MOTHER, DAD AND I

A BOY'S STORY OF A WOMAN'S CLUB.

One evening Mother, Dad and I, We ate at the supper table; Of course, I was eating everything As fast as I was able.

For Mother's "cats" are sure "A-I," Sometimes I think I'll die If I try to take another bite, And then she brings on PIE!

I tell her she must have been a boy, (Only she wasn't bad); But she just says she learned boys ways While she was raising Dad.

Well, that evening mother says In a solemn sort of way; "I want to tell you dear, I joined The Woman's Club today!" Dad laughed and winked—and winked and laughed; Even when he began to smoke, And read the paper he'd have to stop To get off another joke.

Mother was sure the worst girl— While Dad did his laughing and winking But I know Mother, and I thought Dad Had better "get busy" thinking.

Well—some day she came home and said Neighbor Smith was raising the dickens 'Cause the Woman's Club got the Marshal To make him shut up his chickens.

Dad was sure some pleased at this, For Smith's chickens just plowed our yard;

We don't keep any ourselves, That's why it seemed so hard.

But—a month later—it was different! Dad didn't even grin, And I knew there was something doing, Just by the set of his chin.

He said Mother's work in that Woman's Club, Would naturally have to stop! Or he wouldn't have a customer left, And would have to shut up shop.

There was a club crusade against dice! The butcher and baker must screen! A fine for trash in the street! The alleys had to be clean!

There were women inspecting the sewers, The water, the milk and the schools, Having their "say" about dogs and cats, And even the horses and mules.

Some of the men had come to him, And told him to "call off" his wife! (For Mother's department was clever!) He called her!—Sure—on your life!

But Mother just quietly smiled, And told him to listen a minute, These men couldn't hurt him, she said, For all their wives were in it!

And no matter what was said, she felt She wasn't so much to blame, For if she dropped out it once the WORK Would go on just the same.

Later on Dad got notice to clean A dirty old vacant lot— Cut down the weeds and build a walk! Oh my! He was properly hot.

He went to the Mayor and Council, And told them he'd been wronged; But he didn't get a grain of help, For their wives all "belonged"

Then—a man came down from New York A big bug—with money to burn. The Board of Trade motored him round (Our town from stem to stern.

He thought it was the "dandiest" village That he had ever seen; The sanitation was perfect, Every nook and corner clean.

And Dad—swelled up with pride and joy— The happiest man on earth, When that millionaire bought his vacant lot For three times what it was worth.

Today Dad was talking to neighbor Smith I heard him. Says he, big and grand, "Smith, to humor the ladies, now and then We'll lend them a helping hand.

"They have got to be busy at something And he patted Mother's arm "So let them have their Woman's Club— They can't do any harm!"

Some day I am going to get married And I don't want any other Kind of a wife than one who belongs To a Woman's club—like Mother.

—Written by Mrs. Edgar Lewis for the Women's club of Fort Pierce, Fla.

Every county in the state of Florida is talking about a county fair this fall, and it is high time that Seminole county should get in the game. Our fair here last year was a remarkable success in every way, and if the four days had all been good days exempt from the downpour of rain that caught us Friday and Saturday, there would have been money in the treasury despite the fact that there were no admissions charged. Since our first effort was so successful, we should not lay down on the job but Seminole county should get in the game at once and put forward an effort to hold the biggest and best fair in the state. The bulkhead will be finished then and we can have a monster celebration in February to commemorate the event and have the county fair on the lake front. Permanent buildings can be erected on this land that will serve as auditoriums and pavilions during the time when the fair is not in progress, and these buildings will not only pay for themselves, but will pay a good profit during six months of the year.

Many people have asked me what the owners of the bulkhead property intended to build on this land and this in my answer. Let the city and county cooperate and build their buildings on the lake front. Take the property off the hands of the owners who do not care to pay for the made land, and in time we can have a national land show here in Sanford that will outrival the big show in Chicago. The possibilities of this lake front and county fair are unlimited, and these buildings will add greatly to our lake front and our city. The grounds can be made beautiful, tennis courts and even golf links could be made here and the most beautiful shrubberies and flowers could be set out, making our fair grounds at once the most beautiful and unique in the state or in the south. Now don't let this idea slip you. Just think of the profits accruing from the pavillion and the auditorium and the other amusements and all of it could be municipally owned if necessary.

It is boosting that makes a city, and I have preached it early and late in Sanford for the past twenty-five years. Some times it takes and sometimes the needle has to be used several times before the patients can be spurred up sufficiently to talk up their own home town. Some times I have called attention of our people to the good effects of boosting as practiced by the Orlando people, and it is almost certain that Orlando can be classed as the greatest living example of what a large class of real boosters can accomplish. Hugh Sparkman of the Daytona Gazette sizes up Orlando exactly right in the following.

"You might walk the streets of Orlando for months and never hear a citizen criticise or speak ill of his home town. They've got the boosting habit. That's why Orlando is one of the best towns in Florida. That's why Orlando continues to grow and prosper and become beautiful. Every citizen believes its the best and most beautiful town on the globe, and he labors incessantly to make it so.

"Orlando's newspapers are great boosters, too. But the newspapers receive great assistance in boosting from the hundreds of boosting citizens. Let there be something doing for the benefit of Orlando and there's no chance for the newspaper to miss it. A dozen citizens will rush to the newspaper office with a suggestion that publication of the facts will help the city.

"All this united effort counts. It will count anywhere. Whenever enough people believe in a thing they will make a go of it. Orlando people believe in Orlando and they are day by day making it a greater Orlando.

"Orlando has many valuable assets, but none more valuable than her population of confirmed and eternal boosters."

"I missed my old friend, the back stamper, from the postoffice some time ago but did not give the matter much thought until I noted the following from the Omaha Bee, which brought the matter to mind.

"The postoffice should put back the back stamp, the time of receipt of a letter. The department sneaked out of the custom with the plea that back-stamping caused delay. That is balderdash. The trouble was that back stamping let the public keep tab on the efficiency of the postal service and led a flood of complaint and protest, which was irritating, certainly, but beneficial to the public and the service. The receiver of a delayed letter without a back stamp can not tell whether the delay occurred in the office of deposit, on the train, in the local office or in delivery. He is in the dark. But the receiver of a delayed letter can check up the local service at a glance, if the letter is stamped in the office at the hour of receipt." The country is demanding a return to the former practice. The postoffice department is resisting the demand. The country is right about it, and ought to have its way. And if it howls long enough and loud enough, it will have.

"With the automatic mechanical stamping machine generally used in all of our postoffices of any size the backstamping would take no time worth mentioning, although it might entail a little extra labor. As a matter of fact, however, there is much more reason to have the receiving time noted on a letter than the sending time if one has to be dispensed with, but there is no good reason why we should not have both.

Note Was Too Squeaky to Be True.
Bobby's mother sometimes permits him to run his chubby little hands over the piano keys. Last week he thumped the keys in the middle register with both hands and gurgled delightedly over the emanating discord. Then he touched the keys in the treble clef and finally reached the very last top ivory and jabbed it with one finger. Hearing the faint, squeaky little high note he looked around with a distressed smile and said: "Oh, muvver, it's broke!"—Kansas City Star.

OUR SEMINOLE COUNTY FAIR TO COME NEXT

VOLUSIA EXPECTS TO HAVE ONE AND OTHER COUNTIES ARE IN LINE

Our sister counties are talking county fairs and Seminole county should be up and doing in the matter of a county fair. Now is the time to prepare for the big event.

The success of the fair last year under conditions that were extraordinary should encourage everyone to pull for a better fair this year. No admissions were charged last year and all the fair attractions were free and but for the rain that killed the business for the last two days of the fair the association would have money in the treasury now.

It is suggested by the Herald that the new ground on the lake front be used for the fair grounds and that the city and county make arrangements with the Seminole County Fair Association to establish a large auditorium and pavilion on the lake front to be used during the week of the fair for fair purposes, and leased during the remainder of the season to any one who cares to operate for profit.

The need of a large auditorium and pavilion on the lake front is apparent to every one and this arrangement would give the fair association one of the best fair grounds in the state.

With the improvement of the fair grounds and the planting of trees and shrubbery the lake front would be improved beyond the fondest dream of our most progressive citizens.

Volusia County expects to hold her first fair as the following from the DeLand News states:

"Volusia county will hold a fair this year, and will hold a five day fair in DeLand. An organization is now being formed to be known as the Volusia County Fair Association. The grounds at Blue Lake Park are admirably adapted for this kind of gathering, and will furnish one of the best locations in the state. The grounds of the circle will be used for fruit, vegetables and many displays, and the skating rink will be fitted into booths for smaller exhibits.

"The association will try and arrange with the Country Club to use the club house for an art hall, and the trap shooting grounds will be utilized for carnival amusements. There will be a big display of fancy horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens, etc., in fact, everything that goes with a first class county fair will be on the grounds. Arrangements will be made with the railroads for special rates from Tampa, Jacksonville and intermediate stations. Mr. Earl Brown will very likely have charge of the poultry exhibits and Mr. Ralph Turner will be asked to take charge of the stock entries. Volusia is one of the best counties in Florida, and can put up one of the best fairs, if she tries. The dates have not been fully decided upon as yet but will very likely be some time the last of January or first of February. The people will not be asked to contribute in a financial way but it is hoped that they will assist in every other way they can to make the fair a big success, as there is no doubt as to the good it will do the county in an advertising way. Commence now; dig up all your old relics and get them ready to take a blue ribbon. This is going to be a big thing for Volusia county, let's do it in a big way.

Go Fishing

Aldermen C. H. Dinfee and J. D. Davison and Col. N. A. Colbert left today for Daytona Beach where they will fish for several days. Mr. Davison expects to be absent for several weeks but the rest of the party will return sooner. We can look for some big fish now.

