

Polio Foundation Invests Over $13,000,000 In Twelve Years

EDITORS NOTE: To bring our readers up to date on the most recent progress in the fight against infantile paralysis, we are publishing a series of four articles especially written by State March of Dimes Chairman, Dr. J. Hillis Miller. This is the third in the series.

By J. HILLIS MILLER
State Chairman of 1951 March of Dimes

We reported earlier in this series that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has invested $13,000,000 during the past 12 years on the most massive scientific research program ever launched by a voluntary agency against a single disease. Right now 805 specific research and professional education projects are in progress in 125 institutions.

While no practical preventive vaccine or cure has been developed as yet to banish the scourge of polio from the earth, substantial strides have been made and an amazing library of information about polio has been amassed.

Constant study of this data by many scientists in varied fields will inevitably result in the conquest of infantile paralysis. However, the struggle is a formidable one because of the shiftness of our opponent. Unlike smallpox, for instance, polio follows no set strategy. Polio can't be relied upon to act in a predictable way.

For one thing, there is not just one polio virus. There are at least 3 of them... perhaps more.

Science needs a "shotgun" vaccine to blast this multiple enemy.

Polio used to be considered a "summer disease." In recent years, however, the peak weeks of incidence have occurred in the autumn and there have been as many cases after the second week in September as in all the months before.

Another thing. Years with a high incidence of cases used to be followed by light years. But no more, 1948 saw 27,000 cases; 1949 reported 48,178 cases; there were 21,500 cases recorded through November in 1950. This has placed an unrelenting financial load upon the chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Then, too, an analysis of figures shows that more and more adults are being stricken. In the past, roughly 15% of all patients were 15 years old, now 25% are above that age. Although the age group most often hit is still 5 to 9, older people tend to have more serious attacks. And naturally, with the increase in the number of wage earners afflicted, more serious economic disruption results in the family. Bubbling and respiratory disease took up 10% of the total.

It is now believed that polio is a very widespread infection, with only the rare person showing symptoms of the clinical disease. Several recent surveys show that more than 80% of persons over 15 years of age have specific polio antibodies in their blood, indicating previous infection with polio virus.

This mass of data, uncharted by research financed by the March of Dimes, is being put into the service of mankind. Polio will be conquered by its use some day.

lie Church-sponsored or recommended organizations, such as the National Catholic Student League.

The member said the decree, published yesterday in the Vatican's "Official Gazette," is a general directive and neither a recommendation nor an obligation to membership of Catholic laymen in the organization.

The decree was approved by Pope Pius XII, who is prefect of the Holy Office, the Vatican body that governs church affairs.

The decree, this source said, is complete insofar as it regards clergyman. They cannot be members of Rotary or other organizations having a "worldly" character or attend the meetings.

Any clergyman who is a member of Rotary, this source said, must resign from the club. The implication of the decree, the source added, is that similar action must be taken by clergyman who are members of Kiwanis, or like groups.

The decree was described as a general rule even, insofar as Catholic laymen are concerned, to local interpretations by bishops.

It was noted that a Rotary club in Chicago has decided to consider the decree and will not accept any new members with it. This would mean that the club's membership would be limited to other than Rotary.

The Vatican source said that the decrees were issued because it was felt that the membership of every citizen in every country should be available to all similar organizations.

Truman Message

figure for his new tax proposals but said the total should exceed the combined total of these two bills.

Mr. Truman said it should be the first principle of policy to "maintain a balanced budget, and to finance the cost of national defense on a 'pay-as-we-go' basis," he added:

"Corporations should pay much higher taxes. Individuals should pay much higher taxes. Excise taxes should be higher and more extensive."

Mr. Truman said new tax proposals soon will be submitted to Congress, carrying these recommendations as well as recommendations for closing "many loopholes" in present tax laws.

The President also informed Congress that staffs are being rapidly gathered to study "broader controls" over prices and wages.

In the case of prices, he said, "the holding price policy must be to hold the price line with utmost vigor."

He asked that the Department of Agriculture be "granted authority to control speculative trading and to strengthen its regulation of commodity exchanges."

As he did in last Monday's State of the Union message, the President emphasized the great threat from Communist aggression.

He said "the go and menacing forces led by Russia are arrayed against the free world."

"The great manpower under the control of Soviet Communism is being driven by fanatical zeal to heighten military and industrial strength," he continued. "We invite disaster if we underestimate the forces working against us."

