GLASS DOESN'T LIKE SLAP AT HIS DRY IDEAS

Virginia Senator Defends Himself Against Attack Made By Anti-Prohibitionists On Analogy Of 2 Amendments

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(INS)—There is no analogy between the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution and the Eighteenth Amendment, Senator Carter Glass (D) of Virginia, declared in a letter published today, in which he answered inferential charges that he is sincere in advocating the strict enforcement of the latter, while condoning nullification of the other.

The criticism of Senator Glass' position, published in a New York newspaper, and brought to his attention by the association opposed to the prohibition amendment, drew a letter from the Virginia Senator in the form of a letter to the association.

"The attempt to draw an analogy between the attitude of the south on the question of negro suffrage and the position of prohibition is a sure sign of stupidity," said Glass. "If one were to impute the same truth to the alleged analogy, the conclusive answer would be that the south's resistance to the Fifteenth Amendment was intended to avert the wretched consequences of the unspeakable crime involved in the adoption of the amendment."

Declaring that the nullification efforts of the anti-prohibitionists is an "encouragement to crime," while the action of southern states, legitimate and constitutional, is an "encouragement to crime," Glass assailed the Fifteenth Amendment vigorously, expressing doubt if it was ever constitutionally ratified.

"It was done, if at all, at the point of the bayonet under aspects of military terrorism that was in itself a crime." The Eighteenth Amendment, on the other hand, he said, was "deliberately and purposefully ratified."

Glass pointed out, in addition, a fundamental generic difference between the two amendments, asserting that there has never been enacted any federal law to obtain enforcement of the negro suffrage Act, while congress "did overwhelmingly enact a statute to enforce the prohibition amendment, and observance of the law is obligatory on every citizen."

OFFICIAL ABSCONDS

PEKING, Nov. 16.—(INS)—That there is a shortage of $31,000 in the government funds handled by Heinrich Krenz, disbursing officer of the United States Legation, who had been missing for two weeks, was revealed today by American Charge D'Affaires F. L. Mays.

District Attorney Closes Investigation Of Alleged Jury Fixing In Oil Trial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The battle of the affidavits is at an end. Aside from the gathering up of a few minor pieces of physical evidence, the district attorney's office has completed its investigation into alleged tampering with the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial. The decision of the Federal Grand Jury as to whether any bills should be returned is now awaited.

Involved in the alleged conspiracy to illegally influence the Tennessee jury are Harry F. Sinclair, who, with former secretary of interior Albert B. Fall, was charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government of naval oil reserves; H. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Company alleged "contract man" between Sinclair and the Bureau of Geology; Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company, also said to have been a "contract man"; William J. Burns, circular head of the private detective firm which was engaged to keep the Fall-Sinclair group under constant surveillance; W. Sherman Burns, son of W. J. Burns, and secretary-treasurer of the agency to whom reports were made and who was held marshal of the operation that did the investigating work; Charles G. Ruddy, manager of the flying squadron assigned to trail the jury; William J. McMillin, Burns operative known to them as William V. Long who "became disinterested with the case"; and several other persons.

The affidavits, arising from a separate investigation, charged that Edward Kidwell with a "contract man" in violation of law, probably will be indicted on Monday, at the law office of the district attorney, Gordon to whom it will be a speedy trial.

R. J. HOLLY JR. IS SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Sanford Man Loses 2 Fingers In Automobile Collision At Fourth and Mellenville; West Palm Beach Man Breaks Ribs

As the result of injuries sustained in an automobile collision late Tuesday afternoon, Robert J. Holly Jr., suffered the loss of two fingers on his right hand and W. W. Lettridge of West Palm Beach sustained several broken ribs. Mrs. Holly and baby who were with Mr. Holly escaped with minor bruises. A negro nurse sitting in the rear seat also had slight injuries.

The accident occurred at Mellenville Avenue and Fourth Street. According to the police version, the Holly car was traveling west on Fourth Street and Mr. Lettridge, driving a large Studebaker sedan, was going south on Mellenville. The Holly car, according to the police, struck the sedan on its left side near the rear wheel, causing it to skid some 30 feet where it turned completely over, pinning Mr. Lettridge beneath it.

The Holly car, a Red Sedan, turned over on its right side as a result of the impact. Mr. Holly grasped the top with his right hand and when the auto turned on its side the top pinned Mr. Holly's hand beneath it, causing considerable injury to it. Mr. Holly was taken to the Fernhill Lighthouse where two fingers were amputated. Some fingers were expressed that he may suffer the loss of his hand.

R. J. Holly Sr., said his daughter-in-law in recounting her story of the accident said she stopped her car as she neared the intersection and seeing no other auto in sight, turned into Mellenville Avenue to go south. The Lettridge car, she said, was going at a fast rate of speed when it crashed into the right front part of the Holly car, causing it to swerve to the right while the other car skidded some feet away.

Those who viewed the wreck describe as miraculous the escape of Mrs. Holly and the baby from serious injury. Mr. Lettridge, after going to the police station and giving his version of the mishap, (Continued on Page 4)

Anti-American Sentiment Aroused By Mexican Government Influence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(INS)—The wave of anti-American sentiment that sprang up throughout Central America over President Coolidge's Nicaragua policy was, in part, "purchased" by the Mexican Government, the Washington Herald asserted today in the fourth of a series of articles exposing Mexican activities in the recent Nicaraguan situation.

Between the dates of Dec. 15 and Feb. 3 last, the Herald declares that President Calles sent $1,075,000 in cash into Nicaragua and contiguous countries to "whip up" anti-American sentiment. The Herald prints fac-similes of the orders upon the Mexican Treasury for the money, which contained the instruction, "charge this item to secret expenditures of the Executive (President Calles)."

The money was spent, the Herald says, not only to finance and arm the Liberal Government of Dr. Juan B. Saca, in Nicaragua, but also to purchase newspaper propaganda and pay expenses of orators who berated the United States and its foreign policy.

FARM RELIEF IS THOUGHT SURE BY SUPPORTERS

Although Several Plans Have Been Considered For Financing Surplus Crops, Old Equalization Fee Now Desired

Leaders Think Bill Will Meet Success

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(INS)—The farm relief pendulum, after swinging toward several substitute plans, turned back today to the McNary-Haugen bill, with farm leaders predicting its enactment into law even over a presidential veto.

Although several other plans for financing surplus crops have been considered at a series of farm conferences during the past week, the agricultural spokesmen here apparently have reinstated the old equalization fee as the basis for farm relief legislation. The McNary-Haugen bill, it was said, will be reintroduced in both House and Senate as soon as Congress reconvenes, and it will feature the equalization fee.

The preponderance of opinion among farm leaders leaned toward early enactment of the bill including the equalization fee. They even boasted that the bill probably would be enacted over a presidential veto, although this was not attempted a year ago when Mr. Coolidge disapproved an identical bill.

