FERA To Provide Funds For Teachers' Salaries If State Money Is Exhausted

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—By the simple procedure of changing one of its rules, the State Board of Education will supply its part of a newly announced federal-state program, for the operation of schools in counties where local funds are exhausted.

The rule, which probably will be changed at the next meeting of the State Board, governs the use of state school funds by counties.

At present 57 and one-half percent of the state apportionment must go to teachers, and 13 and one-half percent to transportation and other operating expenses.

By changing this rule, the State Board may allow counties which have exhausted all their local funds to devote all or an increased part of the state funds to payment of transportation and other expenses, provided teachers' salaries are guaranteed from some other source.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration at Jacksonville last night approved a plan to furnish teachers salaries where funds for this purpose are not otherwise provided, if the state pays transportation and the other costs necessary to maintaining the schools.

The state accepted this plan, and today details were being worked out at FERA headquarters by Walter Wilbur, who will direct the program for meeting each county's individual needs along this line.

In a similar announcement last night Governor Dave Sholtz and Julius H. Stoen, Jr., acting relief administrator for Florida, said they had worked out a plan to prevent the closing of the public schools in this crisis.

The relief administration agreed to provide salaries to "needed" teachers in school districts whose resources are exhausted.

Stoen said Wilbur, director of relief under the new work relief program, would have charge of administering the plan.

The agreement was reached here last night in a conference between Stoen and C. B. Treadway, chairman of the state advisory council of the Emergency Relief Administration, who represented the governor.

General revenue receipts were $5,029,201, and miscellaneous receipts (Continued On Page Two)

Part Time Boys' Class Is Proving Popular

That the recently organized Part Time Class in Farm Mechanics is proving to be popular was evidenced at Seminole High School last night, according to Alex R. Johnson, vocational agriculture teacher, when several members of the class gathered for one of a series of studies.

The course of study includes instruction in wood working, rope working, cold metal work, and simple blacksmithing. Mr. Johnson stated that the boys represented last night were between the ages of 14 and 15. He invites other boys to join the class and take advantage of the free instruction that is to be offered during the spring season. The class meets next Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock at Seminole High School.

Writing to Graham Copeland, chairman of the county commission at Everglades, the attorney general referred to the constitution of the United States and said: "It appears that Florida Indians are citizens of the state and are entitled to all the privileges of other citizens of the state, including the right of suffrage and the ownership of property as individuals."

DEPOSITS IN STATE BANKS ON INCREASE

Nearly $7,000,000 Gain Reported By Lee In 57 Day Period That Ended Last Month

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—Deposits in state banks in Florida increased $6,759,104 in the 57 days from Dec. 31, 1933 to Feb. 28, 1934, and resources increased $5,671,928 in the same period.

The figures were shown yesterday in a comparative statement prepared by the banking department of the comptroller's office. The report does not include national banks.

Comptroller J. M. Lee said "the increase in deposits is accounted for by better conditions in Florida and the return of confidence in banks, due largely to the federal insurance of deposits."

In the statement, the stent of "borrowed money" showed a decrease of $390,000, and Lee said this indicated the people "are more able to repay their loans."

On Feb. 28, the state banks had total resources of $58,540,873, against $51,689,944 on Dec. 31. Liabilities were the same.

Loans and discounts on Feb. 28 were $12,833,893, a decrease of $917,347 for the period covered. U. S. bonds held by the banks increased $2,314,138, to $13,535,176.

Cash and due from banks increased $4,521,811 to $10,201,966 in the 57-day period.

Individual deposits rose from $15,560,397 to $22,434,188 and savings deposits increased from $9,286,870 to $10,224,173. U. S. state, county and municipal deposits increased $230,336 and totaled $9,488,494 on Feb. 28. There was a decrease of $308,249 in bill payable, and $392,598 in certificates of deposit.

SHOLTZ GIVES POSITION ON SCHOOL STATUS

Governor Says $1000 Year Salary Is Not Sufficient For Teachers Of State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Mar. 15. (A.P.)—The declaration that $1,000 a year is "not enough" for school teachers was made today by Governor Dave Sholtz in response to an inquiry about his position on "the school situation."

"I will endeavor to make my position on the school situation clear," he said in a letter to Frank E. Jennings of Jacksonville, "and I hope to make it so clear that he who runs may read and understand."

He revealed that "it had been suggested that in order to properly re-organize the school structure of this state it might be advisable to close all of the schools as the banks had been closed" in the banking moratorium declared by President Roosevelt last March.

