreed. "I was really shook," she

Wanted: One Compassionate Family

Murder suspects Glenn E. Meiert, 24, Pittsburgh, Pa., left, and Donald E. Jones, 40, Largo, right, walk to arraignment hearing Thursday at Seminole County Court after they were charged in the shooting death of tavern owner Edward Adamkiewicz, 54, at the Adams Inn on U.S. 441 in the early morning hours. The two men were arrested in Orange County and returned to Seminole County a short time after the slaying.

Tavern Slaying Heads To County Grand Jury

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Grand Jury will consider murder charges against two men in the slaying of tavern owner Edward Adamkiewicz.

Assistant State Atty. William Staley told County Court Judge Harold Johnson yesterday that the case is expected to go before the grand jury "early next week." Being held in county jail at Sanford without bond on murder charges are Glenn Edward Meiert, 24, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Donald Eugene Jones, 40, Largo, Fla. Judge Johnson advised the suspects of their rights and set the preliminary hearing in the case for 2 p.m., Jan. 16. The hearing, to determine if there is probable cause to hold the men, would be held in the county jail. Meiert said he is attempting to retain private counsel and Judge Johnson temporarily appointed the public defender to represent Jones. Sheriff's deputies, summoned by neighbors, found the bullet-riddled body of Adamkiewicz, 54, in a pool of blood near the rear door of his tavern, Adams Inn, on U.S. 441 near Apopka early Thursday. The victim was clutching a pistol. Sheriff's Capt. L.J. Kris said really interested in children and are willing to give them a different kind of environment than they have known, to show them what real family life is like. "It has to be a family able to accept seeing their efforts fall two steps backwards for every advance they make ahead," he said. "Improvement is a slow process." "This is not just a foster home program, it is a rehabilitation program and the couple who accepts this responsibility is going to have problems on their hands." Ritz said currently one family has opened its home in Altamonte Springs and a home is now needed in the Sanford area, but anywhere in Seminole County is satisfactory. "This program has a lower reservation rate than others, Ritz said, adding the state will pay the family a stipend of $6.50 daily per child plus a $120 monthly bed subsidy. Ritz can be contacted by calling the DYS offices in Sanford, at the juvenile detention center or at his Longwood home. The telephone numbers are listed in the book.

Man Found Guilty In Escape Attempt

A 38-year-old Sanford man, already facing a six-month to three-year prison term on a buying, receiving and concealing stolen property conviction, today is in Seminole County Jail pending a "quick" pre-sentence investigation

Mothers March Chairman Named

Mrs. Bonnie Schumacher will again lead the 1975 Mothers March for Sanford, William P. Layer, chairman for Seminole County announced today.

The Mothers' March of the March of Dimes is beginning its second year of a century of service to the nation's children, reports Mrs. Schumacher. In the weeks ahead, she will work with other volunteers throughout Sanford for the traditional January appeal. "The physical and mental damage caused by birth defects each year accounts for our most severe child health problem," Mrs. Schumacher says. "But so much of this suffering can be spared if we do all we can to see that each pregnancy is a healthy pregnancy." This year, Mrs. Schumacher notes, Mothers March volunteers will distribute information about the importance of good nutrition to our children yet unborn. Low birthweight, which often results in a baby's healthy development, may be the result of the mother's poor nutrition during pregnancy. If a woman has early, regular prenatal care, Mrs. Schumacher adds, she receives professional advice about diet and weight gain. Proceeds from this year's drive will be used to help establish a New Born Intensive Care Center for Central Florida at Orange Memorial Hospital, for Birth Defects will take place on January 19, 20 and 21.

Deputies testified that Irvin contained a lookback and was taken to the clinic where he saw a dentist. A dental assistant Irvin then said he just wanted his teeth cleaned and filled and he was told this wasn't done for prisoners by the clinic. Deputy Donald Dregors told the court that Irvin was handcuffed to a waiting room chair while another prisoner was in the dentist chair and Irvin apparently slipped out of the cuffs. Dregors said he captured Irvin about 45 feet away from the waiting room in a rest room and Irvin repeatedly said, "Don't shoot me. I'm sorry I tried to escape."