The farm leaders, however, declared there has been a change of heart on the part of some western and southern opponents of the equalization fee as a result of conferences with the "people back home." They maintained there will be enough votes in the Seventieth Congress to put the bill on the statute books, regardless of presidential disapproval.

The administration meanwhile will be prepared to sponsor a substitute bill based on the Johnson plan of government credits. This plan would establish huge credits for farmer's cooperatives, by which the farmers could hold their surplus crops off the world market until favorable prices were obtained. The Congressional leaders though will oppose this plan and expect to defeat it.

"I feel certain the McNary-Haugen bill will pass by a greater majority than before," Senator Watson (R) of Ind., predicted. "If the President vetoes it, I rather expect Congress will enact it into law over his veto." Leaders of the insurgent bloc held the same view, even though they have not frequently in the past month for conferences on other farm proposals.

"If the McNary-Haugen bill is reintroduced and it contains the equalization fee," observed Senator Norris (R) of Neb., insurgent leader, "I expect it will be enacted."

Senator Nye (R) of N. D., another insurgent said: "There is a greater determination now to rethrust at any time since the president vetoed it. This sentiment is due to the fact that all of that has been said or offered as a substitute, no other plan offers the same prospect of taking care of surpluses as does the equalization fee. I expect the bill will be enacted into law, even over a presidential veto."

Senator Caraway (D) of Ark., also predicted enactment of the bill over a veto. He indicated much stronger support of the measure from southern Democrats.

Police Resist An Attack By Miners

DENVER, Nov. 16.—(INS)—State police and mine guards, with machine guns mounted nearby, today repulsed an attempt by more than 100 picketers led by a woman dressed Columbine Mine at Lafayette in flaming red to close the mine in the northern coal field, the only mine in that district to operate daily since the coal strike, precipitated by I. W. W. leaders, called Oct. 18. National Guard airplanes circled overhead while the mob was held at bay.

LABOR MAY KEEP PRESIDENT FROM HANDLING STRIKE

Appeals Are Sent To Coolidge And Governor Fisher Asking Them Not To Invaide Rights Of 85,000 Striking Miners

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—Direct appeals to President Coolidge and Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, will be made by the American Federation of Labor to prevent invasion of the rights of 85,000 striking bituminous coal miners in Pennsylvania.

This was one of several recommendations contained in a resolution adopted by a conference called by President William L. Green of the A. F. of L., to devise means of aiding the striking bituminous miners in western and central Pennsylvania. A committee, headed by President Green, was scheduled to call on Governor Fisher in Harrisburg today.

Delegates to the conference bitterly assailed the intervention of the federal courts in the controversy between miners and operators and J. S. Otis of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Council, urged mass violation of the federal injunction granted by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker at the behest of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company.

Later the conference inferentially indorsed mass violation of the injunction, adopting a resolution which while demanding of the miners that they make their strike conform strictly to law stated that the injunction has been used "to set aside the law."

It was decided that the American Federation of Labor will enter no independent ticket in the 1928 presidential campaign because of the huge cost of such an undertaking, but will support candidates known to be favorable to organized labor.

The resolution instructing a committee to call upon the president and governor charged that in Pennsylvania all the anticombination laws intended to restrain the great corporate combinations, have been overt of safe guard and advance corporate wealth and to oppress wage earners."

Stating that many Pennsylvania soft coal miners are on the verge of destitution, with winter upon them, the resolutions committee ordered that all unions immediately engage in an active campaign to secure money, food and clothing "for the oppressed wage earners."

Funeral Service For McGuin To Be Held Thursday Morning

Funeral services for A. V. McGuin, pioneer citizen and prominent citrus grower of Seminole County who died Sunday night at his home in Paola, will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the funeral home of Miller and Erickson, Rev. W. P. Buhman, pastor of the First Methodist Church will have charge of the services.

The body will be held here pending final plans for its burial either in Atlanta or in Canada. Mrs. McGuin arrived here Tuesday from Atlanta where she has been living for some time. Mrs. McGuin had been notified late Monday following the discovery of Mr. McGuin's body in his little garage apartment which was recently built on his grove near Paola.

Mr. McGuin had been in poor health for several years, according to his friends. He was on the verge of a nervous breakdown as the result of his continuous illness. Last Saturday morning he met with an accident when he drove his automobile through the front of the McCrory's store on First Street. Friends here attributed his death to heart failure brought on as a result of the shock of the accident.

Mr. McGuin came to this county in the eighties and with Dr. J. M. Bishop was associated in the Bishop groves at Paola. His first wife died about 10 years ago and later he married the present Mrs. McGuin.

REMUS' NOTES TO YOUNG WIFE ARE PUBLISHED

Imogene Wrote Remus While In Jail That She Intended Filing Suit For Divorce

Ex-Liquor Leader Didn't Know Why Eleven Jurors Accepted As Slow Work Is Continued Today

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Nov. 16 (INS)—Correspondence passing between George Remus, on trial for murder in criminal court, and his wife, Imogene, whom he shot and killed on Oct. 6 last, was obtained exclusively by International News Service today, as the third day of the trial opened. Eleven tentatively accepted jurors were in the box this morning and the tedious task of obtaining the jury was resumed.

The following note disclosed to Remus, then a prisoner in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, that his wife was planning to divorce him. It was written in pencil by Mrs. Remus in a Western Union blank and read as follows: "George: 'After our conversation today, it is very plain that you have lost confidence in me, and as you told me to go ahead and file, think I will follow your advice. If at any time I can assist you please let me know. My heart weighs too heavy to say any more.' (Signed) 'Imo.'"

A copy of this communication obtained today and shown to Remus, he entered a plea of guilty, admitted he had received the above note following his last meeting with Mrs. Remus at the Atlanta Penitentiary. "I could not understand the meaning of the note," said Remus. "It was my first intimation from her that she was planning to leave me. She visited me the very morning I received this communication. We held a long conference in Warden Snook's office. She had kissed me good-bye and we parted, as I thought, in excellent spirits."

That woman, however, as I see it now, left this note at the penitentiary to be delivered to me after she left. I immediately attempted to decipher it, but did not understand its real meaning until I was notified that she had filed suit for divorce at Cincinnati the next day. Remus killed his wife in Eden Park while she went to court to divorce him. She followed her taxicab in his limousine, dragged her from the cab and shot her. "I never suggested that she divorce me as the note indicates," declared Remus. "During our last conversation I did rebuke her for not being in Cincinnati tending to business but we settled that, I thought, and was looking forward to a happy reunion with her when I was to be released."

"Every night I pray for my son—pray that he will not have to die in the electric chair. I have placed my trust in God." Mrs. Frank Remus, the gray haired 72-year-old mother of George Remus, made this statement in broken accents to International News Service today.