B. Y. P. U. Notes.

Another very interesting program was rendered by the Group of Corinthians at the meeting of the B. Y. P. U. at the Baptist Temple, Sunday evening. This was a Bible Study meeting and was led by Mrs. Geo. Hyman; other members taking part on the program was as follows.

Scripture Lesson, Matthew 21-29, read by Miss W. Singletary.

The Son of David, read by Mr. Jess Morrison.

The Ruler, by M. L. Wright.

Justice of This Government, by Mr. R. H. Davis.

Peacebearers of His Reign, Miss Mary Gatchel.

How has the Prophecy been fulfilled, Miss W. Singletary.

This program certainly was enjoyed by all present. Our entire attendance each Sunday is increasing. Again we invite others to come and enjoy these meetings with us.

Our subject next Sunday evening will be "World Peace." Program will be in charge of the group of Romans, with Mrs. Loretta Brotherson as leader. Remember we hold our meetings each Sunday evening at 6:45. Come with us and we will do these good.

Adjutant Odum Here

Adjutant L. A. Odum, of the Volunteers of America spent a few days in Sanford this week in the interest of the Prison work being done by his organization.

The Volunteers were organized by General Ballington Booth, son of the late William Booth, who founded the old English Salvation Army.

Adjutant Odum states that his organization is taking an interest in the reformed prison system in Florida, by visiting the various camps and farms where the men are employed where religious services are held and religious matter distributed.

A farm is being sought where a home can be opened for released prisoners in Florida. It will simply be a place where a released prisoner can go and receive assistance until work can be found or returning to each man's family.

The organization is asking the Chamber of Commerce of Sanford to act as a committee to help in this work.

The matter is being discussed in Sanford, and it is hoped that some what ever town offers the best deal will of course be one most preferable.

This institution and work will be under the leadership and jurisdiction of Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth of 34 W. 28th St. New York City, who is recognized as the world's greatest prison worker.

Florida has an army of some eighteen hundred prisoners which is being supplemented by some three hundred prisoners annually which readily shows that the work offers a big field of labor to some body and this being of one of the branches of this organization they therefore propose to handle it in the way outlined if they can get some humanitarian to donate the farm home.

High Priced Game

The editor of the Herald had a quail and a squirrel yesterday for lunch and it is even money that none but an editor could afford such high priced game. The quail cost $22 and the squirrel cost about $7 the two costing about $30 or more. No, Hortense, the editor was not caught with the goods for we never hunt out of season. The game was given to us by the county game warden and he caught Tom Wilson, a Sanford negro with the game just after he had shot them. Judge Herring did the rest and between the two the game was made sufficiently high enough in price to make it worth while for newspaper men to eat. Many thanks. We hope the people who want to hunt out of season will keep it up for this young game certainly tastes fine at this time of the year.

The game warden of Seminole county is one of the most active in the state and now that he has received his new appointment from the county commissioner he is on the job early and late and the offenders against the fish and game laws will suffer.

PETROGRAD IS OUR DEFENSE THE GOAL OF WILL OCCUPY THE GERMANS CHIEF'S MIND

PUSHING FORWARD TO TAKE THE RUSSIAN CAPITAL BEFORE WINTER

London, Aug. 13.—The German Armies in the Baltic region are within three hundred miles of Petrograd. They have reached the River Dvina, between Riga and Dvinsk. Thence southward the line sweeps west with Keyne, which is still holding out. Next week may see a great battle toward the Capital. The Russian second line of defense, upon which it is proposed to fall back after abandoning Warsaw, has the appearance of being rendered untenable.

The British and Russian press is beginning to see in the Teutonic plan an ambitious plunge, with Petrograd as the goal. Meantime the Russian rearwards are fighting desperately, especially in the Dvinn region and at Keyne for the capture of which the Germans are asking making terrific sacrifices.

It seems plain that the Germans intend no great demonstration in the west, but intend to press to the utmost the Russian campaign on the theory that conditions in the west are such that neither the French nor British will immediately attempt a general offensive.

During the fall in the western front the Great public looks to the Dardanelles to relieve Russia.

Congregational Church

A large audience assembled last evening to hear the sermon by the pastor on "The Church and the State." Next Sunday night the second of this series will be given on "The Church and the State." The pastor will conduct a Labor Day service on the evening of Sept. 6th. The special theme for consideration will be "The Church and the State." All interested in the subject are invited to attend.

Edward Abeles at the Star

Edward Abeles, who plays the leading role in "After Five," the successful and very unique comedy by Cecil B. and William C. DeMille, is fast acquiring renown as the foremost legitimate comedy artist on the moving picture screen. Mr. Abeles' vast experience as a legitimate comedy star in foremost Broadway hits has given him just that degree of refinement and lightness of touch which distinguishes him from all of the old-time screen farceurs and makes him a delight to people who appreciate humor rather than buffoonery. Under the direction of Mr. Laskey, Mr. Abeles has already achieved sterling successes in "Brewster's Millions," and "The Making of Bobby Burnt."

It is no exaggeration to state that he has far wider laugh-provoking opportunities in "After Five," and that he has become wonderfully adept at giving the full screen value to every situation. Edward Abeles in "After Five" will be the offering on Monday Aug 16th at the Star Theatre and is an attraction that may be sincerely recommended in advance.

Hard Times

The subject of the sermon to be delivered by Rev. Geo. Hyman at the Temple Sunday Evening is "Hard Times." Mr. Hyman offers some information on the subject as well as a solution. You are invited to all the Temple Services. Sunday School at 9:30. Preaching at 11:00. Beginning a series on "Have We Got the Bible?" B. Y. P. U. both Junior and Senior at 6:45.

PRESIDENT WILSON SEES THE NEED OF MORE ARMAMENT FOR UNCLE SAM

Washington, Aug. 13.—President Wilson returned from Cornish this morning.

There will be no cabinet meeting tomorrow as the President feels that matters pending are not in shape for general discussion. After a conference with Secretary Lansing on Mexican affairs, President Wilson planned to see Secretaries Garrison and Daniels and take up the national defense question. The Texas situation is also expected to figure in the conference with Secretary Garrison.

The President had from Secretary Lansing the details of yesterday's conference. Previously the secretary had announced that appeals from Mexican factions would not be sent today owing to lack of arrangements for transmission. Secretary Lansing declined to comment on Carranza's letter of protest, which was not answered. Officials are sure that Carranza does not represent the individual opinions of his leaders, and when the appeal is published they are sure they will see they have been misinformed. Carranza has issued through his Washington agents a denial of the outrages committed or contemplated against foreigners at Vera Cruz.

German Spy in Florida

Tallahassee, Aug. 12.—August Or. Cough, alias Rudolph alias Adolph, an alleged secret agent of the German Government was arrested late today on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner McLeod charging him with "conspiring against the United States Government for the purpose of obtaining information concerning national defenses, to which he was not entitled."

At the request of United States District Attorney John L. Neeley, the hearing of the case was continued until Thursday afternoon, as to enable the Department of Justice to send secret service agents here to work up the details of the case.

The prisoner is alleged to have visited and made drawings of the military reservations and light houses at Flag Island, opposite Carrabelle, Port St. Joe, Crooked Island, Moreno Point, Santa Rosa Island, Apalacheicola Bay, St. Andrew's Bay, Panama City, and Fort Pitkin and Barancas, all along the Gulf coast of Florida, and within the jurisdiction of the United States Court for the Northern District of Florida. He also alleged to have visited and made sketches of the reservation off Cedar Keys and all other as far south as the entrance to Tampa Bay.

He has been in this vicinity for three months and has registered at local hotels as Orbolph, but has inquired repeatedly for mail for Rudolph and express packages for Adolph, he has made no statement but prior to his arrest, has explained his continued presence in this locality by claiming to be interested in bee culture along the Gulf Coast.

Some Railroad Service

Winter Garden evidently has a good railroad service from the following description in the Winter Garden Times.

"We don't care if the Tavares and Gulf Railroad does burn hay in its engines it is a better road than the Atlantic Coast Line, at that. You can get your stuff from Jacksonville a day earlier on the T. & G.; they have the best station and freight house in town, and you get just as good service from the T. & G. as you do from the other $2.40 road. The T. & G. is sometimes late, but how about the A. C. E. The T. & G. may be a jerkwater service but the A. C. E. is a jerkwater. The A. C. E. moved 300 cars of fruit from Winter Garden the past season and they draw about $50,000 a year from this man's town but that makes no difference. They give us punk service, in punk cars, and the freight is received in a punk freight house connected with a punk passenger depot. Selah! Go to the T. & G."

COUNTY HOME OF SEMINOLE IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Progress in the South

Columbus, Ga., Aug. 13.—The Industrial Index says in its issue for this week.

"Furnace activity in the Birmingham industrial district is greater now than at any time since 1907. At that time practically every furnace in the district was in operation. The price of No 2 foundry pig iron in the Birmingham market has reached $11.00, the highest for more than a year, and the market seems strong at that figure. The 11.00 price marks a rise of $1.50 in the Birmingham district in six weeks. Some iron is being sold at $12.50 for delivery in the first half of 1916.

"The big industrial plants at Ensley, including the steel rail and ingot mills and the wire and billet mills in Alabama City, are in full operation, with prospect of so continuing indefinitely.

Manufacturers of yellow pine lumber are experiencing an increasing demand for their products, as a result of war orders from Europe and of purchases in growing volume by the railroads in this country.

"Activity in Florida's great phosphate industry is shown by the steady increase in exports. While the total is yet small comparatively it is growing continuously.

"Construction operations, both public and private, throughout the Southwest are extensive and steadily increasing in volume.

"A railway line that will be part of a great system will be built between Charlestown, S. C. and Savannah, Ga.

"Twenty-one new corporations were formed during the week with minimum capital stocks aggregating $1,517,000.

Greenwood, S. C., voted $100,000 of bonds for paving streets and $35,000 for erecting a school building.

