Weary and footsore after long marches and heavy drilling, the "tired business men" at the officers' reserve camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., sink to sleep at night in well earned slumber, but not to oversleep, because early morning finds the notes from this giant bugle ringing in their ears.

IS THIS ONE REASON FOR THE GERMAN RETREAT?

Stop Using Cheap, Unreliable Carbon Paper

Don't take a chance with inferior carbon paper. It means faded, illegible copies, untidy files, waste of time and poor work. Put a stop to this! Use Lasting legibility—neatness—uniformity—and economy make MultiKopy the standard carbon paper. In black or blue, MultiKopy never fades. MultiKopy gives non-smudging, non-rubbing copies which often rival the original in clearness and legibility. MultiKopy gives surprisingly long service and is unequalled for manifold.

Crossbar Taffetas in Afternoon Frocks

Crossbar taffetas, in soft weaves, made up in simple designs, are among the unpretentious afternoon gowns that make an instant appeal to most women. There are several models of this character among almost every representative showing of spring styles.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(By the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union)

GETS HER FIRST PAIR OF NEW SHOES.

"Gee, but I'm glad the town went dry! I hope it will never be wet again!" Thus spoke a little girl, thirteen years old, to the superintendent of settlement work in Waukegan, Ill. This girl is wearing her first pair of new shoes purchased by her father.

The superintendent stated that a domestic tranquility had settled down upon the foreign quarter that was truly delightful. When the town was under the old saloon order of things there was scarcely a night that the settlement workers were not called upon to settle some family row caused by drink.

THE DISPENSARY SYSTEM A FAILURE. Mr. Alfred Noek, and some others, would have us believe that the dispensary or state control system of dealing with the liquor traffic is ideal. They would have the public believe that it has not been tried on this side the Atlantic.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that the defendant, Thatcher Realty Company, a Florida corporation, be and appear to the said above entitled cause in the above styled cause on or before the 6th day of August, 1917, it being a rule day of this court to defend the said suit, and that in default thereof a decree nisi be entered against the said Thatcher Realty Company and the said cause proceed ex parte against the said Thatcher Realty Company.

we commend the book by the well-known writer, Ernest Gordon, "The Breakdown of the Gottenburg System." Mr. Gordon spent several years in Sweden and his testimony is first-hand.

No well-informed, conscientious temperance man or woman will be found advocating the dispensary system today.

PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS AGAINST THE SALOON.

"There is no question which is no troublesome to manufacturers today as the liquor question," says ex-Governor Foss of Massachusetts, himself a leading manufacturer of that state. "The progressive manufacturer has no more use for the saloon than has the church, and he proposes to wipe it out, and the employee is now taking his stand along with the employer. You need not be afraid to submit this question to the laboring people. When they have the facts they will vote right."

"To a nation at war alcohol is a traitor... It lessens the physical fitness and power of effective work of the civil community. It blurs their judgment, lets loose their emotions, exposes them to great risk from epidemic diseases, and it undermines their power to make good the most serious ravages of war—the serious loss to the young adult male population."—Sir Alfred Pierce Gould.

COMMENT ON THE 'HERALD' ARTICLE

On this page is found an article from the Sanford Herald on "Muck for Fertilizer." We never view the thousands upon thousands of acres of pure muck in South Florida in the mind's eye, that we do not reflect upon its possibilities not only as a vast agricultural region in itself, but upon its value as fertilizer.

Within a few years we expect to see railroads entering these vast muck beds from every direction and millions of tons of this humus being used by the truckers and fruit growers of south Florida. It is so abundant, and so easily obtained that the time will come when it is to take the place in a large measure of commercial fertilizers.

Unlike the commercial muck which will be using regular applications soon build up our sand soil to the best in the world, while the annual cost will not be nearly so great as the commercial now used, and which must be repeated several times during the season.

The question of transportation to the higher sand lands is the one now to be settled. Mr. Wylie says the value of this pure muck, for fertilizer is about $10 per ton. It will therefore be seen that its general use for fertilizer is a question that will be settled. Florida is destined to become the richest of them all, but it will take money and energy to develop it. -Areadia News.

