No Countywide Tax Hike In Budget

Barbara Christensen

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Led by Commissioners Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather, Seminole County commissioners have come up with a tentative 1983-84 budget that does not increase countywide taxes.

Christensen and Feather, both running for re-election in 1984, insisted on no tax increases this year, despite warnings from fellow commissioners and County Administrator T. Duncan Rose that increases would be easier for taxpayers to swallow this year than next year.

During a marathon budget work session Wednesday which began at 9:30 a.m. and ended shortly after 6 p.m., commissioners reviewed budget additions requested by various county departments. Then they went back and cut some of the programs they had just approved.

"I'm not interested in raising taxes," Mrs. Christensen said. "I'm willing to cut personnel. I'm willing to balance the budget."

She proposed eliminating six county jobs which are currently vacant to cut about $90,000, eliminating cost-of-living raises for county employees next year to cut $329,272, eliminating all budget additions but four which are deemed necessary and delaying construction of a $53,000 microwave tower for the Department of Public Safety.

Mrs. Christensen chided other commissioners for approving new jobs when the county faces a projected budget deficit. "I've been saying no, no, no. You all have been saying yes, yes, yes."

Feather agreed with Mrs. Christensen that cuts were necessary but didn't want to do it exactly the same way. In addition to Mrs. Christensen's proposals, he suggested cutting planned expenditures for renovation of the Courthouse and State Attorney Building. Courthouse renovation costs should be cut in half from $1.3 million and the state attorney's office renovation should be reduced from $125,000 to $75,000, he said.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn reluctantly went along with Mrs. Christensen's proposals. Feather's plan to cut from capital projects was ignored.

Commissioner Robert Sturm warned his colleagues they were painting themselves into a corner by refusing to pass a countywide tax increase. He recommended a 4.5 percent tax hike.

"I caution the board. This is one of the fastest growing counties in the country. You're going in the wrong direction with your cuts," he said. "In a growth county you can't cut personnel or services."

Commissioner Bill Kirchoff warned commissioners that politically a tax increase is better this year than next year because they will be reluctant to pass a tax hike next year, only three months before the 1984 primary election.

Rose also warned commissioners that they may regret not passing a tax increase this year. He suggested a 2.5 percent tax increase would allow the county to pay for all the proposed budget additions.

"A 2.5 percent tax hike is remarkable considering you're facing the Havill Bill (a proposal to roll back taxes to their 1980-81 level) and other problems next year," he said.

Rose said if the Havill Bill is passed by voters in November 1984, county officials may want to put a referendum before the voters to raise taxes to fund some county services. But they would be better off not passing a tax increase next year if they plan to ask for voter approval for taxes later, he said.

"We're a lean, strong governmental body. I think we can generate support for a tax referendum," he said. "But a no-tax referendum is easier to pass."

The commission consensus on the budget is not formal or binding. Public hearings will be held Sept. 9 and Sept. 23 before formal adoption of the budget.

Scouts To Man July 4 Weekend 'Safety Break' Stand

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Walter Mahany, a Life Scout with Boy Scout Troop 844 of Sanford, plans to spend his Fourth of July weekend in a rather unusual way.

No surfing at the beach or firecrackers for Walter.

He will be conducting a "Safety Break" on Interstate 4 at the westbound rest area east of Walt Disney World starting Friday at 5 p.m. and continuing around the clock until 8 p.m. on July 4.

During the 75-hour project, Walter estimates that between 1,500 to 2,000 persons will be served free coffee, cold drinks and sweet rolls thanks to Walt Mahany's Eagle Project.

To help earn his Eagle Award, Boy Scouting's highest honor, Walt has to undertake a project of service to his community, school, and/or church. He has already earned the required 21 merit badges.

The "Safety Break" will allow weary drivers to stop for 5 to 10 minutes, taking a break from the stressful holiday driving conditions.

Walt feels if one accident can be prevented the project will be a 100 percent success.

Walt, a 17-year-old Bishop Moore High School senior, is coordinating the project and has solicited the aid of his troop, Boy Scouts from other local troops, parents, adult leaders to help staff the operation. Walt plans to put in about 50 hours personally, working from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. There will be an adult in charge during the night and there will always be one on hand at all times. The leader of Troop 844, which is sponsored by First Christian Church of Sanford, is Tom Fetterhoff.

Area businesses including Poppa Jay's, Burger Chef, Burger King, McDonald's, Fairway Market and Albertson's, have pitched in with donations of coffee, orange drink, cups and napkins and troop moms are baking brownies to supplement the doughnuts he'll have to buy.

Walt says the troop is advancing the money for the first batch of doughnuts and from the donations from the travelers who stop for refreshments he will repay the loan and finance the rest of the doughnut purchases.

Walt got permission from the Florida Department of Transportation to set up the "Safety Break" at the I-4 rest area. He chose that particular one because more people would be stopping there because of its proximity to Disney World and Epcot and the fact that it has restrooms and an electrical hook-up.

But the rest stop location has its drawbacks because it is about 40 miles away from Sanford, he said when he stopped long enough from his sign making to be interviewed. And it is hard lining up people to work so far away, Walt said. He also noted transportation is a problem for the boys who need a ride.

"There's a lot of planning to do," he said. "We won't be able to run back to town and get something."

Walt has previously helped with a "Safety Break" sponsored by another troop at the Longwood I-4 rest area, but there were no restrooms or electricity there and they had to bring a generator to make the coffee. He expects to have a lot more folks taking advantage of the break at his location.

Commission Raids Funds To Balance $53 Million Budget

Seminole County commissioners avoided raising countywide taxes in the 1983-84 budget but had to raid a fund set aside for the purchase of new equipment, borrow $2 million from a trust fund set aside for indigent care and divert state gas tax funds to do it.

The biggest portion of the county's tentatively approved $53 million budget is funded by ad valorem or special purpose taxes. The county shows a $1 million deficit in the $40.1 million list of appropriations from that portion of the budget.

But a projected $4.2 million in renovation costs for the County Services Building, formerly Seminole Memorial Hospital, along with the Courthouse and other downtown office space increases the deficit.

An increase in fees and the sale of surplus county property is expected to offset about $871,237 of the deficit. The biggest source of revenue in that group is expected to be building permits which are up by more than 30 percent this year. The county's Sanford health clinic and Altamonte Springs mental health facility are expected to generate more than $300,000 income when they are sold this year. The clinic is being replaced by a new one now under construction. The Altamonte facility hasn't been used for several years.

Also helping to offset the deficit is $813,309 in the county's capital equipment reserve. That fund, set aside for replacement of equipment when it reaches a certain age, can be eliminated because county officials plan to lean more heavily on their fleet management office to keep vehicles running longer.

Commissioners plan to spend $712,500 on public works from their portion of the state gas tax funds. The funds are set aside for maintenance of roads and traffic signals or for contracted road construction projects.

Commissioners plan to borrow the $2 million in the health trust fund to make up the remainder of the deficit. The trust fund, originally $5.6 million, was established to fund indigent care in Seminole County and to pay for construction of a new health clinic. Construction of the clinic is expected to begin later this summer at a cost of $1.3 million.

That leaves the trust fund with about $2.28 million, according to County Administrator T. Duncan Rose. By borrowing $2 million from the trust fund the county can avoid issuing bonds to finance the construction projects, he said.

Commissioner Bill Kirchoff said the county can borrow money at 9.5 to 10 percent interest while its deposits are only earning 8.7 percent interest. Therefore, he said it's good business for the county to borrow from itself as long as annual payments are made with interest to replenish the trust fund.

Rose said the payments to the fund would be about $511,000 for five years.

Residents of unincorporated areas will be paying a slightly higher tax rate for fire protection this year to finance construction of a new fire station on Markham Woods Road between Lake Mary and Longwood.

About $250,000 of the construction costs will be financed by an increase of 14 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation for unincorporated area taxpayers. The new fire district tax rate will be $2.85 per $1,000 assessed value.

The remainder of the $519,000 construction costs will be funded by countywide sales tax receipts.

The sales tax receipts also will be used to fund four new sheriff's deputies for road patrol and an additional detective in the Sheriff's Department. The five new positions will cost about $133,000.

However, the sheriff was not as successful in getting other additions approved. A request for three clerk/typists was pared to one, which will cost the county about $12,000.

Commissioners also gave the sheriff an additional medical officer at the jail at a cost of $21,499 but did not approve an additional booking clerk for the jail.

Many Will Have A Holiday From Work Monday

With the Fourth of July falling on Monday, municipal, county, state and federal workers will enjoy an extended holiday weekend this year. Banks and post offices will be closed Monday. Seminole Community College will delay the start of the second half of its summer semester until Tuesday because of the Independence Day holiday.

In Sanford there will be no garbage collection on Monday because of the holiday. Monday's schedule will be followed on Tuesday, Tuesday's on Wednesday and on Thursday and Friday the pickups will be back to normal. In Altamonte Springs there will be no garbage pickup on Monday, but the regular schedule will be resumed on Tuesday.

July 4 is one of five selected holidays when special discount rates apply to long distance telephone calls. "Customers can save up to 40 percent by dialing their calls direct during daylight hours," said local Southern Bell Manager Larry Strickler. The discounted rate, in effect from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., is 35 percent off the full weekday rates for in-state calls and 40 percent for out-of-state calls.

Now that school is out, are the kids just sitting around the house, complaining that they don't have anything to do? They apparently haven't heard about the youth recreation programs being offered throughout Seminole County this summer. City Cemeteries Not For Sale

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Sanford may sell its Lakeview and Evergreen cemeteries at some time in the future, but so far it hasn't received an offer that it can't refuse.

And calls from constituents received by most of the city commissioners opposing a transfer of ownership on the two city cemeteries on West 25th Street out-number those who are in favor, despite the fact that maintenance of the facilities, under contract from a private company, costs the city some $36,000 annually over and above revenues from the facilities.

The response by the city could be to increase the charge of purchasing a space from its current $200.

Currently, the city has in a special trust account $155,000 from the sales of cemetery spaces and perpetual care fees.

That money is invested and earning about 10 percent interest annually, said City Treasurer Henry Tamm. The resulting $15,000 per year interest is used to help pay the operating expense and maintenance costs which City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles estimates at more than $30,000 annually.

The difference between the $50,000 plus and the $15,000 is paid through the city's general fund, and thus the taxpayers at large.

The new owners of Oaklawn Memorial Park at 25th Street and Rinehart Road offered to take over the ownership and operation of the two cemeteries, expecting the city to turn over to the private operators $93,250 from the trust account at the rate of $10 for each of the 9,325 grave sites sold to provide perpetual care.

Oaklawn also promised to provide grave spaces for the needy, to purchase additional land to expand the cemeteries, to build a chapel at the site and to provide mausoleum facilities, plus retain the services of the present city employed sexton.

But Glenn McCall of Seminole Monument Co. quickly wrote the city saying his firm should have first choice. In the past McCall tried to buy the cemeteries.

Noting that he is a long time resident, McCall said he "has the interest in the community and not only a profit motive."

McCall said by approving the deal offered by Oaklawn the city would be granting that firm a monopoly. "This would not be in the best interest of your citizens," he said.

Noting that the cemeteries have a total of 10,203 grave spaces and 9,325 are sold, Knowles said there are 878 spaces left and those will be used up by 1992. Actual sales will trickle off to nothing prior to 1990, Knowles said, because some unsold spaces are widely scattered and singles and these will not sell readily.