"I could not see it that way," the governor said. "A x a day's education lost to our school children was lost forever accordingly I considered it best to work out this problem without actually closing our schools, and the result speaks for itself."

"By the practice of rigid economy, by elimination of the frills and furbelows from our curriculum, by drastic effort to collect our taxes and with federal assistance our children will have the benefit this year of a longer school term than for several years and (Continued on Page Two)

Gallant Tribute Is Paid To Sailors On British Rescue Ship

HONG KONG, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—A gallant tribute to the British tars who saved 187 American sailors from a fiery death on the flaming gunboat Fulton came today from the Fulton's skipper, Commander Harry McLennery.

While the Fulton still burned on pirate waters north of Hong Kong Commander McLennery and his men, safe in the harbor here, recounted their harrowing experiences following the burning of an engine-room bearing and a subsequent fire which immediately spread to the fuel oil tanks and got completely out of control in a few minutes.

The men were brought in early today on the British destroyer Wishart, which saved them, and the commercial steamer Tainan. Fire aboard the Fulton meant while was expected to roar for hours as tugs began towing the ship into port.

Eight of the American crew were injured, but none seriously. McLennery said the British display of seamanship "will go down in naval annals."

The Fulton was known as the "grief ship" of the navy. In 1922 she drifted for three days off Cape Hatteras with a broken propeller shaft. Commissioned in 1914, she was one of the first American vessels to be equipped with Diesel engines.

After the World War a German submarine engine was installed.

KIDNAPERS MAKE GOOD THREAT TO KILL AUTO AGENT

New Yorker Abducted Last Week Is Found Dead On Long Island

NEW YORK, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—Kidnapers of Max Kasoff called members of his family last week demanding $5,000 ransom "or we'll send him home in pieces—an ear first." Altogether there were four phone calls.

The last one Sunday night said "So you notified the police eh? O. K. We fix."

Today members of the family went to Rockville Center Long Island to identify Kasoff's body.

He had been blindfolded, shot twice in the head and once through the neck, and there was a deep cut on his head where he had been struck, apparently with a length of pipe.

The body was found early yesterday in front of a billboard at the Oceanfront. It was frozen and partly covered with snow. His name was in clothing labels.

A medical examiner fixed the time of death as early Monday morning, shortly after the last telephone call announcing "We fix."

Kasoff, 37, a well known automobile rental agent, disappeared last Thursday night.

At first the family didn't take the demand for ransom seriously because Kasoff was such a practical joker. Even a kidnap hoax was not too much to expect. Anything for a laugh.

Receipt of a letter also demanding $5,000, however, caused them to report him missing, although police were not told of the kidnap threats.

Malaria Outbreak At CCC Camp Not Serious

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—Dr. Henry Hanson, state health officer, does not consider an outbreak of malaria at the Civilian Conservation Camp at Newport, in Wakulla county, of an alarming nature, he said yesterday after an inspection trip there.

Dr. Hanson said conditions at the camp were good and the boys there with malaria apparently contracted it outside the camp. He recommended a few improvements, however.

Federal authorities recently reported they would transfer the camp because of the prevalence of malaria. Dr. Hanson said the improvements he recommended would cost less than moving the camp and would correct the malaria danger.

Federal Court Upholds Georgia Power Rates

MACON, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—A three-judge federal court yesterday ruled rate reductions ordered by the Georgia public service commission for the Georgia Power and Light Company would deprive the utility of a fair return and granted an injunction restraining enforcement of the rate cut.

The company's court fight was the first made by a power concern in contesting rate reduction orders of the commission. The federal judges held that rates prescribed by the commission would reduce the Georgia Power and Light Company's return on its investment to one-half of one percent.

Their order stated that if the service is costing more than it is worth, "we are not ready but for the consumers to find a substitute."

Forty-nine South Georgia communities are served by the company. The judges pointed to purchase of power by the company from the Florida Power Company as one reason why its rates could not be reduced to conform with those of the Georgia Power Company. The latter concern generates most of the current.

LINDY REFUSES SERVICE AS U.S. AIR ADVISOR

Flier Does Not Care To Offer Advice On Idea He Thinks Unfair To Army, Private Lines

NEW YORK, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh last night notified Secretary Dorn of the War Department that he could not serve on the special committee to investigate the Army flying of the airmail.

"I do not feel that I can serve on a committee whose function it is to assist in following out an executive order to the Army to take over the commercial air mail system of the United States," Lindbergh telegraphed the secretary.

