

Does Khrushchev Believe He Can Make U.S. Spend Self To Defeat?

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
WASHINGTON, D. C. — No body in Congress, I think, has made much over the dual and integrated nature of the Berlin crisis. As everybody knows, we have a military problem. What has not been emphasized in Washington is that the monetary problem of sudden and extreme Defense Department spending goes along side by side.

The matter was well and wisely set forth Aug. 25 at a conference of the Western Economic Association, University of Washington State. In a paper read before this group, the economist Stahel Edmunds, director of marketing research for Hughes Aircraft Company, dwelt in detail upon the increased buying by the Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA) brought about by Khrushchev's direct and deliberate crisis-making in Berlin. Without allowing himself to indulge in personal theorizing, Dr. Edmunds makes some telling points:

Down the years, our military spending has been related to international tensions and not to our Gross National Product. In other words, we arm and rearm whether or not we can "afford" to do so. Since the USA has no territorial or commercial expansionist program, requiring force of arms, we do not ourselves create these world tensions. They are created by our enemies. Today we have an enemy of diabolical cunning who conducts his war of elimination against us in every conceivable phase. It is possible that the Communists cook up these Berlin-type crises for the main purpose of causing disruption within our economic system? Dr. Edmunds writes:

"There are those who surmise that Khrushchev really believes in the Communist theory that the free market economies of the West can be forced into bankruptcy. If this view is correct, the economic offensive of the Russians is much more serious than the military threat. These advocates point out that the Soviets would hardly take deliberate steps to increase our national security if they really meant to go to war."

As a direct result of Khrushchev's Berlin policy, we have raised our military procurement and research spending to about $21.5 billion, running our total Federal budget to $88 billion for fiscal year 1962, which began last July. The most disconcerting result is a $5 billion deficit for '62 which, in the light of experience, forecasts many more years of deficit spending and the lengthening spectre of runaway, ruinous inflation — with the push-button under the Communist thumb.

Is the situation, then hopeless? No, it is not. But it calls for enlightened leadership which recognizes the mutuality of the military and monetary phases of the Cold War crisis. Our military, industrial and scientific positions have an overall world supremacy, not yet impaired by Russian spectacular crash programs in Space and audacious behavior in diplomacy — but these positions are not automatically secure. As President Kennedy eloquently says, "Time has not always been our friend."

Dr. Edmunds suggests that to bring the Federal budget into long-term balance, we would have to readjust our national financing with a mixture of policies which would:

1. Stimulate private investment and the production and consumption of new products.
2. Take in more Federal revenue by an increase of taxes.
3. Get the most out of each military dollar.
4. Whittle down the welfare programs.

Only the second and the fourth of these suggestions will cause any outcry from the American people. Taxes are onerous and omnipresent. It would take a major example of responsible self-discipline for Americans to take on still greater burdens.

As for Federal welfare, nearly everybody has a claim on it now. It is a narcotic habit which could be brought under control only by a supreme exhibition of willpower.

To be specific, the Kennedy Administration has already projected an increase of between $10 to $15 billion a year for welfare spending at a time when we are also increasing military spending. The five big spenders in this field are Health Assistance for the Aged, Aid to Education, Urban Renewal and Housing, Public Assistance for the Unemployed, and Aid to Depressed Areas.

The difference between welfare and defense spending is that we have full charge of the first and our enemies very largely tell us what we have to do about the second. It is not too much to say that our economic integrity lies in some voluntary reconciliation of this stubborn contrast.

Death For 14?

HAVANA (UPI)—The government press reported today that the Fidel Castro regime is asking the death sentence for 14 war prisoners captured during the ill-fated April invasion.

The men were accused of counter-revolutionary crimes committed before the invasion attempt ranging from murder and torture to ill-treatment of Castro forces during the dictatorial Batista regime.

Previously, Castro had indicated "not more than five or six" of the 1,200 prisoners taken after the aborted invasion would be treated as "war criminals."

VOL. 53 United Press Leased Wire Established 1908 FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1961 SANFORD, FLORIDA NO. 280

MRS. JOY EVANS sits sadly on the foundation of her home at Port O'Connor, Texas, after returning to the small Gulf Coast community. The foundation and a bit of debris were only remnants of her home after Hurricane Carla passed through with her 150-mile-per-hour winds.

'Seek Board's OK Of Canal Monday

A request for approval of the construction of the proposed Sanford-Cannaval Canal will be placed before the Florida Board of Conservation at Tallahassee by the chairman of the Canal Authority of Florida, W. A. McCree, Monday at 10 a. m. when the Board meets.

McCree will present a resolution which was adopted last Monday at a meeting in Orlando of the St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Assn. The resolution already has the approval of the Canal Authority.

Casselberry Board Member Opposed To Rate Increase

Mrs. Hope Bennett of Casselberry advised a Herald reporter today that she is strongly opposed to allowing the Casselberry Utilities Co. to raise its water rates in the town.

The company requested the town's Board of Aldermen to consider granting a franchise amendment permitting the raise at the board's monthly meeting Monday.

Mrs. Bennett, a member of the board, said that she had checked with each community cited in the company's letter of request and believed there to be some variation in the actual rates of each with the figures quoted by Casselberry Utilities.

In addition, she pointed out that the present franchise, specifically calling for no rate increase, does not expire until 1965 and that the company must get approval from the state anyway, before it can raise its water rates.

Marital Law Set Up In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations set up marital law in Elisabethville today and said unauthorized civilians carrying weapons will be shot.

UPI Correspondent Ray Moloney reported from Bancoft, Northern Rhodesia, that the warning of summary executions came from the UN spokesman in Elisabethville.

Moloney drove 100 miles to the Rhodesian frontier from Elisabethville, where he said bitter fighting raged for the third day for control of the Katanga capital city.

Heavy fighting continued there today and the United Nations sent out a call for reinforcements.

Katanga, which claims to have overrun a 150-man strong Irish detachment at Jadotville, said 10 Irishmen will be executed for the Katanga citizen executed. One battalion of Ethiopian troops was due to arrive in Elisabethville this afternoon to reinforce UN forces fighting to take over the Katanga capital since before dawn Wednesday.

The United Nations is trying to arrange a prisoner exchange before the Katanga threat of retaliatory killing can be carried out.

Navy Continues Relief Job To Carla Refugees

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI)—The U. S. Navy brought cases of food, medical supplies and fresh water today to refugees from Hurricane Carla.

The aircraft carrier Shangri-La was anchored a few miles east of Freeport, and another carrier, the Antietam, was off Matagorda Bay. Both flat-tops were being used as helicopter bases, sending survey teams and medical personnel as needed to coastal communities.

Two destroyers, the Gairard and the Lamson, were also in the area. The Gairard was being used as a "floating morgue."

Seventy-five persons suffered injuries in Galveston Thursday when the porch of a Red Cross chapter house collapsed.

One of the first moves by the Navy was to send 75 cases of food to 200 refugees at Port Bolivar, across the bay from Galveston.

Gov. Price Daniel and Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough toured the island and said damage to the city was worse than they had expected.

Daniel said damage would run "several hundred million dollars" along the Texas coast. He said the limited loss of life was "literally a miracle."

Yarborough said damage to Galveston was "the worst I've ever seen. This is a national disaster." He said he planned to make a personal report to President Kennedy upon returning to Washington.

Water still covered a large portion of Texas City. A typhoid inoculation clinic was set up at Freeport High School. Port Aransas was placed under quarantine, and hundreds of dead cattle littered the coast.

The court is convinced that the bonds are valid as well as fiscally sound," said Judge W. May Walker after a day-long hearing.

State Road Department officials said the validation suit would go to the Supreme Court immediately. If the project wins legal approval there, they said, construction could be under way by November. The extension would be scheduled to open in 1964.

'Don't Threaten Us,' Kennedy Tells Reds On Berlin Crisis

Civil Defense Conditions In State Blasted

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Florida Welfare Board, blasting civil defense conditions Thursday as "a state and national disgrace," told Gov. Farris Bryant it needed money to do its job and "needs it now."

Board member H. Drennen Browne of Vero Beach said, "we've hemmed and hawed about this thing for too long. We need it now, not six months from now."

The board asked Bryant to help find money to hire 12 district coordinators for civil defense even if it meant calling a special session of the Legislature.

The Welfare Department is responsible for registration, feeding, clothing, housing, financial assistance and other services in a national emergency.

To do an adequate job in an emergency, the board said, it had to have a CD coordinator in each of the department's 12 districts to assist a state coordinator, which the board voted to hire in compliance with a request by Bryant on Aug. 18.

Board chairman J. Hal Stallings said "we've asked again and again for the money to do our job, and we've not been able to get it."

