Do's and don'ts for launching or loading your boat

Launching Your Boat From A Trailer

· Don't block the boat ramp unnecessarily. Transfer equipment before backing on to the ramp.

 Disconnect trailer lights from tow vehicle. Be sure you allow bulbs enough time to cool down before launching to extend their use.

* Remove all tie-downs except the winch line before backing down the ramp.

 Make sure your drain plug is in.

• The a line to the bow to maintain control of the boat while launching.

 Initially back the boat into the water far enough so that the lower unit of the engine can be lowered and submerged with the boat still on the trailer. As an added precaution always set the parking brake on the towing vehicle. Start the boat's engine with the lower unit submerged. This way, your boat is still on the trailer and if you have engine problems, you can easily retrieve the boat.

 Once the engine is started and sufficiently warmed up. back the trailer further into the water until the boat floats. Undo the winch line, put the boat engine in reverse and back slowly off the trailer.

SCC men win third straight

By Dean Smith SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - The Seminole Community College men's basketball team may be coming of age as it won its third straight game with a 74-60 thumping of Johnson County Community College from Overland Park, Kansas on Saturday at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

The young Raiders pounded the ball inside against the bigger Cavaliers and controlled the contest, moving out to a 36-28 halftime lead and never looking back.

SCC, under first-year head coach Stan Cromartie, has now won three straight games and is now 7.9 on the season despite playing with eight freshmen on its 10 man roster.

"We're getting better and better," said Cromartic, "I think we're going to be all right."

The Raiders will close out their pre-conference schedule with three games this week. On Wednesday, SCC will

 Back the trailer into the water so that approximately two-thirds of the rollers or bunks are submerged in the water. Set the parking brake of the towing vehicle and put it in park or first gear.

Drive the boat onto the trailer far enough so that the winch line can be attached to the bow eye of the boat. Finish pulling the boat on to the trailer by cranking the winch.

* Shut off engine and raise the outboard or stern drive.

Pull the boat out of the water and off the ramp out of the way of others.

 While still at the landing. remove and dispose of all weeds from the boat; remove drain plug and release bilge water.

 Reattach tie-downs and plug in the trailer lights. Check to see that the trailer lights are working before departing.

SHUPS'S SCOOP

Never back down to the boat ramp unless you are ready to immediately launch your boat. Ramp etiquette dictates that boaters load their boats and attend to other matters away from the ramp, and leave it open for people who are ready to launch

FISHING FORECAST

Expect great bass action in the river and in local lakes. Shiners will take most of the lunkers at this time of year. Fish shiners tight to heavy cover such as floating water hyacinths for sure action. Slow trolling with shiners is another deadly tactic. The stretch of river from Puzzle Lake south will be hard to beat.

Sebastian inlet has good action with large flounder. Finger mullet bounced alowly across the bottom will produce flounder to over 12 pounds. Also ex-pect a few redfish, snook and trout.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral has little to report in the way of offshore action due to high seas. Successive cold fronts have resulted in high seas. King mackerel will be on Pelican Flats and there should be a few straggler dolphin and wahoo. Inside the Port, expect flounder and sheepshead.

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO _ So much for the preseason. After getting blown out in its final tuneup before the start of Trans America Athletic Conference play last week, there was a lot of gloom and doom talk. But what a difference a couple of days can make.

Monday night at the UCF Arena, the host Golden Knights got 25 points from Sanford's Brad Traina and raised their record to 2-0 in the TAAC with an 88-70 triumph over preseason conference favorite Georgia State University.

The University of Central Florida had opened conference play on Saturday with a 78-52 thumping of Campbell University from North Carolina.

An oddity on scheduling has the Golden Knights, now 6-6 overall and 2-0 in the TAAC, going to Campbell on Thursday and to Columbus, Georgia to take on the Panthers on Saturday afternoon.

All eight of Traina's field goals came from three-point land, which tied Harry Kennedy's record set at Samford in 1996, He was 8-for-12 on "three's", 8-for-14 overall, including a 6-for-8 effort in the first half that accounted for 19 points.

The senior forward may have broken the record if he had not aat out most of the second half after reinjuring an ankle that had been bothering him for the past few weeks.