The noted aviator had been requested to join Orville Wright, Clarence Chamberlin and other airmen in the investigation.

"I greatly appreciate the honor of your request that I become a member of a special committee to study and report upon army aviation in relation to national defense," the telegram began.

"I would of course be glad to contribute in any way that I can to the maintenance of an adequate national defense. However, according to the announcement by the War Department, this committee is to study and report upon performance by the Army air corps in its mission to carry the air mail as directed by executive order."

"I believe that the use of the army air corps to carry the air mail was unwarranted and contrary to American principles."

"This action was unjust to the air lines whose contracts were cancelled without trial. It was unfair to the personnel of the Army air corps who had neither equipment designed for the purpose nor adequate time for training in a new field."

"It has unnecessarily greatly damaged all American aviation."

Intrepid Russian Ace Believed Lost At Sea

MOSCOW, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—The intrepid Russian ace pilot Liapidevsky, who recently saved 12 women and children from an ice floe in the Arctic Ocean off the Bering Straits, was believed today to have met disaster in an attempt to rescue 80 remaining members of the Wrangel Island expedition.

The government rescue commission announced here early today that the flier had disappeared, and it was believed he had been forced down after taking off from Cape Wlaska, across the straits from Alaska.

All County Celery Growers Urged To Attend Agriculture Club Meeting

Urging the attendance of every grower of celery in this city and county, F. F. Dornier, president of the Seminole Agriculture Club, in an interview this morning, stated that tonight's meeting of the club, to be held at Seminole High School starting at 8:00 o'clock, is probably one of the most important in the history of the organization.

Three men will be selected tonight, Mr. Dornier stated, to represent the growers of Seminole County on the proposed celery marketing agreement control board which, it is confidently predicted, will soon be governing the celery industry of Florida.

So that these men will be representative of the entire section, Mr. Dornier pointed out that it is absolutely necessary that every grower be present at the meeting.

He extends a particular invitation to those growers who have expressed opposition to the agreement which, if approved by Secretary Wallace, will apply to all growers, whether they are in agreement with it or not.

In his interview, Mr. Dornier expressed approval of a statement made by Secretary of Florida, Celery Shippers, Inc., who with Loring Raulof of Bradenton, president of the Shippers' group, left here yesterday for Washington at the request of De-

KIWANIS CLUB TO SEEK CHANGE IN INTEREST RATES

Resolution Calls Upon Legislature To Cut Charge To 6 Percent

The Sanford Kiwanis Club, at its meeting in the Montezuma Hotel yesterday noon, launched what is planned to be a state-wide campaign calling upon the Florida State Legislature to enact a bill at its next session providing that the maximum rate of interest on borrowed money shall not exceed six percent per annum.

Suggested by Kiwanian Howard Long and given the endorsement of the board of directors, the subject was contained in a resolution offered the entire membership by Kiwanian Gordon Barnett of the Public Affairs Committee.

Before the resolution was adopted, Kiwanian B. C. Moore expressed the view that passage of the act sought in the resolution might depress the flow of capital into Florida from other sections.

Pointing out that one of the reasons that the legal rate of interest in this state is higher than in some other states is because it was hoped that new money would be attracted here, Mr. Moore urged serious consideration of the possible consequences of reducing the rate at this time.

The resolution states that "The present reconstruction period following the recent depression requires and demands a most careful consideration and correction of those evils which beset the masses of our people, particularly such matters as oppress and stifle those who are wageing a war of survival."

The current legal and contract rates of interest chargeable in Florida are held in the resolution as "oppressing our people and preventing many from recovery, even leading many to financial ruin."

"The seal of the money lender is figuratively 'eating up' this state," making our people in their extremity pay unreasonable and exorbitant rates of interest," the resolution points out, "contributing further to the centralization of wealth in the few and preventing the mass of the people from rising above their financial difficulties."

It is pointed out that people in states where the legal rates of interest are lower "As readily find (Continued On Page Four)

LABOR WARNS OF STRIKE OF AUTO WORKERS

General Motors Leader Says His Firm Will Never Recognize Federation As Such

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—The American Federation of Labor warned today that a momentous strike impends in the automobile industry, and the General Motors Corporation gave simultaneous notice that it would never recognize the A. F. of L. Union as such.

The views given were as far apart as the scenes themselves, with President William Green of the Federation appearing before a Congressional committee.

The downtown statement by Vice President William Knudsen of the Corporation was addressed to the NRA Labor Board which is seeking to conciliate between the automobile employer and the employed.

