

Judge Expected To Rule Soon On State's Proposed New Constitution

By BARBARA FAYE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
TALLAHASSEE (UP)— Circuit Judge W. May Walker is expected to rule soon on the fate of Florida's proposed new constitution. His decision on the complicated legal question will determine whether Florida will go to the polls this fall to vote on the streamlined state charter. Judge Walker took the matter under advisement Tuesday after hearing four hours of debate by opposing attorneys. The suit, brought by State Sen. Verle A. Pope of St. Augustine and Miami attorney Raphael A. Rivera-Cruz, questions the proposed method for revising the constitution, and the so-called "daisy-chain" plan under which the article revision was tucked into a single package, requiring the voters to accept it all or reject it all. Three Courses Presumably, Judge Walker has three courses: —He can uphold the validity of both the election and the daisy-chain. —He can prevent any election at all. —Or, he can permit the election, but invalidate the daisy-chain. In that case, Florida would have a chance to vote on each article separately, adopting the ones they favor and rejecting the rest. In a lengthy four-hour argument, Rivera-Cruz contended the Legislature cannot write an entirely new constitution, then tell the people they must accept or reject it as a single package. He said the Legislature can revise only parts of the existing constitution by submitting amendments to various articles with a separate vote on each. Not Radical Change But defenders of the revision said it did not change the basic plan of government, and the most "radical" change was the provision for the new office of lieutenant governor. Assistant Atty. Gen. Wilson

Wright, representing the secretary of state, argued that the present constitution provides two alternatives for revising the constitution—either by a legislative revision adopted by the people, or by a constitutional convention. Wright added that arguments over the meaning of the terms "amendment" and "revision" are merely a play on words to try to confuse the issue. He said the daisy-chain was the only practical method to follow because the revision is an inter-woven that rejection of some and adoption of other articles would result in "hopeless chaos." Pope's attorney, Carey Matthews of Miami, said there was no question that the revision meant a completely new constitution, pointing out the new proposal contains only 14 articles whereas the old one has 28. Only article not revised in the judicial section, amended in 1962. Matthews contended the convention method of revising the basic laws might be un-worked and impractical. But he added, "It is still the mandatory method provided by our present constitution and must be followed until changed by the people."

Diocese Convention Cancelled In Sanford

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners was notified this morning that the 36th Annual Convention of the Diocese of South Florida has been cancelled.

A letter to Mayor Merle Warner from the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louttit, Bishop of the Diocese of South Florida, was the official notification.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles was directed by the commission to acknowledge receipt of the letter.

However, it was a turn of events for the city following a recent meeting of the city's governing board approving the convention slated to be held in the Sanford Civic Center when the Rev. John Thomas of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church here said of the convention "We're going to meet in Sanford even if we have to meet in the streets."

Bishop Louttit told Mayor Warner in the letter, "Although this letter is addressed to you it is written to you and the other members of the City Commission of the City of Sanford."

"Upon my return late last week from a series of speaking engagements I read in the news article of March 13 regarding the discussion in the City Council of Sanford about the proposed meeting of the Thirty-sixth Annual Convention of the Diocese of South Florida, to be held in Sanford, April 22-24," said Bishop Louttit in his letter.

The Bishop stated in his letter that in our planning we did not wish to embarrass any member of the city government."

Bishop Louttit explained "The Episcopal Church in South Florida was organized as a missionary district in 1902 with both Negro and white congregations. Annually since that year we have had a convention with both Negro and white delegates in attendance meeting from time to time in many cities and towns in the diocese (these meetings were held in Sanford in 1903, 1910, 1930, and 1939)."

He continued "At no time previously has the question of race relations, in the best of my knowledge and belief, been raised in connection with these meetings. To us this is not a matter of segregation or integration, it is simply doing what the Church has done for 200 years in accordance with the expressed teaching of our Lord, I. e., minister to all sorts and conditions of men."

It was in the last paragraph of Bishop Louttit's letter that the convention was cancelled. He said "However since the question has been raised we are happy to advise you that of course we shall not meet in Sanford as planned in April. Trusting that this will prove a happy solution to your problem."

There was no comment from member of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

Commissioner A. L. Wilson proposed that the City Manager acknowledge receipt of the letter. The proposal was adopted unanimously.

The approval of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners came in a proposed motion by Commissioner Robert S. Brown at the first city commission meeting held to discuss the question.

Brown's motion, which was adopted, read: "I feel that certain information was withheld from the City when this convention was arranged by the church representative for the use of the Civic Center. The entire City Commission consents the embarrassment that this has caused all of us; whether the information was intentionally or unintentionally withheld, we have no way of knowing. "Since the City did enter into an agreement to provide the Civic Center for this convention and, since the convention is of a National Church Organization which has determined its membership on its own volition, I move that the City of Sanford reluctantly authorize

Durham Urges Rushed Atomic Power Program

CHICAGO (UP)— Chairman Carl T. Durham of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said today the United States has little time to spare in developing a stronger atomic power program. The North Carolina Democrat warned that Russia is engaged in an "all-out effort" to beat this country in atomic and other scientific fields.

"History has shown that when a nation starts on the downgrade in its leadership, as measured in the development of its energy resources, it usually loses out as a world power," he said.

Durham made the statements before the atomic industrial forum and the National Industrial Conference Board. He said it will require "a great deal of effort" and "substantially more" money—both government and private—to expand the nation's atomic power program.

Rated Above Levees But he said "an accelerated program is at least as important as building post offices and levees ahead of a schedule to combat the recession."

President Eisenhower's representative on the new international atomic energy agency told the conference Tuesday night that the military potential of atomic space vehicles must not divert efforts from peaceful exploitation of the atom.

Robert McKinney recalled the early military emphasis on atomic energy and said it was years before the destructive power of nuclear energy was harnessed for peaceful purposes.

In that connection, McKinney said the United States must win the race to make civilian atomic power cheap, safe and simple if it is to maintain its technological leadership in the world.

"There can be no better evidence of leadership than reactors of American design or fired with American fuels feeding electricity into light globes and electric motors throughout the world," McKinney said.

Three Russian scientists and a Soviet diplomat created some confusion when they stroled into the amphitheater at the stock yards to view a display of America's atomic advances. The Russians mingled with about 5,000 of America's top atomic engineers, scientists and management officials and shelled out $180 to buy two complete sets of all technical papers presented at the congress.

Church Organization which has determined its membership on its own volition, I move that the City of Sanford reluctantly authorize this convention to proceed as previously agreed. This shall in no way constitute a precedent as to the use of the Civic Center in the future."

Efforts To Boost Tourist Industry Being Stepped Up
TALLAHASSEE (UP)— The Development Commission says it is stepping up its promotional effort to bolster Florida's tourist industry which was hard hit by the winter's freeze.

The commission said Tuesday the tourist business beginning to pick up but that the number of visitors to Florida the first week of this month is still 19 per cent under the first week of March, 1957.

This is much better than February when the number of south-bound tourists stopping at Florida tourist welcome stations dropped off 33 per cent from 1957.

The commission said state magazine and newspaper advertising in April will reach 132,000,000 read-ers compared to 84,500,000 for the corresponding period of last year.

In other action, the commission authorized employment of a marketing consultant to push a proposed $5 million bond issue on the Sunshine Skyway over lower Tampa Bay.

The money would go to retiring the original bonded debt that built the Skyway and some 19 million dollars for new access highways.

The commission, at its regular meeting, reported that its international trade department manager is now in Puerto Rico negotiating to funnel products of Florida and Puerto Rico direct through Florida ports instead of through New York and New Orleans.

The commission's report on industrial growth indicated that Florida obtained 30 new plants or expansions in February and a total of 106 plants, including smaller ones, with from one to 25 workers.

Winter Drags Heels As Spring Nears
 By UNITED PRESS
 Winter dragged its heels into its last full day today, birking up token snow flurries and rain, but apparently wearied by its severe exertions during the past three months.

The arrival of spring at 10:06 p. m. Thursday gives winter the better part of the day to prepare its unannounced leave-taking. But there would be few flowers—winter itself had taken care of that by holding back nature's calendar about two weeks.

Fading winter strength was noted across the nation today as precipitation dwindled to widely scattered snow flurries and showers.