He said welfare aid appropriations committees laughed at requests in the 1961 Legislature.

A board spokesman said one social worker's position would have to be dropped from the department to finance hiring of the state coordinator.

Group Probably To Say No New Courthouse Now
The committee appointed early last month to study courthouse needs will probably recommend utilizing the present building and no new courthouse in the foreseeable future, the Herald learned today.

Bill Bush, vice chairman of the committee, reported that the committee should be finished in about three weeks with its report and will probably ask the County Commission to utilize more courthouse space.

At the present time, the committee is correlating information that was compiled by committee members after a detailed investigation of all the courthouse offices and talks with department heads.

Bush said it would be about three more weeks before the detailed report is completed and ready to present to the county board.

Serving on the committee with Bush are J. M. Van Hoy, chairman; Richard Hanks, J. O. Gregory, John Williams, H. B. Pope, Roy Britt, Fred Cavannah and Andrew Carraway.

Talks Open On Note Of Caution

United Press International

The United States and Russia today approached the first stage of negotiations on Berlin treading cautiously lest a false step touch off a nuclear war.

The initial contact will take place between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the United Nations—possibly as early as next Tuesday when the General Assembly convenes.

It either side had a concession to offer the other which would allow a diplomatic breakthrough in the mounting crisis, it was not immediately evident.

An effective news blackout kept secret the deliberations of the Allied foreign ministers who were working out strategy in Washington.

While the Kennedy letter frequently took a tough line, he returned repeatedly to the theme of peaceful settlement.

Despite the current bleak scene in Germany, the President said, "We believe it possible to find a solution which can accommodate vital interests on both sides of the crisis."

The President referred to the language of a joint declaration adopted by the Belgrade conferees who called for self-determination and independence and condemned intimidation and intervention.

West Set For Corridor Test

BERLIN (UPI)—The Western Allies got set today for a test of nerves over Communist threats against the use of the air corridors between West Germany and West Berlin.

The United States Thursday quickly fired off a sharp protest against the harassment of two American civilian airmen by MIG jet fighters believed flown by Russian pilots.

The protest was delivered to the Russian officer in the Berlin air safety center set up by four-power agreements in 1945 to regular air traffic which might interfere with the flights in the corridors.

Escapee Slain By Deputy

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Raymond Phillips, a 17-year-old escapee from the state training school at Marianna, died today of a bullet wound suffered when an Alachua County deputy shot him during a chase.

Phillips was shot Thursday by Gene Farnell at a small lake near the youth's home at Loch Loosa in Alachua County. The boy and a companion had escaped from the institution Wednesday night.

You'll Dance To The Tune Of Bargains Tonight

There really will be dancing in the streets tonight, as the well-known Starlight Promenaders put on an exhibition of western-style square dancing in their colorful costumes, for the benefit of the Friday Night Shoppers.

The show will start at 8:30 p. m. and continue until the first tickets are drawn out of the big hopper at 9:15 p. m., then resume for as long as Seminole County residents want to stay and watch.

The word from Director Harold Jenkins is that the audience will be invited to join in some of the numbers, making for a real old-fashioned fun-foot for Sanford shoppers.

And it will be fun for spectators too in the downtown stores as they have a chance to shop for the real fine bargains that are being offered by the local merchants as specials for the Friday night shopping hours only.

Some extra-good buys are advertised, with new merchandise on counters, racks and displayed in store windows, much of the special sales items aimed at the family shopping team that has quickly learned to take advantage of the open-evening hours.

And not least in the consideration of shoppers is the chance to win $10, $20, $30 or $40 of gift certificates at the big drawing to be held shortly after 9 p. m. when four lucky persons will have next week's shopping practically for free.

Guaranteed To Happen At The Football Game Tonight:
A loud mouthed guy will count off the official's strides after every penalty.

One lineman will pluck grass every time he crouches.
One of the girl cheerleaders will pull up her woolen socks before she goes into every routine.

A back who has a clear field will slip and fall whether it is dry or rainy.
There will be a substitute on the bench who will spend most of the evening pulling a slipping blanket back on his shoulder.

At least one bottle of booze will be dropped and smashed.
One of the players will be wearing a wrong number.

The loud speaker announcer will call the wrong ball carrier and correct himself by remarking: "We all make mistakes."
The Coach will turn from the field and look into the stands when a pass is missed.

The Coach will kick an imaginary rock when a pass is missed.
The coach if he is sitting on a chair in front of the bench, will stare at the ground, hunched over, after a score.

The winning coach will say after the game that the losing coach did a fine job.
The losing coach will say the winning coach had his team "up."

There will be one penalty no one understands.
A substitute will warm himself up with short sprints on the sidelines but never get into the game.

All during the game a fellow will argue baseball with another fellow.
A guy will drop his specs and the party sitting next to him will step on them.

Mutual Making Protest Today
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A delegation from Florida Citrus Mutual, protesting "bullheadedness" in the citrus industry, was scheduled to appeal to the attorney general's office today.

Mutual and the Florida Citrus Commission are fusing over a technicality involving counting votes in a referendum to determine if grapefruit growers want to pay for a marketing order designed to boost grapefruit sales.

They Can't Play Waiting Game
LONDON (UPI)—Sydney Thain, who is 102, was preparing today to marry 73-year-old Maud Franklin after a whirlwind five-week courtship.

Esther Still No Menace To U. S.

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Esther maintained a steady course toward the U.S. mainland today but its 130-mile-an-hour winds still were too far away to constitute anything but a menace to shipping in the tropical Atlantic.

The Miami Weather Bureau said there were some indications weather conditions affecting the hurricane might change to swing Esther more to the north, but that it was too early to be sure.

The hurricane, packing winds up to 130 miles an hour around its center, was located about 925 miles east-northeast of San Juan Puerco Rico, and 1,850 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Turnpike Bond Ruling Awaited

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant's push to have a northward extension of the Florida Turnpike under way by Thanksgiving headed today for its last big hurdle in the State Supreme Court.

Leon County Circuit Court validated a $180 million bond issue Thursday to finance extension of the toll road from the present terminus at Fort Pierce 136 miles to Wildwood.

"The court is convinced that the bonds are valid as well as fiscally sound," said Judge W. May Walker after a day-long hearing.

State Road Department officials said the validation suit would go to the Supreme Court immediately. If the project wins legal approval there, they said, construction could be under way by November. The extension would be scheduled to open in 1964.

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Esther maintained a steady course toward the U.S. mainland today but its 130-mile-an-hour winds still were too far away to constitute anything but a menace to shipping in the tropical Atlantic.

The Miami Weather Bureau said there were some indications weather conditions affecting the hurricane might change to swing Esther more to the north, but that it was too early to be sure.

The hurricane, packing winds up to 130 miles an hour around its center, was located about 925 miles east-northeast of San Juan Puerco Rico, and 1,850 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Turnpike Bond Ruling Awaited

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant's push to have a northward extension of the Florida Turnpike under way by Thanksgiving headed today for its last big hurdle in the State Supreme Court.

Leon County Circuit Court validated a $180 million bond issue Thursday to finance extension of the toll road from the present terminus at Fort Pierce 136 miles to Wildwood.

"The court is convinced that the bonds are valid as well as fiscally sound," said Judge W. May Walker after a day-long hearing.

State Road Department officials said the validation suit would go to the Supreme Court immediately. If the project wins legal approval there, they said, construction could be under way by November. The extension would be scheduled to open in 1964.

They Can't Play Waiting Game

LONDON (UPI)—Sydney Thain, who is 102, was preparing today to marry 73-year-old Maud Franklin after a whirlwind five-week courtship.

"Some people say we decided to get married rather quickly," Thain said, "but we haven't much time."

I Offer You...

... the Book of Faith, something to hold in when you realize you cannot make it alone. Grateful women and men have called it a "rock in a weary land, a light in the dark, a refuge in time of storm." God called it His word. It contains the prologue to the true meaning of Valley Forge, the duties and obligations of every American citizen, Counsel and advice to the wise and the foolish. If we cling to the Bible, God will hold us when we ourselves are no longer able to hold the Book. Then take this Book of Faith in both your hands and discover a solution to every problem you have. I offer you the Book and the God your fathers trusted. They were not ashamed nor were they forsaken.

Postal Rate Hike Expected To Pass House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill to provide a five-cent stamp and raise other postal rates was expected to pass the House today despite widespread agreement among lawmakers that its terms are unfair.

The chief criticism was that the measure would levy a sharper percentage rate increase on ordinary mailers than on heavy commercial users of the mail. President Kennedy had urged that the heaviest percentage increases be imposed on commercial users, mostly publishers and advertisers.

However, the $230 million revenue-producing bill was cleared by the Rules Committee Thursday night for House action on a take-it-or-leave-it basis with amendments barred.

