

MCLARNIN MEETS RUBY GOLDSTEIN IN RING TONIGHT

Great Battle Expected When Two Hard Hitters Get Going

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—There will be no great prize fight between Jimmy McLarnin and Ruby Goldstein at Madison Square Garden tonight, provided two prize fighters are on their feet when the prize fight starts, there being a certain amount of natural doubt on this point owing to Mr. Goldstein's eccentricities. These are very whimsical. In fact, the only thing absolutely certain about tonight's program is that 20,000 spectators and one prize fighter will show up at the appointed hour.

However, there is a rumor that Madison Square Garden is a place where prize fighters fight, so New York determined to confirm this, sending its se 100,000 of the current week on a tour of investigation. The gate tonight, as a matter of fact, very likely will beat $100,000. Apparently the only smart sap is the kind that runs out of a tree. The kind we have around here never runs out on anything. It was the latter species that provided $50,000 for the finale of the six day bicycle race on Saturday night, $10,000 for two hockey matches in the interim and $96,000 for the Scott-Von Porat affair on Monday.

"Maybe he is due for a break tonight. It all depends on Mrs. Goldstein's little boy, Rubin. A great hitter, perhaps the greatest pound for pound, of the generation, he seems to be like the average practical joker. Of all the world's best mumpies he likes his own the best. Another thing he relies upon is that the man he hits must remain hit for the evening. If he doesn't Rubin's liable to swoon right away from sheer astonishment or something. Most of them do stay hit, which is one of the reasons that $100,000 worth of New York money is going to the garden tonight. The other is Jimmy McLarnin. He may not go down but, if he does every knowns that he will get up.

Of the 66 fights Goldstein has had as an amateur and profession al this happened only twice before and both incidents were dubious to the young man. He had his hands on the amanuensis the first time the ace showed in the ring but Hudkins arose, met to Rubin's chagrin. They were counting the latter out five minutes later. It took him a good 15 minutes to assume after that one. Then he went forth to do battle with Sidney Terrell, another peg of rare porcelaine from the East Side. Sidney also forsook the peripenducular in the first minute of play and speedily resumed his stance and disengaged Rubin with a punch that he went about for a time making matches and forgetting to fight him. This didn't pay.

Anyhow, Rubin has fought his way back into the $100,000 class and, throwing out the Hudkins and Terrell fights, it may be that he belongs there. Certainly, he has the most impressive ironclad string of them all—51 in 66 fights. That's hitting in many men longer. McLarnin, of course, is a puncher in his own right, with knockouts to show for it in at least 50 percent of his fights.

Therefore, if Rubin remembers to attack, there undoubtedly will be $100,000 worth of prize fight tonight.

Floridian Is Named Chairman Over Five U.S. Pharmacy Men

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13.—Dr. Townes R. Leigh, dean of the College of Pharmacy of the University of Florida, has been appointed chairman of a committee of five pharmacists to consider the establishment of a uniform curriculum for the colleges of pharmacy of the United States.

The appointment, a signal honor to Dean Leigh, the University of Florida, and the South, came from the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and will include in addition to the Floridian, Dr. Julius A. Koch, Dean of the Pittsburgh College of Pharmacy; Dr. Edward A. Kems, Dean of the University of Michigan College of Pharmacy; Dr. H. C. Blodde, Dean of the University of California College of Pharmacy, and Dr. Rufus A. Lyman, Dean of the University of Nebraska College of Pharmacy.

Under the leadership of Dr. Leigh, the College of Pharmacy of the University of Florida has in the few years of its existence risen to a top rank among colleges of pharmacy in the United States.

Florida University will play no intersectional games in 1930. Two were on the 1929 slate. Harvard and Oregon.

Florida Grid Squad Had Many Beneficiaries

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13.—For several seasons the University of Florida has had more married football players than any Southern Conference team—possibly more than any team in the entire United States.