Strict observance of the NRA occupied both the legislative branches. Aware of widespread non-compliance protests, President Roosevelt reinforced regulations that require government contractors to respect all codes.

At the National Labor Board, a hearing called to try to prevent widespread strikes in the automobile industry brought demands from American Federation of Labor men that employers be made to recognize their unions, coupled with warnings that the auto plants were "like a tinder box" to which a match would be touched unless prompt action were taken toward satisfying the men.

Rockefeller's Health Is Said Much Better

DAYTONA BEACH, Mar. 15. (A.P.)—After several weeks' sojourn in Florida, almost daily banking in the sunshine and frequent automobile rides through the sea washed air along the Atlantic coast, John D. Rockefeller is showing satisfactory improvement following the weakening illness that attacked him in the North last fall, attendants at the Casements, winter home in Ormond Beach said yesterday. He spends long hours in his sunparlor which is especially equipped with glass that permits the entry of violet rays.

So far Rockefeller has not felt strong enough to take up his usual winter routine of golf on the Ormond course, nor to attend church and chat with his neighbors on Sunday as in former years.

The Patman Bonus Bill

Whether merit there may be in the payment of the soldiers' bonus at this time, some of the veterans of the World War are sorely pressed for funds, there can be no justification for the Patman bonus bill which would pay these adjusted compensation certificates with printing press money. If and when the bonus is paid, it should be paid with real money honestly raised through the levy of taxes on the sale of bonds.

If taxes were levied, either to pay the bonus directly, or to retire bonds from the proceeds of which the bonus might be paid, it is presumed that they would be levied proportionately and fairly against all classes in the country. Those who have most would pay most; at least they would be supposed to. The great mass of the people, the wage earning classes, and those of small incomes would not be expected to pay so large a percentage of their incomes to the government, in order that the bonus might be paid, as the millionaires.

But if the bonus were paid with fiat money, as the Patman bill proposes, the onus of the measure would fall almost entirely upon those of meager incomes. And the less a man had the greater would be his proportion of the burden. Those of great wealth would pay practically nothing. We understand that this is not the argument advanced by Mr. Patman, nor is it the opinion of other supporters of the bill, or of that rather vociferous class of agitators which we have in this country now known as inflationists. But that is the way it appears to us, and that is the way it appears to a great many students of political and economic thought who are really authorities on the subject.

If the bonus bill were to pass and the veterans were to receive their pay in printing press money, it would start a veritable tidal wave of demands on the government for similar expenditures. Already the pressure is almost overwhelming to retire government bonds with fiat money, and to pay CWA workers with the same kind of unapproved currency. If the precedent were once established by paying the veterans in this manner, nothing in the world could stop the printing presses until all government bonds had been similarly paid, until millions were on a dole of paper money, and until the country were literally flooded with worthless currency.

Now if such an orgy of inflation would benefit the country, if it would help the average person, if it would make the problems of the unemployed or the small wage earner any less acute, it should be supported by all conscientious citizens. But it would not. It would only add to the burdens which the little fellow already endures. It would only add to the suffering of mankind. It would only increase the destitution and want which the depression has already produced.

No matter what our inflationists in Congress may use to support their conclusions, they cannot dispute the fact that when Germany was at the height of its inflation, when prices were higher than at any other time in the history of that country, unemployment was also at its height. Imagine what the problems of the unemployed in this country would be if prices, instead of being relatively low, were 500 or 1000 times higher than they are now.

That is what fiat money inflation does to a country. It simply runs the prices up higher and higher until it takes $5 to buy a loaf of bread. In Germany a man who had sold away a hundred thousand marks to carry him through the declining years of his life finally used the entire amount to buy himself a hat. That was no exception. That was the rule. It finally got so that it required thousands of marks to buy a postage stamp. Nor was Germany's experience unusual. The same results have been encountered time and time again in numerous countries throughout the history of the world.

Under such conditions the rich do not suffer materially. Their wealth is invested in oil wells, coal mines, steel mills, real estate, office buildings, and railroads which are still here after the orgy is over and which they would still own, but the wealth of the little fellow, such as he has, is lodged in the deposits which he has in the bank, or in the currency in the old sock under the bed, or in the wages which he earns week after week. These can become pitifully small when prices are soaring to unprecedented heights.

Aid For The Deaf

There are in the United States today, according to B. P. Brodinsky, of the United States Office of Education, about 300,000 school children whose hearing is so seriously impaired that they need special educational attention. There are several million adults and children seriously handicapped in their educational and vocational progress because of impaired hearing. There are more than 67,000 persons totally deaf.

