Lawmakers try again to carve minority district

By ADAM YEOMANS Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - After Corrine Brown was elected to Congress from a predominantly black district in North Florida in 1992, the 85year-old mayor of Lake City said his small town never had it so good.

Brown, a Democrat, frequently drives the 110 mile round trip from her home in Jacksonville to Lake City for meetings and other events. with constituents, said Republican Mayor Thomas Gerald Wat.

Before Brown took office, the town seldom saw its congressman, he said, "We just sort of read in the paper who was representing us ' But the kudos for Brown's work in the 3rd District couldn't overcome the area's weblike design that snaked over 250 miles through 14 counties, 39 cities and towns, with some parts no wider than 50 yards. Parts of Sanford and Seminole County are included in the district. In a racially-divided decision last week, a three-judge appeals court panel ruled that the boundaries of the 3rd District had been illegally. drawn solely for the purpose of electing a minority to Congress.

Now, state lawmakers are scrambling to come up another planthat will satisfy the court's ruling while preserving Florida's recent gains in electing minorities to Congress.

We are very concerned about protecting minority voting rights, said House Speaker Peter Rudy Wallace, D-St. Petersburg. "We want to know how we can protect minority voting rights and stay within the limits of what is constitutionally permissible.

Brown is one of live minority lawmakers - three blacks and two Hispanies - among the state's 23 U.S. representatives. She will keep the seat through the fall elections.

She said she plans to appear the decision, but lawmakers said they expect a new redistricting plan to be in place for the fall elections that will affect at least a hardful of distracts

"This is not the end of the fight This is the beginning," Brown said.

am upbeat but I am disappointed." The decision also affects six districts bordering the 3rd. They are held by Democrats Pete Peterson, of Marianna, and Karen Thurman, of Dunnellon, and Republicans Tillie Fowler, of Jacksonville, Cliff Stearns, of Ocala, John Mica, of Winter Park, and Bill McCollum, of Aframonte Springs

At least two other minority districts could face legal challenges if the Legislature doesn't address their designs. They are the oddly shaped 23rd district in parts of Broward, Palm Beach and Dade counties now held by Alege Hastings of Miramar and

IN BRIEF

Work session

LONGWOOD - The Longwood City Commission will hold a work session Monday evening, beginning at 7 p.m. in the commission chambers. Items on the agenda include discussions of the city's sewer policy and paving policy.

The next formal city commission meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m., on May 6.

Longwood city hall is located at 175 W. Warren Avenue.

More costs for toll road

KISSIMMEE - Motorists driving the full length of the GreeneWay which has its northern terminus in Sanford, will be paying more by June.

Thursday, April 25, the Florida Department of Transportation Turnpike District, will conduct an administrative public hearing at the Kissimmee Civic Center on additional charges.

The meeting is to finalize toll rates for the southern connector extension of Toll 417 (Central Florida GreeneWay).

The southern connector extension is a 6.2 mile limited access toll road from 417 at its exiting terminus at International Drive, to Interstate 4 in Osceola County. It is expected to open to traffic in June.

The proposed toll rate is 50 cents, or approximately 8 cents per mile for 2 axle vehicles traveling the entire length of the extension. Proposed ramp tolls of 25 cents would be charged for motorists going to and from the north at the Osceola Parkway and Celebration Avenue interchanges.

The public hearing begins at 6 p.m. with an informal question and answer session, with formal public comment to begin at 7 p.m.

The Kissimmee Civic Center is located at 201 E. Dakin

Lake Mary P&Z

The Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board will meet Tuesday evening beginning at 7 p.m. Items on the agenda include a site plan for Huntington Pointe PUD's recreation tract, a landscaping reduction request for 756 Sun Drive, and a final PUD approval for Golf View Apartments.

The meeting will be held in the city commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 S. Country Club Road.

Mr. Dingee boasts that he had plumbed the residences of Dr. T.A. Neal, Mrs. A. Lilga, Dr. Samuel Pulceton, J.A. Harrold. L.R. Philips and John Bennett. He had also done the work for the Peoples Bank and Captain Palmetto Avenue. Mark's Bungalow.

Residents will pay for lighting

By NICK PPEIFAUP Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - It was an oft-heard story. A city wanted to impose charges on residents of a particular subdivision, and the citizens packed the city commission meeting when the matter was brought up.

This time however, the citizens supported it, rather than objected to it.

When the Manderley subdivison was originally proposed, street lighting was included. The city had agreed to pay for the cost of the lighting at that time.

After a number of the homes were sold in the subdivison however, the developer, Lennar Homes, determined that an upgrading of the community's street lights was in order. Lennar officials said the improved lighting would not only be more attractive, but help provide better lighting for safety in the area.

As a result, rather than the original 32 concrete poles, plus two existing poles which were 30 feet in height, a moremodern fixture was installed

The new ones are dual fluted fiberglass poles. 16 feet in height, with dual acorn type light flxtures on top.

These new ones cost possibly four times or more what the original poles and lights were supposed to cost," said City Planner Matt West during Thursday night's meeting.

The city however, refused to pay for the increase in cost for the lighting, and set out to determine a street lighting assessment.

Notification was sent to each Manderley property owner that they would be assessed an additional $8.11 per month for the improved lighting. Lennar would be required to pay $1,451.69 for the 179 lots which are still available.

Manderley citizens turned out en-masse for Thursday night's meeting. Contrary to what has transpired in other subdivisions in various parts of Seminole County and its various cities in the past, the citizens were showing their support in favor of the assessment, rather than attempting to fight

We have received a petition," said City Manager John Litton, "and the way it looks, I believe it has probably been signed by practically everyone in Manderley, and they are in support of this new lighting district."

Charles Cook of Lennar Homes was also on hand, and urged the commission to approve the assessment and establish the street lighting district.

The measure required several steps. The commission heard testimony, then adjourned the commission meeting. Next, it met as the Equalizing Board and discussed special assessments again. Hearing no objections, the board meeting was terminated and the regular commission meeting was once again convened.

As a result of the complex activities, the commission subsequently voted unanimously in favor of establishing the special street lighting district at Manderley sub-division, and adding the $8.11 per month to the residents' utility bills.

Honors sought

By MICK PPEIPAUP Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Suggestions have been advanced to the Sanford City Commission on possibly three ways in which to recognize and honor Lillie B. Merthie. The request is to be discussed Monday afternoon during the city commission work session.

Ora Butler-Brown and Lutricia Graham, chairwomen of the Foundation of Elderly Education, in Inglewood, California. are organizing the tribute.

In a communication to City Commissioner Bob Thomas. they wrote, "As you are aware, Mrs. Merthie is the founder of Merthie Daycare Center, Inc., located at 1611 Persimmon Avenue in the Goldsboro section of Sanford, Mrs. Merthic has devoted her life to educating many prominent African-American citizens born and reared in Sanford."

To honor Mrs. Merthie, they have requested city consideration for the following:

Renaming Persimmon Avenue to Merthle Drive.

•Letters of recognition from the mayor and other local of-

• Key to the city of Sanford. Because the two women organizing this move are in California, they have requested that Alzada Washington be recognized as the local organizer of the tribute.

If approved by the city. Butler-Brown and Graham have auggested the tribute be acheduled for July 13 or July 20 of this year.

The request is scheduled for discussion at the commission work session, scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. Monday, in the city manager's conference room at Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Avenue.

The regular meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Monday, in the commission chambers.

SANFORD - The Golden Eagle Book Club originated during the 1989-90 school year. Geraldine Wright, the principal, was presented with a basic plan for a schoolwide book club. The plan was conceived in the mind of a teacher very concerned about students' opportunities to read for enjoyment. Mrs. Wright was receptive to the idea and helped the club to begin with $500 from her budget. The money was utilized to purchase incentives for each grade level and included puppets, trophies of various sizes, plaques and a large vinyl banner. Certificates were printed for display in individual rooms for students reading 20, 30, 50, 75 and 100 books.

A Reading Committee consisting of one teacher from each grade level was formed. A campaign was launched to name the book club. Ten choices suggested by students were on the ballot. The Golden Eagle is the school mascot and the name was supported with overwhelming votes of acceptance. That first successful year, and each subsequent year, the Reading Committee has met and discussed the eriteria for recording the books read by the students. Following an assembly of each grade level, a parent letter is sent home. The assembly motivates students to get excited about reading. The lominant part of the reading la accompliated at home. Parents are encouraged to get involved by verifying the books that have been read with their signatures. Parents inspire students further when they are role models and read at home

The organizational plan for the book club is simple. A weekly book count is accrued each Friday for every classroom. The class on each grade level with the highest count for the week is called the High Flyer of the Week. That specific classroom possesses the grade level incentive for display in their room for the entire week. Laminated eagles for each grade are also exhibited in the cafeteria on the High Flyer bulletin board. Each Monday morning, the principal announces the High Flyer classes for the week and the total number for books read to date. Each grade level adopted a special picture of an eagle. The media walls display these eagles for every room on campus. The eagle holds a paper formed in book shape, listing the cumulative number of books read by the specific class. The numbers are current, changing each week as the students continue to read.

The annual 100+ Book Club Banquet is the wonderful culminating activity each year for the Golden Eagle Book Club. Students come to the banquet by attaining criteria goals. Students accomplishing these goals are invited with their families. Students are honored by having their meals paid by the book club. Family members are responsible for paying their own meals. The meals have been catered superbly by William "Fish" Long of Places Catering. Guest speakers for the banquet have included local authors, storytellers, Bookstop personnel and characters. The evening is very much a family night. Everyone enjoys the delicious food and camaraderie, however, the highlights of the evening are the students. The readers are presented with trophies and books.