Bushor Jailed On Escape Charge

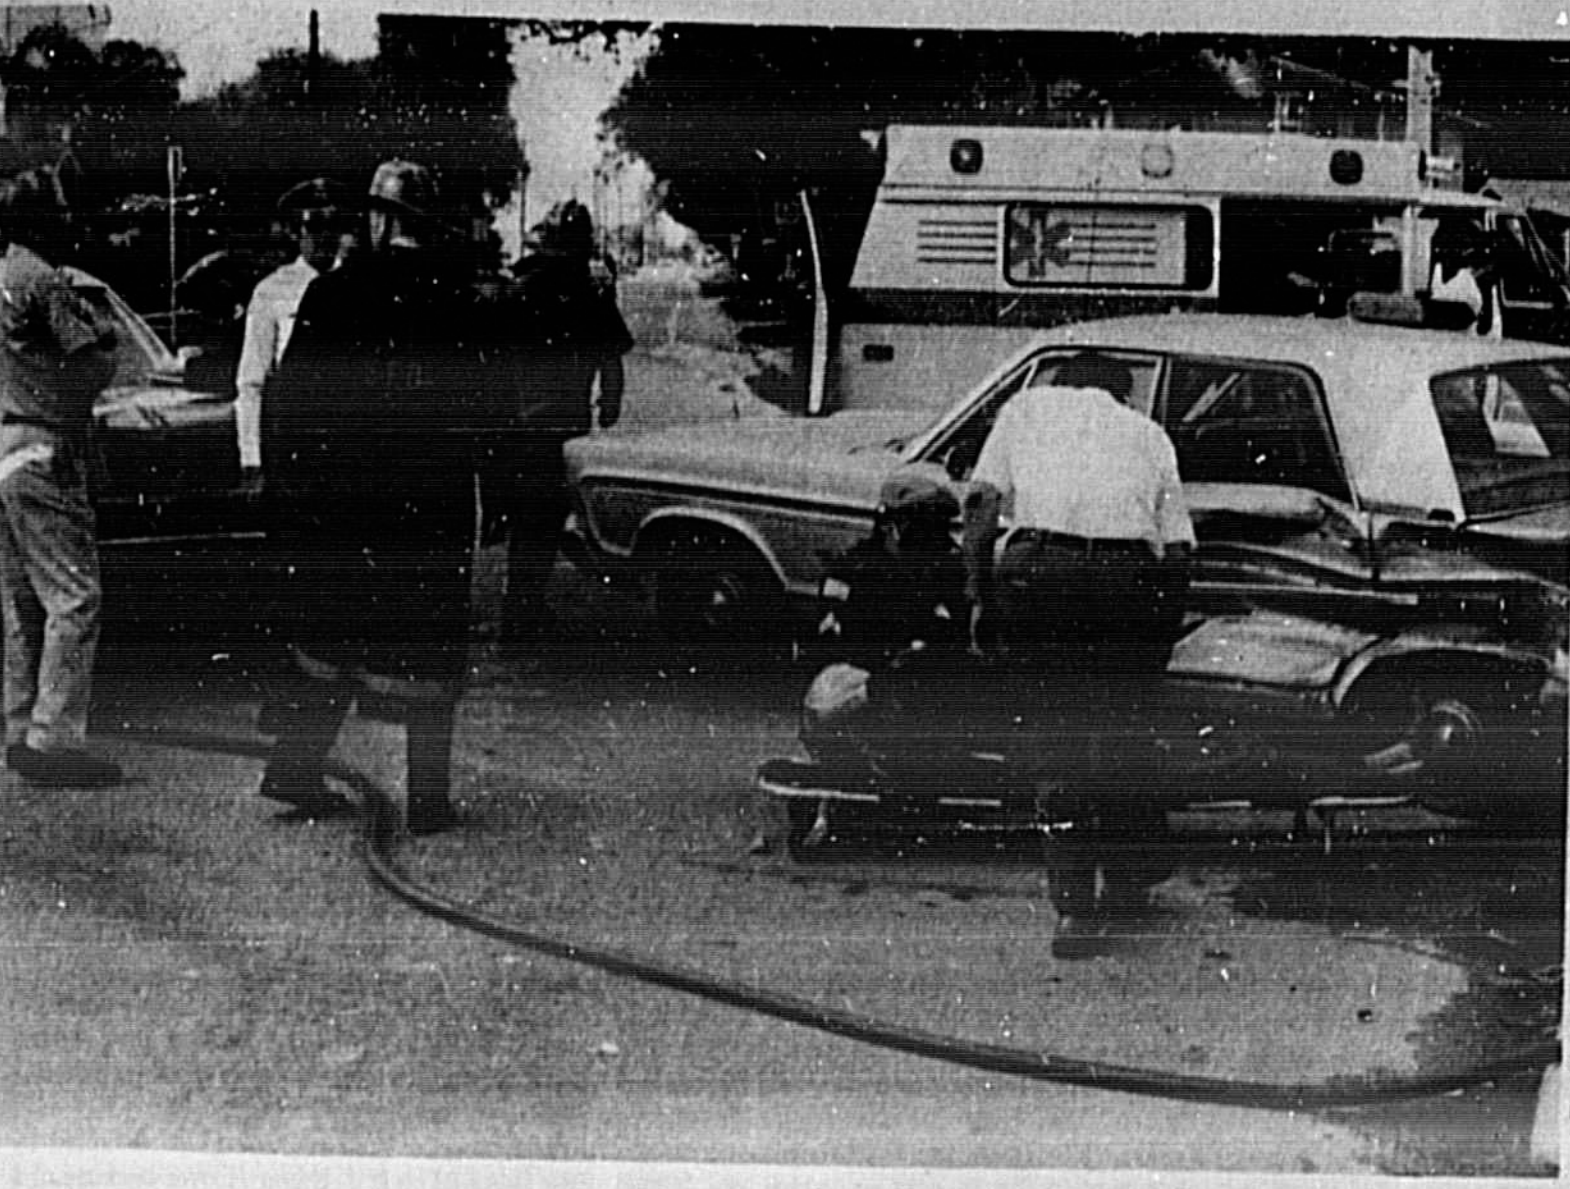

County firemen extinguished a blaze on Radio Street southeast of Sanford, off SR 427, Thursday afternoon that destroyed a $5,200 boat and motor and damaged a shed. The boat caught fire when a battery charger was connected.

Grand Jury May Get Case

Deputies said the men were traveling in a dirty white pickup truck with woodgrain paneling on the side. The "coating" used apparently was water-soluble with a "grey film-like substance." Last week a Longwood man reported he paid two Indian men $460 for a 10-minute constant job allegedly using liquid "aluminum." Deputies today were also probing theft of firearms and household items in a burglary at the home of Clifford K. Wolfe, on Cockerham Road off SR 46 and the theft of two boat trailers. Winford G. Hayes, of Deltona, reported a 16-foot boat trailer, valued at $400, was stolen from the public launching ramp on the St. Johns River at U.S. 17-92. Winner H. Stillson, of DeBary, told deputies someone took his 14-foot boat trailer while he was fishing in the St. Johns near the Geneva Bridge on SR 46.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, January 11, 1975
By CARROLL RICHTER
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's new moon gives you a chance to remove whatever may be standing in the way of your progress. You can now employ current methods to have a greater amount of success. Use your good judgment.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Eliminate whatever is keeping you from progressing as you should, and it could be your own negative thinking. Be logical.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look to your trusted friends for the boost you need to gain your finest aims. Do something especially thoughtful for loved one.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Gain the added support you need for your projects from higher-ups and use tact in doing so. Don't spend money foolishly.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although an associate's views may be different from yours, listen carefully and come to a mutual understanding.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contact experts in fields of endeavor that are alien to yours and gain knowledge you desire. Avoid one who argues too much.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have creative ideas that need to be put in operation right now. Steer clear of a person who wants to waste your time.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what it is that kin expect of you and try to please them. Make sure that you control your temper and be kind to others.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to make greater accomplishments in the future. A social affair could be the means through which you can advance.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Making improvements at home is wise. Don't let money worries bother you. Conditions for you will improve. Be cheerful.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make business appointments today instead of procrastinating. Steer clear of an associate who is too emotional at the present.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Discuss with experts how you can be more successful where property and financial affairs are concerned. Be more practical.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your own good common sense instead of obeying one who is very possessive. Don't permit a foe to downgrade you.

Union Seeking Bargaining Status For Non-Teachers

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer
An employe union is gathering signatures to seek representation for an estimated 1,112 non-instructional workers in Seminole County's school system. The organizational movement comes on the heels of the school board's recognition of the Seminole Education Association (SEA) as sole bargaining agent for the county's 1,333 teachers, librarians and counselors.

And an informational meeting has been called for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Holiday Inn, Sanford Marina. Local 1010 has been designated bargaining agent for all classified employes in Brevard County. And Joyce, a custodian at Lyman High School, hopes to see the same thing happen here. "If the board had treated us fair, we wouldn't have to resort to this. But they didn't," Joyce said. He said he's already signed up 90 custodial workers.

Foreign Speech Students Sought

More than 350 Seminole County students speak a language other than English in their homes, according to a study released by school officials. The study shows a marked increase over two years ago when only 30 students were located who spoke one of nine different languages used in Seminole. And the Seminole School Board Wednesday approved a request to apply for a federal grant for the 1975-76 school year. School Supt. William Layer, citing what he termed a "dramatic increase" in the number of families speaking languages other than English, was in favor of the program. Students in K-3 would initially be affected, and the target area is Forest City where the largest proportion of Spanish-speaking students reside. County Language-Arts Coordinators Charlotte Geyer and Wilma Morgan are attempting to identify non-English speaking families so a bilingual-bicultural program can be set up to teach English to the children. Families with children in the three to four-year-old age group are of special interest since these are the children who can be helped most before they enter a school where only English is taught and spoken.

Environmentalists
Are Retreating

A combination of factors has led Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, to postpone for six months stringent new federal restrictions on the construction of traffic-generating facilities such as stadia and shopping centers — indirect air polluters, in the language of the agency.

Train's decision was not unexpected. The deepening recession, the continuing inflation and long lines at employment services are making Americans take a second look at any laws or regulations that might be costly to the economy.

In all likelihood this most recent retreat by the federal environmentalists will not be the last. The people of the United States of America have a new appreciation for the relationships among pollution, social and economic factors.

We have discovered that the costs of pure air and water and preservation of the natural landscape are phenomenal. In the 1973-83 decade the Council on Environmental Quality estimates that business and industry alone will pay $194.8 billion to meet Environmental Protection Agency requirements for factories. Added to this will be another $30 billion or more cost imposed by federal safety regulations and untold billions on top of that required for industry to meet state and local environmental laws.

Americans may have difficulty in translating those astronomical figures into their daily realities. However, the pinch of federal laws comes home to them when their 1974 car costs $500 more because of Washington's laws — or when 10 per cent or more is added to their monthly fuel bill.

They should have no trouble realizing that the billions being spent to purify the air and water and the quality of our surroundings could be used to build factories that create jobs and make goods that Americans need.

On the other hand, the Environmental Protection Agency estimates that, however costly they are, cleaner air and water are saving Americans nearly $20 billion a year in improved health and reduced property damage.

In retrospect, it is clear that the nation did not think through the ramifications of the avalanche of environmental legislation that emerged a few years ago. We are just getting a good perspective of it now.

