Buddy's name is losing him votes

RUSS WHITE

Buddy MacKay is going to have a hard time winning the election for governor of Florida. How often does a Buddy get elected? Buddies sell used cars or clean carpets.

There has never been a president named Buddy, which happens to be the name of our current president's dog. Buddy is a great name for a dog but a lousy one for a president or governor. A Jeb will always beat a Buddy. Wait and see.

Guys named Buddy have been good baseball players. Good but not great. None are in the Hall of Fame. Buddy Bell did swell. Buddy Biancalana was a Royal delight. Buddy Rosar was an old catcher who didn't go far. Buddy Myer went much higher. Sanford had a winner in Buddy Lake.

No one named Buddy has ever won an Oscar. Buddy Ebsen has acted things out over a long career. His real name is Christian but he preferred to be called Buddy. He's 90 years old and probably America's most well known Buddy. The late drummer Buddy Rich was certainly sound.

The Minnesota Vikings used to have a fine coach named Bud Grant. No one ever called him Buddy, though. In the fifties, little Buddy Young was one of the finest running backs in the NFL and one of pro football's first black stars. He stood 5-foot-4.

He was called Lil' Buddy. Often, people use the name Buddy to address someone they have never met. They'll yell, "Hey, Buddy, can you spare a dime?" Buddy is a chummy yet insincere way to get the attention of someone you don't know. Someone you don't want to be governor.

Do you think Buddy Washington or Buddy Lincoln would have been elected president? Buddy Bush would never had made it to 1800 Pennsylvania Ave. either. He and Mrs. Bush did well naming their kid, John Ellis Bush. Jeb. That's a good name. Voters will always pick a Jeb over a Buddy.

Jeb Bush's camp is taking advantage of the fact that Lt. Gov. MacKay's name is Buddy. They've bought TV time to belittle him. "He's not my Buddy," say a number of actors paid by the Republican Party. State Sen. Buddy Dyer is taking a similar pounding. Why must the Democrats be so Buddy-Buddy?

MacKay should have asked to be called Malcomb MacKay or Montgomery MacKay. He should have stopped being called Buddy when he was a teenager. The name is doing him harm, costing him votes. Maybe if he were named Bubba it would have been better.

Parents of athlete say school violated law

By Bill Kerns
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford - The tale of two Seminole High School students who are appealing a 30-day suspension from the football team is taking a new turn as the attorney and parents for one of the students publicly charge Seminole High School and the School Board with violating school board policies and federal laws.

The allegations of Howard Marks, the attorney representing Seminole High School students Lee Moore and Jeremy Taylor, include back-dating and falsely notarizing a high school employee's written statement, loss of an employee's written statement, falsely notarizing the statements of students after the statements were given, taking the statements without an oath, instigating an investigation of the students without first getting a written complaint about the students, and failure to hold an evidentiary hearing with the parents present.

School Board attorney Ned Julian said Seminole principal Gretchen Schapker conducted the investigation properly. He said both SHS and the School Board have acted within the law and according to procedures.

"The bottom line is that the students broke the good citizenship policy by drinking," Julian said. "We are entitled to enforce the rules. Gretchen Schapker did what she was supposed to do. She is completely competent. We acted within the law, in are

Red Ribbon Week focuses on anti-drug message to students

By Jeff Bertinicks
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

HEATHROW - A couple of years ago, a child who attended elementary school in Seminole County was approached by some much-bigger fifth-graders and offered some drugs.

He was told that a lot of fifth-graders were doing them and it would be great to give them a try.

The younger child said no. And for that, he got his backpack taken and was picked on by some of the older kids.

But, still, he said no. His brother, Phillip Gartzet, a fifth-grader at Heathrow Elementary School, remembered and said he was proud of his brother for saying no.

He was reminded of the incident when Heathrow held its kickoff for Red Ribbon Week, an annual event sponsored by Seminole County to increase drug awareness among students. Similar events took place all over Seminole County at each of the schools.

"This year's county-wide theme is, 'Join Me To Be Drug Free.'"

The entire school assembled before classes Friday morning to celebrate the event which featured a stirring speech from guidance counselor Novie Solomon.

"They took a pledge and said that they were going to make their own choices," Solomon said. "The event was to honor themselves, but it isn't all about drugs; it's about

Higher gas prices

AAA Auto Club reports that Florida motorists are facing higher gas prices at the pump in October. For the first time since June prices have risen nationwide according to the Energy Information Administration. The rise is due to higher oil prices, a surge in wholesale prices and a reduction in fuel supplies.

