Volusia deputies chase criminals to Sanford zoo

The Volusia County Sheriff's Office pursued three suspects in a truck across the Seminole County line

Tuesday at approximately 2:45 p.m, according to police. The suspects reportedly attempted to steal a fourwheeler from an Orange City business when the owner thwarted the crime by alerting the county sheriff's office.
Deputies chased the speeding truck south on U.S. Highway 17-92 through DeBary and eventually into Seminole County, said VCSO spokesman Gary Davidson. With the help of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and the Sanford Police Department two of the fleeing suspects who abandoned the vehicle were arrested near the Central Florida Zoological Park. The suspect's vehicle was located at approximately 3 p.m. on a dirt road less than a mile east of the zoo. The vehicle was empty and the third suspect was still loose as of 5 p.m.

Tuesday,
The SCSO helicopter and several K-9 units were combing the dense and marshy lands to the east of the zoo where they believe they had the suspect cornered. Additional units guarded the railroad tracks as to make sure the suspect couldn't flee farther south to State Road

Hope in sight for kidnapped missionaries

SANFORD — Two Sanford-based missionaries held captive in the Philippines by an Islamic extremist group with possible ties to Osama bin Laden may be released after the new year.

The Burnhams were taken hostage in May while celebrating their wedding anniversary at a island resort. The Muslim sect Abu Sayyaf has claimed responsibility for the kidnappings, and information gathered after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks points to a possible con-

Wendy's to film new campaign in Sanford

By Dan Ping

SANFORD — In the midst of finalizing plans for the city's Riverwalk project and revitalizing 1st Street, city officials are preparing for an unexpected transformation: from Central Florida hot spot to Midwestern

Wendy's, the fast-food chain, has selected Sanford as the location to shoot four commercials for its new national advertising campaign that will tout the restaurant's birthplace, Dublin, Ohio.

"We'll have signs up in town that say
'Welcome to Dublin," said Linda Kai, a location scout for Wendy's production company. "We'll recreate Dublin in Sanford."

Kai said Sanford was selected after an extensive search in Florida. We looked at sites all over Florida, from Ocala to Fort Lauderdale and from the east coast to the west coast," Kai said. "We looked at a lot of towns, DeLand, Mount Dora. Sanford was the right fit."

City loan bails out Chamber

Local business group owes $25,000 and has just $382 in the bank

By Dan Ping

Commission approved Monday a loan for up to $40,000 to the Sanford Chamber of Commerce to bail the agency out of its financial woes.

Under the terms of the agreement, the city agreed to release $25,000 immediately to pay bills and meet payroll expenses. An additional $15,000 could be approved Jan. 14 when the Chamber provides a business plan on how it intends to plan on how it intends to become financially solvent.

"We want to give them the ability to turn the economics around," said Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard.

The $40,000 loan would be in addition to the $25,000 the city annually gives the Chamber for operating expenses.

The Chamber's director, Angelina Gordon, and president, Brian Volk, told commissioners the agency has bills for utilities and other services total-ing $24,942, some as much as three months past due.

Gordon said the reason for the past due bills is threefold: membership renewals are down, the Chamber's billing procedures make it difficult to track revenue, and the agency was without a director for three months.

Gordon took over the Chamber director's job in late August and told commissioners

A yard sale without the hard sell

By Michelle Jeria Managing Editor

SANFORD — In the spirit of the season, a local church lived up to the philosophy, "it is better to give than to receive," by sponsoring a yard sale where everything was free.

First Baptist Church of Sanford hosted earlier this month its first free yard giveaway. Members of the church donated items for the event and invited members of the commu-nity to "shop" without spending money. "I encouraged the church to consider Corinthians 9:6-15," First Baptist Pastor Rick Blythe said. "We are told to remember that whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows generously will also reap generously."

In January, church members plan to initiate a debt-reduction program, which will allow the church to pay back a loan sooner than expected, Blythe said. Thankful for the financial opportunity, church members wanted to give something back to the First Baptist Church of Sanford pastor Rick Blythe promotes the free garage sale his church hosted.

Several members suggested hosting a garage sale and using the proceeds for the debt-reduction program, he said. The final decision was to expand on the original idea and sponsor a yard sale minus the price tags.

"Churches are sometimes seen as always wanting something," Blythe said. "We wanted to show that our church gives back to the community.