The $140,000,000,000 figure used by Mr. Truman does not necessarily mean the government will spend that much in the two years ending July 1, 1952.

The funds may be committed over several years ahead and Mr. Truman did not hint at the size of the budget to be presented on Monday.

But by the end of 1951, Mr. Truman declared, defense and foreign aid spending should hit a rate between $45,000,000,000 and $55,000,000,000.

The real economic cost of this defense effort is that we must work harder, reduce consumption, and forego improvements in farm, business and household equipment," Mr. Truman said.

"This cost cannot be put off into the future. It must be paid by the people now, one way or another, and it should be paid through taxation."

Laying great stress on the inflationary hazard, the President warned for "effective price and wage controls" to hold the anti-inflation line for the duration of the emergency.

He also asked Congress to provide "stronger rent control authority to replace the present 'obsolete' ceilings."

International pacts governing the supply of raw materials, and extension of export controls.

Credit control over existing houses as well as new dwellings.

But the major emphasis was on a rigorous, budget-balancing tax program.

The heavier taxes, he said, "will make it harder for everybody."

But for any group to seek to adjust its income upward, to counteract the higher taxes which the defense program is making necessary, would tend to relieve that group from its share in the cost of achieving national security.

"I am sure that every group will be willing to accept the necessary sacrifices in this emergency, if the whole stabilization program is fair and equitable."

Effective price and wage controls, much higher taxes on business profits, along with many other restrictions which will affect the whole population, are all aspects of a comprehensive stabilization program in which everyone will do his part."

On the manpower front the President said that "industry hiring standards are being reviewed, to provide suitable jobs for workers" and additional shifts and longer hours in some defense industries "are being encouraged."

"Arrangements are under study to protect the pensions and seniority rights of workers who shift to defense jobs."

He asked for an improvement in the unemployment insurance system to provide better protection for workers who leave their communities to take defense jobs in other states.

Mr. Truman said that in terms of manpower our present defense targets are "very substantially short of the requirements imposed by full-scale war," but still will call for an intake of nearly 1,000,000 men and women in the armed forces within a few months and probably not less than 4,000,000 more in defense production by the end of the year.

In grave language he asserted: "If the free nations mobilize and direct their strength properly, they can assure whatever conditions they may see necessary to avert a general war or to win such a war if it comes. The resources are on our side. The only question is whether they will be used with speed and determination. The answer now hangs in the balance."

He said the two nations now have in the United States "the ability to cooperate on the world's frontiers, to meet the needs of the world, to provide for the world, to lead the world."

One Thousand Orphans Start New Life On Island Off Korean Coast

By HAL BOYLE

CHEJU, Korea.—(AP)—A new life of hope has begun on this rugged island for nearly 1,000 war orphans saved from Seoul by "Operation Kiddy Kar."

And today Americans opened their hearts to these children of disaster in a sequel by the U. S. Air Force to the flight that rescued the orphans from the streets of Seoul.

Two C-47 transport planes flew through foggy weather Monday afternoon to land 10 tons of gift supplies for the war waifs on their island sanctuary, 70 miles off the southwest tip of Korea.

The gifts included several tons of food donated by the Army. There was also a ton of badly needed medical and toilet supplies purchased in Japan with funds contributed by U. S. Far East Air Force personnel, and clothing donated by individuals and organizations from all parts of America.

"And this is only a trickle of what we have been promised," Lt. Col. R. L. Blaisdell said happily.

Blaisdell, who lives in Fort Worth, Tex., is chaplain of the Fifth Air Force. It was he who inspired Operation Kiddy Kar Dec. 20, an airlift that removed from battle danger these hundreds of orphaned or abandoned children who had been picked up off the streets of the Korean capital by kindhearted American soldiers.

Since then he has raised more than $10,000 for their share. The orphans are housed in the old wooden buildings of an agricultural school on the outskirts of Cheju.

They came running in eager curiosity as the trucks rolled in from the airport loaded with their gifts.

"Hello, hello, hello, they called. Chaplain Blaisdell turned to a group of small girls leaning out of a window and came to them. 'Jesus loves me, this I know—" present—not even the superintendent or the doctor—receives a salary. All they get is food and quarters. Blaisdell would like to correct that situation too, but he says "the children come first."