AAA's October Fuel Gauge Report shows that the average price for self-serve regular unleaded is $1.053 per gallon, 17.4 cents less than the October 1997 average. This month the lowest self-serve regular unleaded price in Florida was 99 cents in Port Richey and the highest price was $1.145 in Naples.

Deputies said he became "enraged" when he saw another man put his hands on his ex-girlfriend's buttocks. He hit the other man several times. Even after deputies arrived, he continued to threaten the other man. When he was arrested he refused to get into the deputy's car and kicked the deputy in the knee.

Domestic violence:

LONGWOOD, Ruby Red Lane, 100 block, Oct. 22, 2:21 p.m. A 45-year-old man was arrested by Longwood Police for domestic violence. Police said the man ordered his wife to stay behind in the living room while he took the children into a bedroom. She followed him, they said. He became so angry, they said, that he kicked the television and threatened to kill her for failing to follow his orders.

WINTER SPRINGS, Bombay Avenue, 100 block, Oct. 22, 9:50 p.m. A 31-year-old man was arrested by Winter Springs Police for domestic violence. Police said the man hit his wife in the face during an argument.

Police said they had pulled over the vehicle in which the two were traveling and were in the process of arresting the 18-year-old on a warrant charge when they searched the car and found three baggies of marijuana and a baggie of cocaine shoved between the seats.

CASSELBERRY, U.S. Highway 17-92, 5600 block, Oct. 22, 3:43 p.m. A 38-year-old man was arrested by Casselberry Police for possession of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia. Police said they saw the man in his car behind a shopping center which was no longer open for business. Police said they approached the car and the man said he just wanted to be alone because he had had a fight with a family member. Police asked if they could search the vehicle. Inside, they found several capped syringes which appeared to have been recently used and a bag of crack cocaine.

ered each of the requests to be reasonable. County staff inspected what was being done.

Senior planner Kevin Fall and the county staff have recommended the commission stick the notices of denial of certification for non-compliance of County Ordinance 98-13. Attorneys for the two businesses were allowed a delay when the matter came up at a hearing on Sept. 22. Another delay is not expected.

Adams, 56, will be succeeded on the board by Carlton Henley in November. Henley, 65, can sit in on the meeting Tuesday but not as a member of the board. He is a former commissioner who was principal of Lyman High School for 31 years.

Loosing in the Republican primary to Henley was a crushing setback to Adams, who is looking for a job in the private sector. Soon, he will have to relinquish his office at the County Services Building. He was there on Friday focusing on the hearings on Tuesday.

In addition to the adult business matter, Adams said a work session to discuss a proposed solid waste tipping fee reduction may help residents save money. "We've found a way to reduce the cost to the haulers who dump at the landfill," Adams said. "This could definitely lower everyone's rates."

Also on the agenda a resolution to proclaim the month of November as "American Indian Month" in Seminole County and a resolution in support of implementing expanded domestic service at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

Is there a double standard for school athletes?

Two Seminole High School football players - Lee Moore and Jeremy Taylor - never denied wrongdoing. The two were in a group of five Seminole football players who were on a Labor Day vacation in New Smyrna Beach, just like thousands of high school kids all over Central Florida.

Moore and Taylor were found, and signed written confessions, to drinking vodka that afternoon after the school's cheerleading sponsor reported the incident. The other three players at the scene were not charged.

The Seminole County School Board acted quickly, enforcing its no-tolerance policy, and suspended the players for 30 days from participating in school-sponsored extracurricular activities.

School Board attorney Ned Julian stated that extracurricular activities are a privilege, not a right. That's true. But a deeper look at Seminole High School shows that several members of the football team have struggled with grades and were ineligible for spring practice. Word gets around quickly among the local sports scene, and other schools, prominently Lake Brantley several years ago, have also gone through some sticky situations involving eligibility and the law.

The question that needs to be asked is, were the suspensions justified as an across-the-board policy? Or would a member of the chess club or Latin club, two organizations where a member would never be noticed missing by the local boosters or sports fans, be dealt with equally?