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

Brings Farm to the City and Saves Much Labor

Electricity, which is solving so many problems of the world is revolutionizing farm life to such an extent that the present trend of movement is from the city to the farm, rather than from the farm to the city. The recent perfection of an electric lighting and power plant which can be installed cheaply and easily and can be run without any degree of technical knowledge, has brought to the farm all the conveniences of city life, and has made the drudgery which has always been associated with farm life a thing of the past.

In many respects similar to the advent of the automobile, these electric plants have been adopted first by the very wealthy for their large estates; but more recently they have come into general use by all up to date farmers of moderate means who recognize in them the means of carrying on their work in a thoroughly efficient and labor saving manner.

It is no uncommon thing now to pass homes in the country that are lighted by electricity, and to see the various farm appliances run in the same manner. At the front gate, in the house, on the piazzas, in the barn the gleam of electric lights now offers comfort and protection on every hand. The protection feature has been specially emphasized in the past few days when a farmer, being aroused by a passing automobilist for help, shot the man thinking that he was trying to force an entrance into the house. If the farmer had had a porch light operated by a switch, such a deplorable accident never would have occurred.

The electric lighting of barns has been of especial advantage because of the great danger that has been attached to lanterns in hay loft and other places where there is much inflammable material. One of the leading farmers of this section who recently installed an electric plant with many attachments mentioned especially this feature.

"Electricity gives us the best light we ever had," he says, "and more than that, it gives us the light where we need it most. This is particularly true in the barn where we have lights behind the cows and horses, in the feed and harness rooms and in the loft. It saves half the time it used to take to do the chores."

"The electric power which we now generate on the place has also relieved us of many hours of unpleasant and tiring labor which we used to consider a part of the day's work," he continued. "We now have our water pumped into every room in the house, it turns the churn, the grindstone, the washing machine, the cream separator, the sewing machine and a dozen other labor saving appliances."

"But better and more convenient light and labor saving power are not the real significance of electricity on the farm. Through these things, it has made our lives easier, more comfortable, more worth while."

Equipment such as this farmer mentions is comparatively cheap and well within the reach of the average farmer.

Insuring Our Fighting Men

Work on the plan of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo for life indemnity insurance to the soldiers and sailors of the United States is progressing. The advisory committee of ten prominent insurance men and other committees and the Secretary are working out the details and a bill will ultimately be drafted and presented to congress for action. The report of the various committee's and the Secretary's action furnish a tangible working basis for the legislature.

The insuring of our soldiers and sailors will be only a new application of a well known principle. Employees' insurance, especially for those engaged in hazardous employment has long been recognized as a just and wise and profitable policy in private business, and has been successfully operated for years. In fact through the United States Employees' Compensation Committee civilian employees of the government are now insured against accidents occurring in the course of their employment.

The wisdom and justice of a great government applying the principle to its citizens who for their country's sake engage in the extra hazardous employment of war are apparent to all. Our soldiers and sailors in defense of their country are

CANNOT WEAR UNIFORM

Home Guards Must Wear Different Apparel

Tallahassee, July 23.—Inquiry having been made by the captain of the company of county guards at Monticello as to whether or not guards would not be permitted to wear the regulation army uniform, the matter was submitted to the War Department at Washington and the following reply was received, which, of course, will apply to all organizations of guards in the state: "Hon. Sidney J. Catts, Governor, Tallahassee, Fla.:

"Dear Sir: Referring to your letter of the 14th inst., with which you enclose one from Mr. C. A. Simpson, captain county guards, Monticello, Fla., regarding the wearing of the regulation army uniform by semi-military organizations, I am directed by the Secretary of War to inform you, as follows:

"Section 126 of the National Defense Act, approved June 3, 1916, prohibits the wearing by any person not an officer or enlisted man of the United States army, navy or marine corps, of the duly prescribed uniform of these bodies or any distinctive part of any such uniform by rank prescribed to be worn by officers of the United States army, navy or marine corps, or any insignia of rank similar thereto.

