Florida-Mississippi Game At University Attracts Attention

By FRANK S. WRIGHT
GAINESVILLE, Nov. 9.—All eyes will be on the boys who lug the pigskin, and the smallest lads on the Florida football team may be just the ones to manufacture one or more touchdowns, something that the Gators have not been able to accumulate in the last two games.

comes here Saturday with a great reputation for defensive play, it is not at all improbable that Coach Dutch Stanley might start his "pony backfield," made up of Ken Eptert, quarter; Ernie Priest and Fred Chance, halves, and Walter Middlekauff, fullback.

This combination weighs in at 185 pounds, and is much lighter than the 180-pound quartet of Wally Brown, quarter; Bill Chase and Jack Beckwith, halves, and Duke Warren, fullback.

And in addition to these eight backs there are five others, Charlie Stoltz, Jessie Jones, Harold Rose, Frank Hancock, and John McCarty. Stoltz, senior fullback, and a good one, was hurt in the Maryland game, did not even don a uniform last Saturday, and may not be ready this week. The same for Sophomore Rose, a promising fullback, who was injured in scrimmage just prior to the Georgia game. Jones sustained bruises in the Bulldog fray that may keep him on the sidelines and his condition will be in doubt for a few days yet. Hancock has been used only a little, while McCarty has not broken into varsity competition at all this fall, so it looks like, in the main, the two sets of backs—the 185 pound boys, and the 180-pound chaps, will be the important factors in a backfield way against Mississippi.

Carlton Bullock, quarterback, has abandoned the squad, and is not even continuing in the University this semester, so the Gators will not have his services any further this season. Bullock plans to come back for baseball next spring and the grid schedule of 1935.

Coach Dutch Stanley has been heartened by the improved play of his backs this week, and is looking for the ends to play superior ball as well against "Ole Miss." The wingmen have not been doing the best of blocking all season, but a different exhibition is anticipated against the Maroons for the Gator mentor, himself one of the greatest ends in Florida football history, has spent much time with the wingmen this week.

George Moye, the redoubtable right end, has looked better than any of the other guardians of the line terminals, although Captain Chuck Rogers seems to be out of a slight slump, and will be able to make Moye hustle for the honor of playing the best all-round game.

Robert Rickett continues to be used at either end, with Floyd Christian, Hubert (Corn) Schucht, Eddie Joe Long and Johnny Burroughs as principal contenders for either of the wing jobs.

The "Ole Miss"-Florida game has been creating increased interest with the passing of each day this week, and a larger gallery than was first predicted is probable. Clear and cool weather for Saturday, and a couple of teams whacking away with grim determination, offers an attractive occasion.

Upwards of 160 members of the local Woodmen of the World Camp and its Circle met in joint session at the Woodmen Hall last night to enjoy a business and program meeting featuring by talk on fraternalism made by E. E. Brady of Sanford and N. P. Dye of Orlando. A demonstration of fraternal ritualistic work also was given, with W. H. O'Barr introduced as a candidate. The work was handled by the team headed by Captain G. C. Hinckleff, with the following officers also lending a hand: J. W. Snow as past counsel; C. C. Collins as consul commander; E. B. Phillips as advisory lieutenant; C. B. Rudd as banker; G. W. Stinson as escort; T. E. Smith as watchman. A basket supper was served just before dancing which was enjoyed until a late hour. The Shannon String Band furnished the music.

A big 50 cents worth of entertainment is being planned by the Celebrations Committee of the Chamber of Commerce as the feature of the Charity Ball which is to be held at the Mayfair Hotel on Friday night, Nov. 30. Present plans call for a bridge party from 8:00 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock; a fashion show and 9:30 o'clock until 10:30 o'clock, and dancing from that hour until early in the morning. The Civic Club will handle the bridge party, a local ready-to-wear establishment is arranging for the fashion show, the Eben School of Dancing will provide special Honda entertainment, and the Chamber of Commerce will handle the dance. The 50 cent per person admission entitles each guest to all three events. All proceeds will go toward the purchase of a new operating lamp for Fernand-Lastaugh Memorial Hospital.

ED ASKED FOR COMPLETION OF BOULEVARD

Road Department To Spend $80,000 For Top Dressing Of 3½
Miles Of Highway

The State Road Department at Tallahassee late yesterday asked for bids for the completion of the boulevard leading along the south shore of Lake Monroe westward from Sanford to Monroe Bridge.