"It gave us the opportunity to be the kind of community church we want to be. This was for the city of Sanford."

At Blythe's request, the congregation started collecting hundreds of quality items for the event. When the time for the sale See Sale, Page 9A arrived, the congregation filled the parking lot with furniture, clothing, toys and numerous other items.

We had so many nice things," Blythe said. "I was really blown away by it all."

Even without a lot of fanfare and publicity, community members flocked to the church's sale. During a four-hour period, people "purchased" items using tickets distributed by church members.

The ticket system allowed people to choose a limited amount of items depending on an article's value. For example,

Roommate's gifts to girl make boyfriend appear cheap

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and a freshman in college. I have been dating my girlfriend "Holly" for about eight months.

Abby

My roommate is also friends with Holly, and that is the problem. He treats Holly like she is a princess and gives her extravagant gifts, sometimes for no reason at all. This irritates me because it makes me look like a terrible boyfriend.

I cannot approach him about it since he is my roommate, and I have to live with him for the rest of the year. Holly realizes that • • • it irritates me, but I can't have her say anything because then it would be extremely weird whenever she comes to visit -

DEAR CONFUSED: You must speak up. For your mommate to buy expensive gifts for Holly, knowing she is your girlfriend, is inappropriate. (If you and Holly break up -THAT'S the time he should make his move, but

For Holly to accept those gifts is insensitive. You're certainly within your rights to let them both know this bothers you. And there's no time like the present to make your roommate aware of your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My wife recently had her yearly mammogram and we are grateful it came out

I asked my wife if she continues to check her breasts between the mammograms. Her response was yes, but that she wasn't quite sure what to look for. Her physician told her, "You will know it when you find it." I am not sure this was a clear enough answer.

Why don't doctors have on hand one synthetic breast WITH a lump and one WITHOUT to enable the patient to know exactly what she is looking for? In my opinion, it would be a good idea for men also to be taught what to look for in the male breast.

I could suggest this to the medical profession, but I am afraid it wouldn't get the attention it deserves. Your column is a better way to get the word out.

JOHN COLOMBE, INDIANAPOLIS

DEAR JOHN: I believe you've hit on something. I'm pleased to spread the word.

While not all women's breasts feel the same, a model with various sized "lumps" could be a lifesaver for a lot of people - men included. Many men are not aware that they, too, can have breast cancer. Although it is less common in men, there is definitely a risk for males too.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from "Surprised Wife in Oklahoma City," whose son had asked for his deceased father's military records. The widow was shocked to discover they contained a reference to her husband having been before a board of inquiry for striking an officer. She said her husband had never mentioned it to her or his family because it would have been a "disgrace."

Abby, I see no disgrace here. The function of a court of inquiry is to inquire into a situation and determine whether any legal action is appropriate. Since there is no mention of a military trial in her husband's records, the court of inquiry must have determined that her husband did nothing deserving of punishment.

The Army's opinion of her husband was expressed in the wording on his honorable discharge certificate "awarded as a testimonial of honest and faithful service." If it's good enough for the military, it should be good enough for her and her son.

DICK SCHUBERT, DENVER

DEAR DICK: Thank you for the short course on the military legal system. I'm sure it will comfort the widow who wrote that letter.

Dear Abby is written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

SCC honors Kilger with Distinguished Alumni award

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

SANFORD — The graduation ceremony at Seminole Community College was an opportunity for students to learn a few last business tips from one the school's recent successful

Kyle Kilger, co-owner of Rainbow Distributors in Sanford, was the proud recipient of SCC's 2001 Distinguished Alumni during last Wednesday's graduation.

Kyle is a great "hometown hero" story, said Shelley Oulette, SCC spokeswoman.

Kilger and his wife Tami established Rainbow Distributors USA, Inc. in 1995 at their Sanford home. By 2000, they were the proud owners of a multi-million dollar company that utilized 4,500 square feet in the Central Florida Business Incubation Center (a partnership among SCC, county govern-ment, the Economic a company with a similar market Development Commission of Mid-Florida and the Seminole County Port Authority).

The Kilgers also received the National Business Incubation Association's 2000 Incubator Client of the Year award. The booming business of distributing and repackaging telecommuni-cations products for the commercial telecommunications and traffic signal industries

"hatched" last year, Kilger said. Outgrowing the incubation center, the Kilgers' moved their company this March to two 20,000 square foot warehouses in downtown Sanford. Rainbow is one of the largest companies in the Southeast for new and used traffic supplies such as cables, lights, poles and boxes, said Kilger. The distributors also have customers as far as Canada and the West Coast.

