

Kidnapped Girl Is Rescued By Posse; Parolle Accused

MCLESTER, Okla., Apr. 4.—(AP)—Sixteen year old Jackie Parris was liberated early today from a 23-year old convict who admitted to officers he abducted the girl and her high school skating date Sunday night.

The girls was found about 1 A. M. huddled beside a fire under a rock ledge atop Blue Mountain in the San Bois Range, nine miles south of Kinta. Kinta is 35 miles northeast of McAlester in eastern Oklahoma.

On the other side of the fire, his head buried in his hands, sat Robert M. Phillips, Pittsburg county Sheriff Bill Alexander had issued a warrant for his arrest on suspicion of kidnaping last night.

Phillips made no attempt to escape when a posse of 13 men led by Chester Palmer, Kinta sawmill operator, surrounded him. Phillips was unarmed except for a pocket knife.

"I told him to stay where he was and not to make any trouble or we'd save the state some money," Palmer said. "The girl started crying and said she sure was glad to see us."

"I guess we got there about two hours too late. She said he took her into a tin pipeline shack about 200 yards away and raped her about two hours before we got there. Up until then he hadn't bothered her."

Phillips admitted to Police Chief Roy Sanders that he took the girl to the shack and molested her. But he said he never actually harmed her.

Seventeen year old Bill Coghill, the girl's high school sweetheart, swung at Phillips but was restrained by officers when the two came face to face at the Pittsburg county jail here.

Coghill was marked with the girl outside of McAlester's skating rink Sunday night when a man forced himself into their car and made them drive to Kinta.

The car was stuck in a creek south of Kinta several hours later and the abductor walked away with the girl, threatening Coghill who did not follow.

Coghill had been held in technical custody ever since Monday morning when he spread an alarm that the Parris girl had been kidnaped.

Last night he identified a picture of Phillip as the girl's abductor.

Pittsburg county attorney S. F. Brown said he was preparing kidnap charges against Phillips.

There was no indication whether other charges would be filed in Haskell county, where Kinta is located.

Phillips was on parole from a 3-year sentence in the El Reno (Okla.) Federal Reformatory for car theft.

He had been arrested several times by McAlester police. The last time—about two years ago—he paid a $20 fine for molesting women.

Royal Welcome To Greet Mush Moore After 6,000 Miles

LEWISTON, Me., Apr. 4.—(AP)—A royal welcome home today awaited Cecil A. (Mush) Moore at the end of his 6,000-mile dog sled trek from Alaska.

The bearded traveler and his nine huskies trotted out of Gray in fine fettle for the last 20 miles of a trip begun in Fairbanks in November, 1949.

Two brass bands mustered to meet Mush, his dogs and a state police escort for a parade to the official reception at Lewiston city hall.

Mayors Ernest Malenfant of Lewiston and Edward M. Field of Auburn, other officials of the two cities and members of the Lions Club were the welcoming delegation.

Moore undertook his cross-continental journey to raise money for the Lions' underprivileged children fund.

He sloshed from Portland to Gray yesterday in a driving rainstorm. His drenched dogs were sheltered for the night in Frank Lynch's barn.

All the way from Alaska his trip was a triumph over nature.

He originally planned to cover the 6,000 miles in 120 days or less. But he didn't count on frigid Alaskan temperatures, sizzling Minnesota heat, a siege of grippe, 40 pups born to his sled dogs during the trip, or an attack by wolves in Canadian wilderness.

One thing Mush did count on was the absence of snow along much of his route. He equipped his sled with both runners and rubber wheels.

He began his journey with 11 dogs. One was killed in the wolf attack just after he left Alaska. Another fell victim to a North American rattlesnake. The nine others were with him all the way.

Sam Michael, Moore's manager and a past president of the Lions Club, said sale of scheduled envelopes carried on Moore's sled will raise a fund, as planned. "The trip so far has not brought in any money, in fact it has not paid expenses by any means," Michael said.

Country has been celebrating the event, off and on, since 1878.

Legislature Meets

ville is chairman. Others on the committee are Baynard of St. Petersburg and Gautier of Miami.

Rep. Murray of Polk is rounding up co-sponsors for the same measure he will introduce in the House.

The bills would require public officials to make sworn statements of their financial condition when they take office; prohibit a person from owning stock in more than one race track; provide for the recall of public officials.

They also would have mandatory jail sentences for convicted officers of the insurance business; authorize revocation of licenses of hotels which permit gambling and outlaw political contributions by race track directors and stockholders.

The House adopted the Rules Committee recommendations with little debate, and the Senate voted to go by its 1949 rules with only a few minor changes.

The first batch of bills and proposed constitutional amendments introduced in the new session would:

- Set up a revised code of laws for the insurance business.
- Abolish the constitutional game and fresh water fish commission.
- Permit the Legislature to call itself into special session by a three-fifths vote of members.
- Only the Governor can do it now.
- Redivide the counties into eight groups to give districts to two new members of Congress.
- Ramp up recall elections to include law enforcement officials from office, make public officials file annual sworn statements of their financial worth, and make their revisions designed to curb racketeering and official corruption.
- Senator Baynard of St. Petersburg again introduced his pet measure to place utilities under the control and supervision of the State Railroad and Public Utilities Commission.
- The measure is identical to the one passed by the Senate in 1949, but which was killed by the House Utilities Committee.
- It exempts municipally-owned and Rural Electrification Administration operated utilities from State control.
- The measure also would increase the size of the Utilities Commission from three to five members.
- House put a limitation on its rule that all committee meetings must be open to the public.
- Over objections of freshman Rep Kirkland of Orange county, the House made the open-door policy subject to a committee chairman's authority "to maintain order and decorum." It picks up the new rule from one that was in the 1949 book, and substitute it for a 1949 rule which said committee hearings must be open to the public "without exception."
- The first bill designed to redistrict the state was introduced in the House. Several others are expected to follow.
- It was offered by Reps. Surles, Murray and Smith of Polk; Pearce of Highlands; Chambers of Hardee; Hailey and Tate of Sarasota; Payne of Pasco, Phillips of Hernando and Shepperd of St. Johns.
- Here is how the state would be divided under the bill to create eight districts—an increase of two—authorized under the 1950 federal census:
 - First district—Hillsborough and Pinellas.
 - Second—Nassau and Duval.
 - Third—Escambia, Santa Rosa, Okaloosa, Walton, Holmes, Washington, Bay, Gulf, Franklin, Liberty, Calhoun, Jackson, Gadsden, Leon and Wakulla.
 - Fourth—Dade and Monroe.
 - Fifth—St. Johns, Flagler, Orange, Brevard, Osceola, Volusia, Seminole, Marion, Lake, Sumter and Citrus.
 - Sixth—Indian River, Okechobee, St. Lucie, Martin, Palm Beach, Broward, Collier, Hendry, Glades, DeSoto, Charlotte and Lee.
 - Seventh—Jefferson, Madison, Taylor, Hamilton, Suwannee, Lafayette, Dixie, Levy, Gilchrist, Alachua, Union, Columbia, Baker, Clay Polkman.
 - Eighth—Hernando, Pasco, Polk, Highlands, Hardee, Manatee and Sarasota.