Coming on the heels of yesterday's Herald news of telling of the $210,000 construction program which has been under way here since June 1, the announcement from Tallahassee served to bring particular satisfaction to several local groups which have been working consistently for the completion of this road before the beginning of the new year.

The bid, returnable in Tallahassee on Nov. 22 calls for a lime rock, surface-treated paving over a distance of 3.12 miles. The cost is estimated at $80,000.

Early this afternoon County Engineer Tony Pitchford telephoned to officials of the Department to seek data upon which the bid is based, but he had not heard from his request as The Herald went to press.

Officially, the road will be from 22 to 30 feet wide, with a 10-inch base at least eight inches thick. It will be treated with slag and asphalt common to all state highways.

It was understood here last week that the task of completing the three and a half mile stretch of roadway might take ninety days. Then, although possibility was expressed that it might be possible to induce the Department to request the contractor that he double his crew so that the road might be completed within six weeks.

Stocks Lifted To Highest Levels Since Mid-August

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (AP) — A resumption of the post-election advance lifted stocks on the average yesterday to the highest levels since late August.

Swung upward by a heavy wave of buying in the last half hour of trading, many important stocks finished $1 to $3 a share higher.

Steel, motor, motor accessory, building issues were outstanding, on prospect of revival of construction activity and higher automobile output next year.

Volume on the Stock Exchange increased to 1,228,500 shares, the heaviest in about a month.

Some brokers viewed the upturn merely a renewal of a movement which began recently.

Inflationary sentiment revived in some quarters after the election but wheat and cotton made only small gains. U. S. government bonds were a trifle lower but most corporate bonds were steady to firm.

The quick formation of a new French cabinet relieved pressure on the franc.

Bulls noted further signs of a business upturn, including added gains in retail trade and a less-than-seasonal fall in railroad car loadings last week.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

Through yesterday, County Tax Collector Joe D. Jenkins had issued 260 state and county receipts for 1934, totaling $11,222.

Last year, through the same period from Nov. 1, he had issued less than 100 receipts and had collected approximately $7400.

This represents a 64 percent increase over last year's collections.

WERE MOVING FORWARD!

Huey Long Proposes 2-Year Moratorium On All Debts In State By Legislative Act

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 10. (AP) — Senator Huey P. Long today planned a two year moratorium on all debt in Louisiana by special legislative act.

The senator, at the governor's office today to draft bills for the special session which is expected to convene by Monday night, set at work enthusiastically on his debt erasure idea.

"How would it be to have the Louisiana public service commission issue a debt reprise?" he asked, surrounded by the governor's secretarial staff and his personal attendants.

Someone asked whether the minimum of debt fell within the scope of the public service commission constitutionally created to regulate the operation of public utilities.

"Oh, that's all right," he replied, "we'll either have them do it or we'll create a special board to do it."

Long said his plan was to grant a moratorium on "old debts," indicating he meant obligations of long standing that could not immediately be paid by and were burdens to the average man.

"I mean all debts," he answered emphatically. "We're taking care of vendors here in an amendment we're going to pass to the 1934 home mortgage moratorium act. This will be something else."

LEE SAYS STATE'S ELECTION OF NOT ALARMED AT MART MANAGER ELECTION RESULT DELAYED WEEK

Treasury In Its Best Shape In Years, He Reports To Editors

Miami, Nov. 10. (AP) — Financial affairs of Florida are of good shape and although several amendments were adopted in the general election which affect the state's finance, "we are not alarmed but are prepared to go ahead," Comptroller J. M. Lee told the Associated Dailies of Florida here yesterday.

"The treasury is in perhaps better shape than in many years," said the comptroller.

Gilbert Freeman of the comptroller's office, saying he was speaking as an individual, declared he would tell his state representative in Highlands County not to vote for any new revenue laws at the coming session of the legislature.

"I would tell him," said Freeman, "we have plenty of revenue laws on the books now to produce what is necessary. Don't let them tell you the homestead amendment ruined the tax structure. Don't vote for any sales, insurance, or other kinds of revenue measures. There may be a sales tax some day, but not for two years anyway."

Freeman asserted that the biggest thing needed is some kind of law to let the tax assessor find out (Continued on Page 2)

10,000 Armed Nazis In Saar League Told

Bankhead Says South Okeys His Measure

GENEVA, Nov. 10. (AP) — The League of Nations heard again yesterday that German Nazis have armed forces working secretly in the Saar basin for the territory's annexation to Germany.