A factor in the perspective must be the realization that the pendulum should not be permitted to swing too far back toward the pre-1969 period when the environment received relatively little consideration. Rather, our attack on environmental evils must be re-evaluated on the basis of a sensible appraisal of the balance between the environment and the pocketbook.

With these facts in mind, the test of congressional sincerity is simple. It is whether congressmen involved had really wanted to achieve results for the consumer, they would have written legislation ordering that the requisite data be collected regularly and that there be sustained research on food prices. Two years have passed since this assessment of hearings began. But, so far as can be determined, no serious bills on the subject have been introduced.

Eight years ago, the National Commission on Food Marketing asked Congress to charge the Federal Trade Commission with a continuing study of structure and competition in the food industries. The Senate and House ignored that recommendation. They continue to ignore it to this day.

"By any reasonable measure," one witness before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress complained, "a country which is into a second year of double-digit food price inflation, should be well aware of how food prices are determined, and of what profits are being made and by whom at each step in the food production and distribution chain. And it should be reaching social, political and economic solutions from that information base instead of still groping for the basic information."

If Congress runs true to form, this absence of data will prevent the Joint Economic Committee from coming up with a detailed analysis of what is wrong with food prices, supermarkets, the middlemen and anyone else involved.

THOUGHTS
Jesus said to them, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." And they were amazed at him. — Mark 12:17.

"Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's." One would like to add: Give unto men things which are man's; give man his freedom and personality, his rights and religion. — Pope Pius XII.

CIA Surveillance Not Widespread

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency's secret files on American citizens, according to sources who have had access to them, show no evidence of widespread domestic surveillance by the CIA.

Our sources confirm The New York Times report that the CIA has the names of at least 10,000 American citizens in its files. But most of the names were furnished by domestic agencies as part of an intelligence exchange that was established after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The largest batch of names — a computerized printout listing 9,000 antiwar agitators, new leftists and ghetto militants — was turned over to the CIA in 1969 by the Justice Department's civil disturbance unit.

The unit chief, James Devine, arranged to deliver the names to the CIA's anti-terrorist expert, Richard Ober, who had made a study of radical movements overseas.

From the 9,000 names, the CIA picked out those who had received training or had participated in demonstrations overseas. This information was relayed back to the Justice Department for its guidance in dealing with domestic demonstrators.

The CIA prepared reports, for example, on Black Panthers who had received guerrilla training in Libya and demolition instruction in North Korea. The CIA also identified Arab boundaries. It sometimes becomes necessary for the CIA to continue following a lead or checking a suspect in the United States. The CIA also has been brought into the intelligence operations against foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

Not is it any secret that the CIA keeps track of both pro-Castro and anti-Castro Cuban nationals in this country, as part of its watch on Cuba. And the law gives the CIA authority to handle its own security, including background checks on American citizens.

The CIA files, of course, contain derogatory information about wholly innocent citizens. For years, we have reported how government agencies traffic in dossiers which are loaded with idle gossip about American citizens. As far back as Nov. 20, 1972, we reported that the CIA was involved in this exchange.

We quoted from one CIA memo, which offered the latest gossip on Eartha Kitt's sex life in Paris. This information was provided to the Secret Service, which had started an investigation of the entertainer after she had embarrassed Lady Bird Johnson by asked a pointed question about the Vietnam War at a Jan. 18, 1968, White House luncheon.

Quite obviously, neither the CIA nor the Secret Service has any business prying into Eartha Kitt's private life.

The exchange of derogatory information between agencies increased after the Warren Commission, investigating President Kennedy's assassination, complained about the lack of collaboration.

Thereafter, the agencies began to alert one another to intelligence that might be of interest and to request information that might be helpful in their investigations. Information about people was cranked into computers, which could produce detailed life histories at the push of a button.

The FBI sent a liaison man, Sam Papich, to work with the CIA. He worked long hours, straightening out differences over jurisdiction and operational approaches.

This cooperation was abruptly cancelled by a speech prepared for a radio-television broadcast. In a speech prepared for the National Security Council, Thieu said that since the North Vietnamese completed their conquest of the province on the Cambodian border north of Saigon on Tuesday, he has been meeting with his top generals and the National Security Council to provide maximum support for the new operation.

Thieu did not say when the campaign might be launched.

Such an operation likely would require 10,000 or more men and would result in heavy fighting as well as a severe drain on the government's dwindling supplies of ammunition and other war materiel.

LONDON (AP) — More than 100 squatters have occupied a stately row of houses owned by Queen Elizabeth II and her family. Most are unemployed or nearly so. Some are students and others are drifters. All are young.

"We're here because we have nowhere else to go; it's as simple as that," said Robert Newman, 18. The squatters said they will keep up the taxes and pay the utility bills. The 21 three-story houses and the newer cottages behind them are managed by the Crown Estate commissioners, who said they are considering whether to begin evictions. They said the houses were vacated for redevelopment.

TWA Jetliner Crashed
With Bomb On Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bomb on board caused the Trans World Airlines jetliner crash which killed 80 persons off the coast of Greece last September, the National Transportation Safety Board said today.

Another TWA flight over the same area two weeks earlier also had a bomb hidden in the plane but that device malfunctioned, the safety board said.

The device was found in a suitcase after a fire was discovered in the cargo hold.

However, the safety board said it was not confirmed that a bomb was on board that plane until after the other TWA plane had crashed.

The successful sabotage was the first against a United States aircraft since 1964 when a Pacific Airlines flight crashed off the coast of Greece.

The safety board said laboratory investigations of debris recovered from the doomed TWA plane "establish conclusively that the detonation of a high order explosive took place in the aircraft's air cargo compartment."

The TWA plane was on a flight from Tel Aviv, Israel, to New York, with stops in Athens and Rome. It crashed into the Ionian Sea off the coast of Greece shortly after taking off from Athens on Sept. 6, 1974. Seventeen Americans died in the crash.

TWA officials originally ruled out sabotage despite a claim by a telephone caller in Beirut that an organization called the Nationalist Youth for the Liberation of Palestine had sabotaged the plane. The Palestinian news agency WAPA reported shortly after the crash that a spokesman for the Palestinian Liberation Organization, which speaks for the guerrilla organizations, denied that Arab groups were involved in the disaster.

The safety board said no checks were performed at Athens on the baggage loaded on the doomed TWA flight or on the earlier flight where the malfunctioning bomb was found. It said TWA since has begun checking all baggage loaded onto its planes at Athens.

LONDON (AP) — More than 100 squatters have occupied a stately row of houses owned by Queen Elizabeth II and her family. Most are unemployed or nearly so. Some are students and others are drifters. All are young.

"We're here because we have nowhere else to go; it's as simple as that," said Robert Newman, 18. The squatters said they will keep up the taxes and pay the utility bills. The 21 three-story houses and the newer cottages behind them are managed by the Crown Estate commissioners, who said they are considering whether to begin evictions. They said the houses were vacated for redevelopment.

The Toothbrush: What To Put On It Is The Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — America is a nation of toothpaste. $400 million of goopy dentifrice squeezed from pumped tubes last year in search of mint-fresh breath, pearly white teeth, cavity-free checkups at a new low life.

Did it do any good? Dental health experts generally agree that toothpaste containing fluoride reduces cavities, if used regularly. But after several decades of research, scientists are uncertain whether toothpastes without fluoride have any advantage over a wet brush sprinkled with table salt or baking soda.

"If you're going to use a dentifrice, there is absolutely no reason it shouldn't be a fluoride dentifrice," said Dr. Stanley B. Heifetz of the National Institute of Dental Research.

