

Lake Mary Taps Webster

'Strong Minded' Citizens Did The Trick, He Says

Charlie Webster, a retired crane operator from New York, plucked Lake Mary's Commission seat 1 from a confident A.R. "Doc" Jore Tuesday, 277 votes to 156.

Twenty-two percent of Lake Mary's 1,981 registered voters turned out for the one-contest election. Councilmen Arthur "Buzz" Petsos, seat 4, and Kenneth King, seat 5, were elected unopposed.

Seminole County Elections Supervisor Sandy Goad said the voter turnout was about average.

Webster garnered 64 percent of the vote; Jore 36 percent, according to Pearl Anderson elections clerk for Seminole County. The tabulation includes a count of absentee ballots.

A former Maitland city councilman, Jore said Monday he was "confident" he would win the race. Jore had been endorsed by the Orlando Sentinel. Webster said he was sure he "had the support of the people of Lake Mary."

"I am pleased as can be, I am very pleased," Webster said after the official vote was in. "It just goes to show you that some people tend to not give the voter enough credit. The people who supported me are just the greatest and I would be saying this to you now even if I had just lost the election. It was a great experience."

"I would also say that as far outside endorsements go, the people of Lake Mary are strong minded individuals and they don't want to be told how to vote; they made the difference in this race."

Jore said, "Well, I guess Mr. Webster did the best job."

Besides the newspaper backing, a last minute endorsement by a political action committee apparently failed to pull enough voters into Jore's camp.

The Growth Control Committee, a PAC registered in Tallahassee, bought a half-page ad in Sunday's Seminole Sentinel endorsing Jore as a "conscientious person with common sense" and praised his record as a Maitland city council member.

One Webster supporter complained to the Evening Herald that it was not fair that the ad was run two days before the election and that Webster could not have run a counter ad in time.

Ursula West, who lives on Evansdale Road in Lake Mary, said she questions why an out-of-town PAC would be interested in a Lake Mary election. She said she plans to ask the state elections office about the group; how many members it has and what its goals and political philosophy is.

The group's chairman, J.C. Wynn, of Orlando, declined comment about the ad.

Jore said he had no connections with the PAC until August when a representative from the group called him and said it planned to endorse him.

"They called me and said they opposed Mr. Webster and wanted to endorse me...I made no attempt to solicit it. I saw it (the ad) in the paper on Sunday like everybody else," Jore said.

Webster had no comment on the ad.

Oviedo's Whittier Wins Big; Councilmen Squeak In

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Oviedo Mayor Robert Whittier won a third term by a wide margin Tuesday, while winners of two city council seats narrowly edged out their opponents in an election that drew a light turnout of voters.

Incumbent E.P. Bruce nudged out political newcomer David Hartzler by 10 votes — 189 to 179 — for council seat 1. Judith Stout, a homemaker and unsuccessful candidate for mayor in 1983, barely beat Tom O'Hanlon by four votes — 144 to 138 — in the council seat 2 race. A third candidate for seat 2, Debbie Moon, got 81 votes.

With subdivisions popping up all around Oviedo, growth was the key issue in all the races. Virtually all candidates ran on growth-control platforms.

But apparently it wasn't a serious enough issue to get Oviedo voters out to the polls. Of the city's 1,589 registered voters, only 365 or 22 percent cast ballots.

Whittier walked away with another two-year term, grabbing 59 percent of the votes — 216 to 149. The 77-year-old Whittier, reached at home, said his "pre-

Council To Weigh Alternate Gas Tax Distribution Plans

Seminole County's Council of Local Governments is scheduled to meet tonight to discuss alternative allocation procedures for a county commission-approved gas tax.

County commissioners okayed a 2-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax last month, that went into effect Sept. 1, to help finance road construction in Seminole County. The council is slated to discuss ways to distribute revenue from that tax at 7 p.m. in the Sanford City Hall.

One alternative would be to divide the funds according to the amount each city and the county spent on roads over the last five years. In that case the seven cities represented by the council would share 38.91 percent of the revenue from that tax, or about $560,000, according to a report by Eleanor Anderson, County management and budget director. The county's share of the tax would be 61.09 percent or about $1.4 million, she said.

Other forms of allocation could be based on growth of the cities, amounts spent on transportation, the percentage of city budgets spent in the past on transportation, or the

Store, Apartment Plans On Sanford P&Z Agenda

Plans for an auto body repair shop, three apartment complexes, a country store and a church are scheduled to be considered by the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission at its 7 p.m. meeting Thursday at city hall.

Crestview Development Co. is asking for permission to set up an auto body repair shop at 4165 Orlando Drive, which is zoned general commercial district. Because paint and other chemicals are to be used at the facility, the company needs permission from the city to set up shop.

First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church will also be asking the city for permission to build a sanctuary on property that's zoned multi-family residential. The parcel is between 11th and 12th streets and Holly and Maple avenues.

The commission will field questions or comments from the public about either of these requests.

The commission will also discuss site plans for three apartment complexes — Monroe Village, at 101 N. Terwilliger Lane; Reflections of Hidden Lake, Lake Mary Boulevard and Hidden Lake Drive; and Creekside Condominiums, on Collins Drive.

Monroe Village is in a zone that is residential, office and institutional and is owned by Steven Cahill. Reflections is in a commercial district and is owned by Vranich Enterprises, Inc. Sabre Construction and Development Corp. owns Creekside Condominiums.

Sanford developer Herbert Cherry will present a site plan for a country store with three apartments at 508 Cypress Ave.

The commission will also study and discuss plans for a 10-acre shopping center at 25th Street and Mellonville Ave. Plans for Airport Plaza have been in the works for more than a year, according to J.S. "Red" Cleveland, of the Sanford Airport Authority, which owns the land. The property is zoned restricted industrial.

Sight Of Corpse Prompts Lawsuit

A young Casselberry man is suing the Seminole County sheriff's department claiming he suffered severe psychological injury when a deputy did not prevent him from seeing his neighbor's decomposing body.

Richard Lavole filed the suit against Sheriff John Polk representing the Seminole County Sheriff Department. Lavole, who was 17 at the time of the July 1, 1983 incident, is asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit, sheriff's deputy Ken Starr was dispatched to 122 Dew Drop Lane in reference to a Lavole's neighbor, William W. Koblarchick, 70, who had not been seen for some time. According to sheriff's records, it was Lavole who called the sheriff's department about the man's absence.

Koblarchick had a history of heart problems and died of natural causes, according to a sheriff's report.

The suit states Starr should have known by the stench and presence of numerous flies in the house at the address, that there probably was something dead inside. The suit states that protecting the public from such sights is part of the officer's duty.

According to the suit, Starr allowed, or failed to prevent the boy from entering the house and seeing the decaying, maggot-ridden body of the neighbor.

As a result of the sighting, the boy states he has suffered severe psychological injury, pain, suffering, disability, and anguish.

Killer Spared

Supreme Court Grants Stay 7 Hours Before Execution

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — Willie Jasper Darden won a stay of execution seven hours before he was to die in Florida's electric chair for killing a furniture store owner and sexually molesting the dying man's wife during a $15 robbery.

It was the third time Darden, 52, was spared from the "Old Sparky" electric chair at Florida State Prison, where he had been scheduled to die at 7 a.m. today.

The Supreme Court acted on Darden's case twice on Tuesday — initially rejecting his motion for a stay of execution by a 5-4 vote, with Justices William Brennan, Thurgood Marshall, Harry Blackmun and John Paul Stevens dissenting.

Darden's lawyers then returned to the court Tuesday night and requested a full review of the case — a move that requires the approval of only four justices.

The court granted the review motion and issued an order at 11:59 p.m. halting Darden's execution. Officials said votes on review petitions are rarely disclosed by the court.

Darden had already eaten a final meal of scallops, lobster, oysters, shrimp and a chef's salad before the Supreme Court halted the execution, which would have been the 14th in Florida since capital punishment was reinstated in 1976.

Darden was condemned for shooting Lakeland furniture store owner Carl Turman in the face in a $15 robbery in 1973 and sexually molesting Turman's wife. Darden also shot a 16-year-old boy in the robbery, but the youth recovered.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, in the brief opinion in which Darden's initial appeal for a stay was rejected, said the case had been before the court three times and was "thoroughly considered and resolved by federal and state courts...."

Florida's Supreme Court also denied a stay Tuesday, saying it did not feel the prosecutor's closing arguments in Darden's murder trial were "outrageous" and prejudiced the jury.

Prosecutor C. Raymond McDaniel called Darden an "animal" who shot Turman and the youth, then tried to force Turman's wife to commit a sex act "while her bleeding husband lay in a rainstorm at the door."

Darden has been awaiting execution since Jan. 29, 1974 — 65 days less than Howard Douglas, the longest resident of Florida's death row.

His 11-year wait for death in Florida's electric chair has changed Darden to a "compassionate, caring human being," a friend of the convicted killer claims.

The Rev. Joseph Ingle said Darden was not the same man he was a dozen years ago.

"The really difficult thing about the death penalty, even for those who believe in it, are the Willie Jasper Dardens," said Ingle, director of the Nashville, Tenn.-based Southern Coalition on Jails and Prisons.

"Here's a guy who, in his 12 years on Death Row, has grown and matured," Ingle said. "Willie Darden is now a compassionate, caring human being."

Ingle, who has written Darden since 1977 and visited him more than a dozen times, said Darden has helped keep things calm on "The Row," and has lent encouragement to other residents.

"He really has been an inspiration to the other men there," Ingle said.

No Tolls, But Tolltakers Toil On

HOOD CANAL BRIDGE, Wash. (UPI) — A judge has halted collection of the $2 toll on the Hood Canal Bridge, but the tollkeepers are still being paid to occupy the booths on the span.

"We have plenty of books and hot coffee and a clicker to click when the cars go by," said Tom Rice, who has collected tolls since the bridge opened in 1961.

Tollbooth workers now just keep the traffic moving and make sure motorists see the "no toll" signs.

"We're just waving them on or they would sit and wait," Rice said Tuesday.

U.S. District Judge Jack Tanner ordered the state last week to stop collecting tolls because the bridge was rebuilt with federal and insurance money after being damaged in a storm.

The 15 bridge employees will be laid off Sept. 20 unless an appeals court overturns the ruling.

Lavelle To Be Freed For Good Behavior

PLEASANTON, Calif. (UPI) — Rita Lavelle, the former EPA official convicted of lying to two House panels probing scandal at the agency, is getting time off for good behavior and an early release from a federal prison today.

Lavelle was scheduled to leave the prison at Pleasanton after serving 4½ months of a six-month term. Her attorney said her immediate plans were to have a family reunion in Southern California and then to look for work.

A prison spokesman said Lavelle's reduced sentence is not unusual because most prisoners are given time off for good behavior.

An aide said a month of her early release was for good behavior and the other two weeks were for her teaching of remedial English and mathematics while in prison.

Lavelle entered prison April 19 claiming she was made a scapegoat for the 1983 scandal at the Environmental Protection Agency.

EPA Administrator Anne Burford and 21 other agency officials resigned or were fired after an investigation of the scandal, which was triggered by charges of mismanagement and sweetheart deals with toxic waste generators.

TV, Radio Replacing Teachers

By United Press International

Chicago radio and television stations planned expanded educational programs today to occupy 431,000 children staying home as their teachers walked the picket lines for the third straight year.

The 28,000-member CTU went on strike after federally mediated contract talks broke off early Tuesday. Talks apparently stalled on the CTU's demand for a 9 percent pay raise. The board has said it can afford only 3.5 percent.

Teacher strikes elsewhere in Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Washington state were expected to keep more than 100,000 students out of school today.

In Rhode Island, Newport's 300 teachers voted to strike the opening day of classes for 3,800 students today, and a strike was a possibility in Pawtucket, where contract talks have stalled.

Educators in San Francisco and Manchester, N.H., were planning to report to work today without contracts, but they were threatening to perform only minimal duties until negotiations were completed.

However, school was expected to open on time in Philadelphia and Akron, Ohio, following last-minute approval of three-year contracts.

Tax Reform Plan Revised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration, trying to avoid a congressional confrontation over its tax reform plan, has agreed to three changes in the proposal that should add $23 billion in revenue over five years.

But Treasury Secretary James Baker adamantly stated Tuesday he thought the changes were unnecessary despite a congressional study that said President Reagan's plan could add about $25 billion to the deficit by 1991.

The changes:
—Repealing the popular pension plans known as "401Ks," which defer taxes for retirement plans, adding $11.6 billion in taxes over five years.

—Eliminating the inflation protection for business inventories, allowing a type of "bracket creep" for business that would add $11.1 billion in tax revenues from 1986 through 1990.

—Keeping the child care tax credit and not change it to a deduction, generating about $200 million through 1990.

Black September Threatens To Set Athens Ablaze

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — A Palestinian group believed responsible for a grenade attack that injured 19 tourists at a seaside hotel threatened to set the city "on fire with bombs" unless police released an imprisoned Palestinian.

A terrorist lobbed two hand grenades into the swimming pool and garden of the Glyflada Hotel Tuesday, wounding 19 people, seven of them seriously, authorities said. All 19 were identified as British.

The hotel is near the U.S. Hellinikon Air Base and is frequented by U.S. servicemen, a police spokesman said.

An hour after the attack, a woman called an Athens newspaper and warned, "If our man is not set free the Black September will set Athens on fire with bombs," the official Athens news agency said.

Police sources said they believe the caller was referring to Salameh Hatem Samir, a Palestinian arrested Saturday in an Athens suburb whom authorities suspect was on a mission to kill the Jordanian ambassador to Greece.

Raise Titanic Or Leave It Be?

LONDON (UPI) — The insurance company that owns the hull of the Titanic is ready to listen to schemes to salvage the 45,000-ton luxury liner.

Reacting to news that the liner was found off the Canadian coast by a joint U.S.-French team, the Commercial Union Insurance company said Tuesday it owns the hull because of insurance payouts it made after the Titanic struck an iceberg and sank 73 years ago.

But Commercial Union does not have a legal right to the fortune in jewels believed to have been stored in the Titanic's strongroom.

One British salvage expert, John Pierce, has already said he would seek to raise the liner if it is in one piece.

Dr. Robert Ballard, head of a joint U.S.-French expedition that discovered the Titanic, said Tuesday the liner was in "beautiful condition" and he planned to ask the U.S. and French governments to declare the ship an underwater memorial to be left where it is.

Mine Strike Flops

S. African Union Leaders Vow To Try Again

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Thousands of black miners ended a strike and returned to work today but leaders of the walkout, which collapsed after only 48 hours, pledged to resume the strike as soon as possible.

And police reported new racial violence in several areas — mostly around Cape Town. Police said they found the body of an unidentified black man under burning tires in Tante.

New disturbances were reported today in several areas — mostly in Cape Town's segregated suburbs, where 32 people have been killed in weeklong racial violence.

Youths threw rocks at police and built barricades at the home of a lawmaker in the mixed-race or "colored" chamber of the tri-racial parliament. The home was gasoline-bombed and severely damaged.

Police wounded one man when they dispersed a mob in the "colored" district of Manenberg. In Duncan Village, near East London, police shot and killed a rioter Tuesday and seized 10 gasoline bombs from black youths.

Blaming what it called mass employer intimidation, the National Union Mineworkers suspended its strike Tuesday after only 48 hours to bring a civil suit challenging the "unlawful" firing of miners at the Marievale mine 35 miles east of Johannesburg.

The union urged workers to end the strike — only the second legal walkout by black miners — and return to their jobs until the suit is heard Friday.

"We will be mobilizing men in the meanwhile and we don't see any problems getting the strike going again," union spokeswoman Manoko Nelwe said.

The union, which called a strike by 70,000 miners Sunday night over pay demands, said support for the strike dwindled from 28,000 workers Monday to 21,000 Tuesday.

Organizers had hoped the strike would put new pressure on the white-minority government to reform its system of apartheid, the policy of racial segregation.

The union accused employers of charging workers with batons and using gas and rubber bullets to force employees to return to their jobs. Owners dismissed the claims as "nonsense" and said only 7,500 men at most walked off the job.

Cable TV Ruling Gets Mixed Reviews

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A recent federal court decision many mean that cable TV customers get less choice of channels for their money. Then again, it could have just the opposite effect. It all depends on who you talk to.

"Baloney, it's exactly opposite to what I believe," was the comment of Steve McMahon, vice president of public affairs for Cablevision of Central Florida, on a comment by a University of Florida professor that cable television customers may get less choice of channels for their money, because of the court action.

A July 19 ruling says cable companies will no longer be required to carry all TV stations whose signals reach any part of their franchise area. Ralph Lowenstein, dean of Florida's College of Journalism, said this can mean fewer programs if the ruling goes into effect as planned this month.

"It's probable that consumers will have less choice and will get fewer stations for the same amount of money," said Lowenstein, a member of the National Association of Broadcasters' First Amendment Committee.

McMahon said there are no plans to drop any signal until the matter is settled in the courts. "We are very supportive of the decision, which we think is a pro-consumer decision," he said. "At the moment we don't consider the issue settled because the decision of the federal court can be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court and probably will be. There are several legal steps the broadcasters could take and until it is finalized I don't think you'll see much has changed."

If it does happen, McMahon added, the Cablevision subscribers in Seminole County will probably not see much change in programming. "We would poll subscribers to find out what stations they are not interested in and let them tell us what they want," he said. "We had much rather the subscribers tell us what they want to see rather than the government telling the subscribers what they should watch."

Rod Dagenas, manager for Storer Cable Communications in

While no one is sure what effect a recent court ruling will have on cable television programming, it seems certain that any change will be months away as the matter drags out in the courts.

Altamonte Springs, said it is still too early to say if or when any stations will be dropped, but he does not anticipate any changes for the rest of the year.

Dagenas said he does not agree with Lowenstein's statement that consumers will be getting less choice for their money. "We always look to presenting the best programming and now we can be more selective in what we offer," he said. "If it makes sense to carry a station locally we will, and if it doesn't, we won't have to."

The appeals court decision overturns a 1972 rule adopted by the Federal Communications Commission requiring cable companies to carry any high-power television station that could be received in their area.

"The more stations we are forced to carry, the less stations we can offer, which our subscribers might otherwise want to watch," McMahon said. "Ted Turner brought the suit on the grounds that the regulation was a violation of First Amendment rights, because many cable subscribers wanted to watch his independent station, WTBS, Atlanta, but the cable companies could not carry it since they had so many 'must carry' channels. Many of the cable companies only have 12 or 13 channels, most of them filled by local stations they are required by FCC to carry. This means they did not have room for such popular choices as ESPN, Cable News Network, and Nickelodeon.