The annual 100+ Book Club Banquet has been held at the restaurant, formerly called Western Sizzlin', the school cafeteria, and for the past several years has been accommodated at the Sanford Civic Center. The civic center is a wonderful community facility for this annual celebration. The dining room is immense, the kitchen area is opened for the caterer, and the stage is utilized for the presentations to honor the readers. Former Commissioner Mac McClanahan has paid the cost of this facility each year. Mayor Bettye Smith also shared the cost with Mr. McClanahan. These two people are truly friends of Goldsboro and models for the students.

Other organizations who have assisted the club over the years include: Goldsboro PTA, Quality GMC Buick owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walt Jennier, Sunniland inc., Powell Office Supply, Senkarik Paint Store, Sanford Kiwania Club. Fun World. Wal-Mart, Kmart, Target, Cafe' Books, Publix, Shoney's Restaurant, Bookstop, Hungry Howies, Gramkow Funeral Home, many of Sanford's downtown antique shops, as well as many personal contributions from friends of Goldsboro. All of these events each year are made possible for the students through the diligent efforts of the dedicated Reading Committee. Perseverance. devotion to students, and long hours of work support the success of this program. The meetings, record-keeping. fund-raising efforts, and banquet decorating keep the teachers in motion. The Reading Committee believes every moment committed to promoting reading for a student strengthens that child's future success.

The Reading Committee was the recipient on two past occasions of the Disney Teacher Merit Award. Attending the ceremony was an honor along with the award providing the book club with $1,500. The awards were utilized for operating expenses, including the banquet, and rewards for students for two years. Another year, the Reading Committee tackled the project of making a cookbook for the fund-raising project. The committee transacted all of the work from collecting recipes from the staff to typing the entire book of recipes. taking the recipes to the printer, and assisting in binding the books. They experienced a super profit that year. The committee was able to purchase rewards for the entire school for students reading 25, 50, 75 and 100 books. ### The gang's all here

Just the thought of youth gangs or neighborhood gangs makes some people shudder. Some officials who say we have no organized gangs are either unaware of what is going on, or are hiding the true facts and trying to ease the concerns of the people.

But gangs exist. They are in our city, our neighborhoods, even rural areas. They hang together, do things together, and rely on each other for help when the going has a tendency to get rough.

In effect, they become the "family" in which each member is treated by the others with respect, friendship and affection.

Why? We've heard some of the answers in various TV programs where street violence is the normal plot line. If we observe closely enough, we find that people are attracted to gangs for at least two reasons: They have no friendship, love or respect in their own homes, or they feel it is easier to cope with the world in a group, and so seek safety in Actually, when we look at the structure of a "gang." we could say we have a number of them in our society. There are the Rotarians, Kiwanians, Lions, Elks, Moose, and other organizations.

These "gangs" are also working on the concept that more can be accomplished with larger numbers. They also seek friendship, not necessarily the type received in the home. but from others in the same profession, age group, economic level, or social interest.

Working together they have brought about great improvements in our society and accomplished great deeds. They provide glasses for the blind, scholarships for students, assistance for the elderly and orphans, and are ready, willing and able to come to the assistance of a brother or a stranger whenever the need arises.

Looking at it this way, we must agree that not all "gangs" are posing a danger. Some, such as those mentioned herein, are exceptional, and deserve expressions of appreciation from all of us.

Therefore it is not who they are or where they meet which is important. It is what they are able to accomplish for the betterment of others which matters.

If the gangs we have in our midst today can aim their goals for the good of all, we should have no need to worry. If they are only out for themselves, then we need to ask why and what can be done to alleviate the problem.

Thanks for coverage

Dear Staff Writer:

I wanted to say thank you to the writer that was responsible for the front page article (Easter Sunday edition) concerning the shooting of Steve Schultz. I'm sure it generated alot more letters to the judge than my letter to the editor would have. You were able to go into the details at length - giving people a better understanding of his situation. It was also kind of you to call me ahead of time, but unfortunately my hubby erased your message before writing down your name!

In 1996, truth is many things

Truth, it would appear is a difficult concept for us. Depending on our perspective, truth can be both ultimate and transient; it can be concrete as well as amorphous. Truth is both enhanced by knowledge and obscured by it. Truth is simple, yet unattainable. In truly Orweillian fashion, in 1996 truth is many things.

We have truth in advertising, truth in lending, we search for the truth, we are invited to exercise our true choice, and we preach the true word. With such an emphasis on truth, and ultimately there can be but one truth, one must wonder why we have such confusion in our society. Perhaps it is in the end because we do not want to know the truth? After all, truth is painful, truth can kill, and most important, the truth is often inconvenient.

There does not seem to be much truth in our daily lives these days; just in this week a number of our national news events illustrate just how far we have gotten from the truth. I have therefore decided to take advantage of this oppportunity to share with you the truth and ultimate truth, as I see it, from my perspective, as it relates to this week's news events.

(1) Our fourth Congressional District, which encompasses portions of our local community. was declared unconstitutional because of racial gerrymandering. The truth is the district was drawn with its racial composition in mind; the ultimate truth is there is no district in the State of Florida where black citizens and white citizens of this state live in proximity that was not drawn with its racial composition in mind. If you question this assertion, take a look at a map of the City of Sanford, or the City of Altamonte Springs, see what neighborhoods or portions therein were gerrymandered into these cities and which were mysteriously left out.

Seminole Opinion

(2) As the anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing approached this week, our Congress debated and passed legislation relating to what has been euphemistically labeled as an anti-terrorism bill. In truth it should be labeled the anti-alien/anti-civil rights bill. Congress would be hard pressed to fasion legislation that has less to do with the very real threat of right wing domestic terrorism, which was responsible for the Oklahoma City tragedy. The ultimate truth is that the danger is from within and from the right, not from foreigners or foreign idealogy.

(3) South Lebanon was shelled by Israeli artillery, leaving over one hundred Lebanese civilians, killed in a dramatic escalation of a week of violence involving cross border shelling and retaliations between Israeli forces and Hezboliah fighters. In response to criticism that his heavy handed response was related to domestic political concerns, the Israeli Prime Minister sought to shift the blame for the slaughter on the victims, insinuating that they were at fault for living amongst the Hezbollah fighters, i.e., being in the way. The truth is that Israeli policy in South Lebanon has been a failure for the last 13 years. For every dead civilian, there will now be an additional twenty Hezboliah volunteers. The violence does not add to Israeli security; it detracts from it. The ultimate truth is that you cannot bomb, murder, annihilate a people into submission forever. Few populations have demonstrated the capacity fo human survival and triumph against bombin . murder and annihilation to the degree of those presently represented by the government of modern day Israel, yet one lesson of that unspeakable tragedy appears to be lost on the very people who endured it.

(4) President Clinton, in a campaign swing through Japan and Russia promised Japanese officials that he would return control of an American Military installation to the Japanese, in deference to popular opinion in Japan. The truth is that without the support of the American military and ultimately the American taxpayer. the Japanese government would be subscrylent with the interests of the Mainland Chinese-a government and a people who have a bone to pick with Japan dating to World War II. The ultimate truth is that the government of Japan should be paying the United States for the presence of our servicemen in Asia.

(5) Finally, this was the week that Bob Dole disappeared. Pat Buchanan made more news than Bob Dole. The truth is that Bob Dole just flat disappeared. I guess some truths are in fact universal, no matter what your perspective.

Higher order of right and wrong

Washington-Recently, the hot topic in Hollywood and the media was people's absolutely stunning discovery that-who'd have guessed it?—racism exists in the movie industry. Among the observations: Black folks are sick of films that paint them as obscene, predatory or sex-or drug-crazed simpletons. They crave high-quality movies about black love, relationships and everyday lives.

Or that's what I thought after reading the most recent film grosses. They revealed Fox sitcom star Martin Lawrence's new film. "A Thin Line Between Love and Hate'-whose hero is an obscene, sex-crazed simpleton—to be a hit. The James Earl JonesRobert Duvall dramedy, "A Family Thing," is not.

The feeling seemed validated by my chat with a young, black movie fan about what she wants in black movies as opposed to what she actually pays to see. Miatta David, a New York University freshman from Silver Spring, Md., loves movies so much that she sees one flick per weekend.

Black films, David complains, are "so repetitive ... about low-income homes with no father figure, where you go outside the door and either get killed in a drive-by or offered frugs. I'm tired of it."

Then I asked David her opinion about recent, stereotype-busting, black oriented films, such as 'Devil in a Blue Dress."

"I didn't see that.... My friends said it was kind of boring," she said. Once Upon a Time, When We Were

"It looked like a good movie," said David,

"but it's not playing around here." "A Family Thing"?
"I haven't even heard of that."

Her words—and the healthy $9.3 million first weekend take for "A Thin Line Between Love and Hate" compared with the paltry $2 million for "A Family Thing" in its second weekend—are telling. Reviewers overwhelmingly skewered "Thin Line," about a white Arkansas man's unpleasant discovery that he's half black and has an African American brother in

One could conclude that some well-meaning black folks' oft-stated desire for quality films is

But hey, you can't trust the media-especially since black audiences often disagree with critics, who overwhelmingly are white. I had to see for myself.