Franklin County, Alabama, voted $115,000 of road construction bonds. Miami, Fla., will vote upon bonds as follows: For three bridges $100,000; ship canal and channel improvement, not exceeding $360,000; railroad, $50,000; sanitary sewers, $40,000; school building, $20,000.

Sanford County, Florida, will vote upon $250,000 of road bonds and Putnam county Florida, upon $208,000 for the same purpose.

"These are some of the items in the reports for the week that show the steady progress which the Southeast is making toward general prosperity.

"Among the items of construction this week are the following:

"Bank building, Saluda, S. C.; bridge, Whitfield County, Georgia; edum, Toccoa, Ga.; paving, Miami and Kissimmee, Fla.; and Macon, Ga.; road, St. Lucie county Florida; building to be remodelled for use as a court house, Broward county Florida; plans have been asked for courthouse for St. Johns county, Florida; Dade County, Florida, proposes to have four-story courthouse, with jail on fourth floor.

"Construction contracts have been awarded as follows:

"Apartment house, Savannah, Ga.; church building to be enlarged and remodeled, Savannah, Ga.; drainage canals, Manatee county, Florida; crematory, Gadsden, Ala.; curb and sewers, Augusta, Ga.; gymnasium building, Rock Hill, S. C.; paving Tampa, Fla.; garage, Orlando, Fla.; school building, Pensacola, Fla.; brick-paved road, Ocala county, Florida.

Married in Sanford

Miss Luella Davonport of Orlando was married to Mr. Louis B. Lloyd of Orlando at the Baptist Temple in the pastor's study, Rev. Hyman officiating. The wedding took place at noon Thursday. It was rumored that the couple had eloped to Sanford and safely eluded those who were watching them.

Doesn't it do you good to see two winsome young ladies pull off a corking good joke on the male members of the family? The two little ladies didn't figure on starting much, but— It will do you good to see them at the Imperial in "Mr. Bob."

HOUSE AND GROUNDS ARE NEAT AND CLEAN AND THE INMATES ARE HAPPY

Seminole County has one of the best County Homes in the state. This is said after a visit to all of them and while there are many counties that have fine ones, and many that have none at all it remained for the new county of Seminole to purchase a fine home and grounds the first year of the county's existence, and make the indigent ones comfortable.

The Seminole infirmary is made from the Harrold place that comprises a nice house of eight rooms and about six acres of good farming land, some of which is in grove with bearing trees. Plenty of out-buildings make it possible to have live stock and the county commissioners will raise hogs and chickens and have a few cows later on in the endeavor to make the place partly self-supporting. There are only eight inmates there now, four of whom are children and the heavy work is done by one of the county convict gang.

Some of the finest and largest oak trees in this part of the country are on the infirmary grounds and afford plenty of shade for the inmates. The home is neat and clean the entire house being screened and the best of sanitary conditions prevail. The home is under the personal supervision of Mrs. Bell who lives next door and is busy all the time looking after the inmates and the grounds.

The county commissioners are to be commended upon their purchase of this fine home and their business like methods of operating the same and the unfortunates are now being properly cared for in Seminole County.

Lecture on War Zone

Thursday evening next, Rev. J. J. Hall, the noted lecturer, who is travelling in the interest of the American Peace Society will deliver his famous lecture on "What I Saw in the War Zone" at the Congregational Church at 8:00 p. m.

Dr. Hall lectures before large audiences wherever he goes so it is safe to predict that he will have a crowded house in Sanford. Last Sunday he delivered his address at the Y. M. C. A. in Tampa to an overflow audience and was received with most enthusiastic applause. There will be no charge for admission, just a free will offering taken in the course of the evening you will miss a rare opportunity to hear one of the finest addresses on record. Brilliantly intellectual, possessing a pleasing personality and eloquent flow of language and finished traveller, (he has crossed the Atlantic twenty-seven times) Dr. Hall holds his audience spell-bound from start to finish. Remember the date and place, Thursday, Aug. 19th at the Congregational Church and free to everyone.

How About Your Poll Tax

Tomorrow, Saturday, is the last day on which you can meet this qualification for the special elections in September.

It would be well to call at the Tax Collector's office and see if you have paid for the two years necessary, 1913 and 1914.

Mrs. M. L. Fletcher and little son, Howlet, of Sanford, spent Tuesday in the city with relatives, en route to Arredondo, where they will be the guests of Mrs. J. H. Holly a few days, before returning home. They have just returned from Wade, where they spent a couple of weeks with Mrs. Fletcher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richardson.

Would you call it true hospitality to have your host's force you to eat four meals in succession? That's what happened to poor Mr. Brown, alias Mr. Royson, Mr. Saunders and Mr. "Bob." By the way, if Mr. Brown an 'impostor'??? See him in "Mr. Bob, Imperial Theatre.

MOORE'S STATION

Rev. A. S. Peck preached to a large congregation last Sunday afternoon. This coming Sunday the 15th., Rev. W. J. Bartlett of Enterprise will fill his regular appointment here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Haynes and daughter Dorothy, Jitneyed out last Sunday evening to visit at the Dressor home in Cameron City.

The Dressor family had spent the day and dined with the Ellsworths at Wild wood Nook, at Moores Station so were in a pleasant mood for company.

Mrs. S. A. Huston and Miss Mildred are guests of their relatives the Dickson family in Longwood this week.

Mrs. C. C. Morris and children, Alton, Edna and Alice are spending a month at Ft. Lauderdale with her brother, John Ingram and family.

Mrs. J. C. Vaughn and daughter Gertrude of Celery Ave have returned from several weeks visit with her cousins in Jacksonville.

Mrs. I. D. Hart and daughter and Mrs. Pitts spent wednesday in Geneva with relatives.

Mrs. Annie Cleveland Duke is leaving for her home in Fowlestown, Ga., on Friday. She has been the guest of the Marshalls in Cameron City for some time and was a former resident there.

Mrs. M. G. Powell and children from the West Side were recent visitors at I. D. Hart's home in Beck Hammock.

Mrs. L. M. Luena is happy to be able to be about again after her illness. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miller have given her several outings in their car.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Jackson have bought from B. A. Howard what is known as the Avins place on Beardall Ave and will take possession soon. The Jacksons came here from Charleston, S. C. last year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Knight have moved to the Thrasher farm north of Beardall ave. on the lake front. Mr. Knight will share crop this season.

B. E. Collier will move from the Mrs. Symes place formerly the Cust chicken farm, to the Sgyder farm in Mecca Hammock.

All the rain we ever saw before were only gentle showers compared with the rain of last Friday. It did a great amount of damage to seed beds. Several out here were damaged and a number on Celery Ave lost several entire beds. Young chickens were drowned and much other damage done.

Our mail carrier Mr. Green' Route 3 thinks the West Side Items of last week gave him an injustice. On account of the funeral of the regular carrier's Mr. Thomas' mother on that day, Mr. Green was engaged to drive the mail around in his car while another man accompanied him to do the delivering of the mail. Of course there was necessity for some hurry, as he had to make his regular trip on route 3 before starting on Route 2, but as to leaving or taking up mail he had nothing to do about that. His business that day on Route 2 being solely as driver, we are glad to set Mr. Green right with the public, as he has always been very obliging and painstaking since delivering mail on this route.

A petition is being circulated to have the remainder of Marquet Ave., opened for travel. Said street begins opposite Prof. Geo. L. Maris residence on Ohio Ave., and is open as far as the Samuel Schwartz home and has been surveyed and some work done on the remainder. It will come out on Beardall Ave., and will make a very attractive drive as the Lake Region is considered very pretty. To say nothing of the convenience to people living both sides of the closed portion.

To Christian Endeavorers
Since our state convention in April where I was elected Secretary of the State Union, I have been trying to get in touch with all Endeavorers and others who are interested in our work. I shall be very glad to give any information or render any service possible. If there is no society in your town, or church, I shall appreciate the opportunity of helping you to organize one, and I stand ready to help in any way, societies now existing. I will greatly appreciate your hearty co-operation.

Please write me of the work in your section, giving names of societies; those to address where societies may be organized, and all information which may be helpful.

I wish to get acquainted with all of our workers though they may not be connected with a society at present.

Please address,
Ruth Coffin,
State Secretary Florida Christian Endeavor Union, Johnstown, Fla.

Knocking the Magazines.

FARM CO-OPERATION.

In Ohio in some of the wide awake counties farmers have united to retain, by law, officers whose business it is to spray all orchards every spring. This is wholly preventive. They spray when the trees are dried, and they never spray on a sunny, hot day with a liquid spray since it burns the plant to do so. This officer knows how and when to spray and which sprays are effective for each kind of insect. For instance, poisons which are effective for one sort of pest do not hurt stinging or boring or sucking insects. In this way a competent or expert man earns his salary and the farmer need not trouble his head with these details.

THE HESSIAN FLY.

Do Not Burn Wheat Stubble or Straw to Destroy It.

(Prepared by Kansas State Agricultural college.)

Don't burn your wheat stubble or straw stacks this summer for the purpose of destroying the Hessian fly. The burning of the stubble or wheat straw in the stacks not only fails to destroy the fly, but will lead to the destruction of organic matter and plant food.

The Hessian fly would not be eradicated by burning because the fly passes its resting stage in the summer not only in the straw and stubble above ground, but also in the crown of the plant, so low that it could not be destroyed by burning. The parasite which preys upon the Hessian fly passes the summer in the fly located in the straw and the stubble above the ground. If the wheatfields are burned the parasite preying on the fly will be killed.

There is no danger of increasing the injury from the Hessian fly by spreading straw as a top dressing upon the field. The top dressing of straw upon the field does not furnish winter protection to the fly. Wheat which has been infested with the jointworm and the greater wheat strawworm in large numbers should not be spread on the field. These insects make their presence known by the large number of white heads in the field. If there was a large number of white heads of wheat in your field do not spread straw on the field. This infested straw, however, may be used as a top dressing on corn ground if the straw be worked into the ground early in the spring.