Secret police numbering 10,000 are busy terrorizing Saarlanders believed to be opposed to joining Germany, the League's committee governing the Saar advised Geneva, while newspapers and German radio facilities are used to persecute and slander individuals, including priests.

Inflatory sentiment revived in some quarters after the election but wheat and cotton made only small gains. U. S. government bonds were a trifle lower but most corporate bonds were steady to firm.

The quick formation of a new French cabinet relieved pressure on the franc.

Bulls noted further signs of a business upturn, including added gains in retail trade and a less-than-seasonal fall in railroad car loadings last week.

The official tabulation brought but little change in the returns as gathered by The Herald Tuesday night. Less than 100 mail votes were added to those already counted, while only in one or two instances was it found that a correction had to be made.

NEAL LYNCHING FARLEY TOLD HELD AS DONE TO CUT DOWN BY 'UNKNOWN'S HIS BOASTING

Jackson County Grand Jury Says It Finds Only Hearsay In Information Of Case

MARIANNA, Nov. 10. (AP) — The Jackson county grand jury reported yesterday that Claude Neal, a negro, was lynched by "persons unknown" to it.

Neal, charged with killing a white woman, was removed by a mob from the Brewton, Ala. jail on Oct. 19, and the next morning his body, mutilated with knives and pierced by bullets, was found strung from a tree on the Jackson county courthouse square here.

Governor Dave Shultz, declaring "we do not condone lynching in Florida," ordered an investigation by the grand jury, and said "some of the ring leaders of the mob are supposed to be known." He did not announce the source of this information.

In its report yesterday to Circuit Judge Amos Lewis, the grand jury said in part:

"We are not able to get much direct or positive information with reference to this matter. (The lynching of Neal) practically all our evidence and information being hearsay and rumors."

"However, we find that Miss Lola Cannady was brutally murdered by Claude Neal, and that Neal came to his death in this county at the hands of a small group of persons unknown to us. After being forcibly removed from the jail at Brewton, Ala., by persons unknown to us."

"We find that the sheriff of our county did everything within his power under the circumstances to protect his prisoner, and we commend him for his action in performing his duty."

The report, fixing the place of the lynching of Neal as "in this county," ended speculation over reports that Neal actually was lynched in Alabama, before the mob brought him across the state line.

The Escambia county, Alabama grand jury is to meet Monday at 1 p.m. to begin investigating the conduct of the county of Neal from the time of his arrival in the state.

DELIGHT AND DESIRE:
Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desire of thine heart. Psalm 37:4.

LIFE'S STORMS

He tempest rages. Sable night hath cast its mantle over land and sea.
The North wind blows and Purrs like the pale.
The scolding flocks, fear kills him many times.
Before the Reaper grants him sleep and peace.
The strong man trips and stumbles.
He keeps his faith in God and never fails.
He fails but rises, time and time again.
At last the dawn breaks forth and light appears.
A fainting circles slowly over his head.
Gaining strength and hope as home roll on.
He stands erect, steadfast and true to faith.
And from the storm hath gained another step.
Towards the goal of life's perfection.
Take courage, all ye weak ones, work and trust.
The storm will soon be over and sunshine reign again.—Table.

Of all the people who are happy over the defeat of Upton Sinclair we doubt if any is happier than Upton himself, who tried so hard. Let me truly say he elected. Now he will not have to make good on his pledge. He will not have to end poverty in California or anywhere, rather a big job for a man who has never succeeded even in ending poverty in his own family though he could always write books which sold for big profits. He made big money and spent it faster than he made it. As governor of California he probably would have, no, some feared, spent taxpayers' money faster than they could make it.

Sixteen Years Ago

It was sixteen years ago tomorrow that a sorrowing war-torn world was thrilled to learn that the command had been sent down the opposing lines to cease firing. The Armistice had been signed and the bloody conflict which had lasted more than four bitter years, costing hundreds of billions of dollars and destroying millions of lives, was over.

It is no exaggeration to say that no news in all the history of the world was received with such rejoicing by the people. Not only had the terrible struggle been brought to an end, an event as fully appreciated by the vanquished as by the victors, but also was the outlook for a better and more prosperous world improved.

The leading statesmen of the world met at Versailles to remake the map of Europe, to eliminate old sores which for centuries had been a constant source of strife, to divert huge sums previously spent on armaments to constructive things, and to bring about a lasting and enduring peace. The people then were hopeful of a better day to come.