Bill McCammon, Stetson University, outlined requirements for religious education. D. K. Stanley, University of Florida told of a career in stibetic directing. Dr. Ray V. Sowers of Stetson University talked on requirements needed for teaching. Edward C. Furlong of Stetson talked on accounting and book-keeping. Mrs. Charles Ginn of Sanford told of requirements for a musical career.

Harry Robson, local merchant, had a large class of boys interested in private business and retail merchandising. Postmaster Joel Field and A. C. Madden spoke on civil service. A career as a librarian was outlined by H. A. Tollefson of Rollins College. Dr. J. B. Root showed movies on science and electro chemistry.

Mrs. R. C. Slavter of Harriet's Beauty Shop had a large class of girls interested in this line of work. Miss Maxine Patterson of Stetson spoke on stenography and typing. Marine Sgt. Iron D. Wolford, Orlando, told a group of boys about opportunities for service in the Marines.

Prior to the initial morning speaking program, the visiting lecturers were introduced at assembly by Principal H. E. Morris. The high school band played several numbers and a quintette of boys sang.

Warren Calls For

address in which Warren, at the half mile post of his administration, sounded his keynote for the 1951 session of the legislature, which had just organized, and will be in session for the next 60 days.

In keeping with this keynote, the Governor asked that the Legislature tackle the different phases of price control, despite the fact that this is primarily a federal function.

"I know of no sound reason why our state government should not deal with this problem that threatens economic ruin to the people of Florida," Warren said.

Warren spoke before a throng made up of the members of both houses, the great and near great of the capital, the city of Tallahassee, and Florida, and lobbyists who jam-packed every corner of the flower-decked floor and banked galleries.

Dressed natty in blue, with polkadot blue tie, his greying parted hair neatly combed back, Warren talked with emphasis, his eyes seemingly half closed, but looking up frequently at one gallery, then other.

Only once did the audience break into applause, and that was when he called on the Legislature "not to enact any more taxes of any kind."

Later in the address a marked stic and buzz of comment swept the chamber as Warren recommended taxation of property, when sold, at full sale value, a recommendation roundly condemned later by many senate members.

Contrasted to his 1949 message, the 1951 communication from the Governor asked for little.

Two years ago, he laid down a definite tax program for "spot" taxation, which the legislature killed. But later, the Legislature provided more state revenue by enacting a sales tax—with exemptions which made it acceptable to the Governor.

In a forceful address that immediately became a highlight of the opening day of the Legislature, Wallace E. Sturgis, of Ocala new Senate president, called for open and honest welfare rolls, laws to drive the racketeers from Florida and abandonment of the message of rule of senatorial courtesy in passing on suspended public officials.

"I am sure that the eyes of an aroused citizenry are upon this body," Senator Sturgis said, after being sworn in to succeed Senator Newman C. Brackin of Crestview.

He said the Senate owes justice to the public as well as to the suspended officials, and the senate would not be disposed to prejudice any of the cases brought before it.

"I strongly feel," Sturgis said with emphasis, "that the consideration of each case must assuredly be by the senate sitting as a state-wide jury, free from any and all partisanship and free from local pressure.

"Corruption recognizes no boundaries; neither must justice."

It has long been the custom for the Senate in passing on the suspension of a public official to take the recommendation of the senator from the suspended official's district.

The matter is of outstanding importance at this session, because more than a score of sheriffs, school board members and others have been suspended, and the senate will be asked to pass on 18 of them for reinstatement or rejection.

Discussing crime, Sturgis said he was convinced the Legislature would pass laws to curb the activities of racketeers, thugs and hoodlums.

He called attention to a crime study made by Senator Shands of Gainesville, Baynard of St. Petersburg and Gautier of Miami who have prepared a number of bills for the suppression of crime, probably to be introduced today.

"I am convinced that this Legislature will pass laws curbing the activities of criminals as much as possible," Sturgis said, "clearly demonstrating that such lawbreakers are not welcome in our state."

He said no state function has provoked greater public criticism than the distribution of relief, and more than one remedial step must be taken "to restore public confidence in the belief that only those who should get relief are in fact getting this money."

"Among the remedial steps to be considered is the matter of opening the relief rolls to inspection under proper safeguards; another is the imposition of strict liability and responsibility for support of illegitimate children upon their parents; another is a similar imposition upon grown children of means for the support of their parents."

"These demands of the people will receive your careful deliberation and will be translated into intelligent and humanitarian legislation."

Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Apr. 4.—(AP)—After 50 years in show business, Lewis Stone admitted today he is keeping an eye on the new medium, television.

"Oh, I don't expect to get into it for some time to come," he added. "But I bought a set so I could keep an eye on television. It's not because I like it; I think the quality of entertainment is improving, but still has far to go. No, I'm watching it because it's new."

Stone doesn't seem too pleased that MGM press agents have discovered this in his 50th year as an actor. (And that his current "Banterline" is his 50th MGM picture).

"It's just a date on the calendar," he shrugged. "I think it's a bore. The only comment someone could make is 'so what?'"

"I am reminded of the news story about one of the remaining G.I. veterans, a boy of 107 years or so. Naturally, he was asked to what he attributed his longevity. 'Well,' he replied, 'I made up my mind at the age of 65 that I would do one thing religiously—keep breathing.'"

Stone admitted that he had done pretty well for a man who became an actor more or less involuntarily. He told how it happened:

"My father's family was in the old theatrical troupe, the Bostonians, but I never had any great desire to act. I went right from high school to the Army (in the Spanish-American War). My outfit was being mustered out at the armory in New York and all of us were worried about what we would do for jobs.

"I had heard that a lot of men were needed for jobs at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and I went up there to see about it. I found out for the rest of the men just what jobs were needed, and on the way back, I happened to read a magazine. I found a story which I thought had dramatic possibilities. I worked on a play version and showed it to my uncle. He directed me to an agent who sold me on taking the place of an actor who had gotten sick in a stock company in Detroit."

Stone caught up with the company in Canada. He planned to stay with it only two weeks as a lark, but he wasn't allowed to quit without two weeks' notice.

The White House statement was directed at the man whose book, "The Man Of Independence," has been considered the most authoritative biography done on President Truman to date. Daniels had long conversations with Mr. Truman, members of his family and close friends in Missouri in the preparation of that book.

Daniels was an outspoken Southern supporter of Mr. Truman throughout the 1948 election campaign as well as in the pre-democratic convention days of that year.

Mr. Truman once offered him the post of Secretary of the Navy, which his father, Joseph Daniels, held under Woodrow Wilson.

There are nearly 4,900 miles of canals and navigable rivers in the Netherlands, someone goes to the trouble to write us in this morning's mail.

While Florida motorists are staggering under a tax burden of $34,000,000 caused by its 7 cent gasoline tax, and fears grow that additional burdens may be in the making for them, it is interesting to note that New Mexico has just cut its gas tax rate from 7 to 6 cents for a $2,000,000 saving to the motorist.

Because the people of Orange county have decided that the sale of beer on Sunday is against the public interest, Orange county citizens who can't get along without their Sunday beer are pouring into Seminole County which still believes in a high old time on Sunday.

Had Moughtin, who spent some time in England during the war, with us, about our recent paragraph suggesting banners with skull and crossbones to identify drunk drivers, that English law actually requires all motorists learning to drive to attach a large "L" meaning "Learner" on the front and aft of their car for all to see and to afford others every opportunity to give them a wide berth.