Through the Federal Office of Education the government is trying to shed some light on one of the most important problems of the deaf—the problem of choosing a vocation. A nation-wide study is now being conducted to determine the types of work for which the deaf and hard-of-hearing may be successfully trained despite their handicap.

There are 200 public and private schools for the deaf and hard of hearing in the United States. It is expected that the study will yield much information which will be of great value to educators of the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Vocational and educational programs for the schools of deaf will be modified by the findings of this study. Any further information regarding the study, the United States News reveals, is available from the Federal Office of Education in Washington, which will also report survey of findings.

Forty-four busy executives of schools for the deaf, and others interested in their welfare, in 27 different states and the District of Columbia have volunteered their services in acting as co-ordinating agents, between the Office of Education and the field. Three hundred and twenty-two field workers, taken from the ranks of the unemployed, are gathering data on the vocational history of thousands of deaf and their employers. Returns already indicate that the study is receiving the approval of the deaf and their employers all over the country.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Sanford have returned home after several months in the North when Mr. Sanford was desperately ill for some time and his friends were greatly worried over the reports that came from his bedside.

Mr. J. H. Fletcher and William J. O. Spang, who for the last few days had been in the city, were the first to see the patient. It was a surprise to announce that Mr. Sanford had returned.

LOANS TO BUSINESS

Business men who have been wondering how they would continue to do their part for the NRA, and a ray of hope yesterday in the federal reserve system's decision to find out how much credit will be needed to carry commercial and industrial enterprises until the expected general improvement in business will enable them to make both ends meet.

Most business men have faith that the improvement will come. What has worried them is how to stick it out in the meantime. The need for higher wages and other immediate cash outlays by reason of changes in trade conditions. There is no doubt that the ultimate effect will be to increase the depression has brought so many to the corresponding benefit of business and industry. The investment in national recovery is sound enough. The only trouble is that the depression has brought so many to the ragged edge of their resources that they are unable to make the investment.

They are willing to make it if they can borrow the money. It is not so much that they are unable to get it from the banks. Unfortunately, however, these banks have a considerable restriction of banking facilities and will concentrate their efforts on proper economies and think in terms of the welfare of our children rather than the bondholders, we will be able to pay our teachers in accordance with their worthiness and give our children such an education as is their rightful heritage.

Declaring "It has never been my intention arbitrarily to limit the amount that the state might contribute to the support of education," the governor said that "in suggesting to the 1933 legislature five million dollars as the state's contribution to our schools, I had in mind the maximum amount the state could provide at that time without an increase in taxation that would be burdensome to our people."

He said the 1931 legislature appropriated $7,500,000, and that school budgets were made up with anticipation of that much from the state. When the state raised only about $5,000,000, "the result was a deficit with unpaid obligations to our teachers and bus drivers and others who had extended credit on the strength of the appropriation."

"I have no objection to appropriating six million, seven million or any other amount that may be necessary for the proper education of our children, but I am still opposed to additional sources of revenue and am unalterably opposed to any appropriation in excess of the revenue that may be reasonably expected from sources well known and definitely determined in advance of the appropriation."

"Unquestionably our schools will profit by this year's experience. It is a good thing to be forced sometimes to the practice of economy. In most countries and districts, we have gotten down to bedrock, and upon that rock we can proceed to build. We have learned what economies can be effected in times of financial stress without having lost our desire for better things when we can afford them."

"There is no question but that our teachers are underpaid and it is my earnest hope that they may be adequately reimbursed for their service. An average wage or salary of $1,000 per annum has been suggested. In my opinion that is not enough, but if we will all patriotically fulfill our obligation to the state by payment of our taxes, and if those in authority

The wedding was at Miss Sanford's most popular young people. It took place Sunday at 3:00 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Seventh Street with Dr. E. D. Brown as officiant. As guest of the solemn wedding that made them man and wife had been pronounced, and hearty congratulations had been showered upon them, the happy couple climbed into an automobile and started for the East Coast ferry, but the news had spread and a number of their friends chased after them, determined to shower them with rice and old shoes, but Mr. and Mrs. Brown had the lead and beat them all to the ferry where they were a fond farewell from the other side of the turbulent St. Johns.

PROSPEROUS 1ST HALF OF YEAR IS SEEN AS CERTAIN

Cleveland Banker Has Views On Trends Of Business Activity

CLEVELAND, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Increasingly active business during the first half of the year was forecast yesterday by Col. Leopold P. Ayres, business analyst and vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company.