Actually, I found "A Family Thing" better than described by critics, some of whom carped about its "sentimentality"—clearly any film that shows the races groping toward something other than mutual contempt is a fairy tale. Sharp, funny, and surprisingly plausible, the movie sensitively deals with such underex-plored subjects as the once common tragedy of white men raping black women, and how blacks and whites forged friendships even during Jim Crow's heydey.

"Thin Line," I discovered, isn't quite an unmitigated disaster. I'm no Lawrence fan, but the audience I saw "Line" with had fun. Lawrence's riffs on some brothers' lame lies were on target;

his film's lesson that commitment is cool and should love never be faked in fine—and may be heard by folks who'd never seen a sweet movie like 'A Family Thing." So why am I disappointed?

Because we as a people - and even Lawrence, whose career is built on crudeness-deserve better. So many critics of Thin Line" complained about its rampant use of the F-word that I counted—and came up with a whopping 65 examples. Just because millions of folks, white and black, swim willingly in swill doesn't mean we have to put another drop into the pool. Little kids, like the dozen I noticed accompanying their parents to the R-rated "Thin Line," see this stuff and perpetuate the behavior such enter-tainment celebrates.

We as a people deserve better.

I mean, really. Can our community afford even an ounce more vulgarity? Can't a bank-able, entertaining comedy be made using the Fword, say, just 25 times, or even none?

David, who like the rest of us could be more supportive of fine black films, says this: "It's unrealistic to believe movies have not effect. What you constantly see on screen, on TV, you accept as reality. Young kids watch a lot of

Black folks know better than anybody as shown by the fact that even the most foul-mouthed rapper invariably attributes his success "to my main man, God"—there's a higher order of right and wrong to which we are accountable. The more we ignore it, the deeper our community and our nation will sink

It's never just a black thing, a money thing or even a family thing.

Demanding better-for our kids and ourselves—is a love thing. And the right thing.

Weird ratiocination

Only a columnist would attempt to connect the dots between the death of James Rouse, the opening of Key West World in Orlando and the coming of the 21st century. but that is the sort of weird ratiocination we are trained to do, so here goes.

James W. Rouse the developer who coined the phrase 'urban renewal,' built the new town of Columbia, Md., and designed the "West!" val marketplaces" that define the downtowns of such cities as Baltimore and Boston - died on April 9. He also invented the Indoor shopping mail. He wanted to name his new concept the There are HASS, for Heated and Air-Conditioned Shopping Street. Can you imagine going to the HABS. or creatures called HASS rate?

reportedly 66 sythetic settings in the Orlando area alone.

Never mind. Let's go on. Key West World will be completed by Memorial Day. It will be a sanitized re-creation of the fecund, funky and utterly delightful little town at the southernmost tip of the continental United States.

The 21st century, the first of a new millennium, is just around the corner. And that gets us to the point of all this: Several forces are currently converging that indicate that the new century will be a fraud, and it will probably be enclosed, and the fictionists who wrote about road warriors and waterworlds will be viewed, like Jules Verne, as prophets.

Nothing comes from nowhere, of course. Before Rouse, there were a few seedy strip shopping centers. But he is the man who conceived the notion that you could put roofs over them.

Look what he begat. In Edmonton, Alberta. four brothers named Ghermezian have enclosed an area that contains 800 stores, a wave pool, an amusement park with two roller coasters, a skating rink, a miniature golf course and a 25-foot-deep lake with dolphins and a submarine that can take you beneath it.

Near Minneapolis, two brothers named Simon put a roof over a chunk of land the size of 52 football fields and created the Mail of America, complete with roller coaster, a double-decker miniature golf course, an amusement park, a Ferris wheel and a Rainforest Cafe that features adventures instead of meals.

In Silver Spring, Md., as these words are being written, the Ghermezians are planning to enclose the fading art deco downtown, 27 acres of it, and are proposing to construct beneath the dome a 425-room hotel, an amusement park, a skating rink, a dozen restaurants, two dozen movie houses, and on and on.

Back to Key West World. Before this there was Disney, of course, and even before Dianey there were Atlantic City and Las Vegas. In between, there were countless ariums (aquariums, gulfariums), jungles (Parrot Jungle, Monkey Jungle), lands (Marineland, Gatorland) and worlds (Reptile World, Scaworld).

The social scientists generally refer to these synthetic settings as "themed environmenta." There are reportedly 66 of them in the Orlando area alone. Indeed, you could say Orlando has become an epicenter of fakery, a city with 66 personalities.

It is a hot trend, this "themed environ-ment" business. And nothing is hotter at the moment than Key West World.

sprayed with quick, light strokes in black and red.

"It's definitely gang-related," said inv. Mike Horan of the Sanford Police Department. "But graffiti doesn't mean gang activity."

Horan said there was gang-related graffiti in Sanford for several months in 1995, but it ended as abruptly as it began and there was only one other incident that could be classified as gang activity.

Horan said there are young people who gather in groups of four or five and who are involved in criminal activity, but that it would be a misnomer to label these youngsters as "gang" members.

There are certain characteristics that mark a group as a "gang" in the eyes of law enforcement officials.

In addition to wearing particular colors or clothing styles, they have strict guidelines governing their behavior and they have a hierarchy of government within the organiza-

"Gangs are not just a half dozen kids who get together and write things on the wall or who are involved in some sort of criminal activity," Horan said.

'Those are just bad kids.' Horan said he keeps track of all gang-like activity in Sanford. He said he has photographs of much of the graffiti that appears around town. He examines the work for gang symbolism and shares it with gang intelligence officers from Seminole and surrouding counties.

A great deal of the work contains references to gangs from Pine Hills in north western Orange County. He intends to share that information with Orange County officials to see if they can devise ways of keeping the gang activity from spreading northward to Sanford.

Last year, he made an arrest in a beating incident in which the perpetrators and the victim confirmed the victim was being 'beaten into a gang.'

As far as Horan knows, that is the only incident of gang-related violence that has occurred in Sanford within the last 12

Parents sometimes call the police department or the principals of local schools to report gang activity in area middle schools. Horan said he checks the information, but there is rarely any evidence of gang activity. He said he is keeping an eye on all the situations.

On some occasions, he has found there are small factions that may be related to gangs.

"There are some Bloods in Georgetown, but very few," he noted. "And there are some of the Folk family in the west side of town, but I don't think there are any real organized groups anywhere in Sanford. There are gangs, but not in the way everyone seems to think of them.

Still, Horan sees little reason to worry about gang activity such as that found in urban

"I'm keeping an eye on it," he noted. "If there is any evidence that a gang ... a real gang was forming in Sanford, we would be able to react quickly to eradicate

"We the Folks," he said of his organization which boasts a membership of nearly five

On the orders of his superiors, he said he can neither give his name nor show his face, but the 18-year-o3d can talk somewhat freely about what the Folks do.

"We're not a gang like you think a gang is," he said. "We just a group of folk that care about each other."

Though he denies that most members of the Folks come from broken or dysfunctional families. the young man says the group is like an extended family. They support one another in their activities, they make sure the younger members stay in school, and they protect one another from outsiders who might chose to try to harm them.

"We looks out for one another," he said. Most of the members of the group, which "hangs" (gathers) mostly in the Lockhart area just west of the Sanford city limits. are between the ages of 18 and 20, he said. There are a growing number of younger kids, usually between the ages of 14 and 16, who are asking to join their ranks, however.

There are no initiation rites the young man said, but members are expected to adhere to a strict code of behavior and respect the authority of those who are their superiors, Hard work, respect and adherence to the rules will move a young person through the ranks.

Both young men and young women are members of the Folks and there is no discrimination based on gender when it comes to moving through the hierarchy of the organization, he

1995 recycling report

Special to the Herald

SANFORD - The 1995 Seminole County recycling rate surpassed all annual rates for the county since the recycling program began in 1989, with residents recycling more than 34 percent of all waste generated within the county.

In addition, residents have reduced their individual totals of landfill waste from 1.65 tons per person per year in 1989, to just 1 ton per person per year in

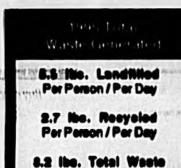

This "reduction, rate" helps measure each resident's contribution to landfill each year.

Seminole's "reduction rate" indicates that residents have become more knowledgable about solid waste and are doing their part of keep landfill totals

Eventually, picnic tables will be placed in the area so that students can enjoy the quiet spot for lunch.

"We just wanted to have something to remember him by," said Katie Hoffman, the eighth grader who coordinated the memorial garden project. "And we want people to know how the students and teachers here care about each other and about the community. Hoffman said the students at the school are excited about the prospect of having the park dedicated in Bill's memory.

'We'll take care of the park while we're here and the sixth and seventh graders who are here now are still really excited about what we're doing so it will be taken care of for the next few years," she said.

She also promised that the group who was planting the park this weekend would come back over the years and make sure that it was tended properly.

Through a candy sale fund-raiser and matching funds from principal Bill Moore as well as donations from the nurseries, the students were able to pay for the plants.

There will be a fund-raising car wash the second week in May to help pay for a plaque that will be placed in Bill's honor.

Hoffman said they plan to dedicate the park some time around the June 16 anniversary of the young man's death. They intend to invite his family and the school community to join in the celebration of his life.

"He was a special friend to all of us." she said, "We want to do something special for him."