The weather bureau noted that the sole exception to the weakening trend was a disturbance along the Atlantic Coast that caused rain in the lower tier of states and flurries farther north.

Cloudy skies were widespread from the Rockies to the Atlantic, with a few flurries in the mountains, Kansas, the Dakotas and the upper Great Lakes. West of the Rockies, fair skies prevailed except for spotty flurries in the extreme Northwest.

Warming was marked throughout the country, except for a dip in temperatures in the Gulf states and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Statistic Increase Reported In County
 Births, deaths, marriages and other vital statistics increased in number in Seminole County in 1957 because of an increase in population, according to the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Florida State Board of Health.

The "blessed events" totalled 1,140 to top the previous year and to swell the continually increasing population of the area.

There were 368 deaths in Seminole County according to the latest report issued today summarizing the vital statistics for 1957. Heart disease took the greatest toll in the county with 132; cancer was the next with 66 deaths; cerebral vascular disease claimed 45; influenza and pneumonia totalled

Treasury's Purse Strings Lousened
WASHINGTON (UP)— President Eisenhower loosened the Treasury's purse strings today in an effort to speed job-producing work on $2,255,000,000 worth of public housing and rural electrification projects.

He directed Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole and Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson to do their utmost to accelerate work on projects financed at least in part by federal loans and grants.

The total construction he is trying to speed up includes: 75 million dollars for sewer and water projects and similar public facilities.

300 million dollars for college housing.

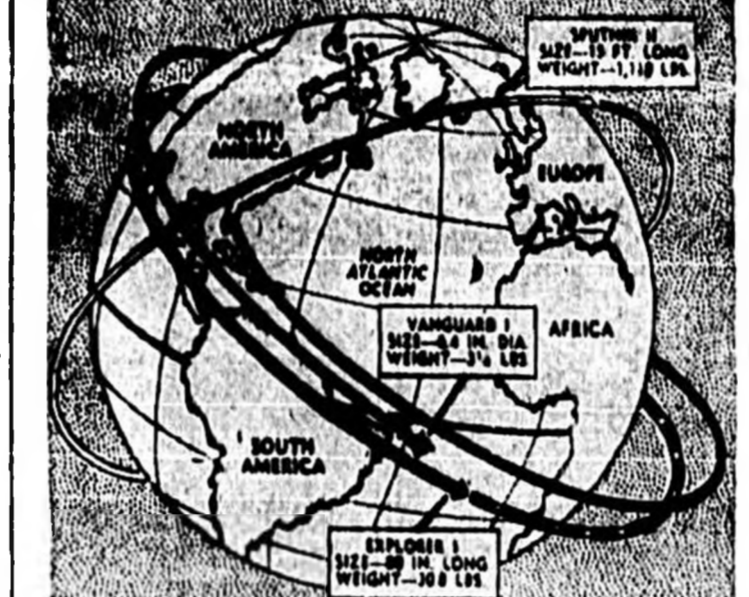

One billion dollars for slum clearance and urban renewal.

140 million dollars for public housing.

740 million dollars for rural electrification.

Mostly in Loans All told, the federal government will put up 133 million dollars in direct grants for the time being. It will provide $1,200,000,000 in loans which would have to be paid back by local communities. The balance would be put up by the local governments.

Benson was told to encourage Rural Electrification Administration borrowers "to accelerate

College Building
 "You should launch a vigorous program to expedite construction on some 200 million dollars in college housing loans on which planning is complete or substantially under way," the President said.

The federal government would furnish as a grant 133 million dollars toward the one billion dollars worth of slum clearance and urban renewal. Cities would have to make the rest. The federal grant is for installation of public utilities facilities such as gas, electric, sewer and water systems.

Cole was told to "take all necessary steps to assure" that the federal aid is available "when required and that the necessary construction is undertaken at the earliest feasible and appropriate time."

The President acted soon after Sen. Harry F. Byrd warned that the nation faces a red-ink deficit in the billions of dollars if Congress approves any substantial tax cut as a recovery measure.

'Flying Saucer' Radar Research Plane Unveiled
WEYMOUTH, Mass. (UP)—The Navy today unveiled an experimental "flying saucer" radar research plane.

The plane, publicly shown for the first time at South Weymouth Naval Air Station, is designed to bolster America's air defense perimeter by helping warn of impending attack.

Built by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the plane resembles a Super-Constellation airliner—except for a disc-shaped saucer riding piggy back. Within the saucer is a 37-foot-wide radar dome which rotates during flight.

Capt. H. B. Van Gorder, commanding officer of the naval air development unit here, called the new plane "a major milestone" in the field of airborne detection.

Maj. Gen. Harvey T. Aines, of the combined Canadian-American air defense system, told newsmen "the eyes of the military services are upon this aircraft here today."

Jaycees To Hear Overall Report On FP&L Monday

Members of the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will hear an overall report on the development and activities of the Florida Power and Light Company in the Sanford area at their noon luncheon meeting tomorrow.

Tom McDonald, program chairman for the meeting, has not announced the speaker.

A schedule of programs has been announced in the Jaycee Journal, a club publication of the local organization.

Karl Lehman, secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the education committee of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, will speak on the Educational Progress in Florida, March 27.

The election of officers and directors of the local Jaycees will be held at the April 3 meeting.

On April 10, the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees will sponsor a joint civic club luncheon to hear Senator Spessard Holland.

A University of Florida speaking team will furnish the program at the April 17 meeting.

Local Conservation Worker Attends Training Course
 John S. Winter, local Engineer Aid with the Soil Conservation Service, has just returned from a three week training session at the Athens Training Center provided by the Soil Conservation Service at the University of Georgia, Athens, Ga. for its technicians.

The Training Center provides technical training for all phases of its work, including engineering practices, soil classification, photo interpretation, cropland management and fish pond management. The instructors at the center were all local technicians.

Twenty-two men attended the session including one other from Florida and one from the Cartographic Division in Huntsville, Md. The remaining states in the Southeast represented were Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina and Tennessee.

Winter is a graduate of the College of Agriculture at the University of Florida, and has been assisting the local representative of the Soil Conservation Service, Benjamin E. Wiggins, Work Unit Conservational, since February 1957. He owns a small firm on South Sanford Ave.

Winter states that the time spent at the Training Center was very worthwhile and he hopes to be able to put a lot of what he has learned to practicable use in aid provided local landowners by the Soil Conservation Service office.

NOW THEY'VE GOT "POWER THINKING"—First details of the built-in "power-thinking" system that makes it possible for man to fly the Convair P-58 Hustler—the world's first and fastest super-sonic bomber—were revealed at Teterboro, N. J. Bendix Aviation engineers reported the system senses and reacts faster than the pilot and automatically prevents the pilot from putting the plane into any maneuver that might destroy it. A Bendix engineer here uses models to show how identical motions of the pilot's control stick (left) pass through the linkage system to the control surface only to the extent that varying flight conditions permit. Called "ratio changing" the variable stick-to-control motion is computed electronically in the Hustler over the plane's entire range of speed and altitude. (UP Telephoto)

Income Tax Tips

The income tax return is a document which is filed with the Internal Revenue Service. It is a statement of your income and deductions for the year. It is a statement of your income and deductions for the year. It is a statement of your income and deductions for the year.

Charitable Allowance in lieu of living quarters. Amounts received as commutation of quarters. Educational benefits, such as tuition and subsistence, under the Servicemembers Readjustment Act. Dividends on your G. I. Insurance.

Disability Retirement Pay. Family allowances authorized by the Government to a wife and dependent are not taxable, but allotments made from your pay are taxable. G. I. Bill payments you receive. Credit pay to the beneficiary of a deceased officer or enlisted man.

Miscellaneous pay. State bonus or payments to veterans. Gift Pay. Social Security Payments. Uniform allowances. Gifts. Gifts of property.

In addition to deducting from your income any of the above items, you may deduct the cost of any item of equipment purchased by you and required of personnel when doing not perform a similar service required in civilian life. For instance: Briefs, gaiters, handkerchiefs, hats, cap devices, camouflage hats, socks, collar ornaments, spectacles, etc. Travel expenses of mileage received is included in income. Traveling expenses over per diem allowance. Bond premiums, legal expenses, contributions to company fund and lodging over per diem allowance. Temporary on orders, dues, etc.