But a new aspect in the situation arises. None of the trio of married men in the 1929 squad at the start of the season—Dale Van Sickle, Joe Bryan and Alex Reeves, will look next year in the member of the Florida squad who has been the most outstanding during the season.

Football Banquet To Be Held At Florida

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13.—The annual University of Florida varsity football banquet will be the big garrison gesture in Gatorland this year. The event, scheduled for next Monday night, will be climaxed with the election of the captain and alternate captain for 1930, and the awarding of honors, chief among which is the Fifer Trophy, given each year to the member of the Florida squad who has been the most outstanding during the season.

FARMERS DEFEAT COAST LINE FOR THEIR FIRST WIN

Loosely Played Game Ends In Victory By Score Of 34 To 16

By J. M. Stinecipher
The West Side Farmers took their first game of the second half last night by trouncing the Atlantic Coast Line 34 to 16, in a game rather loosely played, and crowded with loose hits and errors on both sides.

The first tening ended with the score tied 6-all, and each team scored once in the second to knot the score again. However, in the third, the Farmers forced ahead by putting a goal to lies across and were out of danger the rest of the way, scoring three times in the fourth, eight in the fifth, three in the sixth and five in the seventh to total their 34.

Both Pippin for the West Side and Standifer for the Coast Line were hit freely, however, the Farmers had the edge in hitting and fielding as the score indicates.

Three home runs were made by the West Side, two by Thurston and one by Bolly. Bender poles out two which were almost home run calls, as he was tagged at the plate on the first, and the second time scoring from third when the third baseman fumbled the ball on the throw from the field, only momentarily halting a third sack.

Whelchel was the most consistent hitter with five singles out of six times at bat, two being singles, four doubles and one triple. Thurston was credited with four safeties out of six; W. Bach four, net of seven, and Pippin three out of five times at bat.

Weaver and McElroy were the circuit clouters for the Coast Line, while Kinlaw and Standifer hit safely three times each out of four, and Harris got the same out of five times up.

Fraternities Will Stage Grid Tilt At Florida Saturday

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13.—The fourth annual football battle between two national fraternities of the University of Florida—Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta—is the red-letter athletic event in Gatorland this week.

The two Greek-letter societies signed a $9,000 football contract in 1925. That year the score resulted in a 0-0 tie.

No game was played in 1926, but the following year Phi Delta Theta scored a 12 to 0 victory. Sigma Nu retaliated last fall with a 13-7 win.

Saturday's game will be a bitterly contested struggle, in the opinion of followers of both frats, but Sigma Nu has been installed a stop-heavy favorite due to a more experienced squad.

Sponsors from Tallahassee, Jacksonville and Gainesville will add to the color of the big classic which has in the short period of years become one of the sport traditions at the University of Florida.

The Sigma Nu squad is being coached by Jimmy Steele, while Dale "Muddy" Waters, assisted by Mills Smith, Luke Dorsey and Mike Houser, have been tutoring the Phi Delta Thetas. The kick-off is scheduled for 3 p. m., and no charge will be made for admission.

Both Pippin for the West Side and Standifer for the Coast Line were hit freely, however, the Farmers had the edge in hitting and fielding as the score indicates.

Three home runs were made by the West Side, two by Thurston and one by Bolly. BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Intelligent Prayer—When ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do; for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask him.—Matthew 6:7, 8.

Prayers . . .

"O God, mine innocent soul, convert, and deeply in my heart, Eternal things impress."

Some men never get anywhere because they never start.

Another reason for prison riots may be the spirit of liberty.

The Dog Singing Tower opens tomorrow afternoon with a concert at three o'clock.

We sincerely hope that Edina's rubber experiments do not result in another inflation for Florida.

It is almost too late to mail your Christmas presents early, but you don't have to wait until the last day.

Florida strawberries are ready for market. What could be more appropriate for Christmas than big ripe red strawberries?

Now that Ruth Bryan Owen is on the foreign affairs committee, she should herself be able to determine the status of her citizens abroad.