"The result will be a nonviable facility that is an expense to the taxpayers with no future use," Knowles said.

While Commissioner David Farr agreed with Knowles' reasoning, the other four city commissioners did not.

Farr said he had not received any calls concerning the cemetery from constituents and made a motion authorizing Knowles to work with City Attorney Bill Colbert to establish a price for the cemetery with the view toward selling. His motion died for lack of a second.

A motion by Commissioner Milton Smith, seconded by Ned Yancey, to table action indefinitely until the commission could discuss the matter more and "let some of our citizens become educated" failed when Keith, Farr and Mayor Lee P. Moore opposed.

Senate Kills Effort To Cap Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan doesn't have to bother to veto a Democratic bid to limit Friday's tax cut to $720 per family. The Senate already scrubbed the attempt.

The Republican-controlled Senate Wednesday killed a proposal 55-45 to put a cap on the final installment of Reagan's three-year, 25 percent tax cut.

See related story, page 2B

The July 1 tax reduction marks the final 10 percent installment of the three-year, 25 percent tax cut program Congress enacted in 1981. The first 5 percent rate cut took effect Oct. 1, 1981, followed by a 10 percent reduction on July 1, 1982.

Under the defeated proposal, 90 percent of the taxpayers would have received their full tax cut. But the remaining 10 percent would have been limited to a maximum tax savings of $720 per family, $673 for divorced and widowed heads of households, and $637 for single taxpayers. It would have saved the government $6.2 billion next year by recouping lost tax revenue and $38.8 billion through 1988.

4 Terrorists Jailed

CHICAGO (UPI) — Four members of the Puerto Rican terrorist group FALN charged with planning to bomb military installations during the Fourth of July weekend are "dedicated to random acts of violence," prosecutors said.

Edwin Cortes, 28, Alejandrina Torres, 44, Alberto Rodriguez, 30, and Jose Luis Rodriguez, 22, all of Chicago, were arrested Wednesday and appeared before Federal Magistrate Carl Susman on charges of seditious conspiracy.

Bond was set at $10 million cash each for the three men and $5 million cash for Mrs. Torres, identified as the stepmother of Carlos Torres, the jailed former leader of Fuerzas Armadas Liberacion Nacional.

FALN seeks independence for Puerto Rico and has claimed responsibility for more than 100 bombings and attempted bombings in Chicago and New York since 1974. Six people have been killed and over a hundred maimed in the bombings.

Finding A 'Mole': Briefing Book Probe Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of a House panel investigating how President Reagan's 1980 campaign acquired Jimmy Carter's debate briefing papers says he is ready to call top administration officials as witnesses.

White House officials, with the president on a cross-country trip to California Wednesday, tentatively indicated the administration plans to be cooperative about testifying.

The Justice Department is also investigating the disclosure in a recent book, "Reagan in the White House" by Time magazine correspondent Laurence Barrett, that a briefing book prepared for Carter's televised debate with Reagan was slipped to the Reagan campaign by a "mole."

There were indications Barrett may have learned of the incident from David Stockman, who played the role of Carter while candidate Reagan rehearsed for the debate and is now director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Stockman's spokesman, Edwin Dale, confirmed Wednesday night that Stockman had mentioned the briefing book to Barrett and used the term "filched" to describe the material.

Barrett reported in his book that, "Apparently a mole in the Carter camp had filched papers containing the main points the president planned to make when he met Reagan for the debate."

"Stockman did mention the matter to Barrett," Dale said in a telephone interview. "He did not use the term 'mole' though."

Dale emphasized Stockman does not know how the Reagan campaign obtained the documents. Rep. Don Albosta, D-Mich.,

chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee, said Wednesday he asked the White House for all campaign materials obtained from the Carter camp.

"We do not know who the mole is," Albosta said. "I don't think the president knows who the mole is. But I think people in the administration know who the mole is."

Albosta said he is ready to summon top administration officials to testify if necessary. He said a congressional probe is necessary despite the fact that House Speaker Thomas O'Neill disagrees and Reagan said he never saw the documents.

The White House Tuesday turned over to the Justice Department 850 pages of documents, including key Democratic debate plans, from the files of administration officials.

Ronald Reagan Jimmy Carter

...a new book suggests that former President Jimmy Carter's briefing book was filched by a spy in the Carter camp and slipped to Ronald Reagan's campaign staff. Both a House panel and the Justice Department are investigating what is being called 'Bookgate.'

2 Face Life Imprisonment For Kidnapping, Robbery

Two Orlando men face up to life in prison following conviction in Seminole Circuit Court Wednesday on charges of kidnapping and robbery with a deadly weapon.

Martin David Banish, 6500-B San Pedro, and David Lloyd Johnson, 715 Mills Road, both age 20, were found guilty of the abduction of James Walker, 205 Tyree Lane, Winter Park.

Following the verdict by a jury of six, Circuit Judge Kenneth A. Leffler ordered pre-sentence investigations for each man and set sentencing for August 15. The

In the back seat, he leaped from the car and escaped. Police apprehended Johnson and Banish a short time later. Walker had suffered superficial knife cuts to his forehead and nose.

During the trial, defense attorneys attempted to have the case dismissed, contending it should have been tried in Orange County since the incident occurred there. Leffler denied the motion.

LANDINGS LOT HIT
 Three residents of the Sanford Landings apartment complex between Lake Monroe and 1st Street near Central Florida Regional Hospital, were victims of theft and vandalism between Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Doug Huth, 1808-C Landings Drive, told police someone removed a white and green canvas car cover from his 1983 Datsun 280Z between 11:15 p.m. Saturday and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. The cover was valued at $105.

Raymond Fall, 1806-C Landings Drive, said someone, between 1:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday, used an unknown sharp object to puncture two front tires and a rear tire of his 1979 Ford 4X4 pickup.

Sam Kottyan, 1813-C Landings Drive, said someone removed a car cover valued at $98 from his 1980 BMW and opened the car trunk and stole a tool box with assorted tools valued at $125. The trunk showed no signs of forced entry, police said.

MOTORCYCLE TAKEN
 A green Kawasaki motorcycle dirt bike was stolen from a shed behind the Charles William Hensley residence, 202 McVay Drive, Sanford, between 7:15 and 7:37 a.m. Friday, police report.

It appears the culprits melted a plastic area around the lock on the shed door, police said. The motorcycle is valued at $1,000.

NO HARE TO BE FOUND
 A male rabbit and a 24-inch wire cage were stolen from the rear of the Jean M. McLain residence, 708 Elm Ave., Sanford, between 1 and 5:15 p.m. Friday, police report. The rabbit and cage are valued at $35.

CHICKENS KILLED
 Police report that unknown persons killed 12 chickens, apparently with a stick, that were in a cage at the rear of the Good Samaritan Home, 1704 W. 9th St., Sanford. The incident occurred between 3 and 6:30 p.m. The chickens were valued at $36.

PIPE ASSAULT
 Patricia Woodward, 26, of 810 Celery Ave., Sanford, told police a man struck her in the face with a metal pipe 9:10 p.m. Saturday in a parking lot at 4th Street and Sanford Avenue.

TOOL BOX TAKEN
 A tool box was taken from a garage at the Jack D. Elkins residence, 312 Hidden Lake Dr., Sanford, about 10 a.m. Saturday, police report. The tool box is valued at $150.

BRIEFCASE SNATCHED
 A brown leather briefcase containing business papers and free food coupons was taken from the McDonald's restaurant, 2904 Orlando Dr., Sanford, between 2 and 6 a.m. June 19, police report. The briefcase is the property of store manager Cheryl DeFillippo.

BATHROOM ENTRY
 A thief who entered the home of Francis Price, 1005 W. 1st St., Sanford, between 3:30 and 8:30 p.m. Friday came in via a bathroom window, stole a white purse with contents valued at $200 and left the same way police said.

WALLET, PURSE STOLEN
 A brown "Levi" wallet belonging to Wesley Farrar, 28, of 410 Myrtle Ave., Sanford, was taken from his Chevy pickup while he was at a beverage store at 13th Street and French Avenue at approximately 5:30 p.m. Friday. The wallet's contents are valued at $180.

In an unrelated incident in the same neighborhood, Connie Hudson, Geneva, had her purse stolen at about 9:30 p.m. Sunday from The Barn, 1200 French Ave., Sanford. The purse contained $250 in cash.

DUI DISPOSITIONS
 Una Kelly Day, 627 Spring Oaks Blvd., Altamonte Springs, who was arrested for driving under the influence June 11, has been ordered to pay a $250 fine, a $10 contribution to the Crimes Compensation Trust Fund, attend Counter Attack School and contribute 50 hours to community service. In addition, his driver's license was suspended for all but business purposes for six months.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Crews Ready Challenger For August Blastoff

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The second mission of the shuttle Challenger officially ended with its return to Florida and work began today for its next flight in mid- to late August.

Challenger came home to the Kennedy Space Center Wednesday, riding piggyback atop a gleaming jumbo jet. Preliminary work included clearing out the gear used on last week's mission.

Space agency officials said Challenger returned to Earth in good shape, but admitted it looked more worn than after its first space journey in April. Its whiteness dulled by space travel, the shuttle also displayed numerous damaged insulation tiles. Also, one of the spacecraft's four brakes shattered after landing at Edwards and is undergoing repairs.

The August flight will send America's first black astronaut in space and will feature the shuttle program's first night launch and landing.

Nude Rights In The Keys?

KEY WEST (UPI) — In an attempt to persuade officials to give up their proposed city ordinance against a so-called "epidemic of bare-breasted women," nudists are campaigning for the right to sunbathe uncovered.

Officials say the increase in nude sunbathing is threatening to give the island city a bad image.

Police Chief Larry Rodriguez requested an ordinance against public nudity recently, saying the city was suffering "an epidemic of bare-breasted women." He said he received numerous complaints from tourists and residents of seeing unclad women at hotel pools and beaches.

The city commission will vote July 6 on a proposed anti-nudity ordinance that would require people to cover their private parts in public places.

But not everyone is in favor of the ordinance. A survey conducted by the Key West Citizen newspaper in December 1982, revealed that more than 70 percent of the respondents favored some type of clothing-optional beach.

No Registration, No College Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the help of the Supreme Court, a new law will take effect Friday denying federal college loans and grants to thousands of men who fail to register for the draft.

Without dissent Wednesday, the justices set aside a Minnesota judge's injunction that had threatened to keep the new law from going into effect as scheduled July 1.