It was 10 years ago that the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Therapeutics endorsed the first fluoride toothpaste to win the coveted council stamp of approval. A second brand was accepted in 1959, and a third fluoride toothpaste now is under study by the council, dental association officials said.

As for nonfluoride toothpastes — "Brushing your teeth with toothpaste is pleasant, there's no doubt about that," said Dr. Herschel S. Horowitz, another National Institute of Dental Research public health dentist. "It tastes good. It's foamy. Your mouth tingles. It's definitely a part of our culture."

But the rigorous clinical trials that would prove the major advantages of toothpastes without fluoride — for example, controlling chronic bad breath — haven't been conducted, say Dr. Heifetz, Dr. Horowitz and others at the National Institute.

Some people do need a dentifrice containing abrasive compounds to remove stains from teeth. Heavy smokers, for example, sometimes have this problem, although regular use of toothpaste with harsh abrasives can harm the tough enamel covering a tooth's outer surface.

"...at least some persons can maintain their teeth free from residual stains by using a suitable brush and water," the ADA's Council on Dental Therapeutics said in its most recent report.

"If only a slight degree of abrasion is necessary to keep teeth from staining, baking soda will usually be found satisfactory," the council said.

Dental researchers agree that for millions of people a wet brush is sufficient, without toothpaste.

But researchers, in interviews, express puzzlement why anyone taking the trouble to brush his teeth wouldn't use a fluoride toothpaste because of its proven cavity-fighting ability.

Fluoride toothpaste first appeared about 20 years ago. Studies since then have shown that when used once a day it can reduce dental decay 20 to 30 per cent in children.

But fluoride toothpaste isn't the best way to fight cavities. Fluoridating a community's water supply, thus making the chemical available to the entire body and not just the surface of the teeth, can reduce children's cavities up to 65 per cent, some studies have revealed.

Living in a community with a fluoridated water supply and then brushing with a fluoride toothpaste may heighten prevention, some studies have indicated.

Considerable research is being focused today on mouth rinses which contain fluoride. Dentists are studying whether they are superior to toothpaste in applying fluoride to the teeth.

The usefulness of unfluoridated toothpaste may be questioned. But there is little disagreement that brushing the teeth — with or without toothpaste — is essential.

One thing seems certain. The toothbrush is here to stay.

What to put on it: that's the question.

Stability Most Elusive Of Economic Qualities

NEW YORK (AP) — Austerity is the keynote now. Mayors, governors and the President of the United States espouse it. Individuals practice it, and so do corporations.

If there is anything good that can be said of recession it is that it corrects excesses that creep into practice during easier days. It forces a return to the old virtues, if only temporarily.

Newly elected officials throughout the country are calling for less waste. Individuals are cutting back sharply on their use of credit. Corporations are cutting plans to spend on plants and equipment. While all these practices will be seen as further evidence of a deterioration in the economy, all of them seem to be periodically necessary in order to bring a disarranged state of finances into better order.

Cities had been overspending their tax bases, many state governments were overloaded with help, and the federal government budget was habitually exceeding revenues by billions of dollars.

Individuals, too, were exceeding their budgets, sometimes merely to buy the things of life but too often because easy credit paved the way. That credit burden is now being reduced.

Corporations were producing goods designed to maintain the high rate of consumer spending, knowing all the while it really couldn't go on forever. Detroit discovered that.

As more austerity is practiced, the rise in consumer prices is almost certain to slow, although actual price cuts are far less likely. Interest rates already are dropping, as loan demands recede.

But, as Americans remember from other periodic recessions, austerity also can be a painful corrective. Unemployment in December exceeded 7 per cent and is almost certain to approach 8 per cent this spring.

Some economists are revising their forecasts made just a few weeks ago, and almost all the revisions are downward. Some suspect that the consensus of an upturn by late summer may be too optimistic.

The anticipated decline in plant and equipment spending, for example, is seen by some, including James Pate, assistant secretary of commerce, as bad news for the second half of the year.

Inevitably, questions are arising about the necessity of such a violent whipping of the economy, from peak to valley. Who is responsible? Could greater stability be assured by more effective government policies? The role of the Federal Reserve Board is likely to get attention from Congress. Did the Fed, in its fear of rearing inflation, clamp down too strongly on the availability of money? There are few experts on economic matters, if you judge by the disagreements among the so-called experts.

Somewhat, stability remains the most elusive economic quality. Leaders can produce excess or austerity, as they have regularly in the past decade and are likely to continue doing.

Flexible Working Schedule

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Allowing clerical workers to set their own work hours each week improves morale and reduces absenteeism, says a large firm who has tried it. Pitney Bowes, a manufacturer of business equipment, experimented with the concept among more than 250 of its employees late last year and now plans to expand the program. "It's destroyed the old adage that people don't work if you don't watch them carefully," said Jerome Perrone, manager of policies and practices who directed the experiment. "The program, which is rare in Connecticut but is winning some acceptance elsewhere, is working out so well at Pitney Bowes it will be extended to two or three times the current 250 participants, according to James L. Turrentine, vice president for employee relations. "I see this as part of a general trend business is coming to," he said. "It is one way of acknowledging that employees are grown up."

A three-month test of the flexible-time program produced an "overwhelmingly positive" acceptance by employees and supervisors alike, Perrone said.

Flexible time allows employees considerable freedom in setting their schedules from day to day during the regular five-day work week.

They may start any time after 7 a.m. and may work up to 6 p.m. The only time they must be on the job is during the so-called "come period" of each day, that busy time when each department needs its full staff.

Flexible time allows employees to put in more than the regular 7½ hours one day and have the corresponding time off another day to shop, go fishing, tend children at home or anything else.

"Lateness with this kind of program literally becomes nonexistent," Perrone said.

Each employee merely begins his or her workday on arrival by using a personal plastic "key" to start a clock-like timing device designed for the program by a New Jersey firm.

The desktop device records only the amount of time the person puts in during the week, not the daily amount.

During the trial period, Pitney Bowes found participants were absent less often, on the average of one hour per employee each month.

At that rate, extending the program to 2,000 employees earning the hourly average wage of $4.15 would save the company nearly $100,000 in three months, Perrone said.

A survey of participants showed 98 of them used schedule changes for leisure time, 92 to attend to personal business, 46 to avoid rush-hour congestion and 22 to spend more time with their families.

"Most people, believe it or not, will work their regular schedules anyway," Perrone said.

By REV. VIRGIL BRYANT, First Presbyterian Church
The Old Testament proclaims "the living God" as personal, active, and over-ruling Lord of Heaven and Earth. He is the original and only source of power in the universe. There are no limitations placed upon Him. With Him all things are possible.

In Jesus, the miracle was more than an external guarantee of the coming of the kingdom; it was one of the means by which the kingdom came. The characteristic of His healings was the manifestation of the warfare of God and Satan, good and evil, light and darkness. In the miracle of His resurrection we see faith being created in a new community endowed with power to overcome man's enemies.

But God is not only the ruler of nature, He is the Lord of history. He has performed mighty wonders that have profoundly effected the course of men's lives and the affairs of nations. He delivered His chosen people from bondage in Egypt by outward signs of great power. In the New Testament His supreme act is the raising of Jesus from the dead.

Miracles are interventions by Divine Power in the affairs of men. This is especially true when they are seen as a means by which God revealed Himself and His purposes to men. But what of the laws of nature? One of the few things that is certain about the universe as we now know it is the total uncertainty of any firm statement of inevitable cause and effect. It is not even certain how far we are justified in speaking of "invariable" sequence.

Only the most unsophisticated among us can any longer pretend that miracles, in whatever sense understood, "cannot happen."

By FANNETTE EDWARDS, Herald Correspondent
DELTONA — A dream of 10 years recently, when the Deltona Corporation presented the deed to the property on Providence Boulevard, just off Normandy Boulevard, to the Congregation of Temple Shalom, for them to erect their own Temple.