D'Quarius Stewart chipped in with 12 points, while Mario Lovett added 11 points and Cory Perry had six points and game-highs in assists (10) and steals (4).

"It was not something you could say in church," said SCC assistant coach Tony Mandeville about the halftime talk after the hosts fell behind, 31-27, at halftime.

Daria candidate All-America Kidruyvtseva really took the speech to heart, ignoring a three-point first half ef-fort to score 14 of SCC's first 19 points in the second half to key the rally.

The loss was the second in as many days for Okaloosa-Walton, which entered the Classic ranked No. 4 in the state with a 9-3 record, after holding a lead at halftime.

On Saturday, OWCC led Central Florida Community College from Ocala, ranked No. 3 in the state, 38-25, only to see the Patriots (13-3) rally for a 79-76 triumph. Also on Saturday, SCC, ranked No. 2 in from Overland Park, Kansas, 89-54, behind a 29 point effort from Satu Ratmesalo.

SCC (14-2) did not have its usual defensive intensity in the first half and OWCC consistently got inside the lane for casy layups by Robinson (10 points) and Shipp (eight).

But the hosts turned up the heat in the second half and Kudruyvtseva, Crystal Tanner and Mevett Wooley forced several turnovers that got the Raiders' running game going.

Kudruyviseva, the sophomore from St. Petersburg, Russia, hit two early three-pointers that gave SCC its first lead of the day and by the time she hit her 14th points of the second half, Seminole had built a 10-point advantage was well on its way to victory.

Kudruyvtseva finished the day with four three-pointers and a game-high 26 points.

Kaisa Tuure, the 6-foot-4 freshman from Imatra, Finland, also had a big second half, scoring 12 of her 15 points.

Also having good all-around game for SCC were 7-foot center Jaana Kotova (seven points, eight rebounds), San-Mevett Wooley (six points, seven assists).

Shernel Donovan (six points). Raimesalo (six points), Tanner (four points) and Christine Bruning (two points) completed the acoring for SCC.

Gallagher and Murphy (12 in the second half) scored 14 points each for Okaloosa-Walton, while Robinson was held to two points in the second half and ended with 12 points. Shipp was scoreless in the second half and finished with eight points.

In Central Florida's victory on Saturday, Okaloosa-Walton was outstanding in the first half, consistently getting the ball inside for easy baskets by Murphy (21 points), Shipp (13), Robinson (12) and Turner (11). But OWCC self-destructed in the second half against the Patriots' full court press and overwhelming size. In addition to the turnovers, Okaloosa-Walton also was horrendous at the free throw line. hitting just 9-of-19 attempts in the second half after making 9of 11 in the first 20 minutes. The outside-inside combo of Patrice Sims and Suste Horvath did the scoring damage for ford's Shemeika Stokes (six CFCC in the second half as points, eight rebounds) and Sims scored all 17 of her points and Horvath all 15 of her markers.

> In addition those two, the other big player for the Patriots, Natasha Zacharova, hit for 13 points and Cookie Jones chipped in with 10.

Tallinn, Finland, scored 14 half points and first Kudruyvtseva eight as SCC took a commanding 37-24 halftime advantage over the visitors from Kansas on Saturday.

That duo kept up the pressure in the second half, Raimesalo scoring 15 points and Kudruyviseva 11 (to finish with 19) and getting help from Tuure, who came back from a slow first half to score 12 second half points and finish with 16.

Donovan (seven), Stokes (aix), Wooley (four), Bruning (three), Kristen Smithers (three) and Kotova (two) completed the Raiders' scoring. Sarah Brock netted 12 for

Johnson County. SCC will next play at home on Saturday, hosting Nassau Community College from Garden City, New York as part of a

Amy & James one year later

For many the big storm late Saturday was a jolting reminder of the killer tornado that struck last February. This one, however nasty, claimed no lives and destroyed no homes.

Among those most grateful are 34-year-old Amy LeFils and her 3-year-old son James.

As the sunlight peaked through the sky Sunday, James was shyly snuggled in his mother's arms outside All Souls Catholic Church before they attended Mass. James was doing fine after being upset somewhat by the thunder the night before.