Was this grandstanding by Seminole High? Or was the school looking at the best interests of the students, one of whom is out for the season with a knee injury? The no-tolerance policy has its positives. Last year, a very prominent running back in Seminole County was expelled from school for simply being an accessory to the crime. After a year in the Excel Program, the player is back in school and will be running the football for a big-time football university next year. He has a 3.5 grade point average and said the expulsion was invaluable to his new focus in the classroom.

But the question remains? Are football players treated differently than other less-renowned athletes or other students?

Substance abuse is a problem in Seminole County schools and in other schools across the country but the only incidents people seem to hear about involve athletes. Consequently the question of a double standard remains.

COMMUNITY VIEWS

Debate over development

The debate over the development of a hotel/conference center in Sanford is a healthy one. As a public official, I cannot be a proponent or opponent of the issue. Rather, as a public official, it is my job to provide the residents with the information needed to make an informed decision. Regardless of where you might stand on the issue, we all know an informed vote is a good vote.

Early on, the City faced the issue of how much park to preserve and enhance. The City (by ordinance) reserved the easterly 700' (2-1/3 football fields) of the park for exclusive park uses. Accordingly, the City Commission pledged to maintain the basketball courts and enhance the park by lighting the recreation facilities, turning the breakwall into a fishing pier, and providing landscaped walkways, a boardwalk and more play equipment.

Once the issue of how much park would remain was addressed by the City Commission, several additional concerns were raised over the feasibility of the project itself. Questions regarding the economic viability of the proposal, the amount of jobs offered to City residents, the level of pay for these jobs, the ability of the developer to make the project happen and the tax debt that might be incurred. All these issues apply to a hotel/conference center no matter where it is developed. So let's address the pertinent questions regarding the conference center and hotel.

Would we like Sanford to be the Meeting Place for County residents and businesses? City and County residents have no meeting place to hold important community functions. As a consequence, our children's graduation ceremonies are held in Orlando or at UCF; our major corporations do not have a place to hold award banquets, show off their products or train their employees; local service clubs cannot sponsor conventions, and cultural events are limited. The County recognized the need for a conference center to provide these functions, evaluated the feasibility of a conference center in great detail and after evaluating alternative sites, picked the City as the best site for the center. This conference center, if approved by the voters, will be owned and operated by the County and paid for by the County's 3 percent tax on hotel rooms and property taxes on the hotel.

Is a full service hotel needed? For the conference center to be successful, a full service hotel (physically located next to the center) is needed. This hotel would be a privately owned hotel paid for by the hotel developer.

Are jobs needed for City residents? The hotel/conference center complex will provide approximately 1000 new jobs. One half of these jobs are directly related to the complex and include jobs ranging from management positions to housekeeping. The other half are "spin-off" jobs created at other businesses in the area. Local companies such as retail sales, landscape and building maintenance, plumbing/electrical contracting, office supplies, accounting and banking will experience increased sales and hire new employees. The payroll for these jobs is estimated at $25 million each year.

Should the park be enhanced? The City Commission has stated that if a portion of the park is used for a hotel/conference center, the remaining portion of the park needs to be enhanced. The cost estimate for improvements, including an enhanced park, boardwalk, fishing pier, play equipment and landscaping, is $2 million, to be paid for from hotel taxes and lease revenues.

Taking all of these issues into context at one time results in a simple issue for the voters of the City to decide. Should the city:

Vote "NO" and preserve Fort Mellon Park as we know it today? This is an easy position to explain, simply visit the park and look around, or;

Vote "YES" to use a portion

Berry's World

of the park as the site for the County's conference center, with associated hotel and enhanced park improvements. This position requires your consideration of the questions of would we like Sanford to be the site of the County's meeting place, is a full service hotel needed, are jobs needed for city residents and should the park be enhanced.

Architect strengthens reader's views

Both sides of the Hotel/Conference Center issue requested input from Andrea M. Duany of Duany Plater-Zyberk & Company regarding the impact of the proposed project, so I'm glad you ran his letter last week. (He is a world renowned architect designer and preservationist based in Miami.)

My take on this situation is that Mr. Duany thinks our project is a good idea, if we can incorporate a few modifications. Specifically, he thinks we should keep our lakefront street, rather than take the park all the way to the water...a reasonable change which could be made.

I am in favor of the hotel project and I know that our reason for wanting Mr. Duany's input was because we've seen his work in other towns and know that he has a way of turning projects like these into works of art.