She has come from Chicago to be near her son, now battling in court to escape the death penalty. She is staying in the thirty room mansion owned by Remus that he used to call his "dream house" when he and the woman he killed lived in splendor there. Nearly every room in the place is now bare, having been stripped of all its furnishings by Mrs. Remus when Remus was in jail. Even the alabaster lions in front of the home were removed.

Eastern Prestige Goes Up With Army's Victory And Pitt's Defeat Of Nebraska

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Eastern prestige, which is something usually kicks first and examines afterward, if at all, came into its own with a rush in consequence of Saturday's football returns, which showed the Army and Pittsburgh the winners in the two big inter-sectional games of the month and perhaps the season. Pitt won from Nebraska representative team of the Missouri valley conference, the Army scored with surprising ease over Notre Dame, supposedly the greatest outfit in the Middle West if not the entire country.

As a result, Eastern football looks rather good through the central sections of the country this morning and it wouldn't look so bad in the South either, provided Princeton beat Yale.

But it seems that Princeton didn't because it spent the last eight minutes in helping to beat itself. The Tiger was in front with eight minutes to play, and always a sap for the overhead game, it was taken in for Yale decided to try one of those shots in the dark that sometimes work. This one called for a pass from midfield on the fourth down with 13 yards to gain. It produced the winning touchdown.

However you don't give Yale a 100 per cent break unless you grant it due recognition for the fighting spark that could and did carry it through after the loss of Caldwell and an early Princeton touchdown had made matters look like thirty days on the rock pile.

The defeats of Princeton and Notre Dame reduced the lists of unbeaten teams by two, the others managing to stay with the pace of these Tennessee, which got a 7-07 standoff with Vanderbilt and something of a set back in its plan for the acquisition of the Southern title. Georgia, also unbeaten and the only team "to take" Yale, came through as usual against Clemson, leaving the crackers with an average score of 31-1-3 points against all opponents except Yale. The latter crossed Georgia's goal line for the only time this season.

Pittsburgh was another undefeated team to survive the day and W. and J., winner over Bucknell, was a third. New York University, getting a very meritorious 13 to 13 tie with Penn State, completes the ranks of unbeaten elevens in the East.

Those of the Middle West, Illinois and Minnesota, arch-rivals for the Big Ten title, won rather handsily. The Illini almost clinched the title by beating Chicago while the Gophers scored easily over Drake, using their second string through the last two periods.

Of upsets there were not many in number but they were cataclysmic in character. Who expected the Army to beat Notre Dame by three touchdowns? Silence seems to be absolutely deafening.

Notre Dame was too flat footed to have a chance with an Army team that was fast, shifty, smart and altogether at the peak of its game. Rated now with Yale, Pitt and W. and J. as an Eastern leader, the Army have its passers, runners and kickers splendid protection and, on the defense, it rushed into the Notre Dame backfield to break up its play before they could be developed. All of which is saying a lot for the Army and not enough about the character of the Notre Dame tackling. As far as their work in this department was concerned, the Irish simply even Chinamen on Saturday.

CARSON COOK TO MEET WALLACE HERE WEDNESDAY

Sanford Scrapper Matched By Godale To Take On Classy Boxer From Tampa; Wallace Has Made Impressive Record

Sanford fight followers will have their second chance of the season to see their own Carson Cook in action here Wednesday night in the third American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps boxing card at Municipal Athletic Field. He will meet Young Kid Wallace of Tampa, in the final bout.

Cook, who is showing steady improvement in the eyes of local fans, upset the dope in his fight with Kid Crosby here two weeks ago when he came from behind to win in the ninth of their scheduled 10 round bout.

He has been training faithfully since the Crosby match and should have a slight favorite over the Tampa boy. He has been reeling off three miles of road work every evening and ought to be in the pink of condition by Wednesday night.

Wallace has built himself an enviable record of wins in Tampa fights. He has won from Kid Canoso, Vernon Seely, Battling Kid, Joe Silvers and gave Pete Revire a good battle for eight rounds. Both men will weigh in at 122 pounds.

Two darkies, Tonky Williams and Kid Garry will furnish the semi-final entertainment. Henry Godale, of Orlando, the Legion's matchmaker, says both men can fight or not make little difference to the fans if they put on as good a burlesque as two black boys furnished here last week. The audience got a bigger kick out of their black bottom foot work than they did out of the other matches all put together.

Godale announced today he had arranged some good prelims to see the fans' appetites for the Cook-Wallace bout. A large delegation of Orlando fans are expected to attend the fight as a compliment to the Sanford Drum and Bugle Corps which made a hit in the Armistice Day parade in Orlando.

Score Die And Many Are Injured Today As Gas Tank Breaks

hospital in the city to rush all available physicians and ambulances. It will be hours before anything like a reliable casualty list can be compiled, police said, because of the great extent of the explosion and resultant turmoil throughout the entire downtown district. The Equitable Gas Company supplies Pittsburgh and Environs with natural gas. It is a subsidiary of the Philadelphia Company.

The blast occurred at an hour when the downtown streets were jammed with office workers. Practically every building along the Allegheny River front for six blocks had all windows shattered. Six men standing across the river from where the gas tanks let go, were blown off their feet by the tremendous force of the explosion. Buildings were leveled for two blocks. There was a mass of broken glass in all downtown streets within miles of the gas company plant. Two streets cars were lifted from the rails and turned completely around. The cars were loaded with passengers on their way to work.

Northside residents were panic-stricken by what police described as probably the worst disaster in the city's history. Terrified men, women and children deserted their homes in fear, running through the streets as though mad. Hospitals on the Northside were soon filled with victims and it was necessary to commandeer automobiles to rush the injured to hospitals in outlying districts.

A man on the second story of a livery stable two blocks from where the tank let go was catapulted through a window in the street. His scalp was cut and hand bruised. Telephone and electric light and power service on the Northside went out simultaneously, as the main wires, running near the plant, were blown to bits.

Coroner William J. McGreegor who rushed to the scene said half an hour after the blast that he was unable to even estimate the number of dead. Nothing but a snapping hole was left on the site of the tank that exploded. Small buildings in the immediate vicinity were crushed like eggshells. Windows in the Pennsylvania Railroad Station miles from the blast were blown out. The telephone company's Cedar Exchange near the explosion "as put out of commission and every window in the building blown out. David Kerr employed in a livery stable four blocks from the gas plant, was lifted off the sidewalk by the concussion. He described the explosion as follows:

"I saw a sheet of flame a half mile high and at the same time I was lifted three feet from the sidewalk. One man standing in front of the gas tank was lifted at least 100 feet in the air, as if he were a mere scrap of paper. Glass was flying all around him. Several pieces hit him. When he was picked up the man had a gash across his neck, several scalp wounds and apparently his legs were broken, he was taken to a hospital."