From President Edmund of Stevens University comes a message on "What Price Patriotism?" which begins, "There is no evidence to suggest that Lord Macaulay was an especially malicious individual who had to be, and if he were alive today, he might very well be rubbing his hands and preparing to say, 'I told you so.'"

And this, mind you, is achieved without the Soviet Union participating actively in a major scale. The Red fighting in Korea is being done mainly by Chinese, with Moscow supervising the show and aiding with materials.

Controlling Prices

With the exception of the usual platitudes on the prosperity of Florida, the expanding tourist business, the value of citrus, livestock and agriculture, and the increasing tax burden, and the efficiency of the various branches of his administration, Governor Warren's opening address to the Legislature made only one feeble contribution to the existing issues of the day.

He would have the State Legislature enact laws to control prices in Florida. "Steadily rising prices are making it very difficult for many Florida families to purchase the necessities of life," he says, with an amazing awareness of realities.

Under the circumstances we are not quite sure whether the Governor is serious about this State price control law, or whether he is just playing politics.

Genius Unrecognized

"One of the two or three American authors of supreme genius," Herman Melville has been called by the historian of American literature, Van Wyck Brooks. Yet his masterpiece fell flat for seventy years.

The one hundredth anniversary of Melville's novel of whaling life, "Moby Dick," is being celebrated this year. Melville had previously written some successful stories of the South Seas, so was well known when "Moby Dick" came out.

With the development and promotion of new dye processes there has come about an increased use of vivid colors. The decoration of homes perhaps gives the widest scope to this brightening process. The kitchen and bathroom, formerly glaring white citadels of sanitation, have become fields for originality on the part of the housewife.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3—(AP)—In calling labor leaders to a White House conference tomorrow, President Truman is doing what President Roosevelt did.

Early in 1941, when the defense program was getting under way, Mr. Roosevelt created the National Defense Mediation Board (NDMB). Its purpose: to try to settle peacefully disputes between management and labor.

It exploded in November, 1941 when some of the labor members walked out in protest against a decision by the other board members. That was the end of the board. The next month we were in the war.

On Dec. 17 President Roosevelt called a White House conference of labor and management. During the war, most of labor and management strikes and no-strikes.

Since they were giving up their right to settle a dispute by walking out or shutting down a plant, something had to be done to give them fair treatment. So Mr. Roosevelt created the War Labor Board (WLB).

And both sides agreed to submit their disputes to WLB and abide by the decisions. This board also had 12 members, four from labor, four from business, four representing the public.

It was a time of rising prices—WLB didn't come into full power—which meant labor would want higher wages when prices went higher and management would want to charge higher prices if they could.

WLB finally worked out a formula, deciding generally that no wages should be increased throughout the war more than 15 percent above what they had been in January, 1941, pretty well held to this formula.

I am a vet of World War II, who was at one time a member of the American Legion Post No. 53. Due to the fact I have had to work for $3.00 per day in 75 cents a day U. S. I was forced to quit the job I had.

I could not live on a six dollar a day wage, I have waited three months on the U. S. V. A. for domiciliary care of which I was eligible.

Now to you good people of the city of Sanford I would like to make these statements. I have no trade, I am not setting off my mother who is a welfare patient. I am a registered voter of both city and county. I know right from wrong. I am not a religious fanatic. I believe in Jehovah God and the Lord Jesus. I do not bother anyone except with my cursing.

I sold the first load of produce that went out of Sanford by truck. I am having to leave the town where I love the people for their smiles, and kind words. I hope Mr. Dean and his employees, do good here, I appreciate his interest in the town. I am glad to be friends with the Sanford Herald Press and I wish to thank the boy carriers for the kindness to a 74 year old mother.

Rotation Plan

He said the exchange of fresh men for battle veterans will eventually run to about 20,000 each month. The Army said this rate may be reached by early summer.

The rotation plan calls for the return direct to the United States of as many troops as possible, particularly in the early phases of the program.

Later, some men from Korea may be re-assigned to garrison duty in Japan or other parts of the Far East command, such as Okinawa. Even these garrison troops will eventually be brought back to the United States when the outward movement of troops begins.

The Army said returning veterans will disembark either at Seattle or San Francisco. All veterans returned to the United States will be given a chance for home leave before proceeding to their next duty stations.

The Army Department has had the rotation scheme in mind for months. Putting it into effect had to be held up because of the need for fighting men in Korea, especially after the military setbacks and losses late last year.

There are some men who have now been in Korea since the outbreak of the fighting last June. Although General MacArthur will have the final decision as to which troops are to be returned here, Army Department officials said those who have been in Korea longest likely would be the first to leave.

The start of the rotation program comes with virtual completion of the Army's drive to build all ground force units in Korea to their full combat strength. Defense officials recently said that this build-up is nearing completion.

The Marine Corps started a rotation scheme for its Korean veterans last month. Two sizable groups of Marines have already returned to the United States. Their places in the battle line were taken by men from this country.

Both the Navy and the Air Force have been using a rotation scheme for some time. One of their aims is to give a greater number of men and units experience in the Far East war.

Truman Conference

(Continued From Page One) let bases in Manchuria. That, he replied, is a question that cannot be answered because it is a military strategy question.

However military leaders here have left no doubt that if they enter the air war in Korea in strength their bases will be subjected to bombing.

As long ago as last Feb. 24, AP reporter Don Whitehead wrote from the Pentagon here that massed air or sea attacks by the enemy would trip the trigger of swift retaliation.

He said such attacks would mean there no longer would be "privileged sanctuaries" for the Communists and the war would enter an entirely new phase—of hitting the enemy at his own bases.

Hayburn made his remarks about the danger of World War during House debate yesterday on the Draft-Universal Military Training bill.

The President also described the Senate's Troop-For-Europe resolution as "further evidence that the country stands firm in its support of the North Atlantic Treaty."

Mr. Truman halted the resolution—ensuring the plan to send four additional army divisions to the Western European defense force—in a statement.

He brushed off questions about a provision his leaders in the Senate fought against bitterly. This was the declaration that Mr. Truman should not deploy more than the four divisions to Europe "without further congressional authority."

The President has taken the stand he has full constitutional power to send American troops since will best serve the nation's interest.

In effect, the Senate declaration that he should get congressional approval amounted to a challenge of that position.

But the President was in no mood at his meeting with the reporters to press the issue. In response to questions, he said he always has consulted with both houses on all major foreign policy steps.

Revenue Bureau To Fight Deductions Of Cigarette Tax

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3—(AP)—The Revenue Bureau doesn't intend to allow smokers to deduct any state cigarette tax returns from their federal income tax returns without a fight.

Officials said today the bureau has refused to "acquiesce" in a U. S. Tax Court decision ruling that the deduction is allowable in a state where the tax is applied in a certain way.

That means the bureau will appeal to a Circuit Court of Appeals and likely, if the bureau loses here, to the U. S. Supreme Court, a time-consuming process. The bureau will not allow deductions pending final decision.

The Tax Court ruling added up, in general, to saying that a deduction may be taken for state taxes that are "separately stated" and passed on to the cigarette buyer. It gave Oklahoma's tax specific approval in this respect.