Those closest to the project know that lots of resources, like Mr. Duany, have been tapped to validate and formulate the plans. No one is taking this project lightly. No one is doing it on a whim. Everything from the visual appeal of the hotel to the logistics of drainage has been researched.

Mr. Duany's letter strengthened my confidence in the hotel/conference center project. I'm definitely voting yeal

Residents share research

As long-time residents of Sanford, we have followed the debate over the convention center/hotel with great interest. We have recently done some research, and we have questions.

1. A May 23, 1995 County Commission work session reviewed the work of consultants who had looked at locations throughout the county for a convention center. Eighteen possible sites had been analyzed, with the nearest ones to downtown being 17-92 at the Greenway and I-4 between the Lake Mary and Towne Center exits. The consultants stressed the importance of "ease of access and visibility." In light of the recommendation that areas adjacent to I-4 were the most viable, why was downtown Sanford chosen? Why was an 8-acre site chosen when the consultants said a site no less than 35 acres was needed? What is the basis for thinking that Sanford can compete successfully with Daytona Beach and Orlando?

2. The consultants also felt a center should be able to handle a variety of events and have other facilities nearby. The report stated "...a convention center alone will not generate enough demand to support a hotel year round." High school graduations are the most frequently mentioned events that would use the center. Why are we considering a center in direct contradiction to the report? Graduations occur only a couple of days a year--what happens the other 363 days?

3. The consultants referred to a 1994 study in which revenue was based partly on a hockey team playing home games in the center. Then the Solar Bears arrived... In 1995, the consultants stated, "[Events would be needed] to generate $500,000 to $800,000 in either operating revenue or fiscal benefits to be consistent with earlier projections... Our original feasibility study projected approximately a $2.4 million shortfall, which could increase to $2.9 to $3.2 million without [the hockey team]... The County may wish to consider updating our earlier feasibility study once a specific location is selected, since the ability to capture many events...depends upon the availability and quality of supporting amenities." At the May 26, 1998 County Commission meeting, another consultant said, "typically most conference centers lose money year after year; most are lucky if they break even on the operating costs...very few are able to cover their debt service; most just cover their operating costs." Was the feasibility study updated? What were the results? How have projected shortfalls been resolved? Why are we considering a project that two different consultants predict would be in financial trouble?

4. At the May 26, 1998 County Commission meeting, Commissioner VanDerWeide suggested that the city be the sole owner of the convention center, "because if for some reason this fails, it could be complicated with multiple owners."

Commissioner McLain responded that such details could be worked out in an agreement. The other day we were told not to worry about financial problems because the County is putting some money into the project, the lease will be written so that the center won't fail, and "we'll see that it doesn't fail." If the facility is good for the County, why was at least one commissioner concerned about the County being an owner? Has the agreement been completed? With the City's other financial needs, why are we assuming ownership of a convention center that could cost us thousands? If there is to be more than one owner, what responsibility will each have if a financial problem arises?

5. At the May 26, 1998 County Commission meeting, Mayor Dale "requested the Board to take the advice of their task force (who enthusiastically and unanimously endorsed this site for the hotel/conference center) and vote to endorse this as the official site..." We have inquired about studies at the County, the City, and the Tourist Development Commission. Each time we are referred to the 1995 study, which did not include downtown Sanford and which raised serious questions. What was the basis for their recommendation? If the downtown site has been selected because it is what the developer wants, is that a good enough reason?

6. Read Estate Research Consultants in 1994 and again in 1995 and Fishkind and Associates in 1998 raised serious questions that do NOT seem to support this project. In the October 11 Seminole Herald, Andres Duany raised additional concerns. Why are we ignoring these three consultants?

7. What has been the success of other hotels/motels in Sanford, on 17-92 and near I-4? Should we be encouraged by their financial success? Should we not learn from the financial problems that plagued the Holiday Inn (now Marina Hotel) which made requests that the City come to its rescue? Will we create a white elephant?

Maybe these questions have been answered, and we are simply out of touch. More than anything, we are concerned that Sanford taxpayers may not realize the potential financial burden of this project. Are some people so intent on this project that they gloss over facts and refuse to look at it objectively? We believe that downtown Sanford is not a good location for a convention center/hotel complex. Therefore, we believe that it is necessary to vote against the convention center/hotel project in downtown Sanford.