"I think anybody would have a good chance" of challenging those districts, said lawyer Rod Sullivan, who represented Jacksonville radio talk show host Andy Johnson in his lawsuit to overturn the 3rd District.

But legislative leaders said they intend to leave most of Florida's districts intact, including those held by Hastings

The Senate plans to introduce a plan this week for the 3rd District that probably would reduce the percentage of black voters from about 50 percent today to about 40 percent to 45 percent and make it more compact, probably running from Jacksonville to Orlando.

Senate President Jim Scott, R-Fort Lauderdale, said he wanted to adopt a new plan by the end of the Legislature's 60-day regular session May 3 and avoid a special session. 'it's not like we don't have the staff, that this is something that just dropped out of the sky," Scott said. "It's not that complicated to adjust these districts.'

Scott said he wanted to take

The federal court accepted a plan from legislative leaders that adjusted several districts and avoided a lengthy court fight.

The House speaker, however, wasn't as optimistic.

"I think it will be difficult to conclude by May 3. It would only be done by then if the House is persuaded that we know what we're doing is legally defensible," he said. "I don't think there needs to be a race to have a plan when the voting rights of millions of Floridians will be affected.'

District Judges Maurice Paul and Roger Vinson, who was one of the judges who drew the 1992 plan creating the 3rd District. voted to overturn it, saying recent decisions from the U.S. Supreme Court and other federal courts left them no choice.

Circuit Judge Joseph Hatchett, who is black and also helped draw the district's boundaries in 1992, dissented in the opinion.

Dedicating Markham Site

Nearly 50 people gathered Saturday west of Sanford to dedicate the Markham Site, a new 900-acre passive park dedicated to the area's turpentine heritage. The park, located on Markham Road, features plenty of room to roam as Paige Milch, left, discovered prior to the ceremony. In addition to the dedication, Ranger Buck Valles took time to explain how early Seminole County residents used long leaf pines to make turpentine.

Russia, G-7 agree to nuclear ban

MOSCOW (AP) - Leaders of the world's seven wealthiest countries and Russia agreed Saturday to seek a ban on all nuclear explosions by the end of the year and to cooperate more closely on improving nuclear safety worldwide.

The leaders said following a nuclear safety summit in the Kremlin that a comprehensive test-ban treaty "must prohibit any nuclear weapons test explosion or any other nuclear explosion. We affirm that this would constitute a truly comprehensive nuclear test ban."

President Clinton and leaders of the other Group of Seven countries also signed with Russia a general declaration on improving nuclear security and a separate statement on combating nuclear smuggling.

"We held these discussions not as opponents but as friends, inasmuch as the atom did not become something that divided, but united, our countries," Russian President Boris Yeltsin told reporters after the summit.

French President Jacques Chirac, the summit's co-host, said the summit was "extremely positive" and "an important step in the direction of better security for the world of tomorrow."

Today's agreements reflected many concerns in a nine-point nuclear safety plan Yeltsin presented to the summit, which was held 10 years after the world's worst nuclear accident, the explosion at the Chernobyl power plant in Ukraine.

Ukrainian President Leonid Kuchma, who addressed the summit to describe efforts to close the plant, praised the G-7 for its prior promise to provide $3.1 billion in financing, but said his country cannot shut Chernobyl as planned without a new agreement and prompt aid.

Ukraine is seeking substantial financial help to close the plant, the site of the April 26, 1986, blast.

Yeltsin nevertheless said after the summit ended that Ukraine gave assurances that the reactor would be closed by

U.N. focus to improve environment

WASHINGTON — The United Nations, which usually deals with governments, is mounting a grassroots campaign to improve the environment with the hope of founding small "Green Brigades" around the world.

The U.N. Environment Program (UNEP) has published a book called "Taking Action: An Environmental Guide for You and Your Community." It was prepared to mark Earth Day on Monday.

"The future of the U.N. is dealing with real people," said Elizabeth Dowdeswell, the UNEP executive director who came to Washington to launch the campaign.

The editor, Adam Rogers, said in an interview that the first 10,000 copies will be in English, followed by editions in French and Spanish. He is counting on local cooperation to put it into other languages, including Swahili.

LONGWOOD — Mike Gaudreau has been involved with a baskejball program somewhere in Seminole County as a player or an assistant coach for most of the last 19 years. including the past 11 seasons at Lake Mary high school.

Now he takes on the new montker of head basketball coach of the Rams after long-time head mentor Willie Richardson announced his retirement.

"This is something that I have wanted for a long time, and it's a dream come true," Gaudreau said. "There is added pressure going from an assistant coach to a head coach, but I'm looking forward to it. You miss having pressure on you as an assistant coach because pressure is what makes winning fun.

Richardson, who had been the head basketball coach at Lake Mary since the school opened in 1982, retired so that he could travel to watch his son Chip play college basketball next season.

Gaudreau said Richardson's coaching longevity and success at the school is a credit to his former boss. Last season, the Rams won the Class 6A-Daitrict 4 championship and finished with a 23-6 re-

"I was in a great situation working for Willie as an assistant coach," Gaudreau said. "I was learning a lot, and that has prepared me to be a head coach. Willie trusted me so much that I could do things without asking him first."

Gaudreau has wanted to be a head coach for the last three years, but didn't want to leave Lake Mary because he was enjoying coaching with Richardson. He added that it would have taken the perfect coaching job to lure him away. Gaudreau feels his new job at Lake Mary is the perfect situation.

"I want to keep building on the success we had last season," Gaudreau said. "I want to be competitve in the Seminole Athletic Conference and in the district, and try to get past the district like we did last year. When something like that happens, it gives the whole school a lift and it gets the younger players excited about basketball because they see the varsity team winning.'

Gaudreau played guard as a freshman at Crooms high school in 1978, and continued playing the same position from 1979 to 1981 at Seminole High School. Bill Payne, Gaudreau's coach at Seminole high school, helped spur an interest in coaching. Gaudreau later played for and coached Payne at Seminole Community College before moving on to the University of Central Florida.

After 11 years as an assistant coach Mike Gaudreau was named Thursday to replace the retiring Willie Richardson as the head boys' basketball coach at Lake Mary High School.

Lake Mary gets warmed up for districts

BY ROBERT SANDERS Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO - The Lake Mary varsity baseball team, who are mentally preparing for Monday's first round matchup at Oviedo High School in the District Tournament, got in the right frame of mind Friday night with a 7-3 victory over non-district foe Boone High School.

We came in here and beat a good team tonight," Lake Mary Head Coach Allen Tuttle said. "If we can do the same thing against Oviedo. we'll be in good shape".

The top four batters in the Lake Mary lineup, Carey Hobbs, Jimmy Smith, Nick Soss, and Shawn St. Dennis, caused the most damage. The quartet accounted for seven runs, nine hits, and three runs batted in.

Lake Mary starter Ryan Mau spoiled the Braves' season finale by throwing six and one-third innings of solid pitching. Mau, who held the Braves to three runs off eight hits while striking out five, earned the victory and boosted his record to 5-1.

However, after striking out the first two batters he faced in the bottom of the first inning. Mau gave up two hits and a double that put Lake Mary behind 1-0. One of those hits was a single by Mike Donovan, who finished the game going four-for-four, including a triple.

The Rams came back and evened the score at 1-1 in the top of the second inning, when third baseman Mike Buky hit a double that drove in St. Dennis.

The Braves, down 2-1, spoiled a golden opportunity to take the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning with the bases loaded and no outs. However, they came away with nothing after two pop outs and a failed suicide squeeze.

After collecting a run in the top of the third inning, the Rams went to work in the fifth. With two outs. Lake Mary got consecutive singles from Hobbs, Smith and Sosa to load the bases. St. Dennis then drilled the ball to left field for a triple that cleared the base paths. Second baseman Luis Rivera followed with a single that scored St.

Dennis and gave the Rams a 6-1 cushion.

Ahead 7-2 in the seventh inning, Mau, trying. for a complete game, ran out of gas while loading the bases. Nick Alexander, who came on in relief of Mau, recorded the last two outs of the ball game and earned the save.

"Ryan pitched real well for us tonight but just couldn't finish it." Tuttle said. "I also knew we had Nick, who also has done a good job for us

The Rams will send their ace Robert Vessey to the mound to face the Lions. However, the Rams aren't going into Monday's 7 p.m. match-up at Mikler Field too overconfident, especially after losing two of three to the Lions this season.

"We're going to have to play exactly like we did against Boone if we want to advance." Tuttle

Brantley needs O.T. for Senior

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Lake Brantley prolonged Senior Night into the 10th inning Friday stran-ding 13 runners, including leaving the bases loaded twice, over nine innings before posting a 3-2 victory over Jacksonville Sandalwood.

Night win

Prior to the game, Lake Brantley honored senior baseball players Tommy Anderson, David Etzkin, Bryan Grassing, Jeff Hall, David Levine, Jason Smith, Justin Varitek, Taylor Viersen and Walter Wheatley.

"This group of seniors showed a lot of character this season," said Lake Brantley coach Mike Smith. "They have worked hard for four years, and the chemistry among these players is great. I'm really going to miss them next season."