Before we left, the children assembled in the yard and sang Korean songs tuned to a wheezing old last-century type of foot pumped organ. In the group was a small light-skinned child being carried piggyback by an older boy. The youngster had a candy bar in his hand.

"Hello Jimmy," said the chaplain, and Jimmy waved his candy bar and smiled.

As our truck drove away from the smiling orphans chaplain Blaisdell said gently:

"Jimmy is half American. The other children know it—and they spoil him to death."

Reds Reel Back Under Savage Allied Attack; Osan Is Recaptured

U. S. Will Remain In Korea, Says Collins; Air Force Kills One Thousand Chinese

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 16—(AP)—American and Allied forces gained up to 12 miles Monday in a sudden offensive on the western Korean front south of Seoul. Tank-infantry teams by nightfall had recaptured three towns—Osan, Komyangjang and Chon. The attack by an Army that had been in retreat since late November came only a few hours after General J. Lawton Collins said American forces "will certainly stay and fight" in Korea. Collins made his fighting statement during a visit to Korea. A blazing morning strike by Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers A. P. correspondent Stan Swinton reported that frontal morale among U. N. troops soared as the weary fighters realized they had seized the initiative, at least locally. A strange lack of resistance from Chinese Communist troops was noted. The Reds made a last serious stand from a position north of Komyangjang at dusk. There they opened up U. S. Third Division troops with automatic weapons. Allied artillery blasted the Reds (Continued on Page Two)

Badman Bill Cook Reported Captured In Mexican Wilds

JOHNS, Mo., Jan. 15—(AP)—Holes of three persons were found in a mine shaft here today and police said they were investigating the possibility they were members of the missing Carl Bremer family, believed slain by Badman Bill Cook. It was not determined immediately whether there were any other holes in the shaft. Chief of Police Frank Martin said the bodies had not been brought in for the surface but that one looked like that of a little girl. Martin said he was not certain the bodies were those of the Bremer but that he felt relatively sure.

Harrisons Given $4,663 In Damages

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harrison were awarded damages totalling $4,663 in their suit Friday in Circuit Court against T. B. and W. P. Ball, local truck brokers. J. W. Hall was foreman of the jury which returned the verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. Judge M. B. Smith presided. The suit was entered for $5,000 damages as the result of injuries received by Mrs. Harrison and damage to her automobile which on the night of March 13 collided with a truck parked on East Eleventh Street. It was charged that the truck, owned by Ball Brothers, had been parked without lights.

Educators Give Tentative Assent To Law Revision

Legislators Warned Pay Cut Would Hit Teachers' Morale

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 15—(AP)—Two leading figures in the Florida school system today gave cautious, first-glance approval for most recommendations of the legislative council for revision of the school law.

School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey and Ed Henderson, president of the Florida Education Association, expressed concern, however, that the morale of the teaching profession might be hurt if the council's proposals for cutting payments for most highly trained teachers goes through.

They said it also might destroy the teachers' incentive to increase their training. Bailey said the council's recommendations "take the whole, atomic year."

Henderson said the legislators have "done a very earnest, very sincere job of studying the school program, and in the main they show a real understanding of the problems and state faces in financing the public schools."

Both of them said they were gratified that the legislators had recognized that adequate school facilities cannot be provided without earmarking of state school construction funds in such a way that counties may borrow against future revenues for immediate construction.

The legislative council proposed a constitutional guarantee of state capital outlay contributions to counties for 20 years, with authority to borrow against the future income with freerholder approval of the bonds.

The 1947 citizens committee on schools, and the PEA have recommended such a plan.

As for the legislators' proposal to permit counties to tax homesteads for school purposes, Bailey said "something like that is going to have to be done unless we assume the state is going to have to take over complete financing of the schools in the future."

Herbert B. Dunn Burns To Death In Blazing Home

Orlando Policeman Is Blown From Boat By Gas Explosion

Herbert B. Dunn, about 45, was burned to death in a fire of undetermined origin which completely destroyed his comparatively new home at 2611 South Sanford Avenue shortly before 3:00 o'clock this morning. He was alone in the house at the time.

No cause of the death will be necessary, said Justice of the Peace W. E. Watson, this morning. He termed the death accidental.

The fire was first noticed by Mrs. F. M. Smith, a neighbor in a home across the street from the Dunn home. She declared that she was awakened shortly before 3:00 o'clock by the sound of breaking glass, saw the glow of the fire, awakened by husband, and called the Fire Department.