"Continuing a vigorous advance which began last November," business activity in February, he said, "reached a point only 27 percent below normal. He termed the gain from November's 34 percent below normal, "a rather impressive improvement."

Col. Ayres named three factors as appearing most immediately responsible for the current life: (1) Increased activity in the automobile industry; (2) A large increase in building construction; (3) Cold weather which increased cold shipments, the use of electricity, and purchases of clothing and footwear.

Describing automobiles, steel, building, exports, textiles and rail freight as "six elements of business activity so important in our national economy that we may truly term them controlling factors," Col. Ayres said all of them "have shown important recoveries from their lows for the depression."

Concerning the favorable outlook for the future, he asserted: "Expenditures for publicly financed construction will increase rapidly up to the middle of summer, and they will be large. For the entire appropriation of $3,500,000,000 has now been allotted, but only a little more than one-tenth of it has so far been spent."

"Bonus payments to farmers will average about 100 million monthly through April and continue at half that rate through the rest of the year. Total treasury disbursements have been running this year at about $0 million dollars a day, and while that continues business will respond to the stimulus."

"We are now fully launched upon a great social experiment which will demonstrate whether or not public expenditures can generate a business revival which private enterprise can subsequently sustain."

He added that "the present prospects are that business will continue to be increasingly active during the first half of the year unless serious labor troubles should check production in the automobile industry."

State Expenses In 1933 Reached Thirty Millions

(Continued From Page One) receipts were $24,362,925, or a total of $29,292,128. The one cent gasoline tax accounts for $2,019,580 of the total general revenue receipts, or 40.16 percent.

Aside from aid to counties, major disbursements were: Higher education $686,464; hospitals and penal institutions $1,886,792; pensions and memorials $993,511; highway $6,103,322; and federal aid $2,850,071.

Under general government expenditures were included circuit and supreme courts; administration of all state departments except the road department; and collection of revenue from all sources. The report shows the 1931 legislature was extremely optimistic in its estimates of what various tax levies would raise. Its estimate was $8,410,000 but the actual total for the general revenue fund was $4,810,382.

"By reason of the loss in anticipated revenues," said C. F. Green, general auditor in the comptroller's office in his compilation of the report, "it was found necessary to transfer to the general revenue fund the sum of $433,922.

"As a result of the failure of ad valorem taxes levied for certain state institutions and departments to provide sufficient revenue to meet the expenses, it was necessary for the general revenue fund to assume part of the necessary expenses of those institutions."

"The comptroller's balance with the state treasury as of July 1, 1932, was $3,653,854. The balance as of June 30, 1933, at the end of the fiscal year was $1,785,839, a net decrease of $1,868,015.

"In addition to the net decrease in the comptroller's balance there were accumulated unpaid bills of the various state institutions, in the amount of $163,982 June 30, 1933, for payment of which no funds were available at the time."

FRANKFORT, Ky., Mar. 15.—(AP)—Col. Nathan O. Gray, 55, head of the automobile department of the state tax commission, died last night from a bullet wound, self-inflicted, authorities said they believed, after he had attempted to commit suicide in his home.

Japan Orders Probe Of Soviet Fliers' Action

TOKIO, Mar. 15.—(AP)—An investigation of the landing of two Soviet airmen in the Japanese-occupied empire of Manchukuo was ordered yesterday by the government.

The fliers, who made a forced landing Mar. 11 and have been held by Manchukuo authorities, will be taken to Hsinking (Changchun), the capital, for immediate questioning.

War department officials as well as the foreign office manifested considerable perturbation over the incident and demanded to know why the plane, a bomber of the Soviet air force, descended on "forbidden" territory.

An announcement said the aviators presumably made a forced landing. They came down in the border area of Mianon, near Russia's maritime province.

Georgia Tags Voids In Louisiana, Connecticut

ATLANTA, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Louisiana and Connecticut officials placed themselves yesterday on the list of states instituting warfare against their residents for the unprivileged use of automobile license tags bought from the Georgia department of revenue's bargain counter at $3 a pair.

Florida, Tennessee, North and South Carolina still are continuing their drives to make their resident automobile owners buy at home and stick to their colors.

"A lot of money and trouble would be saved if every state in the nation would reduce the price of their tags to $3, Governor Tallmadge said when advised of the day's developments.

The negro is believed near death.

