British Move To Get Ready For Invasion

Allies Claim Recapture Of Abbeville, Arras As Counter-Attacks Are Made

Frenchmen Feel More Optimistic

Reichenau Waits Word To Launch Gigantic Flanking Attack

A "dictatorship" bill to marshal all Britain's wealth and manpower in the fight against invasion was rushed into law today as the French claimed the recapture of Arras and Abbeville, to which the Germans had penetrated in their drive toward the English channel.

Parliament quickly assented to the war emergency power's bill, the government had demanded because of the empire's peril.

Across the channel, Allied counter-attacks apparently were relieving some pressure on British troops, fighting with their backs to the sea in the "pocket" in Belgium.

A French military spokesman said German advance guards had been "chased out" of Abbeville, 12 miles from the channel, and Arras, to the east, also was retaken.

Optimism spread through France in the way of the day's news.

In the German drive on Paris, according to an unconfirmed report by "informed circles" in Berlin, the Nazis may have captured Reims, the famed World War battleground—only 40 miles northwest of the French capital.

On the Western Front, in Flanders, Col. Gen. Walther von Reichenau, commander of the German army, is reported to be planning the release of what he described as the "most powerful right wing army ever to flank an enemy."

Reichenau's troops were poised to attack a half million Allied soldiers in the "fields where people grow."

Today's heaviest fighting centered in the fire-scarred triangle north of the Somme River, ranging from Amiens to Arras, to Abbeville, eastward to the Cambrai sector.

Under the British bill, excess profits taxes were raised to 100 percent to avoid war profiteering. All wealth, property, and labor resources were under government control.

A suddenly renewed alarm in southeastern Europe came from Rumania, where the general staff called 500,000 reservists to the colors on 24 hours' notice.

PARIS, May 22.—(AP)—Premier Reynaud, addressing the senate under the black shadow of German invasion, yesterday issued an anguished appeal to the French and others "far off" to rally to the Allied cause.

"They are beginning to understand that it will be the same to them if everyone within it too," he declared.

"They are beginning to understand that they themselves and their future are involved. May they understand before it is too late!"

Ambulance Corps Men Unreported

Four U. S. Drivers Are Missing Today; Group Last Seen Near Fallen City

PARIS, May 22.—(AP)—Four young members of the American ambulance unit operating in the northern war zone were missing today as officials expressed the belief that five others previously reported missing were dead or German prisoners.

The four reported missing today were last seen driving ambulances of wounded south of a town now in German hands. Another driver was reported wounded.

Latest additions to the mission list: Donald C. Taylor, New York; John C. Brown, Brooklyn; George King, New York; Gregory Waite, Springfield, Vt.

Spectre Of Nazi Victory In Europe Unnerves Market

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—The spectre of a German victory in Europe again unnerved Wall Street yesterday, and the stock market its most violent setback of the war period.

Loading issues tumbled $2 to $13 to the lowest general level in two years, but thanks to a last-minute comeback which cancelled about a quarter of the declines in many instances, the loss for the day on the average was no worse than last Tuesday's.

Commodities were also subject to heavy squalls of selling, wheat at Chicago fluctuating a few cents above the Saturday's final price, below which exchanges have ruled no sales may be made.

Final prices were off only 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 cents a bushel, cutting off about a third of Monday's rise.

Wall street investment circles said the collapse of stock prices—reducing the total quoted value of listed shares by about $9,000,000,000—less than two weeks' general uncertainty—was over what a German victory, with sweeping extension of Nazi economies into world affairs would do to the American economy.

Much of the selling was said to have come from investors' strong boxes, rather than from speculative accounts. Some selling was reported from Shanghai in the morning, but on the whole, brokers thought foreign selling a minor factor. As a matter of fact, prices improved in both the London and Paris markets, but Wall Street did not attach importance to that, in view of rigid controls at work in those markets.

Bonds, along with stocks, were sold heavily, although United States government issues held up relatively well. Foreign government issues were generally lower, with the notable exception of the long depressed German issues.

The German government 7 percent issue picked up $1.25 to a price of $123.75, or $1000 par value bond, almost double the level of a few weeks ago.

Stock exchange authorities said despite the volume of liquidation, the situation at no time seemed to be getting out of hand as bids were plentiful at declining prices. It was said exchange officials felt emergency measures to control trading were entirely unnecessary.

Sales totaled 3,939,510 shares, largest since last Sept. 12. Cotton futures tumbled $1.29 to $11.75 a bale, and wool tops about $ to 5-3/4 cents a pound. Raw hide futures dipped about a cent a pound and such staples as sugar, copper, cocoa and rubber went to lower prices. It was noted imported as well as domestic staples were depressed.

Livestock Market For Sanford Is Apparently Assured, Officials Say

The proposed livestock auction market which is planned as an addition to the present facilities at the Sanford State Farmers' Wholesale Market, officials here said today, is apparently assured.

Those interested in the project, which is now being drawn up by an architect of the department, and to submit a WPA project for this work as soon as practical.

Those interested in the construction of a cattle market have had to overcome several obstacles in the way of this project. The last one was the lack of funds in the Agriculture Commissioner's budget for this work. Due to the 1-1/2 percent cost of fund inspection and the curtailment of revenues from this source because of the drastic reduction of the volume of stock shipped from this state as a result of the January cold.

Mayo told a local group last week that the operating budget of his department is near completion.

The City, County, the Market Supervisory Committee and interested persons, have shown their interest in this market and its developments, however, by offering to assume responsibility for part of the sponsor's share of this work.

The delegation will contact Mr. Goggins immediately to work out plans for beginning the work, Mr. Higgins said.

Those conferring with Mr. Wilson during his short and unexpected visit here yesterday were Market Manager H. J. Lehman, Ralph B. Wight and Edward Higgins.

He mentioned that the next meeting of the club will be held on Monday night, June 4.

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—The Senate approved the $1,473,756,728 Navy appropriations bill today, hastening the Administration's extraordinary national defense program far toward final Congressional action.

The approval, which came with speed like that with which the Army's share of the program was swept through the Senate yesterday, came shortly after the White House announced that President Roosevelt would speak to the nation Sunday night on the state of the defense needs and condition.

A total of 2,970 airplanes, 2,100 of which would be training ships to fill the needs of an expanding training program would be provided under terms of the Navy bill. Counting on a relatively small number of very modern aircraft, most of them would be the Navy's present air fleet of 1,500 existing planes and 500 being built.