Replacement of shortage in accounts if not due to negligence. Accounting officers involving expenses, if not reimbursed. Recovery of transportation expenses if away from home, or on way from home to duty station, and provided they are not reimbursed. Recovery of uniforms if not furnished or reimbursed and they cannot be worn on duty.

The term "military or naval forces of the United States" and the term "Armed Forces of the United States" each includes all regular and reserve components of the uniformed services which are subject to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy, or the Secretary of the Air Force, and each such term also includes the Coast Guard. The members of such forces include commissioned officers and personnel below the grade of commissioned officers in such forces.

Taxes, generally, to be deductible, must be imposed on you, and you must have paid them. Common types of deductible taxes are State and City Sales Taxes, State Income Taxes, Personal Property Tax, Real Estate Tax, Automobile License Fees, Unemployment Insurance Contributions in some states, State Capitation or Poll Taxes and State Gasoline Tax.

Ministers are not required to pay tax on the rental value of a parsonage furnished to them, or the money paid to them by an allowance for a parsonage, provided that they actually spend the money for a parsonage.

The home or rental allowance must be provided for the minister in exchange for services ordinarily performed by a minister of the gospel in his ministry. If money is paid to the minister instead of furnishing a parsonage, the employing church or other qualifying organization must take some official action to designate the amount of rental allowance. This can be in the employment contract, or in the minutes of the organization, or by a resolution of the organization.

This action must be taken before the payment is made, if it is to cover payments made after Dec. 31, 1967 and to cover payments made before Dec. 31, 1967 the action must have been taken prior to Jan. 1, 1968.

Any such rental allowance must be spent to rent or provide a home, otherwise any amounts not so used must be included in gross income and the tax paid. Rental allowances will be deemed to have been used to provide a home if they are used to (1) rent a home (2) purchase a home and (3) for expenses directly related to providing a home. Expenses for food and utilities are not considered as being directly related to providing a home for this purpose.

When a minister rents, or purchases or owns a farm or other business property in addition to a home, the portion of the rental allowance used in connection with the farm or other business property is taxable. Since payments on a home are allowable, this gives the minister a chance to accumulate an equity in a home, with tax-free income.

If you are a minister you should check this provision very carefully with your accountant and endeavor to make some satisfactory agreement with your congregation for a parsonage allowance which would allow you to purchase a home with tax-free income.

Demand Growing For Hi-Fi Pickups

BY PRESTON MCGRAW United Press Staff Correspondent High fidelity equipment dealers report a growing demand for pickups made as integral parts of pickup arms. Engineers turned to them in their search for solutions to the problems of compliance and an extremely light tracking force. Compliance means the ability of a pickup to accommodate itself in a hair's breadth of a second to the grooves on a record and, at the same time, remain vertical to them. The lighter the tracking force—the weight a pickup exerts on a record—the less wear there is on both record and stylus. Wow! Scratch Record The newest of the pickup-pickup arm combinations is the Shure Dynamic, made with both 12- and 16-inch pickup arms. Some perfectionists report that the 16-inch arm offers a little more in compliance. The same pickup is used on both the 12- and 16-inch arms. The Shure Dynamic tracks at a force of one to two grams; a gram-and-a-half is probably a good compromise. In any case, the stylus exerts so little weight that it can be whether they cover in speech, amplifier or pickup. The hum level is extremely low and the pickup appears almost immune to floor vibration. The first automobile trip across the United States — San Francisco to New York — took 71 days in 1908.

Business Booming Here Should Be Example For Whole Nation

The economic boom in Sanford and Seminole County has reached a new high with prosperity and optimism gaining ground in the conversation and thoughts of civic leaders throughout the area.

Since the American economy has hit a low point, however, the immediate business at hand is to get the nose up and re-ignite the economic engine. Maybe the nation needs a little of the Sanford-Seminole County philosophy.

The task need not keep us from taking a quick glance at the higher levels that will eventually be reached. Such glimpses may help to keep the current talk about recession in perspective.

A study just made public by McGraw-Hill's department of economic predictions that the U. S. economy will be almost doubled by 1975. These analysts believe that gross national product—the total of all goods and services—will jump from the $24 billion dollars of 1967 to $46 billion dollars seventeen years hence. A labor force of 66 million persons, as compared with 49 million in 1967, is forecast.

This group of economists envisions capital spending by business nearly double the 1967 rate, and income per person at $2,897 as compared with $1,780 last year. The study predicts that aluminum production will quadruple, and that 88 per cent more steel will be produced in 1975.

This optimistic prediction of economic boom should not distract anyone's attention from the central task of dealing with the present day problems. A rosy glow on the horizon is not very helpful, right now, to those in the shadow of unemployment and reduced income.

The McGraw-Hill figures do provide reason for considered optimism, however. They serve the useful purpose of bolstering faith in the fundamental strength of our economy at a time when the faith of some persons seems to be wavering.

Right now—here in Sanford and Seminole County—the faith of local leaders, both industry and commerce, in the prosperity of the area is increasing at an unwavering program.

Building is booming, industry is increasing, retail spending is at the same or even greater level than last year, bank deposits and earnings are increasing, and savings are nearly doubled. Who would want a better picture for prosperity?

That's exactly what we have here! By 1975 we will be far ahead of the average picture portrayed by the McGraw-Hill analysts.

More About Famous Paul Revere

A Revolutionary figure of whom most people know little has just been made the subject of a commemorative stamp. This is Paul Revere, hero of the midnight ride on April 18, 1775, to warn the patriots of Lexington and Concord that the British troops were coming.

Incidentally, through no fault of Revere's he did not finish his ride, being captured by the British near Lexington. His friend, Dr. Samuel Prescott, took up where Revere left off. To include this incident might have spoiled the effect of Longfellow's famous poem, the source of most of the popular knowledge.

Revere was well known even before his ride. In 1773 and 1774 he had ridden to New York and Philadelphia on patriotic errands. He was subsequently made Massachusetts's official courier. He thus became a familiar figure in the countryside, and his name was known even in England.

He had other claims to fame. He was one of the great silversmiths. He printed the first issue of Continental money, the first official seal of the colonies, and the seal still used by Massachusetts. He cast bells and made cannon. He made the bolts, spikes, pumps and copper accessories on the famous warship, Old Ironsides.

Foreign Car Importers Expecting Good Year

United Press Staff Correspondent By ROBERT SHERMAN. NEW YORK—The current business recession is hurting sales of domestic automobiles but it hasn't dampened the optimism of foreign car importers.

They sold a record 200,000 cars in the United States last year and expect to sell "at least" 400,000 in 1958.

A spot check with foreign car importers evoked comments such as "We're meeting our sales goals" and "We can't keep up with the demand."

One importer told United Press that "It appears now we will not do as well as we expected late last year."

Unique Claim However, he emphasized, "We still are selling more cars than last year. That's only one American car maker that can make that statement. American Motors and it is selling a small car the Rambler."

Economy is the big factor behind the foreign car boom. Importers say foreign cars are cheaper to buy, drive and maintain than their bigger American counterparts.

American Motors also is riding the crest of the smaller popularity. It sold some 100,000 Ramblers last year and volume so far in the 1958 model year is running 66 per cent ahead of 1957.

Lumping sales of foreign cars and Ramblers together, the small car will account for about 10 per cent of the auto market in 1958—a record high.

The lowest-priced cars put out by the major auto firms in this country range in price from approximately $2,000 to $3,000, depending on chrome and accessories. A Volkswagen, the biggest-selling foreign car, retails for around $1,500 here.

Becoming Cost Conscious Eric J. Hansen, general manager of the Volvo distributing Corp., said Americans are becoming more cost conscious, and "are looking to get as much mileage as possible for every cent they spend."

He pointed out that the car owner who travels 20,000 miles a year can do so "at one-fourth the cost in European, five passenger sedan, as he can in one of the low-priced Detroit Three."

Visitors to the Maritime museum at Newport News, Va., are fascinated by its extensive collection of massive figurheads that once decorated the prows of historic vessels. Its ship models range from primitive Indian dugouts to the liner United States.