The presentation was made by Jon Adams, general manager of the Deltona Corporation in Deltona, to Cantor Michael Goodman. Witnessing the presentation were past presidents of the congregation, Jack Levinson, Nathan Goodman and William Casten.

At 1 p.m. on Tuesday, ground will be broken for the Temple Shalom's building by newly elected president, Manuel Kamp. This begins a new era for the Jewry of Deltona.

Temple Shalom congregation, at present, has no permanent home of its own. Friday night services and special holiday services are held in the United Church of Deltona on 1969 Providence Blvd., through the courtesy of that church group and pastor, Rev. Paul O. Trissel.

In 1964, a small group of Jewish residents of Deltona, devoted to Deland on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings, to pray at the Deland Jewish Center. Then in 1970, Rev. Owens, then pastor of the United Church of Deltona, offered to share their Jewish folks on Friday evenings and for special Jewish holidays, which they gladly accepted.

When Rev. Owens was transferred to another city and Reverend John R. deSouza became the pastor he and his wife Lois were equally helpful and cooperative. The Jewish congregation held regular Friday night services and High Holiday services. With their gentile neighbors and friends they enjoyed special evening services for both faiths, following regular Friday night services each week. This was always followed by a Oneg Shabbat (refreshments).

The pastor and his wife helped them run dinners and parties to raise funds for their building fund, for they hoped someday to be able to build their own house of worship as had every other denomination in Deltona.

By CLARE COX, The Herald's Staff
NEW YORK — It may come as a surprise to some, but bickering husbands and wives are becoming an area of evangelistic concern in some churches.

With 20 million divorces since World War II and the rate rising, the help of ministers is being sought increasingly, and, indeed, some pastors are initiating domestic peace-making efforts as one more part of their varied work.

The Rev. Richard B. Wilke, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Wichita, Kan., is one of the ministers who is convinced that many of the world's ills start in the home and that therefore it is the place to begin curing them.

Wilke has been confronted by so many troubled marriages since World War II and the rate rising, the help of ministers is being sought increasingly, and, indeed, some pastors are initiating domestic peace-making efforts as one more part of their varied work.

The couples have ranged in age between 25 and 50 and early 40s. Most have been married from 10 to 20 years.

Among the most likely candidates for help, in Wilke's view, are the shy ones who developed social skills, whose dependency on others leads them to accept guidance and judgment.

In a foreword, Dr. David R. Mace of the Bowman Gray Medical School in Winston-Salem, N.C., and one of the nation's foremost trainers of marriage counselors, praised Wilke for developing competence in working with groups.

Mace expressed concern over the "disconcertingly high rate of marriage failure in our contemporary society." He cited a recommendation of Dr. Paul Popenoe of the American Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles that every pastor should have basic training in marriage counseling.

To this Wilke added that ministers, priests and rabbis are doing 80 per cent of all the counseling in this country and most of it deals with family problems.

Communication — too much or too little — is at the root of most difficulties, he said. "No society has ever had more talk and less communication than ours," he added, observing that the words spouted by television, radio and the press have reached astronomical proportions.

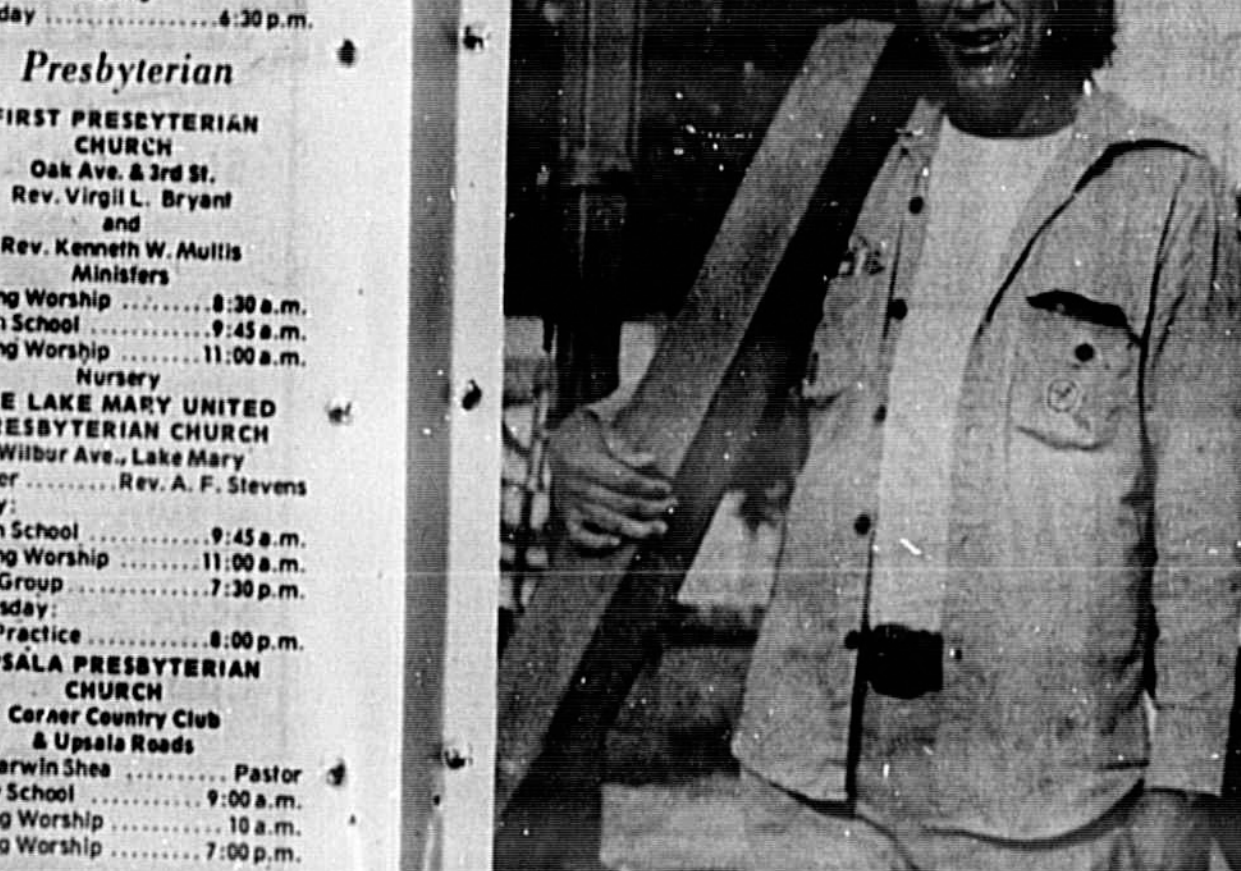

Taking care not to call his program one of "marriage enrichment" or "encounter group" activities, Wilke describes it as exactly what it is to his congregation — marriage counseling. And he specifies that every couple must be to the group "out of a sense of pain."

His original group of two couples grew to six, and he has since counseled with a number of groups of couples with what he regards as gratifying success.

The couples have ranged in age between 25 and 50 and early 40s. Most have been married from 10 to 20 years.

Among the most likely candidates for help, in Wilke's view, are the shy ones who developed social skills, whose dependency on others leads them to accept guidance and judgment.

Jacksonville Teens Speak At Churches

Arthur Blessitt To Speak
The Rev. Keith Johnson who heads Jacksonville Beach, will be in Sanford Sunday, with a group of teens who will share in church school classes and worship services in churches of the Sanford Ministerial Association.

Johnson and several youths will minister at the church school and 10:45 a.m. worship at Dr. Free Methodist Church, and other teens will share their experiences at the Junior and Senior High Classes at First United Methodist. Others will be at both church school and morning worship at First Nazarene and Pinecrest Baptist, and at First Christian.