The house was fully involved in flames when the fire truck arrived, said Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland. It was outside of the city limits and no hydrant water was therefore available. Firemen concentrated on protecting the home of C. P. Lewis, 70 feet to the north and Joe Wright, neighbor to the south.

The body of Mr. Dunn which was not discovered until the fire room house had burned to the ground, was propped in a half sitting position as if he had fallen in the hallway at the edge of the bedroom door. Mrs. Dunn was not home at the time.

A 1949 Buickbaker truck in the rear of the house was badly damaged by the flames, including tanks and turbine spraying equipment. Mr. Dunn had been professionally engaged in this type of spraying work.

The modern type of frame construction with asbestos shingle siding, it was built and occupied by the Duns about a year ago. Mrs. Reese, nearby neighbor, stated that she and her husband slept through much of the fire, until he awoke to take some medicine. He got out the garden hose and aided firemen in protecting his frame home.

Military Cost Is $41 Billion, Truman Says

Preparations For Red Attack Will Cost United States More Than $100 Billion

By ELTON C. PAV, WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—(AP)—President Truman estimated today the military will spend about $41,000,000,000 in cash and require authority to contract for $60,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

He affixed that 100 billion dollar price tag to the task of fighting the Korean war and preparing against possible Communist attacks elsewhere. The President emphasized in his budget message to Congress that the military phase of it must be tentative.

In addition to the $41,000,000,000 he proposed for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, the President estimated another $10,000,000,000 worth of authority should be granted for the balance of this year. This would bring the total funds voted or authorized for this year to $52,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman said that six months ago the active military forces totaled less than 1,500,000; that they have been increased by about 1,000,000; that the funds he asked in the new budget would provide for nearly a million more. Defense officials told a Senate committee last week the new goal was 2,500,000, to be attained as early as next June 30 as possible.

Mr. Truman said that more than 2,000,000 men and women in the National Guard and Reserve organizations of the armed forces are available for "rapid mobilization," and that funds in the budget will increase the strength and degree of readiness of the reserve organization.

The number of active units in the armed forces, the President said, is increasing rapidly. "In the Army," he wrote, "we have called to active duty several National Guard divisions and reactivated certain regular divisions."

High Court Raps Ordinance Against Street Preaching

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—(AP)—The Supreme Court today struck down, 8 to 1, a New York City ordinance which requires clergymen to get police permits before they can preach in the streets.

In another decision the tribunal unanimously censured the city council of Havre de Grace, Md., for refusing to let a Jehovah Witnesses group use a public park for religious services.

President Declares $16 Billion In New Taxes Needed In '51

Budget Of $71 Billion Is Suggested As Truman Emphasizes Needs Of Services

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—(AP)—President Truman today changed the draft regulations to permit 18-to-26-year-olds to volunteer for 24 months of military service. Presumably it had been impossible for draft-eligible youths to enter the military until they were actually called in the draft. Regular enlistments run for longer periods. Selective Service headquarters said the action has no effect on persons desiring to enlist for a full term in any of the armed forces.

Mr. Truman said that six months ago the active military forces totaled less than 1,500,000; that they have been increased by about 1,000,000; that the funds he asked in the new budget would provide for nearly a million more. Defense officials told a Senate committee last week the new goal was 2,500,000, to be attained as early as next June 30 as possible.

At the White House, President Truman signed into law the $1,000,000,000 Civil Defense Bill designed to protect the nation's communities from atomic warfare. Standing (l. to r.) are Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga.), Chairman, Senate Armed Services Committee; Senator Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), Chairman, Civil Defense Administration; Rep. Carl Durham (D-N.C.), Stuart Symington, Chairman, National Security Resources Board; and Senator Brian McMahon (D-Conn.), Chairman, Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy (International).

Britain Will Make Life Sentence Is More Sacrifices, Given Ilse Koch Eisenhower Hears By German Court

LONDON, Jan. 15—(AP)—General D. Eisenhower gets first-hand assurance today that Britain—World War II's "Output of Freedom"—is prepared for heavier sacrifices to help shore up the West's defenses.

During the day the supreme commander of Atlantic forces in Europe conferred with British Defense Minister Emmanuel Shinwell. Leaders of Britain's defense arm stood by to tell Eisenhower the role their services would play in the program.