The best method of controlling the Hessian fly is to prevent the growth of volunteer wheat in summer and fall and to delay the seeding of the wheat until most of the flies have deposited their eggs. The best method of handling wheat ground is to disk the stubble as quickly as possible after harvest and to plow the ground deep after the volunteer wheat starts.

Silage in Summer.

The dairyman who still has silage on hand for use during the summer should consider himself fortunate. There may be many of our readers who are having their first experience in feeding silage. These should bear in mind the fact that exposed silage spoils very quickly in the warm weather. Spoiled silage is not good for any kind of stock, and special precaution should be taken in handling silage during the summer time to prevent spoiling. During the winter time as small a quantity as an inch of silage may be removed daily from the surface without having any spoiling take place. In the summer time a much thicker layer must be removed. For this reason a silo specially designed for summer use should be smaller in diameter than a winter silo for feeding the same number of cattle. Where silage is left over and is being fed during warm weather the use of a tarpaulin on the surface of the silage will save some spoiling. Silage can be fed from one-half of the silo at a time. The purpose of the tarpaulin is to exclude the air from the surface as fully as possible.

"Hair of the Dog."

When a man is debilitated from the effects of the previous night's debauch he is frequently counseled to take "a hair of the dog that bit him," the meaning being that he should take a little of the same kind of liquor that had upset him. The saying is a remnant of an old superstitious belief that the burnt hair of a dog was an antidote against the ill effects of intoxication.

Primitive Matches.

The first matches of which we have any account were thin splinters of wood about four inches long, tipped with sulphur. They were ignited when live coals or other fire were not available by means of a tinder box and its copartner, flint or steel. Fire was first communicated to the tinder by sparks of burning metal struck from the steel by the flint.

The Exploits of Elaine

A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

By ARTHUR B. REEVE

The Well-Known Novelist and the Creator of the "Craig Kennedy" Stories

Presented in Collaboration With the Pathe Players and the Electra Film Company
Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company. All Foreign Rights Reserved.

See the Pictures at The Star Every Wednesday. Admission 5 and 10c

SYNOPSIS.

The New York police are mystified by a series of murders and other crimes. The principal clue to the criminal is the warning letter which is sent to the victims, signed with a "clutching hand." The latest victim of the mysterious assassin is Taylor Dodge, the insurance president. His daughter, Elaine, employs Craig Kennedy, the famous scientific detective, to try to unravel the mystery. What Kennedy accomplishes is told by his friend Jameson, a newspaper man. Enraged at the determined effort which Elaine and Craig Kennedy are making to put an end to his crimes, the Clutching Hand, as this strange criminal is known, resorts to all sorts of the most diabolical schemes to put them out of the way. Each chapter of the story tells of a new plot against their lives and of the way the great detective uses all his skill to save this pretty girl and himself from death.

TWELFTH EPISODE

THE BLOOD CRYSTALS.

"On your right is the residence of Miss Elaine Dodge, who is pursuing the famous master criminal known as the Clutching Hand."

The Barker had been grandiloquently pointing out the residences of noted New Yorkers as the big sight-seeing car lumbered along through the streets.

No one had paid any attention to the unobtrusive Chinaman who sat inconspicuously in the middle of the car. He was Mr. Wong Long Sin, but no one saw anything particularly mysterious about an Oriental visitor more or less, viewing New York city.

Wong was of the mandarin type, with long, drooping mustache, well dressed in American clothes, and conforming to the new customs of an Occidentalized China.

Anyone, however, who had been watching Long Sin would have seen that he showed much interest whenever any of the wealthy residents of the city were mentioned. The name of Elaine Dodge seemed particularly to strike him. He listened with subtle interest to what the Barker said and looked keenly at the Dodge house.

The sight-seeing car had passed the house, when he rose slowly and motioned that he wanted to be let off. The car stopped, he alighted and slowly rambled away, evidently marveling greatly at the strange customs of these uncouth Westerners.

Elaine was going out when she met Perry Bennett almost on the steps of the house.

"I've brought you the watch" remarked Bennett. "Thought I'd like to give it to you myself."

He displayed the watch which he himself had bought a couple of days before for her birthday. He had called for it himself at the jeweler's where it had now been regulated.

"Oh, thank you," exclaimed Elaine. "Won't you come in?"

They had scarcely greeted each other when Long Sin strode along. Neither of them, however, had time to notice the quiet Chinaman who passed the house looking at Elaine through the corner of his eye. He stepped and Wong disappeared down the street.

"Isn't it a beauty?" cried Elaine, holding it out from her as they entered the library, and examining it with great appreciation. "And, oh, do you know the strangest thing happened yesterday? Something Mr. Bennett acts too queerly for anything."

She related how Craig had burst in on her and how she had been almost torn to pieces by the watch.

"Another watch?" repeated Bennett, amazed. "It must have been a mistake. Kennedy is crazy."

"I don't understand it myself," murmured Elaine.

Long Sin was revolving some dark and devious plan beneath his impassive Oriental countenance. He was no ordinary personage. In fact he was astute enough to have no record. He left that to his tools.

This remarkable criminal had established himself in a hired apartment down town.

Long Sin, now in rich Oriental costume, was reclining on a divan smoking a strange-looking pipe and playing with two pet white rats. Each white rat had a gold band around his leg, to which was connected a gold chain about a foot in length and the chains ended in rings which were slipped over Wong's little fingers. Ordinarily he carried the pets up the capacious sleeve of each arm.

A little Chinese girl, also in native costume, entered and bowed deferentially.

"A Miss Mary Carson," she hisped in soft English.

"Let the lady enter," waved Long Sin, with a smile of subtle satisfaction.

The girl bowed again and silently left the room, returning with a handsome, very well-dressed white woman.

It would be difficult to analyze just what the fascination was that Long Sin exercised over Mary Carson. But as the servant left the room, Mary bowed almost as deferentially as the little Chinese girl. Wong merely nodded in reply.

After a moment he slowly rose and took from a drawer a newspaper clipping. Without a word he handed it to Mary. She looked at it with interest, as one woman always does at the picture of another pretty woman. It was a newspaper cut of Elaine, under which was

"ELAINE DODGE, THE HEIRESS, WHOSE BATTLE WITH THE CLUTCHING HAND IS CREATING WORLD-WIDE INTEREST."

"Now," he began at last, breaking the silence. "I'll show you just what I want you to do."

He went over to the wall and took down a curious long Chinese knife from a scabbard which hung there conspicuously.

"See that?" he added, holding it up. Before she could say a word he had plunged the knife, apparently, into his own breast.

"Oh!" cried Mary, startled.

She expected to see him fall. But nothing happened. Wong laughed. It was an oriental trick knife, in which the blade telescoped into the handle.

"Look at it," he added, handing it to her.

Long Sin took a bladder of water from a table near by and concealed it under his coat. "Now, you stab me," he directed.

Mary hesitated. But he repeated the command and she plunged the knife gingerly at him. It telescoped. He made her try it over, and she stabbed him more resolutely. The water from the bladder poured out.

"Good!" cried Long Sin, much pleased. "Now," he added, seating himself beside her, "I want you to lure Elaine here."

I had been amusing myself by rigging up a contrivance by which I could make it possible to see through or rather over a door.

Kennedy, who had been busy at the other end of the laboratory, happened to look over to my direction. "What's the big idea, Walter?" he asked.

It was I admit a rather cumbersome contrivance.

Wong looked at me and explained the purpose of the contrivance through the opening of a door and

Kennedy interrupted with a hearty burst of laughter. "But suppose the door is locked?" he asked.

"I'll take care of that," I explained. "You get the watch and Now, here's what I call my detestable contrivance. Notice of your mirror for me."

"I know," I said somewhat nettled, but what can you see through that

Wong quickly caught her as she fainted and carrying her out of the room, banged shut the door. Elaine followed in a moment, loudly to protest her supposed friend, but found that the door had a top lock on the other side.

She looked at the watch and saw that it was the same watch which she had given to Elaine.

"You see, Miss Dodge," began Mary, "we're getting up this movement to help the Belgians and we have splendid backing. Just let me show you some of the names on our committee."

She handed Elaine a list. "I've just been sent to see if I can't persuade you to join the committee and attend a meeting at Mrs. Rivoton's," she went on.

"Why—er—" considered Elaine, thoughtfully. "er—yes. It must be all right with such people in it."

"Can you go down with me now?" "Just as well as later," agreed Elaine.

They went out together, and as they were leaving the house a man who had been loitering outside looked at Elaine, then fixedly at her companion.

No sooner had they gone than he sped off to a car waiting around the corner. In the dark depths was a sinister figure, the master criminal himself. The watcher had been an emissary of the Clutching Hand.

"Chief," he whispered eagerly, "you know Adventurous Mary? Well, she's got Elaine Dodge in tow!"

"The deuce!" cried Clutching Hand. "Then we must teach Mary Carson, or whoever she is working for, a lesson. No one shall interfere with our affairs. Follow them!"

Elaine and Mary had gone downtown, talking animatedly—walking down the avenue toward Mrs. Rivoton's apartment.

Meanwhile, Wong Sin, still in his Chinese costume, was explaining to another male servant just what he wished done, pointing out the dagger on the wall and placing the bladder under his jacket. A box of opium was on the table, and he was giving most explicit directions. It was into such a web that Elaine was being unwittingly led by Mary.

Entering the hallway of the apartment, Mary rang the bell.

The servant opened the door and Elaine and Mary entered. He closed the door and almost before they knew it was gone into the back room.

Elaine gazed about in trepidation, but before she could say anything, Mary, with a great show of surprise, exclaimed: "Why, I must have made a mistake. This isn't Mrs. Rivoton's apartment. How stupid of me!"

They looked at each other a moment. Then each laughed nervously, as together they started to go out of the door. It was locked!

Quickly they ran to another door. It was locked also.

Just then the Chinaman entered and stood a moment gazing at them. They turned and Elaine recalled from him Wong bowed.