Remus Declares He Was Not Sane As He Shot Wife

her to give up the life she was leading. And she said, 'daddy, don't hurt me, you know I love you,' why, my mind just blew up and I shot her. I knew she was not sane. She got her just deserts."

Asked if he still loved her, despite what he charges she did to him, Remus laughed shrilly. "Love—love," he repeated, "love isn't the word." He looked at the floor for several minutes without uttering a word. Then said softly.—The woman she was when I married her I loved—yes, indeed. But how she changed when that man wormed his way into her good graces."

Remus said he had received countless offers of financial assistance but had turned them all down. "I want moral support more than anything else in the world now," he declared. "With it Remus can win this legal battle." Then this man, who was once the directing genius of a $100,000,000 ooze business, confided that now that he is once more engaged in work as a lawyer, even the as attorney for himself, he has "peace of mind" because he is doing work he loves.

"It is too late for remorse now," he said, sadly, "but I regret that I ever gave up law and turned my mind and energies to circumventing the prohibition law, there is more in life than money. Money will not bring happiness or contentment. I have found that out to my sorrow. I am a martyr to the cause of prohibition—the greatest legal abortion ever put up on the statute books."

Obregon's Would Be Killers Are Sought

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14 (INS)—Drastic action was promised by police today against the perpetrators of the attempt to assassinate General Alvaro Obregon, presidential candidate. The General was slightly injured. Several persons were arrested after two bombs had been thrown at Obregon's automobile and many pistol shots fired at the occupants.

Obregon was driving through the streets with three companions yesterday afternoon when a closed car drew alongside. Two bombs were tossed. One hit the side of Obregon's car and bounced back to the center of the street where it exploded in front of it. General Obregon was not severely shaken by the attempt on his life and, after the bombers had been pursued and three of them caught, he continued on his way to a bull fight.

Coulburn each forfeited a $3 bond for breaking the through street regulation. Cases against Earl Appleby and C. D. Georgia Leads All In Race For Honors In S.I.C. Conference

ATLANTA, Nov. 14.—(INS)—Georgia aimed in undisputed possession of first place in the Southern Conference football race today as the result of Saturday's games. Having won seven games this year, five inside the conference, and another the very important victory over Yale, the Bulldogs for the moment loom as the most likely candidate for conference honors this year.

Of course, Georgia Tech, Tennessee and North Carolina State are also undefeated in the conference, but only Georgia Tech has a chance of capturing the title. Incidentally Tech has a good opportunity to do this by taking the annual game with Georgia at the end of the season. Tech also has won five conference games but this record has been somewhat scratched by her tie with Vandy.

The upset in the conference Saturday was provided by Florida's 13 to 6 victory over Alabama. Another surprise was Virginia 21 Maryland 0.

Gain Weight on Sun's Rays
English mine boys who have been sent to Swiss Alps to restore their physical fitness, are improving in health. In a party of five which passed a fortnight's holiday in these mountains, one gained 17-1-2 pounds in weight, another gained eight and a third pounds, another seven pounds, and the others made slight gains. Lieutenant Colonel G. S. Hutchinson, who had charge of the party, says there is much evidence that the Alpine sun's actinic rays are responsible for the results.

"Happiness"

Someone has said "Real Happiness is cheap enough, yet how dearly we pay for its counterfeit." So many people especially in Florida, especially in this day and time, seem to have become imbrued with the idea that wealth is happiness, and that in order to obtain the conception of this emotional state, they work like dogs and go to great lengths.

When they arrive they find that happiness is not a concrete thing, something they can touch with their hands, put on their backs or deposit in a bank, but rather a state of mind, the possession of the qualities of wisely using the gifts of God, of keeping the mind clear of treacherous complexes and inhibitions, and of making the most of the benefits placed around without spoiling the enjoyment of them by sadly wishing for more.

We have in mind a young fellow happily married before the great boom hit Florida. He lived quietly with his family, worked hard and had few of the luxuries which sometimes seem so necessary, but he was happy. Then real estate began to move. Brokerage fees were high and often. He made money; he invested in property; he sold at high prices; he suddenly found himself fabulously rich.

He felt it necessary to maintain his position in the social as well as the business world. He joined the gang; he went to night clubs; he drank; he gambled; he became dissatisfied with his wife. He simply went the pace that was so popular at that time. He spent money like a crown prince, but he was making it fast and he was investing it wisely. His assets were figured easily at half a million.

Then the bottom dropped out. Money didn't come as easily as it once did, and it seemed to go almost as rapidly. Soon it all was gone, sooner in fact than the money of many of his friends, who still expected him to keep up his part of the entertainment. He was embarrassed at times when the bill at the cabaret was presented.

He thought of a good scheme. Filling stations were still making lots of money. There were many of them. They were open and unprotected. He had plenty of nerve and wasn't afraid of anything. He had a friend who was in the same boat. They would hold up these filling stations. Then they could keep on being "happy."

They did. Now both of them are at Raiford. They have found that happiness lies not in material gains but rather in having satisfactorily achieved a righteous aim.

Raising Avocado Pears

Arthur Brisbane in a recent editorial appearing in the New York Evening Journal gives a considerable boost to the avocado pear and its food value. Mr. Brisbane quotes Harford E. Finney, representing many of the avocado growers, as expressing the wish that the public may abandon the name of Alligator Pear and call it avocado. The editorial is under the caption of "Call It Avocado, Please," and goes on at some length into a discussion as to the advisability of making the change. However, the most important message which Mr. Brisbane would convey and which should be of paramount interest to Florida, is summed up in the following paragraphs:

"There is great nourishment in the avocado, an extraordinary supply of vitamins, and it is extremely wholesome, supplying a fine combination of nourishment and 'roughage.' 'Whatever the people call it, 'alligator pear,' or 'avocado,' they ought to eat more of it. And the news that one tree will grow a ton of avocados is important news, especially when you realize that people in New York and Chicago sometimes pay at the rate of several dollars a pound for avocados."

The food value of avocados has not been generally recognized for the reason that its small production has only permitted a small portion of the population to eat it. In Florida, especially in the southern portion, where it is grown more than any other place on the continent, the avocado has come to be extensively used. The various ways in which it may be prepared for the table have served to increase its appeal.

Florida has had little or no trouble in finding a ready market for the small crop that it produces and as Mr. Brisbane points out, the pears have brought fancy prices. The need for greater production is apparent and since Florida already excels in growing this fruit or vegetable, it furnishes another opportunity for this state to capitalize on its soil. Apparently the avocado tree grows best in the southern part of the state, but there seems to be some opportunity for its production in Seminole County. There are scattering trees to be found in this section. While we are experimenting with other crops with which to supplement the production of celery, it would be a good thing to give the avocado a trial.