It would be a good idea if every tree cut for Christmas were replanted. Only such a spirit can assure future generations of having many Christmas trees at all.

The big insurance companies have lost money on storm insurances in Florida during the past two years. Hal! Hal! That's just too bad for the insurance companies.

The First Bank & Trust Co. of Gainesville is giving a Christmas present to its former depositors in the form of a 12 1/2 percent dividend. That's nothing; the First Bank of the city is giving 15 percent.

Tampa has had a few bad breaks lately in its aviation activities, the burning of the airport coming so closely on the heels of the destruction of the Seaboard and MacLean with the deaths of two fliers, but such things can not stop the Florida city from resuming some day a great flying center.

The St. Petersburg Independent is being sued by a woman occupant of the city because she had ordered printed in the newspaper three weeks had been left out. She maintains that her business had been damaged, that much damage had not appear. The Tampa Tribune wonders what a one in-ad is worth when it goes in, if it is worth $1,000,000 when it is left out. Perhaps the advertising rates of all newspapers are too low.

So many of the "higher ups" in life object to publicity, especially when it is unfavorable. Police court stories should not be put in the papers; it gives the impression to visitors that crime rampant.
News of epidemics should not be published; it might frighten tourists away. News of jail breaks, in other cities, should be withheld from prison inmates lest they get bad ideas. But the is what wise Warden Lawes of Sing Sing has to say: "I shall let my convicts read in newspapers accounts of the outbreaks in the Auburn penitentiary. There will be a good deal of buzzing when they read them. But the effect on their morale of withholding the newspapers would be worse than allowing them to see them." Warden Lawes is well aware that suppression is the mother of rancor of which lies are the illegitimate offspring.

The Prison Problem

The many recent prison outbreaks are producing much meaty material for students of sociology to contemplate as well as providing the newsmen with frequent stories of a highly thrilling nature. Everyone is wondering why the prisoners are trying to get out of jail and all are baying themselves with endeavoring to find either satisfactory curb-bit for the unruly mustangs within the jail walls or a modifying lotion for the what-must-be cruel wardens who so misreat their customers what they risk death for liberty.

But these prison riots are not the first time that people have been willing to sacrifice their lives at the beck and call of liberty. Conditions may have been intolerable with the American colonists, but they could hardly have been as bad as what most of us would consider proper for the prison inmate. Yet thousands of those pioneers eagerly went into battle at the risk of their lives because they hoped to gain their liberty.

No, liberty is one of the dearest things any man holds.
Whether he be highbrow or moron, banker or bootblack, churchman or highwayman, an average citizen or bandit, bootlegger, or thug, no one wants to be confined within the narrow limits of a tiny cell with only a slit in the wall for a window and that full of iron bars. So it does not seem to us surprising that these men, some of them doomed to this fate for life, should risk the little that thin world holds for them in one mad dash for liberty.

Aside from a natural desire for liberty it is conceivable that situations do arise sometimes which are particularly provocative of revolt. A warden may be unduly harsh, or a prisoner unusually desperate. Or what is probably more likely, one prisoner may see favors showered by officials upon another. We can imagine nothing which would be more likely to incite riot than for a man, forced to live on bread and water, see another, confined for a similar offense, eating steaks and chops.

But, as the Bradenton Herald points out, the jailers themselves probably know more about how to handle the men entrusted to their care than do theorizing reformers on the outside. Our personal experience within jail walls has so far been extremely limited, but if observations of human life gathered in the world at large apply to the prison element, "a square deal for all" is that can be done toward making men, deprived of their liberty, competent, and a quick application of cold steel is quite the best way of curbing a riot.

Girls Can Smoke

Recently the students of Goucher college rescinded the ancient rule against smoking. And Goucher is only one of several which have adopted this course in the past few years.

We do not believe the action of the Goucher authorities was prompted by any belief existing among them that smoking is not harmful and ought properly to be indulged in. We do not feel that by their action they are giving their approval to any general use of nicotine by the student body.