"There will be instances in many communities where stations and programs people have been watching for years will no longer be available," said Tom McCoy, vice president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

McCoy said when cable companies weed out some local and regional stations, viewers will lose, because local news, weather and sports reporting will be affected.

McCoy said this just isn't so. "There are systems where we are required to carry almost duplicate programming such as Public Broadcasting Stations, NBC, or say four religious stations. Under the new decision stations with limited viewer interest and duplicates could be replaced with something the viewers wanted to watch. This would promote diversity and increase programming," McMahon said. "If they get rid of one signal, they will replace it with a more interesting one."

McMahon said currently Cablevision must carry stations in the area without charge. "With the rules eliminated some people think broadcasters will demand payment for being shown on cable, while some think the broadcaster should pay the cable company to carry their signal," he said. "It is not clear yet what will happen, but it will be left open to the free marketplace."

Bob Brillante, assistant executive director of the Florida Cable Television Association, doesn't think consumers will have to pay more for cable service under the new rule.

Cable companies may drop stations if the cable has two stations which offer programming from the same network, Brillante said. So cable viewers may have only one PBS station, or one NBC station as part of their basic service.

"But that's unlikely to happen," Brillante said. "Satellite programming and special entertainment programming, such as ESPN, are more likely to end up on expanded service tiers. I think the ultimate effect will be that the consumer will be offered the widest selection of program services and there won't be so much duplication."

Consumer Group Urges Recall Of Surging Fords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer group says it wants the government to investigate reports that engines in 1.4 million 1984 and 1985 Ford Motor Co. cars may be defective and to order a recall if necessary.

The Center for Auto Safety said it has asked the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to look into the problem — a sudden and dangerous engine surge. "That occurs without warning and causes vehicles to spontaneously shoot forward at a high rate of speed."

The center cited 50 reports of sudden acceleration and surging that included 18 accidents and seven injuries involving cars with fuel-injected 3.8- and 5-liter engines, including the Ford Thunderbird, LTD, Crown Victoria and Mustang and the Mercury Marquis, Cougar, Grand Marquis, Capri and Colony Park.

Ford is aware of the defect, the center said, and sent at least four technical service bulletins to its dealers. One bulletin cited a defect in the computer system used to regulate engine idle speed and fuel usage and the other attributed it to a valve in the emissions control system.

The center quoted several reports from motorists in urging the investigation and recall.

Mary Hartlage of Louisville, Ky., wrote that after she accidentally backed her Mercury Grand Marquis into steel pipe. "My car took off at great speed. I drove through a chain link fence and stopped only when I hit a concrete wall over the side of a drainage ditch."

The center said the sudden power surges occur most frequently when the vehicle is traveling at 45 to 55 mph, or after the engine is turned on and the transmission put into drive or while the car is idling at an intersection.

"The increase in speed occurs so rapidly that drivers simply cannot react in time," the center said. "Even when they do, the acceleration is so great that applying the brakes is ineffective."

Elena: The Way She Was

'It Was Really Ripping'

DAUPHIN ISLAND, Ala. (UPI) — William Patronas' grandsons stuck with him when he refused to leave Dauphin Island and weathered the 122-mph winds of Hurricane Elena. But they wouldn't do it again.

"Trees were popping, and the lights in the church (where he sought refuge) were shaking. I wished I had been off the island," Glenn Simodel, 20, said in the aftermath of the storm that wiped out 50 homes and businesses.

"We were stupid for staying to begin with," said Aaron Burrell, 20, another grandson. "I don't know if I would again."

Patronas said he has ridden out every hurricane that has hit this island off the Alabama coast in almost 90 years, including Camille and Frederic.

"I'm living for the Good Lord," said the 89-year-old Patronas as he surveyed the damage. "If the Good Lord wants me, it don't have to be no hurricane."

The white-haired and toothless Patronas, gumming a wad of tobacco, said he thought Elena was stronger than Frederic, which hit the island with 125-mph winds in 1979, cutting in half the bridge-link to the mainland.

"I believe it blowed a little harder than Frederic," he said. "It was really ripping."

Burrell was with Simodel in the Catholic church next door to their grandfather's house.

He said the winds picked up between 3 a.m. and 3:30 a.m. Monday.

"It sounded like a big freight train," said Burrell. "We looked out the window but it was too dark to see. You could hear the sticks hitting the side of the church."

Most of Dauphin's 1,400 residents evacuated the barrier island when the 300-mile wide hurricane began moving toward shore Sunday night.

Patronas said he was not worried about the hurricane and refused to leave his home.

"I laid down about 1 o'clock," he said, but added that he couldn't sleep — not because of the storm but because there were too many people making noise in the house.

Eight people stayed with Patronas in his home. His grandsons and two others stayed in the church and three other people rode out the storm in the house next door.

The hurricane pounded the fragile strip of sand southwest of Mobile Bay with sustained winds up to 104 mph and gusts to 122 mph for several hours.

The winds and pounding surf stripped away the entire west beachfront, wiping out 50 homes and several businesses that had been rebuilt since Frederic. But the bridge survived.

All the buildings that were leveled were on the west side of the island. The two houses and the church — all on the east side — suffered only minor damage.

Storm 'Devastates' Florida Oyster Industry

APALACHICOLA (UPI) — Hurricane Elena's damaging winds and pounding rains will cost Florida's oyster industry millions of dollars, officials say — even though the storm veered away from the state's rich oyster beds.

"It will definitely hurt the oyster bars, but time will tell how bad," said Buford Flowers, 51, treasurer of the Oyster Dealers Association. "In the past, when we have a storm of this type, the oyster bars get covered with sand and it takes about two months to recover."

Flowers said Apalachicola Bay produces 95 percent of Florida's oysters.

"It will just knock us out," Flowers said. "It will devastate us for about two months. We had this one (the storm) pounding in our bay for at least a week now. The high tides and rough waves — that's really hard on our oyster beds."

Flowers declined to put a price tag on the overall loss, but he said his own business was "average" among Fulton County's 23 seafood processing plants. While Flowers did $2.5 million in gross sales last year, he expects Hurricane Elena will trim that figure by 20 percent this year.

Flowers was in Apalachicola in 1972, when Hurricane Agnes destroyed oyster processing plants. He said the area was in better shape this time around because of a $2.5 million breakwater that was completed last year.

Flowers said Florida oysters should not be eaten until the state's Department of Natural Resources has tested the waters in Apalachicola Bay.

He said the heavy rains can cause poisonous runoffs from septic tanks or wash cow dung into the bay from nearby pastureland.

Flowers said Florida's processors will have to go to Louisiana and Alabama to fill their orders for oysters.

Graham Promises Aid To Hurricane Victims

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — As clean-up crews milled about him, Gov. Bob Graham promised to rush state aid to Panhandle residents left homeless, hungry and jobless in the wake of Hurricane Elena.

Graham also predicted Tuesday a return to economic health for Apalachicola, the Gulf Coast town that bore the brunt of Elena's sting in the Panhandle, and which may have lost its principle industry — oystering — for as long as a year.

"This is a place that's taken a lot of hard shocks over its long history and it's always come back," Graham said. "It will come back from this one, too."

Graham's prediction came on the second leg of an inspection tour of hurricane damage. On Monday, Graham surveyed battered Gulf-front homes and businesses from Pinellas County to Cedar Key. Tuesday, he led an entourage of reporters and state emergency officials on a helicopter tour from Alligator Point to Apalachicola and Panama City, then on to Pensacola.

In Panama City, Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Winter Park, joined the tour.

The damage to the Panhandle was mild compared to the havoc elsewhere, but seemed freakish in its randomness. Broad swaths of U.S. Highway 98 — resurfaced just in time for Elena — lay crumpled, the road bed collapsed into the Gulf. One house stands untouched. Another, often just yards away from the first, is reduced to a pile of soggy cordwood.

The damage in Apalachicola — clipped by 90 mph winds as Elena rushed toward the Mississippi Gulf Coast — included downed power and phone lines, felled trees, and battered homes and bridges. The town was still largely isolated when Graham touched down Tuesday.

But the greatest damage lay virtually unseen beneath the waters of Apalachicola Bay.

The bay is host to rich oysterbeds — 95 percent of Florida's oyster crop is harvested there. Three of every four people living in the bay area depend on oysters for their living.

From the air, Apalachicola Bay seemed a sea of goopy mud. Winds and waves had whipped up the bay bottom, covering the oysterbeds. The mud will smother the oysters.

Folks around here can take solace in the fact that Elena wasn't a killer hurricane, no: like Donna or Camille. Still, there was the damage in human terms. Coastal residents used up their last precious dollars to board up homes and escape the fury of the storm.

"Even if the stores were stocked with groceries, people haven't got the money to buy them," said Richard Polous, 42, an oysterman from Eastpoint, across the inlet from Apalachicola.

Proxmire Accuses Justice Of Mismanagement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says the Justice Department has mismanaged at least one probe of criminal fraud in Navy shipbuilding and tried to hide its blunders with "misrepresentations and lame excuses."

Proxmire made the allegations Monday upon the release of a General Accounting Office report he requested that detailed three department investigations into alleged wrongdoing in Navy shipbuilding.

"Justice Department officials are guilty of mismanaging a criminal investigation of Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. and may have been involved in obstruction of justice," Proxmire said.

"The Justice Department failed miserably to do its duty and has attempted to cover up its blunders with a series of misrepresentations and lame excuses to the Navy and Congress," he said.

A department spokesman said officials had not seen the GAO report and had no comment.

The GAO report, which made no recommendations, detailed Justice probes into alleged fraudulent claims of cost overruns by three firms — Newport News, Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co. and the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics.

Proxmire commented only on the first investigation and said hearings would be held this fall on the Newport News probe.

GAO found the department investigated alleged false claims by Newport News from February 1978, when the Navy referred the matter, until August 1983, when the assistant attorney general of the criminal division declined to prosecute the case.

In that 66-month period, the GAO said, daily control of the probe shifted from the Richmond, Va., office to the Alexandria, Va., office of the U.S. Attorney and then to the fraud section of the department's criminal division.

GAO, the investigative arm of Congress, found in 1980 the Richmond office recommended the probe be ended without indictment, but that in November 1981 the Alexandria office and a department attorney recommended it continue.

In August 1982, an attorney in the department's criminal division agreed the investigation should continue, but the chief of the department's fraud section — over objections of the U.S. Attorney's office — later decided against prosecution.

The case was dropped a year later.

Democrats Seek To Take Over From GOP

Next Year's Elections Could Determine Control Of The Senate For Years To Come

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans and Democrats are in a high-stakes competition in next year's watershed election that will determine control of the Senate in 1986 and possibly for years to come.

After being out of power in the Senate for 25 years, Republicans seized control in the 1980 GOP landslide and now hold a 53-47 majority, giving President Reagan his stronghold on Capitol Hill.

But in next year's elections, 22 seats now held by Republicans — 16 occupied by first-termers — are on the line while the Democrats risk only 12, opening a numbers game that gives Democrats their best chance to reclaim control.

Historically, the party not in the White House tends to make at least modest gains in Congress during midterm elections.

But Tom Griscom, the executive director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, doesn't buy that theory.

"We came into this cycle with the odds favoring control. I think we still have those odds," he said.

Equally confident is David Johnson, the executive director for the Democratic campaign committee, who said, "I think what we're looking for — what we need to do — is win six races. We have a list of 10-12 hot races and from these we'll win six."

If the Democrats recapture the Senate, they would control Congress for the first time since Reagan's election. The Republicans are expected to make few gains in the Democratic dominated House.

The Democrats need a net gain of four seats to reclaim control, which could happen with one of several combinations.

One includes holding all the party seats, including those vacated by the retirements of Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana and Thomas Eagleton of Missouri and picking up four Republican seats.

For each Democratic seat taken by the GOP, the Democrats would have to pick up an additional one from Republicans.

With the final lineups for the election — still more than 14 months away — far from clear, the following now appear among the tightest races:

- Florida: Republican Sen. Paula Hawkins against popular Gov. Bob Graham. Even the GOP concedes Graham is ahead.
- Missouri: Democratic Lt. Gov. Harriett Woods, probably against former Gov. Christopher Bond.
- South Dakota: First-term Sen. James Abdnor or possibly Republican Gov. William Janklow

Paula Hawkins and Bob Graham pitted in one of the crucial races against Rep. Tom Daschle, who is almost certain to run.

- Idaho: Conservative Sen. Steve Symms, a Republican, against conservative Democrat Gov. John Evans.
- Louisiana: Republican Rep. Henson Moore against Democratic Rep. John Breaux with the possibility that another Democratic congressman, Bud Roemer, could jump in.
- Colorado: If Sen. Gary Hart decides not to run (as Republicans think), the race would probably pit Rep. Timothy Wirth, a Democrat, against Rep. Ken Kramer or State Sen. Martha Ezzard.
- Johnson rates Idaho, South Dakota, Missouri, Florida and Louisiana as the best shots for Democratic victories.
- In a second tier, Johnson cites:
  - Nevada, where Democrats received an unexpected bonus with the retirement of Sen. Paul Laxalt, Reagan's best friend in Congress.
  - Washington, where former Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, a former congressman, is "seriously considering" a challenge to Sen. Slade Gorton.
  - North Carolina, where former Gov. James Hunt, who lost to Jesse Helms in 1984, has raised $500,000 and might go again for the seat now held by ailing Sen. John East, who might not run.
  - Maryland, where the Democrats could field either Gov. Harry Hughes or Rep. Barbara Mikulski whether veteran Sen. Charles Mathias runs or not.
  - North Dakota, where Democratic Rep. Byron Dorgan would be "exceptionally" strong if he runs against Sen. Mark Andrews.

Griscom is perfectly content if the Democrats rivet their attention on the GOP seats.

Morning Star Of Liberty

Two hundred and fifty years ago, a German-born printer named John Peter Zenger went on trial charged with libeling the royal governor of New York, William Cosby. The trial and its outcome were pivotal events affirming the role of a free press to challenge corrupt government officials.

Zenger's paper, the New York Weekly Journal, had mounted a continuing attack against the governor for assertedly attempting to fix an election in Westchester County in October 1733. It was a story of corruption and fraud that no other colonial newspaper would print. The governor called the charges "false, scandalous and seditious" libels, had four issues of his paper burned, and had Zenger arrested, holding that no one should attack public officials. High bail kept Zenger in jail for nearly 10 months.

A crony of the governor's, James De Lancy, became the presiding judge, wholeheartedly supporting the current legal interpretation of libel that "The greater the truth, the greater the libel."

The governor further bolstered his case against the printer by having his attorneys disbarred. But a prominent Philadelphia lawyer named Andrew Hamilton came to his defense, charging no fee.

The law then held that it made no difference who wrote the criticism; only the printer was responsible. So it was that Hamilton stunned the court when he acknowledged that, yes, John Peter Zenger did indeed print the Weekly Journals with the alleged libels.

The prosecutor was sure that he had won, but Hamilton expanded brilliantly on his points: Free men are entitled to complain. Truth is a defense against libel.

And a libel jury has the right to judge the law and the facts.

But the judge ruled that the law was simple — to print is to libel. So Hamilton turned to the jury and, declaring that liberty of the press is as vital as any freedom, said:

"... it is not the cause of a poor printer ... it is the best cause. It is the cause of liberty ... a noble foundation for securing to ourselves, our posterity and our neighbors, that, in which nature and the laws of our country have given us a right — the liberty — both of exposing and opposing, arbitrary power ... by speaking and writing truth."

The jury took just 10 minutes to acquit John Peter Zenger.

In that pre-Revolutionary War era, Hamilton's description of a free people and a free press reinforced the growing opposition to a despotic Crown. It helped fuel the civil disobedience that led to resistance to tea duties, the Stamp Act, and the British Army at Lexington and Concord.

The patriot Gouverneur Morris, who more than anyone is credited with writing the Constitution, said: "The trial of Zenger in 1735 was the germ of America's freedom, the morning star of that liberty which subsequently revolutionized America."

The Zenger case also led to the First Amendment to the Constitution, with its cherished principles of liberty. For kindling the cause of truth, freedom of the press, and resistance to an abusive government, Americans can thank John Peter Zenger and Andrew Hamilton.

Nancy Calling The Shots At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Aides report Nancy Reagan is unhappy with the spate of reports that she is now calling the shots at the White House.

According to the reports, the first lady has taken charge of the president's schedule and is wielding a strong hand politically since he underwent his surgery on July 13 for colon cancer.

Aides say Mrs. Reagan has always wanted to protect the president from being overscheduled. And she herself has said that sometimes in areas of personnel she has felt compelled to tell him when she does not feel he is being properly served.

But she also maintains that she does not involve herself in policy-making, and aides point out that she never attends Cabinet meetings as Rosalynn Carter did with the approval of her husband.

Mrs. Reagan does become irritated at least in one policy area and that is where her husband is portrayed as a "gunslinger" and not bent on a search for peace with the Soviets.

This is one image she feels is unfair and has made no bones about the fact that she believes that a get-acquainted summit meeting with Soviet leader Gorbachev will be a good step in improving relations.

Even if Mrs. Reagan is not assuming a more powerful role, some aides in the West Wing are said to be "terrified" of her and afraid to approach her with proposals.

Her pipeline to the official side in addition to the president is White House chief of staff Donald Regan who does check with her on a variety of matters. But aides say that he cannot replace former deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver who was in the class of a "son" and confidant over a 20-year period.

Women do not have a high profile in the White House hierarchy, to put it mildly.

But the one post relegated to women appointees is to head the Office of Public Liaison, which aims to drum up support for the president's programs.

Lynda Chavez, the relatively new head of the public liaison office, has moved to the West Wing of the White House from the Executive Office Building next door and is expected to have more visibility as a result.

For any presidential aide proximity to the Oval Office approximates influence in the top strata. So Chavez is now in the spot where some of her predecessors such as Anne Armstrong, Midge Costanza, Elizabeth Dole and Faith Whitlessey moved to prominence.

Edward Rollins, the president's political adviser, who plans to depart the White House in early October, has a huge portrait of the late actor John Wayne in full cowboy regalia hanging in his office.

Rollins said that he liberated the painting among the many gifts the president receives, and met Wayne, who also is a Reagan hero.

It is not known whether Rollins will be able to liberate the Wayne portrait again when he leaves the White House to become an outside political consultant.