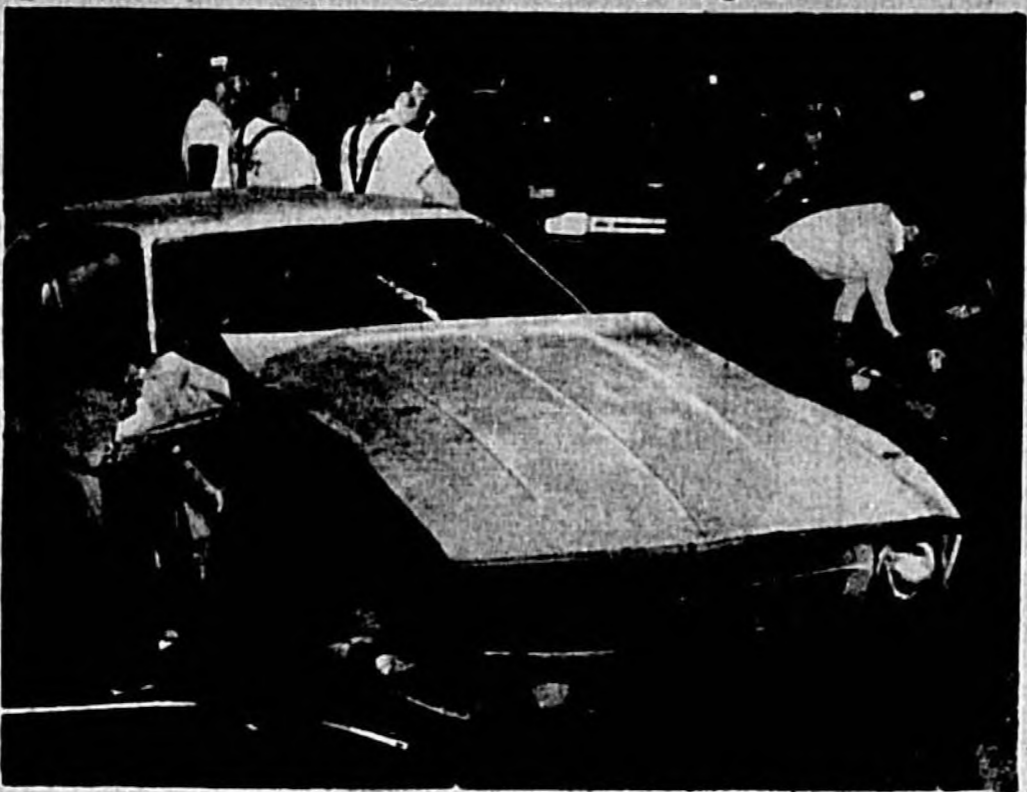

In a one-paragraph order, the high court ensured that the law will be in force through the summer and into the fall.

The law will remain on the books until the court decides whether to hear arguments on the statute's constitutionality — a decision that will not come until the new court term begins in October. Beginning Friday, any draft-age young man applying for federal student aid must sign a statement saying he has registered. Those who have not signed up will not be eligible for federal college aid, including loans, grants and work assistance.

Although no one keeps statistics on how many college students are among those who have failed to register, the Selective Service's best approximation is that 122,500 young men may be in danger of losing federal aid unless they now register.

The new student funding requirement was enacted by Congress last September to induce more young men to fulfill their legal duty to register.

Car Vs. Light Pole

Brenda Joyce Vickers is comforted along the side of the road early Wednesday after she lost control of the 1972 Mustang she was driving struck a light pole on U.S. Highway 17-92 at 10th Street in Sanford. Ms. Vickers, 37, was treated and released in the emergency room at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The accident occurred at about 12:23 a.m. Ms. Vickers was charged with careless driving, driving with no valid driver's license and no auto registration. The damaged light pole will cost an estimated $1,000 to repair, police said.

... Budget Tentatively Approved

A request for an assistant fleet manager for the department was also rejected.

Commissioners also elected not to fund any new positions in the officer-in-the-schools program. The program has received rave reviews for cutting crime at the four schools currently involved in the program but commissioners said the school board could fund the two new positions if they want them. The school board and county commission currently split the cost of the four officers in the schools.

More than $2.2 million is budgeted for renovation of the County Services Building. Included in that cost are three new employees for the public works department to maintain the building, formerly Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Another $1.36 million was approved for renovation and moving expenses in the Courthouse. The building will be totally devoted to court-related activities following renovation.

Renovation of the state attorney's building is expected to cost $127,520.

The board also approved $27,344 for staff development of a computer-aided dispatching system. — Micheal Beha.

Sanford School Plans OK'd

Tentative plans for Hamilton Elementary School in Sanford have received approval from the Seminole County School Board.

School board members viewed the plans prepared by the Casseberry architectural firm Dalmwood, Derryberry and Pavelschak at a board session Wednesday.

The $4 million school will be one story and will have three wings. One wing will house exceptional education, kindergarten and first grade classes. Another wing will have second and third grade classes and the third wing will house fourth and fifth graders along with music and art classrooms.

The school, which will be located at the corner of Melroseville and Celery avenues in Sanford, will front Eighth Street and will have a capacity of 900 students.

Named after William and Alberta Hamilton, Seminole County educators with 65 years of experience between them, the school will replace Sanford Grammar, South Side and Hopper elementary schools.

Construction on the school is expected to begin later this year.

Lawyer Wants Out

Seminole Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. is considering a motion by Altamonte Springs attorney Leon Cheek asking he be removed as defense counsel for Donald Glenn McDougall, accused in the torture-murder of 5-year-old Ursula Sunshine Assaid.

Cheek's office said he is asking to be taken off the case because a new prosecution witness is a former client of his and questioning the person in court could present a conflict of interest. That witness is expected to testify about a conversation he had with McDougall in the Seminole County jail.

If Mize grants the request, it would further delay the trial of McDougall who is charged with aggravated child abuse and first-degree murder.

The murdered child's mother, Susan Barrett Assaid, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in connection with the case in June and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Ms. Assaid gave birth to a boy, believed to be McDougall's child, on May 30 in jail. The infant is in temporary custody of the state department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and Mize is expected to rule on the baby's permanent custody July 5.

Ms. Assaid and McDougall were originally both charged with first-degree murder after the 5-year-old's body was found in a burlap sack at the bottom of a muck-filled pond near the Eastmonte Civic Center in Altamonte Springs last fall.

The body was not recovered until Ms. Assaid went to police in Riverside, Calif., where she and McDougall were living at the time, and told them where to find the body. She said she went to police because she was afraid McDougall was going to leave her.

Prosecutors charged that Ms. Assaid and McDougall placed the girl's body in the sack, tied two eight-pound barbells to it and threw it in the pond. They further charge that the girl died after 55 hours of continuous torture by McDougall as Ms. Assaid stood by and did nothing.

In exchange for a promise to testify against McDougall, the charge against Ms. Assaid was reduced to manslaughter.

At her sentencing June 16, Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor said the bond between mother and child is one of the strongest known to man and he found it "exceedingly difficult" to understand how she could have failed to put a stop to the actions alleged to have been committed by McDougall.

... Cemeteries Not Sold

to continue city operation due to the opposition from the community on a change to private ownership.

Videl James of 327 W. Ninth St. said his mother, an aunt and five other relatives are buried in Evergreen or the old Lakeview cemetery while his wife and son-in-law are buried at Oaklawn. He said Evergreen needs to be mowed more and the old tombstones need scrubbing, adding that those with relatives buried in the two cemeteries ought to be given the opportunity of contributing to maintenance costs there.

Knowles said the vast majority of the spaces in the cemeteries were sold years ago and no perpetual care fees were levied.

"If you are bent on getting rid of the cemeteries, get the best bargain," Jones counseled the City Commission prior to its decision.

"As a citizen here since 1922, I'm saying get the best offer and make very sure that the driveways and walkways in the cemetery are not used up for grave spaces," Jones said. He added that the $200 for grave space charged by the city is "dirt cheap."

Meanwhile, Pat Baxley, an unsuccessful city commission candidate last year, who attends City Commission meetings regularly, said she favors seeing the cemetery upgraded. A resident at 1901 Country Club Road, she said her entire street is regularly blocked with funerals.

She asked if bids would be necessary before the city could sell the cemeteries, adding she's not sure the city ought to be in the cemetery business.

Moore responded the city cannot get rid of an asset without declaring it no longer serves a public purpose and then call for bids.

Yancey said he talked to "lots of people in Sanford" who don't want to sell. Smith said he received many calls and most are against the sale.

What We Need Is A Stronger Voice

They've been broadcasting for some time now, but the signal has gone unheeded: The Voice of America, Radio Free Europe, and the country's other information services need new equipment. President Reagan agrees, and submitted legislation more than a year ago to provide VOA and its sisters with the money they need to beef up their signal, counteract Soviet jamming, and establish facilities for countries that can't pick up our message now.

All that has to happen is for Congress to act. Which is why we're worried. Twice in the last seven months, this important legislation has worked its way through the necessary labyrinth of committees, hearings, and subcommittees, all the way to the House or Senate floor. And twice it's been blocked or neglected as Congress rushes to consider more important matters, such as raising taxes and cutting off aid to U.S. allies.

The cost: $20 million the first year, better than a billion to complete the project during this decade. That's a lot of money; and yet, it's not a lot. The Soviets spend more than $700 million a year on Radio Moscow alone, just one of several Soviet services. What's more, the United States spends several hundred million a year to operate VOA and RFE. Why not spend the money to make them effective?

Of the Voice's potential effectiveness there is no doubt. Soviet block defectors say it is America's most potent weapon. "The equivalent of 10 or 20 Soviet divisions," as one put it. Lobbing an electronic free press over the iron curtain helped spur the uprising in Hungary, peace movements in East Germany and Moscow, and the Solidarity movement in Poland. Not by telling propaganda lies about the Soviets, or inciting revolt, but simply by reporting the facts.

Recently, Polish officials held a symbolic trial for Zdzislaw Najder, a literary scholar, defector, and now head of Radio Free Europe's Polish section, he was found guilty and "sentenced" to death. The communists understand the significance of our broadcasts whether Congress does or not. Even with its rusty facilities, RFE and the Voice reach an estimated 25 million Eastern Europeans.

And the equipment is outdated. Almost every VOA transmitter is more than 15 years old; a third, better than 30. All are poorly equipped to deal with the Kremlin's stepped-up jamming program. Our news bureaus often lack the basic staff to translate foreign publications and do basic research. So despite the VOA's underlying professionalism, and despite the efforts of new Director Kenneth Tomlinson to strengthen its product, our Voice is growing weaker.

Scrutinizing federal expenses is fine, and there are plenty of such expenses just begging, to put it in Washingtonese, for a little maximum scrutiny analysis. If Congress has decided to control spending, it has a budget of better than $800 billion at which to direct its new-found husbandry. It's time to amplify the Voice.

Death And Duty

On any given day, journalists covering assorted wars, revolutions, and civil turmoil around the world risk their lives in the quest for information. Tragically, but inevitably, not all of them beat the odds.

Just recently, Los Angeles Times reporter Dial Torgerson and free-lance photographer Richard Cross were scouting the Nicaraguan-Honduras border for a story on the guerrillas opposing the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua. According to Honduran officials, a rocket-propelled grenade fired by Nicaraguan troops struck their car and killed both men plus their Honduran driver.

Witnesses later told U.S. officials that the Nicaraguans then machine-gunned the bodies of the two American journalists.

For the families and friends they left behind, their deaths are tragedies. For the public they served, their loss stills talents that had given eyewitness insights to the conflicts in Central America.

Torgerson and Cross are not the first American journalists to die in Central America and, sad to say, they are not likely to be the last. Their deaths in the line of duty are reminders of the risks run and the costs sometimes paid to bring the American people information that can never be obtained by sitting safely behind a desk.

Torgerson and Cross will be missed. But the jobs they died doing will be filled by others no less dedicated and no less courageous. And the essential public interest in firsthand reporting from the battle zones of Central America will continue to be served.

Our guess is that Dial Torgerson and Richard Cross would have it no other way.

Saga Of Briefing Papers

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Much as the White House wishes it will all go away, the furor over the purloined Carter debate briefing papers is not expected to die down immediately.

At his news conference, President Reagan was bombarded with questions about the propriety of his aides in obtaining and using documents that were prepared for President Carter for his debate with Reagan.

But he deftly sidestepped the issue of whether it was right or wrong.

At the same time, Reagan said that politics "should be above reproach."

Meanwhile, Carter aides are suggesting that "dirty tricks" may have been involved.