"Oh, sir," cried Mary, "we've made a mistake. Can't you tell us how to get out?"

"No speak English," he said, adding that he would lead them to the door and unlock it.

Elaine and Mary looked at each other in dismay.

What shall we do, asked Elaine. Mary said nothing, but with a hairy grin, she pointed to the wall. It was covered with a network of pipes and wires.

Wong gave a glance of almost a peremptory dread at the man.

She will be back in here now," he added, opening the door at a knock and admitting her.

Adventurous Mary had hurried back to see that all was right. This time Mary was genuinely scared at the forbidding figure of which she had heard.

It is all right," parried Wong. "Henceforth we work with the honorable Clutching Hand."

At home at last, Elaine sank down into a deep library chair and stared straight ahead. She saw visions of arrest and trial, of the terrible electric chair with herself in it, bound, and the voice of the fatal official.

Wong, who had been waiting in the laboratory, came forward, bowed, and buried her face in her hands and wept.

Then she could stand it no longer. She had not taken off her street clothes. She rose and almost fled from the house.

Elaine and I were sitting in the laboratory when a knock sounded at the door. I went to the door and opened it. There stood the Chinaman.

Wong bowed and then she buried her face in her hands and wept.

room. There Mary looked at the motionless body on the floor and recoiled, horrified.

Elaine noticed some spots on her hands, and, seeing that they were stained by the blood of Long Sin, wiped the spots off on her handkerchief, dropping it to the floor.

"Ugh!" exclaimed a guttural voice behind them.

It was the servant who had come in.

"You kill him—with knife!" instructed the Chinaman.

Elaine was dumb. The servant did not wait for an answer, but hastily opened the hall door.

To Elaine it seemed that something must be done quickly. A moment and all the house would be in uproar.

Instead, he placed his finger on his lips. "Quick—no word," he said, leading the way to the hall door, "and—oh, you must not leave that—it will be a clue," he added, picking up the bloody handkerchief and pressing it into Elaine's hand.

They quickly ran out into the hall. "Go—quick!" he urged again, "and hide the handkerchief in the bag. Let no one see it!"

He shut the door. As they hurried away Elaine breathed a sigh of relief. They had reached the street. Afraid to run, they hurried as fast as they could until they turned the first corner.

They pressed each other's hands and parted.

Meanwhile in the front room Long Sin was on his feet again, brushing himself off and mopping up the blood.

"It worked very well, Sam," he said to the servant.

They were conversing eagerly and laughing and did not hear a noise in the back room.

A sinister figure had made its way by means of a fire escape to a rear window that was not barred, and silently he had stolen in on them.

They turned at a slight noise and saw him. Genuine fright was now on their faces as they looked at him, open-mouthed.

What's all this?" he growled. "I am known as the Clutching Hand. I allow no interference with my affairs. Tell me what you are doing here with Elaine Dodge."

Their bodily almond eyes flashed fear. The Clutching Hand moved menacingly. There was nothing for the astute Wong Long Sin to do but to submit.

With a low bow, Wong spread out his hands in surrender and submission.

I will tell you, honorable sir," he said at length.

Go on," growled the criminal. Quickly Wong rehearsed what had happened from the moment the idea of blackmail entered his head.

How about Mary Carson?" asked Clutching Hand. "I saw her here."

Wong gave a glance of almost a peremptory dread at the man.

She will be back in here now," he added, opening the door at a knock and admitting her.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

putty blower? A keyhole is just as good."

"Do you realize how little you can really see through a keyhole?" he replied confidently. "Try it over there."

I did, and, to tell the truth, I could see merely a little part of the hall. Then Kennedy inserted the detectable.

"Look through that," he directed. I put my eye to the eye piece and gazed through the bulging lens of the other end. I could see almost the whole hall.

Elaine was playing with Rusty when Jennings brought in a card on which was engraved the name, "Miss Mary Carson," and underneath in pencil was written "Helystan Bullock Committee."

"How interesting," commented Elaine, rising and accompanying Jennings into the drawing room. "I wonder what she wants?"

"Very pleased to greet you, Miss Carson," she greeted her, visitor.

A Big Sea-Board Mortgage

New York, Monday
Directors of the Seaboard Air Line Railway met in Baltimore today to take action on a comprehensive financial plan which involves a reorganization of the company with the execution of a refunding mortgage authorizing an issue of $3,000,000 bonds, of which there will be issued at once $25,643,000, $2,750,000 of which will be retained in the treasury.

The balance of the issue, $22,893,000 of 6 per cent, thirty year gold bonds, has been sold to a banking syndicate headed by the Guaranty Trust Company, The National City Bank, The Chase National Bank and the Bankers Trust Company of New York, the Continental Trust Company of Baltimore and other financial institutions in the leading cities of the country.

The new company will be known as the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company. The plan of reorganization has been worked out by S. Davies Warfield, chairman of the Seaboard directorate. It is said that the financial structure of the road will be so remodelled as to enable it to obtain the best financial results in the sale of its securities.

Announcement of the plan was made today by chairman Warfield in part as follows.
"The Seaboard Air Line Railway will be consolidated with the Carolina, Atlantic & Western Railway under the corporate name of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company. The Carolina, Atlantic & Western Railway is a recent consolidation of the North & South Carolina, Charleston Northern and South Carolina Western railroads—operating a total of 416 miles. The Carolina Atlantic & Western Railway recently acquired the Georgetown & Western Railroad operating from Lanes to Georgetown S. C. and from Andrews to the Pee Dee River, S. C. a distance of seventy miles.

"The Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, the new company, will have its first and consolidated mortgage securing an authorized issue of $300,000,000 bonds of variable interest rates and maturities. This mortgage will be immediately a first lien on the 416 miles of main line track between Hamlet and Savannah, via Charleston, Lanes and Georgetown, S. C. and on the lines running from McBee, S. C. located on the Hamlet-Columbia line to Florence, Poston, Sumpter and Timmonsville, S. C. There will be pledged as collateral under the new mortgage a majority, $22,361,000, of the outstanding refunding bonds of the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

"There will be presently issued under the new first and Consolidated Mortgage $22,893,000 of 6 per cent, thirty year gold bonds; part are to be used in exchange for bonds of constituent properties; the balance has been sold, the proceeds to be used for construction of the new line from Charleston to Savannah, for the retirement of equipment trust obligations falling due during the year ending June 30 1916, for the retirement of the $6,000,000, three year notes due March 1, 1916, and for the acquisition of certain new property, for improvements and betterments.

Marguerite Clark in the Goose Girl at the Star Theatre, Friday Matinee and Night
"The most beautiful idyllic romance ever produced for the screen is not too enthusiastic a description for Jesse L. Lasky's picturization of Harold McGrath's famous novel, 'The Goose Girl' with dainty Marguerite Clark in the title role. The work was so obviously suited to Miss Clark's charm and personality that the Lasky Company made arrangements to present her in this one offering by special courtesy of the Famous Players Film Company.

Of course Gretchen the Goose Girl, is not a goose girl at all but the Princess of Ehrenstein, only child of the Grand Duke of that country, and has been stolen by gypsies in her infancy. This is all due to a pot conceived and executed by Von Herbeck, the chancellor to the Grand Duke, who seeks to put his own daughter in the place of the stolen Princess.

There is a King in the story, and he is the ruler of the neighboring country of Jugenheid. In order to prevent war between the two principalities, he is betrothed to marry the false princess (Von Herbeck's daughter) whom he has never seen. But the King is young and romantic, and revolts at the procedure. In the events that follow the King rescues the little Goose Girl from insult and falls in love with her. However, it appears that it is impossible for him to marry a peasant girl, and he finally consents to marry the Princess after all. But by that time the Goose Girl has been identified as the real scion of royalty, and in the Princess of Ehrenstein the King of Jugenheid finds to his surprise and joy, the woman of his choice.

Miss Clark assumes the role of the little Princess whose lot it is to tend the geese of the peasant foster-parents. Monroe Salisbury appears as the frank, democratic and warm-hearted king. Other leading members of the company are Sidney Deane, E. N. Dunbar, James Neill, L. Payten, P. E. Peters, H. B. C. Carpenter, Ernest Joy, J. M. Cassidy, Miss Johnson and Jane Darwell.

"The Goose Girl is produced by the Lasky Company through an arrangement with the publishers of the book, The Holy Merrill Company.

WHAT ALFALFA NEEDS
Soil Free From Weeds, Plenty of Lime and Good Drainage.
Nine years ago I was seized with a strong desire to raise alfalfa. This was in Pennsylvania. After reading the "Method of Procedure" which brought success to others, I thought it an easy matter to secure a crop, so I decided to try it on a small scale, writes a correspondent of the Farm and Fireside. I followed the plans described, sent to Washington for "bacterial culture," put on 500 pounds of burnt lime to the acre, sowed the seed in July and waited for it to grow into real money. It grew well that fall and covered the ground through the winter. The next spring it turned yellow and died. My loss was $50 or more. I blamed the failure on the culture and the small amount of lime applied.

Nine years ago I was seized with a strong desire to raise alfalfa. This was in Pennsylvania. After reading the "Method of Procedure" which brought success to others, I thought it an easy matter to secure a crop, so I decided to try it on a small scale, writes a correspondent of the Farm and Fireside. I followed the plans described, sent to Washington for "bacterial culture," put on 500 pounds of burnt lime to the acre, sowed the seed in July and waited for it to grow into real money. It grew well that fall and covered the ground through the winter. The next spring it turned yellow and died. My loss was $50 or more. I blamed the failure on the culture and the small amount of lime applied.

In 1910 I tried it again, putting in three-fourths of an acre. I plowed the ground in April, top dressed it with good manure, gave the piece frequent harrowings through April, May and June and put on one ton of burnt lime. I sent away for inoculating soil taken from an old alfalfa field. I paid 77 cents a hundred pounds for it besides the freight. This soil was scattered over the piece by hand. Next I applied phosphate fertilizer, and in July sowed the seed. This piece caught well, and we have mowed it every year since.