Among other things Eisenhower was slated to hear were still unpublished details of Britain's budget peacetime defense program. It is expected to include an expenditure of $1 billion.

Senate Committee May Look Into Increase In Price Of Newsprint

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—(AP)—The Senate Small Business Committee today it may hold hearings on the newsprint supply and price situation if small newspapers appear likely to face widespread distress.

The committee devoted a section of its first annual report to the newsprint problems of such papers. The group said these publications include about 760 daily newspapers and about 8,000 weeklies and semi-weeklies.

Not 60 Days For Expected Ease Hard-On Occupants

Sanford Naval Air Station activated this spring. The present announcement is that 1 Day of Jackknives to arrive in Sanford to confer with City officials details of the property now under City.

date effect upon the various buildings anticipated as 60 days, and this not close to in now holding.

Washington Senator Holland, Sen. Spawver and Rep. Syd Clark said that the reactivation would be handled in a manner "that will least inconvenience present users." And City and Chamber of Commerce officials in Sanford said that they would be anything possible to see that no hardships result from the Navy's action.

The Navy's announcement stated that four Naval and Marine Corps air stations on the East, West, and Gulf Coasts will be reopened this spring. Help meet requirements of an expanded military program.

The four World War II stations are at Brunswick, Va.; Kingsville, Tex.; and Calif. The first three Air Stations, that at Kingsville, Tex., and Calif. are part of the four stations are presently under lease to private firms or municipalities, the announcement said, but all are subject to reactivation by the government and any revenue claims. The Navy said that while it desires to inconvenience as little as possible those now holding the fields, there is "urgent need" for these stations to be reopened.

The Brunswick and Sanford stations will supplement existing Atlantic fleet air activities at Chesapeake, R. I., and Jacksonville, Fla. The Brunswick facility will be reopened as an air facility but will be moved up to status of an air station later.

The naval auxiliary air station at Kingsville will be used for training pilots of conventional engines and also for its jets. The Santa Ana facility, originally a lighter-than-air base, will be used to train Pacific Fleet Marine Force helicopter pilots.

The station at Sanford probably will support carrier air groups or patrol plane squadrons, a Navy spokesman in Jacksonville said today.

It is expected to be completed by the first half of the year, he added. Since no orders have yet been received, specific information as to the number of planes to be based in Sanford is not available. However, at the Jacksonville station, 60 to 80 planes are now based.

"March of Dimes" Campaign Begins For Polio Funds

The Seminole County March of Dimes to raise funds for the Infantile Paralysis Foundation got under way today under the direction of John L. Sauls, assisted by George A. Speer, Judge Douglas Stinson, and George Touhy. Miniature iron lungs have been placed in drug stores, restaurants and other places of business throughout the county for the collection of small change from customers who wish to aid in the fight to overcome the ravages of infantile paralysis, Mr. Sauls said.

Posters are being placed in store windows and on signboards stressing the importance of the March of Dimes, he added. The Ritz Theatre is co-operating with school children are being given hundreds of dime coins for distribution. A special gifts committee will call on larger contributors.

It is especially important for us to put this drive over the top," Mr. Sauls said. "Three devastating years of the worst polio epidemics."

Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla. Dear Sir: I would like to relate to you an experience which I recently had with a drunken driver.

My partner and I operate the business establishment at the corner of French Avenue and Lake Shore Blvd., known as Motors Inn, Sunday night just after midnight, a woman, driving a 1949 Chevrolet, accompanied by her husband, ran into the gasoline pumps, completely demolishing one of them and doing a great deal of damage to another...

It's appalling that when the American people are at a ratio of 90-1 in favor of the Hoover plan and keeping our men and money with our own shores unless until we are fully cognizant of the fact that the other members of the U. Even then a long separation is an acid test. Many long term after a short period of marriage marriages didn't sustain the last war's hysteria. Young men are not always gaited to the fidelity necessary to withstand temptations away from their beloveds—and in this respect are even a greater risk than older men.

People who don't like grand opera will probably like next Saturday afternoon's Metropolitan matinee—"The Fleckman", by Johann Strauss, which contains some of the most ingratiating tunes the old master ever wrote.