Robert Garcia and Edwin Valentin got Sadalwood started in the first inning by drawing consecutive lead-off walks, but the Lake Brantley defense caught Garcia trying to steal third and picked off Valentin as he attempted to take second on the play. Viersen then □See Patriots, Page 3B

Comeback ends Lions upset bid

Herald correspondent

ORLANDO — Just when it look, ed like the Oviedo Lions might be in line to upset 10h-ranked University Friday, Dustin Packard slapped a two-run triple to rally the Cougars to a 5-3 victory at Larry C. Payne

The win gives the Cougars, ranked No. 10 in the most recent Fiorida Sports Writers Association's Class 6A state poll, a 21-7 record heading into their district tournament next week. Oviedo will take a 14-14 mark into Monday's 6A-District 4 tournament game against Lake Mary. The game will be played at Oviedo's Mikler Field at 7 p.m.

Dustin Packard's triple, which came with two out in the bottom of the sixth inning, highlighted a four-run rally that turned around a 2-1 deficit and made a winner of his brother, relief pitcher Brad Packard.

"We played a tough game against a good team," said Oviedo coach Kenne Brown. "It was good to see us come back and take a lead.

"It looked like we were going to get out of the inning, but Packard did a nice piece of hitting. You don't expect the No. 8 hitter in the lineup to a hit a triple the other way."

Phillips drops, Johnson goes first in unpredictable draft

By DAYE GOLDS! AP Football Writer

NEW YORK - Keyshawn Johnson, wearing an ankielength, off-white coat and sur-rounded an entourage of 20, was the toast of New York, the first pick in the NFL draft Saturday. It might have been Lawrence Phillips if not for his off-field troubles.

"I feel I'd have been the first pick if I had no problems, definitely," the Nebraska running back said after being taken at No. 6 by the St. Louis Rams. "I feel I'm the best player in the draft, I think that by far. I think a lot of teams passed because they were afraid of the off-thefield situation, and that's fine."

Phillips' no-contest plea to misdemeanor assault caused a couple of teams to back away from him, reshuffling the early selections in the draft. Instead of being predictable, this draft was deceptive. The top teams did just what they said they wouldn't do, particularly Jacksonville. Arizona and Baltimore, the teams with picks two, three and four. It started straightforwardly enough, with the New York Jets using just 10 seconds of their allotted 15 minutes to select Johnson, the flamboyant wide receiver from Southern California. It was welcome news to a crowd that was chanting, "Keyshawn! Keyshawn! Keyshawn!" even before commissioner Paul Tagliabue officially opened the proceedings.

But then things got strange. Jacksonville selected Illinois linebacker Kevin Hardy, who Jaguars coach Tom Coughlin. "He's got to improve his quickness and some of his technique," Coughlin said.

then drew faint praise from Arizona, which had wanted Hardy or offensive tackle Jonathan Ogden of UCLA, took Hardy's pass rushing teammate. Simeon Rice, a move that shocked even Rice.

"I had no communication with them prior to this," he said. And Baltimore, in its first draft since leaving Cleveland, took Ogden, although every indication was that they'd grab Phillips, perhaps even trade up for him. "We had Ogden and Phillips

Newsome, the Ravens' director of player personnel. "It's obvious who we thought was the better player." Better player or better citizen? Ogden, who scored nearly 1.200

there together," said Ozzie on his SAT test, won as much praise for his character as for his blocking skills. But Phillips didn't have long to

The New York Giants, who thought they'd get Rice, Hardy or Ogden, settled for Oklahoma defensive end Cedric Jones with the fifth pick rather than add another running back to an already stocked position. It was the first time in a decade the Giants had taken a defensive player in the first round.

Then Phillips finally went to the Rams, who had obtained the sixth overall pick 10 days ago when they shipped defensive lineman Sean Gilbert to Washington. Unlike some other teams, the Rams weren't scared off by Phillips' off-field problems.

"He's probably been through as much scrutiny as a presi-dential candidate in the last month leading up to the draft," coach Rich Brooks said.

New England, which might have taken Jones, went instead for Terry Glenn, the wide receiver from Ohio State, at No. 7. That conformed to the wishes owner Robert Krast rather than those of defensive-minded coach Bill Parcells and gave Drew Bledsoe the first deep threat he's ever had. Carolina went for Tim Biakabutuka, the Michigan running back, and Oakland dealt up to grab another Ohio State player, tight end Rickey Dudley, with the ninth pick.

Then came four predictable choices - Auburn offensive tackle Willie Anderson to Cincinnati at No. 10, Oregon cornerback Alex Molden to New Orleans at No. 11, California defensive end Regan Upshaw to Tampa Bay at 12 and Mississippi State cornerback Walt Harris to Chicago, which traded with St. Louis to get the 13th selection.

Then Houston traded back up and took Heisman Trophy winner Eddie George, the third Ohio State player in the top 14. The Oilers sent defensive Glenn Montgomery and the 17th pick to Scattle for that right.

Denver ended the first half of the round by taking Kutztown linebacker John Mobley, a relatively unknown Div. Il player who bloomed in all-star games and the acouting combine.

With a lot of equally rated talent, there were five trades in the first round, four revolving around the 17th pick and the fifth a deal for the last of the round, which Dallas sent to Washington.

It changed hands four times — from Oakland to Houston to Seattle to Detroit with the Lions finally using it for Texas A&M linebacker Reggie Brown right after Minnesota had chosen defensive-end linebacker Duane Clemons of California.

After Clemons and Brown went two wide receivers - Eddie Kennison of LSU to St. Louis and Marvin Harrison of Syracuse to Indianapolis.

Then Jimmy Johnson made his first pick for Miami - no trades this time - and took Daryl Gardener, a defensive linemen from Baylor. Gardener is a classic Johnson pick - an awesome physical talent who's rarely shown it on the field.

Scattle took offensive linemen Pete Kendall of Boston College with the 21st pick, Tampa Bay chose defensive tackle Marcus Jones of North Carolina, and Detroit chose offensive lineman Jeff Hartings of Penn State.

At No. 24. Buffalo selected Mississippi State wide receiver Eric Moulds, Philadelphia took offensive tackle Jermane Mayberry of Texas A&M-Kingsville and Baltimore chose linebacker Ray Lewis of Miami

Green Bay chose offensive tackle John Michels of Southern Cal. Kansas City took defensive back Jerome Woods of Memphis with the 28th pick and Pittaburgh went for Jamain Stephens, an offensive tackle from North Carolina A&T.

Washington closed the first round by taking Penn State offensive tackle Andre Johnson with the 30th pick it got from Dallas.

The first round was split relatively evenly - 17 offensive players, including eight linemen, and 13 defensive players, six of them linemen. For the first time since 1988, no quarterback was taken in the round, not a surprise.

The first quarterback taken was Michigan State's Tony Banks, by the Rams with the 42nd overall pick in the second round.

There also were some rarities. Johnson, often compared to Michael Irvin, was the first wide receiver to go with the first pick since Irving Fryar was chosen by New England in 1984 and only the fifth in the 63-year history of the draft. With typical lack of modesty, Johnson compared himself to Irvin, Jerry Rice and Herman Moore. "I hope to be like Jerry-Michael-Herman, all three of them put together," Johnson said. "That's going to be something special." Hardy and Rice, at two and three, marked the first time since 1984 that two college teammates had gone back-toback that high.

FFBB turning children kids onto fishing

"We can't go fishing because I don't know how. and I don't know where to go." Does this sound familiar? If it does, the Florida Fishing and Boating Buddies (FFBB) can help you introduce your kids to the sport of fishing.

The FFBB is a grass roots, volunteer organization that promotes kids fishing and safe boating practices. The organization is teamed up with the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC). Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), businesses, individuals, and city and county recreation departments to further enhance efforts to promote fishing.

The Internal Revenue Service recently granted the FFBB (501(c)3) status, making it a non-profit organization. This new status makes all donations given to the FFBB by individuals and businesses tax-deductible.

Since 1993, FFBB volunteers have introduced nearly 30,000 kids to fishing through rodeos and other special community events.

'The FFBB is committed to introducing kids to the sport of fishing and to influencing young people to become responsible citizens." GFC's Tom Vaughn said. "We also believe introducing kids to fishing is a good way for adults and senior citizens to get involved in a healthy, active recreational activity."

The FFBB actively solicits community-minded citizen groups and businesses to donate time, equipment or funding as an investment in today's youth.

The organization stresses to kids that fishing is a healthy and fun activity that builds self-confidence and tries to influence youngsters to become environmentally conscious.

"If you like the idea of investing time introducing kids to fishing, the FFBB is the organization you can work with to make that happen," Vaughn said. On the other hand, if your time is limited, a tax-deductible donation gladly will be accepted."

For information about FFBB activities, contact: Scott Brown, Jacksonville (904) 448-4394; David Green, Orlando. (407) 277-1994; Steve Marshall, West Palm Beach, (407) 791-4730; or Tom McGucken, Tampa/St. Petersburg, (813) 875-2220. If you would like to make a donation, please send it to FFBB, P.O. Box 13153, Tampa, FL 33681-3153 or call Paula Phillips, Treasurer, at (813) 343-2088.

FISHING FORECAST

River fishing is still tough with high water conditions. Fish areas with clearly defined borders such as Lake Meares for the best bass action. Bream, specks and catfish can be found in the deep bends.

Sebastian Inlet is featuring good action with snook, redfish, flounder, small bluefish and jack crevalle. Live bait is best in the daytime and lures work well after dark. Most anglers prefer the outgoing tide, when balt is funneled out of the swift flowing inlet into the mouths of awaiting Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore action is picking up, and fishing will be really great once the cold fronts stop passing through and stirring up the ocean. Some king mackerel are being caught on SA and Pelican Plats, while dolphin and wahoo are scattered in waters ranging from 160-300 feet. Inside the Port expect good action with flounder and sheepshead. Snook are also present in good numbers around the many best docks and pilings. They bite best at night on live balt.