Sixteen years have passed, and we find today a world more impoverished than at the close of the war. We find more money being spent in preparation for another war than before 1914. We find more prejudices, more jealousies, more misunderstanding existing between the various peoples of the earth than ever before. The powder barrel of the world awaits only the proper spark to set it off.

Veterans of that last war still have a noble duty to perform. If their comrades in Flanders Field are not to have died in vain, no selfish interests, no mass hysteria must be allowed to make a mockery of the high ideals and lofty purposes with which we went into that last conflict. No petty quarrel between concealed dictators of little European nations must involve us in another war to end wars.

And it is not alone the danger of foreign war that threatens, but the ever present menace of civil strife among our own people. Discontented elements, constantly seeking to stir up discord, hoping only for the chaos which makes their supremacy possible, are rallying their forces seeking to undermine the principles of Democracy upon which this country was founded, and for which our soldiers sought to make the world safe in 1918.

Veterans of the World War should be ready to stand up and fight again, if necessary, to save Democracy. America must be kept safe for Americans.

Game Laws

J. V. Kelley, who is the United States Game Management Agent, with headquarters at Daytona Beach, was a visitor in Sanford yesterday and during a call at our office asked us to advise the sportsmen of this section the open season dates for the various types of birds found here, and also the bag limits for these birds.

Mr. Kelley says that the season for ducks, geese, Wilson or Jack Snipe, and coots opens on November 22 and closes on January 11, inclusive, and shooting is allowed only on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays, from sunrise to sunset. Duck and goose hunters must have a duck stamp at all times on their person while hunting. These stamps may be purchased at all postoffices in all county seats for one dollar and should be affixed to the hunting license.

The daily bag limit, as given The Herald by Mr. Kelley, is as follows:

DUCKS: 12 in the aggregate of ALL kinds but not more than 5 in the aggregate of the following kinds: Elder duck, canvasback, redhead, greater and lesser scaup (bluebill), ringneck, blue and green-winged teal, cinnamon teal, shoveller (spoonbill) and gadwall.

GEES: 1 Grouse and Snow Goose entirely protected.

WILSON OR JACK SNipe: 15.

COOTS: 20.

DOVES: Open season November 20 to January 31, inclusive. Bag limit 14.

MARSH HENS, RAHS, GALLINULES: Season September 1 to November 30 inclusive. Bag limit 25 of ALL kinds in aggregate but not more than 15 of any one species.

POSSESSION LIMIT: for ALL above birds is 2 days bag limit.

Mr. Kelley suggests that every hunter should cut this information out and carry it with him at all times as it is important that the laws in this respect are not violated. Real sportsmen will hunt according to the rules; others must.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Whatever view editorial writers and political commentators may favor as to the significance of the most recent mark of presidential favor shown Donald R. Richberg, those in the best position to know merely regard it as a question of administrative routine.

As executive director of the now consolidated triumvirate of White House co-ordinating recovery agencies, Mr. Richberg's functions are not notably changed. Everyone from the President down and including Richberg are aware of this fact.

There is, however, an unwilling element of Richberg's cohort of equal if not greater importance in the eyes of President Roosevelt. It will be up to him to keep up the White House itself, instead of humanity possible, that report Secretary Wallace almost certainly will order an acreage cut of 25 percent below the acreage in the past of around 51,000,000 acres.

SINCLAIR FINDS TIME TO SMILE EVEN IN DEFEAT

Author Considers Recall Movement, Rebirth Of Program

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—(AP)—While Upton Sinclair, in exilition, surveyed recently the ruins of his "Epic" Democratic drive for the governorship of California, a meeting of Epic executives and campaigners was called in Los Angeles to consider plans for marching on with their program to abolish poverty and put unemployed to work.

The gubernatorial victor, Frank P. Merriam, (R) happily claimed the election "demonstrated the essential common-sense of the people of California."

Former President Herbert Hoover telegraphed congratulations to Merriam and George H. Ballfield, Republican Lieutenant Governor, but made no public comment.

Hour by hour figures on the battle of ballots added to the Republican triumph in the state, but at the same time the "Epic"

VICTIMS OF DEADLY POLITICAL AMBUSH

Andrew Kontrishian, one of five persons fatally shot when gunmen fired from ambush on a Democratic parade at Kelyres, Pa., is shown at the left as he lay on his deathbed in a hospital. champion professed to find encouragement even in defeat.