Longwood resignation

Little more than a year ago, on Oct. 20, 1998, the Longwood City Commission appointed me to the Historic Preservation Board and I soon attended a meeting of its Founder's Day Sub-Committee. Even as an observer and potential asset, it was clear that joining this committee would be a serious commitment of my time. The committee meets monthly from April until December and almost weekly from January through March. All of these meetings are in preparation of a festival which requires member attendance for an entire weekend. The benefit for the Historic District seemed admirable so I became one of the many hardworking volunteers.

During the thirteen months I have been on the committee, many changes have occurred. New rules and regulations have been adopted, financial accountability has been instituted and formerly overlooked "Sunshine" requirements have been imposed. In addition to membership, I took the meeting minutes until the City provided a secretary. Recently I was elected Chairman. But also during this time, it has been increasingly apparent that we are in danger of becoming a political toy.

Only four short months before the festival, the Longwood City Commission has, in effect, placed the committee in "limbo" while it holds a work session to determine our fate. The work of this committee should not be hamstrung this late in our season simply so the Commission can play political football for entertainment. One member of the Founder's Day Sub-Committee has already resigned over this issue.

The personal time I have chosen to donate in volunteer programs is limited, and as it is time spent away from family, friends and business endeavors, I consider it a valuable gift. So, I must weigh the worth of each project and re-evaluate projects as situations change.

With Longwood's political climate as it stands, I have now chosen to volunteer part of my time to the Dividend program of the PTA at a local elementary school. There I will coach eighteen first graders in the Math Super Star program. This new project, along with the Historic Preservation Board meetings and commitments to other worthy organizations, will completely fill my available time. Please accept this letter as my resignation from the Founder's Day Sub-Committee. Regretfully, capacity to enforce the school board policies." Marks does not deny that Lee Moore, a 16-year old sophomore, drank vodka at New Smyrna Beach on Labor Day afternoon. Moore and 18-year old senior Jeremy Taylor were originally suspended from the Seminole football team Sept. 8 under the Seminole County School Board's good citizenship code regulating the behavior of students participating in extracurricular activities, forbidding drinking alcohol among other regulations.

"They conducted this investigation using coercion, fraud and trickery," Marks said. "We have evidence to prove this. The School Board and the high school did not follow proper legal procedure. The good citizenship code is bad policy, they should not punish students for drinking off campus after school hours."

Julian said the investigation began when Pamela Dunn, an instructional assistant, reported to Schapker first an incident that took place on Sept. 4 at the Steak & Shake in Sanford. According to Julian, Dunn later told Schapker the names of football players she was told had been at New Smyrna Beach, with a bottle of vodka, on Labor Day.

According to Julian, Schapker's investigation found that the Sept. 4 incident did not warrant citizenship code suspensions. Julian said Schapker found that five football players had gone to New Smyrna Beach, with a bottle of vodka, on Labor Day.

Marks said that Dunn "did not report the five players to Schapker, she only reported what happened at Steak & Shake." Marks said dropping the investigation of the Steak & Shake incident, which he said involved "students drinking in public," while continuing to pursue the Labor Day beach incident shows "selective enforcement."

Marks said Schapker investigated the beach incident without first getting a written report of the alleged violation. Marks said Dunn signed a typed statement on Sept. 10, then SIS "falsified the affidavit" to show Sep. 8. Marks also said Schapker did not notify the parents in writing when beginning the investigation.

Julian said the original written statement Dunn signed on Sept. 8 reporting what she had been told about students drinking at the beach "was unfortunately thrown away by a secretary." Julian said a typed statement reporting the incident was prepared and signed by Dunn on Sept. 10, and there was no wrongdoing. "We were operating within the law. Gretchen Schapker did her job properly" Julian said.

Sally Moore, Lee Moore's mother, said Schapker used "coercive and deceitful" tactics during the investigation, such as telling the players involved "that Lee had ratted on them."

Julian said the methods Schapker used during the investigation were supported by the School Board.

"An investigator has to go back and forth," Julian said. "Her questioning was consistent with what often happens when questioning multiple parties."

All five players involved signed written statements on either Sept. 8 or Sept. 9. Marks contends the statements were "coerced, and without a Notary Public present." Marks said the statements of the students were "notarized after the fact."

Julian said "nothing about the statements are illegal." Calling the issue of whether or not a Notary Public was originally present

"collateral issue," Julian said the students "did sign a statement. Lee Moore was man enough to admit what he did."