The company's initial incepa company with a similar market niche. "They really didn't do things like I thought they should be done," Kilger said about his former employer.

He credits much of his company's success to the incubation center for helping to foster the company through it's infancy to like a "teenager on steroids."
"They will help you from A to Z," Kilger said.

According to Oulette, business incubation catalyzes the process of starting and growing companies by providing entre-preneurs with the expertise, networks and tools they need to make their ventures successful. Research shows that 87 percent of companies that graduate from incubation programs are still in business and recently there were more than 800 of these programs in North America — up from 12

She also said the Chamber's current billing system makes It difficult to track when renewals are due. Each business has a different renewal date based on when it signed up for membership. Instead of sending a group of bills at one time, the Chamber must mail bills daily, making it difficult to track who has paid and to establish an appropriate budget.' Gdrdon said she plans to change all member renewal dates to Jan. 1.

"If everybody gets a bill at approved a $1 million loan to the same time, then in 90 days, Orlando-Sanford Airport we know exactly who has paid Authority. That agreement, and who hasn't,"

During a meeting on Friday, Gordon and Volk informed Lessard of the Chamber's financial troubles and asked if the city would give the Chamber $10,000. Lessard said he was not agreeable to giving Chamber the money, but suggested the two ask the City Commission for a loan to pay its bills and become Commissioner Whitey Eckstein questioned whether the city should loan money to an organization without seeing details about how it intends to become financially solvent. He pointed out the airport is owned by the city and commissioners are provided with regular reports about its activities.

Lessard said. "Just paying off said. "We know a lot more the bills la not enough."

Lessard noted the city had port than we do with the Gordon said the Chamber would provide commissioners with a business plan by their next meeting on Jan. 14. However, she said the agency needed the money immediately.

"I have $382 in the account and payroll is due on Dec. 27," Gordon said.

In addition to the business plan, Lessard said he would demand oversight authority and monthly reports on membership increases and retention.

"If we loan the money to the Chamber, the city gets to assert themselves," Lessard said. "We get to be privy to the books."

Commission approved the loan agreement 4-1, with Eckstein casting the dissenting

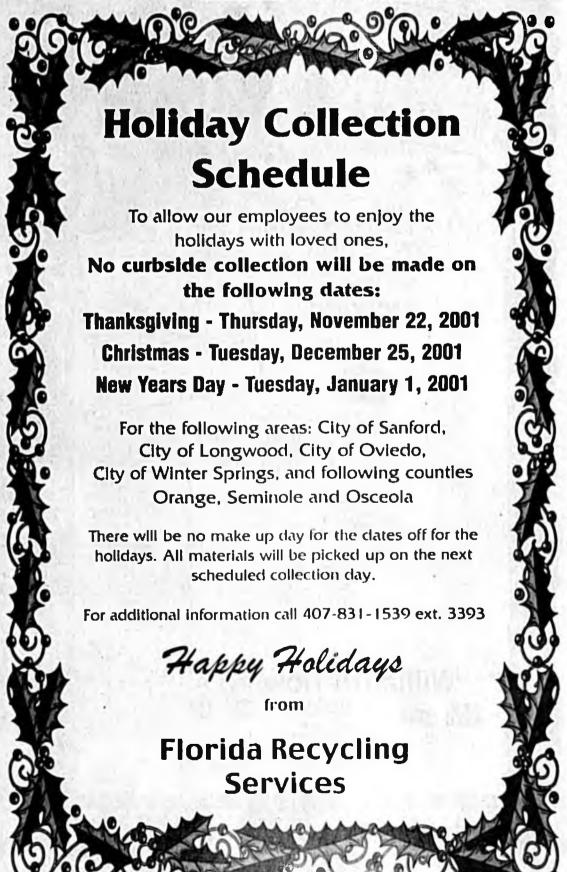

Eckstein said he understood the importance of a local chamber of commerce, but disagreed with approving a loan without first seeing a plan.

"I think we are setting a bad precedent here," said Eckstein, who quickly added, "I'll help with fund-raising."

residents complained at monthly meetings designed by various area officials to clean-up the community, said Sally Sherman, deputy county manager. Members of the Reddick Memorial Church across the street from the garage also complained to the sheriff's office that some of the activities were disrupting their services, said Olson.