He sold a Swedish Volvo, for instance, can be run 20,000 miles at an average cost of 10¢, including gas, oil, service, replacement of minor parts and depreciation. This is in contrast with $2.00 for one of the low-priced "Big Three."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

INTERVIEWING CELEBRITIES—particularly if they happen to be arrogant dictators—requires tact and patience plus. Down Powell cites as an example the woman correspondent who obtained a private audience with Duce Mussolini in his heyday, but found him as evasive as a puffed pig.

"American readers," she testified, "are eager to know your plans for the new Roman Empire." The Duce looked deeply hurt.

"Why don't you ask me how I keep fit?" he demanded, peering his nostrils. "Fruit!" he cried. "I eat lots of fruit!"—and strode briskly out of the room.

The African explorer went for two cloth-husbands, containing necessity. "That was a tricky trick."

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES W. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent Leaders of two important African nations have issued ultimata to the United States in an attempt to influence its policy.

President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia has given the United States until Thursday to decide whether it will support his country or France in their dispute over the bombing of a Tunisian border village.

President Malik Feroz Khan Noon of Pakistan has said that unless the United States supports his country in its dispute with India over the state of Kashmir, he may have to revise Pakistan's policy toward the West.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is the chief carpenter of the Western platform, but he is purposely remaining in the background, being well aware of the disputes with which he is regarded in Moscow.

legislation may not follow the lines of the Eisenhower administration's proposals.

With the space age bringing increased emphasis on the role of specialists in the armed forces, lawmakers are anxious to halt the loss of trained men leaving the service for better-paying jobs.

Little opposition is anticipated, therefore, to President Eisenhower's proposal for a six per cent cost-of-living raise plus additional increases based on merit rather than on length of service.

However, the administration proposal to limit the increase to service personnel with two or more years of service may run into strong opposition in Congress.

Some senators have questioned the fairness of this plan. They point out that 750,000 service personnel on active duty would not get the pay increase because they have been in the armed forces less than two years.

POLITICAL MAKE-UP—The recent bipartisan dinner at which President Eisenhower appealed for popular support of his foreign aid program turned up with some political surprises when photographers took pictures of notables present.

One of the most startling occurred when Senator Everett Dirksen (R., Illinois), warmly embraced former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the benefit of photographers.

It was Dirksen who tangled with Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican convention for his support of President Eisenhower over the late Senator Robert A. Taft. The senator accused Dewey of twice leading the Republican party to defeat. His speech was considered one of the bitterest convention attacks in many years.

However, for the purpose of pictures at the recent Washington dinner, amity has been restored.

Over five hundred people jammed the ballroom, utilizing over one hundred and twenty card tables. The guests played bridge, gin rummy, and dominoes until ten o'clock. At that time refreshments were promptly served.

A delicious dessert of vanilla ice cream with a green shamrock stamp, and green sprinkled white cupcakes, carried out the theme. Ice cold punch made from 7-Up, donated by that company, was also served. Mrs. Cooper of Winter Park not only delivered the cold drinks, but helped serve them.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Have a note here from Merle Fruit of the Rose Circle about fire ants. Merle says that at their recent meeting (Garden Club), they were cautioned about the ants imported from Mexico and established in some parts of Florida.

Gardeners are urged to be sure when buying plants that they come from nurseries not in the quarantine area. The fire ants do not bite, but they are very annoying. They will burrow into the soil and cause some fatalities among small children.

Another note from a different kind of nursery. Willa Mae Prokosh has sold out her interest in the Sanford Day Nursery, due to her health. The babies will have to get used to not seeing her cheerful face around the house.

A Friday evening oyster roast was enjoyed by a group who went to New Smyrna Beach — Cy and Jean Fittor, Don and Polly Brubaker, Crela and Earl Higginbotham, Dave and Lee Cunningham, Betty and John McCracken, Camille Bruce and "Cotton" Adams — all were guests of Mabel and F. D. Scott.

Dave and Lee Cunningham entertained Dave's nephew Bill Fitzgerald over the weekend. Bill is a senior at Yale University and is on a ten day vacation with two friends. They are now in Sarasota. Expected in the near future are Bill's parents, Margaret and Bill Sr. from Connecticut, who will be guests of the Cunningtons for about two weeks.

Hear that Jane Miller's mother, Mrs. Gordon, is visiting from Mississippi. Carlisle Stripling has had relatives from Virginia by the dozen. Guess they have not been reading unfavorable reports about the weather here.

The O. W. C. held a most successful sale at the Ships Service Monday morning. Three tables were laden with baked goods and white elephants of the more desirable type. Helen Crawford was chairman. Donor's much credit for her able management, and so do those who contributed.

Phazi, Renn Will Captain FSU's Garnet, Gold Teams

GAINESVILLE (Special) — Coach Vir Phazi and left tackle Bobby Renn have been named by their teammates to captain Florida State's Garnet and Gold teams in the Seminoles' annual spring game here Thursday night.

Phazi, Waverly, N. Y., senior who sat out last season while recovering from an operation, will direct the Garnet attack. The spring practice climax is set for State's Campbell Stadium at 8 p. m. Thursday.

An All-Florida selection by state newspapers two years running, Renn will be the starting left tackle for the Golds. Renn, Henderson, N. C., senior, was among the nation's leading punters the last two seasons.

The Garnet and Gold squads have been practicing in separate camps, working up special plays and defenses for the Garnet-Gold clash. Coach Tom Nugent divided the squad last Saturday after a heavy scrimmage.

Phazi said assistant coaches Leo Adams, Charlie LaPrade, Leo Corso, and Bobby Fivash are handling the Garnet team for the spring game. Coaching the Golds are assistant coaches Bob Harbison, Frank Toomey, Paul Odem, and Herb Hughes.

The Seminoles wrap up their pre-game work today with a written examination on defense, something that usually has been done on the field.

The Louisville game, there on Dec. 11, represents the second

Spring Grid Drills Open At Florida

GAINESVILLE — Nothing seemed more proper than when Coach Bob Woodruff opened spring football drills at Florida recently by moving in Don Edgington from the left to the right side of the line.

As a sophomore last season, Edgington played behind left end Don Fleming who returns in 1954

as a co-captain of the team. Meanwhile, veterans Dan Polham and Jim Yeats, first two right ends, followed the graduation route, leaving a big gap here.

Therefore, the best strength, Edgington started spring drills at the head of the right end corps. The six-two Miamian is considered a bright light for the future, and is fast gained enough recognition throughout the Southeastern Conference last season to win All-SEC sophomore team honors.

In speaking of Edgington, Coach Woodruff said his staff feels that he is "very fast and agile. He is very good on defense and knows how to block." His potential as a receiver is considered excellent.

Among other right end candidates who could make a big difference in effectiveness of terminal play for the Gators next season is David Hudson, Pensacola, who carries the scales over a 200 pound man. He excels as a blocker, is quick, and is said to have "all kinds of ability, and potential that could cause him to become an outstanding pass receiver."

Also making a bid for the right end variety positions are Bob Pracek, Jeannette, Pa., and Nick Arfanas, Tarpon Springs, a pair of reserves last season, and Tom Smith, Atlanta, Ga., up from the '53 freshman team.

While Co-captain Fleming, who is expected to be one of the greatest ends in the SEC this year, is playing right field on the baseball team, Perry McGriff, Gainesville, is holding down the number one left end job in spring drills.

McGriff ranks as possibly the outstanding pass receiver on the team. Also aiming for a right end spot are Pat Patchen, Steubenville, O., who is quick and eager to block and tackle, Bob Erwin, Jacksonville, who appears to be one of the best and prospects from last season's freshman team, George Tedder, Jacksonville Beach, and Willie Tharpe, Cocoa.

Adkins, 20, is a St. Louis slugger who often has been accused of lacking "enthusiasm." The answer is that, a pro since 1948, he just couldn't seem to reach the top. Necessity dictated a fighting answer for Logart, 24, who is known as "El Latico" or "The Whip" because of the manner in which he snaps his punches. He was one of 14 children and there was little future welding a bolo knife in the cane fields. He has won 64 bouts — 19 by knockouts.

At first they met, Adkins won a split decision and the second time, Logart was unanimously.

