

OPA Is Urged To Fight Candy Black Market

Adoption Of Uniform Ceiling Sought By Confection Dealers

PHILADELPHIA, May 10, (AP)—Adoption of a uniform national ceiling for confectionery was urged by Joseph Kolody, executive secretary of the National Association of Confection Dealers, at a hearing in the Bellevue Stratford Hotel here last week.

More than 100 confectioners and tobacconists attended the hearing, which was presided over by John Glasgow, senior business specialist of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Mr. Kolody declared that there was an urgent need for regulation now since there is a marked shortage of confectionery products because of the "prevalence" in the trade of black-market conditions, especially in the New York district.

"The prohibition of uniform price ceilings, or dollar-a-dozen markups, contributes toward the stabilization of marketing conditions on an adequate and fair distribution of the product which has been caught in the hands of the black market," he said. "Certain wholesalers make a practice of holding back supplies of popular advertised brands of confectionery and in-crease their profit margins by selling off on the retail level at a price which is 50 per cent above the wholesale price."

"In many markets regular confectionery is sold at a price which is 50 per cent above the wholesale price because of the shortage of the available merchandise as a result of the black market," he said. "The black market is a source of new confectionery from the manufacturers. Such a practice is not only unfair to the consumer, but it also tends to drive the manufacturer out of business."

It went on: "Their names have been established and I shall order reprisals against their families. The names of those who are to be punished will be published in the newspapers. The letter ordered that soldiers "maintain strict surveillance over their families and non-commissioned officers, who are to be punished with brutal measures."

The strictest measures, it declared, would be taken against all those who are to be punished with the names of those who are to be punished will be published in the newspapers. Insect and Disease Control for the Victory Garden

By JACK C. RUSSELL

Damage caused by sucking insects is very often not properly recognized because of the inconspicuous nature of the insects. Even though the damage inflicted by sucking insects is usually very inconspicuous, an infestation of such insects often means the end of the plant that is attacked.

Control—A sucking insect infestation is usually not noticed until the plant has become wilted and killed. Some sucking insects inject a toxic secretion into the plant tissues during the process of feeding that has much the same effect on the plant that a mosquito bite might have on you.

There are many species of sucking insects of varying economic importance found infesting vegetable crops in Florida. Some of these insects are always present and may be expected to cause damage at any season. Others are definitely seasonal in occurrence and can be expected to trouble gardeners only at a particular season, irrespective of weather conditions.

The most destructive member of the sucking insect group is the aphid. Aphids are found on almost all plants and are most abundant in the spring and early summer. They are small, pear-shaped insects with long antennae and legs. They are usually green in color. The young are yellow.

Both adult and young aphids feed on the underside of leaves or on the growing buds of infested plants. Vegetables most frequently attacked in order of severity are: English peas, cabbage, cauliflower, celery and squash.

Symptoms—Onions, peas, cabbage and cauliflower.

Onions, peas, cabbage and cauliflower.

31 Nazi Aliens Are Picked Up By FBI Agents

Saboteur Of First War Assigned By Von Papen To Blow Up Canal

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP)—A roundup of enemy agents last week netted the Federal Bureau of Investigation 31 German aliens, including a confessed espionage agent and saboteur of the first World War who was picked up on a Presidential warrant. F. E. Conroy, head of the local FBI office, reported today.

He described the agent whose name was withheld by the FBI, as a United States Army deserter, who landed at Santa Pancha Villa in the Mexican revolutionary army in 1914 following a mission.

Shortly before the outbreak of the first world war, the agent came to New York where he met Franz Von Papen, then German military attaché here. According to Mr. Conroy, Von Papen gave him instructions to blow up the Welland Canal, a vital link in the Great Lakes waterway. The canal, which extends for several miles, connects Lake Ontario with the Erie River.

Exposed Von Papen's Ring

With some accomplices he obtained explosives and proceeded to Albany, where he went on alone to Canada to make further plans. His work was suddenly halted, however, on orders from Von Papen, who according to Mr. Conroy, feared discovery of the plot.

Arrested by Von Papen, the agent fled the United States to England on a forged passport. He was arrested there in 1918.

Several other German agents were picked up in the roundup. Most of them are in custody.

Of the other thirty Germans, eight were picked up in New York, and eight were picked up in other parts of the country. About $15,000 worth of black-market goods and German securities, considerable only in Germany, were purchased by agents of the FBI, Mr. Conroy said.

Former Band Members

Several of the agents were former members of the German American Band and some had been in the United States as long as 15 years. They were arrested in fighting with the German army in 1918.

Another declared he was a saboteur in a German factory that he said refused to work in an American factory plant even though he was a killed one-time band member and had been offered several jobs.