The administration concurred in the no-amendment strategy which backers of the bill said was necessary to meet minimum terms laid down by Chairman Olin Johnston, D-S.C., of the Senate Post Office Committee.

They said Johnston had served notice he would not permit any other compromise measures to come to a vote in the Senate.

There was divided opinion on whether the Senate would complete congressional action on the dispute compromise before Congress adjourns, probably late next week.

The compromise bill would grant Kennedy's request that postage be hiked from four to five cents on first class letters and from seven to eight cents on air-mail letters next Jan. 1.

But it would provide only a fraction of the postage increases Kennedy wanted levied on publications and advertising circulars. Moreover, small, light-weight publications would be hit by a much heavier percentage increase than medium-size and heavy magazines.

The administration supports the measure because it offers a chance for enactment this year of a part of the $143 million a year in extra postal revenue Kennedy wants to hold down huge red-ink spending.

There was no sign of major opposition to the measure from heavy commercial users of the mail.

Little Red Schoolhouse In For A Busy Season

Members of the Seminole Assn. for Retarded Children made plans Wednesday for a busy season ahead in their tireless efforts to promote, support and encourage the growth of the "Little Red Schoolhouse."

This is the name by which the school for retarded children in Sanford has been known during its very short history.

First item on the agenda for the season is an open house, scheduled for September 27, from 7:30 to 9 p. m. at the school on Palmetto and Sixth St.

This will be an opportunity for interested persons, as well as the members of many organizations who had donated time, services and money to the school, to see what has been accomplished, observe some of the materials and aids used in teaching these children who cannot go to public schools and see how much more needs to be done.

Mrs. Ada Sires, teacher of the school and her helpers announced a list of items which are much needed at the present time and will be gratefully accepted from anyone.

Some of the things needed are banisters, or rails, on the outside steps, an outdoor floodlight, closed cupboards for storage, straight chairs for both adults and children, a cork pin-up board, drapes for the second room, recently opened, and some new children's records. These may be left at the Health Center with Mrs. Hulda Kibbee.

The Sunland Training Center in Gainesville is also much in need of old neckties. These are used for weaving and it is surmised that many men have many old ties they would be happy to give to a good cause.

The school also is greatly in need of someone, or some group, to pull up bothersome sandpurs in the schoolyard, which plague the children when they go out to play.

A sidewalk or patio in the schoolyard would also be helpful where they could ride their tricycles, safely enclosed with a high hurricane fence which surrounds the play yard.

In other business, a nominating committee was appointed by President McIntosh and plans were discussed to look into the possibilities of having a talent show as the big fund-raising project of the year.

Persons having any of the above-mentioned articles or services to donate to the school are asked to call Mrs. J. F. Harlow on Magnolia Ave. or Mrs. Thomas E. Thompson, Wagner.

Mr. M. J. Okerlund Buried In Oviedo

Funeral services were held at 1 p. m. Thursday at the Oviedo Cemetery for Mr. Manuel J. Okerlund, 81, who died at Brooksville Wednesday.

Mr. Okerlund was a former teacher and principal of the Oviedo High School and made his home here for many years. Mrs. Okerlund, who died sometime ago, was the former Miss Annie Mitchell of Oviedo and was a first cousin of the late John Bass Jones Sr. and of Mrs. Nettie Farrell of Oviedo and Ben Jones of Tampa.

Air Scouts Hold Meeting

The regular meeting of the new troop of Air Scouts, Troop 211, was held at the home of the president, Nicki Morgan.

After the collection of dues and the secretary's report the group heard a report on Putnam Day Roundup, a recent weekend camping trip, given by Darlene, Nicky Morgan and Bonnie Avenel. Nicky and Bonnie also reported the activities of the planning board meeting.

The organization held a discussion on their money-making projects for the year, and made a list of service plans. Plans to be put into operation at once include helping out at the Luberan Haven, going to see Mrs. Knight, their leader, who is in the OAFB hospital.

They decided to meet once a month on the Wednesday following the senior planning board meeting. A talk on first aid is scheduled for the next meeting.

Pressure Averts Possible New GM Strike

DETROIT (UPI) — Increased government pressure today averted a possible new General Motors strike just as GM and the United Auto Workers redoubled efforts to get a quarter-million workers back on their jobs by Monday as President Kennedy suggested.

William E. Simkin got the International Union of Electrical Workers and GM to agree to an indefinite extension at five GM appliance and parts plants. But a sixth plant at Warren, Ohio, ignored the government request and went on strike.

At the same time, the UAW and GM pledged to increase their efforts to reach a final agreement by Monday — an unofficial deadline set by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg on behalf of the President.

Sixth UAW-represented plants have settled local contract matters, eight of them Thursday. But not all the factories re-opened and there still were 282,000 workers idled either by strikes or shutdowns at 93 plants. About 89,000 GM workers were not affected.

Referring to the government request to re-open all GM plants by next week, UAW president Walter P. Reuther, said "We are working hard" but indicated he was not going to be rushed into setting a deadline.

"You've got to realize that GM has 130 plants and it takes time to wrap them up," he said.

A decision will be made "in a day or so," he said, on when to convene the union's National GM Council. The 280-man group will meet to ratify GM's national and local contracts. Any plant still on strike then probably would be ordered re-opened.

Navy Officer's Wives Display Talent, Artistry In Gala Hat Fashion Show

Getting a "head start" on the coming social season, the Sanford Naval Officers' All Wives Club burst into the spotlight with their gala Hat Fashion Show of 18 hand-some chapeaus, made and modeled by the ladies themselves.

Setting for the event was the Fireside Room of Morrison's Imperial House in Winter Park, overlooking beautiful Lake Killarney. The tables, which seated over a hundred guests, were attractively decorated with fall greenery, flowers and leaves and sparkled with tall hatstands on which were perched lovely hats of every description.

The only male figure in the crowd was a mannikin head, wearing a captain's hat, and shoulder boards, which graced one end of the "Captain's table," where club presidents and honored guests were seated.

A display of turn-of-the-century styles was shown featuring an exquisite embroidered blouse with a high lace collar, part of the trousseau of Mrs. B. M. Robinson, circa 1900, a gold-headed, tasseled umbrella and a jet-headed black handbag, trimmed with lace. A straw sailor hat in black and white, once worn by Mrs. Jay Beck, which she purchased in 1910 completed the display.

The modern ladies at the luncheon all wore hats, too, big ones, little ones and some very fancy ones. There were hats of every description, hats of flowers, ribbons, net, straw, tulle, even a couple of "Jackie" pillboxes.

When the parade of hats began, each model posed in a handsomely created black and white-striped hat box, the lid with its huge red satin bow standing beside it as if it had just been opened — red ribbons hanging at the sides as if they had just been untied and a froth of net representing the tissue in which the new chapeau was nestled. Out of this setting rose the lovely hats, designed and created by the Navy wives, posed on lovely heads.

First came a soft white fur cloche, made and modeled by Colleen Provencher, followed by Anne Moynihan in her own creation made of apple blossoms in shades of pink and rose accented with a cluster of apples.

Mary McCumber came next in a black beaver spiced with black and gray feathers, made by "Dave" Cullen, then Heather Boudinot showed her creation of a matching cloche and clutch stole made of soft, furry leopard cloth.

Mary Saire made a white fur hat with a pleated satin band around the crown which was modeled by Ann Moynihan and Mary Lou Shattuck had created an orange pillbox-type and spiced it with black egret trim which was worn by Colleen Provencher.

Arlene Dunlap then posed gracefully in the white beaver cloth chapeau that she had made herself, and Heather Boudinot showed the black beaver that she had made.

A striking creation of brown and white duck feathers in over-lapping layers, which had been made by Fran Mackey was modeled by Ann Moynihan. It was decorated with a black velvet ribbon.

Shirley Ressler looked lovely in the leopard skin pillbox hat that she had made, and she carried a matching fluffy muff made of the same material.

A black leaf velvet hat, with a cluster of black grapes at the crown was modeled by Charlotte Wireman, her own creation, then Heather Boudinot came on again in a lovely velvet style bonnet made of pheasant feathers by Irene Ashley.

A straight little white pillbox, so popular now, was made by Fran Reinhart and modeled by Arlene Dunlap and Mary McCumber posed in a lovely velvet peacock cloth cloche, made by Josephine Burgess.

A soft, beige-toned moulin cloche, another creation of "Dave" Cullen was displayed to the audience by Shirley Ressler, and a stunning chapeau of lavender daisies, worn by Colleen Provencher was the work of Artie Johnson.

