

Rural Common Sense
By Spuds JohnsonLIVESTOCK SHOWS GO ALONG WITH NOTABLE CATTLE IMPROVEMENT

The growth of livestock shows and the increasing interest in these events in Florida during the past decade have developed hand in hand with the very marked improvement in the livestock in this state in this period.

The number of cattle exhibited in these shows has steadily increased from year to year, the number of cattlemen and others attending them has increased, and the quality of the animals shown has steadily improved.

The shows have reflected the improvement of Florida livestock and they also have proven a powerful stimulus to stock raisers to return to their farms and ranches and raise better cattle. For these reasons, the shows have been very valuable to Florida's livestock development.

The Southeastern Fat Stock Show in Ocala and other shows have helped materially to promote the production of high quality livestock in Florida, and those who direct and help to make such events successful are to be commended for their initiative and interest in this phase of the state's agriculture.

Behind the movement which has resulted in such marked improvement of Florida cattle have been much planning, much research, and much hard work by cattlemen and others interested in and working with livestock. Research has provided the cues for cattlemen's instruction and breeding of stock, in feeding, in handling, and in all-round management of their herds. Cattlemen have spent of their time, money, and effort unsparingly to develop their herds, to produce animals that will make good meat and state may be proud.

All of this progress in Florida livestock during the past decade or so has not been achieved easily, but it has been achieved in a surprisingly short period. Development of livestock and the pastures and other things that go with and are necessary to livestock progress is generally considered a gradual proposition, but, considering the things that have been done within the past 15 years, Florida's cattlemen can at least be called "rapid". If not fast workers. For everyone interested in livestock and the state's progress in general, the progress that has been made is indeed gratifying. It is hoped that it will continue.

Ship Brings Cargo Of "Possum Wood"

MOBILE, Mar. 20.—The SS Pointer arrived in port at Mobile yesterday from Latin America, bringing a cargo of "possum wood." Technically, the name for possum wood is rakuda.

The wood was produced and imported by the World Lumber Company of Sarasota, Florida and the president of the company, A. F. Kralik, said it was the first shipment of its kind through the port of Mobile.

The possum wood came from Surinam, Dutch Guiana. The cargo consisted of 95 logs weighing more than 100 tons. Each log is about 30 inches square, and 14 feet long.

The wood is a substitute for white pine.

Children Are Saved By 11 Year Old Girl

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 20.—The quick thinking of an 11-year-old girl probably saved the lives of her two younger sisters and brother yesterday. The youngster, Natalia Moffett, awakened to find fire spreading from the basement of her home in Philadelphia. She sent six-year-old Michael for help and then aroused the four-year-old twins, Barbara and Diane. Michael leaped from a second floor window and called for help while Natalia brought the twins into the room and slammed the door to hold back the smoke.

They were rescued by a woman neighbor and her two sons. During the excitement, Natalia's mother, Mrs. Marie Moffett, was in Atlantic City in a search for a home for the family.

"The Jolson Story" Is Coming To The Ritz

Columbia Pictures' "The Jolson Story," with Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest and Bill Goodwin, opens Saturday at the Ritz Theater. Filmed in Technicolor, this is the long-awaited extravaganza based on the music, the magic and the times of one of America's greatest entertainers.

Proclaimed as a colorful and rhythmic panorama of American show business, the screenplay, written by Stephen Longstreet, carries through nearly 10 years of Jolson's remarkable career. Dramatically revealed are the steps leading to his success.

In New Orleans, he has become tired of the traditional routines of a minstrel show; the new-fangled "blue" music fascinates him, and deep inside he is developing a technique all his own to fully capture the rhythms of jazz. Audiences expect him—he wants to get ever closer to them, to make them feel what he feels in his blood. When he gets his first crack at Broadway, he is ready with his new found style and creates a sensation.

"The Jolson Story" is largely told in music, as might be expected, for no other entertainer has had so many beloved melodies associated with him. We can expect to hear them all in the film, tunes like "Swanee," "You Made Me Love You," "April Showers," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," etc.

Much praise has been heaped on the broad young shoulders of Larry Parks for his performance in the title role. Virtually unknown when the film was born more than three

MEET SCHEDULED

For Commandery of the Knights Templar will meet Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

Years ago, he is being acclaimed today as a top-flight star. The way he has cloaked himself with Jolson's personality in the film is said to be uncanny.

Gorgeous Evelyn Keyes has the romantic lead opposite Parks, and enjoys the flattery of Technicolor once again, having recently appeared in "A Thousand and One Nights" and "Renegades." William Demarest and Bill Goodwin play associates of Jolson who aided him in reaching the top, and should add much to the fun of the film.

Alfred E. Green directed for producer Sidney Skolsky, noted Hollywood columnist. Other favorites in the cast are Ludwig Donath, Scotty Beckett, Tajana Shayne, Jo-Carroll Dennison, John Alexander, Ernest Cossart and the Mitchell Boy-choir."

Duchess Will Make Lecture Tour In U.S.

BY JANE LEADS

WASHINGTON—The Capital's red carpet is getting a bit worn in the middle this season from the well-shod feet of countless distinguished visitors.

New celebrity for whom it will be unveiled will be the Duchess of Marlborough, of Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, Oxfordshire, wife of the tenth Duke of Marlborough.

After spending a few days at the Royal Embassy, the third Englishwoman, who is the leading representative of the Red Cross of Great Britain, will go on a lecture tour of the country. The Duchess has been president of the Oxfordshire Red Cross Society since 1931 and has served on the British Red Cross Society committee since 1933.

The Duchess' mother was Constance Vanderbilt, daughter of William Kissam Vanderbilt, of New York, before her marriage. The Duke is active in civic service in England. In 1936 and 1939 he was appointed a member of the Royal Commission on the Royal Navy.

During the war the Duke showed all her energy and Red Cross activities. She was chairman of the Rural Peoples Section of the Red Cross in 1941 and 1942.

She was considered one of the most popular English ladies, received many honors and was made a Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1946.

Her interest in wartime nutrition led her to contribute to the compilation of special recipes for utilizing "scarcities" as wartime food in England.

One of her specialties is what she calls the "Blenheim Special."

The "Blenheim Special" is a combination of macaroni and cheese, cold meat, grated cheese, onions, margarine and tomatoes—if available."

Mrs. Ormond Lawson Johnston says conditions are pretty good in England these days.

Men's Club Meets With Auxiliaries

In the first of a series of annual meetings the Women's auxiliary and the Men's club of Holy Cross Episcopal Church held a joint meeting on Monday evening at the Parish House. The meeting began at 8:00 P. M. and was presided over by Mr. Joseph Meisch.

A panel discussion with the subject of "What is a Christian Family?" was held during which time cross questioning was conducted by Mrs. Fred Dyson, Mrs. Donald Ball, J. L. Ingle and William Morrison.

The questions brought out the importance of clear cut standards and convictions in a family and the necessity of instilling a sense of responsibility, security and good manners in children.

Rev. Mark T. Carpenter spoke on the relationship of the family to the church and said that it's vital to bring the family into the church as a family.