Around Washington, speculation runs rampant on who might have passed the documents to the Reagan camp.

So far, no one has come forward to claim the honor. Nor has the White House identified, publicly at least, anyone who might have had a hand in securing the secret papers on strategy and tactics.

The mystery is how four administration officials could have received such papers without anyone recalling how they got them.

Reagan himself said that he did not know that they existed and only learned about them from reports in the press.

White House aides are chagrined. Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes first dismissed the briefing book questions, saying there was no inquiry in the White House. Then he passed off the issue as something that is "done in politics," and not too unusual.

But some aides wish they had never seen the papers. They insist that they did not aid Reagan in the debate with Carter and that he would have triumphed anyway.

On that score, the president got a boost from Speaker Thomas O'Neill who agreed that Reagan would have won the election because Carter was unpopular, he said. He also seemed to agree with the president that it was "much ado about nothing."

Nevertheless, questions remain unanswered, and with the Justice Department conducting an inquiry, it appears the White House will be answering more questions as time goes on.

Carter aides are saying they believe that more than the debate books left their campaign premises. If that is true, the plot will thicken.

The president, meanwhile, says of the ethical question, "I think that campaigning has always, in the eyes of the people, had a kind of a double standard and I have deplored it. And there are the people who've said — people that are otherwise totally honest — have said, when they hear about something, they've said: 'Oh well, you know, politics.'"

"Well, I don't happen to believe politics should have a double standard," he said.

Lawmen Fear Rastafarian Violence

WASHINGTON — Criminal elements of the Rastafarian religious sect are emerging as some of the most menacing hoodlums who prowl our inner cities. They appear ready to gun down any lawmen who harass them or any member of the Jamaican community who defies their back-alley law.

This warning from law enforcement officials has gone out to police departments in the New York City area. Law enforcement officials and documents also reveal that the renegade Rastafarians have links to former Jamaican Prime Minister Michael Manley.

The Rastafarian religion teaches the divinity of the late Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, and includes marijuana smoking among its sacred rites. Except for the illegal use of pot, the majority of Rastafarians are peaceful, law-abiding people. But the criminal elements among the sect are something else again.

"It is part of their religious belief that if they shoot you and you die, it is because God wanted you to die for something you did wrong," the confidential warning explained, adding: "They have no feelings of guilt."

ROBERT WALTERS

Hispanic Voting Power

LA CIENEGA, N.M. (NEA) — In all three of New Mexico's gubernatorial elections during the past decade, the state's Anglos have voted overwhelmingly in favor of Republican candidates — but those GOP contenders have consistently lost.

That's because the state's Hispanic voters have participated in the balloting at a rate higher than their Anglo counterparts and have routinely given the Democratic gubernatorial nominee more than 75 percent of their votes.

Although Hispanics constitute a larger proportion (36.6 percent) of the population in New Mexico than in any other state, the escalating political influence of Spanish origin voters — the nation's second largest and fastest growing minority group — is being felt throughout the country.

The most recent demonstration of that political power occurred in Denver, where Federico Pena, a lawyer and former state legislator, entered the race for mayor as a longshot but led the seven-candidate field in the May primary and went on to defeat an Anglo politician in the June runoff.

Pena now joins Maurice Ferre of Miami, Robert Martinez of Tampa, Fla., and Henry Cisneros of San Antonio, Texas, on the relatively short but rapidly growing list of Spanish origin mayors of major cities.

Similar gains are being achieved in other political contests. Last year's elections, for example, produced a substantial increase — from five to nine — in the number of Hispanic members of the House of Representatives.

The Hispanic electorate is as complex as it is formidable, however, because this country's citizens of Spanish origin trace their roots to different nations with disparate cultures, values and traditions.

The 1980 census enumerated 14.6 million Hispanics, constituting 6.4 percent of the country's population, but demographers are uncertain about the extent to which that figure includes or excludes illegal aliens.

A Senate subcommittee estimates that there may be almost 6 million unauthorized migrants, the vast majority of whom are Hispanic, who were not counted in the census.

But the Census Bureau believes that its total includes "a sizable but unknown number of persons of Hispanic origin who are in the country in other than legal status." One recent study suggests that the total number of undocumented aliens included in the 1980 census totals about 2 million.

The official figure includes three major groups of Hispanics — 8.7 million Mexicans; 2 million Puerto Ricans and 800,000 Cubans — as well as 3 million citizens who trace their origins to other Central and South American nations.

Puerto Ricans, generally believed to be the most liberal and most steadfastly supportive of Democratic candidates, are concentrated in New York, where almost half (986,000) of them live. (Not included in any of the census figures are the 3.2 million residents of Puerto Rico itself.)

Mexicans, who lean heavily — but not as consistently as Puerto Ricans — toward liberal, Democratic politics, are concentrated in the two most populous Sun Belt states, California (with 3.6 million) and Texas (with 2.7 million) account for almost three-fourths of all Mexican-American citizens.

Cubans, whose politics are generally believed to be considerably more conservative and who frequently support Republican candidates, are concentrated in Florida, where almost 60 percent of them reside.

Thus, even though they are not culturally or ideologically homogeneous, Hispanics derive much of their political power from the fact that they represent a substantial portion of the electorate in four of the nation's five most populous states.

Moreover, they are enthusiastic participants in the electoral process. Here in New Mexico, for instance, 75 percent of all registered Hispanics participated in last year's elections, while the Anglo participation rate was less than 70 percent.

Talking Computer Helps Kids

By Sharon Rutenberg

DETROIT (UPI) — "Talking" computers — with synthesized speech — can help handicapped children with disabilities such as cerebral palsy and Down's syndrome learn the language, a researcher says.

"The computer makes the child immediately effective as a communicator," said Laura Meyers of the University of Southern California's department of communication arts and sciences in Los Angeles.

"That's a wonderful motivator," she said at a recent American Association for the Advancement of Science annual meeting.

Ms. Meyers conducted a two-year study of toddlers with cerebral palsy, Down's syndrome and other disabilities. Problems of delayed language development were dramatically overcome when a child was placed in control of a computer that could "speak" words the child had not yet mastered, she said.

Ms. Meyers has developed programs enabling a child to make a computer "say" a word by touching a picture on a pressure-sensitive control board.

The computer orally identifies the picture with synthesized speech while a viewing screen flashes a corresponding color graphic with a label printed underneath.

A 30-month-old Down's syndrome boy who used the system had a vocabulary of only five words when the study began. After a single half-hour session, he had mastered 26 new words.

"The child alone decides what the computer will say and when. That's almost like saying the words yourself," she said.

The language training is accomplished in a play situation. For instance, a child is given a toy piano and encouraged to explore its contents, all of which are represented on the computer control board.

The play context makes the language more meaningful to the child and facilitates a dialogue with an attending adult, Ms. Meyers said.

"The child always uses the computer with someone else," she said. "Early language learning always takes place in a meaningful dialogue with another person."

"Computers cannot replace human interaction with peers, family or a skillful therapist."

Preliminary studies of 50 handicapped children showed the overall rate of language acquisition accelerated immediately — often dramatically — with the aid of the computer, Ms. Meyers said.

"In most cases, the computer was needed for only a few months to help children initiate speech," she said.

"Once the children gained confidence in their effectiveness as communicators and gained some basic skills in the use of language, they were able to use the natural process of language acquisition and their own intrinsic motivation to continue to make progress."

Some of the code-words are known: A gun can be a puppy, dog, yeng, tool or gong. A shotgun is a shooty and a machinegun a machine. Bullets are called teeth. Police are called beasts and a policeman approaching is a fire. The plan for a murder is a manifest, and stabbing is called juking.

What particularly concerns the police is information that originates from Rastafarians. Rastafarians have plans to assassinate law-enforcement officials in this country. A high-level defector told his debriefers:

"Plans have been formulated to make 'hits' upon unsuspecting police officers lured by a false report.... These plans normally materialize subsequent to the arrest of a member or as a result of 'undue harassment.'"

One American policeman has already been killed by a Rastafarian stopped by a routine automobile check. Others have been shot at.

Footnote: A spokesman for the Jamaican embassy had "no comment" about anything to do with the Rastafarians. Attempts to reach Manley in Jamaica were unsuccessful.

The CIA Is Having Problems With Its Neighbors

LANGLEY, Va. (UPI) — CIA plans to build a $190 million annex at its present 219-acre complex is running into opposition from its neighbors despite a goodwill meeting at the agency's top secret headquarters that gave security officers fits.

Some 250 McLean, Va. residents who attended the unprecedented town hall meeting at the CIA's compound Wednesday appeared unsatisfied with assurances the proposed expansion would not drastically increase traffic in the area.

Larry Fitzwater, the agency's affable directorate of administration, moderated the program in the igloo-shaped auditorium adjacent to the CIA's 20-year-old, seven-story one million-square foot headquarters.

"Our office of security is still in a state of shock," he said of the town hall meeting. "We never did this before."

McLean citizens and a few reporters were required to have special invitations to the unique event. All cameras and sound recording devices were prohibited.

Fitzwater tried to assure "our neighbors" that the agency was very aware of the impact any increase in CIA traffic would have on the surrounding community and that the agency would do its utmost to consult with local, state and federal authorities to try to ease or eliminate any aggravations.

The CIA wants to house some 3,000 employees who currently work in other offices in the Washington area. Some 20,000 CIA employees — the exact number is classified — now work at the present headquarters (shown in the photo at right).

A score or more of McLean residents, none of whom identified themselves, took their turns at the microphone.

"We have a first-class public relations problem here," one citizen told Fitzwater and Larry Myers, head of the building project office. "I don't think your traffic plan is worth a pile of beans," the citizen said.

Another resident strode to the microphone and said amid loud applause, "You are going to be robbing us of the quality of our lives. You are damaging our homes, our lives."

Mothers complained of the peril to their children who cannot safely cross the roads because of present traffic.

'Now I Know He'll Be Home'

Bodies Of MIAs Returned To U.S.

United Press International
Gwendolyn Hope Ruffin, born three months after her father's plane was shot down in Vietnam in 1966, was given her middle name to keep her family's spirits buoyed. But at 17, she was not surprised when grim-faced officials confirmed her father's death.

The remains of Navy Lt. Cmdr. James Thomas Ruffin, of Deatsville, Ala. were among those of nine Americans turned over to U.S. envoys by Hanoi June 3. The Pentagon announced the names of eight of the servicemen Tuesday; the ninth has yet to be identified by the Army laboratory in Hawaii.

The remains of the eight will be flown from Hawaii to Travis Air Force Base, Calif. Wednesday, and will be given to the next of kin, the Pentagon said.

For many of the dead men's families, the announcement only confirmed what they had feared for years, bringing relief and crystallizing their feelings of loss.

"I'm surprised and not surprised," said Julie Blediger, now living in San Antonio where she is a nurse. Her husband, Air Force Col. Larry William Blediger, of La Cote, Texas, was lost Jan. 29, 1967.

"He was presumed dead by the Air Force in 1974. I personally didn't need this confirmation."

"The emotions are still there. Every time they announce they've identified some, you think it's yours."

Miss Ruffin said her middle name, Hope, was given "specifically after the hope that my father would come home." But she said the family had been prepared for the somber visit from military officials for a long time.

She said the men who delivered the news and friends of the family expected a much more emotional reaction from his survivors.

"People must have thought we were going to break down. My friends said, 'Are you OK? Are you OK?' But it's hard to be upset," she said. "We'd given up hope a long time ago. I mean after 17 years it's kind of hard to still be..." her voice trailed off.