A lovely winter-white beaver cloth hat, sparkled with a single red satin rose was made by Fran Reinhart and modeled by Charlotte Wireman and the final number, the most breathtaking of the show was a huge black tulle garden-party hat, accented with a jeweled zircon pin, worn by blonde Mary McCumber which completely stopped the show.

Commentator for all the lovely hat fashion creations was Donna (Mrs. Charles) Hodgate, who also served as publicity chairman, and Donna (Mrs. Kenneth) Cosky was over-all chairman and coordinator.

Presiding at the dead table was Mrs. George Zimmerman. Guiding genius and inspiration for the creation of the hat styles was Naomi (Mrs. Charles) Dunn, who had studied the art of hat designing while she was in Paris some years ago.

A stunning cloche style hat, made of autumn-toned pheasant feathers and graced by a long curving egret feather, which was designed and made by Mrs. Dunn, was the door prize for the show, and the lucky ticket was held by Mrs. Amy Rust.

Nearly 100 guests at the luncheon enjoyed eating tossed salad, barbecued chicken, baked potatoes, jellied cranberries, green peas, assorted rolls, run chiffon cream pie and coffee.

Survival Courses Face Cut Back

Due to rapid use of the federal appropriation for Personal Survival Schools throughout the state, Seminole County, along with other counties, has been temporarily forced to cut back its number of anticipated courses to be offered here.

E. S. Douglass, county adult education supervisor, said however, that all groups and organizations who already have asked to sponsor courses will be permitted to do so. Reservations have been made by eight interested groups which will carry the program through December. Enrollment limits on these classes will be doubled, Douglass advised.

Politics And Military

The long-raging controversy stirred by South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond over alleged "sneaking" of the U. S. military has become a fuzzy, tangled thing which needs to have its separate strands pulled out and examined.

Lately Thurmond has been tilting lances with Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. Earlier his chief adversary was Arkansas Sen. J. William Fulbright, who in a memorandum charged that many military men were improperly injecting themselves into political fields.

The whole debate moves along against the backdrop of the celebrated case of Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who was removed from a divisional command in Germany on grounds he sought to indoctrinate his troops with extremist right-wing views, calculated to influence their absentee votes for congressmen in 1960.

At the outset, we should understand this: The contenders agree, though their hot words sometimes obscure the fact, that military men may properly speak out on military matters. McNamara recently reaffirmed this as the administration's position.

Where they disagree is on what other topics military men may speak publicly and to whom. The subject, most at issue in the debate is communism, and how its dangers should be taught.

In Thurmond's view, military men are extraordinarily equipped to explain the Communist menace both to service personnel and to the general public. Says he: "The military leader is a particularly effective source of information against communism . . . Many people in uniform have a unique understanding of the enemy. They are trained to anticipate the enemy. They get to know the enemy and how he operates."

Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, supporting the Fulbright opposition viewpoint, answers Thurmond this way: "Essentially, it is not the function of the military . . . to give political instruction to the American people."

Fulbright himself goes beyond this in his memorandum and argues that, at least in the middle to higher echelons of service, indoctrination of the military itself in major aspects of world affairs—including communism—should be in civilian hands.

Thurmond no less than his opponents accepts the premise that no military man should plunge into domestic politics. But here the controversy is at its fuzziest.

For he and some others brand welfare features of the U. S. government as socialist-Communist in tendency, and as such fit subjects for military men warning of the perils of communism. The opposition says the whole domestic field is out of bounds to service personnel.

In this free-speech country, if we must err it must be on the side of letting men talk. Yet soldiers are not politicians, nor are they foreign policy makers. They are bound, responsibly, to observe prudent limits in what they say to their men and to people at large.

Auxiliary Member Gets VFW Honor

By MRS. ADAM MULLER

Mrs. William Canaday received a 15-year continuous membership bar at the September meeting of the DeBary VFW Post Auxiliary held at the home of the president, Mrs. Billie Schabel.

Mrs. Canaday joined the organization in Albany, N. Y. where she was a member of the auxiliary to Post 1019.

Mrs. Joseph Santillo, who with her husband and Mrs. Schabel visited the Lake City Veteran's hospital Aug. 30 reported on the visit made to present of ditty bags, scarves, books, clothing and other articles.

Hospital Administrator Baldwin and Mrs. Geneva Hoffman, head of veteran's affairs there, were on hand to greet them, Mrs. Santillo said, and during their visit they also visited John Schorndorf, Lee Nash and Edward Gardner, nephew of Mrs. P. H. Ahrens.

Hospital personnel received them with gracious welcome, she said, and were very happy with the gifts since such items bring so much pleasure and cheer to the patients.

Another report was given by Sally Perallo who attended the convention in Palm Beach.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Santillo.

Letters

To The Editor

Editor
 The Sanford Herald
 Sanford, Florida
 Subject: Evaluation of Herald report on Cdr. A. R. Smith address to local Rotarians as published Sept. 12.

Dear Sir:

The cursory headline, "NO BOMB COULD DEVASTATE WHOLE AREA" is qualitatively and quantitatively intangible. The report (see subject) conflicts substantially with data presented in the AEC publication "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons" and with opinions voiced by groups of recognized authorities . . . i.e. Fall-out, published by Basic Books.

Cdr. Smith is quoted, "There is no bomb made, not even the 100 megaton one that the Russians talk about, that could devastate the whole of central Florida." Yet, Ralph E. Lapp, physicist and author, former assistant director of Argonne National Laboratory, executive director of Atomic Energy for Research and Development Board, and head of Nuclear Physics Branch of Office of Naval Research, says in "Fallout" . . .

"In the absence of air a nuclear explosion concentrates more energy in the heat flash. A ten-megaton burst in the thin atmosphere 30 miles above the earth's surface could send a searing wave of heat over an area of 3,000 square miles. Combustibles within this area would be ignited by the flash. The flash of heat, plus the effects of blast, would start a multitude of small blazes. Under certain conditions these would fuse into large fires and ultimately might produce a 'firestorm' . . . the technical name of a massive fire in which air draws toward the center of the burning area has a blower effect and perpetuates the conflagration. Several firestorms were produced by the bombing of German cities with incendiaries, and one firestorm occurred after a fire raid on Tokyo. The atomic bombs created a firestorm at Hiroshima but not at Nagasaki. Some experts who have studied the phenomenon believe that firestorms would be the inevitable consequence of a megaton burst over a large American city. . . . The firestorm poses a vexing problem to civil-defense planners. Shelters would have to be provided with a built-in atmosphere (i.e., an oxygen supply), for the holocaust would consume the available oxygen in the air. Naturally, shelters designed to withstand firestorms will be considerably more expensive than those aimed at protecting only against the radiation hazard."

Cdr. Smith is quoted, "Although you cannot protect yourself against a direct hit, you certainly can protect yourself against the fallout, which is what would hit this area." The design of masses to resist an assumed system of nuclear forces is not beyond contemporary structural engineering techniques. Since "direct hit" is not defined I cannot assume that Cdr. Smith allows the placement of an appropriate mass between the blast and the object(s) to be protected. However, if Cdr. Smith meant to exclude the possibility of nuclear effects other than fallout in Seminole County he has remarkable insight.

Cdr. Smith is quoted, "Even canned foods, which have been exposed to radiation are edible, he said, you can wash the can off and it will be perfectly alright." This statement if not qualified could be disastrous to some Seminole County residents. For more specific data obtain "CIVIL DEFENSE TECHNICAL BULLETIN . . . PERMISSIBLE EMERGENCY LEVELS OF RADIOACTIVITY IN WATER AND FOOD" (TB-11-8) from the office of Civil Defense.

Strontium 90 has a Physical Half-Life of 28 years and a Biological Half-Life of 10 years . . . these figures vary with the statement, "Strontium 90 does not dissipate it merely accumulates." I suggest that liberally educated readers of the Sanford Herald consider purchasing nuclear publications similar to those mentioned. They are most useful in evaluating newspaper reporting, speakers, shelters, warning systems and commissioners.

Sincerely,
 Eoghan n. Kelley

Dr. Crane's
 Worry Clinic

CASE J-495: Carl W., aged 47, is a dynamo of energy. "Dr. Crane," his wife began, "Carl is literally killing himself. Our doctor has urged him to relax and take things easy. But Carl has a mania to participate in lodge and club work. He is the ringleader in our Community Chest and Red Cross and YMCA and other fine civic campaigns. "In fact, I rarely see him at home till midnight on any night in the week, even including Sunday. "He protests that he just can't get out of his many obligations, but I sometimes wonder if he really WANTS to do so."

