THE FATHER AND I

The wind and the rain and Thou art one,
And flower and bird and cloud,
And Thou art in me, and I in Thee,
In union with all, in God.

I And Thee in earth and air and star,
In the fire and mist and sea,
I find Thee in nature everywhere,
And greatest of all, in me.

As a child of the Infinite I live,
With joy in light of the sun,
For all in the universe is mine—
The Father and I, are one.
—Jacob Harney McCartney.

Sanford will have a busy summer.

Were you included in the recent census? If not, plan the chamber of commerce.

Another "Pay-Up Week" for Sanford might help collect some of the old bills and put more money into circulation.

Perhaps with increased postal rates, newspapers will get better service.

When you see big investors coming to Sanford and buying real estate, it's the time to buy more property yourself.

Someone says time waits for no man but we wonder how about the man on his way to prison.

The Key West Citizen says an unsophisticated girl has been found in Hiawatha, Kansas. No wonder she is.

The man who grumbles about beginning in a small way should think about the oak tree which starts life as an acorn.

Our office boy says it's alright for a girl to be up in arms about something, especially if it's his arm.

The one essential purpose of education is to get an individual going from within; to start his machinery, so that he will run himself. —Ray Standard Baker.

One half of the world's patents have been issued in the United States. And we'll bet that half of that number is for attachments on Ford automobiles.

When it comes to writing paragraphs, Johnny Spencer of the Macon Telegraph is hard to beat. He is what we call the grasshopper's patella.

Things to worry about: about two hundred members of the English House of Commons wear top hats all of the time.

Scientists have found that a young flea can go without food for two weeks. But they don't seem to do it.

The Weston, Missouri, Chronicle says, "did you ever notice that the laugh of a hen-pecked man is a cackle?"

Von Hindenburg is to run for president of Germany but if the field marshal doesn't run any better than he ran his armies during the war, he is beaten before he starts.

The man, says Albert Hubbard, "who not only does his work superbly well, but adds to it a touch of personality through great zeal, patience and persistence, making it peculiar, unique, individual, distinct, and unforgettable, is an artist."

Thursday should be declared a holiday for Sanford people so that everyone can witness the first baseball game of the season to be played here when the new Sanford team crossed bats with the Tampa aggregation. A crowd, as large as the one straggling to the Washington-Milwaukee game, will see the grandstands and bleachers Saturday afternoon.

You'd Hardly Expect It

Coming from anywhere else in the world, it wouldn't merit much comment, but the idea of Boston as a city of savants of much and erudite learning is so prevalent that the sublime ignorance of Bostonians regarding Mr. Webster's dictionary as revealed in a certain civil service examination, is most astounding.

Ordinarily we are satisfied if our neighbor can make himself understood in words of one syllable. If he doesn't appreciate the full meaning of idiosyncrasy, spontaneity or adenoids, we do not criticize him too severely, but are more inclined to agree with the janitor who replied to the pedantic College Freshman, "Well, more folks understand me the way I talk than understands you the way you talks."

But Boston, heart of the world, center of literary culture and refinement, where the "o" is pronounced exactly as the "o" in God, where monosyllabic diction has been taboo since the founding of Harvard, Boston would never be expected to contribute to the fun of the world such definitions as were received by the civil service examiners.

Remarking this situation the Sarasota Times comments: "The prestige of New England as that part of the earth's surface where the purest English is spoken, and that of Boston as the hub of culture and erudition do not vibrate in psychic harmony with the extremely original ideas regarding morons, kleptomaniacs, juvenile delinquents and mental hygiene expressed by some of the applicants for salaried jobs on the public payrolls."

Among those answers which were such a shock to the examiners and which have indeed startled the country at large, are:

- "Moron—A wise fool."
"Moron—Species of immortality difficult to define with words or eradicate when found."
"Moron—An infant whose parents leave it and do not acknowledge parentship."
"Kleptomaniac—One who steals while walking in his sleep."
"Kleptomaniac—A child of unsound mind."
"Juvenile delinquent—A child behind normal children in a mental way, or who goes wrong usually; immature and burdened with a hopeless inferiority."
"Mental hygiene—A child afflicted with mental hygiene is one whose brain is not normal."
"Mental hygiene—Dirty and unkempt."
"Mental hygiene—A child suffering with mental hygiene should be placed in a proper school to cure sama as much as possible."