In 1911 another piece of two and one quarter acres was added to this, making about three acres in both pieces. I followed the same plan in putting in this piece.
Next I applied two tons of ground limestone to the acre. Then I procured 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 300 pounds of bone meal and 200 pounds of 0-10-16 fertilizer, mixed them together and sowed this evenly over the piece and harrowed thoroughly. Then in July I sowed twenty-five pounds of alfalfa to the acre. It grew well, and last season I mowed it three times and got fifteen loads of nice alfalfa from the three acres.

You will notice that it is a great deal of trouble to get the crop started, but it is well worth the efforts put forth, as alfalfa is worth nearly as much as bran, ton for ton. To be successful in getting the crop started four things must be complied with: (1) Soil free from weeds or weed seeds; (2) soil made sweet with lime; (3) soil well under drained, and (4) soil containing organic matter and supplemented with nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

"CELERY SEED"
THE VERY FINEST STRAIN OF GENUINE GOLDEN SELF-BLANCHING FRENCH GROWN
This seed is new stock and imported direct from France by us to be used in the Manatee section, in which locality we have sold as much Celery Seed for the last three seasons as any one firm in the country, which within itself speaks for the quality of the seed. But owing to the unfavorable conditions that prevail in the above mentioned section for planting Celery, we see that we will not be able to place our entire stock. But in an effort to dispose of this seed we are going to make a sacrifice price of $14 per pound, quarter pound at pound rate. We have never before sold a pound of this seed for less than $20.00. There is no better Celery Seed imported to this country, and as best evidence, we will, if desired, refer you to dozens of the best growers who have used our Celery Seed.

Old Jupe Pluvius missed us for a day. What is going to happen?
Have you seen the new Sanford Directory? It is some book and makes Sanford real civified.

The heavy rains of the past thirty days are talking for good roads much better than any other advocates.

The Sanford growers will plant as much celery this season as ever if the seed beds are any indication of the crop.

Some people here are seeing that strange light in the eastern sky at night and they have told us about it. Well, it may be a German Zeppelin and then again it may not be.

Sanford needs about three apartment houses and several more rooming houses. The New Seminole is receiving favorable comment all over the state.

People here from Tampa state that Sanford gets more ice for the money than Tampa. Probably takes more ice for the brewery in Tampa and ordinary people get left.

Tampa was the host for the boards of trade of South Florida yesterday and as usual Tampa was there with the goods. Sorry that we could not be there to give Rube Allen a hair cut.

There is trouble again over the route of the Dixie Highway Association and the two Florida commissions are at a variance about the Central Route. We care not where the commissioners think it will go for with the brick roads of Seminole county the greater part of the travel will come this way and not even the Dixie Highway Commission can change it. No, not even Orlando.

SANFORD'S POPULATION
The new city directory is out and after a careful canvass of the city the solicitor found that there are 6,700 people within our city limits, which is going some for Florida. The new directory is a compendium of useful information and the Piedmont Directory Co., of Asheville are to be commended. The work was compiled by Miller and Mayfield and is most thoroughly done, although there may be mistakes in it and some kicks that have not come to the surface. All directories miss a few people here and there but we believe that as a whole the new directory is one of the most complete and one of the best that this city has ever issued. The edition will be on sale at the Herald office after the collector has finished and every business house should have a copy.

STAY-AT-HOME-MOVEMENT
That the summer stay-at-home movement, inaugurated by the Times during the spring months and championed by other daily and weekly newspapers in all sections of Florida, has proven a success and a source of benefit to the state has been evident for several weeks.

Several thousand people who have spent previous summers at resort places in other states have remained at home this summer, thereby keeping thousands of dollars in the state and getting more joy out of staying at home or patronizing nearby resorts than they would have gained by crossing Florida's boundary line.

The Sanford Herald, in commenting upon this fact says.
"The stay-at-home movement has struck Sanford this summer and most of our people have spent the summer here in Sanford. Strange to say, they have had a better time and feel just as good as if they had chased to the north and come back here to get cool. There has been plenty of amusement and Sanford has reaped the benefit of the money that otherwise would have been spent in some other city."

Aunt Becky's trials are a pathetic farce. You can't help but feel sorry for her, at the same time you are splitting your sides with laughter. See her in "Mr. Bob at Imperial Theatre.

Dinner Party

In honor of the ninety-sixth birthday of her husband, Mrs. W. P. Carter entertained with a charming little dinner party on Thursday of this week. Mr. Carter is so spry and youthful in both manner and appearance that one can scarcely believe that he has attained the dignity of such a ripe old age. Personal youth, good nature and high living have their reward and Mr. Carter is a shining example to the rising generation.

At one-thirty a tempting six-course dinner was served, the table with its dainty appointments being very attractive, centered by a tall vase of cut flowers and ferns.

Enjoying the gracious hospitality of the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wheeler, and Mrs. T. W. Lawton of Oviedo and Mr. J. H. Lee Jr., of Sanford.

Mystery Club

A joyous enthusiasm prevailed at the Mystery meeting on Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. W. P. Carter was the charming hostess.

Mrs. Carter develops many original and delightful little ways for entertaining and upon this occasion calling in the "brownies" to her assistance, the meeting proved to be one of the gayest this band of original spirits have enjoyed together.

The "Brownies" with their fat, puffy rides and funny little faces added much to the enjoyment of the guests. The "Spooks" and Egyptian mummies retired into the background and gave over the fun-making to the queer little group from Gnome land who were introduced by a bevy of bright attractive lads and lassies. Very sedately, and with the grace and dignity of their elders, John Lawton, Walter Carter, Jr., Katherine and Elizabeth Lawton presented the Brownies to each guest in turn. One by one the little brown people disappeared and with the vanishing act the children also departed. A "pattern" contest afforded much amusement. Square pieces of newspaper were given each guest who was told to tear out a pattern of the next piece of fancy work she expected to perpetrate after which each piece of art was numbered and the designs guessed. At the conclusion of the guessing contest Mr. Deane Turner proved to be the winner and was presented with a lovely, fragrant bouquet of daisies. Dainty refreshments were served including the "Brownies."

In Honor of Miss Waldron

The Misses Packard entertained most delightfully Thursday evening in honor of Miss Katherine Waldron of Tampa, who is the attractive house guest of Miss Clara Walker.

Various games were enjoyed throughout the evening, the game Rook taking a prominent part. Delicious refreshments were served consisting of sandwiches, cakes and fruit punch.

Those present were: Misses Clara Walker, Ruth Vaughn, Ethel Moughton, Katherine Waldron, Alice Tomlinson, Alice Frank, Elizabeth Musson, Annie Mae Pope, Etta Mae Barrett, Bertha, Marion and Hazel Packard. Messrs. Elton Moughton, Howard Gilbert, Fred Gilbert, Frazier Armstrong, Arthur Vaughn, Roy Drinkard, Frank Roper, Ed South and Percy Packard.

Dinner at Beach

Being ordered by the doctor to take the salt air, a bunch of invalids made a trip to the coast Tuesday afternoon and spent the night there returning Wednesday afternoon. The party took a plunge in the salt water pool that evening because their doctor thought the breakers were too rough for their debilitated constitutions, and after the plunge they had light refreshments and some nourishment at the Seaside Inn, which has become famous as a sanitarium and rest cure for invalids. The crowd then went by easy stages to the Automobile Club where slow music by the Daytona orchestra allowed the invalids the languid movements so peculiar to the new dances.

Light refreshments consisting of beef tea, baked hay and other sea foods were served early in the evening. Later the chef discovered that the invalids were improving in health and served a choice collation of everything that the club affords and anyone who has been at the club knows that the steward has the goods and knows how to serve the best that the market can supply. Dancing was indulged in until the orchestra fell asleep and after that the party returned to the hotel very much refreshed by the ride on the beach.

It was a lovely night and the mosquitoes were biting fine. With no apparent effort on their part, Dr. Butt and L. P. McCuller caught several twelve pound mosquitoes with their bare hands. The mosquitoes are especially fine at this time of the year and large catches are reported in the vicinity of the Automobile Club.

Wednesday morning was a busy time with a plunge in the ocean early, then some nourishment, then a plunge in the Nautilus pool, then lunch and home to Sanford where life is still worth living. Only pleasant memories, however, of the beach where the water is wet and the people are as glad to see Sanford folks as they are to see the tourist in the winter. It is said that the land breezes are changing now and when they do the insects will fade away and the Atlantic beaches will be the best places in the world for the people of the interior to visit. There are plenty of amusements, plenty of fishing and plenty of the finest beaches for automobiling in the country.

The Sanford bunch included the following:

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly, Dr. and Mrs. Butts, Mrs. Henry, Misses Saidee Williams, Martha Fox, Messrs. Osborne Herndon, L. P. McCuller, Arthur Yowell and Roy Symes. They were joined at the beach by Meade Fox and W. J. Thigpen and Misses Mabel Bowler and Miss Terry of Jacksonville and Miss Knight, of Daytona Beach.

Party for Little Girls

Tuesday afternoon, thirty-six of Ocala's belles and beaux assembled at the home of Judge and Mrs. W. E. Smith, when little Miss Chuvette entertained from four to six in compliment to her four house guests, little Misses Dorothea Ray, and Pearl Robinson and Master Troy Ray of Sanford and Miss Ulline Garrett of Ocala. The little folks enjoyed immensely a peanut hunt on the lawn, after which they were entertained on the broad veranda, which was very attractive with cut plants, ferns and jardiniere of pot flowers. Games and music were enjoyed by the little folks, after which ices and cakes were served. It was indeed a jolly little crowd and when the hour for departure came, the guests marched into the dining room, where there awaited each, as a souvenir, a gay little ribbon-tied box of candy. The little ones departed reluctantly, each wishing for another party soon - Ocala Star.