WHERE TO BUY BLUE RIDGE REPUBLICAN

One of those myths which begin nobody knows where and are without rhyme or reason, is to the effect that one can buy cheaper "Buy Out of Town and Save Money," profits no one but the mail-order house and the city concern seeking business from smaller communities within shopping distance.

Quality being equal, the home town merchant can give his customer better values than his out-of-town competitors and, what is usually important, can give each customer the personal service that counts so much in modern business relations. The best guarantee of quality is not the biggest store and the largest volume of business. In the good-will of each customer is jealously cultivated. There the merchant cannot afford to risk the loss of a patron by unfair business practices.

With the larger city institutions or the mail order house it is a different story. Every day they attract and lose thousands of customers. They are doing business on such a large scale that immediate profits are more essential than satisfying every customer. They know that by extensive advertising they can get two new customers for every one they lose without exhausting the field of new business.

WE WEEP WITH YOU, LADIES TAMPA TRIBUNE

A devoted member of the Garden Club, who has been working early and late to organize and act in motion plans for the beautification of the Bayshore Boulevard, made the editorial telephone weep with protestation and appeal. "We are discouraged," she said, "We have finally started our work to make the Boulevard what it should be—Tamp. pride. We are spending $5,000 to make it attractive. But what's the use? Now we learn that another of those horrid filling stations is to be placed at another of the most conspicuous locations along the driveway. We know of several property owners on the Boulevard who although they needed the money, would not, through a sense of civic pride, lease their property for such purposes. But evidently there are some not influenced by such considerations, in whom the dollar is the sole guiding star. The conscience of the property owner is the only thing that can stop this growing nuisance; but this seems to be missing in some cases. We want to make the Bayshore Boulevard a thing of beauty and a joy forever, but of what avail our efforts if the prospect is to be spoiled by the frequent appearance of these unsightly and offensive and inharmonious establishments?"

Dear lady, we have written reams on his subject, but there appears to be no help for it. We haven't a law to regulate these things and only the frown of public

As Brisbane Sees It

Shooting Stars. Rising Stocks. And Gigantic Crops. Well May We Give Thanks. By Arthur Brisbane. Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

TONIGHT AND tomorrow night, look for shooting stars. This earth rolling slowly on its axis, a thousand miles an hour, and around the sun, nearly two million miles a day is now crossing the "Leonid meteor stream," particles of solid matter, of various sizes, some smaller than your fist, some bigger than a house.

Luckily, when they strike our atmosphere, at terrific speed, friction with the air melts them, and you see a "shooting star," red hot material, largely iron, on its way to earth, falling in the ocean. Millions of these meteors fall to earth, in the form of dust, gradually piling up at the ocean's bottom.

IT IS SAID 210,000 shooting stars were seen in nine hours, going through the Leonid stream in 1833.

We may be grateful for our atmosphere in supplying us with oxygen, protecting us from a bombardment that would destroy every building on earth, and kill nearly all human beings on it.

STOCKS WERE cheerful yesterday, "big steel" went up $1, General Motors went up. Dry goods store and chain store stocks went up.

MR. ISAAC Gimbel, of Gimbel Brothers, doing a yearly business of $125,000,000 in four American cities, said on Sunday: "Some Americans do not realize what it means to do business in 48 great states, with the same money, laws, credit and language everywhere."

"When I was last in Cairo I saw big wagons of the Paris Bon Marche going through the streets. I looked up the head of their Egyptian branch and found that they had come 2000 miles from Paris to do a business of $1,000,000 a year. A successful American business man wouldn't go 100 miles for that much business."

"I traveled back to London with an Englishman managing six British houses in Cairo and other eastern points, involved in revolutions, different laws and currencies."

"There is an American can operate in 48 states, one of them, Texas, is big as several European countries, and everywhere the same money, laws, language, business methods, sound credits. We should be very grateful."

STOCKS ARE not the only things increasing in value. The crops of the country have an "inflated value" to date of $3,000,000,000, which according to Mr. Garrett, who knows, is $5,000,000,000 above a recent estimate.

FLIERS THAT flew or pucked to fly the Atlantic attended a White House luncheon yesterday. Lindbergh, Ruth Elder, Chamberlin, Levine, Byrd, Haldeman, all were there except Acosta. Lindbergh, as a matter of course, flew from New York to the luncheon, which shows President Coolidge's interest in flying. Congress ought to share that interest more enthusiastically.

EDWARD I. Warner, assistant secretary of the navy, in charge of flying, says the Panama canal is in danger "its air defenses hopelessly inadequate."

CHICAGO ARTS' hall committee planned to exhibit a Godiva, mounted on a white horse, as the hall's piece de resistance. You remember, the lady who rode through the town of Coventry with her long hair for clothing.

CHICAGO liked the Godiva idea so well that seven Godivas instead of one were moved and seconded like the three Topsy's in a "Tom" show. But the difficulty is to find even one Godiva not bobbed. Long hair is necessary, with William Thompson as mayor.

THE COMMITTEE reports, sadly, "you can find plenty of good lookers with bobbed hair and a few not very good lookers with long hair. But good lookers and long hair combined are scarce."

MR. L. H. LEE, convicted of a murder and sentenced by the judge, comes out smiling to pose for photographers, holding in his hand three red roses, "sent by a lady." The type that poses, smiling, for photographs just after being sentenced to death, is the type that commits murder. The type of lady that sends the roses is the mystery.

MRS. PEABODY, head of the woman's committee for law enforcement and the civic pride of property owners can be invoked to check the evil. To those who are actuated only by the rent money, it might be possible to offer through public subscription, a sum equal to the anticipated rental on condition that the property be not leased for unattractive purposes. Beyond this, we know not how to proceed. In all fairness, however, each location so used should carry a conspicuous sign: "This Property is Cursed for this Purpose. By John Doe." That would fix the responsibility for the abuses which is frustrating the noble purposes of the Garden Club and destroying the prospects of a "Bayshore Beautiful."

Gobble, Gobble, Gobble

Women are not only talking and praying, but working to retain production, and see that it is rationed.

They need not work or pray to keep prohibition in the constitution; nothing can get it out.

As for enforcement, there is room for much working and praying in that direction.

TWO CHARMING adventuresome young ladies named Talbot and Sanford will hunt big game in Africa. Elephants, lions, perhaps gorillas, will bite the dust. There is one comfort in such killing. It tends to eliminate disease.

Will animals carry and perpetuate disease germs, each a breeding ground for germ colonies. Eventually the only living thing on earth will be man. He will have on the planet to himself for many millions of years, to show what he can do with it.

ORCHID RAISING is intricate, interesting work, with its cultivation of strange hybrids and trading in seedlings and orchid spikes.

Young women that would like a beautiful occupation producing something that can be put in the savings bank might write to our agriculture department at Washington for advice.