We rather prefer to suppose that the ban against smoking was lifted because it could not be enforced, and its unenforceability probably tended to make enforcement of other rules more difficult. One major problem has taught us that persons who can flagrantly violate one law and get away with it are not long in violating others.

It is quite probable that the Goucher authorities had done their best to prevent smoking in the college dormitory.
They could not, of course, employ a corps of detectives for this purpose. Such a course undoubtedly would have led to open revolt. But they more than likely did the best they could under the circumstances.

But the girls wanted to smoke and so that's all there was to it. They did. The Nineteenth Amendment had made women the equal of men and it was up to them to assert all of their new found prerogatives. Unfortunately women are not so constituted as to make smoking a natural and much to be desired asset in them. However, that, apparently, is the lead of their worries.

But perhaps, now that the ban has been lifted, and no one really objects to women smoking, they will not find it nearly so interesting.

TELLING THE WORLD

BY NEAL OHARA

Buying a Radio Set

"I'm thinking of buying a radio, Felix."

"What kind you going to get?"

"Oh, don't get a Paranza. It'll fall apart in six weeks. If you want the best radio on the market buy a Polytone. That's the best."

"Thanks. Maybe I will."

One hour later:

"I am thinking of buying a radio, Jim."

"What kind you going to get?"

"The either a Paranza or a Polytone, I guess."

"Albert, don't be a sucker.
A Polytone won't get any better for you and they're always full trouble. And don't take a Polytone as a gift. Why don't you get a Bellwood like I've got? The best radio in the world, regardless of price."

"Thanks, Jim. I'll look at that."

Another hour later:

"Say, Felix, I'm thinking of buying a radio."

"You don't say, Albert! What kind?"

"Well, either a Paranza or a Polytone or a Bellwo."

"Hm, I dunno. I don't think much of a Polytone or a Bellwo.
You can't get Fort Worth on either of 'em. But whatever you do don't buy a Paranza. It's the foulest radio on the market in a satisfying customer in a grand load of them. If you really want the best you ought to buy a Bell Wood like I've got. Boy, that has consistency, and punch and pull!"

"Much obliged for the tip, Peter.
I'll bear that in mind."

Still another hour later:

"Jason, I think I'll buy a radio."
"Atta boy! What kind?"

"I haven't made up my mind between a Paranza, a Polytone, a Bellwood or a Bell Wood."

"Well, you can certainly do better than that. The Payne, Bellwood and Bell Wood outfit are obsolete already. They're just going to sink. But the strength of the veins and timber is not the same. The Bell Wood is the best."

"Fine! What kind?"

"Probably a Polytone. Payne, Bellwood or Bell Wood or Klavick."

"Don't be a fool, Albert! I know a fact that Polytone, Bellwood and Klavick can't get anything but a klutz. They're not good. Why did you get a Bellwood? Or how come the Abner Homes in Tarpon Springs have a Bell Wood? Don't buy anything. Alright, I'll buy a Klavick."

"Thanks, Jim. I'll look at that."

That evening:

"I've decided to buy a radio."

"Fine! What kind?"

"Probably a Paranza. Payne, Bellwood or Bell Wood or Klavick."

"Don't be a fool, Albert! I know
a fact that Polytone, Bellwood

Two days later:

"Well, boys, I bought my radio yesterday—a Paranza."

"Oh all the sets, how did you pick out that one?"

"Well, I tell you, I listened to the Polytones, Bellwoods and Klavicks, and they all sound the same. But the Paranza dealer allowed me $21 trade-in value on a set of headphones, gave me 104 weeks to pay the instalments, threw in half a dozen tulip bulbs free and only wanted a $1.50

"Thank you, Jim. That's just the advice I was looking for."

"Fine! What kind?"

"Atta boy! What kind?"