Moore and Taylor were the only two students involved found to be in violation of the good citizenship code, Julian said. On Sept. 28, according to Julian, Moore and his parents, Thomas and Sally, met with Schapker in a tape recorded session. Julian said the need for a hearing was discussed at the end of the session. Marks said the good citizenship code is unconstitutional under the privacy clause of the Florida constitution. He also contends that the due process clause in Florida's constitution has been violated.

Julian said the policy, which was enacted in 1993, is legal and backed by the courts. He also said the due process rights of students and parents were not violated.

Schapker and other school officials are unable to comment about the case because it is in litigation, Julian said.

 much of the runoff of development south and west of the lake, all the way to Orlando. In mid-century, the lake was renowned for its recreational boating and fishing, but years of wastewater effluent, coupled with reduced flow from the St. Johns River, have degraded the water quality. Algae blooms have led to frequent fish kills and a layer of muck several feet thick in places, now covers the lake.

The Legacy Environmental Education program is a cooperative venture between the district and area high schools. Winter Springs is the only school in Seminole where the program is being instituted.

The Legacy program puts students groups on public lands to aid in the restoration or management of that property, said Bill Graf, SJRWMD spokesman.

Friday's field trip to Lake Jesup had a two-fold purpose. Students investigated wetlands and water habitats with Jim Doby, Seminole County Environmental Planner, and Erich Marzolf, environmental scientist, and Dan Hayes, education specialist, both of the SJRWMD.

The purpose of the field work was to get student involvement into maintenance, exotic plant removal and trail blazing in the county's portion of the Jesup Landing Conservation Area.

The hands-on experience is a big part of Cole's approach to teaching the environmental studies classes. The students are encouraged to take charge. This was apparent as one group returned from the field work and joined the biologist on the boat for the lake portion of the trip. "We were in charge, we were the leaders," said sophomore Amanda Evans. "Mr. Doby just followed behind us."

"This is one of those classes I always dreamed of being in," said Megan Eisner, "but there never was one available." A sophomore, she plans to follow the program through to graduation. "I love to do stuff like this, and I'm looking into getting a job in this kind of field."

The program at Winter Springs is an institute similar to the health academy at Seminole High School.

On the lake, Marzolf explained that runoff from Orlando, through Howell Creek, has affected the water quality of the lake. A spit of land has formed created by sediment that dumps into the lake from the creek.

The district has been the lead agency in the study of the problems of Lake Jesup. Working, by legislative mandate, with the Friends of Lake Jesup, a citizen's group which has pushed for a lake management plan to improve water quality. A series of studies have been completed. But the group lost its official backing in July, when the mandate expired, and some members wondered whether the district would continue to study the lake. The legislature did appropriate $1.5 million for the project, but the Friends have no say in how the money is spent.

The district will host the next FLJ meeting, on Nov. 19, and will present a hydrologic model of the lake's circulation.

"It looks like it is on track," said Robert King, a member of the citizen's group.

PTA member Shirley Moskowitz coordinated at campaign at Heathrow and worked with local businesses to donate snacks and other items to help the kids with their various activities. An anonymous donor lent some shower curtains for the classes to use in order to display posters made by the children.

Phillips said he remembered the problems his brother had when he said no, and said he would do the same thing.

"I think drug week is about not doing things that can hurt you," he said. "If you get drugs from your friends or you parents, you might pass it on to other kids who can get addicted."

Several of the many Heathrow kids who spoke said their siblings, parents, and even grand-parents had experienced drugs. The kids also said that drugs aren't the only problems kids have to deal with. Alcohol and cigarettes can hurt too, they said.

Drinking and smoking can ruin your lungs and you heart as much as drugs," Phillip said.

Despite their youth, the kids said they understood the message behind Red Ribbon Week.

"People just want us to stay away from drugs," third-grader Sara Dill said.

Heathrow has a long list of events planned for next week including a presentation from the Florida Hospital, a distribution of pledge bracelets, and a visit from McGruff the Crime Dog on Wednesday.

Company expands product line

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

LAKE MARY- HTE Inc. recently expanded its existing justice system product line with the completion of the asset acquisition of Vanguard Management & Information Systems, Inc., a software company that provides professional management services and application software to trial courts and justice system agencies throughout the United States. The acquisition was completed through a wholly owned subsidiary of HTE named HTD-Vanguard Systems, Inc. The acquisition positions HTE to address large trial court and justice systems and significantly strengthens the company's UNIX and Windows NT client/server offerings.