Several remarkable solutions were given in answer to the question, "What action would you take in this case? Theft of growing fruit." One would be a social worker announced: "Perhaps the child is a kleptomaniac. Remove her from the fruit; or perhaps the parents also steal fruit. Discipline the parents."

Approaching The Final Examinations

The remaining weeks of school—even weary teachers and boys and girls eager for the closing of the long vacation notice that these last weeks go fast. There is more to do each day than there is time for preparation for the final examinations slow so many things, that ought to be explained or rehearsed; and school "lets out" every afternoon with a discouraging number of things that had to be skinned over, or ignored.

Every thoughtful person watching a child "getting its education has been impressed by this. There is never time for a teacher to go back and correct all the difficulties that were left by lessons not quite understood or lessons "skipped". The child goes through life, sometimes with broken places in the web of his foundation studies; and consequently, weak spots in all the studies, and knowledge, that are built upon that web.

Just before examination days everybody "crams", even though the term "cram" is frowned at. Teachers and pupils do their best to review the work to be effected by the examination, and usually with great benefit to the children's understanding of the year's work. Many a wrong conception is cleared up, many a fact is so fixed in the child's mind it sticks forever. But there often is a tremendous amount of nervous energy wasted, and considerable injury done to the health of nervous children, if this before-examination review is conducted by a teacher who does not know something of psychology along with her knowledge of the books she teaches.

Under ideal conditions the last weeks of the school term would be devoted to individual work. Each child would have personal attention from a capable, sympathetic teacher who knows that the true purpose, the one essential of education is to get an individual, as Ray Standard Baker puts it, "going from within; to start his machinery, so that he will run himself."

It is impossible, under the present school system, for a teacher to give the personal help to her pupils she would like to give. She cannot spend the school hours showing a boy how to "do fractions" that he was supposed to have learned in a previous grade. But unless that boy learns the lessons he missed, he will be handicapped.

The last weeks of school, then, is the period in the school year requiring the best work from teachers and pupils. And that means the need of the best cooperation from the homes of the children.

The Herald would like to know that Sanford homes are giving this cooperation, and that these last weeks of school are to be of especial benefit to Sanford boys and girls.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

The English have the credit of being a conservative race—hered in which respect traditions is so strong that they hesitate to change anything which has behind it the merits of antiquity and established custom. The story which follows it may or may not be true—would tend to indicate that his trait really does persist in our Anglo-Saxon cousins.

The tale, as it was told to me, had it that though the fields between two villages in Sussex ran a footpath. It was not the quickest route for one going from one of the hamlets to the other, for it wandered about, but it had been traced originally by the horny, naked feet of Saxon serfs, and now was worn deep into the turf by the heels of countless generations. Everybody in the neighborhood used it, because everybody always had.

A country gentleman lived midway between the two villages. He had a reasonably good, not to say dull, estate. One day he heard a violent noise was straying about the estate, causing pedestrians, frightening children and generally misbehaving himself. Being for a while from the monopoly of his life, the gentleman went forth in the afternoon hoping to glimpse the bull. For

$400,000 Offered. "Not Dead Yet." Crushing Kurds No Easy. Real Estate and Be. By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright 1924)

BANKERS OFFERED $450,000 worth of preferred stock in the Dodge Automobile Company, investors, who seem to have a good deal of money, offered to buy $400,000 worth. In addition to having money, the people seem to recognize a good thing when it is offered to them.

Suppose Henry Ford offered for his business, making 7,000 cars a day? How big a subscription would be offered?

AMERICAN "STATESMEN," everlastingly urging interference in Europe's affairs, might learn from Edgar A. Shaw's story about a colored bellboy.

Bellboy to hotel clerk: "A man just hung himself in No. 972."

Clerk: "How do you know?"

Bellboy: "I saw him hanging from the chandelier with a rope around his neck."

Clerk: "Did you cut him down?"

Bellboy: "No, he wasn't dead yet."