Still another was a former Navy storm trooper who returned to Austria in 1918 to take part in the assassination of Austrian emperor. Like many of these saboteurs, similar type, he was arrested with a certificate from the German government in tribute of his service.

Many of the agents had been active in various sabotage or espionage before the war. Mr.

Fires Destroy 4,000 Acres Of Jersey Woods

Flares Sweep Sections Of Three Counties; Army Fights Fire

TRENTON, N. J., May 12 (AP)—Four large forest fires and half a dozen smaller ones which raged through sections of three New Jersey counties last week and early last week ended leveled nearly 4,000 acres of woodland, destroyed several homes or summer bungalows and did damage estimated at nearly $25,000.

Nearly all of the fire apparatus in the three counties, Burlington, Mercer and Monmouth, was called into action, and soldiers from Camp Dix, Camp Edwards, Fort Monmouth and other New Jersey military posts aided the firemen at some post.

Where Wood Fires Were

The worst fires were near Raritan Hills, Monmouth county, where the town itself and sections were threatened by the advancing flames. This fire was still burning at dusk last night.

Near Point Pleasant, Ocean county, where three large homes and two nine summer bungalows were destroyed, as well as 1,000 acres of woodland. This fire was extinguished late yesterday afternoon.

Near Allaire, Monmouth county, where 1,000 acres of woodland in the Allaire State Park, formerly part of the estate of the late Arthur Brisbane, were destroyed, as well as a number of small buildings. This fire was still burning last night and was reported to be heading in the direction of Sea Girt, where fire officer Charles Edison has his summer home.

Near Bailey's Corners, west of Belmar, in Monmouth county, where 600 acres of woodland were destroyed. This fire was extinguished late yesterday afternoon.

In a year of sugar rationing almost 4 billion pounds of refined sugar have passed to American consumers.

Between 1880 and 1885, about 250,000 buffalo were killed annually in the United States.

Conroy said these said they would, if they had an opportunity, conceal the presence of future saboteurs or spies. All those picked up will receive hearings before enemy alien hearing boards.

Missouri Man Is Elected 31 Times

AP Features

MISSOURI CITY, Mo. (AP)—A white-haired Charles G. Shaw figures he's the most elected mayor in the nation.

He's just been re-elected for his 14th term by this town's 500 inhabitants and now he's talking about running for a 15th.

After that, "Well," says Shaw, "maybe that's long enough for any man to hold office."

Minority Party

Oddly enough, Shaw, banker and coal company executive, is a lifelong Republican living in a community where the Democratic ticket has led six to one in state and national elections for as long as any of its residents can recollect.

George Joe Fancher explains it by saying Missouri City is in the habit of electing the 47-year-old Shaw to the $12 a year post.

Four times since he took office in 1909, Shaw faced opposition. Long ago, he could be opposed, he says, by interested neighbors. Nevertheless, Missouri City holds its election every spring mainly to determine who is going to be its committee.

Save-a-Money

For another thing, Missouri City has reason to be satisfied with Mayor Shaw's 41 year administration. In the last two years its tax rate has been cut from 30 cents to 10 cents on the $100 valuation and its municipal debt paid in full.

Its taxes are used for the street lighting, furnished by a private company. And, of course, there's the mayor's salary.

Florida vegetable growers have suffered enormous losses because of the lack of a united, authoritative front in dealing with governmental and private agencies controlling manpower, materials and transportation. Mr. Ford stated in his letter.

Important provisions of the bill as pointed out by Mr. Ford are:

The proposed act provides for the Florida Vegetable Growers Commission, a body of eleven members appointed by the Governor for two years and reelected without pay. They will be from the growers representing the principal commodities in the principal producing areas of the State.

The commission will be the executive body of the Florida Vegetable Growers Association, which will be organized to coordinate the efforts of the growers in order to make the Commission promptly effective.

The bill will be sent to the Governor for his signature. The bill is expected to pass the House of Representatives.

U. S. Troops Reported On Attu Island

Japs Say Americans Land On Western Tip Of Aleutians Held By Japanese

(By Associated Press)
Japanese imperial headquarters reported today that American troops had landed on Attu Island at the western tip of the Aleutians, less than 2,000 miles from Tokyo, and said bitter fighting was in progress.
Attu, occupied by the Japanese last June, lies 600 miles west of the United States base at Dutch Harbor, Alaska.
U. S. Navy confirmed today the Attu landing on May 11, launching a long-expected attempt to drive Japan out of the Aleutians.
Two Japanese planes bombed the Port Moresby area without causing damage yesterday, the high command announced. Port Moresby is the big Allied base on the south coast of New Guinea.
Allied bombers struck at Gasmata, on the southern tip, and Rabaul, on the northern tip of New Britain. Three planes were destroyed on the ground at the Gasmata airfield.
In the ground fighting on New Guinea, the noon communiqué announced, Allied patrols have killed 80 Japanese since May 8 near Mubo. This fighting occurred on the approach to Salamaua.
A third aerial strike against New Britain was directed by two big bombers at the Cap Gloucester airfield.