He was nearly unconscious and he gasped out information that sent all available officers on a manhunt for the desperado who has been the object of a nationwide search since coming Indiana jailers with a wooden pistol. Roosevelt Makes It Clear That He Wants Wilcox Bill Prepared For Final Passage

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Concern for debt-burdened cities was evidenced anew at the White House and in Congress Wednesday. President Roosevelt, who favors a general scaling down of debts, made it clear he was leaving it to Congressional leaders to whip the Wilcox-Sumners municipal bankruptcy bill into such form that there would be no more doubt of its passage.

The measure would permit lightening of municipal indebtedness by agreement of creditors. Chief objections have been to the provision that would allow 66 percent of a city's creditors to say how much it should pay.

The White House has heard that advocates of the legislation are talking of changing it to require 80 percent approval for reduction of principal, and 66 percent approval for reduction of interest or postponement of maturities.

Prospects of similar relief for financially embarrassed companies doing general business likewise improved. The corporation bankruptcy bill, passed last session in the House to expedite reorganization of firms in difficulty, was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

At the same time Senator Trammell D. Flax, introduced a bill directing the Reconstruction Corporation to aid refinancing of counties, municipalities, school and road districts.

Under the Trammell measure authority would be given the RFC to raise and use $750,000,000 in this program.

Trammell said his bill would supplement the Wilcox-Sumners measure, not conflict with it.

"My bill," he explained, "provides the funds with which such counties, cities and towns may purchase their bonds and retire the obligations after the arrangement for such adjustment has been made in accordance with provisions of the bankruptcy law."

30,000 MEN TO BE GIVEN WORK BY THURSDAY

Some CWA Projects Will Be Resumed At Once Under Control Of Work Relief Body

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 16.—(AP)—J. P. Newell, executive secretary to Governor Sholtz, today tendered his resignation to Julius F. Stone, Jr., FERA administrator, as a member of the State FERA Advisory Committee. He said his resignation is prompted by the fact that he couldn't attend many meetings since the headquarters had been moved to Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Intent on getting the new work relief program in Florida in motion as rapidly as possible, the Emergency Relief Administration yesterday assigned 30,000 men to work on preferred projects between Monday and Thursday of next week.

An allotment of $100,000 was set aside for all expenses other than salaries, which will vary from the minimum of 30 cents an hour to the prevailing wage for skilled workmen.

A letter went out yesterday to every county administrator notifying him of the projects to be resumed. Only projects previously begun or approved by the CWA were considered in selecting the preferred list.

The approved projects do not include federal CWA projects, which were not stopped when the Civil Works program in Florida was abandoned. C. K. Doid, acting state engineer, said the only change in the status of the federal workmen would be that their wages would be paid by the Emergency Relief Administration instead of the CWA.

Regional administrators were assigned the duty of administration of the preferred projects.

Doid said work would not start Monday in any county from which a complete report of expenditures under the Civil Works program had not been received.

Emergency projects not abandoned last week were included in the list to be worked next week.

Meanwhile, plans were made to resume work on other Civil Works projects designated by regional administrators and engineers after an investigation as "worth while."

Doid said the projects would be continued as rapidly as possible in a systematic manner.

Lieutenant Peter A. Ferrigno, executive officer, notified administrators applications for new projects could be submitted, and would be eligible for approval in the following order:

1. Public health projects; 2. educational; 3. airport; 4. recreation; 5. survey; 6. beautification; 7. conservation of public structures; 8. repairs and reconstruction of public buildings; 9. repairs and construction of streets and roads.

GROWERS SEEK TO COLLECT ON FLY DAMAGES

Local Business Men Join In Appeal For Review Of Claims Of Those Who Suffered

The contentions of local growers and property owners who suffered damage in the fruit fly campaign, which they seek to have repaid by an appropriation from the United States, were contained in a letter, to be sent to Washington at once, signed by many local business men today.

Urging payment to Florida growers for losses sustained during the campaign, a committee of 14 men, including J. C. Chase, of Winter Park, and Sanford, led by Washington Monday, joined with a committee of the Congress on Tuesday to discuss the subject.

Members of this committee will discuss it in a bill, entitled, "A Bill providing for a review of the claims of farmers, fruit and vegetable growers of the State of Florida for losses and damages resulting from the work of the eradication of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida."

The measure, the letter reads, "was introduced by J. H. Haden, of St. Petersburg, and it is the object of the committee of the Congress to have it passed by the end of the session."

Treasury Finds That Some Silver Advocates Have Been Dabbling In Silver Stocks

Pilot MinceNoWords In Arraigning Bill Calling Army Off Emergency Venture

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—The treasury has found that some silver advocates were interested in speculating in silver stocks.