Little Happenings—Mention of Matters in Brief—Personal Items of Interest

Summary of the Floating Small Talks Succinctly Arranged for Hurried Herald Readers

Ed Raulerson of the Geneva section was in the city today on business.

Dr. J. N. Robson is back from Daytona Beach where he spent two weeks vacation with his family who are there for the summer. The doctor thoroughly enjoyed every minute of his stay and is tanned like an Indian.

Rev. D. J. Blocker and Mr. Honiker of DeLand were in Sanford last Sunday evening to attend services at the Baptist Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Berry have returned from Orlando where they were called by the serious illness of Mrs. Hoskins.

Ayers' New Daytona Beach Hotel Daytona Beach, Fla.—Special summer rates now in effect. Week end parties solicited. Dance every Saturday night. W. F. & E. R. Ayres, managers and owners.

Capt. R. B. Smith and daughter, Miss Virginia are spending some time at Daytona Beach where they have the Wight cottage.

The DuBose auto that was supposed to be stolen was found in the rear of the Baptist church last Saturday morning. It is the opinion of the officers that some joy rider took the car from the garage and was afraid to return it and left it at the church. There is a heavy penalty for this practice and the parties doing it will go over the road if caught.

Miss Virginia are spending some time at Daytona Beach where they have the Wight cottage.

Mr. C. E. Henry has returned from a trip to Mt. Clemens, Michigan, where she took the baths for rheumatism and afterward spent some time with home folks in Philadelphia. She returns in good health much to the gratification of her many Sanford friends.

John Murrell is spending a few days with home folks ere returning to the training camp at Ft. McPherson. John is in the hospital corps and hopes he will be transferred to serve with Dr. Ralph Stevens and some of the other Sanford boys who are going to the front.

No. 666 will cure Malaria or Bilious Fever. It kills the germs.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Denham are now comfortably located in the Williams cottage on Magnolia avenue.

Goode M. Guerry, one of the most prominent newspaper men in the state was in the city yesterday enroute to Leesburg where he is editing the Howey Tribune. Mr. Guerry was formerly managing editor of the Tampa Tribune and afterward went to the Jacksonville Metropolis giving that up to manage Governor Catts' office. He spent the day with The Herald force here and we were all glad to see him for he is one of the boys always.

C. J. A. Pahl, formerly a globe trotter but now a prosaic German sign painter is in the city from Tampa where he is now making headquarters.

$2.50—Week end rates to Daytona Beach and return. Phone Phillips' Drug Store for further information. Orange Belt Auto Line. 96-3tc

All the young men who are subject to draft had better drill with the home guards every Tuesday and Friday nights. The man who knows something of military tactics before he goes into the army is the man who will be promoted rapidly.

The home guards will drill every Tuesday night and Friday night from this time forward, as Captain Herring thinks one hour two nights in the week is better than two hours on one night. Everybody come out and get in the ranks.

Rub-My-Tism—Antiseptic, Anodyne—Kills pain, stops putrefaction. 86-35t

R. A. Terheun of the postoffice force is taking a forced vacation on account of illness but hopes to be back in harness in a week or more.

James Evans of Altamont was in the city yesterday coming in to see about the draft. Jim is one of those drawn, but being a married man of family will hardly be taken into the army.

The Herald office is indebted to J. E. Laing who brought in several fine watermelons, and when we eat them we will think of him.

Rev. Charles Brower and family have arrived in the city and will make Sanford their home. Rev. Brower has accepted a call to the Congregational church in this city and he and his family will receive a hearty welcome from all the people irrespective of creed or religion.

Until further notice, Mussion's pool will be open every afternoon at 2 o'clock except Tuesdays and Fridays. 72-1f

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lalatte of Atlanta were in the city today. Mr. Lalatte represents the Keystone Type Co. of Atlanta and has been traveling this territory for many years.

W. M. Haynes, R. J. Holly and Harry Brown of the St. Augustine Record attended the meeting of the auxiliary committee of the Florida Press Association at Leesburg Saturday. This will be one of the most important movements inaugurated by the newspaper men of the state in years and will be perfected at a big meeting to be held in Orlando on August 18th.