The tax court ruling upheld Willard L. Thompson, an Oklahoma cement finisher who personally argued his case, in deducting $39 in cigarette taxes among other things—on his 1947 income tax return.

The bureau "acquiesced" in the court's ruling on matters other than the cigarette tax, assuring Thompson of no trouble on his other deductions.

The Princeton University Glee Club appeared last evening before a small but enthusiastic audience at the Seminole High School Auditorium. Thoroughly ingratiating themselves with the Sanford audience, the group sang a program of variety and attractiveness. The 30 men from Princeton did not appear in the stereotyped role of sophisticated Fitzgerald elegance as many people conceive. They were clean-cut youths with boyish magnetism and a slightly evident self-consciousness.

Elliot Forbes, the club's director, gives evidence of being a fine choral director. This was especially apparent in the difficult Scotch folk songs where a great variety of vocal technique is employed. The piano accompaniment was excellent.

George Newlin had by far the best voice of the soloists, which he displayed in his rendition of Gilbert and Sullivan's "I Am the Monarch of the Sea". His English characterization was good and his voice, aside from lacking sufficient training, was very good. While he has no range to speak of, his quality and diction are excellent.

Soloist M. Wells Huff, a little fellow with a comparatively big voice, was very well received. Huff did more solos than any of his colleagues. He has fine control and gives his selections an air of authority. He was especially effective in the Scotch folk song, "Bustin' Red Robin", and in the cowboy song, "Red, Hot or Die".

John Healy and Howard Graham held down the tenor solo spots. They were easy to listen to, both possessing similar, light liquid voices.

What seemed to us the highlight of the evening was the Odetta solo performed several times. Though enjoyable little ditties making use of gestures, as well as the ludicrous lyrics, to achieve their humorous effect. Attired in straw hat and carrying cans, the Odetta supplied the comic element adequately.

The last part of the program was fittingly devoted to student songs, expressing the loyalty and love for the performing school. The concluding number was a Princeton football melody given with spirit and vigor, complete with "Hah Hahs", and mention of those arch rivals Yale and Harvard.

The audience applause proved that they had put on a fine concert. They were well trained and their program was nicely varied. Sanford is fortunate to have been host to the Princeton University Glee Club.

Defensive Records May Fall When F. S. L. Season Opens On April 13

SILVER SPRINGS, Apr. 5.—(Special)—As Florida State League clubs today are within a week of starting their 12th season of play, there is reason to believe that the 1951 season will produce another record number of new club offensive and defensive marks, for the seasons of 1949 and 1950 saw 12 out of 20 club records shattered by wide margins.

Official tabulations released today by Secretary Peter Schmal at league headquarters here indicate that offensively the league was within five percentage points of the slugging season that was 1949, while defensively the clubs in 1950 had their second worst year since re-organization of the league in 1935.

Gainesville set a new high club batting mark of .289 in 1949, while the same year saw Leesburg record the lowest percentage of .221.

Last year produced five new club offensive marks, the records being: batting average, .289; runs scored, 33; home runs, 69; hits, 69; doubles, 27; triples, 13; and stolen bases, 10. Gainesville set a new high club batting mark of .289 in 1949, while the same year saw Leesburg record the lowest percentage of .221.

The 1949 season brought with it the game in which the most runs were scored by two clubs—45. This happened twice that year, the first time when St. Augustine whipped Palatka 26 to 19 on June 22, and again on Aug. 18 when the Saints routed over Leesburg, 27 to 18.

The Gainesville G-men produced 280 doubles in 1949 to tie a record set in 1939 by the Daytona Beach Islanders.

The St. Augustine Saints also set a club record in 1949 when 74 of their batters were hit by the opposing pitchers.

In the department of fielding, no records have been set since 1948 when the G-men finished their season with 440 errors, a little over three per game.

Here are a few of the marks all clubs can shoot at as the curtain goes up next Friday night, April 13.

Runs in one game, one club, 25 when Leesburg defeated Palatka 25 to 6 on Aug. 10, 1939.

Most stolen bases, one game, 18 by DeLand off Daytona.

Kluszewski Slams In 3 Runs As Reds Whip Washington

Yankees Beat El Paso 16-10 As DiMaggio, Berra, Mapes Homer

By RALPH RODEN Associated Press Sports Writer Ted (The Brute) Kluszewski, 26-year-old first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, is going to be a tough customer in the clutch this season if his Grapefruit League bombing is any criterion.

The former star end at the University of Indiana drove in all of Cincinnati's runs yesterday as the Reds defeated Washington, 3-0, at Orlando.

Kluszewski doubled in the third inning off lefty Bob Kusava, and veteran Ken Raffensberger made the markers stand up as he blanketed the Nats on five hits. Raffensberger is the first Cincinnati pitcher to go the route this spring.

Besides his sensational hitting, Kluszewski has improved greatly as a fielder. The strapping 230-pound, six-foot-two giant has been working overtime to perfect his field.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, outlasted El Paso of the Southwest International League, 16-10, in the Texas City. Hank Bauer blasted two home runs and Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Cliff Mapes and Joe DiMaggio one apiece to lead the Bombers' assault.

The Chicago White Sox edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-8, in ten innings at New Orleans. The Sox tied the score on Jim Humber's homer in the ninth and won out in the tenth.

Four home runs enabled the Jacksonville Tars of the South Atlantic League to nip the Boston Red Sox, 8-7, at Jacksonville. Third baseman Romeo Piana delivered the payoff blow, a 400-foot homer in the last of the ninth.

The New York Giants came from behind and tied the Boston Braves, 5-5, at Beaumont, Tex. Home runs by Hank Bauer and Raymond Jackson plus wildness by Al Pate enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat the Houston (T.L.) Cubs, 7-4, in a night game at Houston.

Other are light action saw Brooklyn score three runs in the 11th inning to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4; the Philadelphia Athletics edged Birmingham (BAA), 6-5, and the St. Louis Browns ripped the San Antonio farm club (S.A.), 15-5.

Giants Beaten By Tigers 9 To 8 In Offensive Battle

The Tigers came from behind scoring four runs in the third inning yesterday to edge out the Giants 9 to 8 in the Rotary Junior Baseball League.

Shetfield gave up only five hits but the Tigers drew eight free passes to aid in the scoring. The Giants, who out-hit the Tigers 6 to 5, got two runs in the first, three in the third and three more in the fourth but were unable to catch the hard-hitting Tigers.

Tiger lineup: Butler, c; Swann, 2b; McCall, 1b; Bates, p; English, 3b; Behrens, 3b; Packs, cf; Johnson, lf; Fox, rf.

Giants lineup: Sheffield, c; Ferrell, 2b; Carter, c; Davis, 2b; English, 3b; Higgins, lf; Wade, ss; Amano, 1b; Tison, cf; Harvey, rf.

The American, says Jones, is a lead pipe clinch. The Red Sox will be second by one game or lose in a playoff to the Yanks, Herriot, c.

Springfield Downs Sanford Giants 9-1; McCullough Stars

Lack of a hurler who could split the plate cost the Sanford Giants another exhibition game yesterday as Springfield blasted out 9 runs to the locals 1 lone marker.

The Giants lost the game in the seventh inning when Herman came in to pitch relieving Kree. He immediately gave up four walks and three hits which combined with one Sanford error was enough for six runs.