Returns were nearing completion and Sinclair had rolled up a vote approaching three-quarters of a million despite the fact his novel bid for power had been fought as radical and communistic.

Sinclair chuckled as he referred to the election outcome. "If we had had a better candidate," he said, "we might have won."

He called himself "an author of too many books trying to be a politician."

There was seriousness and determination, however, in an expression he made to his supporters: "I'm beginning to fight." He said a recall effort against Merriam probably would be started within six months.

"At the end of the first skirmish," Sinclair said, "I want to express my eternal gratitude and devotion to all those faithful workers who have built up the Epic movement all over the State of California."

"I told them it was their job and they did it."

"They can count it a great victory over so many millions of dollars."

The former lawyer elevated to the governorship in the election asserted the "Epic" of Sinclair did not "reflect in any sense" a victory for reactionaryism.

Addressing the Los Angeles Breakfast Club he said he had been told that "what happened Tuesday was the most important event in the recent history of California."

"But what happens today, and from this day henceforth," he added, "will also be very important. We must join together in pushing forward for our state. It is a task which I cannot accomplish alone."

The victory of Hatfield for the lieutenant governorhip over Sheridan Dooley, "Epic" contender, was less decisive than Merriam's but appeared clear cut."

Other Republicans seeking state offices fared well in the swing against Sinclair. Senator Hirman Johnson, holding both the Republican and Democratic nominations as well as those of two minor parties to succeed himself, had only nominal opposition.

WILL PREVATT SHOT DEAD IN YARD OF HOME

Calvin A. Oldham of Geneva, he to Miss Nettie Curry of Geneva.

The Prevatts who divorced in December 1931; the Oldhams were divorced in February 1932, and Mr. Prevatt and the former Mrs. Oldham were married on Aug. 22, 1932. He was about 45 years of age while she is about 24 or 25.

According to Sheriff McClelland, the shooting occurred at about 1:15 o'clock, and Hattie Ross, the negro, is the only eye witness.

Quoting Sheriff McClelland, Mrs. Prevatt, her small daughter Lois, and the negro, arrived to Oviedo early in the afternoon just before they left, Miss Prevatt asked for some money to take a few purchases. She gave her $3 and she complained that it wasn't enough," Sheriff McClelland said. "She said, 'I have more and so that's all the money he had and I want to have it.'"

Miss Prevatt, in a postscript remark, with a sharp answer, she drove off. Sheriff McClelland said.

When the three returned home about 4:30 o'clock, Mr. Prevatt met his wife in the yard and warned her against making any remarks to him again. According to Sheriff McClelland, Mr. Prevatt dropped his wife on the neck as he reprimanded her.

The negro had come into the small cabin a few feet away from Sheriff McClelland and had witnessed this portion of what proved to be the fatal argument.

While the negro was in the house, Mr. Prevatt called to her three times to tell her that country of fish oil in the barrels for her. The negro was still piping in oil when he went outside into the yard. He was shot dead, when the shotgun was fired.

Quoting Sheriff McClelland, "As she stepped through the door she saw Will with his gun in front of his wife and started to run to keep her from firing again. In an instant, he shot her down and, holding it almost against her body, she fired. He staggered

FRENCH YOUTH STAGE RIOT ON ARMISTICE DAY

20,000 Students Rent Air With Epithets Demanding Death Of Ex-Premier Herriot

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Riots in the heart of Paris marred Armistice Day ceremonies yesterday. Royalists and nationalists held a violent anti-government demonstration along the Boulevard de la Madeleine.

Autos loaded with police driving clubs charged into the mob. Five leaders were arrested in this street fighting.

Hundreds of youths, chiefly students, started riots at the conclusion of a plaus Armistice Day ceremony at the tomb of the unknown soldier on the Champs Elysees. They marched in a column 28,000 strong, flanked by police, proceeding through the famous Place de la Concorde, scene of the "bloody Tuesday" riots last February.

The column, orderly in the main, proceeded into the Latin Quarter, shouting "Vive Duguemar! Down with Herriot and his radicals!"

Thousands cheered the column, but made no trouble until the remnants broke off down the Boulevard de la Madeleine. A mob gathered around the Hotel de Paris, on the boulevard, where Herriot is staying, but was absent.

"Hang Herriot to a post!" shouted the mob. The police riot squad dispersed the throng.