No. 666 will cure Chills and Gever. It is the most speedy remedy we know. 86-35t

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Murchison are in the city from Jacksonville spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Connelly. Mr. Murchison is general superintendent of the A. C. L. Railway.

Woodland Park is open only Sundays. To let on week days. 92-1f

Word from Laurel Park Camp where Walter and Hawkins Connelly and Robert Holly are attending school and having a good time camping out carries the information that the Sanford boys are holding their own, not only in their studies but in base ball and field sports and enjoying their stay in the mountains of North Carolina.

Letter From Colorado By A Cracker Boy Alomosa, Colo., July 19, 1917 Editor Sanford Herald.

Mr. R. J. Holly—While resting at the foot of Mt. Blanca at the head waters of the Rio Grande, viewing the snow capped peaks, whiling away a few hours here, I thought a few lines to the Herald from one of Sanford's lowly citizens might be welcomed, at least to some of the Biblio class, at the Baptist Temple where I have associated at times, with so much pleasure and gain that my memory goes back there, even in the midst of all this grandeur of scenery while touring the west, making a trip from ocean to ocean viewing the snow capped mountains looking in wonderment and awe, as well as in admiration into the depth of deepest canyons and gazing upwards in dizzy heights as we speed onward toward the Golden Gate. That we are charmed is saying the least, for words of my calibre of learning never can express the vastness of this expanse of nature across these plains and over these mountains in the west. My wife and children are with me, and as we look at these wonderments of nature, of soil and field, and sky, intermingling with the gardens of the Gods, and see also roaming herds of cattle and hogs and horses, we are contented and satisfied. We have seen from Florida even this far, coming through Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, a part of Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Colorado we feel sure there are no slackers in the garden and field-lanes. The wheat and corn and alfalfa and potatoes and apples, as well as peas, beans and onions, all are fine and a sight to my eye—the eye of a Florida Cracker.

We welcome The Herald along our route and wish you to continue to send it regularly to me at Alomosa, so when returning here I can hear from home and you can continue to send it some parties of whom I will later give you the names. Parties I am trying to interest in coming to Florida, fair Florida, Land of fruit, fish, celery, lettuce and showers, Of sunshine and flowers, My Florida, Florida, when I am dying May my face be turned to thee. If in foreign earth I'm lying Send, oh, send a flower To grow by me. A. T. Lipford. Alomosa, Colo.

Mrs. Eric Anderson Mrs. Eric Anderson passed away at her home in Orlando, Fla., July 18th, 1917. She was born in Rassberga, Sweden April 16th, 1836.

Mrs. Anderson was a faithful, devoted Christian up to the time of her death. To know Mrs. Anderson was to love her and in her death the community has lost one of their best friends.

She was perfectly ready to go and had repeatedly said that she wanted to go home and be with her Savior. Her husband and children had gone before her to the Home beyond.

She leaves behind several grandchildren to mourn her loss. Her body interred away in the Upsala cemetery at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The funeral services were held at the Swedish Lutheran church, Upsala, Fla., the writer, Rev. Alfred Ericson conducting the services.

Life's labor done, as sinks the day, Light from its load the spirit flies, While Heaven and earth combine to say, How blest the righteous when he dies!"

Bids for Transporting of School Children Bids will be received for transporting school children of rural districts to and from schools for the term of 1917-18, beginning September 1, 1917 and for eight months to May 1, 1918.

All transportation by auto cars, under regulations as accepted by board of trustees. Bids by single route or all routes together must be presented on or before August 1st, 1917. B. F. Whitner, Secretary. 95-4tc Purdon—Blount A quiet wedding at the Baptist parsonage last night will come as a surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties. A few weeks ago Miss Mattie Blount of Waynesboro, Georgia came to visit her aunt, Mrs. Pagenhart, coming over from Gainesville where she had been visiting her friends, the Padgett girls, all of them being college mates at Tainesville, Georgia.

No intimation to their friends came from the contracting parties and last night Henry Purdon, one of Sanford's most popular young men with Miss Blount quietly wended their way to the Baptist parsonage with a few friends and relatives and Dr. Hyman performed the ceremony that made them man and wife.