The Giants' pitcher settled down in the 8th but allowed two more runs to cross in the ninth when Springfield combined three hits and a walk.

McCullough of Springfield was top man at the plate with five safeties in six trips. Petty led the Giants' attack with three hits in four tries and also scored the local club's only run.

Manager Richie Klaus, only other Giant to get more than one safety, got two hits in three trips.

Joe Louis Rated As Contender For Heavyweight Title

Savold, Walcott and Rex Layne Called Outstanding Boxer

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Joe Louis, the aging Brown Bomber from Detroit, is back where he was 14 years ago in the National Boxing Association ratings.

The 47-state boxing body last night rated the former champion as the only logical contender for Ezzard Charles' heavyweight crown.

This is the same place he stood in 1937 when Jimmy Braddock was champion. Louis won the title that year from Braddock and never moved down in the rankings until he lost to Charles while trying to regain his title. Charles had won Louis crown in an NBA-recognized bout with Joe Walcott after Louis' 5-4 triumph.

Joe was only an out-of-fight boxer in the NBA's last quarter rankings. With him then was Lee Savold.

Now with Louis back in the logical contender slot, Savold, Jersey Joe Walcott and Rex Layne are listed as outstanding boxers.

Light-heavyweight Harry Matthews was moved up from the second-ranking outstanding boxer to the No. 2 contender for Joe Martin's title.

The NBA extended recognition to Max Baer as the light-heavy king but noted his rating was only "conditional."

It said the NBA executive committee will announce shortly probably next week, whether Max Baer and lightweight champion El Williams will be stripped of their crowns for failure to defend them within the time allotted by the NBA last February. Both men were told then to lay their titles on the line by Mar. 31, 1951.

The biggest drop in the new ratings was that of former middleweight king Jake LaMotta, who lost his crown to Sugar Ray Robinson in the past quarter. LaMotta was dropped from champ to outstanding boxer. He was ranked along with Dave Banda of Australia and France's Laurent Duthuille.

Otherwise the NBA listed Cuba's Ed Gavlin and Eddie Thomas of England the top opponents for Johnny Bratton's NBA-version welterweight title. Willie Pep was the logical contender for featherweight king Sandy Saddler's title and Lulu Romero of Spain, ex-champ Manuel Ortiz of California and England's Peter Keenan were the top men in line for the lightweight crown held by Vic Taseo of South Africa.

Heffekinger, Suffridge and Shultz Are Chosen For Grid Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Apr. 5.—(AP)—The nation's football experts had to span half a century to pair the greatest tandem of guards in the history of the sport and provide them with a pivot man. Choosing an all-time All America for hall of fame consideration, sports writers and broadcasters in an Associated Press poll named W. W. (Judge) Heffekinger, the old indefatigable Yale, and Robert Suffridge, the modern slasher from Tennessee, to the guard positions.

In between this stellar pair, they placed Adolph (Germany) Beuk, gargantuan center of the Michigan machines developed by Fielding H. Yost in 1905-1908.

Heffekinger, giant stalwart of the Eli forward walls from 1888 through 1891, was a product of the days of long-haired players with nose guards, laced canvas jackets and moleskin pants.

He was a symbol of piston-like drive and iron man endurance in the era of straightforward power football and rugged 45-minute halves. He was the first guard ever to pull out and run interference.

He prided himself on the fact he could still play a robust game of football at 65. At 83, he lives an active life at his home in Leesburg, Tex.

Beuk was the human butcher-knife who steered out the path for ball-carriers for Bob Neyland's great touchdowns machines of 1908-1940. He won the Locke Memorial Trophy as the nation's outstanding lineman in 1940, his All-American year.

Shultz was a giant of a man—six feet five and 235 pounds—with tremendous ham-like hands that worked to his advantage in that era of mass formations when ground was gained on brute strength alone. He played five years of varsity football, making All America his next-to-last season in 1907.

The poll to choose the All-Time All America was conducted by the AP to get first nominations for the national Hall of Fame, a $5,000,000 shrine planned at Princeton and Rutgers played the first college game in 1869.

Heffekinger was a six-foot-three, 230-pound natural athlete who excelled in track, baseball and rowing. His first love was baseball but it was in football that he gained lasting fame as an All-American guard on Walter Camp's teams of 1899, 1900 and 1901.

Six feet tall and 180-185 pounds in weight, Suffridge's magnificent line play was largely responsible for Tennessee's three perfect seasons in 1938, 1939 and 1940 during which the only blot on the Vols' record were losses in the Rose and Sugar Bowls.

"Suffridge had the quickest and most powerful defensive charge of any football player I ever saw," said Tennessee coach Bob Neyland. "He literally exploded at the line of scrimmage. He hit offensive linemen with such arm and shoulder power that he drove them into the backfield. He was a player without a weakness."

Schulz came along at Michigan after Yost's famous point-a-minute team had run their 54-victory course. The giant German, fast for his size and rugged on defense, was a standout for all of his varsity years.

Marion Sportsmen Rap Fish Resolution

OCALA, Apr. 2—(AP)—Hal Davis of Ocala, president of the Fifth District Association of Game Clubs, said today that sportsmen in Marion county and over the district are up in arms as a result of the introduction in the Florida Legislature of a resolution to abolish the State Fish Water Fish and Game Commission.

Jaycee Meeting

(Continued from Page One) were begun in 1947 and were financed by the Federal Bureau of Community Facilities. The estimated cost was thought to be too large at the time.

Financing of the program could be handled in a number of ways, Mr. McKibbin said.

He pointed out that Winter Park has a per fixture tax which adequately finances its sewage bonds and he gave as his opinion that Sanford could inaugurate a similar program.

Another method, the City Manager said would be a percentage tax on the City's water bills.

Judge Douglas Stenstrom proposed that the Jaycees go on record as opposing the State Citizens Safety Committee on the grounds that its function is adequately handled by the Florida Department of Public Safety.

President W. H. Stemper urged members to attend the Florida District Conference being held in Gaines City on Sunday.

Mr. Stemper also announced that next week's program would include Rolland Dean, Sanford Herald editor, Ed Ray of the Orlando Sentinel, Art Guthrie of the Sanford Builder and Marion Harmon of Station WTRR.

Spies Sentenced

(Continued from Page One) a third defendant, was sentenced to 30 years in prison. Kaufman said his guilt was of a "lesser degree."

Former Army Sgt. David Greenglass, 29, who pleaded guilty and gave testimony that helped convict Mrs. Rosenberg, his sister, will be sentenced tomorrow.

In settling the Greenglass sentencing for tomorrow, Judge Kaufman denied a request of the former soldier's counsel, O. John Rogge, to postpone it until next Monday.

Rogge said he wanted to stress that Greenglass aided the government by admitting his own guilt and testifying against the others.

"I know it entails a great deal of courage," Kaufman said.

The judge said he concluded Greenglass, faced with prospect of testifying against his sister, "did a lot of soul searching" and had concluded the course he adopted was correct.

U. S. Marshal William Carroll said he was communicating with Washington for instructions whether to return the Rosenbergs to their temporary detention places or to take them to Sing Sing prison where the electric chair is located.

Attorneys for the Rosenbergs and Sobell said they would appeal the convictions and sentences.