The Armistice Day ceremonies came to a climax earlier at the tomb, where the flame was re-lit under the Arc de Triomphe at 10:00 A. M. by a torch carrier from Brussels.

The torch was used first by King Leopold, lighting the fire tomb. Belgian veterans carried it to Valenciennes, where they handed the torch to French veterans, who carried it across the battlefields of the World War to Paris.

Exactly at 11:00 A. M., the hour of the armistice, thousands of white pigeons were released in the forest where the German and Allied delegates signed the armistice in the special cabin of the late Marshal Foch, hidden in the trees.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

The United States Post office at Sanford reports a 13 percent increase in postal money orders in October 1934 as compared with October 1933, and a 26 percent increase during the first 10 days of November as compared with the first 10 days of November 1933.

And this is a time of year when money usually is withdrawn for the purchase of clothing and winter supplies, and for needs on farms and groves within the county!

Bartow Judge Nearly Loses Pants Trying To Separate Lawyers Fighting In Court

BARTOW, Nov. 12.—Judge H. C. Pettway came near losing his pants when two Lake Wales lawyers, George Graham and Emmett Donnelly, engaged in a fist fight in his chambers office during the hearing of matters growing out of the dissolution of their law partnership about six weeks ago.

After the dissolution Donnelly filed a bill for accounting and Graham returned answer. It was at the hearing on this in one of the back rooms of the circuit court auditorium that the incident occurred.

According to an eye-witness, Donnelly made an observation that prompted Graham to deliver the first punch. Then both went into a huddle, with Graham doing the majority of the hitting, while Judge

Pettway and other lawyers endeavored to part them.

In the process of extrication, Judge Pettway's pants were grabbed in the front and ripped downward.

Judge Pettway fined both $25, but remitted Donnelly's fine because his glasses were broken in the melee.

Graham is said to have addressed a pertinent remark to Donnelly after the affair and indicated that as far as he was concerned, the business was not finished.

Donnelly was held under bond while in connection with the assassination of Joe Beal about three years ago. Donnelly had a $20,000 double indemnity policy on Beal's life.

LANDIS RULING DELAYS LEGAL LIQUOR SET-UP

Davis Package Ruling Cannot Be Put Into Effect Until Nov. 23

TAMPA, Nov. 12.—A new opinion by Attorney General Landis changed the entire legal liquor set-up here and delayed until Nov. 23, at least, the first legal sale under the Davis package law.

The opinion, read to the county commissioners by County Attorney Sutton, outlines two distinct methods of obtaining permits to open liquor stores. They are:

(1) Applications to open liquor stores must be accompanied by petitions signed by a majority of the voters in the election precinct where the store is to be operated. The voters' petitions are to be based on the revised registration of last June. Applications must be filed at regular meetings of the county commission and must be advertised once a week for two weeks before the commission can act on permits.

(2) In any election precinct where an application and voter petition has been filed as outlined above since Oct. 1, 1937, applications may now be filed on or before the first Tuesday of each month and advertised once a week until the first Tuesday of the next month before the commission can act on a permit.

Under the second plan, an application could not be considered by the commission before the first Tuesday in December, and a permittee to the signal political victory of New Deal," he said.

Father Coughlin concluded his weekly address by outlining a plan for organization of a national union for social justice with chapters in every county, city and town, in which enrollment would be by mail and without fees, and supported by the voluntary offering of those who can afford to support it.

Referring to the "signal political victory of New Deal," at the polls last Tuesday, Father Coughlin said: "I shall not be one either today or at any future date to break down your confidence in the outcome of this New Deal. My constant prayer is for its success. Soft words and infinite praise, however, must have no more place than this present hour than had our empty rejoicing 16 years ago."

Noting the anniversary of Armistice Day, the priest said: "It is almost with a cynical smile that we hope for peace when we recognize the feverish efforts of every great nation as they are busy manufacturing cannons and shells, war ships and lethal gases. The stage is being set for the last

762 Needy Students In 14 Colleges In Florida Will Benefit By FERA Money

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Formation of an advisory committee of bankers to co-operate with the export-import banks of Washington which were created by President Roosevelt early this year to stimulate foreign and interstate commerce, was announced yesterday.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, explained the apportionments to each school has been based on enrollment of students as of Oct. 15, 1933.

Students receiving the assistance will be employed in socially desirable work on and off the campus. The campus jobs consisting principally of research and clerical, office, museum and laboratory tasks.