Hollow Ring Of Truth...

The space shuttle Challenger completed another mission in early August, but hardly anyone noticed. The marvel of a space vehicle circling the earth at an altitude of 200 miles seems now as commonplace as a city bus making its local runs.

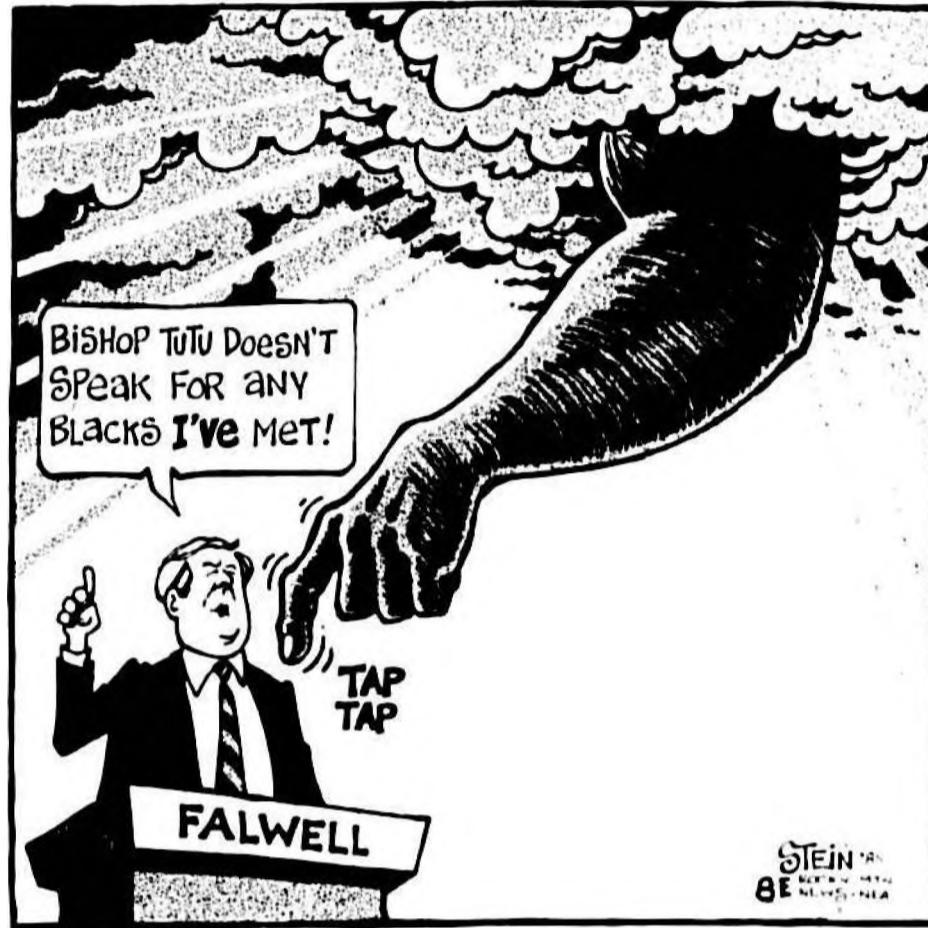

Meanwhile, President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative, an ambitious plan for a new non-nuclear defense system that would be partly based in space has been hysterically assaulted as "Star Wars"; i.e., fantastic and unworkable.

Although we and our enemies live in the Age of the Microchip, an influential cadre of liberal, or as they say, "neoliberal" politicians, academicians, and journalists are currently arguing that high technology should be off-limits to America's armed forces. This is the "simpler is better" school, that suggests that budgetary constraints as well as the nature of modern warfare require that the Defense Department build smaller, non-nuclear ships, get rid of the strategic bomber force, and by all means junk such ideas as the SDI.

The reasoning behind this view has a simple appeal. It is that since the nation has limited resources available for defense, it should buy a greater number of less technologically complex tanks, planes and ships, even if they are less capable, rather than fewer highly sophisticated ones. Even if the sophisticated weapons systems are more capable, it is held, they require years to conceive, develop and build, and are far more expensive. Furthermore, high technology design and components don't alter the basic configuration, and therefore the vulnerability of the given aircraft or ship. A high-performance jet fighter can still be shot down, and a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier can still be sunk. When they are, far more is lost than when a simpler weapon is destroyed.

But the ring of truth in that argument is a hollow one. A realistic defense doesn't offer a choice between fewer dollars for more but simpler weapons or tons of cash for a few complex ones. Weapons that utilize technology at its most advanced are a requirement of a workable defense for the United States because such weapons are already deployed against us by the Soviet Union.

It was the Soviets, after all, who raised the ante in the technology of modern conventional war by first developing, then deploying to the North Vietnamese the deadly precision-guided missiles that devastated South Vietnamese tanks.

Second Term Agenda?

This is the season of conservative political discontent. All of the Reagan administration's energy seems to be concentrated on the upcoming summit conference with Gorbachev. This will probably turn out to be a transitory propaganda festival. Meanwhile, the rest of the agenda, domestic and foreign, seems to be disintegrating.

The president's personal popularity has never been higher, hitting top approval ratings in the upper 60 percent range in the various polls. He even somehow benefited through his handling of the Beirut hostage crisis, the unfortunate Robert Stethem having disappeared down a media black hole.

But this is not translating into policy approval, where the ratings in the polls are disastrous. The fall domestic centerpiece was planned on tax reform. Several polls are showing that public opinion prefers almost any other domestic priority to tax reform, Reagan's, Kemp's or Bill Bradley's. It is just not galvanizing anyone. Only 26 percent support the president's program here.

The polling figures show how far out of line with public opinion tax reform now is. By 69-23, public opinion prefers toxic-waste cleanup to tax reform. By 68-22, people would rather cut the deficit than simplify the income tax. By 65-28 they would rather reduce unemployment. Tax reform barely beats increased welfare, 49-44, and welfare is not a particularly popular expenditure.

Now all of these are, in a sense, false choices. Since tax reform is supposed to be "revenue neutral," that is, will not reduce or increase federal revenue, it will have no effect on toxic waste, unemployment, the deficit, or whatever. But these figures do indicate that as of August, tax reform is an electoral snore. The figures might be very different if the electorate were polled on lowering both taxes and federal spending, but that is not what these questions were talking about.

In the opinion of analyst Kevin Phillips, "Reagan tax reform is emerging as one of the biggest strategic misconceptions of late 20th century U.S. politics."

In this summer of their discontent, conservatives are talking about "frittering away the 49-state mandate."

Reports of phone calls between Washington and Santa Barbara about a "fall political offensive" do not erase memories of the recent past.

A serious political fight was not made to secure the confirmation of William Bradford Reynolds, who was crucified by Senate liberals for the crime of following Reagan's own line on racial quotas.

We have soft-peddled Soviet violations of SALT II, even when we are dismantling a Poseidon submarine — a formidable weapon, to conform to SALT II.

Not a thing was done about the murder of Major Nicholson by Soviet troops. Not a thing has been done about the murder of Robert Stethem. No retaliation has taken place over the hijacking itself, an assault upon American citizens and American property. Business goes on as usual in the terrorist camps in the Bekaa Valley.

On The Pacific Future

In the final years of this turbulent century, the U.S. government and people will have to rethink America's relationship to Asia and adjust its Pacific strategy accordingly.

The process of rethinking has hardly begun. In many ways, the United States is locked into the concepts of the late 1940s and 1950s, despite the loss of the war in Vietnam a decade ago and drastic changes on the Asian mainland and its offshore islands.

America's forward strategy in Asia was based on victory in the Pacific in World War II, the collapse of Japan as a major power, and communist revolutions in China. It also had its roots in America's emotional involvement in Asia, born of a century of missionary activity.

In less than a generation, the Asian world has changed almost beyond recognition, though U.S. policy hasn't taken full account of the changes. In fighting a no-win war in Vietnam, the U.S. permitted the North Vietnamese, a Soviet surrogate state, to begin a steady consolidation of power in Southeast Asia. Camranh Bay, built by the U.S. at tremendous expense, now serves as a base for the powerful Soviet Red Banner Pacific Fleet of more than 50 ships.

Japan, which was resuscitated by the United States, has become America's most formidable economic adversary, while enjoying U.S. military protection.

Communist China has gone through the most terrible revolutionary turbulence and, temporarily at least, desires better relations with the U.S., or, more properly, the benefits of U.S. technology. The change may not be lasting, however. Maoism could return with a new regime.

Little New Zealand, near the bottom of the world, has drifted into nuclear pacifism and a mindless approach to its vulnerability without U.S. protection.

Even more change lies ahead. Hong Kong will pass under communist control by the end of the century. Indonesia is in danger of being caught up in the Islamic fundamentalism that has virtually destroyed Iran. It's likely that, with the future disappearance of the Marcos government, the U.S. will lose its key naval base and airfield in the Philippines.

Hence the need to rethink America's strategy in the Pacific. Some initial thoughts:

The strategic impact of continuing deindustrialization and fiscal crisis in the United States will be severe.

Controversial Duo To Eye Nicaragua

By Jack Anderson
And
Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Mike Wallace and George Crile, the stars of the William Westmoreland libel suit, are together again. And just the thought of what CBS's dynamic duo may be up to has reduced certain people in the State Department to nail-biting.

Wallace and Crile are preparing a "60 Minutes" segment on the Sandinista government of Nicaragua, which the Reagan administration has been battling with words and weapons for four years.

The last time Wallace and Crile did a piece on American foreign policy, it was "The Uncounted Enemy," an hour-long CBS report that accused Gen. William Westmoreland, among others, of lying about the strength of communist forces in Vietnam. The general, egged on by conservative ideologues, sued CBS, Wallace and Crile, then dropped the case after damaging court testimony supported the CBS program's charges.

State Department officials began fretting as soon as they heard that Wallace, Crile and a camera crew had flown to sunny Managua. On Aug. 6, a cable signed by Secretary of State George Shultz was sent to Ambassador Harry Bergold in Managua.

"Department understands a CBS 'Sixty Minutes' team led by Mike Wallace is currently in Nicaragua filming a segment on some aspect of the Sandinista military, and that they have received generous logistical support from GON (government of Nicaragua)," the cable began.

The department was "most concerned about both subject matter and potential slant of 'Sixty Minutes' report," continued the cable, seen by our associate Lucette Lagnado. The people in Washington were keen to know about "support provided by the Sandinistas and the Nicaraguan government generally," as well as by the U.S. Embassy.

The cable wanted the ambassador to worm out of the CBS team "any particular thesis producer (Crile) might have." And it ended with a request for the embassy's views "on the type of segment to be expected."

Bergold, a career diplomat, evidently didn't respond fast enough. So a State Department official from Washington attended an embassy staff meeting, and learned that the ambassador had met twice with Wallace.

The visiting official was also treated to the sight of a Nicaraguan military helicopter circling the embassy — with what turned out to be a CBS camera sticking out, filming away.

On Aug. 16, the ambassador cabled the results of his investigation to Washington. The CBS team, he said, was there to "film a 17-23 minute piece for the beginning of the ... season," adding: "Theme of the piece will be 'Sandinista defense capabilities' both in terms of the (regular army) and the militia on the one hand and the mass organizations on the other."

Bergold doubtless added fuel to the fires by continuing: "The (army) has been very cooperative with the 'Sixty Minutes' group, transporting it to various military sites (with) army Chief of Staff Cuadra acting as escort much of the time. The group filmed many Sandinista weapons systems, including coverage from a MI-25 helicopter."

While State Department officials are sweating anxiously, Wallace is taking the furor calmly. When told about the department's fears and complaints, the veteran newsmen said, "I'm hearing this for the first time."

Officer Finds Nude Woman Under Motel Sign

A crying Altamonte Springs woman found nude from the waist down while sitting under a motel sign was arrested for disorderly intoxication after she began screaming and kicking in the back seat of a patrol car.

An Altamonte Springs police officer and paramedics responded to a scene where a woman was reported lying in the roadway. When they got to Sandy Cove Condos, N. Orange Drive, at 1:35 a.m. Wednesday, the men found a 21-year-old woman crying in the bushes. She was wearing a red tank top and was nude from the waist down, the officer's report said.

The 5-foot-5, 140-pound woman would not let the paramedics near her but agreed to talk to the officer if he would guarantee the medics would not check her for injury or illness.

The officer said the woman smelled strongly of alcohol, staggered and nearly fell down when she put her pants on. Said she would tell the officer what happened if he could arrange for her to be taken to her home, 402 Barclay Ave., Altamonte Springs.

The woman could not, or would not, tell the officer of anyone who could come get her, the report said. The officer then took the woman into custody under a state law that allows such action if a person appears in immediate need of emergency medical attention or is unable to make a rational decision about their need for care.

About one minute after being placed in the back of the officer's cruiser, the woman began to scream, yell and kick at the windows of the patrol car, the report said. She also beat her head against the plexiglass divider between the front and back seats.

Arrested and charged with disorderly intoxication was Ann Michelle Grow. She was being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $100 bond.

POT, FIGHT AT JAIL

One inmate was accused of introducing marijuana into the Seminole County jail during the Labor Day weekend while another prisoner in a separate incident reported he was assaulted while watching television.

No charges have been filed in either case, but both are being investigated, according to sheriff's reports.

In the first incident, corrections officers said they discovered marijuana when a 28-year-old trusty was re-entering the jail after taking out the trash. The officers said the pot was tucked in the underlip of the garbage can lid.

The incident occurred between 9:30 and 10:05 a.m. Monday.

In the second incident, Tracy Lee White, 29, of Tyrone Court, Casselberry, told corrections officers he was watching a football game Monday at 10:30 p.m. when a 19-year-old inmate punched him in the mouth. No reason was given for the assault. The officers noted on their report that White had red marks on one cheek and a split lip.

White is being held in the jail in connection with the baseball bat assault in August of a Longwood man, and his alleged assailant is confined in connection with a June auto burglary.

a man entered the Pizza Hut at State Road 434 and Interstate 4, Longwood, and ordered a pizza. The exact time was not reported. After finishing the pizza, he went to the men's room and left. A short time later, employees noticed smoke drifting from the bathroom and discovered a small fire inside. The amount of damage was not reported.

At 1:27 a.m. Tuesday, Eugene Ruiz Jr., 26, of 717 Longwood Ave., Longwood, was arrested at the Rolling Hills Golf Course near Longwood.

He was being in lieu of $10,000 bond in the Seminole County jail on a charge of arson.

CAR MISSING

A Georgia man told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he parked his car outside a motel early Monday only to find it stolen five hours later.

Jerry Vance Reddix, 20, of Dalton Ga., told deputies he checked into Lake Kathryn Motel, on U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, around 2 a.m. Monday. When he looked outside at 7:30 a.m. his 1984 white Pulsar was missing.

The car is valued at $13,500. Reddix said.

ACCIDENTS

A 24-year-old Sanford man suffered a head injury and was charged with reckless driving after he crashed his 1972 Dodge into a power pole.

David Russell Hill, of 4220 #93 S. Orlando Drive, was southbound on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford last Wednesday when he lost control of his car. The vehicle skidded about 186 feet and slammed into the pole, about one-half mile south of Airport Blvd.

He suffered a cut on his forehead and was taken to the hospital. Damage to his car was about $3,000 and damage to the pole was estimated at about $3,000, according to the police report.

Although the report said Hill lost control of his car for unknown reasons, he was arrested and charged with willful, wanton reckless driving and driving without a license tag or valid driver's license.

A man and woman from Deltona were injured after their car was rammed by another vehicle at French Avenue and Seminole Boulevard in Sanford, a police report said.

Doris Kearney, 50, of 1458 Falmouth Ave., was driving her 1985 Dodge west on Seminole Boulevard Sunday when Leonard Neal Abbott, 35, of 404 E. 14th St., #106, Sanford, drove his 1980 Ford into the intersection.

Abbott failed to yield and smashed into Ms. Kearney's car, the police report said.

Ms. Kearney and her passenger, William Dougherty, 59, also of 1458 Falmouth Ave., were injured and taken to the hospital. Ms. Kearney complained of neck pains and Dougherty received cuts on his face and suffered a broken wrist, according to a rescue report.

Damage to Ms. Kearney's car totaled $5,000 and damage to Abbott's was $1,000, the report said.

Abbott was charged with careless driving.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Someone broke into a van parked at the Cavalier Motor Inn, 3200 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, last Wednesday and stole $3,000 worth of merchandise and did about $200 worth of damage to the vehicle, a police report said.

The report did not indicate the kind of merchandise stolen but the goods and the van belong to Leone Watters of Melbourne.

A person or persons broke into Dean Houser's home at 344 Live Oak Blvd., some time between noon and 3 p.m. and destroyed the figurines and the china cabinet where they were stored, according to a police report. Nothing was stolen from the house, the report said.

A gold watch worth $1,000 was stolen from 201 Odham Drive, Sanford, some time between July 12 and Friday, a police report said. The watch belongs to Hazel Hill, who lives at the address.

Study: U.S. Must Attend To South Pacific Islands Or The Soviet Union Will

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States must end its "benign neglect" of the South Pacific island states to keep an eager Soviet Union out of the region, an area expert says in a new study.

Dora Alves, a former specialist on the South Pacific for Georgetown University's Center for Strategic and International Studies, recommends the United States reach a regional fisheries agreement with the area nations, provide help in developing the islands' all-important fishing industry and increase its diplomatic presence.

In a report written for The Heritage Foundation, a conservative study group with close White House contacts, Alves said: "The United States must end its benign neglect of the South Pacific states."

"The World War II generation of island leaders is being succeeded by a younger generation, whose concern with economic development and anger over perceived U.S. insensitivity make them susceptible to Soviet offers of economic assistance, as well as to pleas by Third World radicals to join the Third World bloc in its anti-West, anti-United States and anti-free market policies."

Alves writes of the South Pacific islands and atolls that cover roughly 5.6 million square miles and range from Papua New Guinea with 3 million inhabitants to the Pitcairn dependency whose 63 inhabitants, descendants of the Bounty mutineers, are governed by Britain.

The island state of Kiribati initiated a fishing agreement in May that gives the Soviets access to its fishing waters for 200 miles for $2 million to $3 million. It rejected providing facilities for the Soviet fishing fleet that would ease Soviet reconnaissance of the U.S. ballistic missile testing station at Kwajalein, only 600 miles from the Kiribati capital of Tarawa.

Alves said other economically hard-pressed island states will be tempted to make similar deals with the Soviets.