The alleged ringleader, Lorenzo Johnson, 48, of Sanford, was arrested for possession of marijuana, cocaine and drug paraphemalia and establishing a gambling facility.

According to the police report, playing cards, large amounts of money, scratch sheets with names of football teams and schedules, betting sheets, and televisions were recovered from the garage. Large amounts of snack foods on racks and a various assortment of beer in the refrigerator also implicated Johnson as running a business without any licenses.

The community meetings will continue Jan. 3 at 7 p.m. at the Progress Missionary Baptist dence. Church in Midway as officials help residents identify problems and areas of improvement.

On Jan. 5, the county government and the sheriff's office will also sponsor a Community Clean-up Day. The effort will focus on removing debris and trash, and will target junk vehi-cles, condemned buildings and code violations. The clean-up effort will additionally provide assistance to senior citizens, some of whom need help with home maintenance and security.

By showing proof of performance, the sheriff's office is hoping it can obtain a federal Weed and Seed Grant designed to help fight crime and promote community renewal, said Olson.

"The ultimate goal is to go and basically develop a system to weed out the bad elements and plant the seed to improve the quality of life," Sherman said. Others arrested in the gam-

A half dozen years ago, a similar hostage situation occurred and the Philippine government refused to negotiate with the Sayyaf. Wendy's

Kai said the commercials will focus on the restaurant's hometown origins and feature Sanford's downtown, as well as homes in the historic district.

The homes were definitely a draw," Kai said. She also noted that city officials had been very cooperative to work with.

Kai wouldn't reveal which specific sites have been chosen.

"When they see all the lights, it will be easy to figure out," she said. "We'll be shooting at a lot of sites in town, and we've put together a neighborhood letter to let people know what is going

Twelve large trucks and a team of 60 crew members will roll into town the first week of January, with filming to begin the second week. The production will also use about 45 extras, many of which already have been filled.

"The casting is pretty much complete," said Kal, a free-lance location scout who recently completed work for "America's Most Wanted" in Osceola County.

In addition to the national exposure, the city will benefit economically, though Kai said it's difficult to put an exact dollar amount on the financial

"The revenue will be in a lot of unforeseen things," she said. "We'll need props so we might have to buy things from the antique stores or sporting goods stores. things."

The commercials are a shift in marketing for Wendy's, which currently uses the restaurant's founder, Dave Thomas, in most of its advertising. Since marketing campaigns usually have a long shelf life, Sanford may be the site of future Wendy's commercials.

"They very well could come back and film the next round of commercials here," Kai said. "For Wendy's to choose Sanford to showcase its new national campaign is a big honor."

Lions roar back, but Bears get

WINTER SPRINGS - Oncebeaten Winter Springs appeared headed to an unexpectedly easy victory over fellow once-beaten Ovledo Monday night. But as usual, looks can be deceiving.

After building a 24-point lead, 52-28, after three periods, the Bears looked like certain

But things are never certain when playing a young team, and the Lions caught fire in the fourth period, keyed by backto-back three-pointers by Junior Breanna Banfield, as the visitors came within four points, 56-52, with 1:40 to play.

But experience in tough situations paid off for Winter Springs as senior's Missy Guadagnino and Jen Forst combined to make 8-of-8 free throws in the final 1:14 to give the Bears a 66-58 victory.

The strange thing about the free throw excellence was that to that point, Winter Springs was just 10-for-22 from the charity stripe and had missed six in a row, including the front end of a pair of one-and-one's.

Forst led the Bears with 27 points and 18 rebounds, while Guadagnino scored 14 points, handed out four assists and came up with three steals.

Sally Johnston also had a nice game for the home team with seven points, 10 assists and nine rebounds.

For the Lions, sophomore Whitney Tossie had 25 points and 11 rebounds.

Force also had a big game on Friday, scoring 25 points and See Girls, Page 2B

Rebounding Robby

DuPre leads Seminole to 55-31 romp over Bears

By Dean Smith Sports Editor

SANFORD — Robby DuPre was not about to have two off games in a row.

Seminole High School's 6-foot-6 senior forward had a huge game, especially in the second half, as Arrow Force X (3-3) ran past undersized Winter Springs, 55-31, Friday night at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

DuPre, who was held to four points and five rebounds in a loss to Lyman, bounced back to outscore and outrebound the Bears (4-4), by himself.