But she says she's confident her father was the kind of man she would have looked up to.

"Everybody told me he was just a really great person. Aunt Nell said he was the best of everything. It doesn't seem fair to us because he was such a good man," she said.

Ellen Powell, mother of Air Force Capt. Lynn Keeler Powell, said from her Provo home that she was simply relieved.

"We are happy and sad at the same time. It's been 16 years, and that's a long time to worry about your son," Mrs. Powell said of her son, who disappeared Aug. 21, 1967. "I'm the type of mother that wants her children home by 10, and now I know he'll be home."

The Pentagon identified the other five men as:

—Air Force Col. John Francis Dudash, of Manville, N.J., lost April 26, 1967.

—Air Force Lt. Col. Merwin Lamphrey Morrill, of San Carlos, Calif., lost Aug. 21, 1967.

—Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Richard Lee, of Costa Mesa, Calif., lost July 9, 1967.

—Navy Cmdr. Donald Frederick Lindland, of Eugene, Ore., lost Sept. 6, 1972.

—Air Force Col. Farrell Sullivan Jr., of Caddo Mills, Texas, lost June 27, 1972.

Economy Rebounding But Interest Rates On Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest economic statistics, from house sales to leading indicators, keep promising a stronger economy, but ominous signs of higher interest rates may jeopardize the future.

Even as the Commerce Department released its May measurement of house sales, a 648,000 annual rate that was the highest since August 1980, analysts said mortgage rates were pushing upwards.

The May sales rate was 4.35 percent above April and was the fourth month of the previous five to show improvement.

Chief economist of the Mortgage Bankers Association, Mark Riedy, said lenders were charging up to 7 premium points on Wednesday to FHA borrowers, the same pressure that forced the federally backed FHA rate up half a point on June 7 to 12 percent.

Riedy said conventional mortgage rates were being pushed up to as high as 13.5 percent. "Where you really start slowing down housing demand."

Soccer Complex Denied Alcohol License

Seminole County commissioners rejected Tuesday night a request by Central Florida Soccer Inc. to sell beer and wine at the group's indoor soccer field near Winter Springs.

Commissioners voted unanimously to uphold a 3-1 decision by the County's Board of Adjustment prohibiting beer and wine sales at the facility.

Central Florida Soccer Inc. appealed that decision, claiming that the sales would be controlled.

Opponents to the proposal, including residents of Spring Hammock Mobile Home Park and members of Grace United Methodist Church, said they didn't want alcoholic beverages being sold at the soccer complex being built at the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Route 419.

The group plans to form youth soccer leagues and officials have said they want to hold games with adult teams.

The board also denied a request from Southern Pacific Communications Co. to build a microwave tower near Snowhill Road even though officials from the company said they want to withdraw the application.

Southern Communications officials contacted county officials prior to the hearing but Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said since no written notice had been given of the company's intention, the request should be denied.

The decision upheld a June 14 decision by the Board of Adjustment which had voted 4-1 not to allow the 180-foot tower to be located there.

About 25 Geneva residents showed up to oppose the plan. They had complained to the Board of Adjustment that the tower would disturb television reception in their area and could expose residents to radiation.

Mr. P's Supper Club May Open In September, License OK'd

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The former Mr. P's supper club at 119 S. Magnolia Ave. in Sanford could be reopening as early as September.

The Sanford City Commission earlier this week voted 3-2 to grant the new owners, Rudy and Flora Buzlea of Chula Vista, in southeast Seminole County, a restaurant liquor license. Voting in favor were Mayor Lee P. Moore and Commissioners David Farr and Ned Yancey, while Commissioners Eddie Keith and Milton Smith opposed.

Mrs. Buzlea said she and her husband will come up with a new name for the supper club and are planning extensive remodeling of the facilities. The Buzleas acquired the supper club about two years ago. She said they delayed renovations until the city approved the liquor license.

This is the first supper club venture for the Buzleas, who own and operate the University Drive-In theatre in Orlando. Residents of Central Florida for the past 20 years, they have lived in Seminole County for 10 years.

"Our main idea is to hire a good chef and provide good food and good entertainment," Mrs. Buzlea said. "We hope to have a full time orchestra or band and specialty acts. We have to check with talent offices in the area."

The supper club building contains over 14,000 square feet with more than 4,000 square feet of that area in the dining-club area.

The Buzleas purchased the Magnolia Avenue facility a little over two years ago. "We want to make it an asset to the city of Sanford," Mrs. Buzlea said.

Court Backs Tax Breaks For Parents Of Private School Students

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court lifted a constitutional cloud over tuition tax credits, supported by President Reagan, by ruling that government does not aid religion when it gives tax breaks to parents with children in parochial school.

The 5-4 ruling Wednesday found that Minnesota could allow families with children enrolled in public or private schools, including religious schools, to deduct up to $700 from their taxable income for the cost of tuition and other expenses.

Upon hearing of the ruling, President Reagan said, "I'm happy about it."

Capitol Hill supporters of the plan said the ruling could boost chances of passage of the administration's plan, which has been kicking around Congress for a year.

In May, the Senate Finance Committee approved a bill, endorsed by the administration, to phase in a federal tax credit up to $300 per student a year in 1985. Only families making less than $50,000 annually would qualify for full or partial credit.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chief sponsor of the bill, said the court's decision "is good news for millions of American parents who bear the double burden of public school taxes and private school tuition."

David Landau, legislative counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, said the court decision will not affect the pending legislation because it "is still unconstitutional because it applies only to private schools."

And Sen. Gary Hart, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, said the ruling "fails to lift the constitutional cloud from President Reagan's plan. His proposal providing tuition tax credit to private school students only would be a blatant violation of the first amendment."

The bill has been languishing in Congress in part because it is expensive legislation at a time when the government is facing large budget deficits.

The Reagan proposal — first advanced by the president in the 1980 campaign as a way to "strengthen parental control over education" — differs from Minnesota's because it gives a credit, rather than a deduction, for tuition expenses — a tax advantage for lower and middle income families.

In upholding the Minnesota law, Justice William Rehnquist wrote for the majority that the statute was constitutional because it has a non-religious purpose and neither advances religion nor entangles the state with it.

"A state's decision to defray the cost of educational expenses incurred by parents — regardless of the type of schools their children attend — evidences a purpose that is both secular and understandable," Rehnquist said.

He also said states have a strong interest in "ensuring the continued financial health of private schools."

Leading the dissenters, Justice Thurgood Marshall argued the First Amendment's ban against establishing religion forbids such tax benefits, whether for tuition payments or instructional materials.

"This result is flatly at odds with the fundamental principle that a state may provide no financial support whatsoever to promote religion," he wrote.

WORLD IN BRIEF

PLO Rebels Marching Toward Arafat Stronghold

United Press International

Palestinian rebels seeking to oust Yasser Arafat today consolidated their control over Lebanon's Bekaa Valley and pushed toward the ancient city of Baalbeck, the last major stronghold of Arafat's loyalist guerrillas in central Lebanon.

Beirut radio said the fighting broke out Wednesday and continued through the morning in the second straight day of artillery and mortar battles between rival Palestine Liberation Organization factions.

The radio reported heavy fighting today near the Bekaa Valley village of Taanayel but there were no reports of casualties or whether Syrian troops were supporting the anti-Arafat guerrillas.

The rebels pushed the Arafat's control of the central Bekaa Valley, leaving the bulk of Arafat's troops isolated in northern Lebanon near the port city of Tripoli, 50 miles north of Beirut.

State Of Seige Declared

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — President Efraim Rios Montt sharply curtailed civil rights and press freedom and fired his top military advisers in a "state of alarm" imposed in response to growing calls for his resignation by former supporters.

The decree grants security forces broad powers of search and seizure, suspends freedom of movement and assembly, imposes news censorship, outlaws arms possession and allows the government to assume management of public and private services.

Rios Montt has been accused of using his office to further the Church of the Word, a California-based sect to which he belongs. The Guatemalan leader has issued vague promises of elections, but no date has been set.

When Rotary loaded the bases on three walks with only one out in the top of the seventh, the score tied at 6-6, and the Sanford Junior League City Championship on the line, Knights of Columbus manager Al Whitted had no doubts in his mind that he was going to stick with Leonard Lucas.

"I was going with Leonard all the way," Whitted said. "I knew he would come through for when we needed it most."

With a steady rain falling, Lucas ran up a full count on Rotary's Jason Hefflington, one more ball would force in a run. But Lucas coaxed Hefflington to lift a popup in foul territory down the first base line. KOC catcher Stewart Gordon could not hang on to the ball, however, and Rotary had new life.

Lucas gathered himself together and caught Hefflington looking at a third strike for the second out. Lucas then got Bobby Bew to ground out to first for the third out and the Knights of Columbus came back with a run in the bottom of the seventh to claim a 7-6 victory and the Junior League City Championship in a thriller Wednesday night at Chase Park.

"I was thinking to myself, 'Don't walk this guy (Hefflington),' Lucas said. "The team really pulled me together and I got out of the jam."

Lucas tossed a four-hitter Wednesday night after giving up only three hits in a 4-3 loss to Rotary in the opening game of the series. All four of Rotary's runs in that game were unearned. Lucas struck out a total of 21 hitters in two games and allowed only seven hits. That combined with his heroics in the seventh inning earned the 13-year old Lucas the Tim Raines Award for Most Valuable Player in the city series.

The Knights played comeback for the third straight game in the series. KOC almost came back after trailing 4-0 in the first game, only to fall one run short. On Tuesday night, KOC came back from a 5-3 deficit and hung on for a 15-13 win. And, Wednesday night, the Knights stormed back from a 6-0 deficit for a 7-6 victory.

"I knew I had a team that could come back," Whitted said. "Knowing that, I didn't feel down when we got behind by six runs."

After a scoreless first inning, Rotary took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second. Craig Dixon drew a walk to lead off, stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Johnny Wright followed with an infield single to drive in Dixon. Wright advanced to second on an error and to third on a wild pitch. Perez Perry then drew a walk and stole second to put runners on second and third with no outs. The runners were stranded there though as Lucas regained his composure, struck out Hefflington and Bew swinging, and caught Clay Hickmon looking at a third strike to end the inning.

Meanwhile, Rotary's starter, Dixon, faced the minimum in the first two innings with help from catcher Eddie Korgan who gunned down Lucas trying to steal second in the first inning.

Rotary built a 5-0 lead with four runs in the top of the third. Mike Edwards walked to lead off and Ron Blake followed by clouting a triple to deep right center. Blake came around to score on a single by Korgan. Korgan stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Dixon then drew a walk and stole second to put runners on second and third with no outs. Wright followed with an RBI groundout and Perry walked to put runners on the corners. Lucas then caught Perry off first base and, while Todd Revels threw Perry out at second, Dixon scampered home with the fourth run of the inning.

Dixon shut KOC down in the bottom of the third and got out of a bases-loaded jam in the fourth. Rotary came back with a run in the top of the fifth to take a 6-0 lead as the KOC fans started to get restless. Korgan drew a walk to lead off the fifth, Dixon followed with a single and Korgan went to third on a KOC error. Korgan scored on Wright's second straight RBI groundout.