She noted the island states' establishment of a nuclear-free zone and the need for continued access of U.S. nuclear ships to the area, particularly should the United States have to pull its major Asian bases from the Philippines and move them to Guam or Australia.

New Zealand already opposes nuclear ships, a stance provoking a split with the United States, and the island states have mixed views.

"Completion of a regional fisheries agreement must be the top priority for U.S. policymakers, followed closely by U.S. economic assistance toward more profitable fishing industries and an increase in the U.S. diplomatic presence," Alves said.

These steps, she said, will "show the island nations that they need not opt for Soviet economic assistance."

IN BRIEF

Sugar Mills May Default On Loans And Forfeit Crops

CLEWISTON (UPI) — Plummeting sugar prices forced five south Florida sugar mills to notify the government they may default on their loans and forfeit their sugar crop this year.

The companies owe $154 million to the Commodity Credit Corp. on loans which are due by the end of the month.

A default on the loans would mean the sugar companies would turn over their warehouses full of raw sugar to the government, which would then sell the sugar.

The companies with outstanding government loans are U.S. Sugar, the Atlantic Sugar Association, the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative, and the Fanjul brothers Okeelanta Corp. and Osceola Farms.

Sugar prices have plunged because of increased foreign sugar imports, the growing use of artificial sweeteners and the decision by Coke, Pepsi and other major drink manufacturers last year to use corn syrup instead of sugar in most soft drinks.

Every year the sugar mills, located northwest of West Palm Beach, borrow to plant their crops, and then pledge the raw harvested sugar as collateral. They usually repay the loans after harvest, but this year, prices have dropped so low the companies think they would lose more money trying to sell the sugar than by simply turning it over to the government.

Lawyer Must Answer Questions

NAPLES (UPI) — A circuit judge's ruling may give investigators more ammunition in their first-degree murder case against Steven W. Benson, charged in the car bombing deaths of his mother and brother.

Wayne P. Kerr, formerly a legal advisor to the Benson family, is not protected by attorney-client privacy privileges from answering prosecutors' questions regarding Steven's mother, Margaret Benson, and his sister, Carol Benson Kendall. Collier County Circuit Judge Hugh Hayes ruled Tuesday.

Hayes also ordered Kerr to answer prosecutors' questions about a business Margaret and Steven Benson were involved in.

Kerr, a close friend of 34-year-old Steven Benson, was at Margaret Benson's Quail Creek home July 9 when two pipe bombs blew apart the family's Chevrolet Suburban vehicle. Margaret Benson, 63, a socialite with a $10 million fortune, and her son Scott, 21, were killed instantly. Carol, 40, survived with serious burns.

Investigators say Steven Benson had learned that his mother intended to cut him out of her will after finding he had skimmed $2 million from an investment account.

Blackhawk Division Veterans To Hold Reunion This Weekend

Veterans of Headquarters Co., Third Battalion, 343rd Regiment of the 86th Infantry Blackhawk Division, will hold a reunion at the Cavalier Motel on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonner L. Carter, 300 Lake Mary Blvd., will be hosts for the event. Delegates from several states will be headed by Col. (Ret.) Donald H. Baumer, former battalion commander and his wife, Sandy, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve.

Registration will begin Friday night and a banquet will be held Saturday night at which Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith will welcome the group.

The 86th Infantry Division saw action in both the European and Pacific areas during World War II. Any veterans living or visiting in this area who belonged to the division, are welcome to attend the reunion activities. For further information, call Carter at 322-1915.

One Of Tarzan's Oldest Janes Dead At 86

Writer Of 'Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer' Dies

Two show business veterans who had a hand in the creation of some classic works of entertainment have died.

Johnny Marks, who wrote the Christmas classic "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and other holiday hits, has died. He was 75.

Marks, a member of the Songwriters Hall of Fame, died Tuesday in New York Hospital after a long illness.

He is survived by two sons, Michael and David, and a daughter, Laura. Funeral arrangements were pending.

In Pittsburgh, Ethel Dwyer McCrady, who played Jane in a

Broadway production of "Tarzan and the Apes" in 1921, has died. She was 86.

A memorial service will be held Friday at the First Presbyterian Church in suburban Edgewood. Burial will be private.

McCrady died Monday at her home in Edgewood of an apparent heart attack. She had been the oldest living Jane, the character who won the heart of the ape-man of the jungle. She is survived by two children, Janice Forbes of Los Angeles and Allen McCrady of Edgewood, six grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Mrs. Goard, county elections supervisor, said there are no rules governing fairness in political ads.

In campaigning, Webster and Jore touted similar positions, such as the need for planning growth, the need for a new city hall and a full-time paid fire department. Both men also favor allowing development along Interstate 4 to increase the city's tax base.

The two men differed on the development of the Lake Mary Boulevard corridor, which city officials fear may soon resemble State Road 436. Webster said during the campaign development around the highway should be limited to offices and curb cuts should be held to every 400 feet. Jore saw widening the road to six lanes as the

Congress Ends Vacation; Faces Some Tough Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's back to work for the House today, but not too much work, as the congressional summer recess ends and members return to the Capitol to face issues put off until now.

The Senate returns Monday and once all of Congress is back, the lawmakers will take up a crowded agenda that could keep them working until late in the year, although they have set Nov. 1 as their adjournment.

The House was scheduled to begin debate on mostly non-controversial bills for the first few days.

But the Senate must deal with the issue of economic sanctions against the white-minority government of South Africa. On its first day back, the chamber is scheduled to vote on a move to stop a filibuster threatened by conservative opponents of the House-passed sanctions bill.

The 99th Congress has yet to complete work on any of the 13 regular appropriations bills needed to keep the government in business after the Oct. 1 start of the 1986 fiscal year.

Most money bills likely will be passed in the next several weeks but Congress probably will have to approve the usual stop-gap spending bill to keep funds flowing until then.

Such bills traditionally involve intense late-night sessions and last-minute negotiations with the threat of bringing the government to a grinding halt, which happened last year.

The work on tax reform moves into a new phase as the House Ways and Means Committee begins debating the bill later this month. The panel held several weeks of hearings on the issue before the recess.

The Senate Finance Committee opens new hearings this month but is not expected to push for tax reform unless the House committee first succeeds in getting a bill through the House.

A nasty political fight could develop later this month when the Senate will be asked to raise the national debt ceiling, now at $1.824 billion. The House avoided that chore by including a new debt ceiling in the final budget resolution, which Congress approved just before the summer recess.

Final action on the 1986 defense bill — a $302 billion measure — is still pending in the House. The Senate-passed compromise could be in trouble because of Democratic complaints of too-generous spending and doubts about whether the administration will abide by the bill's 50-missile limit on the MX.

The Senate and House Agriculture committees were working before the recess on bills to reauthorize existing farm subsidy programs but budget pressures are forcing them to pare down the bills before seeking floor votes.

Foreign trade and the huge U.S. trade deficit is also expected to be a major issue with strong sentiment building in Congress for protectionist measures.

ty decent record" as mayor put him in office again.

He said residents are apparently satisfied with the way the city is being run under his leadership.

Whittier sees guiding the city through two more years of booming growth as his main task.

"We have to make growth pay for itself. We have the controls in place to make sure there's no haphazard growth," he said.

As mayor, he's the city's chief administrator, with all city departments answering to him. He also sits on the council but has no vote. The job pays $200 a year.

The seat 1 race saw incumbent Bruce up against Hartzler, a 31-year-old Westinghouse employee in his first political race.

Bruce could not be reached for comment. Hartzler said he would have brought more objectivity to the council because he is a political newcomer and a resident with no large land or business holdings in the city.

"It's sort of 'good ole' boy heaven' now on the council," Hartzler said after the returns were in.

He said he ran because he didn't like the direction the council was going and wanted to see it manage growth better.

He said Oviedo "will become another Casselberry" and have similar traffic problems if firmer measures aren't taken to control growth.

In the seat 2 race, Ms. Stout also echoed the call for more growth controls, but she added, what distinguished her from her opponents was a concern for more recreation areas in the city.

"Were getting a lot of people in here... and a lot of kids. We need more recreation areas," said Ms. Stout, former president of the city's little league baseball program.

This is Ms. Stout's second try at politics in Oviedo, having taken an unsuccessful shot at the mayor's post in 1983. Her past record of community service includes being on the board of directors for the Parent-Teacher Association and being president of the University of Central Florida Women's Club.

Those on the five-member council are paid $150 a month and serve two-year terms.

miles of roads in each city, said Lee Constantine, chairman of the council.

If the council chooses to determine the allocation based on the amount each city spent on roads the percentage each city would receive from the tax is: Altamonte Springs, 11.87 percent; Sanford 9.64; Casselberry, 6.59; Longwood, 5.31; Winter Springs, 3.24; Oviedo, 1.33 and Lake Mary, .93 percent.

Between 1980 and 1984 the county spent $24.5 million on roads while the cities spent (in millions): Altamonte Springs $4.8; Sanford, $3.9; Casselberry, $2.6; Longwood, $2.1; Winter Springs, $1.3. Oviedo and Lake Mary spent less than a million, spending $533,927 and $373,879 respectively.

In other business, the council is expected to hear an update on an agreement among the cities concerning annexation and rezoning, and a presentation concerning a scenic improvement board.

Net Rabbits Are Always On The Run

For every top player which appears at the U.S. Open, there are hundreds of great players who did not get into the main draw.

Now the U.S. Open has a very large main draw. One hundred and twenty-eight players in singles. That's a big, big tournament but still many, many talented players are left out.

They are the so-called "Rabbits" of the tour, great players in their own right but not ranked high enough on the computer to get into the main draw of the major prize money events. Many of these players are ranked very high in their own country or were top college players but are not good enough to get into that top 100 or so. It's really astonishing at what has happened to the level of play in tennis.

Some say even higher than that, some say in the top five or 10. The number one player in tennis-poor countries, say Turkey for example, is nowhere near good enough to make a living playing professional tennis. Yet they come, and they try — most go back home frustrated by the system and discouraged and broke.

The top 100 make a great living playing professional tennis. The top 25 will become millionaires. They have lots of chances to earn prize money because there are two or three major prize money tournaments, in various parts of the world, going on each week.

In addition, most have signed endorsements with major equipment companies and the real superstars make tons of money on TV or in magazines selling some product.

But that still leaves thousands of truly world class, truly great tennis players out there trying to realize their dream — trying to make it in professional tennis.

Many travel around together in vans or old cars. Often six or seven will share one motel room. Some do not even have the money for a room and sleep in their cars. Food is most often of the Wendy's and McDonalds variety and a good, well balanced meal is a rare thing for most of these "Rabbits."

It's awesome what they must go through to move up the ladder to get ranked high enough to get into some events without having to qualify. For example, in a recent tournament in Cincinnati, they had a main draw of 64. Sixty of these were taken from the 60 highest players who wanted to enter from the computer rankings.

They were going to hold a qualifying tournament to fill the next four slots. So many players wanted to try to qualify though that they had to hold a pre-qualifying event. In other words many of the players had to try to qualify to qualify.

Two hundred and fifty were in pre-qualifying and 96 were in the qualifying, all of this to fill four slots in the main tournament. If you do get in the main draw by going this route, you have had to play four or five matches in a few days, you usually draw one of the top players in the first round and "poof" your out of that tournament and on to the next town or county to go through the same process again.

The player does earn computer points with each round he advances, even in qualifying, so each little success moves him up the ladder a bit more.

If they might be lucky enough to have a really great week and pull some big upsets and get to the semifinals or finals, they can move up hundreds of spaces in one weekend. The odds of this happening are staggering, though, and it rarely happens.

Life in professional tennis is a lot more than what we see. For every Connors or McEnroe, there are thousands of nameless, faceless "Rabbits" out there trying to make it. The vast majority will try it for a year or two and then get out of pro tennis only to be replaced by thousands more trying to realize that dream.

Spring Forward Or Fall Back?

District 6 Principals To Take Straw Poll On Practice Options

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Spring football practice, loathed by some and adored by others, figures to draw more than straws of interest when the Florida High School Activities Association District 6 principals get together Thursday night at Daytona Beach for their kickoff dinner.

But straws — as in a straw poll — will be all FHSAA Executive Director Fred Rozelle will tabulate at the District 6 business meeting, one of 12 district meetings Rozelle will attend. He will conduct straw polls at all 12. In addition to the spring football practice sampling, another straw vote will be taken concerning starting dates for fall, winter and spring sports.

District 6 includes Seminole, Volusia, Putnam, Flagler and St. John's counties. Rozelle said he will tabulate the results and release them at the October meeting of FHSAA.

Although the question of spring football practice seems to divide proponents and detractors like the War Between The States, Rozelle said he doesn't expect anything too earth shattering to come from the opinion poll.

"Just because we're taking a straw poll doesn't mean any action will be taken," Rozelle said Tuesday. "It would take a pretty good count one way or another to change some minds."

Which, of course, is the purpose of the straw poll. "There has been some concern about spring football and some sports starting too early," said Rozelle.

Football

"We just want to see how the membership schools and principals feel."

According FHSAA handbook, spring football practice is limited to 20 days and confined to the month of May. The first three days must be used for conditioning and players must dress in shirts and shorts. Pads may be worn after the first three days. Contact is allowed.

Depending on which source to which one adheres, some sort of spring football is practiced in five, six or seven states. Reportedly, four of those state allow pads and contact. Florida, of course, is one of those four.

Two coaches — Seminole High's Dave Mosure and Lake Mary High's Harry Nelson — said they feel Florida thrives because of spring football practice. They point to Florida as one of the top four producers of football products to the college ranks. California, Texas and Ohio are the others.

One principal — Lake Mary High's Don Reynolds — said he is staunchly against spring football practice. Reynolds, who represents District 6 as its director, points to its interference with other sports, injuries due to carelessness by coaches and an overemphasis on football. He also said an $11 lawsuit in another state is a factor to consider.

Another principal — Seminole High's Wayne Epps — said he is not too adamant either way but he does feel spring football practice is necessary. Epps said he supported Mosure's viewpoint because he liked the input Mosure gave him on spring practice's positive aspects.

Regardless, the principals — and not the coaches — will consider the following five options for spring football practice:

- Eliminate spring football practice.
- Leave spring football practice the way it is.
- Eliminate spring football practice and add five more days of practice in the fall.
- Eliminate spring football practice as it is now and replace it with 10 days of shirts/shorts conditioning.

Knight: Seminole Will Make Move On Powerhouses

Conference, district, and state champions.

When one looks at these words, the first school that comes to mind probably isn't Seminole High School. But, according to Donalyn Knight, Seminole's fourth-year head coach, this is the year that her team will begin to gain on the rest of Seminole County's swimming powerhouses.

Knight, who coached the Lady Seminoles volleyball team to a regional berth a few years ago, was a standout in volleyball, tennis, and softball at Seminole during her prep days.

Knight said she moved into swimming because of the challenge. "I switched to swimming because it needed to be built up," said Knight.

The Seminoles also have a newcomer on the coaching staff this year as Margie Erler, former University of Florida standout, will take over as assistant coach. "Margie will be a tremendous asset to the team this year," Knight said excitedly.

Although many fine seniors were lost due to graduation, Knight still feels her team will be in good shape. "We're better, as a team, now than we were at mid-season last year," said Knight, a Stetson University graduate.

Some of the seniors lost to graduation were: Stacy Juinto, Kristi Williams, Alicia Huaman, Cindy Phillips, Mike Anderson, Chuck Burgess, and Steve Boney.

Knight said she looks for her veterans to take over. They include: LeAnne Sundvall (sprint freestyle), Kristi Keeling (sprint freestyle), Shawna Cole (butterfly, 200 individual medley), Julie Archambault (freestyle), Chris Sparrow (diving), and Lynette Jacobus for the girls and Jaime Bojanowski (500 free, 200 individual medley), Brantley Robert (sprint freestyle), Scott Carter (sprint freestyle), David Higginbotham (100 backstroke) and Mike Horner (backstroke) for the boys.

Swimming

Coach Knight also feels with the addition of her newcomers, depth will be provided. The depth will come from Stasi Bojanowski (distance freestyle, butterfly), Abby Whitehead, Candy Stone, Alison Willink, Judy Crawshaw, and Shannon Sharrow (breaststroke) for the girls and Kirby Swinehart, Scott Lewis, Dackory Williams, Matt Dudley, Matt Check, Kris Begala, Frank Cosella, and Jay Adcock (freestyle).

The leadership roles will be headed by Stasi and Jamie Bojanowski and Chris Sparrow, according to Knight. "Stasi, Jaime, and Chris have the experience in swimming to assume the leadership the team needs," Knight said.

When asked about the strengths of the team, Knight said that last year helped in the foundation of a solid program. "Last year's team built interest, showed pride, and paved the way for this year," she said. "This year's team knows more of what to expect and what is expected of them."

What is expected of a Seminole swimmer is to get up every morning to practice from 5 to 6:30 a.m. "Most athletes are in bed while we're putting in 3,000-3,500 yard workouts," said Knight.

Even though Knight is unsure about the team's record (last year's was 2-7 for girls and 6-3 for boys), she still feels this is the first year people will be turning heads and noticing swimming at Seminole.

Although still not on a level with the county powerhouses, the Sanford "Swimnotes" will be a factor in county swimming this year.

Byars Takes Broken Foot In Stride

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Keith Byars, Ohio State's All-America tailback, takes things in stride, even a broken right foot that could cost him the coveted Heisman Trophy.

Byars, second to Doug Flutie of Boston College in last year's Heisman voting, and one of the favorites for the award entering this season, injured the foot during practice Monday afternoon.

X-rays taken Monday night revealed what had been feared, and the 6-2, 235-pound back, who led the nation in scoring, rushing and all-purpose running last year as a junior, had a cast placed on the foot Tuesday afternoon.

"There's no need to get down," Byars said after watching the Buckeyes' afternoon drills Tuesday. "If I get down, that's not going to help the injury any. I'm just going to keep a positive attitude."

Byars' injury will force him to miss Ohio State's season opener Sept. 14 against Pittsburgh, but he may be ready for the Buckeyes' visit to Colorado the following week.

"Right now, it doesn't look good about playing in the first game," said Byars, who scored 22 touchdowns and rushed for 1,655 yards last season. "I'm kind of aiming towards the second game (at Colorado), realistically speaking."

"As far as the Heisman Trophy goes, I feel it's still a very attainable goal. I feel one or two games won't make or break the Heisman Trophy for me. There's still a long season ahead and I'm just looking forward to doing the best I can once I do get back in."