The Rosenbergs were accused of obtaining sketches of the so-called "Nagasaki" atom bomb and turning them over to Russian agents.

The petite Mrs. Rosenberg was pale but smiling as she entered the courtroom. She and her husband, dark-haired, with a mustache and wearing spectacles, stood stiffly behind two red leather chairs as Kaufman addressed them.

IN COMMEMORATION of his 36 years of service in Congress, Vice President Buckley receives from President Truman a gavel made from wood that had been part of the White House for 133 years. The Chief Executive made a surprise visit to the Senate floor to make the presentation. He told his former colleagues that if he could do as he wished, he would run for his former seat in the Senate.

Merchant's Group

(Continued from Page One) chment Association include the appointment of a special secret committee for the purpose of screening all out-of-town promotion schemes which come to Sanford. This should be a great protection to the merchants from fly-by-nights, Mr. Stine said.

The Merchants Association is also working on legislation to be presented at the current session of the Legislature. One of the bills to be presented by the merchants' group calls for the establishment of a small claims court here.

This court, said W. A. Morrison, chairman of the Legislature Committee, would handle claims up to $250. The judge of the court would be appointed by the Governor for a two year term. If this office proves worth while, the law might be amended to make the judgeship elective, he added.

Other legislation sought includes the strengthening of the "bad check" laws, and a limited garnishment law.

Thirty nine UCLA varsity football players and 24 freshmen received letters and mementos, respectively, for their labors last season.

Russia is about 2.87 times the size of continental United States.

Legislature Meets

On the less serious side, the Democratic House elected a Republican as a page boy and House members called down reading Clerk Herman L. Edwards of Daytona Beach for reading an fast they couldn't understand him.

The new GOP page, Jerry Simpson, is a nephew of Rep. McLaren, one of the three Pinellas Republican House members.

McLaren and his associates said the House never had a chance to vote on young Simpson because members made their choices at a Democratic caucus Monday night.

That was the caucus where GOP members were told they could not participate.

Before the Legislature is a bill affecting just about every insurance policy in the state. This measure would completely rewrite all Florida insurance laws.

Other bills introduced would: Place children under 18 years of age who violate laws or are deemed delinquents under the exclusive jurisdiction of juvenile courts for hearings and disposition of their cases.

Raise the pay of grand and petit jurors in circuit courts, criminal courts of record and county courts from $3 to $4 a day.

Lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18 years.

Increase traveling expense allowance of state employees from $7.50 to $9 a day.

Clergyman Declares America Is Victim Of Diseased Morality

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of four articles dealing with the question: what has happened to American public morality?)

By RELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK, Apr. 5—(AP)—"This is a diseased generation—but the next one, if it isn't destroyed by war, will be better."

That is the opinion of Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Interdenominational Church of New York since 1907. In more than 40 years of church work, he says, he has never seen moral standards in America so low as they now are.

"People have lost the ability, literally, to distinguish between right and wrong," Dr. Holmes told me. "In this age, anything goes."

These are the causes, Dr. Holmes said, in an interview, underlying recent disclosures of corruption in government and the stories of graft, bribery and influence uncovered by the Kefauver and Fulbright committees.

The clergyman said he believes the present condition of public morality in America is new and unique. "It is a disease," he said, "and it has been brought to wide public attention."

"Something very serious has happened to the moral fibre of this generation," Dr. Holmes declared. "Like a human body, a society can fall victim of a disease and die of it. As Toynbee and other historians have demonstrated, this country is in moral danger today. It could die as other societies have died."

"Americans are trying to live without God and it can't be done. They have been trying it for about 30 years. But the laws of morality are as exact and inexorable as the laws of physics or chemistry. When they are violated, things go wrong—even to the extent of a terrible explosion."

The great corrective agents, Dr. Holmes said, have come directly from the two World Wars in which the United States was engaged.

"War is an evil that embraces all other evils. It sanctions murder, permits theft, and condones sexual license. A man is concerned solely with survival. All other bars are down."

"It is impossible—without tremendous moral strength—for the civilian population, far removed from the front, not to be affected by these standards of conduct."

An implacable enemy of war, Dr. Holmes said, the influence distilled from the vast world revolutions of 1917 and 1918 "have become a cancer eating into the structure of our lives."

The presumably corrective influences in American life, he continued, have not been equal to the task that confronted them.

"We are all at fault—the churches, the schools and the parents in the home."

"As a clergyman, I recognize no degree of responsibility. The churches have not been very rigorous in teaching or practice or moral truths. They have become interested in raising money for pleasant little things

Milkman Returns From Study Trip To Great Britain

VANDALIA, Mo., Apr. 5—(AP)—The home town folks learned last night their traveling milkman—Abraham Lincoln Kirby—still strongly prefers the American competitive system.

Kirby has just returned from a seven-week tour of Great Britain. His journey was financed by fellow townspeople who wanted a man-on-the-street report on Britain's Socialist government.

"Capitalism, democracy and freedom are inseparable synonyms. There isn't any way of administering into the society of a happy, contented people any sort of plan, control or program of envy and hate without the powers of compulsion and without that Socialism would fall flat."

He added that Britain's social gains are good to a certain extent but the economic policies "if practiced or continued long enough, will lead to utter economic collapse because incentive and private initiative will have been destroyed."

The 58-year-old rural mail carrier declared, however: "The people of Great Britain are a great nation of intelligent people; they can and will solve their problems."

Vandalia, a northeast Missouri town of 2,500, collected $1,200 to send Kirby on his trip.

He spoke at a public meeting.

The twins, their heads joined together at the top, go on display today at a circus and later will be taken on tour, traveling in a glass-paneled trailer.

Glum Cocktail Party Givers Are Unhappy At Getting Their Wish

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Once upon a time Wilbur Pebble and his wife Trelis Mae decided to throw a cocktail party.

Naturally they dreaded it. Everybody dreads giving a cocktail party. Everybody dreads going to one. That is why cocktail parties are so popular.

"They leave the house in such a hurry," sighed Trelis Mae comfortably. "And nobody ever seems to know when to leave."

"Now isn't that the truth?" agreed Wilbur cheerfully. "They all seem to forget they have homes of their own. It's just awful."

"If once—just once—you could break a cocktail party up on time," said Trelis Mae. "It wouldn't be so bad."

"Patience," said Wilbur. "When they went along with their plans, Trelis Mae sat down and scribbled out cute little notes to the guests well ahead of the party date."

The Pebbles are having a free-for-all affair from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. at home at 1234 Oak Street. It will include a buffet of appetizers and a supply of coffee and bandages.

Wilbur read the notes, approvingly and said, "That's no joke about the first aid kit. We'd better lay in a supply of ointment and bandages."

The day of the party Trelis Mae worked like a beaver, preparing the appetizers and setting up the apartment until it shone. She spent the afternoon making plates after plates of canapés and thought all the while "I'll be sure to clean up all the messes they'll just sit on my sofa."

Wilbur pitched in to help like a little man. He polished the kitchen table high with rye, scotch, rum, beer, sherry, soda and tea. He made a basket of marshmallows. He laid in a supply of plain apple juice for the people who go to cocktail parties and whisper to the host.

"Put something in my glass and don't say anything about it, will you? I'm on a diet," said Trelis Mae.

