

O'Neal, Holman Bitterly Oppose Food Subsidies

Farm Leaders Say Demands For Roll-Back Are Indefensible

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Strong opposition to subsidies to effect a roll back of food prices was voiced by agricultural organization representatives this week before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee at hearings on legislation to extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which would handle the subsidy.

Both witnesses—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation, attacked O'Neal's support of the subsidy plan. Mr. O'Neal, who suggested an amendment prohibiting C. C. C. funds to be used for subsidies, said "demands of organized labor for subsidies to roll back prices are indefensible."

He pointed out that figures published by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics show that despite the increase in the cost of food, the average non-farm family is paying a smaller percentage of its income for food than at any time in the last 10 years, due to the fact that wages have increased more than food. He added that labor's support of the subsidy program is but "a thinly disguised effort to secure another unwarranted increase in wages—this time at the expense of the public treasury."

Senator Francis Maloney, Democrat of Connecticut, challenged O'Neal's opposition to subsidies by asserting that in the past farmers had no objection to subsidies, "so it must be only when it might hurt them that they oppose them." To this Mr. O'Neal replied that prices were so low during the depression that a subsidy was necessary. Discussing the national food situation, Mr. O'Neal went on record in favor of placing all food production and price control in the hands of War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis.

More picturesque in speech in presenting his opposition to subsidies was Mr. Holman, who described the roll back and subsidy policy thus: "While the drums of inflation roll out the grim dirge of waste, we now witness the great crucifixion of American agriculture." His attack on labor's support followed the same line presented by Mr. O'Neal. He testified at a hearing last week by William F. Olson, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Other developments on the food front included statements by War Food Administration officials to the effect that the roll back will be made 41 per cent of the butter and lard for military use and limited export purposes may be relaxed as soon as other controls over slaughter can be made effective.

President Roosevelt signed a bill authorizing the C. C. C. to sell an additional 50,000,000 bushels of government held wheat for feed. The bill, a revision of the limitation contained in the 1943 agriculture appropriation act, provides that the wheat shall not be sold at less than the parity price of corn at the time of sale. It further requires that in making additional adjustments in the sale price of wheat, the minimum price shall not be higher a specific area than the country-wide average parity price of corn.

Although the Office of Price Administration's food problems occupied the spotlight today, the problems continue to be discussed. The subject of MPRSS controlling prices and grades of rayon hosiery was brought up for further hearing by a subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Dr. Bernard F. Haley, chief of the O. P. A. textile division, defended the agency's hosiery regulations on the basis that "innovations" had sent prices skyward. Price increases, such as had been in effect prior to the issuance of MPRSS, were ineffective, he said.

Blick Market In Corn Roams Fields By Truck

Grain Men Say Drivers Search Mid-West For High Price Crops

CHICAGO, June 15. (AP)—Truck drivers, roaming the Midwest in an unprecedented hunt for corn, are buying the yellow grain at higher than selling prices and selling it profitably to farmers who need it to feed livestock, members of leading grain firms said this week.

That is one reason, they said, why not as much corn is needed as is coming into marketing terminals, threatening, in the words of the Corn Industries Research Foundation, a complete shutdown in the corn-raising industry within the next 30 days.

A shutdown in corn refineries would affect such industries as textile manufacturing, papermaking, aluminum and steel foundries, brewing, candy manufacturing and innnumerable others which utilize derivatives of one of America's most important grains.

The existence of an illegal market in corn, grain men said, is common knowledge among the trade. The Baldwin Elevator Company, of Decatur, Ill., commenting on the situation, said:

"There probably never was such a storm of truckers roaming over the Illinois highways staging a veritable corn 'bitch' on country elevators as in recent weeks. Now they are contacting the growers direct. With truckers being the privileged characters as to prices they can pay for corn, it does not look as though there will be a normal corn movement through regular channels even after producers have caught up with their trucks."

Reporters to grain firms indicated similar situations in other corn belt states.