The fracture occurred Monday when he planted his right foot while making a cut, but Byars said the foot had hurt for the past several days.

Connors, Evert Lloyd Breeze

NEW YORK (UPI) — On the day the U.S. Open's two biggest winners extended their records for enduring success, each vowed their best is yet to come.

Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert Lloyd scored routine victories Tuesday in the historically-significant eighth day of the national championships.

Connors, winner of five Open singles titles, set a men's record with his 78th Open victory, a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Sweden's Stefan Edberg.

His former fiancée, Evert Lloyd, who has won six Open singles titles, advanced to the semifinals for the 15th successive year by eliminating fifth seed Claudia Kohde-Kilsch, 6-3, 6-3.

Evert Lloyd, using passing shots to stymie the net-rushing tactics of her West German opponent, has won all nine of their career matches.

Evert Lloyd, 30, still looks to the future.

Tennis

"If I thought my best years were over, I'd have retired by now," she said.

Connors, the men's fourth seed, made 18 unforced errors Tuesday, and put in 74 percent of his first serves against Edberg, who had trouble with Connors' lobs.

"I used the lob because he closes in so close he was picking off my passing shots," Connors said. "I lobbed so he'd stutter before closing, making my passing shots more effective."

The victory breaks Vic Seixas' record of 75 Open victories, set between 1940 and 1969.

"I came here to play tennis and win the tournament," Connors said. "I'm in the prime of my career and my life."

The match victory record of 83 is held by Evert Lloyd, playing in her 15th Open.

Her semifinal opponent will be third seed Hana Mandlikova, a winner over fellow Czechoslovakian Helena Sukova Tuesday, 6-3, 6-3.

Connors will play Heinz Gunthardt of Switzerland, who needed three hours and five sets to beat Henri Leconte of France, 7-6 (7-5), 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Gunthardt trailed 2-0 and had a break point against him in the final set before coming back to win the next five games.

Another quarterfinal pairing was decided Tuesday when No. 2 Ivan Lendl and No. 7 Yannick Noah each dropped the first set of fourth-round matches, but rallied to oust teenage opponents.

Lendl said Jamie Yzaga, a 17-year-old from Peru, "anticipates so well and moves so well there seems to be no openings on the court." The Czechoslovakian, runner-up in the last three Opens, prevailed, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0, in a baseline battle.

Noah's amateur opponent, 18-year-old Jay Berger, a sophomore at Clemson, failed to stand up to his opponent's power and shotmaking.

OPEN NOTEBOOK

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Jay Berger, the 18-year-old amateur who reached the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open before losing in four sets to No. 7 seed Yannick Noah, doesn't concern himself with unimportant things — like how to spell his name.

"Asked if his middle name were spelled as 'Arian' or 'Arian,' the Clemson University sophomore replied: 'I'm not sure how to spell it, I've never used it. I think it's with an 'e.'"

No. 3 seed Hana Mandlikova is working out less and winning more.

A two-time finalist at the U.S. Open, the Czechoslovakian spent 18 days of hard training before the French Open. The results were unimpressive as she failed to reach the semifinals of the French or Wimbledon.

"I thought I could be still stronger and faster and better physically," she said. "I was so fit physically that I was overfit and tired in the French. But you have to experience it before you know your body and what it can and can't take."

With the demise of Australia as a tennis power has come the rise of the Europeans. In the women's quarterfinals, the eight players were all from America or Europe. Three are natives of the United States, three of Czechoslovakia and the other two from West Germany. In the men's draw, of the 12 players still alive as play opened Tuesday were four Swedes, three Americans, two Frenchmen, a Swiss, a Peruvian and a Czechoslovakian. No Australian men survived the first round. Only Wendy Turnbull of the women from Down Under advanced past the second round.

Lake Mary Teams Run Different Directions

Boys Add To Foundation; Girls Rebuilding

By Chris Fiater
Herald Sports Writer
 The cross country programs at Lake Mary High seem to be going in different directions in 1985. While girls coach Mike Gibson is facing a rebuilding year in which fielding a complete team is his main goal, boys coach Mark McGee is adding on to the solid foundation he built three years ago.

Although McGee lost five of his top seven from last year's record setting team, he has a strong one-two punch in Ken Rohr and Eric Petersen and a number of runners from last year's junior varsity that are ready to fill in the vacated spots.

The Rams, fourth in the state (4A) last season along with being Seminole County and Five Star Conference Champions, are ranked seventh in the state's preseason poll.

"If we get out in front early my main concern could be getting these kids motivated," McGee said. "The past two years we've been out in front. But this is a totally new team and I think they want to be on top as much as any team I've had in the past."

Rohr, a senior, traded places with graduate Matt Palumbo as the number one runner most of last year. In 1985, Rohr will be counted on to lead the way for the Rams and his hard work over the summer has him ready for the season to begin.

Cross Country

"His strength impresses me more than anything this year," McGee said of Rohr. "He doesn't seem to ever look like he's going to have a bad day. He looks strong even when he's tired. He's got a good, powerful stride and being stronger this year than last should make a lot of difference."

"Last year Ken's style was to go out slow and build confidence as he passed people," added McGee. "Now he's strong enough to go out with the leaders."

Petersen, a sophomore, worked as hard as anyone over the summer and it showed in the Seminole Summertime Jamboree as he ran a personal best by 40 seconds.

"The thing that impresses me about Eric is last year, out of 14 races, he had 13 pr's," McGee said. "I've never seen anyone who can consistently week after week improve like he does. And he does it on desire. He pushes himself to the limit."

With Rohr and Petersen forming a solid top two, senior Marc Eskin and Juniors Jeff Hale and Anthony Surles are currently the number three, four and five runners with sophomores Paul Evans, Peter Schoemann and Ashley Morasch also fighting for a spot on the varsity squad. Junior Dominick Rundle will join the varsity squad when he returns from out of state.

Other runners for the Rama include Junior Jason Mergenov and sophomores Tom Amrhein, Chad Driscoll and Scott Plyler.

"Comparing times from the jamboree last year we've got a hole at number three," McGee said. "That's where I'm expecting the fourth and fifth man to move up or Anthony (Surles) or Dominick (Rundle) to come in. If both come in, we're six strong and in good shape."

Lake Mary actually lost seven seniors from last year's squad along with another runner who was expected to be in the top five this season. The graduates include Matt Palumbo, Bobby Howard, Harold Pitts, John Amrhein and Jim Shepherd from the varsity and John Ames and Chris Bonham from junior varsity. Also, Junior Tom Watt moved out of state.

"Tom (Watt) would have been in the top five," McGee said. "He may have made the difference for us doing great things. But I still expect to do well. The guys have done well filling in the gaps, everyone that has moved up has filled in well for those places we lost."

"By the time the season starts our top two runners will be in the 15s," added McGee. "We need the rest of the guys to be in the 16s. Right now we've got

Landry Calls On White To Start Opener

United Press International
 Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry has named his starting quarterback for the season-opener. He got the name right this time.

Last year the coach said Gary Hogeboom would be his quarterback — only the coach pronounced it "Hogenboom."

Landry had an easier time of it linguistically Tuesday. He said Danny White would start Monday night against Washington.

White missed the final two exhibition games because of bruised ribs while Hogeboom played.

"I think he (White) will be healthy and ready to play," Landry said. "If he is well, he will start."

Landry spoke before a luncheon in which many of Dallas' familiar figures greeted the team. It was at the same function a year ago that Landry announced Hogeboom would start.

That began a troublesome year in which neither White and Hogeboom made major strides and the Cowboys missed the playoffs for the first time in a decade.

"I've talked to Gary already," Landry said. "He understands what we are doing. Whether he likes it or not is another question. I explained what was going on. I've said what I'm doing and that's the way it will be."

The Cowboys go into the season with 10 players — seven rookies and three others — playing with Dallas for the first time.

In roster moves Tuesday: — Cincinnati activated tight end Dan Ross and recalled two cornerbacks who were cut Monday — Lee Davis and Sean Thomas. Wide receiver Clay Pickering, tight end M.L. Harris and cornerback John Simmons were placed on injured reserve. — Houston waived veteran cornerback Willie Tullis and defensive back Allen Lyday but claimed defensive backs Audrey McMillian and Carl Howard off waivers.

Backup quarterback Oliver Luck has a broken ankle and will be placed on injured reserve Wednesday. The Oilers expect to re-sign Brian Ransom, who was released by the club Aug. 27.

— Pittsburgh waived linebacker Craig Bingham, running back Anthony Corley and rookie wide receiver Andrew Baker. Tight end Bennie Cunningham was placed on injured reserve.

— Indianapolis cut defensive back Larry Anderson and agreed to contract terms with running back Albert Bentley.

HALL: WE'RE READY FOR MIAMI
 GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The University of Florida ran practice drills Tuesday to sharpen the Gator attack as the football team prepares for Saturday's game against Miami.

"I feel that we will be ready to play Miami," said Coach Galen Hall. "I know that our kids have worked very hard to prepare for this game. We're looking forward to getting the season underway."

Senior linebacker Alonzo Johnson did not workout with the team Tuesday because of a bruised knee, but is expected to practice Wednesday.

Injuries will keep the following players out of Saturday's contest: running back Reggie Corlew (ankle), nose guard Greg Burden (hamstring), quarterback Brian Massingill (hamstring), linebacker Paul Ritten (neck), defensive back Scott McConico (knee), wide receiver Scott Lang (hamstring).

and lineman Chris Mogle (shoulder). Juniors Frankie Neal, a wide receiver with a sprained ankle, and Steve Stipe, a linebacker with a bruised thigh, may also miss the game.

BOWDEN: PRACTICE HORRIBLE

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — In temperatures above 90 and willing humidity Tuesday, Florida State suffered through what Coach Bobby Bowden called a horrible practice as the Seminoles prepared for Saturday's game against Nebraska.

"Our kids were giving good effort," Bowden said. "But we looked just awful. We practiced indoors all last week because of the rain, and we played our first game in an air conditioned stadium. I am truly concerned about our physical conditioning for this game."

Bowden said Nebraska will have the advantage if it is hot Saturday.

Eliminate spring football practice as it is now and replace it with 10 days of shirts/shorts conditioning and add five more days to fall practice.

Rozelle, who doesn't have a vote, said he feels the biggest problem with spring football practice is its time of the year. "May is just a bad time of the year for it," he said.

Echoing Rozelle's sentiments and taking them a giant step further is Reynolds.

"I am against spring football practice," Reynolds said. "I'm going to do everything I can to change it."

Reynolds said his reasons were many. "The time of the year is bad. The kids should be encouraged to get involved in other sports," he said. "We have a football season and that's time enough for them."

"Other problems exist too. We have some coaches who say 'If you don't go out in the spring, you can't play in the fall.' That's not fair to the kid. A lot of these kids have already played three sports and they don't want to go through spring football practice."

"I feel most of the skills that are learned in the spring are lost by the fall anyway. I just don't think we need it and I think if you'd poll the assistant coaches, they wouldn't want it either. A lot of them have coached all year and they're tired. They don't want to go to football practice again in May."

Nelson, on the contrary, didn't hesitate to differ with his boss. "Leave it the way it is," he said. "Adding five days in the fall is ridiculous. You've got five weeks to get ready anyway. That's enough. What would you want six?"

Nelson then threw up the argument about Florida's status as a football-player producing state. "Right now, Florida is in the top five high school football producers in the country," Nelson said. "We might be number one after watching our kids outplay Georgia (in the Florida-Georgia All-Star Game)."

"The one program that carries the load for them all is the one they want to de-emphasize."

Nelson said putting any modification on football would open the door to cheating. "If I walk up to my principal and ask him if I can cheat, Mr. Don T. Reynolds will say 'no way,'" said Nelson. "But there will be other cheaters in the state because other principals will not stop illegal practices."

"It's the good guys, the ones who follow the rules who will be at a disadvantage. They are the ones who get hurt."

Epps, meanwhile, didn't voice the concern of the other three but said he was in favor of keeping spring football practice. One main reason Epps stressed was its role as a unifying factor.

"I do think they need spring practice to get kids motivated for the summer," he said. "It gives them a chance to get to know each other and a chance for the seniors to assume the leadership. It keeps them pulling together."

"It's good that they get together and put in a little work. I think it pays off in extra motivation. Our weightroom participation showed that was all a part of them being together in the spring."

Epps said Mosure's concern made an impression on him. "That summer is a long time. It's good for coaches to work with them before summer," he said. "That's one of the reasons I'm for it."

"I have a philosophy if the coach is doing good job, then I'm going to vote for what he wants. My philosophy is to support my coach."

His coach, Mosure, said his coaching future could be seriously effected by a change in spring practice. "Everytime they have one of these straw polls, I'm scared to death," the first-year Seminole head coach said. "The only thing that would make me consider getting out of coaching would be the elimination of spring football practice."

He said the system is perfect and doesn't need modification.

"Keep spring football practice the way it is," Mosure said. "Any dilution in the format would seriously erode the quality of football in the state."

"Year in and year out, we along with Texas, California and Ohio, send more football players to colleges than any state in the nation. There is absolutely no justifiable reason to eliminate spring football as it stands right now in May."

"It does not encroach on any other activity or sport, it keeps kids busy and it allows us to keep better track of the academics of students."

Mosure also said injuries and costs are not a factor. "In my 12 years of coaching (Miami area and Seminole), I had one serious injury in spring football practice. That was a knee injury and the kid came back with legs that were stronger than ever in the fall."

Concerning starting dates for each season, Rozelle said Aug. 15 will be the proposed starting date for the fall sports, Nov. 1 for winter sports and Jan. 15 for spring sports.

Saberhagen Makes Cy Young Pitch — Niekro Nabs 298th

United Press International
Bret Saberhagen made the perfect pitch Tuesday night — for the American League Cy Young Award.

Saberhagen notched his 17th victory by turning in a seven-hitter and pitching the Kansas City Royals to a 3-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. The victory, coupled with Detroit's 14-8 victory over California, reduced the Angels' lead over the Royals to 1 1/2 games in the American League West.

Saberhagen's victory did not come without a moment of truth, however. After Harold Baines homered to pull the White Sox within one run, Saberhagen struck out the AL home run leader, Carlton Fisk, looking for the final out of the game.

"When a home run can tie it up," Saberhagen said, "the last guy you want to see up there is the league leader. He's been hitting home runs all season. He hit a home run against me earlier in Chicago."

Saberhagen fell behind in the count to Fisk 2-1, then came in with a waist-high fastball on the inside part of the plate that the Chicago catcher ripped far but foul down the left-field line.

A.L. Baseball

"It was a good pitch," Saberhagen said, "but it wasn't good enough."

His next offering was a fastball low and away that home plate umpire Larry Young called a strike, prompting Saberhagen to leap off the mound and pump his right arm into the air as if he had just thrown a no-hitter or clinched the pennant.

"The last thing I expected was a strikeout," Saberhagen said. "That's why I got so excited. I wanted him to hit a ground ball or a fly ball to right. It never crossed my mind that I would strike him out."

Tigers 14, Angels 8

At Detroit, Kirk Gibson hit a pair of two-run homers and pair of doubles to knock in five runs and propel the Tigers. Dan Petry, 14-11, staggered through five innings for the victory. Reggie Jackson hit two homers for the Angels, giving him 525 in his career. Kirk McCaskill fell to 9-10.

A's 3, Orioles 2

At Baltimore, pinch-hitter Steve Henderson's two-out RBI single in the eighth lifted the A's. Jose Rijo, 3-1, had a no-hitter through five innings before allowing a leadoff homer to John Shelby in the sixth. Jay Howell earned his 24th save. Mike Boddicker, 12-14, took the loss.

Yankees 6, Mariners 3

At New York, Dan Pasqua drove in three runs with a homer and a double to help Phil Niekro record his 298th career victory. The Yankees moved within 3 1/2 games of idle first-place Toronto in the AL East. Niekro, 14-9, pitched 7 2-3 innings and has won his last four decisions. Dave Righetti notched his 25th save. Bill Swift, 4-9, was the loser.

Twins 4, Brewers 3

At Minneapolis, Randy Bush and Mark Salas each collected two hits, and Steve Howe pitched 3 2-3 innings of hitless relief to lead the Twins. Howe, 2-3, retired the last 10 batters. The loser was Danny Darwin, 7-16.

Red Sox 6, Rangers 4

At Arlington, Texas, Jim Rice drove in runs in each of his first three at-bats and had a four-hit game, including his 24th homer, to spark the Red Sox. It was Rice's second four-hit game this year, both coming against Texas. Bruce Hurst, 10-10, struck out 10 over 7 1-3 innings.

Jai Alai Has Record Opening

FERN PARK — The Orlando-Seminole Jai Alai Fronton had planned to have its biggest opening ever Monday for its 25th anniversary and the patrons in Central Florida cooperated to the fullest.

Attendance-wise and handle-wise it was our biggest opening ever," said parimutuels manager James "Buzz" Bussard

Tuesday. "Which also made it our biggest matinee ever."

The attendance for the matinee was 4,004 fans. They bet $304,141. For the evening performance, 3,046 bet $223,478 for a single-day total of $527,619.

"It was the best opening we've had in 25 years," continued Bussard. "There was really some outstanding Jai Alai played, too."

The Fronton has matinees on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at noon. Performances are at 7 every night of the week except Sunday.

Admission is $1 for general, $2 for reserved and $5 for boxes. Discount coupons are available in the Herald. — Sam Cook them in the low 17s. Our aim is for all the guys to be in the low 16s by the end of the year. If we do that, we've got a shot to do as well or better than last year. And the day we get them all under 16 is the day we win it all."

While the Lake Mary boys program is thriving, the girls team has a long way to go.

As of the end of last week, the Lady Rams had a total of nine runners with three of the top seven returning from last year. Coach Gibson is hoping junior Sue Kingsbury, who has been hampered by a hip injury since late in her freshman season, will be back in '85.

"We just want to survive," Gibson said. "It's definitely a rebuilding year. Right now what we're trying to do is at least form a team of seven so we can have a varsity for our first meet. We don't have a JV right now."

The top returning runner for the Lady Rams is sophomore Heather Heikkila, one of the top freshmen in Central Florida a year ago. Also returning are junior Lisa Shelby and senior Jodie McCurdy.

Rounding out the squad are seniors Marjan Stonerock and Debbie Petry, sophomores Tabitha Gano and Oneyke Berry and freshman Debbie Smith. Another ninth grader who could help out that just returned from vacation is Stephanie Gumm who Gibson said has run in middle school cross country meets since sixth grade.