THAT BELLEBOY carried self-control and respect for the plans of others too far. But, at least, he knew enough to mind HIS business something that many of the statesmen have still to learn.

TURKEY PLANS to "crush the kurds," and that will be a long slow job.

The Kurds live in small villages, not easy to conquer, and in the summer they drive their sheep to high mountain pastures. With them, fighting is a pleasure, other kind of work a bore. They are as proud of their ancestry, running back many centuries, as some New Englanders, with an old-fashioned bureau and Mayflower relatives.

THOSE KURDS fought against Xenophon's brave handful, on their way back to Greece and long before there was any Greece. Kurds were fighting Turks and Persians for the last thousand years, and will be doing the same thing a thousand years from now.

The earth changes slowly, and wiping out a nation, even a small one, as the Irish have proved, is no easy job.

ACROSS THE river from Detroit Canadians will permit real beer with more than 4 per cent of alcohol. The result is a real estate boom in Canadian lands purchased by American citizens. They want houses there, and country clubs.

One earnest Detroit real estate man puts it "Work and Exist by Day a United States, in the evening LIVE in Canada."

A canal for commuters would make the situation perfect although not exactly pleasing to Detroit suburban real estate owners or to earnest realtors.

HIGH SCHOOL authorities would like to abolish secret societies among students. But the "egalitarian instinct," deeply rooted, is as old as the human race. Savages had their secret meetings and initiations in the forest, and their terrible "hushy." Young boys were supposed to endure cutting with knives, or to hang suspended from thorns stuck in their flesh without whimpering.

The secret society for men and children satisfies man's desire to seem to know something that others do not know. Only REAL knowledge can drive that out.

A UNITED STATES Circuit Court says radio stations may not broadcast copyrighted music. The copyright act applies to music by radio despite the fact that radio would not know when the law written. The decision is wise and just.

WHY DOESN'T the Constitution's provision, guaranteeing freedom of the press, protect moving pictures from censorship, in spite of the fact that moving pictures were unknown when the Constitution was written.

What applies in one case should apply in another. The moving picture is printing, publicity, an improvement on old-fashioned press work. To censor it in advance is as preposterous as it would be to submit newspapers to censor before allowing them to appear on the street.

RUST COSTS this country $300,000,000 a year and scientists wonder how they can save that money. The one way is to use copper or brass instead of iron for water pipes, gutters, etc.

You are told that rust is caused by electricity generated by water and air combining. A way may be found to make iron rust-proof. Meanwhile, wherever air and water mix, use copper or brass and forget your troubles for a hundred years.

A LAMB TO THE SLAUGHTER

MACON DAILY TELEGRAPH

Although there is only a difference of 100,000 votes between the strength of the coalition that has nominated Von Hindenburg for the presidency of Germany, and the Weimar coalition that has named Wilhelm Marx, it begins to appear already that Hindenburg, whose stubbornness led by so many German youths to the slaughter of the Allies, will himself be led to slaughter in the German elections on April 26.

Hindenburg has been living in the retirement of a hero at Hanover. He is approaching in age the ripe year of 80. He was the great hero of the German army during the war and the great hero of the people. Germany raised a tremendous amount of money to carry on her military operations by erecting a huge wooden statue of Hindenburg in a plaza at Berlin and allowing the populace to drive nails in it so much as had Hindenburg, more than the Kaiser, more than any principle, was the rallying symbol of the German people. They trusted his leadership; they were willing to follow him. When Ludendorff arose to greater power through his victories on the Eastern front, he did not eclipse Hindenburg in the esteem of the German people. When the war was over, the field marshal retired to his estate and has lived the life of a gentleman, maintaining all his standing. Ludendorff, on the other hand, made himself the clown of Bavaria. Hindenburg, through accepting the nomination for the Presidency, has now made himself the clown. He displaced Dr. Karl Jarres as the nominee of the reactionary and Monarchist elements of the German body politic because Dr. Jarres made a disappointing race in the primaries of March 29. He could not command the strength of the reactionaries. Hindenburg was chosen simply because the political leaders thought he was a vote-getter, not because he represented any principle around which the people might rally.