Ceiling Prices Are Placed On Local Poultry

Chicken Raisers Will Be Permitted To Charge 30.8 Cents Per Lb. For Friers

Ceiling prices on poultry to be sold in this area were announced today by B. Peterson, secretary of the Seminole County and Raiting Board.
"Considerable misunderstanding seems to have been created as to the various ceiling prices for poultry in this area," he said, "and retailers have complained to this office that chicken raisers are demanding greater prices for live chickens, than they are permitted to sell those chickens for to the consumer."
"In order to clarify this situation," he said, "prices for grade 'A' poultry have been established for Seminole County as of April 20, 1943. If you are a raiser or farmer, and wish to sell live chickens to a regular store for resale, or to a hotel or restaurant, you are permitted to charge the following prices, live weight per pound: Broilers and fryers under four pounds, 30.8 cents; Roosters, four pounds and up, 30.8 cents; fowls, 27.3 cents; and stags and old roosters, 23.3 cents.
"If you are a poultry raiser, a farmer, or a retailer, and sell directly to retail trade such as a housewife, you may charge the following prices: Broilers and fryers under four pounds, 37.2 cents; dressed weight, 45.6 cents; and drawn weight, 40.2 cents; Roosters, four pounds and up, 37.2 cents; dressed 45.2 cents; and drawn 57.2 cents. For fowls of all weights: live, 33.8 cents; dressed 40.2 cents; and drawn 38.2 cents. For stags and old roosters, all weights: live, 28.2 cents; dressed 34.2 cents; and drawn 30.2 cents.
"Poultry sold at drawn or dressed ceiling prices must be weighed free cannot take the weight under the poultry ceiling at drawn or dressed ceiling price."
Mr. Peterson added, and stated that any question should be referred to the War Price and Raiting Board by telephoning 970.

Allied Fleets Of Airplanes Bomb Europe

From Pantelleria To Berlin "Softening Up" Process Is Begun For Invasion

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP) Prime Minister Churchill, replying to the congratulations of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek on the North African victory, declared today the "day will come when we shall rejoice at the fall of arms of the United Nations which will surely drive the Japanese invaders from the will of China."
The likelihood that Hitler will make desperate attempt to win some spectacular victory over Russia in the next few weeks to offset the African moral blow was regarded as posing one problem for the Churchill-Roosevelt conference.
(By Associated Press)
Britain's blockbuster fleets returned to the assault on Hitler's Europe last night "in very great strength," the British announced today, centering attacks on Berlin, and war industry cities in the German Ruhr and Czechoslovakia.
At dawn fleets of Allied planes swept across the channel again, following on yesterday's daylight raids by the largest force of United States bombers ever launched from Britain. A Berlin broadcast said United States bombers attacked the north German coast today also. With the close of the Tunisian campaign, marked by the capture of 12 Axis generals and nearly 175,000 prisoners, Allied naval and air forces opened a temporary "softening up" offensive against the Mediterranean. The bombardment of the strategic Italian island of Pantelleria by warships which pumped 20 salvos into the harbor destroyed and immobilized an ineffective force of 50 Italian ships. The bombardment of Pantelleria was announced while a squadron of 50 United States bombers smashed 20 ships in the harbor of Augusta, Sicily. Other Allied fleets rained a gale of bombs on the German coast at Lubeck, Danzig, and Naples.
Red armor stormed the German inner defenses in the siege of St. Nazaire, battling still stubborn resistance and capturing additional lines northeast of the Black Sea port. Big guns pounded the Nazis' last line of fighting mounted. The Russians also seized the initiative on the Donets front.
The agency fees also reported that the long-range Russian bomber touched off fires and explosions amid German ammunition dumps, stores, and railway installations of the Polish capital of Warsaw in a series of attacks far behind the lines to disrupt German offensive plans. Lubeck and other cities have been attacked repeatedly in this strategic pattern.
A Praxid dispatch reported that hundreds of guns had paved the way for an infantry tank wedge in the new German attack zone near Novorossiysk after the Red Army had smashed it away through the first enemy line. Final Big Push.
The mass shelling of the German positions was on such a scale a stone barrage a final big push aimed at throwing the enemy into the Black Sea.