The tip of the north jetties is still the hotspot at Pence inlet for big sheepshead and drum. Redfish, small bluefish and jack crevalle are also roaming the waters off the rocks. Live or dead shrimp is the top bait. Reds and trout are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

BOWL AMERICA RESULTS

SANFORD - Linda Stafford rolled a 279 game in the Mardell's Ladies League on Monday, April 8th.

She is the first woman at Bowl America-Sanford to ac-

Patriots -

Derrick Gutierez had a two-out single to right field in the Saints second inning, took second on a passed ball, and scored on an error to give the visitors a 1-0 lead.

The Patriots failed to answer as they stranded Mitch Hunt at third in the bottom of the second, then left the bases loaded in the third.

Anderson walked to lead off the Lake Brantley fifth inning, and advanced to third after back-to-back walks by Matt Krot and Wheatley. Anderson was later forced out at home on a fielder's choice by Grassing that kept the bases loaded. Krot tied the score 1-1 as Hall reached first base on an error, and Wheatley gave the Patriots a 2-1 lead as Hunt flew out to center

Alex Smith walked for Sandalwood in the top of the seventh inning, and knotted the tally 2.2 on Bobby Zucchino's double off the left field wall.

In the Lake Brantley half of the inning, Grassing matched Zucchino's effort with a one-out double off the left field wall. Grassing's drive looked like a home run when it was first hit, but a slight wind kept the ball in the park.

went to extra innings. Krot had an infield hit to lead off the ninth inning, reached second on a sacrifice bunt by Wheatley, and reached third as Grassing and Hunt drew walks to load the bases with two outs. Lake Brantley then left the bases loaded for the second time as they failed to acore.

Aaron Russell singled for the Patriots to open the 10th inning, took second on a sacrifice bunt by Justin Varitek, and reached third on a fielder's choice by Krot. Russell then ended the game after 2 hours, 55 minutes when he crossed the plate with the winning run as Wheatley reached first base on an error.

Levine was 2-for-4 at the plate to lead the Patriots offense, while Krot and Grassing each had a hit and drew two walks. Anderson drew two walks for the Patriots, and Varitek added a walk and a sacrifice bunt. Wheatley drew a walk while Smith collected a hit. Viersen, Etzkin and Shawn Child comined to scatter five hits and four walks over ten innings while recording six strikeouts.

"Our last six games have been one-run games," Smith said. "I think we're ready for the district tournament because we are right where we want to be. We are playing good defense, and hopefully we'll keep hitting the ball well."

Lake Brantley will open play in the Class 6A. District 4 tournament on Wednesday. taking on host Lyman at 8 p.m., following a 5 p.m. contest between top-seeded Lake Howell and the winner of Monday night's game between Lake Mary and Oviedo.

Fast-growing NASCAR tries to avoid turmoil

By KEN BERGE! AP Sports Writer

While other games offer labor wars and spoiled stars, NASCAR has evolved into one of the country's most popular, fan-friendly sports. Most fans don't know about NASCAR's hidden battle against the turbulent undercurrents that could disrupt its success.

imagine race car drivers going on strike, or a money-driven tug-of-war throwing the sport into the same chaos that has rocked Indy-car racing.

"Things can go wrong the minute we start thinking that we know all the secrets," NASCAR spokesman Kevin Triplett said. NASCAR, still in its infancy but growing faster than ever, soon enters a brave new world that may see it expand to Los Angeles, Las Vegas, perhaps even Japan. While stock car racing has so far avoided the turmoil that has shaken every major pro sport, some worry that NASCAR won't remain immune for long.

"Some people say money has taken over the aport, and it has." Winston Cup driver Kyle Petty said. "It's taken over all the other

So far, the infusion of cash into the sport has caused no serious damage. Many drivers do quite well financially, especially superstars like Dale Earnhardt. Less successful drivers, though, see much of their paycheck eaten up by racing expenses. Could NASCAR see a labor dispute like the one that crippled baseball? "Drivers don't make as much money as they should," said Petty, son of retired stock car superstar Richard Petty. "When you play a sport that's life and death, you should make more money than people who play a sport that's not life and death."

right to," Triplett said. With NASCAR's popularity taking off nationwide only in the last decade or so. labor squabbles seem years away, if they happen at all. A more pressing concern is whether the sport will be able to manage its phenomenal growth without getting anarled in power struggles. The current turf war over how to fit a new Texas track onto the Winston Cup schedule without squeezing out North Wilkesboro, N.C., or other traditional venues could be a preview of what's to come.

The yet-to-be-completed Texas Motorspeedway near Dallas is owned by Bruton Smith, who also owns all or part of about one-fourth of the Winston Cup tracks.

In Indy racing, another powerful track owner, Indianapolis Motorspeedway president Tony George, staged what amounted to a coup when he reserved most of the starting spots in the May 26 Indy 500 for drivers in his new Indy Racing League. Championship Auto Racing Teams (CART) responded by scheduling a race for the Indy regulars on the same day in Michigan.

For anyone planning such a move in NASCAR, the logical target would be the Daytona 500.

"We don't have a license to run the only stock car race in the world that day, Triplett said.

"I wouldn't say that it couldn't happen," said Dale Jarrett, the current Winston Cup points leader. "But even though we might complain at times, we're pretty happy with the altuation that we have here."

AARP learns benefits of therapeutic massage

The monthly meeting of the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP was held Tuesday, April 16 at the Frank Evans Center. The guest speaker was a hands-on kind of guy, Martin J. Rosanova. a Massage Therapist with Advantage Massage Associates, Inc. He spoke to the members about the health benefits of therapeutic massage.

Camera Club reviews stereophotography

Why would a Camera Club want to learn about stereo? Well, among serious photo hobbyists. stereo isn't what most people think it is. When a camera buff talks about shooting in stereo. he/she means stereo for the eyes. Stereophotography is shooting dual images simultaneously to produce a 3-D effect.

Brad Ashbrook, who has a Bachelor of Science in Photography, was the guest speaker for the April meeting of the Lake Mary Camera Club. Brad is also the co-founder of the Central Florida Stereo Club. While stereophotography is not known here in the United States, it's very big overseas. Stereophotography was big here in the 50's, when 3.D movies were big, and most of the cameras used today are from that era. The Stereo Club consists of two kinds of hobbyist, those who shoot in stereo and those who collect the cameras that were used 40 years ago.

Brad told the Camera Club members about the different stereo cameras avallable and what they cost. A stereo camera has two different lenses, simulating the lenses of the eye. Each lens shoots a different roll

Brad owns one of the older cameras, but what he usually shoots with is his own rig. Brad mounted matching cameras on a steel bar. One camera shoots the left vision, one the right. The film is processed to slides. The slides are loaded into two slide projectors. The images are projected onto a projection screen. The projection screen must be lenticular if the stereo effect is to work. You then put on your 3-D glasses and feel like you're stepping into the scene.

The most critical part of the process is mounting the slides. If they are off horizontally, the human eye can compensate. If they're off vertically, the eye cannot compensate and the effect is unsettling, almost painful to the eyesight. The expense of stereophotography is also one of the drawbacks. Since it's stereo. it's essentially twice as expensive as regular photography. You shoot twice the film and pay for twice the processing.

Brad showed the camera club stereo slides of the Grand Canyon. The stereoscopic effect was remarkable. The images had height, and most amazingly. desth. It made you realize just how very small the paths at the Grand Canyon were.

Chorus holds auction

The Greenwood Lakes Middle School Chorus held a Silent Auction and Talent Show on Saturday, April 13 to raise money for new uniforms. The current uniforms are, as one student said, "as old as the hills." They're the same uniforms the school had when they opened. There were quite a lot of items for the Silent Auction. The really big ticket items were part of the live auction. A whirlpool tub. worth $1900 was auctioned off for $265. Other live auction items had subjective values. There were autographed cards, an autographed hat, and a putter used by Rick Rhoden to win two national golf tournaments.

Jewelry show set

The latter sold for $50.

The Lake Mary Woman's Club will meet April 24 at 10:00 a.m. at Timacuan Country Club. The program will feature a Faux lewelry Fashion Show and History of Jewelry. The program will be followed by lunch.

Miss Longwood talent winner in national teenager pageant

This year Traci Krewson decided to enter the Miss Florida National Tecnager Pageant competing as Miss Longwood. She had never before competed in any type of pageant, but she knows her strengths, and set her goal at attaining the first place trophy for the talent competition which also included a $4,000 scholarship award.

Tact has been attending the Lake Mary Dance Academy, directed by Sherrie Mullen, for the past 10 years, taking all forms of dance from modern lazz to sophisticated ballet. She has also been an assistant teacher at the Academy for the past three years. She loves dance and considers it her first love and a lifeline at times.

The talent competition was held on Friday evening. April 12. at the Radisson Hotel in Orlando. Although there was no stage, Tract had been competing in various dance competitions without a stage for the previous seven years in various production numbers as well as solo, and many of the contestants had never been in a position where they were competing almost face to face with the judges. According to Traci, she was certainly in an advantageous position for the talent competition. She chose a lyrical jazz number. "Orange Colored Skies" by Natalie Cole as her music in the talent competition.