Fitzgerald Again

We've mentioned F. Scott Fitzgerald several times in this column, especially in relation to Budd Schulberg's best-selling novel, "The Disenchanted", patterned on Fitzgerald's life. Anyone who has read and liked this book will be interested in the full-length feature article appearing in the recent issue of Life entitled, "The Fabulous Scott Fitzgerald".

Book And Movie

Don't ever think that a book and a movie on that same book are synonymous. Nothing could be further from the truth. Yet many people say, "Oh, I'll wait for the movie and be just as well off." How sadly mistaken. If someone had taken that attitude about Ann Rind's "The Fountainhead", or perhaps Martin Duvemont's "The Valley of Decision", they would have missed the great thrill and stimulation supplied only by the book. Some movies based on writings by someone who has read a book are written for a literate, intelligent audience. When Hollywood goes about adapting it for the movies, so much is lost because entertainment replaces thought stimulation.

Educator

Mrs. S. C. Dickerson would reduce the $120,000 school fund request by about $1,500,000.
She said, however, that reduction would be offset if the legislature adopted another council recommendation to add 5 percent to the State teacher's salary schedule for each teacher a county has in grades one through four.
Bailey said he thought the legislature's idea of encouraging more teachers to work in the lower grades, where there is a shortage, was "very good," but he was afraid the doctrine of the teaching profession as a whole would be undermined by stinging out any single group for a state increase. He said that ought to be up to the courts.

Meanwhile, the cruiser, valued at several thousand dollars and flaming in a manner that impressed many boats, was pulled to moorings of the school by the tugboat nearby. John Cameron in a boat aided in this work. The tugboat was a total loss and sank in the water. It was not insured, said Chief Cleveland.
Firemen were kept busy for more than an hour checking the "masses" of flames in the last job. They were called to the scene by the fire alarm, which was a total loss and sank in the water. It was not insured, said Chief Cleveland.

Fat Mas Dies Without Reaching 700 Lb. Goal

CLAYTON, N. M., Jan. 15.—(AP)—100 Wetsel died yesterday without reaching his lifetime ambition to weigh more than 700 pounds.
The man who claimed to be the world's fattest man died after a three-month illness. He was 57.
Wetsel was longer around the waist than he was tall. His girth, on which he based his claim, measured 6 feet 8 inches, compared to his height of 5 feet 8 1/2 inches.
Relative said the last time he climbed on a scale—about a year ago—he weighed 676 pounds.
And once why he didn't diet, Wetsel mentioned his mother's family.
"Almost all of that family were inclined to be fat and yet several died just 80," he said. "I follow the footsteps of my fat ancestors."

Other objectives reportedly are increased production of all kinds of armaments, the drafting of 200,000 reserves for as much as three months training and a renewed push toward 1951's goal of 10 regular and 12 "territorial" or national guard divisions.
The new program will impose a heavy burden on a nation already staggering under austerity. It is expected to be ready for parliamentary action by the second week in February.

Four Major Teams Remain Unbeaten As Favorites Fall in Weekend Tilts

By RALPH RODEN
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Major college basketball teams boasting perfect records are disappearing from the scene.

A week ago 12 major teams paraded with unblemished marks. Today only four are left.

Those who survived are Oklahoma A & M (15-0), Long Island (11-0), Columbia (10-0) and St. Bonaventure (9-0).

Top team to hit the dust was Bradley. The high ranked Billikens, Ill. No. 1 quintet in the Associated Press last week, stumbled at the hands of St. John's (Brooklyn) 68-66.

The ambush of the Braves above Oklahoma A & M, Columbia and Kentucky (16-1) up to the front of the battle for No. 1 honors along with Bradley.

Teams that topped out of the ranks of the elite in addition to Bradley and Duquesne were, Wyoming, Washington and Jefferson.

Indiana in sixth place with a 9-1 mark tackles Illinois tonight. Indiana defeated Michigan State, 67-57, and Illinois took care of Michigan, 68-47, Saturday.

North Carolina State, in seventh place, lost its second game in 17 straight, Saturday when swept by Villanova, 66-64.

Graham Leads Pro Mates To Victory In All-Star Tilt
By BILL BECKER
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Paul N. Otto the championship combine from Cleveland, mowed 'em down again.

Coach Paul Brown stuck with his ace quarterback Otto Graham. Just as he said he would. And in the end Otto stuck the National Conference All-Stars, leading his American Conference mates to a thrilling 28 to 27 win in the Pro Bowl yesterday.