Meanwhile, major markets are getting the corn they need. The amount of the maize in principal marketing centers at the start of this week was pitifully small as compared with last year. The figures for three major terminals:

This Week	Year Ago
Chicago	400,000
Bushels	1,470,000
Kansas City	700,000
Mississippi	757,000
Business	4,598,000
	4,758,000

It is practically impossible to enforce corn sellings at every farm point in the American grain belt, grain men said. The transactions are not officially recorded as they are in marketing terminals and the only persons who know about them are the buyer and the seller.

Local Farmers Asked To Increase Poultry

Seminole County poultrymen are asked by the government to produce approximately 210,000 dozen eggs this year, an increase over 1942 production of less than one percent, the National Poultry Defense Committee estimated today.

The county goal is based on the increase suggested for Florida by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, explained Committee Chairman Hobart Creighton. Because of Florida's relatively high egg production in 1942, the state is asked for one of the smallest increases in the country, well below the national average increase of 8 percent.

"Poultry farmers are working harder than ever in all-out war production," Creighton said, "continuing the fine job they did in this county last year helping to supply civilian military and lend-lease needs. Also two developments during last year have resulted in larger laying flocks on most farms today."

"First, egg prices as shown by purchases of the A & P Tea Company, one of the largest buyers which paid $740,895 last year for 1,774,590 dozen Florida eggs, were so favorable the farmers saw an unusually large proportion of potential layers. Second, raising pullets, as Fall weather conditions in 1942 were good for was generally mild and the average hatching date was early."

Those factors point to increased egg production," Creighton explained. "If an improvement can be made in the farm skilled labor situation and if farmers can get enough protein in feed. There are critical shortages of protein ingredients because imports have been cut so drastically. Even soybean oil meal is not being processed fast enough to meet demands. These are major problems facing the industry."

Florida poultrymen, who produced a total of 17,585,000 dozen eggs in 1942, are asked for 17,613,000 dozen this year as their share of the national egg goal of 4,780,000,000 dozen.

Henry Ford Has Optimistic View On Birthday Eve

Predicts Plenty Of Work For All After War Is Over

NEW YORK, June 15. (Special)—In one of his rare interviews, released today in the July issue of the Woman's Home Companion, Henry Ford, who will celebrate his eightieth birthday on June 30, scans the future of America and pronounces his opinion on a variety of topics ranging from the industrial outlook and new inventions to the importance of a happy marriage.

To anxious mothers and wives who wonder how we are going to find jobs for all the boys when they come back from the war, Mr. Ford, who has just resumed the active presidency of his company, offers the comforting assurance that "unless we are much more foolish than I think we are, this country will find a way to bring back into productive employment after the war without much of a break." Which leads logically to his broader view that, "If we handle our post-war affairs properly and heed the voice of experience, there need be no unmanageable postwar depression."

This faith in the future of American industry, Mr. Ford explains, is founded on the credo that "the more people employed at fair wages, the larger market for the products of industry," and on his belief that the machine age is just beginning. He feels that the machine has been a great civilizing force. "Machines save men energy and time. They have lightened men's burdens and have brought more economic equality between men than ever existed."

But more machines don't mean unemployment and loafing. Although Mr. Ford acknowledges that work never has been popular he says, "You can bank on this—there is no future without work. Efforts to construct a workless economy are doomed to fail. More and more kinds of work will be developed. There will be new inventions. Not, he points out, that there's any pressing need of new inventions at the moment. Mr. Ford maintains that "we are way behind in the task of completing and refining the inventions we already have. Nothing invented in the last fifty years has yet attained its final form or been made easily obtainable as it should be."

Along with the predicted upsurge of postwar industry, Mr. Ford hopes to see the process of industrial decentralization get under way. "There is little reason any more," he maintains, "for the factories to be crowded in cities. They might just as well be moved out into the country."

"All that we have learned by concentration of work can now be adapted to decentralized work. For twenty years our company has been moving various smaller departments out into the country. With the exception of a few industries, the average industrial employee can just as well have a country home with a city wage. And I know of no better servant for any family than a modern American village."

A man who has one foot in industry and the other on the soil is about as secure as he can be in this world!