The World's Window

By Pierre Van Paassen

"I want to be carried out in next to the coffin of my father, I want mine to be placed, standing up, like his." Even in death I want to stand up," if the style is the man, that painter Georges Clemenceau. He wrote last summer, after the first heart attack. Clemenceau is gone to-day. History will recognize in him, perhaps the greatest figure that the Third Republic has produced so far. Nothing must be said now of his errors, of his ferocious revenge mentality, of the victimization of Callioux and the ruthless slaughter of the Paris mob. All his life was a bitter and glorious fight. With Victor Hugo, with René-Malon and others, he lifted the immortal protest of Justice against Prussian militarism. His whole career was colored by the souvenir of the 1871 defeat. He alone was who protested at the Parliament of Bordeaux against surrender to Prussia. For him the war begun in '70 did not end till November, 1918. The interval between '71 and 1914 was but an armistice.

During the war he was the man of victory. A son of the French Revolution, the General Staff discovered that he placed civil power above the military. Hence his marked friendship with Foch. On Nov. 11, 1918, it was thought nothing could be added to his glory. Beaten by those whom he had helped to election, he retreated. History has few precedents for such dignified and even haughty behavior.
He remained immured in his solitude.
Only once did he emerge.
That was when he crossed the ocean, to remind the American Republic of the injustice she was about to commit. In this he did with all the dignity of classic poetry.

Lesson Text: 1 Cor. 3:10-17; Luke 10:25-37; James 1:27; 2 Tim. 4:7.

In the lesson we see the third of helping neighbors who are in need. The judgment seems resolved by Matthew's picture of a conflict between good and bad neighbors and makes contact toward the basis of an eternal judgment.

This may be the secret of the success of the Church and of its organizations, and of the expansion of Christianity. This may be the secret of the success of the Good Samaritan parable.
That is true neighborliness. Good neighbors declare that faith and

WHY?

Long ago, in God's command other command was given to our parents and to us for our own good.

But it is apparent to us that it is not in the command that lies the secret of the success of the Church and of Entertainment Given At Club Yesterday

By Mrs. M. Ethel Allingham

The first of a series of costume entertainments to be given this year by the Woman's Department of the Woman's Club, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. W. Gwynn Fox, was presented Friday afternoon in the club rooms to a large audience.

The atmosphere of a "Carnival" was created by the colors of red, green and gold, effectively carried out in the decoration. Quantities of pointed hats, many chrysanthemums, marigolds and other flowers were used in profusion.

Two large wheels of fortune, numerous ugly colored hats, and all sorts of carnival effects gave a realistic air to the setting.

Mrs. Arthur Brandon, the chairman of the music department, gave an elaborate recital and announced the numbers of the following enjoyable program:

1. Voice, "Glad Easter Day" by Hazel Club Chorus.

2. Reading, "Grandma's Christmas" by Nancy Rosetter.

3. Toe Dance, "Doris Jackson" by Kehler-Lillian Hoffman.

4. Piano, "Pecor & Pierette" by Anna Zurek-Daphne Takacs.

5. Dance, "Candy Stick" by the Telford.

6. Accordion, "Regiment March" by Mrs. R. B. Pippin.

7. Voice, "Go To Sleep My Little Dear" by Spudl Dorothy Coulter.

8. Xylophone, "Holy Night" by Wilson Speed.

9. Voice, "Semper" by Nathan.

10. Accordion, "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "Lilac Yellow Dog" by Elizabeth and Gladys Palmer.

11. Voice, "Roses Eyes" by Teddy Clark Chorus.

12. Voice, "I'm a Little Teapot" by Teddies.

Entertaining in charge of a number of helpers, Mrs. J. W. McDaniel was hostess at a bridge party given Thursday afternoon at her home in Rose Court. During the afternoon several progressions of bridge were enjoyed and cards which were bid off in different values were auctioned. The higher values from the bidding were used in the bidding for the lower values.

A bid committee should look over these to see if they can be separated from the stamps for the three values. Then a small deal off in different values in the bidding.

Entertaining in charge of a number of helpers, Mrs. Arthur Brandon, Mrs. R. W. Allingham, Mrs. R. B. Pippin and Mrs. Madeline Marland.