A Surprise Party

A pleasant event of Friday evening was the surprise party given for Lucille Anderson of Sanford, Fla., who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. L. Ballentine of East University Ave. The merry youngsters enjoyed a number of games, contests etc. One interesting feature was the hunt for some hidden article, and little Miss Janet Simmons being the lucky finder, was rewarded with a lovely handkerchief. The guest of honor was also presented with a handkerchief. Mrs. Ballentine, assisted by Mrs. E. F. Gardner of High Springs, and Miss Ruth Ballentine of Mayo, served delicious punch wafers and candies, and at a late hour the guests departed wishing the honoree many happy days in Gainesville.

Those enjoying the delightful occasion were, Mary Lee Fowler, Janet Simmons, Averil McMillon, Grace and Maud Ballentine, Lucille

The Exploits of Elaine

A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

By ARTHUR B. REEVE

"No—why?" inquired Elaine anxiously.

"He's a tong man who has been chosen to do away with the prince. He followed me, and says you have done his work for him. If you will give him ten thousand dollars for expenses he will attend to hiding the body."

"Here, at least, was a way out. It is the safest way out of the trouble. Yes, I'll do it. I'll stop at the bank now and get the money."

They rose and Mary preceded her, eager to get away from the house. At the door, however, Elaine asked her to wait while she ran back on some pretext.

Our telephone rang in the middle of our conversation on blood crystals, and Kennedy himself answered it. It was Elaine asking Craig's advice.

"They have offered to hush the thing up for ten thousand dollars," she said in a muffled voice.

She seemed bent on doing it, and no amount of argument from him could stop her. She simply refused to accept the evidence of the blood crystals as better than what her own eyes told her she had seen and done.

"Then wait for half an hour," he answered, without arguing further. "You can do that without exciting suspicion. Then go with her to her hotel and hand her over the money."

"All right—I'll do it," she agreed.

"What is the hotel?"

Craig wrote on a slip of paper what she told him—"Room 509, Hotel La Coste."

Hastily he threw on his street coat. "Go into the back room and get me a brace and bit, Walter," he said.

I did so. When I returned I saw that he had placed the detectoscope and some stuff in a bag. He shoved in the brace and bit also.

"Come on—hurry!" he urged.

We must have made record time in getting to the La Coste. It was an ornate place, where merely to breathe was expensive. We entered, and by some excuse Kennedy contrived to get past the vigilant bell-hops. We passed the telephone switchboard and entered the elevator, getting off at the fifth floor.

With a hasty glance up and down the corridor, to make sure no one was about, Kennedy came to Room 509, then passed to the next room, 511, opening the door with a skeleton key.

Quickly Craig went to the door which led to the next room. It was, of course, locked also. He listened a moment carefully. Not a sound. Quickly, with an exclamation of satisfaction, he opened that door also and went into 509.

This room was much like that in which we had already been. He opened the hall door.

"Watch here, Walter," he directed. "Let me know at the slightest alarm."

Craig had already taken the brace and bit from the bag and started to here through the wall in Room 511, selecting a spot behind a picture of a Spanish dancer—a spot directly back of her snapping black eyes. He finished quickly and inserted the detectoscope so that the lens fitted as an eye in the picture. The eye-piece was in room 511. Then he started to brush up the pieces of plaster on the floor.

"Craig," I whispered hastily as I heard an elevator door, "someone's coming!"

He hurried to the door and looked. "There they are," he said as he saw Elaine and Mary rounding the corner of the hall.

Across the hall, although we did not know it at the time, in room 540, already Wong Sin had taken up his station, just to be handy. There he had been with his servant, playing with his two trained white rats.

Wong placed them up his capacious sleeves and carefully opened the door to look out. Unfortunately he was just in time to see the door of 509 open and disclose us.

We hurried into 511 and shut the door.

Kennedy mounted a chair and applied his eye to the detectoscope. Just then Mary and Elaine entered the next room, Mary opening the door with a regular key.

"Won't you step in?" she asked. Elaine did so and Mary hesitated in the hall. Wong Sin had slipped out on noiseless feet and taken refuge behind some curtains. As he saw her alone, he beckoned, to Mary.

"There's a stranger in the next room," he whispered. "I don't like him. Take the money and as quickly as possible get out and go to my apartment."

At the news that there was a suspicious stranger about Mary showed great alarm. Everything was so rapid now that the slightest hesitation meant disaster. Perhaps by quickness even a suspicious stranger could be fooled, she reasoned. At any rate, Wong Sin was resourceful. She had better trust him.

Mary followed Elaine into the room, where she had seated herself already, and locked the door.

"Have you the money there?" she asked.

"Yes," nodded Elaine, taking out the package of bills which she had got from the bank during the half-hour delay.

All this we could see by gazing alternately through the detectoscope. Elaine handed Mary the money. Mary counted it slowly. At last she looked up.

"It's all right," she said. "Now, I'll take this to that tong leader. He's in a room only just across the hall."

She went out.

Mary had just succeeded in getting on the elevator as Kennedy hurried down the hall. The door was closed and the car descended. He rang the push bell furiously, but there was no answer.

He dashed back to the room with us and jerked the telephone receiver. "Hello—hello—hello!" he called.

There seemed to be no way to get a connection. What was the matter?

He hurried down the hall again. Down in the hotel lobby, with his follower, the Chinaman paused before the telephone switchboard, where two girls were at work.

"You may go," ordered Wong, and, as his man left, he moved over close to the switchboard.

Just as a call from 509 flashed up, Wong slipped the rings off his little fingers and loosened the white rats on the telephone switchboard itself.

With a shriek the telephone system of the Coste went temporarily out of business.

Kennedy had succeeded in finding the alcove of the floor clerk in charge of the fifth floor. There on his desk was an instrument having a stylus on the end of two arms, connected to a system of magnets. It was a telautograph.

Unceremoniously Craig pushed the clerk out of his seat and sat down himself. It was a last chance, now that the telephone was out of commission.

Downstairs in the hotel office, where the excitement had not spread to every one, was the other end of the electric long-distance writer.

It started to write, as Kennedy wrote, upstairs:

"House Detective—quick—hold woman with blue chateleine bag, getting out of elevator."

The clerks downstairs saw it and shouted above the din of the rat-baiting.

"McCann—McCann!"

The clerk had torn off the message from the telautograph register and handed it to the house man, who pushed his way to the desk.

Quickly the detective called to the bell-hops. Together they hurried after the well-dressed woman who had just swept out of the elevator. Mary had already passed through the excited lobby and out, and was about to cross the street—safe.

McCann and the bell-hops were now in full cry after her. Flight was useless. She took refuge in indignation and threats.

But McCann was obstinate. She passed quickly to tears and pleadings. It had no effect. They insisted on leading her back. The game was up.

"Here," cried Kennedy, "take her up in the elevator. I'll prove the case."

"Now—not a word of who she is in the papers, McCann," Kennedy concluded, referring to Elaine. "You know, it wouldn't sound well for the La Coste. As for that woman—well, I'll get the money back. You can take her off—make the charge."

As the house man left with Mary I handed Craig his bag. We moved toward the door, and as we stood there a moment with Elaine, he quietly handed over to her the big roll of money.

If he had been less of a scientist, he might have understood the look on her face, but, with a nod to me, he turned and went.

As she looked first at him, then at the paltry ten thousand in her hand, Elaine stamped her little foot in vexation.

"I'm glad I didn't say anything more," she cried. "No—no—he shall beg my pardon first—there!"

Game Law Enforced

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—With the approach of the open season for shooting wild fowl, the United States department of agriculture is warning sportsmen that the federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be strictly enforced.

Some misunderstanding has arisen from the fact that the various state laws do not always conform to the federal regulations. This is regarded as unfortunate but in such cases the department must insist upon the observance of the federal regulations.

The department will consider any recommendations submitted in good faith for amendments of the regulations, but will hold to public hearings thereon nor will it amend the regulations prior to October 15, 1915. It is the purpose of the department to conform the regulations to the wishes of the majority of sportsmen so far as it can be done and at the same time give wild fowl the necessary protection.

Federal regulations divide the United States into two zones. Zone No. 1, the breeding zone, includes the states of Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and all states north of them.

Zone No. 2, the wintering zone, including all states south of those named. The regulations prescribe seasons as follows: In zone No. 2, which includes the southern states.

Waterfowl, October 1 to January 16; exceptions, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, November 1 to February 1; Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, November 20 to February 16; Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, September 15 to February 1; Arizona, California, Texas, October 15 to February 1.

Rails, Coots, Gallinules, September 1 to December 1; exceptions, Tennessee, Utah, October 1 to December 1; Missouri, September 15 to January 1; Louisiana, November 1 to February 1; Arizona, California (coots), October 15 to February 1.

Woodcock, November 1 to January 1; exceptions, Delaware, Louisiana, November 15 to January 1; West Virginia, October 1 to December 1; Georgia, December 1 to January 1.

Shore Birds, black-breasted and golden, Plover, Jacksnipe, Yellowlegs, September 1 to December 16; exceptions, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, November 20 to February 1; Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee, October 1 to December 16; Arizona, California, October 15 to February 1; Utah (snipe), October 1 to December 16; Utah (plover and yellowlegs), September 1, 1918.

Insectivorous birds protected indefinitely. Band-tailed pigeons, cranes, swans, curlew and smaller shore birds protected until September 1, 1918; wood ducks in Kansas and West Virginia, rails and wood ducks in California and woodcock in Missouri are also protected until September 1, 1918.

Shooting prohibited between sunset and sunrise, or at any time on the Mississippi river between Minneapolis and Memphis, after January 1, 1915.

Remembered the Force

Editor Jan. McComb of the Florida Grower News, who is in New York, remembered the Herald force last Friday by a shipment of straw hats in which all the boys were supplied with new top pieces. The hats are of the finest quality and the Herald force is some dressed up now. We acknowledge the same with thanks and still believe that Mac is the best ever.