Lefils and her son had their lives spared a year ago in the terrible twister that suddenly reduced their rural Seminole County trailer home to rubble and took the lives of the boy's pony and pet rabbit.

LeFils said that James remains frightened of thunder and does not like to have water on his head or face - frightening reminders from the night of the tornado when he awoke crying in a pile of debris in the midst of a driving rain.

This wonderful little boy is the reason our lives were spared," LeFils said. "He's the reason we made it. I the reason we made it. I knew then it wasn't me. And I know that now. I believe God has something special planned for James. He kept me alive to one ft." (1997) A community that cares has helped Any and James recover from the cruel tormado. Wine country locals drive with caution

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the wine taster with an alcohol problem prompts this letter. I, too, live in Napa, Calif. — and the letter you ran that described the winery worker's on-the-job alcohol abuse is a dirty little secret here in "wine country.

Should I become injured or killed in an auto accident on local roads, my family knows what to do. I told them to look into the driver's recent whereabouts, and if the driver is a wine tasting-room employee to seek compensation from both the driver and the employer! The same holds true if the driver was a guest at the wine tasting room and is inebriated.

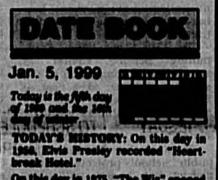

The letter said the woman's supervisor was aware of her drink-ing problem. In my opinion, this makes the winery at least equally responsible in a highway accident - perhaps more so if they have not attempted to resolve the centre.

attempted to resolve the problem. The supervisor should use com-pany money to get the alcoholic employee into a treatment program. There happens to be a premier treatment facility in the heart of

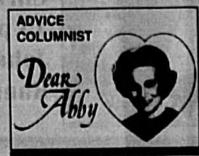

Napa Valley. In the meantime, the worried co-worker should drive herself to work - that is, unless she wants to make her survivors wealthy. AVOIDS THE ROADS

DEAR AVOIDS THE ROAD: DEAR AVOIDS THE ROAD: Tolling your survivors to sue the winery will do nothing to protect yes. For of us can avoid traveling on roads and high-ways, so let me repeat a mee-sage that longtime readers have seen before: If you have been drinking, do not drive. If you are driving, do not drive been do not ride with a driver who has been drinking or using drugs. The biggest liability ast-tisment in history is no com-pensation for the trapedy of last life and limb - and that's the

As you have pointed out, treatment is available. Effec-tive, free self-help programs like Alcoholics Anonymous like Alcoholics Anonymous exist in almost every communi-ty. Telling someone at work, at home, in your neighborhood or your social life that you're con-cerned about his or her sub-stance abuse isn't easy. People in denial usually don't welcome these conversations and may react with anger; however, speaking up instead of remain-ing silent may prevent a terri-ble tragedy.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the woman who wanted to name her son "the third," even though his name won't be identical to his father's or grandfather's. She told you that "English kings do it all the time."

He was also charged with habitually driving with a suspended or revoked driver license, with possession of less than 20 grams of mari-juana, with possession of drug paraphernalia and with miscel-laneous traffic violations. Deputies said they pulled him over for driving erratically and believed he was drunk. When they checked bis driver license, they discovered it had been suschecked his driver license, they discovered it had been suspended 20 times in three years. He was asked to perform a so-briety test but kept trying to give the officers something that was in his pocket. After he failed the sobriety test, they searched him. storm of January 1999. "We didn't know what was happening or how bad it would be," Franchine Mitchem said. "We heard the weather reports carlier in the evening. We heard the tornado warnings. We were in bed when it happened. We're thankful we were not hurt."

A massive tree crashed into the roof over the Mitchems' bedroom, barely missing their bedpost. On Monday, the Mitchems waited for insurance people to come. Meanwhile, county officials roped off an area of the property as unsafe -and off limits to unauthorized personnel.

The winds knocked down a 70-foot tree at a Deltona residence on Atmore Circle. The force of the falling tree cracked the walkway leading to the Ray Osteen's home. His home was not harmed and no one was hurt. "We're the talk of the neighborhood," Osteen told reporters.

For many of the people in the area where the storm had hit, it was an unexpected opportunity to be interviewed by TV report-ers, who invaded the scene on Sunday and again on Monday. "Our 15 minutes of fame," one resident said.