Formed in 1985 with headquarters in Orlando, Florida, Vanguard has several large Florida customers, including Circuit Court Clerks in Orange (Orlando) and Broward (Fort Lauderdale) counties. Vanguard products are installed nationally with sites in San Mateo County (Redwood City), CA, Circuit and District Courts in Michigan's 22nd Judicial Circuit seated in Ann Arbor, and the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit of Illinois, consisting of three counties west of Chicago.

This acquisition fits with HTE's growth strategy to acquire technology leaders in the sectors in which they do business. The Vanguard acquisition is HTE's fifth since the company went public in June 1997. In the past six months, HTE acquired JALAN, Inc., which specialized in corrections and justice software; UCS, a mobile workforce automation provider, Phoenix Systems, a school districts (K-12) software company; and KSystems, an appraisal and tax billing software company.

Vanguard's president and cofounder, Ron Warfield, worked extensively in the justice environment of state government in various senior management positions including court administration, administrative liaison and corrections management for the Chief Judge, Circuit Clerk and Sheriff in Orange County, Florida, respectively. Warfield is private sector co-chairman of the Forum on the Advancement of Court Technology (FACT), a nationwide consortium dedicated to strengthening the dialogue between courts and their providers of technology, and a charter member of the National Association of Court Management (NACM).

"We're very pleased to acquire a company with such a strong reputation in the justice environment and one that will allow us to appeal to the needs of large scale courts and justice systems. We will now be able to provide a wider range of court management products and services to our customers," said Dennis Harward, HTE president.

Jim Harris, Vanguard's cofounder and technical architect, stated that Vanguard's software applies proven methodologies tailored to each individual court setting.

Girl Scouts celebrate with fair

By Jeana Hughes
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Though she was born more than 140 years ago, girls of all ages still celebrate the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouts in the United States.

Girls from the Whispering Winds service unit participated in a craft fair held at First United Methodist Church, Sanford, Low, born Oct. 31, 1860, started the first Girl Scout troops in 1912 and each year Girl Scout service units hold fund-raising events in her honor.

"It was very successful thanks to corporate sponsorships," said Debbie Wood, leader of Brownie Troop 1115. "The girls had a ball."

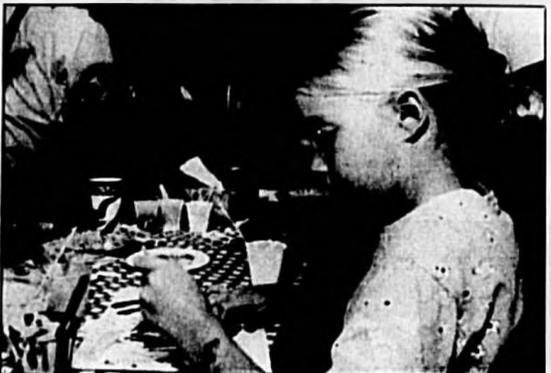

According to Wood, organizer of this year's event, 100 girls attended the hands-on fair and no one left empty handed. Craft tables set up by 10 participating troops gave the girls the opportunity to indulge their creative interests.

The girls circulated around the fair trying their hands at 12 different crafts ranging from yarn creations to clay sculptures and painted flower pots. The flower pots came in handy when it was time to carry home all their works of art. A hot dog lunch was served.

The fair raised approximately $100 which will be donated to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund and the Whispering Winds Olym-

The Friendship Fund brings the message of Girl Scouts to girls all over the world," said Wood. Corporate sponsors for the fair included First United Methodist Church, Ace Hardware and Walgreens.

We're Voting YES...

...and now we are too!