His selection is dangerous not only to himself, but to the German people. His election would set Germany back in her dealings with foreign nations, because Hindenburg represents the worst elements of the German military autocracy of pre-World War days. He is a monarchist; he believes in the divine right of kings. It is paradoxical that this "hard-boiled" old reactionary should have suggested as the ruler of a Republic. One might as well think of the exiled figure at Dorn in that capacity.

There is even in Germany a distrust of him. There is no assurance that he is determined not to go back to Monarchy—and the majority of them are in favor of the Republic—that Hindenburg will not bend his efforts in that direction.

SUES FOR BOBBING

MIAMI HERALD

No woman is born with bobbed hair, many women acquire bobbed hair, and at least one woman had bobbed hair, well, not exactly thrust upon her but at least snipped upon her. The result is that the courts of Baltimore will have to tackle a problem.

At first thought one would unhesitatingly say that a woman would not be damaged to the extent of $5,000 by having her hair bobbed. When so many women are flocking to barber shops to get a boyish bob, a semi-boyish bob, a Dutch bob or a King Tut bob, it would seem to be foolish for a woman to declare that she has been damaged at all by getting any sort of bob. But circumstances alter physiognomy and family relations.

A woman in Baltimore, who admits that she is 45 years old, went to a barber shop with a feminine friend. The friend wanted a bob. The woman of 45 did not. But she says that after the barber had bobbed her friend's hair the newly bobbed one forced her into the chair, held her there and the barber added another to the already large army of Baltimore bobbers. So the woman whose hair was forcibly bobbed has sued her muscular friend and the barber for $3,000. In her complaint she does not specify the particular style bob she got. As she declares she offered what resistance she could the probabilities are that it was a mixed bob, a conglomerate, a non-descript, an inartistic, a miscellanous bob. It was certainly unsatisfactory.

In reaching a decision in this case the usual law's delay should be avoided. As time passes the bob that the plaintiff says damaged her to the extent of $3,000 will change. It may become less ragged and so less attractive, or possibly more attractive. Or it might become more ragged and so more attractive or possibly less attractive. In either case the jury that looks upon the shorn head would have a wrong idea and would be unable to render absolute justice. In this case justice should not be blind. Justice should be a good judge of feminine pulchritude and attractiveness; also of hairdressing. And the jurors ought to be composed of men who knew the plaintiff when her hair was long. Without making this comparison how can jurors tell whether or not the woman's appearance has been improved or damaged? With the plaintiff's general declaration that as she was 45 and was a contented married woman and hence did not want or need a bob it is likely the unbobbed will be sympathetic. Which raises further the question whether justice would be possible if the jurors were all women who were unbobbed? Or bobbed? This case has so many tangents, so many possibilities, that in the interest of peace it should be settled out of court. If ever litigation erudite aloud for compromise this is the time.

WEDDING MISS DOROTHY DEAN TO MR. DAVIDSON IS BRILLIANT EVENT

In the Miami News of Sunday morning an elaborate account appeared of the wedding of Miss Dorothy Dean and Robert Davidson which took place Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hubo Dean, in St. John's Park, Miami.

The beautifully planned wedding took place before an improvised altar in the garden. Miss Dean was attended by Miss Annie Davidson, of Gadsden, Ala., as maid of honor. Mrs. E. G. Macley of Houston, Tex., as matron-of-honor. Miss Florence Worden, Miss Matilda Dele Hood as bridesmaids and Mrs. Charles S. Finley bride's matron.

Mr. Davidson's attendants were Roland Dean and Gordon Dean, brothers of the bride, Newton Lammus, Jr., and Clement Chin.

Following the ceremony the guests were invited to a wedding dinner which was also served in the garden.

Mr. Davidson and his bride are on their honeymoon trip to Cuba and after their return to Miami they will make their home for the summer in Coral Gables where they intend building in the fall. Mr. Davidson, who has lived in Miami for a number of years, is in the civil engineering business in Coral Gables, having formerly been city engineer at Miami Beach.

Mrs. Davidson is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hubo Dean, and is an exceedingly popular member of Miami Society. She attended Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee and later Columbia University in New York, after graduating from the Miami High School. Her special talent lies in the art of painting, her china having elicited much favorable comment.