DuPre scored 35 points, 19 in the second half, and pulled down 22 rebounds, 17 in the final 16 minutes.

The rebound total, which included 14 offensive boards. 12 in the second half, was just three caroms short of the single-game school record of 25 set in 1972 by Clifford Martin. Seminole jumped out to a 14-6 lead after one quarter and stretched the advantage for 29 13 at halftime.

Marcus Robinson also had a good night for Arrow Force X, scoring 11 points, grabbing nine rebounds and blocking three shots.

Seminole's defense was also outstanding, holding Winter Springs to just 10-for-43 (23.3percent) from the floor, including a woeful 1-for-19 (0.53-percent) from three-point range. See Boys, Page 2B

Friday night proved to be a big one for two of the top senior boys basketball players in Seminole County. Seminole's Robby DuPre (No. 44, above) scored 35 points, 19 in the second half, making 14-of-26 shots from the floor, 1-of-3 three-point attempts, and 6-of-11 from the free throw line and also hauled down 22 rebounds, 17 in the second half, to lead Arrow Force X to a 55-31 thumping of Winter Springs at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium. Lake Howell's McArthur Walker (No. 23, left) scored 21 points to lead the Silver Hawks to a 50-39 upset of previously undefeated Lyman at home. Both Seminole (3and Lake Howell (5-3) are now headed off to tournaments for the next two weeks, Arrow Force X at DeLand this week and Lake Mary next week, and the Silver Hawks headed to Clearwater this week and Bishop Moore next week.

FWC stresses boating safety

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE N The holiday season brings parties and parades, and they don't all take place on land. Here in Florida, we like to celebrate on the water, too. The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FWC), Division of Law Enforcement is urging boaters to be safe this holiday season by following state laws and boat-

With the increase in social events and parties comes an increase in alcohol consumption and cases of vessel operators boating under the influence (BUI) of alcohol. As always, FWC officers will be strictly enforcing Florida's BUI laws, which are among the toughest in the nation.

"We want all Florida residents and visitors to be aware of the consequences of drinking and boating," said Capt. Paul Ouellette, FWC boating law administrator. "Our BUI laws are very similar to driving under the influence (DUI) laws for operating a vehicle on land. In fact, a person's prior driving under the influence charge will count as a previous conviction if that person is found guilty of boating under the influence."

Safety officials also want boaters to understand fully the navigation rules, particularly as they apply to lighting requirements. Boat parades are popular events this time of year, and people need to be aware that lights which can be mistaken for navigation lights cannot be exhibited on a boat.

Decorative holiday lights can be displayed on a vessel only if that vessel is taking part in a sanctioned, permitted marine event. Otherwise, they are not allowed on boats. Extra lighting on a boat can be distracting and hinder an operator's ability to navigate safely.

"Understanding Florida's boating safety laws will help all of us have a happy and safe holiday season on the water," Ouellette said. "Remember the FWC slogan - Stay Afloat * Don't Drink &

Marshall shines in All-Star Game

Lake Howell High School star Brandon Marshall (No. 14, above) caught what proved to be the game-winning catch when he hauled in a 30-yard scoring strike from New Smyrna Beach's Chad Schilsky midway through the second quarter to give his squad a 14-0 lead and the East held on for a 14-9 victory over the West in the Central Florida All-Star Game at Showalter Field in Winter Park Friday night.

Vacation Express plans to bring 350,000 additional passengers through OSI

SANFORD - More than three months after the Sept. 11 terrorists attacks put the major players in the airline industry in an economic tailspin, officials at Orlando-Sanford International Airport continue to

Group raises $14,000 to help families at Christmas

By Michelie Jeria Managing Editor

CASSELBERRY -Members of a local Veterans organization are doing everything they can to make sure more than 60 Seminole families have a merry Christmas.

The Casselberry Veterans Inc., and Ladies Auxiliary raised more than $14,000 to buy gifts, clothing and food for 67 local families, sald Don Coleman, junior vice president of Casselberry Veterans Inc. During the weeks before Christmas, volunteers spent numerous hours buying and wrapping hundreds of presents for more than 170 chil-

"We do this because we want to help our community," Coleman said. "We want every child to have toys and clothes for Christmas."