This was disclosed by Secretary Morgenthau yesterday in saying once again that the Administration planned to "sit tight" on Recovery efforts now under way.

In a press conference, Morgenthau was asked the "real purpose" of the government's investigation of ownership of silver speculative stocks on the New York market.

"To find out of all these silver stocks who was entirely disinterested," the treasury head replied. "Have you found anybody interested?" he was asked.

"We have found some that were not disinterested," he replied.

Morgenthau added that a final report on the silver investigation was not complete and might never be made public.

Later, Morgenthau sent for reporters and made this additional statement: "So far as the investigation goes, we have found no member of Congress is a buyer or seller of silver."

The secretary's review of economic conditions was expressed to House coinage committee members who gathered about his desk and looked over price charts. The committee has several bills pending.

"It seems to me," Morgenthau later told reporters, "that the Administration has found a combination of circumstances which is pulling this country out of the depression. As long as the present combination works, why change it?"

"I told them that if something went radically wrong and we saw we were going into another nose dive, then we would get busy. But as long as things are going a little better each week, I think it is a good time to sit tight."

CITY LICENSE WOULD BE DENIED PERSON WHO FAILS TO HEED CODE

TAMPA, Mar. 16.—An ordinance which would require strict compliance with all NRA code provisions before a city license could be issued to any business firm will be presented to the board of aldermen Tuesday.

This action was agreed on yesterday morning at a meeting attended by representatives of the various code authorities here. A committee of five headed by Percy G. Wall, chairman of the NRA advisory council, was appointed to draft the proposed law.

While the meeting was called primarily for the purpose of discussing establishment of a central enforcement office for handling all code enforcement in the Tampa area as a government supported better business bureau, those present agreed prompt city legislative action to support the federal Recovery program would be of immense benefit.

LINDY ATTACKS PROPOSED AIR MAIL MEASURE

Sholtz Says All Taxes Must Be Paid By April 1

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—The Administration's proposed legislation for the restoration of air mail to private contractors was attacked as "unfair" today by Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

In a swirl of activities at the capitol, at NRA and in other quarters, it was the appearance of the flier before the Senate postoffice committee that drew the crowd.

He arraigned the Administration for annulling contracts before having private contractors tried on fraud charges.

He contended the bill section against these contractors bidding on future routes unless they waived all claims against the government growing out of cancellations, was the most "unjust section ever placed into an American legislation."

Labor, cotton, and other topics provided developments during the day that rivaled the aviator's testimony for the attention paid.

The Senate had the afternoon off but the House was facing again a veterans' compensation squabble as centered in the independent offices supply bill.

Efforts to avert an automobile strike were pursued by General Johnson and William S. Knudson, executive vice president of General Motors.

As the Administration sought to expedite the air mail bill, air mail planes remained grounded though there were indications that flying might be resumed at any time on routes to Miami, Tampa, and other points.

Major General Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Army Air Corps, who is making an inspection of Eastern mail facilities, said that he considered the air mail assignment an ideal test of the Army's flying ability.

Full approval of the pending air mail bill was given before the Senate committee yesterday by Brigadier General William Mitchell, who was court-martialed several years ago because of written criticism of Army officers who were directing the aviation activities.

He said the bill was "a step in the right direction" but predicted that ultimately the government must establish an air ministry with complete control over civil aviation and mails. Mitchell agreed that if private contractors are to continue to fly the mails they must be granted a liberal subsidy.

He proposed a minimum rate of compensation to maintain the industry as well as a maximum rate to prevent cut-throat competition.

Governor Will Not Extend Time For Payment Of 1933 Levies

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz has notified the authority nor the inclination to extend the time for payment of 1933 taxes, county tax collectors were told yesterday.

The governor sent an order for tax collectors to close their books by April 1 in full compliance with state law. He asked that the delinquent tax list be advertised during the month of May and that delinquent property be sold the first Monday in June.

"Distribute the funds collected far enough in advance of June 30 to enable disbursing authorities to balance their current budgets by the close of the fiscal year, June 30," said the order.

"In this connection it is earnestly urged that final distribution be made not later than June 20."

"In view of the fact that we have had a remarkably good season this year, and that funds are badly needed so that the schools, counties and the state may pay current obligations, I have not only no inclination to extend the time for payment of 1933 taxes, but I am hereby specifically requesting the tax collectors to proceed in this matter according to the schedule contemplated by law."