The youth will arrive in Sanford at 9 a.m., and the churches where they will minister will meet them on the parking lot of First Presbyterian church.

A dinner meeting is set for 6 p.m. Sunday at First Presbyterian Church, and all ministers and key youth leaders are urged to attend to complete plans for a Sanford Crusade during March.

Youth Concert Is A Blessitt Event

Arthur Blessitt, former minister to Hollywood's Sunset Strip who has carried a large wooden cross across the United States, Europe and Africa as he shared the gospel of Christ, will be featured speaker at the "Solid Rock" concert to be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Sanford Civic Center.

He will be joined on the program by two popular musical groups, Agape Union of Orlando and Trust Company of Sanford, and local youth worker, David Drueding.

Church To Hold Youth Breakfast

SINGING GROUP AT ASSEMBLY
Camp Meeting Singers will sing Sunday at the 7 p.m. service at First Assembly of God located at 27th Street and Elm Avenue, Sanford.

Junior and Senior High Youth of First Christian Church will have an informal light breakfast Sunday at 8:30 a.m. prior to the class meeting. Missionaries returning after the holidays vacation will be guests.

On Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., there will be a reception and social in the hall honoring 10 couples in the congregation who have recently celebrated wedding anniversaries. The couples, who have celebrated from 34 years to 54 years, represent 37 years of married life. Those to be honored include: Mr. & Mrs. Arthur E. Earley, Mr. & Mrs. Earl Evans, Mr. & Mrs. Jesse Harris, Mr. & Mrs. James Horton Sr., Mr. & Mrs. J. Albert Hickson, Mr. & Mrs. Ira Jackson, Mr. & Mrs. O.D. Landress, Mr. & Mrs. Fred Warner and Mr. & Mrs. V. Wilkerson.

Lake Mary Baptist
Dr. Joe Pipkin, an Orlando dentist, will be speaking and showing slides of his work during the summer with the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in India at the First Baptist Church of Lake Mary, Sunday, at 7 p.m.

United Methodist
New officers for the United Methodist Women of Casselberry Community United Methodist Church will have a dedication during the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday. The first general meeting of the new church year will be held by the UMW Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in fellowship hall followed by a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. Hilda Nasworthy will present a program on the Upper Room and Red Wing Mission.

Return to "Sodom," David Wilkerson's latest film, which reveals the declining morals in this country, will be shown the public Monday at 7:30 p.m., in the chapel.

First Baptist
First Baptist Church of Sanford will observe the Lord's Supper in the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday. Dr. J.T. Cosmato will preach on and administer baptism at the 7:30 p.m. service.

DEAR ABBY She Should Cut Cord And Split

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old unmarried woman. I hold a responsible position and have been self-supporting since I was 18. I was raised to have decent moral standards and I know right from wrong.

I have always lived at home with my parents. I love them very much, but they are my problem. (Especially my mother.) I've been wanting to have my own apartment for the last three years, but my mother will not hear of it. She says, "Why should a girl want to have her own apartment, if not to have wild parties and let men sleep over? Nice girls live at home. Tramps have apartments!"

This hurts me, Abby, because I am not a tramp and I do not plan to have any wild parties or let men sleep over.

I have dated some, but I never had a steady. I'm not blaming my mother, but when I'm on a date I keep looking at my watch because I know she's waiting up for me.

Am I wrong to want my own apartment? And how can I convince my mother that she's wrong?

OVER-PROTECTED DEAR OVER: You may not be able to convince your mother that she's wrong, but if you're wise, you'll cut the cord. You sound like a mature young woman. So the word from here is, go, and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 25 years, have three wonderful children and thought I had a good marriage. I now find that my husband (a school teacher) has been having an affair with an 18-year-old girl. He is 46.

I've given him one chance after another, but he says he's "addicted" to this girl. I've showed him with love and understanding, but he still goes back to this girl, who is the age of one of his daughters. He attends church faithfully and even teaches a Sunday school class, and none of this seems to bother him. I'm about ready to go out of my mind. It's needless to say how all this affects our teen-aged daughters.

I say he's sick. He says he's fine. He lies all the time, which is not like him. Do I kick him out, or force him to see a doctor?

HAD IT DEAR HAD IT: If it's possible to force a man to see a doctor, that's exactly what you should do. Of course he's sick. His behavior is in conflict with his moral principles.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning to marry a woman who was widowed four years ago. (This will be my first marriage.) When we went to pick out the rings, she said all she wanted was an "engagement ring" because she wanted to be married with the wedding ring she now owns. This struck me as being rather odd, but I didn't say anything. (I want to even see a heard right.)

We finally had a discussion about it, and she insists that she doesn't want me to buy her a wedding band — she wants to continue wearing the one her first husband gave her.

Have you ever heard of this before? I am now wondering if it would be a mistake to marry her.

We have known each other for four months, but have spent several weekends together and I thought we knew each other well enough.

I would like your opinion.

Tales Of Persia Are Told At Woman's Club Meeting

Promoting better international relations was reflected at the Sanford Women's Club general business meeting Wednesday when three students from Seminole Junior College presented the program under the auspices of the club's Public Affairs Department.

SJC Foreign Student Adviser Jo Ann Rowe conducted the informative procedure as the students, Sharrah Varasteh, Almas Keshavarz and Ali Elmi, all from Iran, spoke on their native culture, why they decided to come to the U.S., to study, and if they had the power, changes they would make, both in this country and their homeland.

With Women's Liberation still in its infancy in America, Ms. Varasteh explained to the clubbers that in Persia, a woman carries her maiden name, even after marriage, thus establishing her own identity for life. Mrs. Rowe made a humorous response to the effect that Persian women have been doing for years at the Women's Liberation movement considers new and unique. Accompanying the adviser and foreign students was Shari Lester, a language major from Seminole County who is also vice president of the college's International Club. She explained to the women that this club was organized two years ago to promote better understanding between faculty and students. The club is not confined to SJC students and teachers, but is open to anyone interested in this community endeavor by calling Mrs. Rowe at the college.

Following the well-received program, Mrs. Rowe announced that two of the panel students, Shari and Almas, have been accepted into "Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges" on the merits of their high scholastic accomplishments.

President Dottie Karns conducted the business meeting. Routine reports were given by the following: Mrs. Richard Elam, secretary; Mrs. A.C. McReynolds, first vice president; Mrs. Woodrow Clark, second vice president; Mrs. Roy Partin, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith in the absence of Mrs. M.E. Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Foster, chairman of the Fine Arts Department; Mrs. Boyd Coleman, chairman of the Life Department; and Mrs. Walter A. Gielow, chairman of Public Affairs Department.

In keeping abreast of community government and the disbursement of tax dollars, Mrs. Walter A. Gielow pointed out the importance of club-women continuing to attend local commission and other governmental meetings and reporting the agenda actions. Begun this year, this project has proved highly informative and has generated enthusiasm among the members. Several women volunteered to attend various meetings during the forthcoming month.

As chairman of Sanford Civic Improvement Program (CIP), a combined project of the Woman's Club and other organizations, Mrs. Gielow also announced that CIP would sponsor the sale and promotion of Peter Schaal's book "Sanford and the World War II Years: 1938-48". Revenue from the project will benefit CIP toward beautifying the Sanford community.

The president appointed Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, board member, and Mrs. Boyd Coleman to serve on the nominating committee with elected committeewoman, Mrs. Phil Logan. Mrs. Robert Morris and Mrs. Myrtle Gradick to present a slate of officers for the March election.

Hostesses for the covered dish luncheon were Mrs. Paul Whitley, chairman, Mrs. R.W. Graham, Mrs. Mary Gray, Mrs. Adrian Hall, Mrs. W.D. Hoffmann, Mrs. Donald King, Mrs. E.T. Loucks, Mrs. L.W. Ross and Mrs. Robert Morris.