It completed the personal triumph of Brown and Graham over the National Football League. After four All-American Conference titles, Brown's Cleveland moved right into the NFL's throne room despite stubborn opposition.

And now this. Graham with a 27-14 defeat staring at him in the third quarter, caught fire, as he did in the Browns' 30-22 championship win over the Los Angeles Rams Dec. 24.

He started hitting his pass receivers and when the defenses spread, Otto sneaked off guard six and nine yards for two quick touchdowns. Pat Harter's pair of conversions proved decisive.

Graham's passing—19 completions in 33 throws for 258 yards—was sharp, but it was his accuracy that was the key. He was accurate and earned him the spectators' unanimous selection as the game's outstanding player for his brilliant line play and his performance running.

The Americans wound up with only 27 yards net rushing, the National football game was over.

Wildcats are common animals in the south. Although seldom weighing more than 20 pounds, they are strong, active creatures, agile climbers, swift and almost tireless runners. They feed upon rats, mice, rabbits, squirrels and birds which they spring upon from ambush. Occasionally they may raid farmyards, to carry off a duck, goose, turkey, or even a small pig or lamb. During most of the year, wildcats hunt alone or in pairs, roaming about at dawn and dusk, and sleeping during the day in a hollow tree, cave, log, or sometimes an abandoned farm building. They also have regular dens, or nests, to give birth to their young. Usually 3 or 4 are produced; and the kittens soon accompany the female parent on her hunting rounds. Wildcats are hunted for sport in many parts of the southeast; and the hides have a ready sale in the fur market.

Built in 5 Years in Florida...

A 'Main Street' of Telephone Buildings

TELEPHONE facilities require lots of building space. If all the buildings built by Southern Bell in Florida since 1945 were placed together they would form a "Main Street" for a good-sized town. There would be 30 completely new buildings and 23 additions to existing buildings. And the number of new telephones made possible by these buildings and the millions of dollars of equipment put into them would be more than enough to serve another city the size of Miami. In the last five years Southern Bell has nearly doubled the number of telephones in Florida—more than tripled rural telephones—increased long distance circuits 38%—converted thousands of telephones to dial operation and improved the service in many other ways. And to do those things we had to build 100,000,000 of new facilities. That's nearly twice as much as we had invested in Florida five years ago.

And we must go on building in order to meet the continuing heavy demand for telephone service. That makes it important to Florida to have a financially healthy Telephone Company.

Pepper Price Hits $15 Per Bushel At Farmer's Market

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 15—(Special)—Pepper brought a record high of $15.00 per bushel on the Pompano Farmer's Market, with three carloads shipped averaging $12.25 per bushel, according to information received in the office of William L. Wilson, Director of State Farmers' Markets, Pompano, the State's largest market under one able to recognize during the shipping season as a price determination point on beans and other commodities. Pepper has been a strong item since the market opened. Cucumbers brought the next high average of $9.15 per bushel. Other commodities totaled 209 cars for the week. Good quality lima, eggplant, squash, okra, field peas and tomatoes are available on that market.

The mid-winter deal on the Pompano State Farmers' Market is gradually closing down. Although a total of 2,425 cars returned in excess of $1,500,000. Tomatoes formed the bulk of the produce with pepper next. No. 1 tomatoes brought an average of $11.30 with an average of $7.22. The market averaged $11.18 with a $7.84 average on choice pepper. This market area produces a lot of mixed vegetables including English peas, squash, pole and bush beans and cabbage. The spring 'real is expected to begin about April 1st.

Tomatoes claimed the high price on the Florida City State Market with prices ranging from $4.00 to $12.50 per bushel. No cold damage is reported from this area and daily auctions are expected to commence this week with Mr. Charles H. Edmiston as Auctioneer.

Some damage to strawberry bloom and to fruit is reported by the Plant City State Farmers Market. This will slow down volume for a short period. A total of 11,872 pints brought prices of 28c to 46c per pint during the past week, the average being 40 1/2c per pint. Growers received revenue in excess of $37,500,000 for the past week.

Military Cost

Four National Guard divisions and two regimental combat teams have been federalized and have been in training since last summer. Two other divisions are in the process of going into federal service. So far as is known, only one regular Army division has been federalized. It is the 4th Division, formerly a training outfit but now a combat division. That brings the total of existing divisions to 11.