The bride is one of Georgia's fairest daughters, a resident of Waynesboro, and well known in the state. She has visited here several times and made many friends, being a charming young lady. The groom is the son of Mrs. Purdon of this city and of the late J. J. Purdon, who was superintendent of the Plant System at this point for many years. Henry was raised here and has a large circle of friends who will wish the bride and groom a life of prosperity and happiness.

In a few days Mr. and Mrs. Purdon will leave for Waynesboro and Gainesville and other points in Georgia to visit relatives and friends and receive the parental blessing of their bride's parents.

Upon their return they will make Sanford their future home where Mr. Purdon is a valued employee of the A. C. L. Railway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watson and little son left today for Floral City where they will visit Mr. Watson's parents for several weeks.

Building permit was issued this morning for the new postoffice.

Mrs. George Thomas and daughter, Adele, who have been guests of Mrs. C. S. Saint and daughters for the past few weeks left for their home in St. Petersburg Monday accompanied by Miss Alma Saint.

Paper Hanging and Painting Thousands of new samples of wall paper for you to select from. Samples will be brought to your door upon request. I also do decorating and painting as it should be done. F. W. Temperton, 108 Palmetto Ave., one door from First street. 96-1f

Florida Gardens Washington, July 23.—The gardening campaign has resulted in the planting of more than three times the usual number of gardens in the United States, with the prospect that their products will reach the total value of $350,000,000, according to an estimate made tonight by Charles Lathrop Paek, president of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission.

South Dakota is credited with having increased the number of its gardens 735 per cent, the best showing to be made by any state. Tennessee's percentage increase is given as 500 and Florida's as 400 per cent. The only states listed as having failed to double their gardens are Georgia, Alabama, Texas, Missouri, Montana, Idaho, Utah and Nevada.

May Lucate Here Messrs. Hoskins and Pilkington of the Critchfield & Woolfolk Co. are in the city today, the guests of F. F. Dutton, president of the Board of Trade. Both of these gentlemen are well known in the state, especially in the vegetable and shipping business. Mr. Hoskins was for some time the head of the Growers and Shippers League and is at this time engaged in compiling a rate sheet and he is thinking seriously of locating here on account of the central location. They were visitors to The Herald office this morning and were greatly pleased with the fine equipment of the office and the splendid facilities for publishing and printing.

Royal Arch Masons Regular convention Thursday, July 25, 7:30 p. m. The Past and Most Excellent Masters degree will be conferred upon several from Oviedo and Sanford.

For the convenience of out of town visitors the chapter will be opened upon the Royal Arch degree promptly at 7:30 for the purpose of collecting upon petitions and such other business as may come regularly before it.

After this work light refreshments will be served. C. J. Rumph, High Priest.

City Taxes Delinquent taxes will be advertised August 7th, 1917. To avoid extra expense call and pay your taxes before July 31, 1917, as the books will close on that date. Office over fire department. Jas. C. Roberts, City Tax Collector.

Mrs. Maxwell Recited At the Woodruff dinner given last Tuesday night at the Carnes Hotel Mrs. R. C. Maxwell rendered several recitations that were greatly enjoyed and this part of the program was inadvertently left out of the write up in the Herald. Mrs. Maxwell's recitations are always greatly enjoyed and those given on Tuesday evening were no exception to the rule, therefore we hasten to make this amende.

Fibre Factory Running The fibre factory on the lake front at the foot of Myrtle avenue is now being remodeled and in a few days will be running full blast, making up switch grass and palmetto into brooms and other articles. The factory and building has been purchased by Jacksonville parties and the factory will soon be one of the chief industries of this section.

Ran Into His Car Robert Davies had his joy spoiled Sunday while on the way to the beach. He is not a fast driver and while rambling along in his faithful Overland heard a loud noise and before he could grab the lines two mean the emergency) another car had dashed past him and torn up the car considerably. The other car did not stop and Mr. Davies had to hunt him up at the beach afterward and thank him for not finishing the job completely. Mr. Davies says it was a young man named Johnson of DeLand who thus threw his car into the trenches and he will have to give him a good and sufficient reason for it or else.