Another area of competition where Traci was able to shine was the interviewing situation with four differnt judges, where each asked questions in a oneto-one conversational arena. Traci said they were just so nice and easy to talk with, that she was immediately comfortable and confident. The questions were centerd around Tract's future and her ambitions, and one of the judges asked who the person is she most admires and Traci's future encompasses developing an expertise in a variety of interests, and includes dancing professionally for a short time for the experience, teaching dance, owning her own business which could possibly be a dance studio, and a degree in physical therapy. Answering the question about the person she most admires was easy for Traci because she chose her grandmother.

After rehearsing most of Saturday, April 13, the actual Pageant was held at Dr. Philip's High School that evening. The production number, "Get on Your Feet", was fun and easy for Traci, and it did not take Matt Carter, the choreographer long before he recognized Traci's dancing ability and moved her from the fifth line to the front line, center stage. It was at this time that "Roll Call" was held where each participant walks to the microphone and announces her name and city which she represents. The evening gown competition was then held where each is judged on modeling ability, the closing production number, "America." and then the awards ceremony.

ceremony when the announcement was made that Traci Krewson, Miss Longwood, was the talent winner and granted a $4,000 Scholarship Award to the Millikin University in Decatur, Illinois. Traci Krewson had realized her goal. She had been looking for scholarship opportunities and won. She is very grateful to her parents and friends from the Lake Mary Dance Academy and her mom's hair salon, "Cheri's Harrport." Krewson is particularly thankful to her major sponsor, "Velocity Sportswear," owner, Kim Stepp, located in Sanford. She is sure that her chances of winning would have been drastically reduced if it had not been for the hard work and

Hobbyist of the Week

Ordained minister writes 'whatever is in my heart'

By BUSAN WENNER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Hobbies come in many forms and fashions. Danae Wood has found that she is able to use her talent of writing to uplift others and share her faith. Although Wood and her husband of five years, David, stay busy with their jobs, Wood finds spare chunks of time to dwell in nature and write her thoughts and await inspiration.

Wood works as a title clerk at a car lot on a part-time basis. Her husband is employed as a realtor.

She shared memories of their wedding day and committment to God. "The smae day we got married we were both ordained as ministers," she said. "We were married and after the completion of our vows and the kiss we were ordained."

The ordination took place at Grace Fellowship Church in Texas which Wood explained as a non-denominational, "independent" church. "Since the age of 11, I wanted to be a minister, "said Wood.

After the wedding service, the couple were then wisked away to the mission field. Coincidently it was here in Central Florida, Orlando to be exact. "We worked with Benny Hinn at Orlando Christian Center for about six months and then we began working with Sanford Restoration Community Church here in Sanford.

The couple have labored since November of 1995 with Spirit Fire World Outreach in Titusville. Wood has had numerous articles published in the church newsletter and items shared with others.

Wood also became very active in 1985 with the Hospice organization as a volunteer. Her interest was sparked after the death of a boyfriend to cancer. After four years of volunteering she was then offered a paid staff position and was employed for another two years. Completing a book to hopefully be used by Hospice has been her driving force at this time. She plans to finish soon and will publish the book on her OWN. She commented that she has written all of her life. "I never showed anybody my writing then. I took classes but they were just for me and they were extra-curricular classes. In the last 10 to 15 years I have only written about Godly things or whatever is in my heart."

In addition to writing, Wood does extend herself to others through speaking engagements. "My ministry has been centered around terminal illness and HIV-Aids issues," she said. "I stay motivated with the knowledge of Christ and how he renews us daily. He's a living water that lives in us and rises up and has to flow somewhere. He's wonderful to write about."

To a beginner Wood shared some advice. "Write about what you know. Go to the library to research what you're writing about. It's free of charge there. You can even just read a book by an author you really like. You pick up a lot by absorption.

Regarding goals for the future Wood said,"I will write more books. He (God) told me there would be many. We're told 'go ye therefore' so part of my ministry is to talk to anyone who will listen."

Poetry, short stories and books were named as literature Woods not only loves to write but to read. "I love to read but the Lord is my life and my inspiration. everything revolves around him.

Wood confirmed that her hobby gives her strength and any work for the Lord that needs to be done she will speak or write about to share her joy.

Heidi Haines announcd the March State Conference was held in Orlando. Virginia Mikler thanked Elisabeth Boyd for the outstanding scrapbook and Grace Marie Stinecipher for her outstanding press book.

Registrar Cathy Wiley announced three members were voted and accepted into the chapter: Gail Clover, Barbara Dunn and transferee Liz Ferguson.

Vanra Decker reported on the Children of the American Revolution at the state conference held in Naples in March. The local Ft. Mellon Society received five trophies including the Most Outstanding Society in Florida. The society also received 25 other awards for their participation in various committees.

The May meeting will be held May 10, beginning at 11:30 a.m., at the Maison et Jardin in Altamonte Springs. Luncheon reservations must be made with the treasurer by May 1.

Bridge Club meets

Members of the Bridge Social Club met at the Sanford Woman's Club for a wonderful spring day of bridge and socializing. The auditorium was fragrantly decorated with jasmine. English dogwood and tea roses grown by Master Gardener Frances Wilson, hostess of the day, who was assisted by Helen Ernest.

The hostesses served an array of delicious refreshments which were all homemade to the delight of the players.

Shirley Schilke, a seasonal player with the group, was welcomed by the players. Shirley, author of "The Many Facets of Love," and her hauband Carl are in residence at their Sanford home before soon departing for their mountain retreat in North Carolina.

A new member of the bridge club is Gail Stewart who says she is fascinated with the game.

Other players were: Frances Webster, Mary Dale Jones, Toni Hobson, Terry Millikan, Shirley Milis, Betty Halback, Carolyn Cornelius, Thelma Smith. Dib McElrath, Emy Sokol, Margaret Gross, Rose Jacobson, Alice Potter, Rusie Dean, Libby Prevatt and Isabel Wilson.

High score winner of the day was Isabel Wilson. Other winners were : Rusie Dean, second high: and Rose Jacobson, third

Woman's Club sets fashions-luncheon

For a glimpse into fashion's future and what the welldressed woman will wear this season, don't miss "A Spring Affair," a fantasy of spring fashions precented by the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. The annual extravaganza will be held this Wednesday, April 24, at the clubhouse, 309 S. Oak Ave, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fashions will be from Bigger and Better in downtown San-ford. Local models will show the latest in spring and summer modes for all moods from daytime casual to the glamour of after five. Fashion commentator will be Jean Clontz who plans a light and airy narration.

Models will include: Dottle Anthony, Lisa Clontz, Shannon Stewart, Sally Moore, Donna Frank, Mary Dale Jones, Pat Bowen, Gail Hill-Smith, Linda Garritani, Fran Webster, Gail Stewart and Ruth Gaines.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the club's education program. Tickets are $15 each and must be purchased in advance. No tickets will be available at the door. For information and reservations, phone Viola Frank, chairman, 322-2578, or any woman's club member.

Vivian Buck is in charge of the food and plans an appetizing menu of: Turkey Divan, Spring Fantasy Salad Mold, Stuffed Tomato, Lemon Dessert, Beverages and Rolls.

SCC actors, directors strut their stuff

The Humanities and Fine & Performing Arts Department of Seminole Community College presented the Actor-Directors' Workshop Wednesday, April 17, from noon to 2 p.m. at the Fine Arts Theatre. This was the opportunity for the acting students and directing students to strut their stuff after their instruction all semester under Sara Z. Daspin.

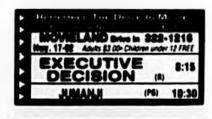

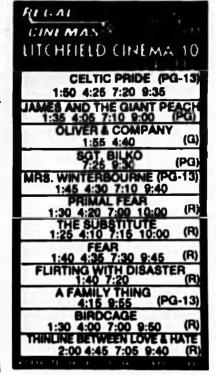

And they did. Vignettes from several famous plays were professionally presented by the students. Several Neil Simon plays were in the limelight. Following the delightful pro-duction, a buffet luncheon was served in the lobby. On hand for the festivities were Dr. E. Ann McGee, SCC president; and Dr. Karen Copp, SCC coordinator of cultural arts.

The crew included: Sam Martin. Zoe Forestier, Nicole Preston and Brent Kimball. Directors were: T.J. Tolbert, Carolyn Cline, Kim Fosselius. Eddy Coppens, Candice Burridge and Jenny Singer.

Performing monoluges between scenes were: Angela Strohm, Amy Lynn Bowser, Brent Kimball, Stacy Lane, Helen Manfredi and Sam Martin.

Acting in the vignettes were: Candice Burridge, Carolyn Cline, Eddy Coppins and Jennifer Singer, "Sorry, Wrong Singer, 'Sorry, Wrong Number:" Doug Daum and Du Smith, "The Odd Couple;" Laurie Blair, Tim Stevenson and Joan Levy, "Barefoot in the Park:" and Victor Zachariou and Amy Lynn Bowser, "The Loveliest Afternoon of the Year."

Are you getting enough calcium?

By DR. MICHAEL FREEDMAN Special to the Herald

NEW YORK - Are you getting enough calcium in your diet?

For a lot of older people, the answer could be no, because the current expert advice on dictary calcium intake is off base.

That advice is given in standards for people over 50 which are set by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences.