With one foot in the coffin, the Knights were resurrected in the bottom of the fifth, scoring four runs on just one hit. Alonzo Gainey walked to lead off, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Curtis Rudolph followed with a walk and he stole second to put runners on second and third. Lucas then beat out a grounder to short for an RBI infield single as Gainey scored KOC's first run. Rudolph then scored on an RBI groundout by David Rape and Lucas took third on the play. Stewart Gordon then drew a walk and he stole second. Todd Revels followed with an RBI groundout and Gordon went to third. Pinch hitter Ardine Daniels then drew a walk. Gordon scored the fourth run of the inning as Daniels stole second with two outs and Korgan's throw through to second was not in time. Rotary then put in Edwards in relief who got Shelton Slater to bounce back to the mound for the third out.

Lucas had an easy time with Rotary in the top of the sixth and the Knights came back to tie the game at 6-6 in the bottom of the frame. With one out, Rudolph drew a walk and took second when Edwards balked. Lucas then drilled a double to right, but Rudolph was cut down at home on a fine throw from right field by Perry and a spectacular diving tag by catcher Korgan. Rape the throw a walk to put runners on first and second with two outs and Gordon followed with a two-run single to left to tied the score.

Lucas then pitched out of the seventh inning jam to set up the Knights winning rally in the bottom of the seventh.

Pinch hitter Eric Williams drew a walk to lead off and he went to second when Edwards attempted a pick off play but Blake wasn't holding the runner on. J.D. Paul then bounced a grounder to short and it appeared Williams would be thrown out at third. Dixon, Rotary's shortstop, elected to go to first, though, and he threw out Paul as Williams took third. Slater then drew a walk to set up the final play of the game. Gainey hit a hard grounder to third baseman Wright and Williams broke for home. Wright hesitated, then got confused, and before he knew what was happening, Williams raced home with the winning run.

"Those two kids I had coming off the bench (Williams and Daniels) really did a good job," Whitted said. "Williams hadn't played much in the series but he came in and scored the winning run for me."

"I knew all along that we were the best team," added Whitted. "We came in tonight and got behind fast, but we stayed in there and came back to win it and proved who the best team is."

Whitted will now be the manager of the Junior League All-Stars and said practice would start on Friday. The Junior League All-Stars start tournament play July 11 at Port Orange.

McCloud On Hold As Nationals Battle Americans

Sub-District 2 Little Major Tournament at Leesburg Tonight's Games

6 p.m. Clermont vs. Tavares (suspended by rain Wednesday)
8 p.m. Sanford Nationals vs. Sanford Americans

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LEESBURG — Strategy is always a key part of any athletic contest, and they don't call Sylvester Franklin Jr. "Slack" just to pass the time.

Franklin, whose Sanford Nationals take on the Sanford Americans tonight at 8 in the Sub-District 2 Little Major Tournament, has a few tricks up his sleeve for his city rivals.

Franklin says he feels his Nationals can win the tournament in four games. They whipped Clermont and the Leesburg Nationals without too much problem during the first two rounds. He knows the Americans will be tough, but how tough? Not tough enough to waste his ace hurler, Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud, during tonight's third-round encounter.

"We'll start Tim Graham," said Franklin about his left-handed control specialist. "But if push comes to shove, we'll go with 'Sugar Tex.'"

Franklin is banking on his bats to come alive against the Americans' hard-throwing Ronald Cox. "We should hit a fastball pitcher better," said Franklin. "And then we would like to end the (double-elimination) tournament on Saturday morning. Then, we'll go with 'Sugar Tex.'"

The Nationals, however, will have to wait a little longer than Saturday. Leesburg's Nationals nipped Orlando, 6-5, Wednesday night in loser's bracket action, but the second game was rained out and suspended with Clermont holding a 4-0 lead over Tavares in the first inning. Tournament director Glenn Walker said Thursday morning that the rainout (6 p.m.), along with the Sanford game (8 p.m.), will be played tonight and one loser's bracket game will be played Friday. The rest of the tournament, though, will be moved back to Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Each pitcher is allowed 13 innings. McCloud has already spent seven. "Every inning we get by without him is one more he can pitch," says Franklin.

While Franklin is playing the role of the Sanford's Casey Stengel, his plan has drawn guffaws from the Americans' coach Ron Sippo, who assists manager Lawrence Hawkins. "Tim Graham?" asked Sippo. "He won't last through the first inning. We're ready to beat on these guys."

The Americans, who consist of several players from Hawkins' Adcock Roofing team which lost two straight to Franklin's Poppy Jay's team in the City Series, is more than ready to do battle with their nemesis. "I'd like to meet 'Slack' again," mused Hawkins before the tournament. "He's not going to beat me three times."

If Hawkins and his crew hope to keep that pledge, they should be worried about McCloud's hitting as much as his possibility of a mound appearance. "Sugar Tex" has a home run in each of the first two games — the second one a three-run smash which caused a spectator to remove his van from the center-field area. McCloud also added a double in Tuesday's romp over the Leesburg Nationals.

Teammate Dwight Brinson, who may also be used as a pitcher, slammed three hits Tuesday, including a double. Graham added two singles. Two other potent sticks, catcher Jeff Blake and pitcher-infielder Mike Merthie, have only one single each in the two games, but Franklin expects them to break out of it tonight.

The Americans, meanwhile, didn't get a hit until the fourth inning in Tuesday's win over Tavares, but Franklin attributed that to first-game jitters. "They'll hit better than that," he said. "They won by forfeit Monday (against Orlando), so it was really their first game and they were a little nervous."

"Steady Eddie" Charles turned in the mound gem Tuesday, giving up only one hit — a second-inning homer. Bernard Mitchell led the hitters with a two-run double in the fifth inning which put the game on ice. Von Eric Small, Anthony Harris, Gerald Morris and Kyle Faulkner all had singles. Faulkner also drove in a run.

Cox, tonight's pitcher, throws smoke. He is also a good hitter with power. He didn't get a base hit Tuesday, but hit several balls hard, including a liner to the second baseman on which Small alertly raced home with the second run after the catch.

Sanford Girls Head For National Tournament

Sanford's Ron Merthie says he doesn't go to Kansas City every day — so his girls are going to make the most of their trip to the National AAU-Jr. Olympics 12 and Under Basketball Championships.

And, if his girls' performance in the State Tournament is any indicator, they should do pretty well. The Sanford crew trampled Jacksonville, 64-2, and then disposed of Oviedo, 44-28. All of this was accomplished without one of Sanford's top players — Leticia Strickland — who was competing in the State Recreation Softball Tournament, which was won by the Sanford Lassies.

"I like our chances," said Merthie whose girls leave today at 4 for the July 2-9 tournament at Hickman-Mills High School in Kansas City, Mo. "We may run into some better groomed (styled) players, but no one should be as hard-nosed as my two guards."

His guards — Aretha Riggins and Strickland — are good and hard-nosed. Riggins, the sister of former Seminole High standout, Tony Hardy, is a 5-4 dynamo. She handles the point guard spot flawlessly, said Merthie, and also finds time to average 20 points per game. "She's quick and she's our leader," says Merthie. Riggins attends Lakeview Middle School.

Strickland, also 5-4, is an excellent outside shooter. She missed the tournament because of softball, but she has already proven she can play with the big girls. As a sixth grader at Sanford Middle School this past year, Strickland poured in 28 points in one game against Lakeview's eighth graders.

Merthie, who coaches the Seminole High girls team, has a strong and tall frontline to handle the inside game. Teri White, a 6-0 center from Lakeview, is an excellent rebounder who outlets the ball well. She averaged eight points and 10 rebounds in the state tournament.

At the forwards are two more Lakeview products — 5-8 Tuwanna Wynn and 5-6 Sharon Stephens. "Tuwanna is a strong rebounder and a good inside scorer," said Merthie. "Sharon can shoot it outside and rebounds very well, too. She's also very coachable. She does what she's told."

Merthie will take along three solid reserves. Angel Bass, a 5-0 speedster, is the team's second-best defensive player. Nichole Mitchell, a 5-2 guard, could be a starter on most teams which didn't have Riggins or Strickland, according to Merthie. Virginia Miller, a 5-3 guard, completes the cast. She is the sister of Lake Mary cagers Fred and Terry "The Cat" Miller. "Virginia is also a good, all-around player," said Merthie. All three attend Lakeview.

Merthie will be accompanied by his wife, Ruth, assistant coach, Sabrina Melton, and parents, Joewese Stephens and Gail Ford.

Whitley Lifts Bears

Mark Whitley doubled home the deciding runs in the bottom of the fifth inning Wednesday night to give the Pookie Bears a 4-3 victory over S & H Fabricating and third place in the Sanford Men's Softball League at Pinehurst Field.

second half for the Bears who were among the league's also-rans during the first half. The DeLuxe Bar took the league title while Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar was second.

Hawks, Indians Do Well In Round-Robin Tourney

The Seminole Hawks and the Seminole Indians, 12 and under girls all-star softball teams, may have gone their separate ways, but they still enjoyed good success at the same tournament this past weekend.

The Hawks, an all-star team from the Seminole Softball Club and a few Sanford Lassies, finished second in the South Brevard Round-Robin Tournament with a 7-1 record. They are coached by Pansy McDonald, Billy Osborne and Lenny Hollis.

The Hawks received an excellent tournament from Sanford's Melinda Jackson and Tina Roberts, both members of the Lassies' State Championship squad.

The Hawks opened the tournament with a 16-1 rout of Semoran and followed that up with victories over Merritt Island (6-5) and South Brevard (12-3) before losing to Satellite Beach (6-1). They closed the tourney with wins over West Orange (17-8), West Melbourne (7-1), Rock-Co (5-3) and the Indians (7-3).

The Indians, meanwhile, who pulled out of the Seminole Softball Club recently, finished third, dropping an exciting second-place battle to the Hawks. The Indians' final record for the tournament was 6-2. Tracy Brandenburg, the shortstop, won the Gold Glove Award while Sanford's Trina Shuler was second in hitting as she hammered six home runs. They are coached by Don Brandenburg.

Game 1 — West Orange 12, Seminole 6

The Indians opened the tournament flat, dropping a six-run decision to West Orange. Lack of pitching and fielding allowed West Orange to score eight runs in the third inning, a lead the Indians could not overcome. The only bright spot offensively for the Indians was a three-run homer by Shuler.

Game 2 — Seminole 6, Satellite Beach 3

The Indians started fast in the first inning with Tracy Brandenburg leading off with a single and Shuler following with a two-run homer. The Indians scored four runs in the fifth to secure the win. It was to be the only loss suffered by Satellite Beach which eventually won the tournament. Lu Lu Chisholm had a double and a single for the Indians while Kristen Bates scattered five hits and didn't give up a walk for the pitching win.

Game 3 — Seminole 18, Semoran 3

The Indians started fast in the first inning with Tracy Brandenburg leading off with a single and Shuler following with a two-run homer. The Indians scored four runs in the fifth to secure the win. It was to be the only loss suffered by Satellite Beach which eventually won the tournament. Lu Lu Chisholm had a double and a single for the Indians while Kristen Bates scattered five hits and didn't give up a walk for the pitching win.

Girls' Softball

The game started as a rerun of game two. Brandenburg led off with a single and Shuler clubbed a two-run homer, her third round tripper in as many games. The Indians turned on the offense with 17 hits, Brandenburg leading the way with four hits including a double. Shuler, Kosha Kennon, and Chisholm all collected two hits.

Game 4 — Seminole 10, West Brevard 3

The Indians made the most of its 12 hits, scoring 10 runs to defeat the host West Brevard Sharks. Shuler was again the big hitter as she ripped a triple and a single.