Golden Wedding Golden weddings are few and far between these days of fast living and therefore when one happens or is about to happen close to home it deserves special mention. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee of Lake Charm near Oviedo will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on the 27th of July and have invited all their friends to help them, sending out beautiful golden invitations to the same. Mr. and Mrs. Lee are well known in Sanford, being the parents of Mrs. W. P. Carter and have many friends in this and adjoining counties who will attend this important event.

Christian Unity "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!" The Presbyterians and Methodists in the absence of their pastors are to interchange prayer meetings. Last week the Methodists met with the Presbyterians. This week they will have the privilege of having the Presbyterians meet with them.

Buy That Farm Now

Everything points to the next four years as to the period of greatest prosperity for the farmer and truck grower ever known.

The world is clamoring for our food products—must have them.

Money was never before so plentiful to pay for our products.

If ever you would own a farm at Sanford, Buy It Now, before the fall planting season opens and get into the game in time to share in this unusual prosperity.

I have several of the very best farms in the Celery Delta for sale ---not "cheap" farms, but the best that can be had at Sanford at exceedingly low prices for such farms.

LOOK THESE OVER

- 10 Acres, all improved and subirrigated, best material, perfect working condition, right at loading track, 1/4 mile off from brick road, will include crops of corn and peas if sold in next ten days. Price $6000.
10 Acres, all improved, one of the very best in the district, $5500. Small payment down and the balance on easy payments that will enable the purchaser to make the farm pay for itself.
10 Acres on Celery Avenue, small house, not all tiled and not a perfect place, but can be made so. Price $4250. and terms.
80 Acres on Celery Avenue. 20 Acres subirrigated, fine residence and several tenant houses. A perfect farm in the best of locations for a home. Price $25000. and terms.
5 Acres on First Street west of town. Fine home, close in. Price $4000.
5 Acres near Beardall Ave. This farm produced the best crops of Celery and Irish Potatoes grown in the vicinity last season. Perfect condition, price $3250.
If you would buy unimproved land I have it from 5 acre tracts to 40 acres at as low as $50 per acre. Lays well, well drained and subject to fine flowing wells. Near loading track. Such land can be put in cultivation and subirrigated at much less cost than to buy land already improved. If you have the time it will pay you better to buy this kind.
But the thing to do is to Buy It Now and get busy.

In the good old summer time we have plenty of leisure to sit around and discuss the high cost of living and what makes the wheels go round—that is some of us have the time to do this and others of us are too busy with our own affairs trying to make a living to discuss anything. But then it gives some a chance to blow off the surplus gas and this is probably a great relief.

Agitation about things in general is usually carried on by the fellow that pays the least taxes and the reason he pays no taxes is because he has never had time to accumulate any property—he is too busy talking.

There is a kick in certain quarters about the streets and alleys but I believe the street-committee of the city council is doing their duty in the streets and alleys as soon as possible. Weeds should not be cut down until they are almost ripe as this kills them for the season. In fact I think the streets and alleys are looking very good with the possible exception of the brick streets which could be some cleaner and the sprinkler should always precede the sweeper and keep down the dust.

And speaking about the cleaning up of the city I am still of the opinion that we cannot have a great place here unless we get rid of the English sparrows first and then we can have our song birds back again. These little sparrows are getting so thick that they are a genuine nuisance and the boys should be turned loose on them again during the vacation time.

This draft may be a joke to some and is probably a joke to those who are not touched but to me it is a sad occurrence and regardless of the patriotic duty which we owe the government and which I have paid to the limit I certainly hate to see our boys going to the front. The mothers and fathers and sisters and brothers and wives and sweethearts have my heartfelt sympathy. It is far from a joke and should be met with Christian fortitude and all of them should have our prayers for a safe return after the war is over. War in all its horrors has not been brought home to us yet but it will be soon and our only hope is for the speedy end. Meantime all of us must help in every way possible for it is the debt we owe the government.