Bridge and canasta, under the chairmanship of the Social Department, followed the luncheon. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Steenwerth, chairman, Mrs. Boyd Coleman and Mrs. Herbert Larson.

Following a covered dish luncheon at noon, sewing contest entrants will model the fashions they created. The top winners, in both Junior and Senior competition, will advance to the District competition which could lead to the National finals.

Winners in the arts and crafts division will also be eligible for the District contest, and on to national.

Mrs. William Foster, Senior chairman, and Mrs. Joan Porter, Junior chairman, are co-chairmen of the festival.

The theme chosen for the decorations is "Grandma's Sewing Room" and members have supplied a variety of antiques, including an old sewing machine and family Bible, to create an "old world" atmosphere.

LLAMA MEETS ZOO SUPPORTERS The Sanford Zoo animals have a host of fans, and none more fervent than the members of Beta Sigma Phi who have voted to donate proceeds from their Feb. 8 Valentine Ball to the Central Florida Zoological Society. Breaking the good news to zoo representative Randy the llama, are (from left) Phyllis Senkarik, Margie Beine, Stan Brock, Jack Hanna and Mona Bridges. (Herald Photo by Jean Patterson)

Seminole Sidelights

1975 — a year of diminishing expectations? No! A year of changing expectations. The Year of the Woman.

No we are not female chauvinists. We just think, that times being what they are, women and their activities will once again be widely recognized as vital to the economic as well as social and emotional well-being of the family, community, nation, and even the world.

In this time of rising unemployment, rising prices, shortages, tight money, every aspect of women's activities and lives will take on a new dimension — at home and/or at work.

It seems to come down to ferocity vs. savvy, the fury of the Stealers' front four vs. the veteran experience of the Vikings' line. It is, both coaches agree, a game that could be decided between the 20-yard line. If we do, we'll win.

And, between those two points, both sides hope to be able to push each other out of the way enough times to establish a consistent rushing game, another key to success in this National Football League championship.

"You have to establish a ground game first and go from there," said Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who hopes Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier will keep the Stealers going steadily enough so that he can throw because he wants to, not because he has to.

Coach Bud Grant, bringing his Vikings into their third Super Bowl and their second in a row, agrees, with Bradshaw's assessment. "You can't live by the pass," he said. "You've got to be able to run the ball."

Overshadowed by Harris, who gained 1,006 yards during the regular season, Minnesota's Chuck Foreman is the mainstay of both the rushing and passing attack. The second-year pro gained 777 yards on the ground and, as the Vikings' leading receiver with 53 catches, added 566 aerial yards. He also led the NFL in scoring among non-kickers with 90 points on 15 touchdowns.

"I feel that, for us to win, I have to touch the ball 20 times," said Foreman, who carried only seven times for 18 yards a year ago in the 2-7 Super Bowl VIII loss to Miami. "We have to run the ball and we have to gain 150 yards on the ground. If we do, we'll win."

"It's an honor to be here," Foreman added. "But it's more of an honor to win."

"I think the experience helps," said Tarkenton. "I think being able to call on 14 years of experience is an advantage in these types of games." And, of course, there's an added incentive for Fran and the rest of the Vikings. "We think it's time we won one of these. We sure don't want to be the first to lose the Super Bowl three times." — Vikings' Fran Tarkenton

"We knew we had to play the best game of our lives to beat Oakland" in the American Conference Championship. "And before that we had to play great" to beat Buffalo in the first round of the playoffs. "All of that we had to do to get here."

"We've got some more of those games in us." If the Stealers have that in them, they'll be richer by $15,000 per man — but that's only secondary to Greene. "I want what goes on this finger," he said. "And I've got to work for it. You can go to the bank and borrow money ... but you can't borrow a Super Bowl ring."

Super Bowl IX: Test Of Fundamentals

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It is just another ball game, yet it is a very different one, this Sunday's Super Bowl IX between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Minnesota Vikings.

It is, like all games, one to be decided by defense, by a rushing game which, if successful, can open up the pocket for the offense, by fundamentals.

Yet it is like no other pro football game because it is for the championship, and only one team can ever be the best. These are the feelings that permeate this Super Bowl city of jazz, Creole cuisine and the Mardi Gras, a city already stamped by tourists from the cold communities of Pittsburgh and Minneapolis-St. Paul, as well as the rest of the nation — tourists waving pennants, flaunting aerial balloons as large as bread-and-butter dishes and proclaiming their teams and players as the greatest thing since the invention of the golf ball.

It seems to come down to ferocity vs. savvy, the fury of the Stealers' front four vs. the veteran experience of the Vikings' line. It is, both coaches agree, a game that could be decided between the 20-yard line. If we do, we'll win.

SHS Soccer Team Wins First Match

The Seminole High School soccer team won its first match ever Wednesday night, topping Apopka 2-1.

The Stealers, in their first year on the soccer field, evened their 1975 season record at 1-1.

Nel Raines scored the first goal for Seminole in the first half with a rifle-like shot into the corner of the goal.

In the second half, Raines cannoned a shot into the top of the goal. It bounced back into the chest of teammate Reginald Davis and then bounded into the goal.

Better yet, he might have simply called this The Year of the People. Because men and women, adults and children may find in this year the opportunities in the long run to do more for themselves and each other and the community in a meaningful way than for a long time.

In this column we hope not only to report on issues, events and personalities of interest to women, but also of interest to men. We hope to serve not only as a calendar of events but also as a kind of chronicle of human affairs here in Seminole County.

And we need your help to get the inside story on what is going on, who's who and what's what. Hopefully today's column is my first and last chance to do my own sounding off. From here on out, it is your sounding board, your chance to spread the word every Friday.

Domestic "duties" will take on new dimensions as more women realize they must be shrewd purchasing agents and wise planners for families with limited budgets and limited commodities. Arts, crafts, sewing skills will be not only hobbies, but vital contributions to family and individual welfare as one tries to "make-do" instead of "buy new."

Volunteer activities through social clubs, or social service agencies and churches will mean even more as communities may find they cannot finance needed expansion of public service programs from public funds alone.

All the "fun" things women's organizations plan will take on more importance as we find that we need to create our own entertainment as families and friends more often. We just won't be able, perhaps, to go out and "paint the town red" so frequently.

More of us will be turning to schools to help us enter the working world, or re-enter the first time.

And the decision to work — so often difficult for a housewife and mother to make as well as for a woman in a sense each of us is forced to realistically evaluate circumstances, material and personal needs and goals and recognize that it may require a woman's working to help achieve these goals.

Now that we have, hopefully, built a pretty good case for calling this The Year of the Woman, we might also add that this could also be the Year of the Man in that men will be as seriously affected by the times, too. Their activities at home, at work and in the community will also take on new dimensions and their "role" will also be defined and redefined.

Seminoles Face Cage Road Tests

Seminole High School's basketball team travels to Daytona Beach Mainland tonight and Orlando Boone Saturday night highlighting a full schedule of weekend high school basketball games.

In other prep contests tonight involving county schools, Lake Brantley travels to Home Academy, Sanford Naval Academy hosts Mount Dora Bible, Lake Howell battles Wymore Tech at home, Oviedo ventures to Winter Garden for a bout with Lakeview and Lyman squares off against Bishop Moore on the Lyman hardwood.

In addition to the Boone-Seminole meeting Saturday night, Lake Brantley entertains Ocoee at home, Lake Howell hosts Bishop Moore, Sanford Naval Academy travels to Home Academy and Oviedo journeys to Orlando for a meeting with Edgewater.

Seminole's 8-3, embarked on a similar road trip last weekend and emerged with two setbacks. The Seminoles fell to Orlando Evans and Orlando Edgewater.