Game 5 — Seminole 7, Rockledge 1

The Indians used timely hitting and strong defense to win their fourth straight game. Shuler hit her fourth tournament home run while Shannon Kennedy added a pair of hits for the Indians.

Game 6 — Seminole 10, Merritt Island 4

Seminole turned 10 hits and four walks into 10 runs and the defense shut down Merritt Island's offense. Bates allowed just three hits in picking up her fifth victory. Tammy Laszalc and Teresa Walbinger had two hits each for the Indians.

Game 7 — Seminole 14, West Melbourne 2

Seminole's sixth straight win was an easy one over West Melbourne. Shuler smacked a pair of homers to raise her tourney total to six. Patrell Pinkney added three hits for the Indians.

Game 8 — Seminole Hawks 6, Seminole Indians 3

The final tournament game for the Indians, its fifth game of the day, decided the outcome of the tourney. A victory would give the Indians the title while a loss would allow Satellite Beach to win. After two scoreless innings, the Indians rallied for three runs in the top of the third. The Hawks responded with one run in the bottom of the third and took the lead with three runs in the fourth.

The tournament was marred by the tragic death of the South Brevard Sharks' coach Charles Lee, who was stricken by a heart attack before his team's game Saturday morning and died later at the hospital. "The Sharks completed the tournament and was awarded the sports-womanship trophy," said McDonald.

Cardinals Win 3 More

Casselberry II catcher Dan Huguenard lunges for the throw as Casselberry I's Jeff Poindexter slides safely into home with a run in a 10-0 victory. The Casselberry I Cardinals put it all together recently by decisively winning their last three games in the Seminole Pony Baseball Colt League at Five Points near Winter Springs. The Cards gave up only five runs in the three games while scoring 34 runs. In the game against Casselberry II, the Cardinals erupted for nine runs in the last three innings for a 10-0 victory. Mark Schnitker hurled the shut-out while Jimmy Daniel slugged a two-run homer. Jim Palmer was the winning pitcher in a 11-2 rout of Winter Springs. John Canfield and Bobby Miller each slammed a solo homer for the Cardinals' "run and gun offense," that relies heavily on the element of surprise, and the suicide squeeze. Canfield came back against Sanford to drill a three-run homer and he picked up the pitching victory in a 13-3 victory. Chad Braden took the loss for Sanford. Casselberry broke a 4-3 game open with nine runs in the sixth inning.

Sentiment Swings Toward King In Match With Jaeger

Sports Roundup

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Although today's semifinal match between defending women's champion and top seed Martina Navratilova and unseeded South African Yvonne Vermaak provided the only real chance of an upset, much attention was focused on the other women's semifinal at the $1.4 million Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Sentimental favorite Billie Jean King, 39, meets fellow American and third-seeded teenager Andrea Jaeger in a match the latter is favored to win.

But King, going for a seventh Wimbledon singles championship and an unprecedented 22nd overall title, is certain to have the crowd behind her. Last year, King lost to Chris Evert Lloyd in the semifinal. Jaeger, 18, was not even born when King first appeared at Wimbledon and was only a year old when a certain Billie Jean Moffitt defeated the graceful Brazilian Maria Bueno to take her first Wimbledon singles title in 1966.

King, conqueror of Australians Elizabeth Sayers and Wendy Turnbull and Americans Beth Herr, Rosie Casals and Kathy Jordan, has the semifinal berth that Evert was easily expected to take.

Jaeger, though, has played solidly without dropping a set. Her confidence has been boosted by wins over compatriots Kathy Rimes, Pam Casale and Barbara Potter as well as Canadian teenager Carling Bassett and Australian Susan Leo.

However, King has far more experience and beat Jaeger in their only career meeting at New York earlier this year.

King, who retired in 1975 but came back the following year because she missed the game so much, said, "I have been playing better match by match throughout the tournament."

"I am one of the luckiest people alive to be playing tennis because I know it's near the end for me. But the last year and a half, I have been very healthy and I feel just fantastic," said King.

Jaeger, who plays one of the most powerful baseline games on the women's circuit, cannot claim to be playing a 21st Wimbledon like King, but she does have one record of her own here. Three years ago, she became the youngest-ever Wimbledon seed. So far this year, Jaeger has reached four finals but has only been victorious in one, at Marco Island.

Delaney Drowns During Rescue

MONROE, La. (UPI) — Kansas City running back Joe Delaney — the AFC's 1981 rookie of the year — drowned Wednesday trying to rescue two youngsters from a rain-swollen amusement park waterhole. "He saw them get into trouble," police officer Marvin Deerman said Wednesday. "We think he dove down not knowing how deep it was and couldn't find the bottom to push up."

Pine Hills' 3-Run 9th Knocks Out Oviedo, 8-5

Pine Hills broke loose for three runs in the top of the ninth inning to ease past the Oviedo Giants, 8-5, in the championship game of the District 14 Senior Top Team Tournament at DeLand's Howe Field Tuesday.

The Giants had beaten Pine Hills Monday night to force a deciding game.

The Pine Hills' comeback spoiled an excellent all-around evening for Oviedo sophomore Craig Duncan who had Pine Hills shut out until the sixth inning. Duncan also drove in two runs with a double and two singles.

Oviedo jumped on top in the first inning when Dave Wood singled, stole second and third and trotted home on Duncan's first single.

In the third, the Giants increased their advantage to 2-0. Duncan singled and moved to third when Randy Ferguson reached on a double error by the second baseman. Duncan then scored on a wild pitch.

Pine Hills finally got to Duncan in the sixth when it scored twice to tie the game. In the seventh, it nipped Duncan for three more runs to take a 5-2 lead and appeared to be on the verge of winning in regulation.

Top Team Baseball

The Giants, though, responded with three runs in the bottom of the seventh to force the game into extra innings. Aaron Gammons started the uprising by reached on an error and going to second on a wild pitch. Wood followed with a double to plate Gammons to pull Oviedo within 5-3. Duncan then stroked a double to chase home Wood. Duncan stole third and when the catcher's throw was wild, he scored to tie the game, 5-5.

Both teams had a scoreless ninth, then Pine Hills finally chased Duncan in favor of Terry Gammons with its three-run ninth inning.

Along with Duncan's two singles and double, Wood also had a double and a single while Ron Magoutas added a single.

'Armed' Cedeno Sacks Giants; Braves Win; Staub's Streak Ends

United Press International
Cesar Cedeno, who raised his arm in temper Monday night, lifted it in triumph on Wednesday. He prefers the latter version hands down.

Cedeno, booed by hometown fans Monday night and fined by club officials on Tuesday, produced a game-winning sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-6 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

"I'd be lying if I said I wasn't worried about the fan reaction tonight," said Cedeno, who was playing his first game since the Monday night incident. "The only thing I was thinking in the ninth was that I didn't want to strike out because I was afraid of what the fan reaction might have been. Maybe that made me concentrate a little more."

Cedeno was booed by fans Monday night after falling as a pinch hitter. He answered with an obscene arm gesture. On Tuesday, club officials fined Cedeno an undisclosed amount for the gesture.

"The only thing I can do now is to give it everything I have," said Cedeno. "My mind is made up that I'm going to try a little harder."

"I have a lot of pride because I think I've accomplished a lot in this game. I hope my problems are in the past because I will try to continue to win the fans here."

Expos 5-2, Phillies 3-3
At Philadelphia, Kiko Garcia doubled in one run and the Phillies capitalized on three second-inning errors to score three runs. Charlie Hudson, 2-2, was the winner with the help of Al Holland's sixth save. In the first game, Montreal's first three hits off Steve Carlton, 8-9, were solo home runs by Gary Carter, Mike Vail and Andre Dawson. Carlton struck out nine to raise his career total to 3,560 and pass Nolan Ryan, 3,553, on the all-time list.

Tim Lincecum went 0-for-4 in the first game and saw his 11-game hitting streak come to an end. Raines singled and scored before being removed in the second game.

Padres 13, Dodgers 2
At San Diego, Steve Garvey, Kurt Bevacqua and Luis Salazar hit home runs behind rookie left-hander Mark Thurmond's first major-league start. Steve Howe, who was returned to the active list earlier in the day following 30 days in a detoxification center, appeared in the game. Howe was fined a month's salary, or about $56,000, and placed on three years' probation, by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, for recurring drug abuse.

Braves 11, Astros 1
At Atlanta, Ken Dayley and Donnie Moore combined on a seven-hitter and Dale Murphy produced his 56th and 57th RBI to lead the Braves. Atlanta rocked starter Joe Niekro, 4-7, for four runs in the first. The Braves added three in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Terry Harper, an RBI double by Chris Chambliss and a sacrifice fly by Glenn Hubbard — his third RBI of the game.

Cardinals 4, Mets 3
At St. Louis, David Green singled in Willie McGee from second base in the eighth to lift the Cardinals. St. Louis tied the score 3-3 in the sixth when Green singled, stole second and scored on an RBI single to right by George Hendrick. New York's Rusty Staub, who had tied Dave Philley's 1958 record by hitting safely in eight straight pinch-hit appearances, had his streak snapped when he grounded out to second.

Cubs 5, Pirates 0
At Chicago, Keith Moreland and Ron Cey each hit two-run homers and Mel Hall added a solo shot as the Cubs backed the seven-hit pitching of Dick Ruthven. Ruthven, 5-5, struck out three and did not walk any in Yankee's first shutout in a year.

Pirates 7, Orioles 0

But the help Guldry has given Righetti wasn't enough to earn Righetti, 9-3, a left-handed berth on the AL All-Star staff. Guldry, 10-4 with a 2.96 ERA and three shutouts, nailed that down earlier in the day. "I think Ron has to go," Righetti said. "He's the best in the American League right now, maybe in the majors, and we certainly need him healthy."

It was Righetti's first shutout in 61 career starts. Righetti, who struck out eight, walked none and allowed only five hits, threw 136 pitches but seemed strong at the end of the game.

Indians 5-9, Red Sox 3-10
At Cleveland, Mike Hargrove drove in two runs with a 320-foot pinch-hit single in a three-run eighth inning to help the Indians snap a four-game losing streak in the opener, and in the nightcap Tony Armas doubled home Wade Boggs with the go-ahead run in the 11th and Jim Rice drove in five runs with two homers and a double.

White Sox 5, Mariners 3
At Seattle, Greg Luzinski blasted a two-run homer and Tom Paciorek drove in two runs to lead Chicago. Luzinski connected for his 11th home run of the year in the third inning off Seattle starter Matt Young, 7-8. Paciorek reached on a single and scored ahead of Luzinski, giving the White Sox a 2-1 lead.

Brewers 4, Tigers 3
At Milwaukee, Rick Manning tripled with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning to score two runs and lift the Brewers. Milwaukee scored twice in the fourth, when Cecil Cooper singled ahead of Ted Simmons' sixth home run of the year, a shot over the right-field fence.

At Anaheim, Calif., Bob Boone's third hit — a one-out single in the bottom of the ninth — scored Ellis Valentine with the winning run. California had tied the score 1-1 in the third inning on a leadoff ground-rule double by Valentine and an RBI single by Tim Foli.

A's 11, Royals 6
At Oakland, Calif., Carney Lansford paced a 14-hit attack with his second career grand slam and Ricky Peters went 3-for-4, leading the A's. Lansford hit his grand slam in the first when the A's scored five runs and later had a single. The Royals scored three runs in the third to tie it 6-6.