As the war progresses the more the home guards are coming into prominence and what at first seemed a chimerical idea of patriotism and cry of "wolf" is becoming a reality. When all the soldiers and all the available men leave here for the war who will keep order and put down riots except the home guards. The great responsibility of the home defenders should not be looked upon too lightly for before this war is ended the benefit of the home guards will be demonstrated. All honor to the men of this city who are willing to give their time and money for the formation of the home guards. They are doing more than the average citizen who is taking his ease at home with no thought of tomorrow and yet this lazy citizen will probably have to call out the home guard to protect some of his property if the world continues to be torn with these conflicting emotions.

Warned?

By RICHARD MARKLEY

I started from New York with my ship, the Evelyn Colby, for Liverpool with a miscellaneous cargo on the 30th of January, 1917. The Colby was a small steamer of 2,000 tons and a slow saller. I had no wireless apparatus. Indeed, I didn't think I needed one. I had been used to jogging across oceans for many years without communicating with any other ship or the land and saw no reason to change my habits.

There had been a good deal of submarine work done in certain locations, but that had fallen off very considerably. Indeed, I took no thought for submarines, for they had been doing no damage on the route on which I proposed to sail. So after leaving New York I settled down to my usual sea life, which has always been most to my taste.

I took a southern passage, which caused me to steer not far north of east for the greater part of my voyage. Being somewhat out of the line of vessels between the United States and England, I met only three or four ships going over, and they were so far away that I did not speak to any of them. Had one come nearer or had I possessed a wireless apparatus I should have learned what would have put a very different complexion on my voyage. Instead of taking things easy I should have been in a condition of execrable apprehension.

I should have learned that the German government had laid down a zone of the ocean about the British Isles into which if any ship sailed she would be sent to the bottom by a submarine. All that was necessary was that the submarine and the ship should come within striking distance. Already a large number of vessels had braved the danger, and many had been sunk.

Years ago I took with me a young sailor, who remained with me as long as he lived. Mark Stanford was his name. He was the most reliable man

BILLY EVANS SOLVES BASEBALL PROBLEM

(Written Expressly for This Paper by the Famous American League Umpire.)

TRIO WHO FIGURED IN PECULIAR PLAY.

Failure of the fans to know what has actually happened on the field is very often the reason why the umpire gets into trouble. If it were possible in some way to let the crowd know the reason for this or that ruling, the umpire would usually escape much of the criticism that is heaped on his poor head.

In a game at St. Louis between Washington and St. Louis, a play came up which caused the admirers of the Browns to say many unkind things about the umpire, when, as a matter of fact, that official could not possibly have ruled otherwise. He was unfortunate in having a play come up that the fans were not wise to, hence they believed their favorites were getting all the worst of the decision.

In the eighth inning, with St. Louis enjoying a one run lead, Washington got men on first and third with only one out. "Eddie" Foster, a mighty good hitter in a pinch, was the batter. He sent a liner through the box that looked like a sure single. "Johnny" Lavan, dashed over, made a wonderful stop of the hit, touched second base and threw the ball to first in time apparently to double up Foster. In the meantime, the man from third had crossed the plate with what was the tying run if there had been no double play or if the ball had gone safe. The home team rooters gave this man no attention, as they figured the double play had ended the inning and made the run void.

But something had happened when Foster hit the ball that changed the entire complexion of the play. Catcher "Sam" Arnow, working close behind the bat, had touched Foster's bat just as he was about to strike at the ball. Possibly the slight interference in no way affected the swing, but the umpire was forced to do things that displeased the Brown rooters. What was the umpire forced to do under the conditions?

Answer to Problem.

The play in which the catcher tipped the bat of the batsman just as he was about to strike at the ball narrows the play down simply to a case of interference. While both players had apparently been retired neither was out. The very moment the catcher touched the bat of the batsman, that player was entitled to first base. That base being occupied, the runner was entitled to advance to second without liability to be retired. Naturally, since few people in the stand knew that the catcher had interfered, a big roar resulted when both runners who seemed to be put out were declared safe. The runner on third who had scored was, of course, sent back to that base. As is usually the case, the next batter followed with a double that decided the game.