If Kingsbury gets the okay from her doctor and is able to run, it could make the difference between a rebuilding year and a good year for the Lady Rams. As a freshman, she finished ninth in the state (4A).

"I don't know if she's coming out yet," Gibson said of Kingsbury. "Her hip injury is still giving her trouble. She says she's ready to run but still has to get the final OK from her doctor."

"Sue and Heather (Heikkila) could form a good one-two if Sue came out," added Gibson. "They hold the whole key."

Of the eight runners who have come out, Gibson said Shelby has made the most progress.

"Shelby has really impressed me with her running so far, she's working really hard," he said. "Marjan Stonerock and Tabitha Gano have looked good, too."

Two runners who could have a lot to do with Lake Mary's success in '85 are McCurdy and Smith.

"Jodie (McCurdy) could really help us out if she gets fired up and gets going," Gibson said. "And Debbie (Smith) has days when she looks brilliant and then days she has trouble keeping up with the older girls."

Graduates from last year's squad are Fran Gordon and Liz Stone while another of the top five, Niki Hays, decided not to run cross country this season.

"We're still recruiting," Gibson said. "We make announcements every day and the girls are asking other people to come out. We need more freshmen and sophomores."

Cook Of The Week

9 Kids And 25 Grandchildren Add Up To A Lot of Meals For CB Radio Buff

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

"My greatest desire is to get all my children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren together one day and have a picture taken of us all, but I don't think there's a camera big enough," says Sue Cornell, our Cook of the Week. Nine kids, 25 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren is a tall order for any photographer, but, Sue laughs, "I'm still planning on it."

Sue classifies herself as a "tired-retired waitress" who put in about 30 years of waitressing between babies and homemaking. "In my younger days," says Sue, "I worked in truck stops and I learned to know what my customers ordered and when I saw them enter the door I'd call their order into the kitchen and have their coffee ready when they were seated."

Sue, her husband Jerry, and a feisty little Chihuahua-Terrier dog named Squeaky have been Sanfordites for many years. Originally from Monterey, Ind. Sue loves to reminisce about her childhood. "I was born in the same farm house that my four brothers and four sisters were born in, right next to a big red school house. We all attended the same school so we got to go home for lunch every day. My Dad was a farmer and didn't make a lot of money back then, so Mom would make us cornstarch pudding for lunch just about every day. We had our own milk from the cows and Mom would churn her own butter." Many simple but nourishing foods came right from the garden to the table in those days.

Canning vegetables and fruit was a normal occurrence on the farm and Sue remembers, "Mother used to take us younger kids to pick huckleberries and blackberries." Sue always loved to cook and started picking up pointers at a young age. "I remember one time, when I was about 7 years old, mother was frying turtle in a skillet and the crazy thing was moving. It fascinated me — I thought it was still alive!" says Sue.

Coming from a large family of four boys and five girls, Sue remembers learning to cook family style dishes so when her children came along, they were fed right from the table. "None of my children were given prepared baby foods," says Sue. "Mother taught me that certain foods could be given to babies, like mashed potatoes and vegetables, that were nourishing and good for them." Married at a very tender age, Sue says, "I grew up with my kids. My oldest daughter was expecting her first child at the same time I was expecting my last."

"When my husband and I moved to Interlachen with our youngest child, we pitched a tent at a camp site for six weeks until we could find a place to live," Sue says. With great trepidation, Sue tells how her vivid imagination along with an intense fear of snakes helped her to lose weight. "Someone at the campground told me that rattlesnakes and coral snakes lived in the Palmetto bushes, and there was a Palmetto bush about six feet outside our tent door. Well, I was scared stiff and walked all the time so I lost a lot of weight. I kept on the move because I was so scared of snakes, and I still am," laughs Sue.

When the Cornells moved to Sanford, they joined a CB club. Many citizens band radio buffs may recall talking to Sue and Jerry whose "handles" were Bubbles and Rat Trap. The Tri-Country Road Runners were a dedicated group of CB members who donated funds raised by "jamborees" and other events to benefit hard of hearing children, and Sue and Jerry were involved in this purpose. "I really enjoyed the CB when we were active, and we met a lot of nice people through it," says Sue.

A gallery of family photos lines the dining room wall at Sue's comfy home in Sanford which helps remind her of past get-togethers and special occasions. "Six of the children and their families are living in Indiana, and the rest live in Texas," says Sue.

When Sue speaks of her husband, Jerry, she says, "He spoils me. He's good to me and good for me. And he's very handy; he can do almost anything." Sue proudly displays a painting by Jerry which hangs over the mantel of their fireplace which was designed by him. Even though Sue is a very busy and talented lady herself, she is especially proud of her husband's accomplishments. "He can make something from nothing," says Sue. "And he's a very happy, positive person."

Sue keeps herself busy at the sewing machine, one of her favorite pastimes, by making "mostly wearing apparel" but also

Hormone Test No Trouble; How To Use The Info Is

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — What are the symptoms of hormone imbalance? How do doctors test for this?

DEAR READER — Although there are many different hormones in the body, I assume that you are referring to the male and female hormones, testosterone and estrogen.

All men and women are, to one degree or another, under the control of their hormones. Our bodies become adapted to our own hormone levels; in fact, we take on certain characteristics because of these chemicals. As we age, hormone levels diminish and we universally experience a phenomenon akin to withdrawal: Women stop menstruating and men lose sexual drive. Other changes take place, too; I am sure you are familiar with many of the consequences of hormone depletion in both sexes. Sometimes our bodies quietly adjust to the falloff in hormone levels, but, more often, this adjustment is turbulent. Hormone replacement must be considered for aging men and women whose lives have become difficult as a result of this.

Doctors know when a woman's hormones have dipped below normal: She enters menopause. Tests are not usually necessary, since the condition is obvious. For men, however, the situation is ordinarily less clear. Is a particular man losing potency because of inadequate testosterone or because of circulatory blockage, depression or ill health? In these cases, an analysis of blood testosterone can determine whether hormone replacement should be considered.

The final word is not yet in regarding the risks of hormone replacement. The technique is simple, involving shots or pills, but some studies indicate that artificial hormone stimulation in elderly patients may predispose both elderly men and women to heart disease and cancer. Individual men and women can have their hormone blood levels measured. The problem is what to do with the figures once they have been obtained.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been running for six years. Recently, after a race, the bone near my ankle hurt so much that I could hardly walk. A bone specialist said I had a stress fracture. How did I develop it? How will it affect my running?

DEAR READER — Repeated forceful stresses to any bone can cause tiny cracks to occur. In runners, the weight-bearing ankle and leg bones are particularly susceptible to these small fractures.

If you are competing, you are training many hours a week.

That means a lot of running and the increased probability of stress fractures. For now, you have to stop running and wait four to six weeks for the fracture to heal. You'll know when it does because you will be able to walk and jog without pain.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Bridge players possess diverse skills. One player will be a top-notch bidder, another will defend hands with diabolical cunning, and still another will exercise consummate skill as declarer. I have long thought that the most dangerous opponent on defense on the North American bridge scene was Mark Lair, but recently he gave me a sample of his excellent declarer play.

Let me add a footnote to the bidding. The final pass by East was not a precipitate action. In fact, he first huddled for quite a long while. There's nothing wrong with that, but you'd better be aware that against the likes of Mark Lair, you can be figuratively exposing your hand.

Lair ruffed the second club. How would you play next? Most of us would go to dummy's heart ace and lead the queen of diamonds. That will set you. West will win the king and play to partner's spade ace, and another club play will promote the setting trick with West's 10-9 of diamonds. Lair realized that the slow pass from East indicated a probable diamond void. To avoid the trump promotion via another club lead, he played a low diamond from his hand at trick three. The defense was now helpless. If West rose with the king and put East in with a spade, declarer could simply ruff the third club with the diamond ace and draw the remaining trumps with dummy's Q-J.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

September 5, 1985

The year ahead will be an exciting one for you because you'll be more adventurous and enterprising. However, be careful that your boldness does not exceed your common sense.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're disturbed about something today, don't stew about it in silence. Problems can be resolved only if they are brought out into the open. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. To get yours, send $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The results could be undesirable if you let others make decisions for you today in situations that could cost you money. Think for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you're the type of person who goes all out when you want to achieve an important objective, but today this may not be true and the results will reflect it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Allow yourself adequate time today for each task you have to perform. If you start racing against the clock, your work will suffer and may even have to be scrapped.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Taking financial risks on the unknown could be a costly folly today. Before plunking down your hard-earned cash, be sure you know exactly what you're getting into.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be careful today not to involve any outsiders if you happen to have a disagreement with your mate. Their input could make a bad situation worse.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Unless you have something nice to say about others today, it's best you keep your thoughts to yourself. What you regard as constructive criticism, they may deem impertinence.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be financially careless or impulsive today, especially where your mistakes could cost others as well as yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Before pointing the finger at others today, make sure you're not the culprit who is causing friction in your household. Set a good example.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Instead of viewing the outcome of events positively today, you might visualize yourself as a loser and behave accordingly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Remorse will set in later for money that you waste today on frivolous pursuits. Be prudent so you won't have to pay the piper.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The least effective method you can use today is to try to intimidate underlings. Praise will promote good performances; threats will breed resentment.

Evelyn Hart Named To National LAVFW Post At Dallas Convention

Evelyn Hart of Longwood, participated in the 72nd National Convention of the Ladies Auxillary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars held Aug. 16-23 at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas, Texas.

The convention marked the beginning of her term as National Chairman for the 14 states in the Southern Conference for the Community Activities program through which members raise funds for charities, serve dinners to senior citizens, help with local blood banks and conduct numerous other community services.

Highlighting the national convention was the presentation of $70,995 to Marne Friesen from the Statue of Liberty Renovation Foundation by National President Glenneta Vogelsang from Cape Girardeau, Mo. The check represented donations from Auxiliaries and individual members from all over the country toward the effort to preserve the Statue, which was also Mrs. Vogelsang's symbol during her 1984-85 term of office.

Todd Bizzell accepted a $10,000 donation to be used for cancer research at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. Bizzell, who is from Jackson, Mo., knows the value of research since four new drugs have been developed and used to treat him at the hospital since he was first diagnosed as having Hodgkin's Disease 10 years ago.

He is now in remission for the second time and in recognition of his fight against the disease, his successful efforts to build up his body so that he could realize his dream of playing football, and his efforts to help others by participating in hospital fund-raising activities, the Auxillary honored him with the AMERICAN SPIRIT AWARD.

The CARING AMERICAN AWARD was presented to Eileen Fulton, 25-year star of "As the World Turns," along with $1,000 for the Harvard University Facial Pain Research Fund. Ms. Fulton has actively volunteered with UNICEF, the March of Dimes and Cerebral Palsy.

Abby Dalton who plays Julia Cumson on "Falcon Crest" was honored with the SERVE AMERICA AWARD for her volunteer efforts with the Arthritis

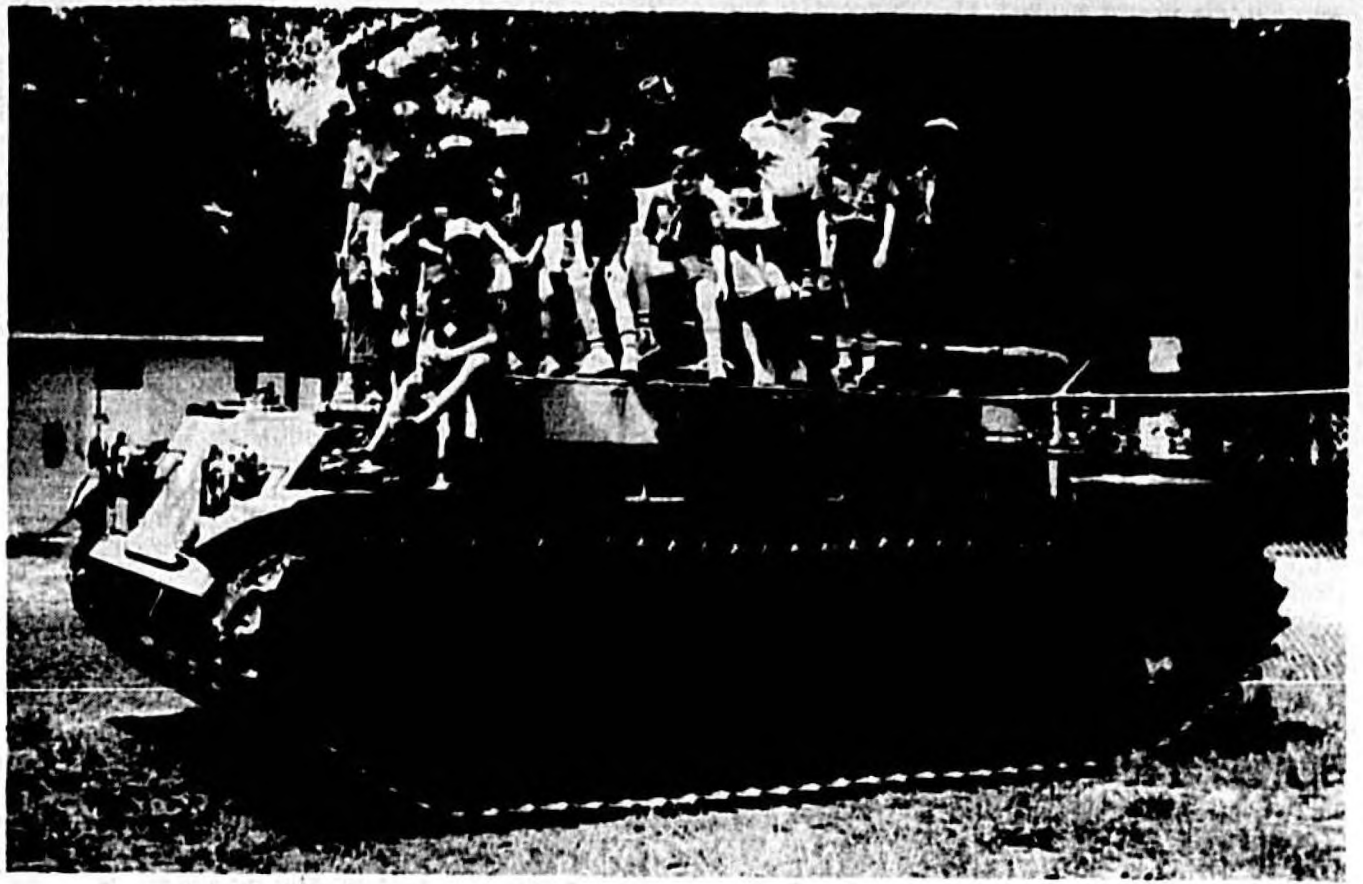

Foundation for which she serves as national spokesman. She also accepted a $1,000 donation for the Foundation.

1984 Olympic Gold Medal Light Flyweight Boxing Champion, Paul Gonzales, East Los Angeles, CA, received the GUARDIAN OF LIBERTY AWARD and $5,000 for the American Cancer Society. The Auxillary has made several donations in the past to help the Society's educational effort.

Alice Renick of Metuchen, N.J., was named the UNSUNG HEROINE OF 1985 and received $1,000 for her efforts to help children with cancer and for organizing parents' support groups.

Other highlights included: a presentation of $5,000 for cancer research to the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas; Introduction of the Outstanding Junior Girl; the Introduction of the Young American Creative Patriotic Art Competition first place winner; and joint activities with the VFW such as the parade.

The election and installation of the 1985-86 national officers at today's session concluded the convention. Newly-elected National President, Lucile Suchina of Houston, Tex., asked the 4,000 attendees to return home and urge all 720,591 members to conduct drug abuse awareness programs, citizenship classes for aliens, Buddy Poppy sales to help needy veterans, fund-raisers for cancer aid and research, and numerous other programs which serve the community to work to keep AMERICA - ALWAYS FREE.

Scouting Around

There's nothing quite as exciting as a field trip for Boy Scouts, especially during the long, hot summer. Before school started, Cub Scouts Pack 507, Grace United Methodist Church, spent Saturday touring the National Guard Army in DeLand. Boarding an old infantry tank was just part of the day's fun for the scouts who were accompanied by some of their parents and Scout Master Dennis Butler.

'Missirs' Misses The Mark In Search For Salutation

DEAR ABBY: In my job, I write many letters to people whose gender is unknown. In these cases, the proper form of address always presents a problem.

Understandably, "Gentleman" or "Dear Sirs" is an affront to women in positions of authority, yet alternatives seem inadequate.

"Ladies and Gentlemen" assumes the presence of both sexes, which very often is not the case. "Greetings" sounds like a summons from the government. "Sirs and/or Madams" has almost a bawdy ring.

Abby, we need a new word. May I suggest "Missirs"? It covers all the bases: Miss, Mrs., Mister and Sirs.

Only you, Dear Abby, could introduce such a word to the world and put it into international usage virtually overnight. Secretaries all over the world would thank you. Please get this started in time for Christmas cards.

GAYLE IN SNOHOMISH, WASH.

DEAR GAYLE: Although "Missirs" would indeed cover all the bases, I doubt if it would catch on. In the first place, it looks like a typo, as though the writer started to write Miss, then changed it to Sirs.

Also, "Mis-anything" suggests a mistake, a misunderstanding, a misfired missile, or a miss that's as good as a mile. In any case, nice try, Gayle, but "Missirs" just misses.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "V.H., Santa Fe, N.M.," asking if he should forward the information he had about the German soldier killed in World War II, so his family would know the circumstances of his death, prompts my first letter to you.

You hit the nail on the head when you said, "Their families never forget, and would be grateful for any information."

I know. I lost a brother in World War II when his ship, the U.S.S. Salute AM294, went down somewhere off the coast of Brunel, Borneo. My brother was never found, and I yearn to know what happened. Oh, how I would love to hear from any of the brave young men who served aboard that minesweeper, so they could tell me the events leading up to the loss of my brother and his ship.

WAYNE E. SHAFER, SHEPHERDVILLE, KY.

DEAR WAYNE: If there are any survivors of your brother's ship, I hope they write to me: Dear Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

DEAR ABBY: I invited a friend and her husband to my home for dinner. I also invited this friend's best friend and her husband. They all accepted the invitation, and I bought all the necessary food, wine, etc., which came to quite a lot of money.