Talking particularly to the wives and mothers of America, Mr. Ford dwells at some length on the more personal aspects of successful living such as the importance of religion and of affection between husband and wife. He feels that "anyone who lives happy thinks long enough finds he has a religion. A great reader of the Bible himself, Ford deprecates that "people don't read the Bible enough nowadays, and makes interesting average statements. "During the first World War, Woodrow Wilson and I took a pledge together to read a chapter of the Bible every day. I have kept my pledge and I understand that he did until his death."

Much of his gobsmack in the industrial world Mr. Ford attributes to his happy marriage. Every

Effort Made To Salvage Subsidy Plan

Hill Leads Move To Restore 35 Million Cut From OPA Funds

WASHINGTON, June 21, (AP)—With some indications of at least partial success, the administration took hasty steps in the Senate over the week-end toward salvaging the food subsidy program left hanging on the brink of oblivion by a House revolt against the price rollback.

There was less hope in administration quarters of restoring $5,500,000 to the OPA budget for OPA's domestic operations, and OWI Director Elmer Davis said he'll quit if the Senate concurs with the House in abolishing these homefront activities.

Introduced by H. J. Lehman, himself a former Representative, who thanked him for the time he had given the people of this county in the Senate and who said he had done an excellent job as chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Senator Housholder said that everyone who attends a legislative session thinks that one is the best and that he too is doing his best.

(Continued From Page One) The rumors were reported Saturday by Reuters, British news agency, in dispatch from Algiers. Both the Rome and Berlin radios hastily denied the story.

The reports possibly originated from the circumstance that there are a number of known Italian anti-Fascist in North Africa, but reliable Allied quarters declared they are obscure for the most part and not empowered to ask for peace on behalf of the Italian people.

On the contrary, recent events indicate that the Fascist regime was striving itself for desperate resistance to any further Allied offensive.

Yellow Dog Contract. A member and an officer of the U.M.W. it said, "would be a disgrace of honor as to sign or execute such an infamous yet lowering contract. The congress has enacted no statute and the constitution lacks any prohibition to take from American citizens the right to refrain from participation in such a degrading act."

The union declared there is one major problem preventing the one major problem preventing the completion of the contract is the "composition to the mine work for travel time from mine portals to portals."

A federal statute and court decision legalize such payment at the position of the United Mine Workers of America that the War Labor Board has no authority to force the mine workers to accept a contract that would be a disgrace of honor as to sign or execute such an infamous yet lowering contract.

WHAT HIS PAPER MEANS TO A SANFORD BOY

"The Sanford Herald has been arriving—two or three days' worth at a time. It is fully read and reread . . . and more than amply enjoyed during our leisure hours. It really helps to fill the empty hours."

Richard M.

There are empty hours—for every service man.

In this case, R. M.'s father goes to the trouble of wrapping up and mailing him several days' worth of Herald when he has time.

He is not aware that the special discount on all Service Men's subscriptions (to points within Continental U. S.) would enable him to handle the whole thing with one time-and-labor-saving move . . . for scarcely more than 1c a day he could send The Sanford Herald to his son through our office.

So pass the word along, won't you—to the thousands of fathers and mothers of appreciative Richards, whose great pleasure, during hours of leisure, is seeing news as only their paper tells it.

* Applies to Continental U. S. only. Subscriptions for members of the armed forces abroad must originate with the men themselves.

THE VICTIM OF ONE of the U. S. Navy's new Vega Ventura PV-1 patrol bombers, this U-boat shows its bow for the last time before plunging to the bottom of the Atlantic. A shell from the sub hit a wing of the diving plane but four depth charges finished the raider which was after an Allied convoy. Plans now are steadily reducing the sub menace. This is an Official U. Leavenworth, Kansas.—More than 100 of the 254 employees of the Missouri Valley Bridge and Iron Company get 100 per cent of a week's pay into War Bonds here as a practical demonstration of the extent to which war workers are eager to respond to the Treasury Department's call for increased War Savings. Workers of the plant have been allotted 10 per cent of their gross payroll for Bonds since last September, but the special one week 100 per cent drive was held in stress this theme: "With 100 per cent of my current personal earnings I am in the drive for efficiency in war production."