COULT CZERNIN, who was Austrian minister of foreign affairs in the war, thinks England, France and Germany will unite in the near future to wipe out bolshevism. That would be a considerable job. Russia, occupying one-sixth the surface of the globe, might be temporarily conquered, but wouldn't stay conquered.

Besides, the young gentlemen of England, France and Germany are not anxious to go out and be shot all over again.

ACHED ALL OVER Was Suffering Dreadfully, Just "Wasting Away." Took Cardui, and Says It Helped Her.

Arlington, Texas.—A resident of this town for many years, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, says: "I had suffered dreadfully with an aching all over my body. At times my head would give me so much trouble I could hardly stand it. I had been in bed for weeks and it looked like I was just wasting away. 'I took 9 bottles of Cardui and my strength began to slowly return. 'Since that time I have used this medicine a good many times and it has always helped me. 'At one time I took Cardui for several months regularly. I would be afflicted with sudden spells of dizziness when I could not stand on my feet. Everything would turn black before my eyes and I would feel as if I were going to faint. At times I would be quite nauseated. I turned at once to Cardui and took it till I was safely through. 'Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. It has been in use for over 60 years, and in that time thousands of women have written that Cardui helped them back to good health. Sold by all druggists. NC-182

One of the loveliest social affairs of the week was the birthday party given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Raymond Phillips honoring her small daughter, Emily Tracy Phillips, whose first birthday anniversary it was. The guests were members of the family and neighborhood children.

The rooms of the attractive home were ablaze with quantities of roses and snap dragons, emphasizing the colors of pink and white. The refreshment table was laid with a handsome lace cover and centered with the birthday cake frosted in white and topped with one rose. Placed at intervals about the table were silver compotes holding pink and white mints. Grouped about the centerpiece were the favors of pink baskets filled with candies and snappers which contained caps and souvenirs.

During the afternoon two contests were featured by Mrs. C. L. Large one for the grown-ups, a memory contest the prize for this a pair of silk hose, which was won by Mrs. J. P. Refreshments of prime whip and cake were served after the contests.

Miss Laura Chittenden gave a reading "Something to Live For." Delicious refreshments were served by the grade mothers in the lunch room following the program.

Mrs. Myers Entertains With Bridge-Luncheon On Tuesday Afternoon

Among the many lovely social affairs of the week, one of exceptional plan was the bridge-luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. C. E. Myers at her home in Franklin Terrace.

The rooms where the small luncheon table had been placed were so attractively adorned with calendars, marigolds, zinnias and salvia. The colors of yellow and green were accentuated in every detail. Concerning the tables were crystal chandeliers filled with calendars, while at each place were nut cups of yellow holding salted nuts and nuts. The places of the guests were designated with place cards done in suggestions of the Thanksgiving season. At one o'clock a delicious four course luncheon was served.

Several games of progressive bridge were enjoyed during the afternoon and after a number of rounds had been played it was found that the prize for top score a vase, had been won by Mrs. A. C. Fort. The consolation prize went to Mrs. Hugh Lator, while Mrs. Bart Peterson won the cut prize, a jewel box.

Four tables of players enjoyed the cordial hospitality of Mrs. Myers.

Richard Dix Takes Lead In Oriental Film At Milane

Have you ever read about the hair raising exploits of Captain Kidd, Long John Silver and all the other pirates and buccaners in story books?

Piracy as colorful is flourishing today, just as it did in the days of the Spanish Main.

It furnishes the basic theme of Richard Dix' new Paramount starring picture "Shanghai Bound" which comes to the Milane Theatre today.

Chinese river pirates are attacking ships today as they have for centuries. The only difference is that they have improved their methods. Organized bands of marine marauders operate up and down the Yangtze River from Shanghai, stripping luckless vessels they capture. They even attack ocean-going steamers.

Authority for these statements is Edward S. (Tex) O'Reilly former member of the International Police Force at Shanghai and later first-master for the Chinese Imperial Army.

Observations along the Yangtze River over a period of three years were set down recently by O'Reilly and offered to Paramount. His story "Shanghai Bound" was snapped up at once as a Richard Dix starring vehicle. It has proved ideal material according to critics.

Dix plays a captain of a Yangtze River steamer in the picture. And his efforts to take a cargo of American refugees down the river to Shanghai and safety form the skeleton of the plot. River pirates, spurred on by hunger, agreed and revenge, are the obstacles in his path, and he overcomes them only after hard fighting all the way down.

Mrs. Grant Wilson returned from Sunday evening from Fort Myers where she spent the past fortnight visiting as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Claude Ogilvie.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Long and their home guests, Mrs. and Long, Otto Babo of Hammond, Ind., returned Wednesday to Jacksonville where they spent the day.

Azarian Members Are Entertained At Home Of Mrs. C. A. Anderson

The Azarian Circle of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Anderson Jr., with Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. H. T. Atkinson, as hostesses.

Golden rod together with pumpkins and small paper turkeys were used in decorating the rooms where the members assembled.

A short business session was held at which time it was decided to have a gift basket, each member being asked to contribute some gift which will be sold later to raise funds for the circle. It was also decided to prepare a Thanksgiving basket and circle members are asked to bring their donations Sunday morning to the church.

Plans were made for a Pan Cakes supper to be given January 9, when the husbands of the circle members will be honor guests.

After all business had been transacted, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. B. C. Moore, who has charge of the study classes. Interesting talks were given by Mrs. Moore, Mrs. T. L. Hale and Mrs. Sidney J. Nix.

A social hour was enjoyed during which time a group of Thanksgiving readings were given by Miss Lois Martin. Refreshments of chicken salad, saltines, home made wafers and orange ade were served by the hostesses.

Those present were: Mrs. J. A. Van, Mrs. Ira Southward, Mrs. Charles Mc Mahon, Mrs. V. G. Haas, Mrs. T. L. Hale, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. J. H. Ramsey, Mrs. Essie Pippin, Mrs. Charles Echols, Mrs. Glen Tucker, Mrs. Arthur Hunter, Mrs. Herbert Moreland, Mrs. Verne C. Messenger, Mrs. E. E. Page, Mrs. S. W. Beal, Mrs. M. C. Gauder, Mrs. A. C. Mrs. Harry J. Wilson Is Hostess To Entre Nous Bridge Club Members

Mrs. Harry J. Wilson entertained most pleasantly Tuesday afternoon at bridge at her home on Ninth Street; the guests were the members of the Entre Nous Bridge Club.

Baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums combined with ferns were used in decorating the rooms where the card tables had been arranged for play.

After an unusually interesting game of progressive bridge had been played, scores were collected and the prizes for top score among the club members, an embroidered guest towel, was awarded Mrs. J. G. Ball. The high score guest prize, also a dainty embroidered towel went to Mrs. R. C. Bower. At the conclusion of the game, the hostess served a tempting salad course with coffee.