Necessity dictated a fighting answer for Logart, 24, who is known as "El Latico" or "The Whip" because of the manner in which he snaps his punches. He was one of 14 children and there was little future welding a bolo knife in the cane fields. He has won 64 bouts — 19 by knockouts.

Adkins, 20, is a St. Louis slugger who often has been accused of lacking "enthusiasm." The answer is that, a pro since 1948, he just couldn't seem to reach the top. A new managerial staff has jolted him into renewed efforts and he predicts that he will make it the best two out of three over Logart.

NEW YORK — Isaac Logart and Virgil Abino swap punches Friday night for a shot at the welterweight championship of the world and a chance to put childhood poverty behind them for good.

Both knew hunger and want when they were growing up—Logart in the Cuban sugar cane fields and Abino on the banks of the Mississippi. Their $20,000 guarantees still stand as tremendous paydays for both of them.

But the winner of this 18-round semifinal elimination bout, made necessary when Carmen Basilio gave up the welterweight title after winning the middleweight crown, figures to have it "made."

Logart is favored.

This, each figure, is the championship even though the winner must engage Vince Martinez for the title. Because neither Logart nor Abino has much regard for Jersey Vince, who drew a bye in the championship finale.

"This is it," says Logart, the 2-3 favorite. "It is a dream I have had since I watched Kid Gavilan fight in our home town of Camaguey, Cuba."

Hutchinson Thinks Cardinals Can Go All Way This Year

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, (UP) — Freddie Hutchinson, who brought in his St. Louis Cardinals a surprising second last year, thinks they can "go all the way" this year.

"We have the power, and I think we have the pitching," Hutchinson said. "The only question in my mind is our defense in the outfield."

In addition to that possible weakness, he also admitted that he would like a veteran third string catcher.

"A guy who can go in there in the late innings to settle down my kid pitchers," Hutchinson explained. He had Walter Cooper for that chore last year, but Cooper decided to end his active playing days.

Except for pitching, the Cardinals, pending deals, are all set. "They'll come up with a revised infield, but with the same four players they had last year. Al Dark has been shifted to third base and the younger and faster Eddie Kasko has been moved from third to shortstop."

At first will be Stan Musial, who won the National League batting championship for the seventh time last season, with Don Blasingame at second base.

He's sure that Musial will supply the power he needs along with his starting outfield trio of Del Ennis in left, Ken Boyer in center and Willie Mays in right.

The question in Hutchinson's mind is whether that outfield will let in more runs than they bat in.

Smith For Outfield Duty
The Cardinals manager will keep the light-hitting Bobby Gene Smith around for outfield utility duty along with Veteran Irv Noren. He also hopes that Gene Green, a rookie up from Rochester where he hit .299 last season, will make the grade. Green can catch. The 19-year-old Curtis Flood can do the job in the field, but doesn't hit too well against curve balls and may be sent down for further seasoning.

Joe Cunningham, who can play either in the outfield or at first, will be kept as a utility man along with infielder Dick Schofield. Hal Smith will be the No. 1 catcher with Hobie Landrith behind him.

The "Big Four" pitching starters for the Cardinals will be Larry Jackson who had a 159 record last season; Sam "tooth-pick" Jones 12-9; Lindy McDaniel, one of the famous bonus pitching brothers with a mark of 15-9, and Wilmer Vinson. Bend Mizell, who in his first year out of service won eight games while losing 10 last season.

Robertson Is First Soph To Be Caged Player Of Year

NEW YORK — Oscar Robertson, the University of Cincinnati's 19-year-old white kid, became the first sophomore ever to be chosen Basketball Player of the Year in the annual United Press poll.

In a vote of 281 sports writers and sportscasters, Robertson, the leading scorer in major college ranks, received 122 votes as the best player in the business this season.

Elgin Baylor of Seattle was runner-up with 98 votes, followed by Dave Gambee of Oregon State with 12, Guy Rodgers of Temple with 10, Don Honnon of Pittsburgh with 8 and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State with 2. Will Chamberlain of Kansas and Pete Brennan of North Carolina each had four votes.

It was the second honor for Robertson in the past week. Last Wednesday he became the third sophomore ever named to the United Press All-America team.

Stamps

By FRANCES J. CROWAN

The release of the "In God We Trust" Status of Liberty stamp at Cleveland, O., on March 22, may well mark the tempo of things to come. This is the first stamp of the regular series to be produced in two colors on the new Glori press. Many collectors hope that others will follow in the not too distant future.

The new Glori was imported last year on an experimental basis. It was hoped that this printing press would be the answer to producing multi-color stamps in quantity at low cost. Other processes had proven either too expensive or incapable of printing the tremendous quantities required by the postal service.

Last July, the Glori was employed to print only 50 million of the 4-cent Flag commemorative. Only 10 million were actually used. Many nations consider five thousand multi-color stamps a large printing. But, the U. S. usually sells 100 million of each new commemorative. Demand for the attractive Flag stamp made further printings imperative. To date, about 100 million have been released.

In November, 120 million Woodrow Wilson stamps of the Wildlife series were placed on sale. Printed in three colors, this stamp was considered by many as the most attractive ever issued in the U. S.

Now, release of a stamp in the regular series seems to indicate that most of the "bugs" have been worked out of the new press. The day may soon come when all commemorative stamps can be produced on the Glori. At that time, the U. S. will become not only the world's largest printer of postage stamps—she will be printer of the world's most attractive.

The Canadian Post Office Department has just announced a new policy to make it easier for collectors to procure plate block numbers. Effective immediately for a plate block. For higher value number will be supplied on request with the purchase of twenty 10, 20, or 30 stamps. Only 10 stamps of the 40, 50 (commemorative) included, 40 or 70 values need be ordered with a request for a plate block. For higher values, the block of four may be purchased separately.

This latest change in policy is a direct result of collector complaints. First decisions, made late last year, were to eliminate plate numbers entirely. Six stamps were released in this condition, including the Geophysical Year stamp on March 8.

The new plan accomplishes a two-fold purpose. Collectors can continue to obtain desirable material for their albums, while the government speeds up window service at post offices. Sales to collectors will be made only by mail from Ottawa. Window stock will be offered for sale only with number salvaged removed. Reasoning is that inasmuch as a philatelic agency is maintained for the convenience of collectors, all related business should be channeled there.

All orders for number blocks must be sent directly to the Post Office Department, Philatelic Section, Financial Branch, Ottawa 4, Ontario, Canada. Further details, as well as information on the government's Deposit Account Service, are available on request from that office.

Collectors in search of the unusual in a topical subject may find a ready answer in the American Topical Association's new handbook, "Mountains on Stamps." Information on the ATA and other national philatelic groups is available from your stamp editor.

Victory-Minded Field Will Be Seen Tonight

A victory-minded field, headed by King Ivy and Diweo, will parade postward in the featured 10th race tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

King Ivy, who got his start at the Sanford-Orlando track in maiden class earlier this season, boasts 10 wins in 22 starts. Only Go Suzie, with 12 victories, has hit the win column more often.

Fred Whitehead's young star just missed getting his 11th victory in the top race of last week Saturday night. He led by three lengths going into the home stretch, but finally lost out by a nose to fast-closing Pat's Shadow.

Diweo, track champion two years ago, has made a strong comeback this season after skipping the meet last year. The veteran speedster has collected eight wins four seconds and three thirds in 24 attempts.

London Playboy, Teen-Age Bride Arrive in Miami

MIAMI (UP)—London "playboy" Dominic Elwes and his teen-age bride, former heiress Tessa Kennedy, were here today—flap broke but still in love, and happy to be in America.

The couple fled to Cuba where they were married in a secret ceremony Jan. 27 after Tessa's father, a millionaire shipper, obtained a court writ to prevent their marriage in England or Scotland.

Elwes, 26, son of a British society painter now in New York, said he faces a three-year prison term if he returns to England, for not returning Tessa upon court orders.

"It's terrible to be made a criminal—just for being in love," he said.

Tessa, a 19-year-old honey blonde, said she is disappointed her mother of the marriage, but had had no word from the family. She hopes her family will change its viewpoint, and there can be a happy reconciliation.

The couple, carrying clothes in a single cardboard valise, rented a room for a day or two while Elwes looks for a job.