As the organization's biggest charity event, fund-raising for the annual Needy Family Christmas Basket effort began in January. The main source of revenue for the fund was the club's weekly Wednesday dinner, with raffles and other money-raising events supplementing the venture.

Casselberry Veterans Inc., which boasts a membership of more than 600 men and women, initiated the Christmas basket project in 1997 by helping about 10 families with their holiday needs. Five years later, the club sextupled the number of people helped by the project and raised more money than expected.

As a result of this year's successful fund-raising, each family will receive a gift basket with food, clothing, non-perishables and numerous presents for each child,

Casselberry Veterans Inc., President Dick Moriarty said. The gifts reflect the child's age and Christmas wish. The kids were asked what their likes and dislikes are, and they pretty much got what they wanted," Moriarty said.

Families are selected to participate in the program through recommendations from local schools, case workers from various social service organizations and Casselberry Veterans Inc., members.

State lifts West Nile alert in 53 counties

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Florida Department of Health announced Wednesday that it will lift the West Nile Virus and Eastern Equine Encephalitis medical alert that covers 53 counties - including Seminole - at the end of the year.

"In general, all the sentinels [chickens] we've been doing have shown a downward trend in mosquito activity," said Dr. Lisa Conti of the state health department.

Although the medical alert will be lifted, state officials are still advising care in rural areas of high mosquito counts. These added precautions are due to the fact that 2001 was the first year for the West Nile Virus in the state, and officials are unsure if the virus will completely subside before next year's mosquito season.

"We're just not sure what to expect of the West Nile Virus," Conti said.

She urges all residents to wear mosquito repellent if they know mosquitoes are a in their area. A total of 11 West Nile human cases and three Eastern equine cases were

Longwood debates barring vinyl siding

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Longwood city commissioners Monday night approved one ordinance and sent another one back to the drawing board.

Commissioners unanimously approved an ordinance that establishes a city manual of design standards for streets, stormwater systems and subdivisions. The 14-chapter 100page ordinance will act as a city public works manual to ensure consistency in development of public right-of-ways.

A second ordinance came under scrutiny from several commissioners including Steve Miller. If approved the ordinance would have regulated appearance requirements for single-family residential structures in more than 30 city subdiseveral weeks ago in reference to a manufactured home being built in the Longwood Green neighborhood.

The ordinance was drafted

It looks like a storage shed you can't miss it," said Commissioner Butch Bundy. The residents are extremely Irate about It."

According to Bundy, the cities of Maitland and Casselberry have similar ordinances restricting subdivisions. "I question the necessity of the whole ordinance," said Mayor Paul Lovestrand.

Bundy assured commissioners that several homeowners associations were "very much in favor" of the ordinance. Subdivisions without an architectural review board were particularly in favor of it, he said.

Miller debated the strict nature of the ordinance that would of disbarred vinyl siding and flat roofs in the established aubdivisions.

"It looks like an attempt to disallow mobile homes from someone's subdivision, but it goes way beyond that," Miller said.

whole thing is ridiculous in my eyes aubdivisions should have the right to govern themselves."

The agenda item failed with a 3 to 2 vote with Bundy and Commissioner John Maingot voting in favor of it. However, commissioners agreed to hear the ordinance again after some the more strict items were removed.

Miami thieves caught after gunpoint robbery

From Staff Reports

Seminole and Orange County deputies captured three suspects Friday morning, who are accused of a late night hold-up at the Publix grocery store at Howell Branch Road and State Road 426 in Seminole County.

The suspects, Macius Webster, 20, Harold Vixamar, 21, and William Jackson, 21, allegedly held up the manager and two employees of the Publix as they were locking up the store for the night. It happened around 11:15 p.m. Thursday. The suspects reside in Miami, but may have been staying in the Pine Hills area.

The victims said that three to four black male subjects, wearing Halloween masks, forced them back into the store at gunpoint. The employees stated they were forced to give up their wallets while the manager was forced at gunpoint to turn of the store alarm and then go into the cash room.

Once inside, he was then ordered to open the safe and empty the safe's contents into garbage can. He further stated that he was also forced to turi over his wallet. He was then pist tol-whipped by one of the subjects and told not to dial 911. He called 9-1-1 when the suspects

A witness, who was working at a pizza parlor nearby, stated that she noticed a suspicious car, with no license tag, stop in front of her business. She later saw the vehicle pull down to the entrance of the Publix. The witness then observed three sub-