Braves' Perez Named To N.L. All-Star Staff

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dave Dravecky of San Diego, Altee Hammaker of San Francisco and Pascual Perez of Atlanta, three virtual unknowns that have burst into pitching prominence this season, Wednesday were among 10 named to the National League staff for the 50th Anniversary All-Star Game.

The game will be held Wednesday, July 6 at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

Also selected by manager Whitey Herzog were Steve Rogers of Montreal, making his fifth All-Star appearance, Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles and Mario Sojo of Cincinnati.

Herzog also named four relievers — rookie Bill Dawley of Houston, Jesse Orosco of New York, Lee Smith of Chicago and Gary Lavelle of San Francisco.

In the American League, three 10-game winners — Dave Stieb of the Toronto Blue Jays, Ron Guldry of the New York Yankees and Rick Honeycutt of the Texas Rangers — highlight the pitching staff announced Wednesday.

Other starters are Rick Sutcliffe of the Cleveland Indians and rookie Matt Young of the Seattle Mariners. In the bullpen are Dan Quisenberry of the Kansas City Royals, Bob Stanley of the Boston Red Sox and Aurelio Lopez of the Detroit Tigers.

The AL starters are first baseman Rod Carew of California, second baseman Manny Trillo of Cleveland, third baseman George Brett of Kansas City, shortstop Robin Yount of Milwaukee, catcher Ted Simmons of Milwaukee and outfielders Dave Winfield of New York and Fred Lynn and Reggie Jackson of California.

The NL starters are first baseman Al Oliver of Montreal, second baseman Steve Sax of Los Angeles, shortstop Ozzie Smith of St. Louis, third baseman Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia, catcher Gary Carter of Montreal and outfielders Dale Murphy of Atlanta and Andre Dawson and Tim Lincecum of Montreal.

Mom's Forked Tongue Piercing To Son's Wife

DEAR ABBY: If they gave a prize for the most insensitive mother-in-law in the world, mine would win — hands down! When Harold (her son) introduced me to her, she said, "How do you do? Is your complexion always that bad, or is it a temporary condition?"

Harold and I have been married for eight months, and "Mums" is still talking about all the rich and pretty girls Harold could have married. I've been taught to respect my elders, but when she told a roomful of relatives last evening that she had saved $1,000 for Harold's "divorce," I nearly told her off. (Everyone laughed as if it were a joke.)

Harold is an only child. His mother raised him alone, as her husband left her when Harold was an infant. I will give mums credit for raising a fine son, but he never takes my part when she insults me. He just asks me to please be patient with her because she's "not well." I say if she's "not well," she should see a doctor.

Help me, Abby. I can't take much more of this.

D. IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

DEAR D: "Mums" could be emotionally disturbed. Ask Harold to tell you more about her condition. Perhaps if you knew all the facts you'd be better able to cope with the situation. To understand all is to forgive all.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating a guy for over a year and we have a really great relationship, but there's a silly little problem. We both have pretty good jobs, but I make a little more than he does, so I insist on picking up the tab for our dates about half the time.

When we go out to eat or take in a movie, it's rather awkward for me to start digging around in my purse, so I always give him the money privately before we go out. I always give him more than enough to cover the cost, but for some reason, he never gives back my change. I hate to ask him for it, but Abby, this happens every time I give him money, and it all adds up.

Is there some way I can "remind" him to give me my change without coming off as cheap or petty?

SHORTCHANGED IN IOWA CITY

DEAR SHORTCHANGED: Yes. Wait until you are out of the public eye, then say, "By the way, before you forget, may I please have my change?" Period.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a problem for me. I am getting married in a couple of months. My future sister-in-law will be six months pregnant at the time of my wedding. I want very much for her to be a bridesmaid, but I am not sure whether it would be in bad taste because of her pregnancy. She's been married for two years, and her husband (my fiancé's brother) will be a groomsman.

I don't see anything wrong with having an obviously pregnant bridesmaid, but I also don't want to offend anyone.

What do you think?

WITHHOLD M Y N A M E
DEAR WITHHOLD: Bad taste? Certainly not. Invite your sister-in-law to be a bridesmaid, and if anyone is "offended," shame on him or her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G. IN McALLEN, TEXAS: Congratulations. Stay clean. Reality is for people who can't handle drugs.

Reagan Plan Takes Effect Friday

Tax Cut Means Bigger Paychecks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many Americans will be taking home slightly bigger paychecks in the coming weeks as a result of the final installment of President Reagan's three-year 25 percent tax cut that begins Friday.

A number of other tax changes, ranging from larger benefit checks for the aged and disabled poor to lower interest rates on delinquent taxes, also go into effect that day.

A last-ditch attempt to limit the 10 percent income tax cut failed Wednesday when the Senate refused to vote a ceiling of $720 per family and $637 for individuals on the last phase of the tax cut program.

Friday, the new tax withholding tables that determine how much pay a worker takes home will be reduced to reflect the final 10 percent reduction in taxes. The first 5 percent reduction in tax withholding tables took place on Oct. 1, 1981, and the next 10 percent installment on July 1, 1982.

The actual tax rates, however, are adjusted each January 1.

That means, when Americans pay their 1983 taxes early next year, the tax rates will be about 10 percent lower than the rates they paid in 1982. For example, a married couple with a taxable income of $40,000 — filing a joint tax return — who were in the 39 percent tax bracket in 1982 will be in the 35 percent bracket in 1983.

There will be one more minor cut in tax rates on Jan. 1, 1984, to implement the final phase of the tax cut. Therefore, the same married couple with the $40,000 taxable income, will see their tax rates fall to 33 percent in 1984.

Taxable income is the amount subject to tax once all exemptions, credits and deductions have been subtracted from the taxpayer's gross income.

Just as significant as the tax changes taking effect, are four changes originally scheduled for July 1 that have been postponed.

Congress has passed legislation repealing a controversial rule requiring 10 percent of interest and dividends to be withheld by financial institutions and corporations for tax purposes. But since House and Senate versions differ, requiring a conference to work out a compromise. Treasury Secretary Donald Regan authorized a one-month delay until Aug. 1, pending congressional action.

The second delayed change is the annual cost-of-living adjustment for recipients of Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits and veteran pensions. This year's 3.5 percent increase, normally paid July 1, has been postponed until Jan. 1.

Like Social Security recipients, Supplemental Security Income beneficiaries must wait until Jan. 1 for their 3.5 percent cost-of-living adjustment. But to help make up for the delay, they will get an across-the-board hike of $20 a month for singles and $30 for couples on July 1.

SSI is a federal welfare program providing monthly benefits to 4 million blind, aged and disabled poor Americans.

Finally, the monthly premium that elderly Americans pay for supplemental Medicare insurance coverage of doctor visits, which usually goes up every July 1, will not be increased until Jan. 1. The premium, which is deducted from monthly Social Security checks, currently is $12.20.

Longer Sentence Draws New Fire

DENVER (UPI) — A district judge lengthened the two-year, work-release sentence of a man whose wife the jurist said "provoked" her own death, but civil rights groups scoffed and demanded the judge's resignation.

The new four-year prison sentence, ordered Wednesday by District Judge Alvin Lichtenstein in a surprise move, did "not seriously address the crime or the issue," said Tricia Gallegos, Colorado chairwoman of the National Organization for Women.

She said Lichtenstein's earlier remark that Patti Burns "provoked" her death by leaving husband Clarence Burns without warning was "still on the public record, and we want a retraction."

"We stand firm in our call for his resignation," Ms. Gallegos said.

Lichtenstein, who said Wednesday he was "misled" by lawyers, earlier sentenced Burns, a 47-year-old butcher, to spend nights in the county jail for two years and serve two years' probation for his wife's Aug. 15 death.

During the earlier sentencing, he said Mrs. Burns' decision to leave her husband abruptly — after pretending the couple's marriage was stable — was "highly provoking" and "excited an irresistible passion as it would in any reasonable person."

The sentence and the judge's remarks provoked a storm of protest from various quarters. Gov. Richard Lamm called the sentence "an outrage."

Way To Go

Sanford Rotary Club President Ken Sandon, left, receives a plaque of appreciation for a job well done from incoming president Reg Howe, right, takes office Friday.

Americans In Favor Of Nudity

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A Gallup poll says Americans are surprisingly in favor of skinny-dipping and nude sunbathing, and a leading nudist says they're twice as likely to go au naturel than the French.

Nearly 72 percent of those questioned across the United States responded "yes." Baxandall said, and nearly 15 percent said they had been skinny-dipping in a mixed group.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Nutrition Is Vital To Elderly's Health

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife is 81 and has been in a nursing home for nearly two years. She has grown considerably weaker since she has been there. Before that she was able to walk and get around but now she is so weak she can't walk alone and only with difficulty when being assisted.

She weighed 125 to 128 pounds but now weighs only 94 pounds. However, she is eating well. Her memory is terrible. She remembers having taught high school 50 years ago but is unable to tell me what she had yesterday for lunch. She seems drowsy and not very alert. She won't enter a conversation and only answers questions and sometimes then only with a "yes," "no," or "I don't know."

I am including the medicines she is taking. What are they for? DEAR READER — Your wife's medicines are all to aid her heart function. She is also taking a laxative and a vitamin mineral supplement. However, she may be getting tranquilizers or sedatives that are sometimes given by the staff on an as-needed basis. That could explain her drowsiness. You might ask about this.

It is to be expected that your wife would get weaker with her problems. But I think that often some of those problems can be prevented or minimized by helping a person stay active, and out of bed. That also means off tranquilizers. Of course, some medical problems make this impossible.

The memory changes you describe are common. At first, a person may just have a moderately poor memory but as things progress it gets worse. The problems you describe are what we all would like to avoid as we get older. I have discussed them in The Aging Mind, The Health Letter number 14-2, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Nutrition is quite important in preventing gradual decline. And in some hospitals and nursing homes you can't be sure the patient is eating properly. Even though the food is provided, it may not be eaten if someone doesn't make a real effort to help and encourage it. Families should make sure of such things. I'm glad you are doing so.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I cannot stand heat, even warm sunlight, without experiencing itching all over my body. Walking, exercising or anything that raises my body temperature causes me to itch all over my body. I sweat very little. Is there any medication for this and what causes it?

DEAR READER — It is hard to say from that brief bit of information. But there is a rare condition known as heat urticaria, which means developing hives from exposure to heat. Very little is known about it because it is so rare. It is literally an allergy to heat.

You might want to see an allergist and ask his opinion. If he thinks that might be the case, he may want to treat you with an anti-allergic agent such as one of the antihistamines that you could use particularly before exercising or doing anything that might increase your body temperature. I would think it is analogous to cold urticaria, except the physical agent is different and the allergic response causes the itch.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

One important principle of play is that when you are in a doubtful contract, you should try to find some combination of cards that will let you make it. In other words, don't ever give up the ship when you don't have to. South won the first trick with his king of clubs and looked at dummy's five-card spade suit. All he needed to score four spade tricks would be to find a 3-2 spade break. Four spades plus the four diamonds that were there for the taking plus a club trick already in his pocket would give him the nine he needed. So South attacked spades and gave up a spade trick.

Unfortunately for South, the defense got to take three clubs and the ace of hearts before he got to run the spades. And with five tricks lost, his contract had gone the way of all flesh.

South had played give-up when he attacked spades. He had seven tricks in top cards and could get two more by attacking hearts. Of course, he had to locate the jack of that suit, but that was an even chance.

As South explained later, "I had a blind spot. The spade play gave me no chance at all. The heart play would have given me an even chance. That is certainly a lot better than no chance at all."