"All we want is just a chance to be like other couples and lead a normal life," he said. Tessa chimed in, "It's all been a great strain, but I don't regret it for a moment. If I had it all to go through again, I'd do it. We love each other very much."

Presbyterian Choir To Present Cantata Mar. 30

The all music Easter service given annually by the Chancel Choir of the First Presbyterian Church will be presented on March 30 at 7:00 p.m. by the Rev. A. G. McInnis as soloist.

The tuneful cantata written by Alec Rowley will be sung by the choristers under the direction of Mrs. George Touhy, minister of music.

This is a repeat service done at the request of many townspeople, both those who attended last year's rendition of the composition and those who could not attend but who heard of its tuneful appeal.

The words by Arthur Salmon, with a strong Scriptural foundation tell a moving tale of the Easter story of Christ's passion. While there are some moving solos, the major portion of the cantata effectively uses the full choir.

The Presbyterian pastor stressed the open invitation to everyone to share in this worshipping experience.

Irving Chase Will Head Tourist Club

Irving Chase was elected president of the Sanford Tourist Club Tuesday evening. Additional officers include Mahlon Wright, vice president; Mrs. Louise Rowan, secretary and Mrs. Iva Weber, treasurer. Serving as trustees will be Edward Harvey, Al Madden, Abe Denzinger, Clyde Schartz, and Capt. Earl Loucks.

The officers were installed by immediate past president, Don Brooks.

An evening of cards followed the election of officers.

Coin Cards Should Be Used in Mails

If you have coins which you don't care about, deposit them loose in the mails. You can demonstrate your indifference by taking some odd pieces of silver and a cereal box top or soap coupon and starting them off to New York or Chicago in an ordinary envelope. In most instances your gamble will pay off, but occasionally you will lose.

Postmaster Joel A. Field, and his postmaster associates all over the country take little notice of the wins. But postmasters everywhere become mighty concerned about the losses, for their implications are far beyond the value of the money itself.

There are rare occasions when most everybody finds the need for sending coins by mail. When this is so, a coin card should be used, or the coins should be fastened by tape to a piece of ordinary cardboard about the size of the envelope. When a check or money order should be used. These are the proper methods of mailing money under all circumstances.

The important reasons for keeping loose coins out of envelopes are obvious. Envelope paper is good for the purpose it is intended to serve, but it sometimes gives way to the weight or the wearing action of bits of metal. This is particularly so if the envelope is run through a stamp cancelling machine. When the machine tears the envelope and the coins fall out, the post office which receives them can neither send them back to their owners, nor on to their destination, for there is no way or there are no methods of identification.

Besides the loss of money by the sender, the postal service loses too. Coins are hard on cancelling machines and sometimes cause expensive repairs. If the envelope is handstamped—which it should be and usually is—the cost of processing is greater than that of processing the conventional without an bulky enclosure letter. Sometimes much more important than either of these items is the temptation to trifle which easily detectable money presents to all those whose hands the envelope passes.

So the point is this: If you're determined to gamble, do so. But don't do it through the mails.

ULIE and Bill Hageman dismounted in our yard. Bill had a rifle and Marshal Bud Ledbetter gave them a quick, uncertain glance.

"They're friends," I said. "Bill, we need backing here."

"You've got it, Smoke," he said and stood there, his rifle held lax in his hands. I ran on to the barn, threw a bridle on the first horse I came to and led him back. Cord was out on the porch now, his 44 Smith & Wesson in his hand. He and Ledbetter were having a staring match, with Bill Hageman standing behind the marshal and a little to one side.

"Don't make me kill an officer of the law," Cord said.

"I'm not making you do any thing," Mr. O'Dare, Ledbetter said. "Get on that horse, Luther. You too, Smoke."

Luther hesitated, then flipped up. I climbed aboard my own horse. Cord's hand was in his pocket; he hadn't yet drawn his gun.

"Cord," Bill said, "the law has to be served; no one man has the right to set up his own laws against it. If you shoot that pistol, you're a dead man. That's a promise." He spoke to Bud Ledbetter without looking at him.

"Marshal, if you'd like, just get on your horse and ride out. I'll wait here a spell."

"We'll go together," Ledbetter said, "after he puts down his pistol."

There was no telling how this would have turned out if Ma hadn't rushed out and grabbed Cord's arm. "I don't want you killed!" she yelled. "You're my man, Cord, my grown-up man. I'd die with you. You'll get Luther back, Cord. But not me. I mean you harm."

Ledbetter wanted to get on his way; we parted there and Julie and Bill crossed the river. I sided Luther.

"I had to do it, Luther," I said. "I just had to."

He looked at me then and of all the people who had a right to hate me the most, he was the man. But he didn't; he saw that immediately. "I guess you did what you believed was right, Smoke. And I envy you for that."

CHAPTER 37

ULIE and Bill Hageman dismounted in our yard. Bill had a rifle and Marshal Bud Ledbetter gave them a quick, uncertain glance.

"They're friends," I said. "Bill, we need backing here."

"You've got it, Smoke," he said and stood there, his rifle held lax in his hands. I ran on to the barn, threw a bridle on the first horse I came to and led him back. Cord was out on the porch now, his 44 Smith & Wesson in his hand. He and Ledbetter were having a staring match, with Bill Hageman standing behind the marshal and a little to one side.

"Don't make me kill an officer of the law," Cord said.

"I'm not making you do any thing," Mr. O'Dare, Ledbetter said. "Get on that horse, Luther. You too, Smoke."

Luther hesitated, then flipped up. I climbed aboard my own horse. Cord's hand was in his pocket; he hadn't yet drawn his gun.

"Cord," Bill said, "the law has to be served; no one man has the right to set up his own laws against it. If you shoot that pistol, you're a dead man. That's a promise." He spoke to Bud Ledbetter without looking at him.

"Marshal, if you'd like, just get on your horse and ride out. I'll wait here a spell."

"We'll go together," Ledbetter said, "after he puts down his pistol."

There was no telling how this would have turned out if Ma hadn't rushed out and grabbed Cord's arm. "I don't want you killed!" she yelled. "You're my man, Cord, my grown-up man. I'd die with you. You'll get Luther back, Cord. But not me. I mean you harm."

Ledbetter wanted to get on his way; we parted there and Julie and Bill crossed the river. I sided Luther.

"I had to do it, Luther," I said. "I just had to."

He looked at me then and of all the people who had a right to hate me the most, he was the man. But he didn't; he saw that immediately. "I guess you did what you believed was right, Smoke. And I envy you for that."

thought of the sturdy first. You know that."

"Have you? How?"

"Everything I've done has been for you," Cord said. "His eyes got dull and dedicated and he acted real noble about it all."

"What have you done? Made Luther say 'yes, sir' and 'no, sir' and do everything you wanted?"

"I blew out an angry breath. Always making me do your share of the work while you chase all over the country."

"Is this the thanks I get for dedicating my life?" Cord asked.

"I could have had a wife, but I've denied myself that because of the family. Is my reward a lot of smart talk?"

"This makes me laugh; a few weeks ago I wouldn't have dared, but everything had changed since then. 'Hell, look at what you've done for me! What do you carry that gun for if it ain't to keep people scared of you? Well, big man, I sure as hell ain't scared of you!'"

He was silent for a long moment. "I ought to break you in two, Smoke. I ought to smash your smart mouth and teach you so's you'll never forget." He bit his lip and stared at me. "I've whaled you until my hand ached, but I can see now that it wasn't hard enough. I should have broken you, boy, years ago. Broken you so's you'd behave and not bring me grief and trouble now."

"Like you broke Luther, huh? Or worked on Ma until she believes you're some kind of a god?" I turned and opened the door as wide as it would go. "Go on, get out of here and leave me alone. You ain't nothing special, Cord. You're just got people fooled into believing you are."

He stepped to the door, but he turned and doubled up his fist. "Don't ever stand up against me, Smoke. I'll get what I want and I'll kill the man who stands in my way. Even you."

I watched him go feeling the stairs, a dead, uneasy feeling in my stomach. I hadn't meant to spill over like that but things seemed to pile up on me, like they did on Luther, and I too had to hit out at anything that was handy. But I must have hit something—pretty solid—because I'd never seen Cord rocked back like that. Quite by accident I'd gotten through to him, but in way that made him dangerous angry. Angry enough to look upon me as a menace.