I started to prepare the dinner at 9 a.m. as they were expected at 5 p.m. At 2 p.m. my friend called to say that the other couple couldn't make it. I said, "I'm very sorry, but I'm still expecting you and your husband." Then she said, "No, we'll take a raincheck for some other time when my friend and her husband are free."

I was hurt and very angry and said, "I have never heard of such a thing! What does your friend's canceling have to do with you?"

She replied, "Nothing, really. I hate to do this to you, and if I were in your shoes, I would kill me!"

SPEECHLESS IN SANTA ANA

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I, too, am speechless. No rational woman should behave in such an outrageous manner. Do you really need these people for friends?

Free Seminar Set On Stress Control

Heart disease, high blood pressure (hypertension), ulcers, cardiovascular problems, mental breakdowns and other symptoms may show up as a result of stressful situations faced everyday.

How To Control Stress In Your Life is the seminar topic being presented free to the public on Sept. 26. The seminar will be held at the Rich Plan Center in the Altamonte Mall at 7 p.m.

Speaker Dr. Rose Joya, an Orlando-area specialist in nutrition, will discuss coping with stress signals.

*Physical responses to stress are the same whether we are involved in a real fight or just battling our minds," says Dr. Joya. "Heart rate increases, blood pressure rises, stress hormones such as adrenaline and noradrenaline are released during brain activity changes, blood levels can take their toll on various nutrients in our body, especially Vitamins C and B-complex."

The seminar, How To Control Stress In Your Life, is a public service of the Rich Plan. Reservations are needed. Call 322-3663 and ask for marketing.

Correction

The Evening Herald's "Cook of the Week" column, compiled and written by Herald Correspondent Dorothy Greene, appears weekly on Wednesday.

In the Aug. 28 column, the milk was omitted from the Coconut Custard Pie recipe of Margaret Wood. The Herald regrets the error.

COCONUT CUSTARD PIE

- 1 unbaked 9-inch pie crust
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Approx. 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 1/4 cups flaked coconut

Mix all ingredients well and pour into pie crust. Bake at 350° degrees for 40-50 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

- 1 can mushrooms
- 1/2 cup parsley flakes
- Dash of garlic
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 stick of margarine

Put vegetables in a saucepan, cover with water and cook until tender. Add mushrooms, tuna and margarine. Season to taste. Simmer about 45 minutes, then make a thin thickening and add to mixture. Serves 4 to 6.

AUNT MARY'S COLE SLAW

- 1 head cabbage
- 1 large carrot
- 1 can (16 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained (reserve juice)
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup coconut
- 3/4 cup miniature

marshmallows

Salad dressing
Shred cabbage and carrot. Add pineapple, raisins, marshmallows and coconut. Add reserved pineapple juice to about 1 cup salad dressing and blend with cabbage mixture until well moistened. Chill. Serves 8 to 10.

TUNA DIP

- 1 1/2 oz. can tuna (in water), drained
- 1 8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt

Blend all ingredients with mixer until smooth. Garnish with a dash of paprika. Serve with your favorite crackers or chips.

enjoys stitching curtains, draperies and anything else that needs the attention of a sewing machine. "It's very relaxing," she says. Sue is also an Avon representative and has built up quite a clientele. "I had never sold anything in my life," says Sue, "but with a little encouragement from my husband, I tried it. It was slow getting started, but now I have customers calling me on the phone for products, rather than my going door to door." Sue has won many lovely gift items from Avon for having the highest sales average in her group.

Living up to her nickname, "Bubbles" amusingly recalls her trials and errors in the kitchen. "The first thing I learned to cook at home was cornstarch pudding. Then I decided to cook some butter beans one day, but I didn't know they would swell up," she laughs, "so I had about 4 or 5 pots of butter beans before I got done! That was some experience, but I learned that you don't use a whole bag of beans at one time. Then I decided to try baking cakes, using my mother's cook book. I had to learn a lot on my own when I left home to get married. It took a lot of experimenting."

Sue's treasury of recipes is made to order for anyone with a sweet tooth and are old favorites at the Cornells.

CORN STARCH PUDDING

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 eggs
- 5 tablespoons corn starch
- 4 cups milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine sugar, salt and corn starch in saucepan. Beat eggs and add to milk. Gradually add egg and milk mixture to corn starch mixture in pan and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Cover and continue to cook for 10 minutes over low heat. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Chill. Serve plain or with fresh fruit or jam. Serves 6 to 8.

Note: For chocolate corn starch pudding, add 2 envelopes no-melt unsweetened chocolate or 2 squares baking chocolate, melted.

RHUBARB CAKE

- 1/2 cup margarine
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 cups diced rhubarb
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup sour milk
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- Pinch of salt

Mix all ingredients well. Pour batter into well greased and floured 8x11 inch pan. Sprinkle top of cake with a mixture of 1/2 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Bake at 350° for about 45 minutes. Cut into serving size pieces.

OATMEAL CAKE

- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup quick cooking rolled oats
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

Pour boiling water over oats; cook to lukewarm. Mix eggs, sugars, shortening, nuts and dates. Sift together remaining dry ingredients and stir into date and nut mixture. Add oatmeal. Bake in loaf pan at 350° for about 60 minutes.

POOR MAN'S CLAM CHOWDER

- 5 potatoes, peeled and diced
- 3 stalks celery, diced
- 2 carrots, diced
- 4 onions, chopped
- 2 cans tuna (6 1/2 oz.)

Bananas, Pineapple Offer Dining Venture

BANANA PUNCH MILKSHAKE
 1 1/2 cups milk
 1/2 cup Hawaiian Punch concentrate
 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
 1 small banana
 4 scoops strawberry or vanilla ice cream
 Combine ingredients in blender container. Cover and run on high until smooth and well blended. 3 servings (8 oz. each)

BANANA ENERGIZER SANDWICH
 1/4 cup chunky peanut butter
 1 tablespoon honey
 8 slices raisin nut bread
 1/4 cup shredded coconut
 2 bananas, sliced
 Mix peanut butter and honey. Toast bread, if desired. Spread peanut butter mixture evenly over 4 slices bread. Sprinkle with coconut. Top with banana slices and remaining bread. 4 sandwiches

Helpful Hint: If not eaten right away, moisten bananas with lemon juice to prevent browning.

SPINACH SALAD WITH BANANA
 6 cups spinach leaves
 3 bananas, sliced
 Lemon juice
 1 pkg. (14 oz.) cooked ham, cut into 2-inch strips
 1/2 cup natural raisins
 1/4 cup chopped walnuts (optional)
 6 cherry tomatoes, cut in halves
 Ginger dressing*

Thoroughly clean spinach, drain and tear into bite-size pieces. Moistened banana with lemon juice to prevent browning. Combine all ingredients. Serve with Ginger Dressing. 4-6 servings.

*Ginger Dressing:
 1/2 cup oil
 1/2 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 1/4 teaspoon onion powder
 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Combine all ingredients; mix until well blended. Approximately 1 cup.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD WITTY YOGURT DRESSING
 1/2 cup plain yogurt
 2 tablespoons orange juice
 1 tablespoon honey
 1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel
 1/4 fresh pineapple, peeled and cut in wedges
 1/4 papaya, peeled and cut in wedges

1 cup sliced banana
 3 curly leaf or romaine lettuce leaves
 1 tablespoon toasted sliced almonds, wheat germ or sunflower seeds
 Combine yogurt, orange juice, honey and orange peel. Arrange fruit over lettuce. Serve with dressing. Top with almonds. 1 serving.

BANANAS FOSTER
 6 tablespoons butter
 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 4 bananas, halved crosswise, then lengthwise
 3 tablespoons banana-flavored liqueur

3 tablespoons light rum
 1 quart vanilla ice cream
 Melt butter in chafing dish or skillet. Stir in sugar and cinnamon; cook over medium heat until bubbly. Add bananas; cook 3-4 minutes, basting bananas constantly with syrup. In small saucepan, combine liqueur and rum; heat just until warm. Carefully ignite; pour over bananas. Baste bananas with sauce. Serve immediately with ice cream. 8 servings.

FRESH PINEAPPLE PORK
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1 1/2 pounds lean pork, thinly sliced
 1 fresh pineapple
 2 slices ginger root, cut 1/4-inch thick
 1 clove garlic
 2 tablespoons oil
 1/2 cup water
 1/4 cup cider vinegar
 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 cup sliced celery
 Hot cooked rice or fried rice

Combine soy sauce and meat; cover. Let marinate 30 minutes. Cut pineapple including crown in half. Using curved knife, scoop fruit out of halves, leaving 1/4-inch shell. Remove and discard core. Cut fruit in cubes (about 3 cups); set aside. Drain shells on paper towels. Peel and crush ginger and garlic. In wok or large skillet, heat oil. Stir-fry ginger and garlic 2 minutes. Remove. Add meat, stir-fry until browned; remove. Add water, vinegar, sugar and cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add celery and pineapple. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and cook 3 minutes. Add meat; heat through. Spoon into pineapple shells. Serve with rice. 4-6 servings.

TROPICAL DESSERT IN PAPAYA
 2 bananas, sliced
 Lemon juice
 2 papayas, halved and seeded
 2 kiwifruits, peeled and sliced
 1 cup sour cream
 1 tablespoon lime juice
 1 tablespoon chopped candied ginger
 1 teaspoon honey
 Moistened banana with lemon juice to prevent browning. Spoon fruit into papaya halves. Combine sour cream, lime juice, ginger and honey. Top fruit with sour cream mixture. 4 servings.

Variation: Seedless grapes may be substituted for kiwifruit.
SUMPTUOUS PARTY PLATTER
 1 fresh pineapple
 2 pkg. (4 oz. each) sliced cooked ham
 1 pkg. (6 oz.) sliced salami
 1 avocado
 8 green onions
 2 medium tomatoes, sliced
 1 pkg. (6 oz.) sliced Swiss cheese, cut into 1 1/2-inch strips
 Lettuce
 Mustard Dressing*
 Peel pineapple; cut into 16 spears. Remove core. Roll ham slices. Roll salami slices; secure with toothpicks, if necessary. Peel and put avocado; cut into 10 wedges. On lettuce-lined serving dish, arrange pineapple, ham, salami, avocado, green onions, tomatoes and cheese. Serve with Mustard Dressing. 8-10 servings.

*Mustard Dressing:
 1/4 cup salad oil
 3 tablespoons red wine
 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
 1 egg
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Place ingredients in blender container. Cover and blend on medium until smooth. 1 1/4 cups.
SAVORY TROPICAL BEEF
 1 pound top round steak
 Salt and pepper
 2 tablespoons oil
 1 green pepper, cut in strips
 1 medium onion, cut in wedges
 1 can (6 fl. oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
 1/2 cup tomato catsup
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 1 cup cubed fresh pineapple

2 bananas, sliced
 Hot cooked rice
 Season meat with salt and pepper. In skillet, saute meat in 1 tablespoon hot oil until cooked. Remove and set aside. Saute green pepper and onion in remaining 1 tablespoon oil 1 minute. Combine juice, catsup, cornstarch, soy sauce and vinegar. Stir to dissolve cornstarch. Add catsup mixture and pineapple to skillet. Bring to boil; reduce heat and cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add meat and bananas; heat through. Serve over rice.

Microwave Magic

Small Portion Recipes Ideal For 1 Or 2

Many of us have gone the full cycle from just the two, to the family with children, and back to two or perhaps just one. This entails a change in the amounts and kinds of food that we prepare.

Sometime it is even more difficult for the person preparing the food because most recipes are for four or six servings. There are two obvious advantages to this smaller family unit: It's less expensive, and when using the microwave oven it takes even less time because the smaller amounts of food the shorter the cooking times.

The supermarkets are well aware of the smaller family units and provide a good variety of food in smaller cans or resealable packaging. When you buy frozen vegetables, bigger is better for the small household. You can open a poly-bag, remove what you need and reclose the bag.

The right utensils are needed to cook smaller amounts. Inexpensive smaller microwave-safe round and oval casseroles of 12, 14, 15 and 22 ounces would probably provide for most needs. When you want soup for two try one of these small portion recipes.

MANHATTAN CLAM CHOWDER

- 1 slice bacon, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
  - 1 small red potato, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch cubes
  - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
  - 2 tablespoons chopped celery
  - 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
  - 1 teaspoon dry parsley flakes
  - 1 can vegetable cocktail juice
  - 1 can (6 1/2 ounces) minced clams
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
- In a 1-quart casserole, combine bacon, potato, onion, celery, green pepper and parsley flakes; cover. Microwave on 100% power 4-5 minutes, or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Add juice, undrained clams, salt; cover. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes, or until heated, stirring after half the cooking time.

CLAM CHOWDER

- 1 medium potato, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch pieces
  - 1/4 cup chopped onion
  - 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 1 can (13 ounces) evaporated milk; or 1 1/2 cups Half & Half
  - 1 can cream-style corn
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Place potato, bacon, onion in a 2-quart casserole; cover. Microwave on 100% power 3-5 minutes, or until potatoes are fork tender. Stir in flour. Mix in remaining ingredients. Microwave, uncovered, on 100% power 5-8 minutes, or until heated and slightly thickened, stirring every 2 minutes during cooking.

CHICKEN SOUP AND DUMP LINGS

- Soup:
- 1 pound chicken pieces
  - 2 cups water
  - 1 carrot, sliced
  - 1 rib celery, sliced
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon dried savory leaves

- Dumplings:
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
  - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon parsley flakes
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 2 tablespoons milk
  - 1 egg
- In a 1-quart casserole, combine chicken pieces, water, carrot, celery, salt and savoury; cover. Microwave on 100% power 18-20 minutes, or until chicken is no longer pink, turning pieces over and stirring during cooking. Skim fat. Remove chicken. Skin and bone chicken, cut into pieces. Return to soup, cover and set aside. In small bowl blend dumpling ingredients well. Drop by teaspoons onto soup; cover. Microwave on 100% power 2-3 minutes, or until dumplings are light and springy to the touch and no longer doughy.

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP

- 1 1/2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
  - 1/4 cup chopped onion
  - 2 tablespoons butter
  - 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 2 cups hot water
  - 2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon
  - 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
  - 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
  - 1/2 cup Half & Half
  - 1 teaspoon white wine
- In a 2-quart casserole, combine mushrooms, onion and butter. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes, or until onion is tender, stirring after half the cooking time. Blend in flour. Stir in water and bouillon granules. Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes, or until slightly thickened, stirring 2-3 times during cooking. Blend in cheese, pepper, Half & Half and wine. Microwave on 100% power 2-3 minutes, or until heated and cheese melts.

EASY TOMATO SOUP

- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
  - 1 tablespoon butter
  - 1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
  - 1/4 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
  - 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
  - Dash pepper
  - 1 cup water
  - 1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules
- In a 4-cup measure, microwave onion and butter, (100% power) for 1-1 1/2 minutes, or until onion is tender. Stir in tomato sauce, basil, thyme and pepper. Microwave on 50% power 4-5 minutes, or until boiling. Stir in water and instant chicken bouillon. Microwave on 100% power for 2-3 minutes, or until mixture is heated through. Serve with Parmesan croutons or popcorn.

Croutons have many uses but are especially good with soups and salads. The ones you make yourself are tastier and more economical.

MICRO-CHEESE CROUTONS

- 1 slice whole wheat bread
  - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
  - 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese
- Trim crust from bread. Cut bread slice into quarter squares. Diagonally cut each square into halves, making triangles. Arrange bread triangles in a shallow baking dish (pie plate will do). Microwave on 100% power 1-1 1/2 minutes, or until bread is dry. Remove bread from oven. In a custard cup microwave butter on 100% power 45 seconds. Drizzle over bread triangles. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Makes 8 croutons.

Police, Residents Search For Weapon

Night Stalker's Gun Crucial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police and residents were going through garbage cans, back alleys and yards looking for a gun authorities say can "make or break" several of the murder cases pending against the suspected Night Stalker.

Although they have already retrieved one gun allegedly linked to the killer blamed for up to 16 slayings, authorities said they desperately need the tiny, black, small-caliber pistol that suspect Richard Ramirez is believed to have thrown away during the chase that led to his arrest over the weekend.

"Investigators say the gun can make or break their cases in several of the murders," Sheriff's Sgt. Joe Garza said.

Police urged citizens to leave the gun untouched if they find it so they won't smudge any fingerprints. Investigators were also going over a car belonging to Ramirez that was found over the weekend.

Ramirez remained in a high security section of the city's main jail. The District Attorney's Office has until Thursday to arraign him, but the prosecutors had not yet decided how many murder charges to file against the man who terrorized California in a brutal series of nighttime break-ins, killings, rapes and assaults with links to satanism and heavy metal rock music.

On Monday, one police agency said a tip resulted in the first fingerprint link between Ramirez and two of the Stalker slayings, including one in San Francisco.

Police in Lompoc, Calif., said a local family bought some jewelry stolen in a burglary of a San Francisco home invaded by the Night Stalker and fingerprints on the jewelry matched those of Ramirez.

"Fingerprint comparisons confirm (Ramirez) was connected with the murder in San Francisco and at least one in the Southern California area," Lompoc Police Chief J.D. Smith said.

But a source close to the Stalker task force in Los Angeles said that Ramirez's prints have been found only at the scene of a non-fatal San Francisco burglary and two non-fatal attacks in Los Angeles. In addition to the getaway car used by the Stalker in an assault that left a man critically wounded in Mission Viejo.

Police have questioned Ramirez, a drifter whose rotted teeth attest to his alleged addiction to junk food, but say he has not confessed to any of the crimes.

Builders Face Probable Increase In Water, Sewer Connection Fees

Seminole County commissioners are expected to establish a special committee to assess countywide water and sewer needs and adopt a resolution temporarily increasing connection fees for home builders.

At a work session Tuesday, James Bible, director of the county's Department of Environmental Resources, suggested that a committee be established to study the water and sewer needs of county residents including sewer system costs and a gray water system. The life of the committee would be from 6-12 months and it was unclear how the study would be financed.

Representing the Home Builders Association, developer Howard Lefkowitz said, "We recognize the county has capital needs that have to be met. Our attitude is that we can live with this (increased connection fees) on a very temporary basis if we get a county analysis of need" which includes private and municipal utilities.

"It doesn't matter where the water comes from," Lefkowitz said. "We need to know how much we need and how much it's going to cost."

The resolution would increase a home builder's connection fees for water from $425 to $850 and for sewer from $1,400 to $1,800, based on a single family housing unit. That equals out to $6 per gallon of water based on an estimate of 300 gallons of wastewater used per unit, according to the resolution. Although much of the resolution will be rewritten before the next commission meeting on Sept. 10, Bible said those figures should remain the same.