Mrs. Wilson's guests were Mrs. Robert J. Holly, Mrs. J. G. Ball, Mrs. B. P. Whitner Sr., Miss Martha Fox, Mrs. E. D. Mobley, Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. R. C. Bower, Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mrs. Ernest

GOLD RUSH NEAR DENVER CARRIES HUNDREDS WEST

Days Of Colorado Gold Boom Recalled As Strike Close To Denver Brings Many In Search For Easy Millions

DENVER, Nov. 15.—A "gold rush," reminiscent of the days of '59, when ox cart caravans crossed the plains containing pioneers in search of the valuable metal that made Colorado famous, is being re-enacted within ten miles of Denver.

Hundreds of persons have flocked to the Newlin Gluch district, south of Denver, where development work is under way and where already large quantities of the precious metal have been taken from a newly discovered gold reef believed by many to be one of the most valuable ever found in Colorado.

Several leases have been let to prospectors, all containing the provision that they sink a shaft to a depth of at least seventy-five feet. It is thought by some geologists that the deposit may resemble the famous Rand Reef, Transvaal District, South Africa, and precautions are also being taken to unearth any deposit of platinum that might be hidden at a depth.

Gold On Surface
Officials of a placer gold company who have been taking gold from the surface in profitable quantities since the first of September, believe the deposit is situated in an old volcano crater. Others forward the opinion, however, that all the gold found there has been washed down from the nearby mountains.

The metal now being panned assays at $20.10 an ounce. The 338 million dollars of gold mined in Cripple Creek prior to January 1, 1927, averaged between $18 and $19 per ounce. Pure gold is worth $20.67 an ounce.

Gold is being panned daily by hand in the newly discovered area and the placer company has a machine of recent invention that pans ore automatically.

Belief that the discovery is producing gold local to the area is expressed by several mining engineers, although some have contended that the metal panned has been washed down from the mountains. The fact that the placer gold is jagged-edged and rough indicates, according to those who favor the "local area" contention, that the metal is from a reef in the district, and not from a distance.

Commenting on his belief that the Newlin Gluch discovery is a new reef of aboriginal value, J. D. Caldon, 83-year-old geologist, who was a pioneer in the Rand area of South Africa declared:

Due To Old Volcano
"Make no mistake about it, this Newlin Gluch area is identical with the Rand area. The metal is surface gold, fine and flaky, and is identical with the Rand reef production. The surface rocks are the same and the entire geological conditions are very similar. I have traced the formation for more than fifty miles in a ragged, horseshoe shape, which indicates a gigantic volcano formation extending over the entire area."

This volcanic eruption, according to Caldon, is much older in geology even than the great peaks of the Continental Divide.

"When the eruption took place Caldon said, "possibility millions of years ago, the crater walls stood above the surface, just as they evidently did in the Rand. In the process of time they were eroded away and the roof, or crater, was buried beneath its own debris."

Caldon claimed there was every indication that the Newlin Gluch gold was finer than any.

ST. AUGUSTINE—Building permits issued here during recent week totaled $18,210.

Ruth Elder Comes Home Smiling

Hurry to School Results in Wreck

Four Mishawaka, Ind., high school students who lived in the country were late in starting for school. Driving at a 55-mile-an-hour rate, their car skidded and struck an apple tree, with the result the picture shows. Berenice Snyder, 15, driving, was thrown through the windshield and sustained fatal injuries, while the three boys riding with her were injured. Note how the tree was punctured by the car's frame.

Owes Freedom to Sherlock

Oscar Slater (above) will be freed and the charge of murder on which he was imprisoned for 17 years will be dropped following a year's fight in the man's behalf by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes. Slater, arrested after circumstantial evidence indicated the slaying of an aged woman in a Glasgow flat was his work, was found guilty and imprisoned. His criminal record also stood against him. Doyle took up the case a year ago and, using the same methods of deduction and analysis his famous character used in the detective stories, clearly established that Slater could not have committed the crime.

Another Mortgaged, Unproductive Farm May Be Given To President

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 15.—President Coolidge may find himself the possessor of another hopelessly mortgaged and unproductive farm as the result of the deed to him of an Indiana farm recently by State Senator Luke M. Duffy.

Senator Duffy has received a letter from J. A. DeCock of Davenport, of Iowa, asking him how to go about dealing a farm to the president.

DeCock's letter follows: "I read an account of you giving a farm to President Coolidge and am writing for information how this can be done, so as to oblige the President to accept and agree to pay the mortgage."

I have a problem of the same kind on my hands. I have a 160-acre farm which represents all my savings for more than 20 years. The interest on the mortgage has been increased at every turn and taxes have gained so that the income of the farm has now become inadequate to meet the payments.

"If I could give it away in such a manner as would relieve me from further obligation, I would certainly appreciate knowing how and where I can do it."

Senator Duffy, deeded his 176-acre farm located near Winamac, Ind., to President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and other cabinet members, so they would learn what it means to be a farmer selling unprotected products in a highly protected market, he said. The farm has a $3,500 mortgage on it.

RIVER TRADE TO LOWER PRICES FOR MID-WEST

MISSISSIPPI BARGE LINES TO GIVE ADVANTAGE OVER PRESENT SHIPPING FACILITIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (INS)—Lower prices on the articles the Middle Western farmer buys and increased returns on the products he sells are certain to follow the expansion of the Inland Waterways Corporation's barge lines on the Upper Mississippi River, Secretary of War Davis declared here after returning from an inspection trip along the St. Louis-St. Paul route.

Cities in that section are of the same opinion, he added, and are now building permanent terminals to handle commerce along the river.

Boom River Freight
When the Upper Mississippi line is full equipped, as it will be with the completion of several contracts next spring, Davis said, "and gateways are opened through the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Burlington, Dubuque and Rock Island, manufactured articles which now find their way into the west at high prices, will find their way into the cities, the towns and the homes of every city located west of the Mississippi at a greatly reduced freight rate, due to new joint rail-water rates not now in existence."

"Conversely, the farmers of the west and the northwest will find an additional means of distributing their grain and farm products for consumption east of the Mississippi."

Competition For Farmers
"When these avenues of cheaper transportation exist, these farmers may expect to compete for export of corn with South America, and for export of wheat with Canada, and in addition to those served by the existing lines, thousands will enjoy the benefits of cheaper coal and coke, cheaper steel products, linseed oil and by-products, linseed meal and cake, so essential to beef and m'ch cattle, cheaper furniture, woods and furniture, cheaper sulphur, coffee, sugar, cotton, tobacco, sisal, hemp, jute, agricultural implements, fertilizers, potash and nitrates, phosphates, strap molasses for stock food plants, oyster shells and by-products, so essential to poultry, and eventually petroleum products."