Mrs. Davidson has often been the guest of her brother, Roland L. Dean, in Sanford and has many friends here who will be interested in her wedding.

Miss Cochran Is Bride Of Bascom Y. Carver

A very quiet home wedding in which Miss Evelyn Cochran became the bride of Bascom Y. Carver took place Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. L. Stouemire, on Magnolia Avenue. Dr. E. D. King, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Carver has been living in Sanford since November, being cashier for the Tri-State Piggy-

Wiggly Corporation and has won many warm friends since coming here from Camilla, Ga. Mr. Carver is a well known business man of Sanford.

They will be at home to their friends at 119 Palmetto Avenue.

Owner of 260-Room Home Preferred To Dwell In Basement

LONDON, Apr. 13.—Sir Everard Hambro, a director of the Bank of England, who died recently at the age of 83, was owner of one of the largest residences in the world, but he never called it a palace or a castle, preferring it to be known always merely as his home. The Hambro house in Dorsetshire was known to the neighbors as Milton Abbey, getting its name from the fact that originally it was a monastery. It was remodelled many years ago by Sir Everard and, taking in all the old nooks of the ancient buildings, was found to have about 260 rooms.

STATE LEAGUE TEAMS OFF IN PENNANT RACE

Sanford Opens With Smokers In Tampa, Lakeland Play Starts; Schedule 156 Games Will Run Into September

Holiday Is Planned For First Tilt Here

Entire City Expected to Turn Out For Opening on Local Grounds to Break Records

(By M. B. SHEPPARD)

They are off! No, not the horses, but the Florida State League teams for 1925 pennant.

Sanford's Celery-Feds open the season today with the Smokers in Tampa and for three days they will perform for the fans on the banks of the Hillsborough, coming back here Thursday, bringing the Smokers with them for a three-day series on the local grounds.

Thursday is going to be a big day for the fans in Sanford, and the mayor will be asked to declare a half-holiday so that the entire city may turn out to give the team a good send-off at the opening game on the home grounds.

Nick Carter and his Celery-Feds journeyed down to Orlando Saturday to play a final practice game with the Macon Peaches of the South Atlantic League, and they were slaughtered to the tune of 19 to 8, but this is no indication that the team is not in good shape for the opening tilts with Tampa. In Saturday's game Weaver got a bad start and finally knocked out, when 15 runs were made off his delivery. Manager Nick Carter going in as relief.

Just as an evidence that the Celery-Feds can bat, they made four runs off the Macon pitcher in the first inning. The game looked good until the sixth when Weaver had a let-down, the Peaches swatting him for 10 runs. Of course this ended the game as a contest, but Manager Carter went in and the score down, and the Sanford boys batted in a few more runs in a fitless sort of way.

The probable line-up today with Tampa will be Cawthon, H. Curley, cf, Bailey, H. Walzak, 2b, Thompson, c, Frisbie, ss, Stanzack, 3b, Kinzie, rf.

Manager Carter has not announced his mound artist, but he will have five to choose from, for in addition to Weaver, Walsh and himself, he has two more twirlers to whom he will give a try-out in the next few weeks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Apr. 12.—Reduced in membership to four clubs but retaining the honor of being the first of the circuit in the United States to get away, the Florida State League opened its season today with Sanford playing at Tampa and Lakeland at St. Petersburg.

The 1924 season was terminated August 28, with Tampa, Orlando, Lakeland, St. Petersburg, Daytona and Bradenton making up the league. Lakeland was awarded the honors of the abbreviated season.

The 1925 circuit is compact and advance indications point to a closely contested race. A. F. Lane of St. Petersburg retains the presidency.

Managers of the four clubs are experienced in minor league baseball. The managers include: Bill Brazier, Lakeland; "Nick" Carter, Sanford; Charlie Allen, Tampa; George Block, St. Petersburg.

What National and American League Managers Say About Chances In 1925

Harris Is Confident Griffis Are Winners McGraw Has Visions Of His Fifth Flag

Stanley Harris, Washington—I am perfectly satisfied with the outlook. My club is stronger than it was last season when we won the pennant. Of course we may not be able to repeat, but rest assured the Washington club will be in there fighting to the very finish.