At least one commission member was not satisfied with the $6 per gallon rate. Barbara Christensen, commission member, said she felt the rate was too high. Commissioner Fred Streetman suggested that the cost be lowered until after the study could show that the higher rate was necessary. Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff, Sandra Glenn and Bob Sturm made no objections to the needs assessment committee and made no comments on temporary connection fee increases.

"Alternative financing methods (for solutions to the county's water and sewer problem) would include letters of credit, two sewer connection fees - one for treatment and the second for effluent disposal, developer participation up front of project construction, and two levels of connection fees - one level prior to water and sewer facility construction, the second after construction," Bible said in a letter to Tim Burns of the Home Builders Association.

The county drills wells to get its water from the aquifer, but Bible said the county does not have the equipment to pump enough water to meet demand.

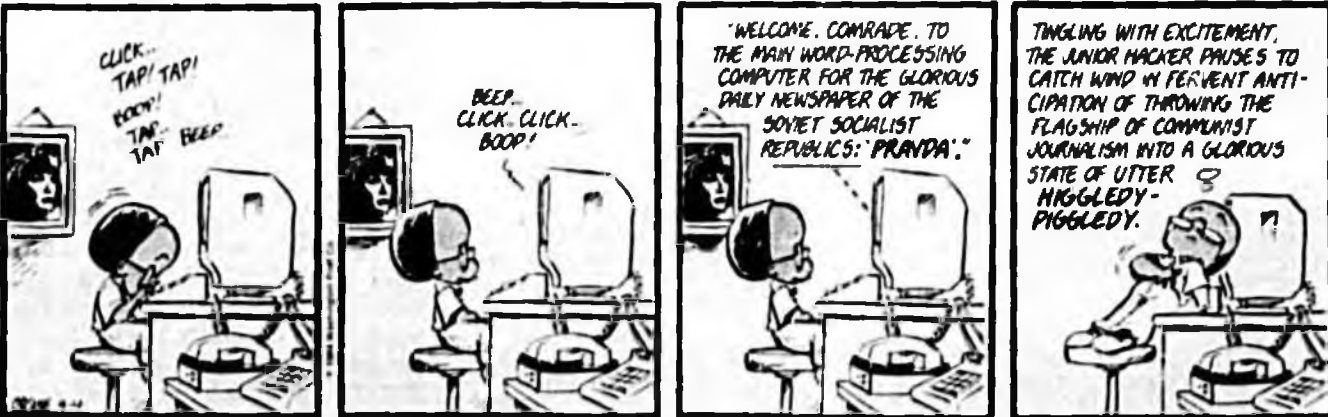

"We need to install additional wells and determine the amount of water we can take out without harming the underground water system," Bible said.

There are several improvement and expansion programs in the works for county water systems, he said. These include improvements to the Lynnwood plant east of Altamonte Springs at a cost of $80,000, expansion of the Consumer's plant west of Altamonte Springs costing $2-3 million, and a new plant being constructed near Lake Hays at a cost of $1.5 million. The Lake Hays plant should be on line this month, Bible said.

Tailgate Parties Add Extra Sparkle To Football Games

The sum total of good food and anticipation, tailgate parties add extra sparkle to football games on crisp Fall Saturday afternoons. Casual and often potluck, they bring people together to enjoy a spread of good foods that are totable and easy to eat.

Finger foods often work best, followed closely by make-ahead salads. Tailgaters can help themselves right from the cooler or thermos and find cleanup as easy as throwing away the paper plates.

This fall, fried chicken goes to tailgate parties packed with three zesty sauces for dipping. For extra convenience, heat frozen prepared fried chicken, wrap and refrigerate until time to pack in the cooler. Eight to ten hungry tailgaters can be satisfied with one large 60 oz. package of the frozen chicken. Dipping sauces, even made with just a few ingredients, offer a variety of flavorful choices: Honey-Lemon Barbecue, Creamy Dill or Tangy Mustard Dipping Sauces.

The morning of the game, dice and slice an array of fresh fruit and chill. Sectioned oranges help to retain the fresh color of apples and pears, and blend tastily with grapes and pineapple. A creamy Lemon-Spice Dressing, made in advance and chilled, is tossed with the fruit just before serving.

Complete this tailgate spread with vegetable relishes and a cool beverage. Beef, simmering constantly, over high heat until mixture is bubbly. Reduce heat. Simmer 10 minutes stirring occasionally. Chill, covered, at least 1 hour. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

DILL DIPPING SAUCE

Reduce Risk Of Heart Attack

Fresh fruit, fresh vegetables and tender, flaky, snowy-white cod from the icy waters of the North Atlantic, team in this irresistible salad. Flavorful, light eating, it also carries the special health benefits of saltwater fish ... now known to help protect against heart disease.

Research at the University of Leiden in the Netherlands, which followed 850 men for 20 years, has revealed that those who ate fish at least once or twice a week were about two and a half times less likely to die from heart disease than men who ate none at all. The good news comes at a time when cod (also marketed as scrod) is in excellent supply everywhere nationally. Served chilled and chunked in a salad (pictured here) or oven baked, topped with crumbs, it's a quick and easily prepared delicate flavored convenience food.

HEARTY COD AND GRAPEFRUIT SALAD

1 one pound pkg. frozen North Atlantic Cod fillets (sole, haddock or flounder may be substituted)

2 grapefruit, peeled and cut in sections

1 avocado, peeled and sliced
1 carrot, grated leaf lettuce
lemon yogurt

Do not thaw frozen fish. Brush fish lightly with margarine or oil; bake in non-stick or lightly greased shallow pan in center of oven for 20 minutes. (For fresh fish, lay fillet flat and measure at thickest part. Bake at 450°F. for 10 minutes per inch of thickness.) Chill fish and break into chunks. Arrange grapefruit, avocado and carrot on leaf lettuce. Top with fish. Serve with lemon yogurt.

EASY OVEN BAKED COD

1 one pound pkg. frozen North Atlantic Cod

1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup cereal or bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Allow frozen fish to stand, unwrapped, at room temperature for 20 minutes. Cut into three equal portions. Dip top of each portion in milk and crumbs. Place on shallow lightly greased pan and dot with butter or margarine. Bake in 450°F. oven for 20-25 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. (For fresh fish, lay fillet flat and measure at thickest part. Bake at 450°F. for 10 minutes per inch of thickness).

1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle

1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

1 teaspoon dried dill weed
In small bowl, combine all ingredients. Chill, covered, at least 1 hour. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

TANGY MUSTARD DIPPING SAUCE

1/2 cup Dijon-style mustard

1/2 cup mayonnaise

1 teaspoon soy sauce

1 teaspoon garlic powder

Hot pepper sauce (optional)

LEMON-SPICE DRESSING WITH FRESH FRUIT SALAD

2 small oranges, peeled and sectioned (about 1 cup)

2 medium apples, cored and chopped (about 2 cups)

1 medium pear, cored and chopped (1 cup)

1 cup chopped fresh pineapple or 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained

1 cup red grapes, halved

1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened

1/4 cup confectioners sugar

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg

In large bowl, combine oranges, apples, pear, pineapple and grapes. Chill, covered, at least 30 minutes. In small bowl, combine cream cheese, sugar, lemon juice, ginger and nutmeg. Beat until smooth. Chill, covered, at least 30 minutes. Toss fruit with cream cheese mixture before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

3 Luscious Cakes Win State Fair Top Honors

The State Fair has been an American tradition for nearly 175 years. It originated in New England in 1811 when a farmer,

Elkanah Watson, established the Berkshire Agricultural Society to sponsor cattle shows and agricultural fairs where people could exhibit and trade their prize animals, produce, baking and handicrafts. Later, similar events sprang up in other parts of the county. Since these exhibitions were eventually supported by state governments, they came to be known as "State Fairs."

Today, food is still an important part of State Fairs and baking contests are among the most popular fair activities.

Of course, making a winning cake from scratch is easier today than it was when State Fairs first got started. Two convenient ingredients which combine for blue ribbon-winning cakes are Parkay margarine from Kraft and Hershey's cocoa. Soft margarine is easily spooned into measuring cups and stick margarine is conveniently marked on the wrapper so correct portions are readily attainable. Cocoa can be measured and used right from the can, eliminating the time and mess of premeasuring.

These two ingredients combine in three prize-winning cakes from a series of "Great Cocoa Cake" contests sponsored by Hershey's.

There's really no contest when Chocolate Cherry Torte is one of the entries! A delicate chocolate mousse-like filling separates four mouth-watering layers of chocolate cake. The sides of the Torte are covered with a rich cocoa frosting. A "crown" of red cherries tops the cake and provides a delightful flavor contrast.

Cocoa Apple CAke is baked in a fluted tube pan and is perfect to bring to a friend or enjoy with family and guests. Chocolate is the new flavor twist added to the popular combination of apples and cinnamon in this spicy, coffee-time dessert.

Royal Chocolate Cake features the deep, chocolatey flavor of cocoa in three moist, dark cake layers. The creamy white filling has the surprising addition of raisins, dates and cherries. A creamy chocolate frosting completes this winner.

All three cakes are winning desserts you'll want to try.

COCOA APPLE CAKE

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup margarine
- 3 eggs
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup cocoa
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon all-spice
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 cups shredded, peeled apples (2 medium)
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

- Vanilla Glaze
- Chocolate Glaze
- Vanilla Glaze: 1 tablespoon margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar, 1-2 tablespoons warm water
- Beat margarine; blend in powdered sugar and vanilla. Add water; blend until smooth.
- Beat sugar and margarine until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Add combined dry ingredients alternately with water, mixing well after each addition. Fold in apples, nuts and chocolate chips; mix well. Pour into greased and floured 10-inch fluted tube pan. Bake at 325°, 60-70 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean. Cool for 15 minutes; invert onto serving plate. Cool completely. Drizzle with Vanilla Glaze; repeat with Chocolate Glaze.

- Chocolate Glaze: 1 tablespoon margarine, 1 tablespoon cocoa, 1 tablespoon water, 1/4 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- Melt margarine in small saucepan over low heat; stir in cocoa and water. Cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in sugar and vanilla; beat until smooth. 12-14 servings.

- ROYAL CHOCOLATE CAKE
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3/4 cup cocoa
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 eggs

DELICATE SEAFOOD DIP
1 can (4 1/2 oz., 3/4 cup) cooked shrimp, drained and rinsed
1/2 pound fresh fish fillets, cooked, drained and flaked (use mild-flavored fish)
1 package (8 oz.) neufchatel cheese, softened
3/4 cup plain yogurt
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 teaspoon dill weed, crushed
3 tablespoons dry sherry
Combine all ingredients, beating until blended. Cover and chill. Serve with fresh vegetables or crackers.

TOMATO AND ZUCCHINI SALAD YOGURT DRESSING
2 medium-size zucchini, thinly sliced
2 green onions, thinly sliced
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups cherry tomatoes
1/2 garlic clove, finely chopped
2 tablespoons snipped fresh parsley
1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup plain yogurt
Combine zucchini and green onions. Sprinkle with salt. Toss. Let stand 10 minutes. Add tomatoes. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into vegetable mixture. Chill. Stir before serving.

ORANGE SHAKE
1 1/2 cups plain or flavored yogurt
1/2 pint (1 cup) orange sherbet
2 tablespoons honey (optional)
Dash each, ground nutmeg and ginger

PEACH BLEND
1 1/2 cups plain or flavored yogurt
1/2 cup canned sliced peaches
1/2 cup club soda
2 tablespoons sugar (optional)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1/2 cup crushed ice or ice cubes

GUACAMOLE DIP
2 large avocados, peeled, halved, and pitted
1 tablespoon lime juice
2 small green onions, thinly sliced
2 medium-size ripe tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped
3/4 cup plain yogurt
1 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne pepper
Mash avocados with lime juice. Add remaining ingredients. Chill. Serve with tortilla chips.

CREAMY YOGURT DRESSING
3/4 cup plain yogurt
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 small garlic clove, finely chopped
2 teaspoons Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
BLUE CHEESE DRESSING
3/4 cup plain yogurt
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped nuts
1 tablespoon minced onion
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon milk (optional)

MEXICAN SUPPER CASSEROLE
1/2 pound lean ground beef
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 can (14 1/2 oz.) stewed tomatoes, drained (reserve 2 tablespoons liquid)
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chili powder
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
1/2 cups plain yogurt
2 cups tortilla chips, slightly broken
1/4 cup (1 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
Cook ground beef and onion until browned. Drain. Blend in tomatoes, reserved liquid, green pepper, chili powder and garlic salt. Cover. Simmer 10 minutes.

Pour meat mixture into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with mozzarella cheese, yogurt and tortilla chips.
Bake at 350°F. about 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Sprinkle with cheddar cheese. Bake until cheese melts.

SPINACH CHEESE BAKE
2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach, cooked
3/4 cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
Drain spinach and press out excess mixture. Place in large mixing bowl. Add yogurt, onion, cheese, flour and garlic powder. Mix well. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake at 350°F. about 25 minutes.

Variation: Spinach mixture may be spread in 9-inch baked pie shell. Bake as directed.
FROSTY YOGURT BANANAS
10 wooden sticks

5 firm bananas, peeled and halved crosswise
1 1/2 cups vanilla or fruit-flavored yogurt
1 1/2 cups toasted shredded coconut, chopped nuts or sunflower seeds
Place a wooden stick in each cut end of banana. Dip bananas in yogurt. Set aside remaining yogurt. Place on waxed paper-lined cookie sheet. Freeze until coating is firm. Dip in remaining yogurt. Return to cookie sheet. Cover and freeze. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

FISH FILLETS WITH YOGURT
2 tablespoons butter, softened
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1 pound fish fillets, rinsed and patted dry
1 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms
1 small onion, thinly sliced
Dash pepper
3/4 cup plain yogurt, room temperature
3 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese
1/4 cup toasted bread crumbs
Dash paprika
Stir together 1 tablespoon of the butter and the flour. Spread over bottom of 12x7x2-inch (2 quart) glass baking dish. Arrange fish fillets on top.

Cook mushrooms and onion in the remaining butter until lightly browned. Spoon over fish fillets. Sprinkle with pepper. Bake at 350°F. about 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork. Remove from oven. Stir yogurt. Spoon over fish fillets. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and paprika.
CHICKEN ALMOND SALAD
3 tablespoons mayonnaise

3/4 cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon pineapple juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups cubed cooked chicken
1 cup seedless green grapes
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup drained canned pineapple chunks in juice
Toasted slivered almonds
Stir together first six ingredients. Add chicken, grapes, celery and pineapple. Toss. Top with almonds.

...State Fair Cake Winners

1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup water
½ cup golden raisins
½ cup chopped dates
¼ cup maraschino cherries, quartered
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
Chocolate Frosting:
6 tablespoons margarine
½ cup cocoa
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups powdered sugar
2-3 tablespoons milk

Combine ½ cup sugar and cocoa in medium saucepan; add milk and ¼ cup margarine. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar and margarine are melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; cool. Beat remaining sugar and margarine at medium speed on electric mixer until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla.

Add combined dry ingredients alternately with chocolate mixture, mixing well after each addition. Beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Divide batter evenly among three 8-inch greased and floured layer pans. Bake at 350°, 20-25 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool.

Combine all ingredients except lemon juice, ginger and whipped cream in small saucepan; cook, stirring frequently, until bubbly. Stir in lemon juice and ginger. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. Spread two layers with fruit mixture, stack. Top with remaining layer. Frost with Chocolate Frosting.

Beat margarine, cocoa, corn syrup and vanilla. Add sugar alternately with milk, beating until light and fluffy. Frost top and sides of cake. Cover and refrigerate several hours. 10-12 servings.

CHOCOLATE CHERRY TORTE

1½ cups all-purpose flour
1½ cups granulated sugar
¼ cup cocoa
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups buttermilk
½ cup soft margarine
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
3 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk
2 tablespoons soft margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup soft margarine
1½ teaspoons vanilla
4 cups powdered sugar
½ cup cocoa
1½ cups cherry pie filling

Combine flour, granulated sugar, cocoa, baking soda and salt in large mixer bowl. Add buttermilk, margarine, eggs and vanilla; beat on low speed just until blended. Beat on high speed for 3 minutes. Pour into two 9-inch greased and floured layer pans. Bake at 350°, 30-35 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool; split each layer into two layers.

Combine granulated sugar, cornstarch, cocoa and salt in medium saucepan. Gradually add milk; bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in margarine and vanilla. Cover surface with plastic wrap; chill completely.

Beat margarine; blend in vanilla. Add powdered sugar and cocoa alternately with milk, beating until light and fluffy. Pipe border around edge of three cake layers. Spread ½ of filling inside border; stack. Top with remaining layer. Frost side of cake. Pipe decorative border around top edge. Chill thoroughly. Before serving, top with pie filling. 10-12 servings.

Duckling Excellent For Light Dining

What is baked crispy brown all over, succulent in flavor, and is gaining recognition as one of the new feature entrees for light dining?

Duckling quarters, of course. Duckling is easy to prepare. Its full flavor, served with a wide range of fresh cooked vegetables and fruits, also makes it a very nutritious main course. To quarter the duckling, use poultry shears or a sharp knife. Cut along the side of the backbone from tail to neck to separate the duck into halves. Then cut each half midway between the leg joint and wing joint.

A better way to quarter a frozen duck is to ask your friendly supermarket butcher. He will be happy to quarter the bird on his handy power saw in just a few seconds.

DUCKLING QUARTERS WITH RICE PILAF

1 frozen duckling, defrosted and quartered
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup long grain rice
1 chicken bouillon cube
1½ cups sliced celery
1½ cup slice mushrooms
¼ cup slice green onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound 5 oz.) cherry fruit filling (optional)
¼ cup water

Wash, drain and dry duckling quarters. Sprinkle both sides with salt. Place quarters, skin side up, on rack in roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (350 degrees F.) until meat is tender, 2½ to 3 hours. Turn several times ending with skin side up. Prepare pilaf. Cook rice as directed on package label, adding the bouillon cube to the water.

Cook celery, mushrooms, and green onion in butter until mushrooms and onions are tender, but not brown. Stir in hot cooked rice. Optional: Combine cherry filling and water; heat. Serve duckling quarters on pilaf with cherry sauce. Makes 4 servings.