"Luther laughed without humor," Smoke, he said, "the lawyer must prove I'm innocent because he isn't supposed to"—the story continues here tomorrow.

Unemployment Reaches 67,900 During January

TALLAHASSEE—Unemployment in Florida reached a total of 67,900 in January, an increase of more than 3,000 over unemployment in December, the Industrial Commission said.

Chairman James T. Vocello said the January drop in employment "ran counter" to a normal pickup because the tourist industry, the canning industry and related industries were hard hit by the recent cold weather.

"The national recession which was reflected in a drop of 1.5 per cent from the year ago level, also influenced the January decline," Vocello said.

The 67,900 unemployed represented 23,100 more than the total unemployed last January.

Manufacturing was down, as was wholesale and retail trade, government employment and contract construction. However, all were above January a year ago.

Eating and drinking establishments were up along with transportation, communications, utilities, hotels and personal services, mining and finance, insurance and real estate.

Vocello said, "We face a paradoxical situation in Florida in that employment and unemployment rise simultaneously. The reason is the tremendous population growth of the state which increases the number working and the number looking for work at the same time."

Computer System
Ordered For Home
Office Of IDS

MINNEAPOLIS—Investors Divi- sion Services Inc., largest in- vestment corporation of its kind in the nation, and represented by Harold C. Schellinger, has ordered the latest large- scale electronic computer system for its home office, Joseph M. Fitzsimmons, IDS president, announced today.

IDS will be one of the first corporations in the United States to acquire the new system and will have the first model to be installed in Minneapolis. The Company's monthly operating business and its prospects for future growth require powerful electronic data processing machines to provide better service for its more than 800,000 customer accounts and to make available to management each day valuable statistical information which previously has been too costly to obtain, Fitzsimmons said.

One of the outstanding features of the new system is a completely transistorized magnetic tape unit with an input-output rate fast enough to read and write the equivalent of a full length book every fifteen seconds. This high speed tape unit can read and write business information at the rate of 60,000 characters per second, or an entire reel of 16 million characters in less than 40 minutes, automatically double checking itself and correcting its own errors. The central electronic processing unit will handle customer record keeping at electronic speeds of nearly three quarters of a million steps per minute.

This newest so-called giant brain, the IBM 705 Model III, publicly announced by its manufacturer, International Business Machines Corporation in September, 1957, will be installed in the IDS home office in the Investors Building. IDS has had complete automation for its customer accounts services since 1954, and has remained in the vanguard for improved mechanical and electronic equipment to keep pace with the steadily growing needs. For several years the company has been using two IBM 650 computers.

The Company is making extensive preparations for the installation of the 705-III, including reconstruction of the area where the new computer system will be housed and provision of special air conditioning. Some employees already have been trained to set up programs for the various units in the system.

"Harnessing the electron to handle masses of paper work has permitted many of our employees to exchange laborious, time-consuming jobs for more interesting and creative work within the company," Fitzsimmons said.

"The remarkable performance of the IBM 705-III system will enable us to service our customers with greater efficiency and at significantly lower cost. It will enable us to handle a greater volume of business, which is increasing rapidly as Investors Divi- sion Services and the Investors Group of companies under its management continue to grow."

Road Dept. Spends $800,000 In 1957 For Grass Cutting

If you think it costs a lot to keep your lawn trimmed regularly, just think what it costs the State Road Department to keep the grass along our highways mowed.

Last year it cost almost $800,000 to keep the rights of way along more than 14,000 miles of primary and secondary highways neatly mowed, according to records of the Road Department's maintenance division, directed by Assistant Highway Engineer R. C. Bannerman, Jr.

This tremendous job of grass cutting took 184 mowing units a distance equivalent to about 20 times around the earth.

Maintenance engineers estimated that 150,000 square acres of grass adjacent to state highways was mowed an average of three times—or the equivalent of 6 ft. wide strips of grass 600,000 miles long.

THE PARIS SUBWAY, called the "Metro," doesn't carry as many passengers each day as its counterpart in New York, but has several features worthy of comment. It has "hot" and "cold" train compartments, first class and second class, and is equipped with cushioned seats. There also are special seats on every train for invalids and ladies carrying bundles from heavy shopping.

Another excellent feature of the Paris "Metro" prevents passengers from holding up a train by trying to pry open half-closed doors. As it enters the station, gates automatically shut at all entrances to the platform, so that only passengers already on the platform can climb aboard. As the train pulls out, the entrance gates open again on non-occupied platforms. Clever, these Parisians, don't you say?

Premier Gaillard's Government Shaky; Cabinet Crisis Seen

By United Press
It looks as if the next French cabinet crisis has started. The climax may not come for several weeks. But the coalition government of premier Felix Gaillard is perilously shaky. Gaillard has just won another vote of confidence in the National Assembly, the controlling House of Parliament. But it was given to him only because leaders of the divergent groups in the coalition are afraid to defeat him at this moment. They fear that the next crisis might be far worse than the last one, which it took 27 days to solve.

Specifically, they fear that it would open the way for an "authoritarian" government—a dictatorship—under Gen. Charles De Gaulle, the war-time leader of free France. Talk of the return of De Gaulle is increasingly dominating political speculation in Paris.

Unless there is a radical change in the situation, the talk may turn from whether De Gaulle will return to when he will return. Two explosive issues are hanging over the Gaillard government. One is the Tunisian-Algerian situation. The other is constitutional reform to make it harder for parliament to overthrow a government. Robert Murphy, the American diplomat chosen to try to settle the French-Tunisian dispute which arose over the bombing of a Tunisian border village by French planes, has arrived in Paris with new proposals. They represent the latest terms of Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba for a settlement. Even in advance of the publication of the proposals, the right-wing independents who provide 100 votes for Gaillard's coalition have threatened to withdraw if he makes any concessions to Bourguiba. On the constitutional reform issue, Gaillard won a confidence vote of 220 to 126 in the National Assembly Tuesday. It was a minor vote. Gaillard demanded it to force the reversal of an amendment passed last week to limit his power to call confidence votes. But there is a growing feeling in France that something must be done to restore authority to the government. Gaillard's position over De Gaulle, he seems to be the only man in sight who could do it.

500 Flee Battle Threat In Medan

SINGAPORE (UP)—Five hundred American, British and Dutch women and children fled the North Sumatran capital of Medan aboard the 30,000-ton Dutch liner Orange today. The city was quiet but a major battle threatened. Rebel sources in Singapore said a band of 1,000 snipers were moving on the city through steaming jungles, hoping to link up with other revolutionaries for a major assault on the city—the first heavy fighting of the civil war. A United Press dispatch from Medan said a 15-vehicle convoy took nearly 300 American women and children from Medan to the port of Belawan, 15 miles to the north, to board the big liner which was diverted there for its regular Far East run. It will sail to Singapore. There were about 300 Dutch refugees in the group and 50 British. An Indonesian army spokesman in Medan said there was little chance of fighting in the city occupied briefly by the rebels Sunday, but tension was mounting

Crude Map Telling Of Buried Treasure Proves Inaccurate

FRESNO, Calif. (UP)—Would-be treasure hunters were chagrined today to learn that a crude map describing the whereabouts of $60,000 buried treasure has proved inaccurate. Daniel Machon, 31, a Western Union typewriter repairman in Philadelphia, found the map and note inside a typewriter platen, or roller, he was fixing. Then note said: "Nadly hurt. Knife wound severing artery. You are 1 1/2 miles away 90 eight miles from Fresno, location on map. Shows all that is necessary. If I don't come, take all." The note was signed "Tommy J." and dated Feb. 9, 1929. Under the note was a map purportedly showing the treasure was buried near a gasoline station close to a bend in the highway. Fresno police and businessmen promptly went on a treasure hunt but the results were discouraging. If the location was north of Fresno, the gasoline station depicted on the map would have been in 1929, situated on the Southern Pacific tracks. If the map shows U.S. Highway 99 south of Fresno, it is inaccurate since there was no bend in the road. A check of newspaper files failed to turn up reports of any $60,000 robberies or any knifing victims. Western Union files in Fresno had no record of an employee by the name of Tommy J. or of a typewriter being stolen.