Miller Huggins, New York—Regardless of the playing material, the spirit on my ball club this year makes it about 20 per cent more efficient. Failure to win last season has caused a number of my players to take the game more seriously. I feel we can win.

Ty Cobb, Detroit—I fear only the New York Yankees. It is still a great club. If we can ward off that team the Tigers have a great chance to win. I have a much improved ball club, particularly as to reserve strength, which is most important.

Connie Mack, Philadelphia—The Athletics are going to be a contender all the way. We are certain to finish in the first division, which means we have a chance to win the pennant. My club has just had about the proper experience to come through. Southpaw pitchers will be a big help.

George Sider, St. Louis—The Browns will be a more efficient ball club than last season. Certain influences on the team that did not make for discipline or harmony have been removed. I am sure that the New York deal will prove helpful to the Browns.

Tris Speaker, Cleveland—I am shooting at the first division. My club disappointed last season due to various causes, injuries playing havoc with the team's chances. I look for the players who failed me last year to come through. This season.

Lee Fohl, Boston—Anything better than seventh place will be regarded by me as a progressive step. The even balance of the American League clubs make it possible for anything to happen. I am hoping for the best.

Eddie Collins, Chicago—I merely want to emphasize the fact that the White Sox are not an eighth place club and we intend to demonstrate that fact this summer. Pennant thoughts are far removed at present, my chief thought is to get the best possible results out of the material at hand.

Exhibition Games

EXHIBITION RESULTS
NEW YORK, Apr. 12.—The world champion, Washington Senators, by defeating the New York Giants in their final exhibition game today, 11 to 5, evened the series at six games each. The Senators started off with a five-run lead and never were headed. The score: Washington, 11; New York Giants, 5. Roster: Reuther, Kelly, Gwedeckie and Ruel; Scott, Bertley, Greenfield, Ryan and Gowdy.

WHITE SOX IN TRIM, BUT CUB TEAM IS WEAK

Eddie Collins and His Men Are Splendid Condition for Hard Battle for Top Place; Maranville's Line Is Shattered

Ty Cobb Confident His Tigers Will Win

Philadelphia's Two Clubs Said To Be In Perfect Condition; St. Louis Players Optimistic

CHICAGO, Apr. 13.—Sparkling prospects for the White Sox, and a staggering handicap of injuries for the Cubs is the opening day outlook for Chicago's two major league baseball teams.

With Eddie Collins, for almost 20 years star second baseman of the American League, as manager, the morale of the Sox has reached its highest since the revolution of the 1919 world's series scandal wrecked the team.

On the north side, despite the big winter trade of players with Pittsburgh, the Cubs open the season with Walter "Whizzer" Shandville, the star of the Swap, drilled by a madden ankle and their infield plans were wrecked. Griggs, regular outfielder, will be on the side lines besides the "Rabbit" with a broken collarbone.

Charlie Grimm, the ex-Pirate first sacker, and Southpaw Wilbur Cooper, the other principal figures in the trade, are in fine form and with Grover Cleveland Alexander, the pitching mainstay of the Cubs, fully recovered from his injured wrist of last season, the Cubs hope to be favored with effective twirling.

The White Sox pitching staff is little changed and their success may rest largely on the condition of the veterans. Red Eber and Charley Robertson who had a disappointing season last year.

When the Cubs lost the services of Maranville, temporarily, they located McAuley, star of the Los Angeles Coast league team, to fill his place.

Maranville plans to supplement McAuley's pitching by his presence on the coaching line.

"Tyrus" K Confident.
DETROIT, Apr. 13.—Ty Cobb believes that his Detroit Tigers will win the American League pennant this year, basing his belief as much on the team's reserve strength as upon the regulars themselves. Johnny Semon, Lawrence and Hancey, Cobb believes, not only will be available for infield duty when needed, but also can be depended upon as pinch-hitters.

The 1925 club is virtually the same that finished in third place last year. Hallmann, Cobb and Maunsh will be in the outfield. Blue, O'Rourke, Riosney and Jones in the infield, and Bassler and Woodall will catch.