LEO FRANK HUNG BY MOB LAST NIGHT

75 MEN STORMED MILLEDGEVILLE PRISON AND TOOK FRANK OUT ---HANGED TO TREE NEAR MARIETTA WHERE CHAPTER ENDS

The last chapter in the Frank case is ended. A mob broke into the penitentiary last night and at one o'clock this morning the body of Frank was suspended from the limb of a tree at Marietta, about thirty miles from the prison at Milledgeville and filled with bullets. The particulars of the storming of the well fortified penitentiary by the mob of about seventy five men and the taking of Leo Frank from the place will be told when the full particulars can be learned. At the hour of going to press the details cannot be gathered by wire. Frank was attacked by a fellow prisoner a few weeks ago and his throat cut from ear to ear. He was in the hospital at the time of his seizure by the mob and his recovery was thought to be doubtful, the work of the mob only hastening the end and assuaging their thirst for the blood of Frank.

MARIETTA, GA., AUG. 17, 1915. A SMALL MOB TOOK LEO FRANK FROM THE STATE PRISON FARM AT MILLEDGEVILLE LAST NIGHT AND BROUGHT HIM NEARLY ONE HUNDRED MILES ALMOST WITHIN SIGHT OF THE FORMER HOME OF MARY PHAGAN, THE GIRL HE IS CONVICTED OF KILLING, AND HANGED HIM TO A TREE. NO SHOTS WERE FIRED.

THE BODY WAS BARE-FOOTED, CLOTHED ONLY IN PRISON TROUSERS. SHIRT FOUND TWO MILES FROM HERE AT EIGHT-THIRTY THIS MORNING. IT IS BELIEVED THAT THE LYNCHING TOOK PLACE ABOUT DAYLIGHT WHILE THE OFFICERS WERE SEARCHING THE COUNTRY ABOUT MILLEDGEVILLE LAST NIGHT. AFTER THEIR RETURN SOME MACHINES AND OFFICERS STARTED OUT ON THE ROAD THEY BELIEVED THE AUTOMOBILES TRAVELLED AND FOUND THE BODY ABOUT ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY YARDS FROM THE ROAD. THE NEWS SPREAD RAPIDLY AND SOON HUNDREDS WERE GOING TO THE SCENE. AT NINE-FIFTEEN NO EFFORT HAD BEEN MADE TO CUT THE BODY DOWN.

MILLEDGEVILLE—THE MOB WAS VERY METHODOICAL. THEY CUT THE WIRES TO MILLEDGEVILLE AND ALL BUT ONE FROM MILLEDGEVILLE. FIVE MEN WENT TO THE HOME OF WARDEN SMITH WHILE OTHERS WENT TO THE HOME OF SUPERINTENDENT BURKES. THEY

FIRE LADDIES ON JOB IN SANFORD

The Herald has contented that Sanford has a fire department of which any city with double the population could be proud and a department that has saved the city much loss in the past few years. The annual statement from the Chief of the Sanford Fire Department are very interesting especially to the tax payers who like to know just how much has been accomplished.

The following statement taken from the records kept on file at the Fire station, may be of interest to the public who bear the expense and would like to know the value of the Department.

During three years or since the beginning of the paid department there has been 82 calls.

The first year there were 28 fires and the value of the immediate property in which they occurred was $27,000 of which $6,000 was lost, mostly on account of a house burning for which no alarm was turned in until too late, also a boat was burned, being out of reach.

The second year there were 29 fires in property valued at $65,600 with a loss of $30,600 mainly fertilizer factory and outlying property, unpreventable losses.

The third year 24 fires occurred. Property valued $32,160 with a loss of $1,750. Consisting of several small damages.

On the whole three years the property affected was valued at $124,600 with a loss of $38,600.

The second year figures were increased by the burning of the fertilizer factory, otherwise it would have been about the same as the first year. The last year loss has been very small being little more than five per cent. Nearly all buildings burned here outlying where there was no water protection and a lack of communication with the Station. No adjacent building has been destroyed, all fires being confined to the places of origin.

The department has responded to all calls promptly. The average time of leaving the Station is 1 3/4 minutes at night and 30 seconds in the day and has never been longer than two minutes in the three years.

The truck and equipment used exclusively has served more than four years and is now in fine condition. The figures given show that it has given a good account of itself but the city is much larger than five years ago and the time is fast approaching if not already at hand when another machine like the present one, but with a pump added, will be necessary.

G. P. PAXTON, Chief.

A GOOD ROADS MEETING HERE NEXT THURSDAY

MADE THEM PRISONERS, AND HANDCUFFED THEM. BURKE WAS FORCED TO GO TO THE GATE NEAREST THE DORMATORY AND THE GUARDS WERE FORCED TO OPEN THE GATE. THE MOB THEN QUICKLY GOT FRANK AND HASTENED AWAY. IT WAS SOMETIME BEFORE THE NEWS GOT TO MILLEDGEVILLE. THE OFFICERS STARTED AT ONCE THE TRAIL WAS LOST FOR HOURS. THE NEWSPAPER MEN WERE PICKED UP AT LITTLE RIVER BRIDGE NEAR EATONTON WHERE A FARMER SAID THE MOB HAD STOPPED AND TALKED VERY LOUD AND FIRED MANY SHOTS.

Question Box at Church Service

At the Congregational Church, the pastor has introduced the Question Box at the evening service; either from the floor or by placing it in a box provided for the purpose, a question may be asked a legitimate, honest, truth-seeking question.

It has long been in the pastor's mind that the people should have an opportunity to ask, to seek light, so long as real light is desired, and not simply argument displayed. The church should not merely be the guardian of the truth but also should offer an open forum for the discussion of all topics pertaining to life and its problems. To this end, a few moments of each evening service can be given to this privilege.

New Swimming Pool

J. Musson is building a large swimming pool on his property between second and third streets east of Pine street. The pool is of concrete 57 by 23 feet and will be open with the bath houses all around the sides. A fine flow of water has been found at the pool in a deep well and the pool will be filled daily with fresh sulphur water. The Musson pool will be open to the public Saturday and thereafter will be open every day. On Sunday the pool will not be open until afternoon as Mr. Musson does not wish to interfere with church services.

Off For North Carolina

A merry party of Sanford people left here yesterday for North Carolina where they will be absent for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill with Will Hill left in Hill car and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Carter and Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Butt left in the Carter car and they will make the entire trip by auto stopping at various places of interest enroute.

Fire Saturday Night

The fire department was called to Fourth and Sanford avenue at 8 p. m. Saturday evening on account of a gasoline stove exploding in the pressing club of D. A. Wood. No material damage was done and the fire was extinguished by those present.

Many New Arrivals

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miller yesterday a fine baby boy. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Colbert, a fine baby girl. Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Kanner a fine baby boy.

On the Mound Again

It is good to see the smiling countenance of Raymond Key at the Seminole Bank again after an absence of several weeks. He was at various resorts along the Atlantic in the New England states and had an elegant time.

Col. Jeems Here

Col. James Alexander of Volusia county and one of the big men of the state was in the city today, and paid the Herald office an appreciated call. Jim is out of politics now but he is only resting and will be heard of again in old Volusia.

The office of the Sanford Herald has been screened to keep the flies off Editor Bob Holly's bald head.—Daytona Journal.

CAMPAIGN FOR BONDING WILL OPEN AT THIS MEETING

In order to have the matter of road bonds and road building fully explained to all parties concerned there will be a public meeting in the City Hall next Thursday afternoon August 19th at two o'clock. All the committee members will be present and the exact cost of the contemplated roads, their direction, the cost to the tax payers and all information in connection with the bond issue will be freely discussed. This meeting is called by the Commercial Club to get the people familiar with all points in the matter of roads and road bonds. The great question of the proper materials for the making of permanent roads in Florida, the many great highways contemplated through the state, the gradual awakening of all the counties to the necessity of good roads and the European war bringing many hundreds of new tourists to the state to use the roads make it incumbent for the people of our county to have a mass meeting and discuss the proposition calmly and dispassionately and in a business like manner.

There is nothing to conceal, nothing to keep hidden from the tax payer and an open and free discussion is needed to place the matter in the proper light.

It is hoped that a large crowd will attend the meeting here next Thursday afternoon and that the real campaign for bonds for more good roads will be opened in real earnest.

Had a Spill

Osborn Herndon, Joe DeMont and Sam Younts had a spill on the road between DeLand and Daytona Saturday night. They were going so slow that the hind wheels caught up with the front ones causing the car to slow. Stopping so suddenly caused Joe and Sam to catapult clean over the dash board without touching the carburetor and when the car finally died Osborne was holding the wheel, Joe was running round in circles holding his head and Sam was unconscious. They were finally brought around all right and walked about fifty miles down the road to the convict camp where they obtained mules to pull the car out of the ditch. They arrived in Daytona Beach in time to turn around and come back to Sanford and are now at home looking very much like the returned soldiers from the European war. Joe says it was a defective bridge on the road and he is thinking seriously of suing Volusia county for assault and battery.

Harry Goldstein Here

Hon. Harry Goldstein, banker, business man and legislator of Nassau county was in the city Saturday and Sunday calling on his Sanford friends and looking over the city. Mr. Goldstein is interested in many parts of the state and is a consistent booster for all of Florida but principally for his home city, Fernandina. He is a constructive legislator and has been a member of the Florida for three consecutive sessions where he is looked upon as one of the best in that body of law makers. With Hon. Forest Lake, A. R. Key and R. J. Holly he was taken over the celery delta and was greatly surprised at the many miles of brick roads, the immense crops of hay and corn and vegetables and the signs of thrift on every hand.

Delivering the Directories

J. G. Gallant of Ashville is in the city for several days delivering the new city directories and collecting for the advertisements. He reports great progress and states that there seems to be no depression in this part of Florida. The directories are giving general satisfaction and are the best that have been issued here in several years.

County Commissioner Clark reports the fishing in Howell Lake as being the greatest ever and the folks out there are catching them every day.