CARL'S SMOKE SCREEN
 Men like Carl are a great boon to civilization and the wheel horses of their local civic progress. But when a man develops a "mania" to be away from home every night, even though in laudable church or YMCA and civic work, you may become a little suspicious, as Carl's wife indicates. "That is doubly true if the man is past the age of 40. For such males often try to disguise their platonic marital role by drumming up excuses for being away from their mates. "The onset of male impotence is often revealed by the drinker who now stumbles home half drunk at 3 a.m. when he was previously a non-drinker or very moderate user of whiskey. His sudden addiction to alcohol then acts as a red herring to his wife and diverts her attention from suspecting the real problem, namely, her husband's humiliation at letting her know he is impotent. "Not all men, however, hide in a drunken stupor at this crucial time in their lives. Some try to "paint the town red" by an exaggerated emphasis on night clubbing, burlesque shows or dates with seductive sirens, whose novelty may free the staid husband from his psychic impotence. Other good husbands don't paint the town red, but may lavish an excessive amount of time painting the garage and house, manuring the shrubbery and barbering the lawns.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Festivities on the death of effective federal aid-to-education legislation this year reveal considerable optimism on the part of Kennedy administration doctors who tried to save the ailing bill.

Most of the responsibility has been placed on the coalition of 82 Democrats—only five from the northern states—and 160 Republicans who voted against even considering such legislation in the House.

What they were opposing was the compromise package put together by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff.

He said his bill of good to the Democrats on the House Education and Labor Committee under its chairman, Adam Clayton Powell of New York. He even sold it to Rep. James J. Delaney of New York, whose opposition in the House Rules Committee had blocked consideration of the original Kennedy administration $2.5 billion aid-to-education program.

Ribicoff apparently thought he had the solution to break the deadlock, but it was a bad miscalculation.

Included in his package were one-year extension of student loans under the National Defense Education Act and federal aid to impacted areas. But on top of them was put a bill by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., of New Jersey, providing $325 million in federal aid to the states for school construction in districts of dire need.

The $325 million figure was considered a magic number because that was the amount which the House had approved last year. It was made more palatable by taking out all mention of aid for teachers' salaries. But the formula for determining the amounts of federal aid were changed, and this caused some confusion on what each state might get.

When the bill was brought up in House Education and Labor Committee executive session on the day before it was to be offered on the floor, there was a Republican motion to have it read so that the committee members would know what was in it.

As reported by Rep. Jerry Ford, R-Mich., in a letter to his constituents, this was voted down on a straight party line roll call vote of 17 Democrats to 13 Republicans.

Then, by another 17-13 roll call vote, the committee decided to limit discussion of the bill to 70 minutes.

Others were afraid a religious issue was involved. In a few states which may lose congressional seats under redistricting next year, there was some fear that any vote on a controversial issue might be used at home to wipe out an incumbent congressman's district.

The whole business just got too complicated. There was no compulsion to vote. National Defense Education Act does not expire till next June 30, so there will be time for another look. The old rule of, "When in doubt, do nothing" prevailed.

Word of this Democratic effort to railroad their last-minute compromise circulated rapidly. It stiffened Republican opposition. Normally, about 40 Republicans favor federal aid to education. But only 6 Republicans voted with 163 northern Democrats to consider the measure. It would have taken a switch by 40 more votes to carry.

It was a combination of other factors that stiffened the Democratic opposition. The southerners seldom have voted in a mere solid block. Some may have felt that this was a forerunner of federal aid for integrated schools only.

Capacity Crowd For Seminole Grid Opener Expected

Locals Play Titusville

A capacity crowd is expected tonight for the 8 p. m. kickoff of the opening football game between the Seminole High School Seminoles and the Titusville Terriers at Municipal Stadium.

Titusville will come to town all keyed up to avenge the 12 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Seminoles last year. Jim Pigott's Indians are just as eager to keep their win record over Titusville intact in order to start the season in the right column.

"The team is as ready as we can be," said Coach Pigott. The Seminoles will pin their hopes on their running game and the ability of the defense to stop the running and passing of the Terriers.

Coach Pigott announced the offensive and defensive lineup this morning. The offensive team will include Don Harvey and John Boniface at ends; Eugene Williams and Bob Lewis, tackles; Russ Pearson and Vic Welch, guards; J. B. Phillips, center; Jim Terwilliger, quarterback; Bubba Davis and Butch Riser, halfbacks, and Bill Phagan, fullback.

The defensive team will line up as follows:

Eugene Williams and Don Harvey, ends; Vic Welch and Russ Pearson, tackles; J. B. Phillips, middle guard; Gary Davidson and Jimmy Jones or Jim Terwilliger, outside linebackers; Bill Phagan and Butch Riser, inside linebackers, and Bubba Davis and John Boniface, deep backs.

In Wednesday's story about the program given for the team at the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday night it was inadvertently reported that the pastor was a Rev. Mr. Spears. The pastor of the church is the Rev. Grover Sewell, who was also the speaker on the program.

Hunting Season For Fowl Nears

TALLAHASSEE—Marsh hen hunters will open Florida's 1961-62 hunting season one-half hour before sunrise Saturday, Sept. 23, according to A. D. Aldrich, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. The day's hunting will end at sunset.

Hunting the migratory rails and gallinules (marsh hens) will be allowed for 65 consecutive days ending Nov. 26. Bag limits for rails and gallinules, except sora rail, is 15 for day's bag and 20 for total possession. Daily bag limit for sora rail is set at 25, with a total possession of 25.

Although rails and gallinules are found throughout the state, most of the successful marsh hen hunting is done in six counties along Florida's Northeast coast—Nassau, Duval, St. Johns, Flagler, Volusia and Brevard.

Under the Migratory Bird Act, marsh hen hunters must have their shotguns plugged to three-shell capacity. Rifles are prohibited. Duck stamp is not required for marsh hens.

Babe's Whirlwind Homer Finish Making It Rough For Mantle, Maris

United Press International
Babe Ruth's whirlwind finish of 1927 appears today to be killing off the chances of Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle to set a new home run record.

The chances of either equalling or breaking Ruth's mark of 60 homers in one season were dimmed near the point of extinction Thursday when both went homerless in the New York Yankees' 6-3 and 4-3 losses to the Chicago White Sox.

With 56 homers in 167 games, Maris now must hit four in his next seven games to equal the record within the 154-game limit prescribed by Commissioner Ford Frick. With 53 homers, Mantle faces the almost impossible task of hitting seven—or an average of one per game for the next seven games.

The Yankees play a 162-game schedule this season but Frick is standing by his ruling that Maris or Mantle must reach 60 within 154 games to be officially credited with tying the mark.

The Yankees' magic pennant-clinching number was reduced to six when the Kansas City A's beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-2, and the Minnesota Twins scored a 3-1 victory after a 5-1 loss to the Los Angeles Angels in other A.L. games.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers pulled out a 7-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates on Duke Snider's ninth-inning homer to move within five games of idle Cincinnati, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Chicago Cubs, 8-7 and 6-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the San Francisco Giants, 4-3.

Bob Shaw won his 11th game with a nine-inning homer, his second of the game, gave Johnny Bushardt his sixth win for the Phillies and headed Dick LeMay his sixth defeat. Tony Gonzalez also homered for the Phillies while Willie Mays hit No. 28 for the Giants.

Ted Bowsfield pitched a five-hitter and struck out seven to win his 10th game for the Angels but the Twins squared the doubleheader on Jim Kaat's three-hitter. Leon Wagner and Rocky Bridges had two hits each for the Angels in the opener and Lennie Green had two hits for the Twins in the second.

Snider's three-run pinch homer climaxed a four-run ninth-inning outburst that prevented the Dodgers from falling six games behind the Reds in the N.L. race. Elroy Face replaced Clem Labine after Frank Howard's single scored one run and put two men on base but Snider followed with his "savior" homer. Catcher Smokey Burgess had paced the Pirates to an early lead with four singles.

Ken Boyer's seven hits, including an 11th-inning homer in the nightcap, paced the Cardinals to their sweep of the Cubs. Boyer, who had five hits in the second game, tied the score at 3-3 with a triple and a single and Stan Musial had a homer and two singles to lead the Cardinals' 11-hit attack in the first game.

Wes Covington's 10th-inning homer, his second of the game, gave Johnny Bushardt his sixth win for the Phillies and headed Dick LeMay his sixth defeat. Tony Gonzalez also homered for the Phillies while Willie Mays hit No. 28 for the Giants.

Pitt, Miami Hurricanes Clash In Orange Bowl Action Saturday

CORAL GABLES (UPI)—The Pittsburgh football team is due in Miami today for a warmup in the Orange Bowl before tackling the University of Miami Hurricanes Saturday.

The Hurricanes ran through their plays again Thursday and Head Coach Andy Gustafson decided to hold another brief drill today.