An attack of influenza probably will keep Cobb out of the lineup in Tuesday's opener, and either Wingo or Fothergill will replace him.

Quakers in Condition.
PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 13.—Despite injuries to some of their players both Philadelphia Major League baseball teams are in good condition for the opening of the season. Both have added new players and are confident of improving their standing in the race for the pennant.

Connie Mack's Athletics will open the American League season in their renovated park. The visiting team will be the Boston Red Sox. The Athletics have added a new battery that is reported to have cost $150,000. It is composed of "Left" Graves, from Baltimore, and Gordon Cochrane, from Portland. To offset the injury to Joe Hauser who broke his knee cap in the spring series with the Phillies, Manager Mack has signed Jim Poole of Portland. The American Leaguers also have several rookies of promise including Fox, Smith, a shortstop and French and Bawgell, outfielders.

Confidence, Optimism Reigns.
ST. LOUIS, Apr. 12.—Confidence and optimism are the dominant characteristics of St. Louis' two major league teams this season. Strengthened by the addition of seasoned veterans obtained in trades and by the promising performances of several youngsters, the Browns and Cardinals seem better fortified for this year's campaign than at any time previous.

While depreciating the absence of Bill Jacobson, a holdout, George Sisler, manager of the Browns, believes that the improvement in four separate departments of his team will more than offset the absence of his star centerfielder.

GOLFERS WATCH NEW GIRL STAR ARISING IN SKY

Great Things Are Expected of Maureen Orcutt, of New Jersey, Who Proves Prodigy At Age of Seventeen

NEW YORK, Apr. 11.—For women's national golf champion in the near future New Jersey presents a seventeen-year-old high school girl who, for lack of competition in her own sex, often plays with men and defeats them.

The first thing the gallery at tournament notices when Miss Maureen Orcutt is on the first tee is her bobbed blonde locks, tied with a ribbon of flaming red or other hue. Then the distance that ball goes overshadows all other considerations. Her hitting is amazing, and has been so since she started to play the game as a little girl.

At the woman's national tournament at the Hollywood Golf Club, Deal, N. J., four years ago, a note of an entrant who wore half-hose and skirts the shortness of which was determined by her size and age, and not by fashion, stepped up to the first tee in the qualifying round and caused a chorus of surprised "ahs" when she smashed the ball 225 yards, a good drive for any golfer without regard to sex or age. That was Maureen. A storm came up shortly after that drive and helped to run her score up to 119, which failed to qualify.

Miss Orcutt has had much experience and her share of victories since then, having won the woman's state championship last year. When there is no woman's tournament for her to enter, however, usually the only worthy opponents she can find are male members of the White Beesies Club at Haworth, N. J. The men welcome her as a competitor in all the club fixtures, and in the club championship last fall she runner up, forcing the male victor to do a 74 while she took 59 on the difficult course, which measures 6,496 yards.

Many good woman golfers have difficulty with their irons, not having the firmness of wrist essential for a crisp and successful shot. Not so Maureen. The length she gets with irons would not be at all had for a professional. The muckie iron is her favorite. Often she has reached a green more than 100 yards from the tee with a drive and an iron. When her short game becomes as good as her long game, experts say, she should be unbeatable.

Maureen Orcutt is a golfer, no doubt, but before she helped teach the art to Maureen. Mrs. Orcutt just had been runner up in the club women's championship of her sex when she and Maureen played an honest-to-goodness match.

Miss Orcutt, in her short tournament career, has won the junior title of the New York Metropolitan district twice, and she has qualified twice in the women's national tournament.

When the snow covers the fairways at White Beesies Miss Orcutt helps develop her wrists by throwing a basketball as a member of the high school girls' team at Englewood.

Two fighting plans collided a mile in the air at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, recently. The pilot, leaped, fell swiftly for hundreds of feet, opened their parachutes and floated down side by side to safety, while two ships hit the earth with thundering crashes and burst into flames.

 Skinny Men and Women Gain Five Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back.

My Dear Friends:—
 After my attack of flu I was thin, run-down and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up my appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 60 tablets—60 cents at Bower's Pharmacy or J. C. Dean Drug Co., and live druggists everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days give your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine.