Both Orlando teams are in the Metro Conference, as is Orlando Boone, Seminole's Saturday foe. SHS's three losses this season have come at the hands of Metro Conference teams.

Sixteen James Brown of Daytona Beach Mainland, averaging over 20 points a game, is the main obstacle for Seminole tonight.

The Daytona team finished second recently in the Sun Holiday Tournament, losing in the finals to Lake Weir, the

Head Blocking Outlawed

ORLANDO (AP) — The National Federation of State High School Associations has come out with a strong stand against teaching football players to use their heads as a blocking and tackling tool.

"We're going to direct this to coaches, urging them not to use this as a technique and also to officials, directing them to strictly enforce the new rule," said Clifford D. Fagan, executive director of the federation.

The new rule, adopted at the conclusion of the federation's annual meeting here Thursday, makes head spearing a foul punishable with a 15-yard penalty and banishment of the offender from the game.

Sparring is defined as deliberate and malicious use of the head — diving the helmet into a player who is going down, is held so his forward progress is stopped or who is obviously out of a play.

Fagan said a statement will be issued to all members "emphasizing our concern about the dangers of using the head as a primary contact in blocking and tackling."

The federation sets prep football rules for all states except Connecticut, Massachusetts and Texas and which gives each league one series of downs from its opponent's 15-yard line to break a tie.

Four states the optional use of a tie breaking system, used in 31 states last year, which gives each team one series of downs from its opponent's 15-yard line to break a tie.

Miller: In '75 Has 67

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller had just been asked to assess his play in the first round of the first tournament on the pro golf tour and he paused a moment to consider.

"Well," said the 194 Player of the Year, "My game is just where it was when I left off last season."

"I'm driving good. I'm hitting my irons good. I'm putting good. Everything is good."

The combination produced a four-under-par 67 — despite a lapse that resulted in a double bogey — and gave Miller a share of the lead in the first round of the $100,000 Phoenix Open.

"I just made one mistake and it cost me," mused Miller, who said he should have used a wedge instead of an eight iron to gouge a second shot out of an old divot late in the round.

The lapse led to the double bogey that put him in a tie with big Leonard Thompson and chipper John Mahaffey after 18 holes of this season-opening event that Miller won last year.

The group at 67, three under par on the chills, Wednesday Club, included former Masters champion Tommy Aaron, veteran Bob Rosburg, J.C. Snead, Mike Mitchell, Roy Pace and Mike Mitchell.

SJC Begins Home Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grant Teaff of Baylor, a self-proclaimed football freak who specializes in curbing cussing programs, has been named national college coach of the Year for 1974.

"I guess that's the story of my life," the 41-year-old Teaff said Thursday after winning Coach of the Year honor in voting by the American Football Coaches Association at its convention here.

"I didn't have a scholarship and I only played college football so I could be a coach some day," he said. "I'm kind of a freak in the major college coaching profession. I didn't play major college football and I didn't play under Bear Bryant or Bud Wilkinson or any of those great coaches."

After finishing 2-8 and losing all seven Southwest Conference games the previous year, Teaff turned Baylor's program around in 1974. The Bears, preseason pick to finish in the cellar, instead won their first SWC championship in a half-century with a 6-1 record, 83 overall. They lost to Penn State 41-20 in the Cotton Bowl.

Pancoat To Vandy

MEMPHIS (AP) — The hallmark of Fred Pancoat coached football teams has been their productivity on offense.

Pancoat, head coach at Memphis State, was named Thursday as head football coach at Vanderbilt University, succeeding Steve Sloan, who left to assume the helm at Texas Tech.

A former quarterback, he is considered a keen student of the offensive game, and the teams he has served as an assistant and as a head coach have reflected it.

In his three seasons as head coach at Memphis State, Pancoat compiled a 20-21 record with teams that were characterized by their ability to move the ball and their big play potential.

Ford Hails Coaches

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, a player and assistant coach for the Boston Braves in the longest major league baseball game ever played.

"On the practice field and in the football stadium, you are conducting a living laboratory," Ford said, "a crucible of crunch that will make your youngsters — backfield and men on the line — far better able to run with the ball in later life."

Ford made his remarks at the annual banquet of the American Football Coaches Association, which presented him with the "Tues" McLaughry Award, the group's highest honor. It is named after a former coach of Brown and Dartmouth.

Cruise's Services Set

SYLACAUGA, Ala. (AP) — Services are scheduled for today in Sylacauga for Walton Cruise, 84, who was an outfielder for the Boston Braves in the longest major league baseball game ever played.

Cruise, a retired superintendent of water works for the local water department, died Thursday in his home.

He played 10 years in the National League with the St. Louis Cardinals and then with Boston. And he was on the field on May 1, 1920, when Boston and Brooklyn battled to a 26-inning 1-1 tie, still the record number of innings for a major league contest.

Potatoes Anyone?

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — If a student shows up on your doorstep selling potatoes, he could be trying for a track championship.

Idaho State University officials, faced with a tight budget, have been trying to figure out how to get a track team to the NCAA indoor championships in Detroit in March.

Six businessmen in nearby Blackfoot said Thursday they will donate 10,000 pounds of Idaho potatoes to help the team to raise the money. Members of the men and women track teams hope to sell the spuds to raise the cost of thousands of dollars for the trip.

Clarke, Parent All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Center Bobby Clarke and goaltender Bernie Parent of the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers and defenseman Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders were the leading vote-getters among the first 12 players selected to the National Hockey League's Clarence Campbell Conference All-Stars.

The scrappy Clarke, who led the Flyers in scoring with 57 points last season, came within two points of unanimous selection to the team in a vote by the Professional Hockey Writers' Association for the Jan. 21 classic at the Montreal Forum.

Dolphins Up Prices

MIAMI (AP) — Tickets for Miami Dolphins home games will be increased an average of $1 a seat for the 1975 season because of increased costs, including higher players' salaries, the club has announced.

J. Michael Robbie, ticket director of the National Football League club, said Thursday the new prices will range from $6 to $10 a game.

Deltona Tees Off

Central Florida Zoological Society, the amount of the proceeds is expected to be approximately $10,000.

The 180 amateur golfers and the 60 pro combined to form 90 teams competing for the top prizes.

The winning team will divide $600 worth of prizes, with $100 going to each team member. An additional $400 will be awarded to the top pro player.

The Deltona Open, with $12,000 waiting for the top pro players, begins Saturday at 7:30 a.m. when half of the 266 pros tee off. The second half of the pros will begin play at 12:45. Sunday's final rounds won't be changed except for the 12 low pros who will receive a late start.

Included among the professional golfers on the course is Bob Strolbe of Albany, Ga., who set a Deltona Open record of 139 when he won last year's tournament.

Denny Lyons, who won the 1972 Open, is also scheduled in the meet.

Also among the pros are Gene Jones of Winter Springs, Bob Bratler and Grover Todd of Mayfair Country Club, Chuck Thorpe, Nate Starks, Bob Bruno, Charlie Owens and Mike Ford.

Lib Robertson 1st At Mayfair

Lib Robertson's gross 81 and Tricia Stenstrom's net 72 paced all Mayfair women in their golfing debut this week.

Miriam Conklin and Sylvia Brown tied with 30s in the feature.

Cecile Heard fired a 90 for low gross in the First Flight. Miriam Andrews had a low net 75 and Kathryn Park won the feature with 29.

In Second Flight, Mary Welchel and Fran Albrecht tied with 99s. Joan Zinn and Dottie Lukas had net 78s and Rita Findell won the feature with a 28.

Genevieve Woodruff and Kay Arnold had gross 103s to lead the Third Flight. Hazel Durzo was tops with a net 78 and Margaret Kinney captured the feature with a 27.