Then the Pebbles dressed. At 7:30 they entered their living room. Another read for the great ordeal. They were already so tired they felt ready to drop.

"I'll probably be another hour before anybody shows up," promised Trelis Mae.

"Yeah," grunted Wilbur. "They never show up when they ought to."

Just at that moment the bell rang. The first guest had arrived. From the room came a warning with them. They clustered around the television set. They stood in corners and told each other the latest witty remarks of their children. They sat on the floor and discussed the features of atom bombs and thermonuclears.

Everything was going so well and so peaceful. Nobody called on the hostess. Nobody called on the host. The Pebbles reached plates and glasses around to fuel the merry babble. This time them to help they were unaware of the fact that the first guest had gone and the husband had died, they sat down on the sofa together.

"Everybody seemed to have a wonderful time," said Trelis Mae.

"We never had a better party,"

Nothing wrong there. Still plenty of canapés and drinks left.

When he came back, he found Trelis Mae in tears.

"Everybody seems to hate us," she wept. "What did we do? Nobody ever heard of a cocktail party ending on time. Never."

"Aw, it was not an accident," said Wilbur. "It was a full of them."

But as he glumly watched her head he wished they had had a better party.

Most everyone who they have makes more people enjoy their getting what they ask for.

If all could just stand by and let a cocktail party end up in a full of them, it would be a great thing.

MURDER PACT
LOS ANGELES, Apr. 5—(AP)—"I didn't want to terrify her," Robert E. Desauer, 29, told a coroner's jury, as he didn't tell Libby Bernhart, 30, he was going to kill her.

However, they had twice attempted suicide by turning on the gas in her apartment recently, Desauer said yesterday. He previously had told police they were despondent over his failure to get a divorce.

Following the inquest, Desauer, a salesman formerly of New York, was charged with murder.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Milton Berle
A $10,000
Package

NEW YORK—At this advanced stage of civilization, he said with a ghastly laugh, most of us are acquainted with the package deal. It can be applied to the wholesale vegetable field, where during the last war you had to take turnips and beets if you wanted a couple of bushels of fresh peas, but the package deal more generally is associated with show business.

Thus, the Milton Berle television show, for example, is a $10,000 package deal, according to reports. Uncle Miltie gets the forty grand for providing one orchestra, one singer, one guest star, one alleged comic and so on, which he pays out of the gross cost.

I am in receipt today of information from the Herbert Lannard Fashion Productions, a West 56th street organization, that strips the package deal to its bare bones. In the cold, hard light of day, it is inclined to be depressing.

The Lannard firm, which for five years has arranged fashion shows, now is offering package-deal variety shows. The prices range from $100 to $250 for the same quantity of entertainment, but they seem incredibly reasonable—but it is the composition of acts that is frightening.

For $150, for example, you get: (1) a master or mistress of ceremonies, a singer, a dance team, a lady magician—and a lecture on psychology. Theoretically, thus, you get road company editions of George Jessel, Bing Crosby, the DeMarcos, Houdini and Freud.

Now, you tell me exactly how you'd present that collection. Show people since time began have avoided the opening-act spot as if it were the bubonic. Who'd go first? And how would you spot Houdini and Freud in that line-up? Run them in sequence; have Houdini do a few tricks and then have Freud lecture an explanation of how it was all done by sex?

FOR $225 YOU BUY a somewhat more impressive group. A name or two is scattered through it. "Master of ceremonies such as the star, Lee Tully," reads the Lannard brochure. Fine, fine, but who is Lee Tully?

You get your choice in this package of either a lady magician or male magician, possibly depending on whether you're running a smoker or a showing of fall chapeaux. You get a dance team—this is virtually mandatory—and a hypnotist. If the dance team doesn't put your customers to sleep, the hypnotist does the trick.

It is easy to see how the scale of prestige runs, when you are in the package business. In the $275, or Group C group, you get, not a hypnotist, but a mental telepathist. In a sentence, that probably explains the success of Dunninger. Chances are that somewhere in his past, he was a member of an A or B package, billed as a magician or a hypnotist—but he changed his status to mental telepathist, and promptly moved onward and upward with the arts.

Group D, or the $350 package, is perhaps the most interesting that Lannard has announced. You get a female m. c. "such as Elaine McElhone"—this is a garrulous and witty soul who has achieved success in radio and television because of an apparent phonograph needle on her tongue—a singing duo, a "top" dance team as contrasted to just any old dance team, a comic (I would like to be able to pick out any single entertainer and say flatly he is a comic) and "Open discussion and lecture by Mr. Anthony of radio fame."

Mr. Anthony, something of a wireless phenomenon years ago, has dropped partly out of sight of late, and here he turns up in a package deal. Some of you may recall him as the man who made a fairly plush living by conducting a program to which poor, often ignorant, usually unstrung citizens came with their troubles for solution. It was the morose delight, the most frightening, sickening program of its kind—although it was, paradoxically, about the funniest show on the air, unconsciously, for years.

Allied Force Smashes Forward On Heels Of Fleeing Communists

Stubborn Red Resistance Ceases Suddenly As UN Troops Cross 38th Parallel

TOYKO, Apr. 6—(AP)—A surprise Chinese withdrawal on the central front last night left a "no-man's-land" in front of United Nations forces today north of Parallel 38.

AP correspondent John Randolph said Chinese who had been fighting stubbornly for two days suddenly broke contact Thursday night and retreated.

American thrusting forward Friday reported only patrol contact.

All along a 40-mile stretch of the front, U. N. units forged slow gains.

The Allied advance had thrust as much as eight miles inside the Communist northland.

Elements of four divisions pressed forward.

Oscar Collazo Is Sentenced To Die For Killing Guard

Puerto Rican Patriot Claims He Acted In Defense Of Liberty

NEW YORK, Apr. 6—(AP)—Oscar Collazo, accused of his domineering and brother-in-law, was sentenced to 15 years in prison today for his part in the Hawaiian spy ring. The 19-year-old former Army sergeant's testimony formed the bulk of the case against Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, sentenced yesterday to death in the electric chair.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 6—(AP)—Oscar Collazo today was sentenced to die in the electric chair Oct. 26 for the slaying of a White House guard in an attempt last November on the life of President Truman.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldborough asked whether Collazo had anything to say. Collazo said he did not want to plead for his life, but to plead for liberty for Puerto Rico.

At his trial, Collazo had contended he and a companion, Giselio Torresola, were only demonstrating for Puerto Rico independence when they attempted to storm Blair House last Nov. 1. Torresola and a White House guard, Leslie Coffelt were killed in a furious exchange of pistol shots.

"I am not pleading for my life," Collazo told the judge. "I'm pleading for my country. Anything that I have done I did for the liberty of my country. I will die, but at the end, that we have a right to."

Bird Emphasizes Need To Halt Tide Of U. S. Socialism

Chamber Of Commerce Told Mobilization May Last 75 Years

Stemming the tide of socialism and the trend toward a centralized government were the theme of a talk by William Bird of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to a group of local business men at a luncheon at the Mayfair Inn today. He was introduced by Ed Whitney, local Chamber of Commerce manager. Seminole High School was represented by Clarence Clause and Miss Dial Boyle.