"These represent but a brief synopsis of the practical benefits to the farmer of the operation of the Inland Waterways Corporation."

GUARDSMEN GO ON TRIAL

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 15.—(INS)—Charged with murder in connection with the death of two coast guardsmen and a United States secret service operative in a fight between run runners and federal officers on the high seas early in August, Robert Weech and Horace Alderman were to go on trial in the district Federal Court here today.

Cleveland Manager Is Still In Doubt

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16 (INS)—Who will manage the Cleveland team in 1928 was the big question here today? Following acquisition of the club by a Cleveland group of business men late Tuesday, official announcement of the closing of the deal, whereby Mrs. James C. Dunn, of Chicago, majority owner, and minority stockholders turn over their holdings to Alva Bradley, Charles Bradley, his brother, John Sherwin, and Percy J. Morgan, was made by Alva Bradley, who will become president of the new organization.

While no announcement was forthcoming as to the price paid, it is understood the amount was close to $950,000.

UNITED STATES
AGAINST TARIFF
RECIPROcity ACT
Belief That American Trade Could Best Be Promoted By Seeking Exclusive Favors Is
No Longer Considered Sound
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (INS).-
In the present dispute with France over tariff matters the United States stands decidedly opposed to discrimination in customs rates and to reciprocal commercial treaties but prior to 1909 this consistently supported the French point of view, which permits tariff bargaining and the exchange of favours between two countries to the exclusion of third countries.
Formerly the United States had believed that American foreign trade could best be promoted by which in turn granted exclusive favours to American commerce and by penalizing those countries which refused to reciprocate.
Reciprocity Treaties
Under the McKinley Tariff of 1890 this country entered into 10 reciprocity treaties with various countries which agreed to admit free or at low rate of duty specified American imports if the United States would maintain its free list with regard to certain imports from these countries. Penalty duties were imposed upon goods from Colombia, Venezuela and Haiti because they refused to negotiate such treaties.
This policy was continued by the Dingley Tariff of 1897 and under the latter came the celebrated Bryan tariff. Brazilian coffee was one of their products that had been made free to the United States. Brazil had laid heavy duties on American products, such as wheat flour, the principal American export to the South American country. When Brazil refused to move its duties, Washington threatened to lay down a three cent tax on every pound of coffee from that country as provided under the Dingley Act.
As a result Brazil capitulated and reduced the tariff on American flour 20 per cent below that imposed on other foreign flour.
This arrangement was continued until 1923, when, because of the changed American tariff policy, this obvious discrimination in favor of American goods could not well be maintained.
PRINCE GEORGE
IS INTERPRETER
ON BATTLESHIP
English Royal Member Gets
On Admiral's Staff After
Eleven Years' Hard Work
PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Nov. 15-(INS).-The idea that a young officer has an easy time in the British Navy has been dispelled by the career of Prince George, youngest son of the King of England.
This young man has just joined the staff of the mighty battleship, Nelson, and has taken up duty as an interpreter in the Admiral's staff. But to get so far, he has had to engage in eleven years of hard work.
He joined the Navy in 1916, entering the Royal Naval College at Osborne in September of that year.
The great war was then at its height and the boy was thirteen and a half years of age.
Became Midshipman
A little over five years later, he passed out as a full-fledged mid-shipman and was appointed to the Iron Duke flag ship of the Mediterranean fleet in whose crowded gunroom were 21 other young midshipmen. After two years in this ship the royal midshipman was transferred to the queen Elizabeth and in May, 1923, he became an acting sub-lieutenant, being commissioned as a "one stiver" in the February following. Then came a few months in the destroyer flotilla leader, "Mackay", which led to his taking the courses at Portsmouth which resulted in his qualification as Lieutenant in January, 1925.
Promoted to the Cruiser Hawkins flavours on the China station, his term of duty coincided with the serious trouble in the Yantse Valley, including the tragic affair at Wahlee.
Appointed Lieutenant
He received his actual appointment as Lieutenant in February, 1926, but it is noteworthy of this right impartiality of the Naval examiner that he only gained a second-class certificate in seamanship, and no more than a third-class in navigation, gunnery and torpedo.
On returning home he was detailed for a special course in French. He studied in Paris, and incidentally qualified as a good cancer, sufficiently to win the approval of his brother, the Prince of Wales. Now this is fully qualified interpreter, being able to stay in the society for some years before any further promotion awaits him.
Altogether the British Navy is not such a small job even for a British royal prince.

ETHER REPLACED
BY HYPNOTISM IN TWO OPERATIONS
Woman Patient Declares She Sensed No Pain As Surgeon Welded Scapel While She Was In Hypnotist's Power
CHICAGO, Nov. 15.-Hypnotism as an aid to surgery has taken Chicago by storm following two successful major operations performed here in hospitals while the patient was under the influence of the mental narcotic.
Although hypnotism has long been recognized in the experimental laboratory and the theatrical field, it has not been until recently that physicians have accepted its merits as an aid in performing operations.
Under the brilliant glare of mercury lamps a woman patient was operated upon the operating table with Dr. Harry W. Fink of Chicago and Zeeva G. Bumzameh, hypnotist, in attendance.
Patient Asleep
The patient gazed steadily in the eyes of the hypnotist and physicians stood by with ether should the operation fail.
"Sleep! Sleep! You must relax-and sleep," commanded Bumzameh.
The patient closed her eyes.
"You are insensible to pain," drone the hypnotist. "You will feel no hurt. You are alone-you and I. I shall protect you and you shall feel no pain. Sleep."
The woman relaxed and deep breathing rewarded the efforts of the hypnotist. Once, when a physician jabbed a needle into her arm, the patient moaned slightly and flickered an eyelid. Bumzameh continued his monotonous goety.
Dr. Fink worked silently and rapidly. Nurses proffered sponges, sponges, gauze and clamps. From another room came the faint odor of ether used in a different operation.
The patient stirred slightly. Bum-zameh continued his mesmeric in-cantation and the woman again remaind her labored breathing.
Felt No Pain
The operation proceeded to its close. The incision was closed and bandages were applied. The patient was taken to her room. A quarter of an hour later Bumzameh unruffled her bedside and broke the hypnotic spell.
"I felt no pain whatsoever," the patient declared. "I don't even remember the operation."
As waves of pain assailed her Bumzameh placed her under the hypnotic influence and continued to do so until the wound began healing.
"Hypnotism," Dr. Fink declared,
"can be applied only in certain cases when the patient is willing to cooperate fully. But when there is fear in the patient of gas or ether and the sickening after effects, hypnotism is invaluable.
"In major operations, as a rule, the knife cuts into nerves not controlled directly by the mind and pain inflicted. In such cases hypnotism is of no use. It is useful, however, to place the patient in a sleep and then apply ether or gas."