Gustafson named halfback Nick Spinelli and hard-passing quarterback George Mira Thursday to fill the last two backfield openings for the Hurricanes' clash with the Panthers. Spinelli will run at right halfback in place of injured Eddie Johns and Nick Rider will start at left halfback. Team captain Jim Vollenweider will start in the fullback slot.

Navy League Off To Fast Start

The Navy Vets League, sponsored by Huller Motor Sales got off to a fast beginning Friday at the Jet Lanes.

Lots of gutter balls were thrown due to so many beginning bowlers but everyone soon settled down to more serious bowling.

High game honors for the day went to Martha Kinnard with a 200 game.

Huddy Wells, a substitute for Park Ridge, bowled a 181, and the 4-10 split was picked up by Jean McGuire.

Park Ridge was credited with high team singles while the Navy Vets 211 captured high series. V.A.H.'s "O" Wives and NAMTD are tied for first place with a three win, one loss record.

Auburn Hit Hard By Injuries; Hurt Gators Back

Alabama and Auburn were hit hard by injuries Thursday but elsewhere in the Southeastern Conference things were looking up.

All but two of the 15 injured Georgia Bulldogs were back in the lineup as Coach John Griffith sent his team through a fast-paced workout in shorts.

All but three of the injured Florida Gators have returned to practice. Still out are guard Jack Thompson with an injured knee, fullback Paul Vargo, who has a broken nose, and safetyman Paul White, who is nursing a pulled leg muscle.

Right guard Billy Basham returned to contact work at Mississippi after missing practice for about a week with a shoulder injury.

The bad news at Auburn was that first team right guard G.W. Clapp will miss the entire 1961 season because of a knee injury.

Alabama went through "learn-it" drills with 11 members of the squad missing due to various injuries. Coach Paul Bryant said that Doug Christian, a halfback, will be out for the season with a dislocated hip.

The Tennessee Vols scrimmaged against the T-formation and also held a passing and kicking drill. Wingback Charlie Wyrick, who had a pulled leg muscle, was back in action.

Coach Bobby Dodd swapped two first and second unit guards to beef up Georgia Tech's defenses. Dodd shifted left guard Ruffe Guthrie to right guard in the first unit and moved Jack Moss from

All Out Battle Looms In Am-Play

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Joe Carr, the affable Irishman, and Jack Nicklaus, the pounding Buckeye, went shootin' today for a chance to battle each other in the finals of the USGA National Amateur golf tournament.

Already rated as the two finest simon-pure shotmakers in the world, their path is blocked by a pair of youngsters who know nothing of golfing greatness.

They are Marion C. Methvin and Bud Wyson—and all they can do is drive, approach and putt like deansons.

Carr comes up against the Texas strongboy, Wyson. Nicklaus faces Methvin, a Louisiana State College athlete from Little Rock, Ark.

Bout Set

LONDON (UPI)—John Caldwell of Belfast has signed a tentative agreement to meet Eder Jofra of Brazil for the world bantamweight championship provided he can regain his European crown in a return bout against France's Alphonse Halimi on Oct. 31.

Collins Opens Seattle Golf Lead

SEATTLE (UPI)—Spiced by a $10,000 hole-in-one by Miller Barber, a golfer who really needs the money, the $28,000 Greater Seattle Open went into its second round today with Bill Collins' first round 64—six under par—holding a two-stroke lead.

Collins, a 33-year-old player who hails from Baltimore and plays out of Miami, demonstrated he has recovered from the wrist injury which put him in a six-week slump earlier in the year.

Big Bill needed only 29 putts over the 6,328-yard Broadmoor Golf Club course. His only bogey was on the 7th hole—the same hole where Barber shot his perfect 237-yard hole-in-one to grab the $10,000 bonus, $8,600 of which will come out of the pockets of Lloyds of London. The other $1,140 is the premium paid by the sponsoring Seattle Town and Country Club.

Lanky Al Balding, Toronto, Ont., established the early pace of the first round with a 66, soon equaled by Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex., and Dave Hill, a 25-year-old Denver pro who took top cash in his home town's $25,000 open last week.

Nationwide Paces 'T' Loop Keglers

In the first two weeks of the "T" Loop bowling, the Nationwide team has seven wins for a 2,929 pin fall total.

The first week there was a four-way tie for second place which was broken this week by the Stanford Herald team, coming out in second place and leaving a three-way tie for third.

Teams One, Three and Six are tied for third with Team Five last. High game was Carolyn Keen's 166 with high series of 423.

This week, high game and series were taken by Mary Jane Gordon with a 183-507. She also had four strikes in a row.

High team game last week was taken by Nationwide with high game of 526 and high series of 1,418.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a boy friend who is a head shorter than I am. When we dance together I have to keep my chin up because if I put it down it looks as though I am trying to hide. But just try dancing with your chin up all evening, and you will get a pain in the neck. It is really painful, but I love to dance. I know it looks funny for a girl to be dancing with a boy when she is a head taller than he is, but that doesn't bother me so much as the stiff neck I get from it. Have you any advice? STIFF NECK

DEAR STIFF: If dancing with this boy is painful—give up dancing. If it is more painful to give up dancing, give up the boy.

DEAR ABBY: I would like a full-time sleep-in position in a motherless home. It must be a modern home in the best section of town. I would like the father to be between 40 and 50 (no older). And he must be 6 feet tall as I am a well-proportioned 5 ft. 8 in., and don't feel comfortable with short men around me. I am considered attractive, dress well and enjoy good music and dancing. I am in excellent health and 35. LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Are you looking for a position or for a man? If it's a position, place your ad in the classified section of this newspaper, or register with an employment agency. If it's a man, your approach is clever, but obvious.

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me when it is proper to wear a hat, and when it is all right to go without one? I always seem to guess wrong. Even in church some women go hatless. I have felt so foolish wearing a hat that I have left it home on similar occasions. Then I find everyone else is wearing one, and I feel embarrassed. Please advise me. HAT PROBLEM

DEAR HAT PROBLEM: If you are to be properly dressed there are occasions when a hat is absolutely mandatory. Church attendance is one. Solemn occasions, such as funerals, christenings and graduation, require a hat. Wear a hat to lunch, tea, shopping, club meetings, to the theater (a small one), or any occasion where you want to look your best. With few exceptions, like going to bed or playing touch football (even then some wear helmets), a hat always shows smart grooming.

SHIRLEY JONES and Cantinflas in a scene from "Pepe" coming to the Ritz Theatre Sunday.

'Pepe' Coming To The Ritz

With Cantinflas, the sensation of "Around the World in 80 Days," starring as "Pepe," a new excitement in screen entertainment opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Co-starring with the international comedy favorite, are Dan Dailey and Shirley Jones, while 35 of Hollywood's outstanding personalities appear as guest stars in the new Columbia release. "Pepe" is a George Sidney production in CinemaScope and Eastman Color. Said to be a gala entertainment event of unprecedented audience appeal, "Pepe" is compounded of fun, color, drama, music and screen pageantry. It ranges from spectacular musical numbers to a comedy building sequence, from a gentle love story to moments of high hilarity. In "Pepe," Cantinflas portrays a simple-hearted lovable Mexican peon and ranch-hand who, through his devotion to the horse he has raised from a colt, finds himself flung into the never-never land of the entertainment world.

LANA TURNER and Efrim Zimbalist Jr. in a scene from "By Love Possessed" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Best Seller Drive-In Bound

The book which was hailed by critics as a major literary achievement and zoomed to the top of the best-seller lists, has been made into a motion picture calculated to stir up an equally controversial storm of reaction. "By Love Possessed," starring Lana Turner, Efrim Zimbalist Jr., Jason Robards Jr. and Barbara Bel Geddes, opens in color Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In, through United Artists release. The other feature on the program which will play through Tuesday is "The Young Savages" with Burt Lancaster. On Wednesday and Thursday, "Wonderful Country" and "Men In War" will play. On Friday and Saturday, "Thunder Road," "Thunder in Carolina" and "Jacoby" will be shown.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

Is the time ripe for parents all over the country to adopt a minimum dating age for their children?

Dr. David R. Mace, executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, writing in a national magazine, says of the trend toward earlier and earlier dating: "I believe we have no time to waste. We must reverse this trend. I submit that the way to do it is by establishing an age below which dating is outlawed by universal social custom. To me, the most logical and defensible age to start with is 15, the age at which most youngsters make the transition from junior to senior high school."

If parents are ready for such a plan it shouldn't be too hard to get a minimum dating age established. It could be done school by school, neighborhood by neighborhood, group by group.

Then individual parents could say to their own 12 and 13-year-olds: "You can start dating when you are 15—and not before." Without the usual come back "All the other kids in junior high school can have dates," the parents wouldn't get much of an argument.