LEGISLATORS PWA PROGRAM WILL RESPOND NOW ASSISTS TO ROOSEVELT 7 MILLIONS

President's Views On Varied Changes In Social Structure Supported By Many

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A rough cross-section of opinion in the new Congress indicates it will be extremely responsive to Roosevelt leadership.

Greenbacks by legislative fiat will appear out. On questions of the veterans' bonus, 30-hour week and the like numerous middle-grounders apparently intend to base their final positions on that of the President at the time of the showdown.

This does not mean that anti-administration majorities are impossible, but rather that major vetoes—if any—may carry more authority than last winter. Two were overridden.

The extent to which voters in the recent campaign were more committed on big issues, while pledging support to the President's Civil Works program and with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Direct employment on construction sites was said to have reached a peak in the late summer. Total employment, which lags several months behind, is expected, the division said, to be at a maximum during the winter or early spring.

The division predicted, more over,

"They can put out in aid or do anything they want with me," said the retired Marine officer.

Speaking at an Army Day service in Temple BNAC, Jesuiton, General Butler declared the world was on the verge of another war.

"There are no Communists in Europe today," he said. "They are not there to interfere with us." He also said the division would be held responsible for the cost of the Civil Works program.

By tabulating the records stands of various winners last Tuesday and of senators not before the electorate at the time from campaign speeches, answers to questionnaires, past votes and the like, some interesting signs of what to look for were obtained. In occasional instances, the results crossed party lines.

Budget balancing evidently will be deferred by general consent. Relief and public works spending hardly will be curtailed yet.

NRA and AAA, though legislatively inevitable, have powerful supporters.

Bonds sentiment is noticeably stronger among representatives than among senators. The latter oppose the 30-hour week. Open hearings to implement insurance and old age pension legislation is negligible. The bargaining action of the Recovery Act, A.A., is favored.

These are the signs in the wind perceived through the key way.

Here is a quick look at the fall line by percentages applying to Congress as a whole:

U. S. Industry Faces New Menace Of Japan

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Just when American textile manufacturers seemed to be gaining ground by way of settling manifold problems affecting in industry at home, a new threat has come from abroad in the form of aggressive competition from Japan in international markets.

Persons in close touch with industry readily admit that Japan has made remarkable strides in recent years and statistics indicate she now occupies the world's dominant position from a standpoint of volume of textiles, apparently overtaking democratic landslides in the last bitterly fought campaign in the state.

Cutting's Popularity Among Poor Valuable

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Two factors in the white wall of a adobe house—one of the poor and the other of "the cutting"—brought the one secret of the popularity of Senator Strom Thurman. Every independent Republican, he says, is a "cutting" man.

Thurman's political career, he says, is built upon well and honest work over the years given you."

General Butler gave the verdict.

Problem Of Want In Midst Of Plenty Challenge To Rotary, Pioneer Claims

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12.—The problem of want in the midst of plenty, with people dying and committing suicide "all because of our money superstitions" presents a challenge to Rotarians to approximate their ideal of "Service for self," R. Roosevelt Pays His Tribute To Soldier

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—On the anniversary of the armistice 16 years ago yesterday, when guns were still in the bloodiest war in history, President Roosevelt honored yesterday to Arlington Cemetery and laid a wreath on the marble tomb of the unknown soldier.

Standing with bowed head in the chill November sunshine, he paid his respects to the unknown soldier, and then went to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

"I am older than any of you," said Mr. Harrison, "and I know the strenuous times we had in the middle '30s. I want to tell you in such trots as there are now. There was a great deal of work to be done.

Huey Assembles Legislators To "Crack Down" On Public Utility Groups In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 12.—Senator Huey P. Long, Louisiana's stubborn political dictator, whose clownish antics and hair trigger mind have spread disarray and disaster among his enemies, was preparing for another act on the Louisiana stage last night.

He was assembling his Legislature in another special session to "crack down" on the public utility companies and help the poor people of the state.

WINTER WINDS BRING SNOW TO VIRGINIA

First Real Blow Of Season Brings Cold Weather To Every Section Of Nation

By The Associated Press

The first real blow of winter struck the United States today, bringing snow to Virginia, and freezing temperatures far down into the southland.

Although snow had fallen several days ago in the northeast in a snap there today's cold weather is the first felt generally over the United States.

The thermometer hit the topegan for 10 and 20 degree slides over the weekend, and prospects are for colder weather tonight.

The coldest point early today was Flat Top, W. Va., with 20 degrees.