Drafting Fathers Is Foreseen For Immediate Future

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP) The drafting of military laws for the immediate future appeared likely today as the army extended the furlough period giving men inducements from the War Department.
Commanding generals of the nine service commands were ordered to make extension as soon as possible, but not later than July 1. Further, they are directed to increase the furlough to three weeks by Sept. 1.
The War Department is expected to accept at military induction stations to give them time to wind up their civilian affairs before reporting to an army reception center to begin active military duty.
In the department's announcement of the extension, no reason was given beyond the fact that although the war week was adequate in most instances "hardship was caused in some cases."
It was understood, however, that the actual reason was the belief that heads of families, since they were not in the military, would need more time to make arrangements for their families and wind up their business affairs.
Major Lewis E. Harshay, selective service director, told a House committee Tuesday that his organization is to meet the need for 2,500,000 more men for the armed forces this year, would have to begin inducting fathers by August 1 or earlier.
The War Department said the extension would become a part of the country, while in other sections it would be delayed by difficulties of transition.
The procedure of stepping up the furlough period, first to 16 days, then to 21, was considered necessary to prevent undue interruption in the flow of men into the military centers, said the department.
With all other reports, the induction system will continue to operate as it does now. When a man is inducted, he will receive a 16-day furlough, and will be inducted into the service on the 17th day.

AAA Plan By July Is Petitioned By Farmers' Bureau

A resolution, requesting the government to announce the Florida AAA agriculture program July 1, when the farming year starts, rather than in November, when it is well under way, was passed by members of the Seminole County Farm Bureau at a meeting held Wednesday evening at the City Hall. Leo Butler, president of the County Farm Bureau, stated today.
The Florida Bureau will be requested to present this resolution, along with like resolutions made by the farm bureaus of Sarasota, Manatee and Palm Beach counties and representing every grower in the State, to the American Farm Bureau Federation at Washington, which in turn will seek government approval. Food Committee Is Named To Aid In Distribution

In order to insure adequate food supplies in Seminole County and to combat black market activity in meats and other foods, a local Food Advisory Committee, with H.M. France as chairman, was organized last evening at the Sanford Armory, through cooperation with Seminole County Defense Council.
S.F. Orr, representative of the Food Distribution Administration, a branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, organized the Committee, outlined the work to be done, and made a survey of the food needs of the County. It was revealed that only essential food items lacking were dried fruits. Headquarters for the Committee were established at the office of A.B. Peterson, secretary of the Peace and Raiting Board. Mr. Peterson stated that he wanted it made clear that the Food Committee was not functioning as a branch of the OPA, but of the Department of Agriculture. He added, however, that his office facilities could be used to receive complaints from consumers and to institute, relative to food shortages.
Shortages of foods, it was explained by Mr. Orr, exist when ration coupon requirements cannot be exchanged for foods and meats.
"This does not mean, however, that when one food item, such as canned tomatoes, cannot be procured, that there is a food shortage," he said, "providing the consumer can secure other canned foods such as peas etc. The same reasoning applies to cuts of meat, lack of any special cut such as sirloin does not constitute a shortage. If however, the consumer cannot procure any type of canned vegetables or if no cuts of meat of any type are available, that constitutes a constitutes shortage," he explained.
Mr. Orr also stated that the Food Distribution Administration had authority to increase slaughterer's quotas within the county to those slaughterers who had secure permits through the County War Board, based on their 1941 slaughtering activities when it appeared there was a deficit of meat.
Members of the Food Advisory Committee include: Mr. Peterson, F. Pope, A.B. Peterson, Eddie Langford, M.J. Lodge, Miss Marie, Mrs. E. J. Lodge, Mrs. C. W. B. Lodge, Mrs. J. J. Lodge, D. J. Lodge, and Miss R. J. Lodge.

East Is Hoping To Have Potatoes In About Two Weeks

NEW YORK, May 13. (AP) There is not a simple answer to the question, "what happened to potatoes?" but to the companion query, "when do we get some?" comes a comforting reply pretty soon.
Increased supplies are expected within two weeks in Eastern markets where there has been only a fraction of the usual potato trade in recent weeks.
Several Southern shipping points report peak loading expected between May 15 and May 25. Louisiana is expected to ship 800,000 cars to Alabama expects to move between 600,000 and 800,000 cars.
The Carolina crop will start harvesting a fair crop shortly, and this will be followed by the North Carolina crop which was serious by damaged by early frost, but which has made good recovery since.
Market experts here attributed the shortage to number of factors. The armed forces recently took practically all of the remaining supplies of Idaho and old crop. Civilian consumption had been unusually heavy due to increased purchasing power and the rationing of other food items. And then the expected shipments from the South of new potatoes were delayed by cold weather.
Larger than-normal acreage have been planted in New Jersey and Long Island, but in common with the entire Atlantic Coast, these crops are now expected to mature two weeks later than normal.
During the past week small shipments have been received from California, Florida and Louisiana. The California acreage this year is expected to exceed the 8000 carloads shipped last year.