Actually the majority of young teen-agers probably would just as soon not start dating so early. The reason they want to now is because "all the other kids do" and they don't want to be "different." But if the commonly accepted age for starting to date is 15 the youngsters aren't under any social pressure to get started ahead of time.

The problem is going to be in getting parents to agree—particularly mothers. For in every group there are some mothers who can't wait for their little darlings (especially their daughters) to get started on the business of "growing up."

They are the ones who think it is just too cute for 12-year-olds to have dates, to pair off, to be chauffeured by mama on afternoon movie dates—and so on.

Getting these mothers to agree to a minimum dating age may not be easy, but with enough pressure from sensible parents perhaps it could be done.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The code word "Arch" is not for the sole use of declarer. The defenders should employ it also. "A" still stands for "Analyze the lead," and "R" for "Review the bidding." "C" becomes "Count your winners," and "H" becomes "How can we beat this contract?" East analyzed his partner's lead as the normal top of a sequence. Hence, declarer was marked with the king of spades.

Nikita Uses Different Fright Plan Each Radio Blackmail Blast

By PHIL NEWMAN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

As Nikita Khrushchev piles straw upon straw in the hope that the camel's back will bend but not break, the pattern of his campaign becomes clearer. He seeks not only to bend the will of governments, he also aims especially at peoples.

Two Communist radios beam special language broadcasts which warn British businessmen, French laborers or Italian vineyard workers that they may die in a world holocaust because of the mistakes of their governments.

In an interview, Khrushchev refers to Britain, France and West Germany as his "host-ages" in a nuclear war.

Soviet propaganda aims the same message at Iran, which is a member of CENTO pact nations barring the Communist path to the Persian Gulf.

The use of forged documents is a familiar Communist tactic and this was one of the pressures they applied against Iran.

This consisted of documents purporting to show that the West planned to drop nuclear bombs along the Soviet-Iran border to create a "death zone" if war broke out.

Despite immediate action by the CENTO pact nations—Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain—and by the United States to brand the documents as forgeries, the Soviet Union has continued to circulate the claims.

It also has repeated a familiar charge that the United States intends to attack Russia through Iran.

Soviet officials in Tehran, the nation's capital, talk openly of invoking a clause in Russia's 1921 treaty with Iran.

This clause gave the Soviets the right to occupy Iran if Russian security demanded.

It actually was invoked in 1941 and Russian troops continued to occupy northern Iran until United Nations pressure finally forced them out in one of the U.N.'s first great victories in 1946.

The Russians also have attempted to set up a separate state of Azerbaijan which would be carved out of northern Iran.

The Iranians have declared the 1921 treaty null and void, but at the same time have gone out of their way to assure the Soviets that their own intentions are peaceful.

Russia's latest threat came in the form of a warning that Iran faced nuclear destruction "in the not too distant future" unless she drops out of the Central Treaty Organization.

Premier Ali Amiri gave Iran's still-backed reply:

"We plan to be always the same—loyal to our commitments and to our allies."

Recently, U. S. Ambassador Julius Holmes renewed U. S. promises of support "in case of any trouble with Russia."

But Iranian officials say the nation's future may well be decided in Berlin.

If the West stands firm in Germany, they say, Russia will hesitate to press matters against Iran. But if the West gives ground there, U.S. "only Allah can help Iran."

False Teeth Fail To Prove Point

DENISON, Tex. (UPI)—A teller at the drive-in window of a Denison bank was astounded. He flung the guy in the car outside was trying to put the bite on the bank.

The man was a stranger, and he wanted to cash a check. The only identification he offered, when asked, was to take his false teeth out and show the name imprinted on the plate.

"I'm sorry," the teller said. "But I have to have something with your signature, and I'm afraid that won't be enough."

Later, the teller did some probing in dental circles and found that during the war soldiers with false teeth had their names and serial numbers put on plates to serve as identification in case they were lost, or the owner should be killed.

Confusion Arises Over Disarmament

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Why, in the face of the Berlin crisis, renewed Russian A-tests, bigger draft calls, and a vast buildup in U. S. arms spending, is Congress today in the process of creating a new disarmament agency?

Americans up to and including Chairman Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee are asking that question. Sponsors of the move say, however, the question is based on a gross misunderstanding of what the new agency is intended to do.

"A good many people seem to think it is being set up to work against the Defense Department," said Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, (D-Pa.), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "Actually, there is nothing anti-military about this. In fact, it will make our defense even stronger."

Former Turkey Boss Sentenced To Death

YASSIADA, Turkey (UPI)—Turkey's high justice court today convicted and sentenced to death former President Celal Bayar, ex Premier Adnan Menderes and eight other members of their ousted regime for making a mockery of Turkey's constitution while in power.

The convictions and sentences climaxed an 11-month trial of 862 men and women who ruled Turkey for 10 years before a coup placed the reins of the government in the hands of the military last year.

Menderes himself was not in court for the judgment. The chief judge said illness prevented his appearance.

The trial ended Thursday after 11 months in which the court heard 1,082 witnesses and examined 19 huge files of evidence.

The prosecution demanded death sentences for 107 of the defendants. A military coup overthrew the Bayar-Menderes regime on May 27, 1960.

The prosecution charged the defendants had illegally used their government power to crush political opposition, incite riots and channel state funds into their own pockets.

The general charge of "violation of the constitution by force" included such accusations as: —Menderes used the state radio for his own purposes.

—Menderes embezzled from the premier's special "secret" funds. —Bayar, Menderes and others attempted assassination of former President Ismet Inonu, leader of the then opposition Republican Peoples party.

—Bayar, Menderes and others used force to suppress newspapers and university student and faculty criticism.

—National Assembly President Refik Koraltan used state funds to pay the salary of a German maid.

Among those scheduled for trial is the Rev. William Coffin, Yale chaplain, and Gaylord Noyce, Dinky School professor at Yale. Another defendant is the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

The biracial group, charged with breach of the peace and conspiracy to breach the peace, earlier this week lost an appeal to delay the trial. The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals refused to issue an injunction against state prosecution on criminal charges.

Other defendants are Drs. John Maguire and David Smith, religion professors at Wesleyan College; George Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Bernard Lee and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, Montgomery; Joseph C. Jones and Clyde Carter, Charlotte, N. C., and the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth of Birmingham.

U. S. Can't Handle Red China—Eaton

EDMONTON, Alta (UPI)—Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton — Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "capitalist friend" — said Thursday night the United States is incapable of handling the problem of Red China.

Eaton told the Canadian Business and Professional Mens Association no one in Washington could handle the complex problem.

"We don't have in the United States in politics or business, people with the knowledge or experience to deal with China," he said.

Eaton urged Canada to take a bold stand on international affairs and to cease blindly following the U. S.

He said this country should adopt a policy it believes is best for the economic interstate of Canada.

Commenting on the possibilities of nuclear war, Eaton said it was almost a mathematical certainty that a bomb will be exploded by accident which will destroy all life on this planet.

Eaton pleaded for "statesmen to adopt policies that will make for understanding and friendship between even the most differing ideologies and economies."

Storm Warnings Up For Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Esther, a huge and dangerous storm, dropped slightly in power during the night and took a slight turn toward the north but the Weather Bureau today ordered hurricane warnings hoisted from Miami north to Savannah, Ga.

The Miami Weather Bureau said at 11 a. m. EST that the storm had decreased slightly but warned it still packed sustained winds of 130 miles an hour and gusts up to 190 miles an hour. Earlier gusts had hit about 200 miles an hour.

The circular storm kicked up waves of 20 feet in its movement in the general direction of the Eastern seaboard. The Weather Bureau said the storm "took somewhat of a turn to the north for a while this morning but its average movement is apparently toward the northwest at 12 m.p.h."

"The central pressure this morning was reported as 27.64 inches of mercury," the bureau said in an advisory, "indicating a slight decrease in intensity during the night."

Earlier, the central pressure of

Why doesn't the County Commission hold an old fashioned auction like the Kiwanis Club did awhile back? Just think of all the items the county board could auction off. . . . Wrist watches, compasses, ripped up bonds for concealed weapons and even an old directive or two.

Say, maybe Dr. Clyde D. Brothers could donate a couple of other items.

Our city fathers sure are getting fancy! First they ordered theatre-type chairs for the commission chambers. . . . next drapes and now the city manager has three new soft-cushioned chairs for his office. . . . cost $78 each. . . . Ah, political jobs sure are rough these days.

Does the school board know there is a critical shortage of books at Seminole High School? The word is that in one class in world history there are 65 youngsters in the room and only 40 books.

Some Lake Mary residents are wondering how long it will be before a traffic light becomes a necessity at the business district intersection. And what happened to the safety regulations recommended last year by the C of C road committee?