In an emergency I ever knew. Once when the yards were covered with ice and our safety depended on some one going up to take in a sail I called for a volunteer to do the job. Mark Stanford alone stepped to the front. There were nine chances in ten that the piling and rolling of the vessel would shake him off into the brine. But he did the work and got down safely.

From that time forward he was a privileged character aboard my ship. He didn't think that he had done anything very wonderful and couldn't understand why I was so grateful to him. The consequence of it all was that he formed a very sincere attachment for me. I lost him in a storm. He was on the forecastle lowering a job when we shipped an enormous sea. It took poor Mark overboard, and it was impossible to save him.

One night on this trip I have been telling about from New York to Liverpool I woke up very suddenly, conscious of some appalling danger.

Now, I'm not going to say whether I did wake up or was dreaming or suffering from nightmare. What I'm going to tell you is that I saw Mark Stanford standing in my cabin. He had the same paleness on him as when I saw him in the water passing astern the day he was carried overboard.

"Put her off to the eastward, captain," he said.

I jumped out of my berth and reached for my clothes, and when I looked again for Mark he wasn't there. I sat for a moment on the edge of my berth wondering: Mark was dead. I had seen him in the water and I knew that in such a storm he couldn't be got out of the water. Moreover, if he had been saved I felt sure that he would have surely rejoined me. Nevertheless he had appeared in my cabin and given me what I felt sure was a warning. The feeling that we were in grave danger held with me, and the warning I had received remained uppermost in my mind, obscuring everything else.

Stopping only to put on my trousers, I ran on deck and, taking the wheel out of the steersman's hands, put the ship off to the eastward. The man looked at me, wondering what had got into me. And I couldn't explain. If I told him that a dead man had appeared in my cabin and given me a warning I would have been considered as having lost my mind and unfit for command. I told him that he could go below and I would take his place for the rest of the watch.

I kept on the changed course for a couple of hours, when I resumed the old one. By this time day had dawned, and I was hailed by a trawler that ran close alongside and asked me if I had seen any signs of a submarine. I said I hadn't, whereupon he told me that I had had a lucky escape, for there had been one not far from the course I was on when I veered to the east. Then I learned for the first time that I had entered a prohibited war zone, on which all ships were liable to be torpedoed by a submarine.

From this point I was given instructions as to the safe course to take, and until we made port I never left the deck.

LONGWOOD'S HONOR ROLL.

Old Boston Cricket Club Looking After Its Members.

The Longwood Cricket club, regarded as the oldest organization in the country devoted to lawn tennis, has compiled an honor roll of the members who have entered the service of the United States and its allies. Twenty names are on the roll, and others will be added soon, according to Edwin Sheafe, president of the club.

Headling the list is Lt. Norris Williams '21, the national lawn tennis singles champion, who is at an officers' training camp. Three other members are with him, seven are in the United States medical service or attached to French hospitals, and six are in the American ambulance corps in France. Three of the honor men are aviators.

Famous Racer Is Dead. Hastings, brilliant race horse and successful sire, is dead. A short while ago he became paralyzed, and August Belmont directed that he be humanely destroyed.

Unique Popularity. "A man that minds his own business," said Uncle Eben, "is so unusual that he's liable to find no' people buttin' in on him dan a regular mixer."—Washington Star.

Telling the Truth. To tell truth, rightly understood, is not to state the true facts, but to convey a true impression; truth in spirit, not truth to letter is the true veracity.—Stevens.

How to Protect Floor. Wash your kitchen floor has been varnished or painted, you may use your stove and sink just the same by taking two wide boards and nailing one large size cork on each end and two in the center. When the floor is dry and the boards are taken up, there will only be the places where the corks rested to touch up.

Oh, Very Well. A "palindrome" not only may be a phrase, but also "a word, verse, or sentence that means the same whether the letters composing it are taken in direct or in reverse order, as the answer attributed to Napoleon when he was asked whether he could have invaded England: 'Able was I ere I saw Elba.'"

The cool office is the busy office.

No one, no matter how willing, can do good work when oppressed by summer's encraving heat. But when a fan sends its refreshing breeze into every nook and corner of your office, the heat outside is forgotten—and efficiency increases with a jump.