A new study done at the Department of Agriculture's Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts University has concluded that those official recommendations on dietary calcium intake for middle-age and older adults are probably too hard for most people to meet of its role in preventing osteoporosis, the bone-wasting condition common in older women (and sometimes men). There is also some recent evidence that it may help control blood pressure and help prevent cancer of the colon.

The current recommendation for over-65 adults is 1,500 milligrams a day in the diet. about the amount in five servings of dairy products such as yogurt or skim milk.

Many people don't have that amount of dietary intake, the Tufts researchers say. They recommend a daily supplement, most practically in the form of an antacid pill that contains calcium carbonate. But it's even better to take a supplement that includes vitamins and minerals Calcium is important because along with the calcium, they brain cells' energy source, more say, to keep the body's nutrient supply in balance.

> Here's a fact about the brain that older men should take into account in their everyday activities: Memory declines faster with age for men than for women.

> The reason seems to be shrinkage of the older brain. which happens in both sexes but is more accentuated in men. On the average, men start out with frontal brain lobes that are larger than women's. But as a man ages, the frontal lobes grow smaller, until they are smaller than those of a woman.

> Other differences: Women have between 15 percent and 20 percent more blood flowing through the brain than men. And women use glucose, the efficiently than men.

So next time it's important to remember something - tell your wife.

A California study offers another reason for older women to take estrogen replacement therapy: It helps them keep their teeth.

The study looked at nearly 4,000 women residents of Leisure World, a California retirement community. It found that women who took estrogen had a significantly lower rate of tooth loss than women who didn't and were much less likely to lose all their teeth and wear dentures. The finding makes sense. since tooth loss is closely related to osteoporosis.

For life

Barbara Moore, an American Cancer Society volunteer, and Melamie Harp, a representative of the society, help Joe Rosler show off the t-shirts for the Relay for Life. Rosier is the chairman of the Relay committee. The Relay for Life will take place at Lake Mary High School on Saturday, May 18 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The family-oriented fundralser involves sponsored teams of eight to 12 people walking, running or strolling around the track for 12 hours to raise money for the cancer society.

Business

IN BRIEF

New consultant

MAITLAND — Sue Crampton, of Lake Mary, has been named by Prudential Florida Realty's Builders' Services Division as new sales consultant. The announcement was made by Holly Rabits, vice president and director for the division.

New associates

LAKE MARY - Higgins & Heath, Inc./Better Homes and Gardens has added 16 new sales associates to its New Homes/ Relocation and General Real Estate Division.

Among those in the northern Seminole County area are Cindy Dale, Jan Fitzgibbons and Madelaine Levine, all of Lake Mary, and Joan Donaldson of Longwood.

Also in the area are Jim Apicella of Deltona, Grace Clooney of Enterprise, and Debra Ann Frieci of Winter Springs. Joining the company's new homes division are Lake Mary residents Lisa Corkery and Barbara K. Sowers.

The announcement was made by Manager John Herndon, who said the new associates will be working out of the company's four Central Florida offices in Lake Mary, Altamonte Springs, downtown Orlando, and the Dr. Phillips area of southwest Orlando.

Gas prices keep rising this month

From stoff regerts

HEATHROW - It has been happening almost every week. AAA Clubs of Florida, headquartered in Heathrow, has issued another statement regarding gas prices going up. As if people weren't fully aware of this already.

As of the middle of this past week, AAA's April Fuel Guage Report shows the average price for self-serve regular unleaded is up 11.1 cents to $1.262 per gallon, the highest gas prices since December, 1990, just before the start of Operation Desert Storm.

It's also listed as the highest price during any month of April since AAA started keeping track of the prices.

"Prices have been steadily increasing since March, and motorists are beginning to feel the hit in their pocketbooks," said Rena Callahan, manager of public and government relations for AAA. The good news is that in some areas, gas prices vary by as much as three to five cents per gallon, which means that motorists may be able to find a better price if they shop carefully.

She explained that traditionally, gas prices increase through the spring and summer seasons as demand increases. "This year however," she said, "dramatic increases can be attributed to low inventories of both crude oil and gasoline.'

She observed that, even though Spring is here. we are still feeling the effects of a long, colderthan-expected winter. "Heavy heating demands throughout the winter drained stockpiles of crude oil, which pushed the price of oil up. When oil prices increase, gas prices increase," she said.

Some refiners anticipate that prices may drop in the near future, especially if Iraq comes to an agreement with the United Nations and once again begins to export oil. Rather than replenishing their inventories with high-priced crude oil now, Callahan said some refiners are waiting to see if this brings about a drop in prices.

Regarding prices as of the middle of this past week, the average priced in this Central Florida area for self-service regular unleaded gas is $1.278; for mid-grade unleaded, $1.398, and for premium uniwaded, $1.475 per gallon.

For people driving around the state seeking other prices, Gainesville is the highest at $1.306 to $1.504 per gallon for regular and premium. Pensacola is the lowest with prices of $1.210 to $1.414.

In the Orlando/Sanford area, the average price for premium unleaded at full-service stations has been listed at $1.775, or 30 cents more per gallon.

Builders on the world wide web

From staff reports

Internet entrepreneur Kay Hudson of Winter Park, has now established a marketing pro-gram called Florida Builders Network (FBN) designed to showcase Florida home builders on the World Wide Web.

The service enables qualified home builders to promote themselves and their product to a fast workd-wide market of potential customers.

"FBN taps into the Internet's estimated 60-million users, and is the first real estate site that sets minimum qualifications for participation," said Hudson.

Deal inked

Larry Pethel of Oviedo, a 26 year veteran in the printing industry, has been named as new plant manager of Moran Printing Co. of Orlando. He replaces Frank Lamparski who is retiring after 43 years in the business. Another Oviedo resident, Jeanle Swanson, has been named as the new sales representative at Moran.

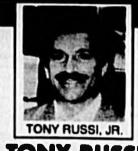

She explained that FBN divides the state into 12 geographic groups. Locally the group is the Orlando/Sanford

"For example," she said, "a family from Boston, planning to relocate to Lake Mary, can check the Orlando/Sanford region to find qualified area builders. Builder pages include color photographs and floor plans of homes, square footage and pricing, along with other information about the builder's background and achievements."

At the present time, she has nearly two dozen builders line up. including Boland Construction Comany of Deltona. Others are being included on a continuing basis.

On line, Florida Builders Network (FBN) can be found at h t t www.americanbuilders.com.

If he were right, advertising agencies across the nation would be out of business.

Through those ad agencies, U.S. advertisers are spending billions (that's with a "b") per year to influence viewers to buy their products and services. They know how much television influences viewers; they have tested it many times!

Abby, imagine a dialogue between a concerned viewer and a TV executive. It might go something CONCERNED VIEWER: Mr. Television Executive, your shows have too much sex, violence and bad language in them. They're a bad influence on our young viewers.

JONATHAN ROTH, PLANO, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from Howard Childress, who said the media only reflect the trends of society rather than set

You, sans qualification, replied that there was truth in his observation. We have ample evidence that the media do, in fact, affect how peo-ple behave. Would Mr. Childress suggest that commercials are merely a reflection of people's buying habits? Aren't they actually deciding our buying habits?

Mr. Childress used stories from the Bible as substantiating evidence. Let's look at the evidence that is better documented and more reliable. Children are murdering children. Short of the original sin. children are innocent until taught to do bad things. They don't instinctively throw baby brothers out of 15story buildings. They learn to devalue life from watching lives bring snuffed out. Where do they see people taking lives? TV and movies. I wouldn't say from books because most people don't read many books.

I remember studying a case in psychology class where a small village, similar to the one Mr. Childress described, was without TV. Cables were run into the village. Sociologists, realizing the opportunity to study TVs effect, surveyed the villagers. Two years after the installation, they resurveyed, finding that aggression and the propensity for violence had increased disturbingly.

While I agree, the media do reflect social mores, they undoubtedly influence those mores greatly. We must hold producers and advertisers responsible for this influence; otherwise, we will likely become prisoners in our own homes.

A pair on a tandem

By Phillip Alder

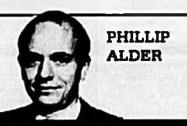

Who were the "two shivering blcycle mechanics from Dayton, Ohio" mentioned by John Dos Passos in his 1836 book, "The Big Money"?

Bridge may be compared to riding a bicycle. When you are the declarer, mond, the 10, sandwiched by his jack you are pedaling alone, with only your skill and balance to stop you from falling off (going down). Whereas de-fending is like being on a tandem, both riders (players) having to do their bit to arrive at their destination (to defeat the contract).

Today's deal was defended perfectly by Julius Rosenblum, the former president of the World Bridge Federation, and Constant Fua.

Defending against three bearts, Fua-led the spade four. (Most experts these days, as they had supported their partner, would select the seven.) Rosenblum won with the spade queen and switched accurately to the diamond jack. He had dummy's top dia-and nine, plus he had a higher nontouching honor in the ace. So he led touching honor in the ace. So he led the card directly above dummy's top card, a classic surrounding play.

After taking South's queen with his king, West returned a diamond, East taking two tricks in the sult. On the second of these, West discarded a speed. Now East continued with the spade. Now East continued with the ace and another spade. When South ruffed with the heart queen, Fua didn't tire. He discarded, ensuring himself two trump tricks. The contract had gone three down: plus 150. As two spades would have made exactly for plus 110, this gave East-West a "top" in the 1957 Mexican Open Pairs Championship.