Parents in Lake Mary, one of the largest unincorporated areas in the county, wonder why some of the community's civic organizations don't get a planned and coordinated CU program underway there.

Is it really "kushier," as the saying goes, for a possible candidate for the District 4 County Commission seat to drive around with a "foreign" license plate from an adjoining county on his automobile?

Why don't you say something good about the County Commission for a change!

Rainfall Here No Kin To Esther

The weekend rainfall in Sanford and through Central Florida has no connection with Hurricane Esther, which Monday morning was reported to be 725 miles east of Miami, the weather man said.

Sanford had 2.31 inches of rain from one p. m. Friday to 9 a. m. Monday, according to figures compiled at the Central Florida Experiment Station.

City and County officials reported no damage as a result of the rain.

The cause of the rain, according to Earl Morgan, meteorologist at the Municipal Airport at Orlando, was a cold front and a jet stream which passed over this area.

Morgan said that the cold front moved over the area from north to south and then backed up. This maneuver, along with the jet stream, which is, Morgan explained, a river of air, caused the heavy precipitation in many sections of the state.

Castro Exiles 135 Priests

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime has exiled Roman Catholic Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal and 135 other priests, apparently as a result of what it described as church-led rioting against the government.

Forty-six of the churchmen were Cuban, but most of the rest were Spanish. They were shipped out Sunday on the Spanish liner Covadonga when it sailed for Spain.

Hammar skjold Dies In Crash

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—The Federal Broadcasting Corporation of Rhodesia reported that United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was killed in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia today.

A broadcast from Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, said six bodies were found in the wreckage, including that of Hammarskjold. It said there was one survivor, "unidentified but badly hurt."

The broadcast said it appeared that the aircraft "struck the ground at good speed and with considerable force."

Hammarskjold left Leopoldville, the Congo, Sunday night en route to Ndola for a conference with Katanga President Moise Tshombe. The DC6B circled the Ndola airport, but did not land. It then disappeared.

UN officials in Leopoldville officially announced this morning that the plane was missing.

It was after this that Ndola police announced that Rhodesian Air Force planes had sighted what they believed to be the wreckage of a plane—presumed to be that of Hammarskjold's DC6B.

The office of the high commissioner for Rhodesia in London said it had been informed that Hammarskjold was killed in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

"This is the word we get from our government," a spokesman said. He added there was "one survivor of the crash." The name of the survivor was not given.

Earlier, United Nations officials in New York noted that the plane was missing, but said a major search effort was underway and they had no confirmation that the aircraft actually had crashed.

In New York, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said that all U. S. aircraft in the area were joining in the search for Hammarskjold's plane.

A spokesman for U. S. Air Force headquarters in Europe said in Wiesbaden, Germany, that six American planes entered the search early in the day.

UN sources in New York said that those aboard the plane were Hammarskjold; a Swedish pilot, Capt. Hallonquist; Heinrich Weischoff, an American, special assistant to the secretary general; William Ramallo, a Mexican, Hammar skjold's personal aide; and Vladimir Fabru, a Czech, a legal advisor.

The plane in which Hammarskjold left Leopoldville was reported to have had an engine damaged in an attack by a Katanga Air Force Fouga jet on Friday at Elisabethville.

United Nations officials at first hoped the lack of word of the plane was due merely to poor communications, but as the hours passed their fears grew.

The Southern Rhodesian broadcast said the wreckage was sighted 10 miles south of Mufulira, in the heart of Northern Rhodesia's scrub copper belt country.

The region is about 80 miles southwest of the Katanga capital of Elisabethville.

Joe Gazil, owner of two Tip-Top Supermarkets and the Handy Food Store in Sanford has extended his scope of business with the purchase of the Foodmart Supermarket on South Park Avenue from Charles Atkinson. It was announced today.

"Extensive remodeling and redecoration is planned for both inside and outside the store," Gazil said.

Oviedo Man Killed In Mishap

An Oviedo man was killed and a girl was injured in a head-on collision at 12:30 p. m. Sunday on State Road 426, two miles south of Oviedo, according to State Trooper J. S. Foster, who, with Seminole Deputy Vernon Brewster, investigated the accident.

Eight Seminole County residents were arrested late Friday afternoon on gambling charges, police reported.

Seven of the eight were charged with frequenting a gambling house while Frank Sonn, was charged with operating a gambling establishment at 600 Palmetto Ave.

Charged and released under bond were James Lewis Vullerulis, Damon C. Scott, Alton G. Guter, Alfred M. Greene, Lyman A. Baker Jr., William R. Yates and Harley Harris.

A 1952 sedan, driven by David P. Herman, skidded into a 1945 car, driven by Esther C. McGee of Oviedo. Foster reported that Herman lost control of his car on the rain slick highway and hit the McGee car head-on.

A Negro passenger in the McGee car, Lloyd Logan, about 45 years old, of Oviedo, was taken to Winger Park Memorial Hospital where he died about two hours later of chest injuries.

A passenger in the Herman car, Miss Laureen Horner, was also taken to the Winger Park hospital where she was treated for concussion of the brain and a sprained wrist.

The drivers of both cars were uninjured.

In another traffic accident two persons were injured in a collision at 6:20 a. m. today at the intersection of Highway 17-92 and Onora Rd., Trooper Foster reported.

A 1961 sedan, being driven north on 17-92 by Jack Woodworth, 37, of 1622 South Mills St., Orlando, was struck by a 1948 car driven by Johnny E. Gilstrap of Sanford.

Canal Badly Needed, Says Boat Captain Here For Cargo

227 Foot Motor Vessel Corinto Loads At Sanford Pier
Insert - Capt. Charles Thompson

The skipper of the biggest cargo ship ever to dock at the city pier said today that a Sanford-Canal would make of Sanford a tremendous import distribution center.

And he's no stranger to the Florida shipping scene.

Capt. Charles C. Thompson of Tampa, who has been sailing out of Florida ports since 1929, said the canal not only would be a time and money saver for shippers of goods and defense materials, but could bring a whole new product distribution network to Sanford.

He emphasized as one example the possibility of importation of mahogany and pine lumber from Central America and said Sanford would be a natural shipping center to large building markets in the rest of the state.

Water transportation would be cheaper, he said. And the canal would cut at least 17 hours off the time it took his vessel to get from Tampa here on its present mission.

"And time is money," he pointed out.

Capt. Thompson brought his 227-foot motor vessel, Corinto, from Tampa to Jacksonville around the southern end of the state up to Jacksonville and down the St. Johns River to Sanford.

It was 653 nautical miles from Tampa to Sanford and 119 along the river to Sanford. Total sailing time was 68 hours to Mayport and 19 hours to Sanford.

The Corinto is built to load 115 tons of building materials for delivery to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands. The cargo includes concrete block, lumber and some vehicles and machinery.

The boat was chartered by the Burnip and Simms Co., according to local manager Victor Hutchins. The boat is expected to arrive in St. Croix in seven days.

If there had been a canal from some point around the Titusville area of the east coast, he already would have been on the way with his cargo, he estimated. Now he will not steam out until Tuesday.

Several persons and groups quizzed Captain Thompson about the usefulness of the proposed canal from here to the Atlantic after his vessel was moored at the handball.

He told them all that it undoubtedly would attract heavy shipping and would result in economical transportation for many products.

His main enthusiasm though was for the imports from Latin American countries.

Capt. Thompson outlined one instance of economy:

If the materials he is loading on the Corinto here had to be trucked to one of the Florida ports it would take a large number of trucks to haul the 115 tons under the legal load limits. The shipper would have to pay the cost of haulage to the port and the loading charges. By loading in port at Sanford, the shipper has to pay only the loading costs in addition to the charter price of the ship.

Water transportation via a canal and the St. Johns would bring on more competitive shipping rates, he pointed out.

"No doubt about it, a canal across Florida would stir up a tremendous amount of shipping," he said. "And a canal of the right size from here to the Atlantic would do plenty of business on its own."

Thompson did put a restriction on the type and size canal he thinks would be successful for commercial shipping.

"They would have to make it large enough and deep enough to handle the big ships. We draw about eight and a half feet aft and seven feet forward and this type vessel is ideal for cross state waterways, but it would have to be able to handle the big ones, too," he explained.

The Corinto ran around four times making the trip on the St. Johns, but the difficulties were on some of the sharp turns in the river and didn't delay the ship too much.

The veteran captain is sailing the Corinto for Delta Lines of Tampa. He is the cousin of Dr. Dan Mathers of Sanford, but this was his first trip on the St. Johns in a vessel as large as the cargo ship.

Chief engineer W. D. Koebuck is the only other American aboard the Corinto. The mate, Frank Hutchins, is from British Guiana, as are some of the crew. The others are from Honduras, Nicaragua and Spain.