'Ides Of April' Contest Opened

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Arthur W. Watkins (R-Utah) has opened an "Ides of April" contest to try to get a "correct translation" of a 23-word sentence in the federal income tax instructions. He said a constituent called the sentence to his attention and he has shown it to some of his Senate colleagues. He reported that they are "normally not perplexed by long-winded and obscure phrases" but this time they are "stumped and dehydrated." Watkins will give the contest winner a book called "Simplified English," which he suggested the winner might want to autograph and send to Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. ## Nation Awaiting Arrival Of Spring At 10:06 p.m.

By UNITED PRESS
Going... going... gone by tonight. With spring only hours away, winter gave an expiring gasp that whipped up 45-mile-an-hour gusts along the Atlantic Seaboard today and pelted the area with snow and rain. Heavy snow warnings with 4 to 8 inches expected were issued for the area from northeast Maryland into Connecticut and southern New Jersey. Early morning reports showed that up to 8 inches had already fallen on Washington suburbs, 3 inches at Harrisburg, Pa., and lesser amounts in the 50 to 100-mile wide snow area. The storm also dumped more than two inches of rain in parts of eastern Virginia and north in lower New Jersey. Gale winds off the Atlantic Coast pushed tides as much as three feet above normal from Norfolk, Va. to southern New England. The weather bureau reported that cloudy skies associated with the coastal storm extended as far inland as the upper Mississippi Valley, causing snow flurries en route. With the exception of Florida, which was cloudy and slightly cooler, fair skies covered the southern part of the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic. General cooling was experienced along most of the northern part of the country and down the East Coast, while warming trends were noted elsewhere. Today's forecast showed rain along the Pacific, snow in northern parts of the Midwest, rain and light snow in the Northeast, and the arrival of spring at 10:06 p.m. (e.s.t.).

Airport Zoning Hearing Scheduled April 8

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners today called for a public hearing to consider "adopting a resolution establishing boundaries of districts, regulations, and restrictions" on airport zoning. The hearing, according to the legal announcement by the board of commissioners, will be held in the Commissioners Room of the Seminole County Court House at 2 p.m. on April 8. According to the announcement today, the resolution will be in accordance with the "laws of Florida."

All parties interested in the area to be zoned will have an opportunity to be heard, the legal announcement said. A map of the entire area to be zoned may be seen in the office of the Seminole County Zoning Director in the court house.

The Seminole County Airport Zoning Commission, headed by Clifford McKibbin Jr. and composed of John Ivey, Jack Hall, B. H. Crumley, and John Burton IV as members, called for the public hearing at the recent meeting of the Board of County Commissioners.

Proposed regulations would permit the construction of one home per acre in Districts 2 and 3; one home per half acre in Districts 1, 3, and 4. Proposed zoning requirements would limit the height of buildings to 35 feet, with no multiple dwellings, no places of public assembly, and industrial and commercial enterprises not connected with farming and employing more than 15 persons would be forbidden.

Two-family or duplex dwellings will require twice the land required for single family dwellings. The requirements point out that the "use of land in all districts shall be controlled." Enforcement of the provisions embodied in the proposed Seminole County Airport Zoning Regulations would be under the direction of the Seminole County Zoning Commission Director.

The request for a public hearing set out by the Airport Zoning Commission, stated that "No use may be made of land within the airport hazard area in such a manner as to create electrical interference with radio communications between airport and aircraft, make it difficult for flyers to distinguish between airport lights and others, result in glare in the eyes of flyers using the airport, impair visibility in the vicinity of the airport, or otherwise danger the landing, take-off or maneuvering of aircraft in the area."

The Airport Zoning Commission, after studying the problems for nearly a year, emphasized "It is ascertained and declared that the prevention of the creation or establishment of airport hazards is immediately necessary for protecting the lives and property of users of the Sanford Naval Air Station and of occupants of land in its vicinity and for preventing destruction or impairment of the utility of the airport."

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners today called for a public hearing to consider "adopting a resolution establishing boundaries of districts, regulations, and restrictions" on airport zoning. The hearing, according to the legal announcement by the board of commissioners, will be held in the Commissioners Room of the Seminole County Court House at 2 p.m. on April 8. According to the announcement today, the resolution will be in accordance with the "laws of Florida."

Gunman Headed For Most Wanted List Captured

CHICAGO (UP)—Police captured a 20-year-old California gunman a few hours before the young bandit was to have been added to the FBI's most wanted list for robbery and attempted murder.

Rhonda David Rhonemus, whose motto was "die young and make a good looking corpse," was seized by Chicago police as he sought to flee a loop pawn shop hoodlum Wednesday night. Police men Herb Rottman and Walt Carter nabbed Rhonemus as he left the pawn shop habund owner Harry Levinson, 49, and employee Ben Cohen, whom he planned to use as hostages for his getaway.

Kiwanis Guest Praises State School Officials

"We think you have the very best school officials in the State," Dr. G. Ballard Simmons, Professor of Education and head of the Department of Off-Campus Instruction, of the University of Florida, told the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday at its noon luncheon meeting.

"Florida is a new State, educationally and in every way," he said, and added "we're growing by leaps and bounds." In 1913, Dr. Simmons said, we had 3,000 high school students in the state and now we have 300,000. "I have talked to boys and girls all over the state trying to get the teaching facts before as many as possible," he said.

Professor Simmons explained that there are over 40 principals of schools in the state receiving over $2,000 a year; one superintendent of schools with a $20,000 a year salary and "it is not uncommon for university professors to receive over $10,000."

There are great opportunities in teaching, Dr. Simmons said, and I have found that I put faith in you people for you're not going to stop until you get the best."

The University of Florida professor told the Kiwanis Club members that he started teaching in 1913 and expects to continue teaching for nine more years "and then retire at two percent per year of my salary or about $8 per cent."

"I like to talk to boys and girls about the advantages of teaching," he said, and pointed out that "I do not know of a profession where you can get boys and girls to understand more than that of teaching—even a minister doesn't have the same opportunity."

Dr. Simmons explained that "We have never had a large number of good science teachers in Florida. If we have good math and science instructors we're going to get boys and girls interested in science subjects."

Speaking of schools in Seminole County, Dr. Simmons said "Your schools are the good schools of the State."

He concluded "I am a little concerned about the trend to educate only the top students—we need to educate all as much as they will absorb."

Dr. John Darby introduced the speaker pointed out that "He has been an outstanding leader in the field of education in Florida for more than a quarter of a century."

24 Workers Die In New York Factory Fire

NEW YORK (UP)—Abraham J. Becker, 28, was the best of a tenement underwear factory, but he died like the captain of a ship afloat at sea.

"You'll all get out," he told his screaming workers in the Monarch Underwear Co. fourth floor plant. "I'll be the last to leave."

But Becker couldn't beat the panic that spread faster than the flames. Unable to persuade his hysterical flock that safety was down a dark stairway filled with hot and choking smoke, he stayed with 24 of them to die Wednesday night.

"Abe Becker, my boss, broke a window and I climbed through," said one survivor. "The girls were screaming and crying and carrying on," said another. "And the boss came and got us and marched us to the back. And then he got somebody to get us wet rags to put in front of our faces. He told us not to panic, but there was plenty of screaming."

Many of the workers were Puerto Ricans recently come to New York City. Their language difficulties were believed to have played a part in the fatal panic. Becker soothed them as best he could, but there wasn't enough calm helpers to stifle the panic.

Abe Becker, a veteran of the tank corps, didn't get home to dinner with his wife and their two small children in the Westbury town of Long Island. He died in swirling smoke and flame, just a step from the door through which his "crew" had refused to pass.

Trash Ordinance Cooperation Sought

The superintendent of the City of Sanford's Street and Refuse Department has circulated a notice among residents of the city requesting their cooperation in observing an ordinance regulating the placement of trash. Edgar Griffith stated in his notice "All residents are requested to cooperate with the City streets by not placing trash in the street or gutters."

He said "Such placement allows trash leaves and dirt to be washed off into the catch basins and storm sewers, thereby causing plugged sewers throughout the city's sewer system." Griffith called attention to the fact that Ordinance 27 prohibits the placing of trash beyond the curb line.