Quoting General Marshall to the effect that the present period of tension and partial state of mobilization may last from 50 to 75 years, Mr. Bird told business leaders of their responsibility in doing everything in their power on a community level toward strengthening the nation's economic system.

He also urged them to aid in strengthening the moral fibre of American citizens and in preserving free enterprise.

Pointing out that only 51 percent of eligible citizens voted he urged the business men and in the last presidential election, Chamber of Commerce to try to get out the vote.

In one southern city that had 1,641 members in the chamber of commerce, 26 percent of the retailers, 28 percent of the manufacturers and 35 percent of the automobile dealers failed to vote for president of the United States he stated.

Decisions of national importance must be decided on a community level, and not in Washington, D. C., he declared, and suggested that congressmen be informed by business men of the wishes and attitudes.

Democrats Say Principal Crisis Lies In Europe

Appropriations Group Votes Cut of 55% In Emergency Fund Of President Truman

WASHINGTON, Apr. 6—(AP)—Administration leaders in Congress disputed today the contention of General Douglas MacArthur that the critical battle with Communism lies in Asia rather than in Europe.

The Democratic leaders were silent, however, on Republican demands that MacArthur be brought home to report on the situation in Korea and the Far East in general.

White House Secretary Joseph Short said meanwhile he knows of no change now or in prospect in official American policy toward Formosa.

MacArthur brought all these questions to the fore in a letter he wrote to House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin. The letter, which Martin read to the House yesterday, looked northward. Martin had expressed in a speech calling for the use of Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa against the Korean and Chinese Communists. Martin had called for a second front in Asia, using the Formosa forces, whereas the Administration policy is to keep Formosa neutralized.

MacArthur went on to say that it is in Asia that "the Communist conspirators have elected to make their play for global conquest."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today that if MacArthur is unable to leave his command for even a brief visit to the United States, Congress ought to send a delegation to confer with him.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, told a reporter he believed it is more important for the United States to build up Western Europe's defenses than it is to throw this country's full weight into the fight in Asia.

In the House the Appropriations Committee today voted to cut 55 percent of the emergency fund for the President's relief program.

Orange Legislator Says Gambling Elements Have Made Excessive Donations

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 6—(AP)—Rep. Kirkland of Orange county called for appointment of a committee to investigate campaign contributions and any connection between candidates and gambling.

Kirkland, who last summer was unsuccessful in persuading the House Democratic caucus to sponsor a move to make such an investigation, said there have been public statements "that excessive campaign contributions have been made to various candidates for public office in this state by persons connected or associated with gambling activities."

William S. Johnston of Jacksonville, dog track owner, has said he and friends contributed $100,000 to Warren's campaign for Crime Investigating Committee de-governor. The Kefauver Senate candidate Johnston is an associate of Capone mobsters but Warren has defended him as a good citizen.

The three-member House committee, proposed by Kirkland, would be appointed by the Speaker and would make its study and report back to the Legislature before the present 60-day session is over.

It is the responsibility of the legislative branch as the duly elected representatives of the people.

Israeli Premier Denies Wanting War With Syria

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion declared today Israel has "no intention of waging war against Syria."

He spoke at a luncheon given by Tel Aviv industrialists after U. S. Ambassador M. M. Davis and French Minister Felix Auloyard had visited the Israeli foreign office there "to discuss concern regarding a very serious situation."

Dispatches from Tiberias, on the west coast of Lake Tiberias, the Sea of Galilee on the Israeli-Syrian border, said tension was high there. United Nations observers were taking a serious view of the situation, fearing Syria might retaliate for the bombing of their troops yesterday by the Israeli Air Force.

Israeli charged that Syrians invaded a demilitarized strip of border territory Wednesday, killed seven Israeli policemen, wounded two and captured one.

Ben-Gurion said the bombing of Syrian soldiers yesterday had been "a very serious situation."

Sanford Ministers Request Ban On Sunday Beer Sale

Action in banning the sale of alcoholic beverages in Seminole County between 12:00 o'clock midnight, Saturdays and 8:00 A.M., Mondays, will be requested of the County Commission at its next meeting by the Sanford Ministerial Association.

The ministers yesterday voted to appear in a body before the County Commission to make this request after hearing Sheriff P. A. Merriam tell of a condition of "unprecedented seriousness" arising from the sale of liquor on weekends.

He pointed out to the ministers that the problem is more than he can manage under the existing county laws.

"The County Commission alone can alter these laws which permit the sale of alcoholic beverages in the county nightly until 2:00 A.M. and the sale of beer on Sundays," said Sheriff Merriam.

The Rev. Glenn E. Smith, chairman of the Ministerial Association, stated that a letter has been written to the County Commission.

Philosopher Terms Public Morals Similar To Those In Other Ages

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of four stories dealing with the question: What has happened to American public morality?)

By BELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Apr. 6—(AP)—Remember the Kinsey report? "It shocked a great many people," a noted scholar said today, "but in point of fact, there was nothing new in it at all. And there is nothing new in this so-called crisis in political or business morality today."

Dr. Irwin Edman, who expressed these views in an interview, is executive of the department of philosophy at Columbia University. For more than 10 years his writings on morals and ethics have commanded wide attention. He has been studying the subject for nearly 35 years.

He agreed that the recent disclosures of corruption in government, the reports of widespread gambling, racketeering and "fixing" may indicate a critical low point in public morality.

"But there has been a somewhat hysterical exaggeration of the decline of morals," he said.

He recalled the insurance scandals of 1906, the Tamper House case in the Harding Administration, and the Seabury investigation following that.

"And if you want to go all the way back," Dr. Edman said, "take a look at the things Paul said to the Corinthians about the state of their morals."

That, he said, is not depressing, in itself.

"What is depressing is that, in all these years, there has been so little progress, so little reform."

There are several reasons for it in this country, Dr. Edman said.

"People are cynical today, or in despair, because they have lost confidence in the old standards and the old allies. They have not yet been adequately re-educated in terms of conditions as we see them."

"However, the individual is appalled by the sin and complexity of life. He doesn't feel that he can do much to change conditions, however bad they may be. Even in government, officials feel helpless. Government has grown too big for any one man to affect very much."

"So people are discouraged. But like some other observers, Dr. Edman expressed confidence in this generation of college students."

"They may come up with something new and better," he said.

"At the moment, they are fairly hard-boiled. They don't believe."

MacArthur On Korean Front Vist

WASHINGTON, Apr. 6—(AP)—The Senate closed out its great debate over troops for Europe with a debate of congressional powers that amounted to a stinging slap for President Truman.

For most of the Republic's century and a half, Congress and the President have been disputing their respective prerogatives—frequently over the same argument as to how much power the chief executive has to deploy troops.

While Mr. Truman got approval of his decision to assign six American divisions to the North Atlantic defense forces, it was accompanied by a rebuke of his claim that he has the right to station troops as he sees fit.

This came in an amendment by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) calling for congressional approval of any U. S. contributions beyond the two divisions already assigned to General Dwight D. Eisenhower's command in Europe and the four to be sent from this country.

The provision was written into the resolution by a vote of 88 Republicans and 11 Democrats, the familiar coalition—with some shift in membership from time to time—that actually controls the Senate on many major issues.

Seven of the Democrats are from the South. Perhaps significantly two of those from territory that is not always Democratic are running for re-election next year. They are Senators