"When the issue first came up I was against it...just my natural resistance to change. But then I took time to think it over, and I saw that this project is in Sanford's best interest, economically and aesthetically."
— Vikki Cole

"I took a close look at our downtown area and realized that I needed to take an active role to change Sanford, to save it from slowly becoming a ghost town. Voting 'Yes' is my way of helping our city." — Bettye Dorman

"I was afraid that the finished project wouldn't live up to all that's being said about it. When I saw the work has already gone into this project, I felt assured that the enhanced park and hotel will be a valued asset to our community."
— Peggy Marlette

"As a little girl I have great memories of fishing in what is now just a retention pond at the park, so naturally I started out against the referendum. I changed my mind because I see that this will bring Sanford's downtown back to life."
— Doreen Owens

"I thought this was just the Mayor's project, so I was against it. Then I saw that the entire City Commission has been in favor of it. Then, after last week's debate, I was sold. Fort Mellon Park is the perfect location."
— Theodore "Tick" Martin

"I was under the incorrect impression that the baseball fields were tied into this issue. Once I learned that the ballfields are leaving Ft. Mellon Park anyway, decided to vote 'Yes' based on the park improvements that are planned."
— Glenna Cook

"Those against this project started their campaign months ago, so at first I only heard their side. Once I learned the facts, I had an easy time changing my mind. There is really no other way to go, no reason to fight. I'm voting 'YES'!
— Oscar Redden Jr.

"My high school-aged daughter should be able to go to her prom and graduation without driving 25 minutes into Orlando. I'm voting 'Yes' for her and because our local economy could use this. And the park will actually be nicer!
— Robert Burgess

"Two words turned my vote to a 'Yes'...fishing pier. We need one and now we can get one. I know we will all enjoy it!
— Ralph McLain

"I wasn't sure that Fort Mellon Park was the best place. Now that I've listened to the opposition's alternative locations and have all the facts, I'm voting 'yes'! This referendum will pass because it helps Sanford on so many levels."
— Jean McLain

"The opposition led me to believe that we were trying to save the park for our children. I fell prey to that message. However, as soon as I learned that the park is going to be better, I switched my vote to a 'YES.'
— Annette Wing

"I live just blocks away from Fort Mellon Park. I like our quiet town, but I also realize that, without change, Sanford is going to continue to diminish and there will be more boarded-up buildings. I'm voting 'Yes' vote in favor of revitalization."
— Karl Stairs

Your "YES!" vote means:

- a better and bigger park.
- needed economic support for downtown area.
- a conference center for high school graduations, community meetings, business functions, wedding receptions and family reunions.
- a free public fishing pier.
- a boardwalk for all to enjoy.
- improved basketball courts.
- increased tax revenue for the city.
- jobs and business opportunities for all our residents.

Extra Points...

Herald Staff Writer

Lake Howell should be very proud of effort

CASSELBERRY - All through the night, the chant echoed through the stadium. "Off-ense, off-ense."

"De-fense, de-fense."

It came from a Lake Howell team that could have quit long before the kickoff in last night's battle against eighth-ranked Lake Brantley.

The Hawks started the season 1-6 after being touted as a pre-season SAC favorite. Things weren't going the way they normally do around Lake Howell, and the whole season started to fall apart three weeks ago when the Hawks embarked on a Bataan Death March that saw 20 turnovers in the three games.

The losses weren't even close; the Hawks were getting blown out and confusion along the sideline was evident. Players were barking at each other.

Going into last night, everything was arranged perfectly for a monster blowout.

Nobody sick enough to bet on high school football would have turned down the Patriots minus at least three touchdowns.

Instead, the Hawks came out with the most inspired effort seen anywhere in Seminole County this year.

When the offense was on the field, the defense was chanting. When the defense was completely shutting down the vaunted Lake Brantley triple-option, the offense was chanting.

It went on through the night in front of a surprisingly small crowd. The Hawks, though, didn't need a crowd as long as they had each other.

The defense continued to hold as the Patriots struggled. Curtis Husselman, Larry Cummings, Scott Petroff and Christian DeJesus led an awesome defensive effort.

Speaking of DeJesus, it would be hard to discuss the game without talking about him. He piled up 76 of the toughest yards you'll ever see at running back, returned kicks, and was an anchor on defense.

DeJesus didn't deserve to walk off the field a loser, but neither did anyone else on the Hawks.

It was a team that should have expected to lose and had nothing to play for except themselves.

Sometimes pride is motivation enough and that was proven last night. The Hawks played for themselves and pride and came so close to the upset of the year.

At 1-7, there's nothing left to play for. A season that opened with such promise has been reduced to playing before small crowds for pride.

But last night, Lake Howell proved that that's enough.

They didn't get the win. Lake Brantley simply ran over the Hawks during a final game-winning drive, dominating the smaller Hawks on the line of scrimmage.

Only 23 seconds remained on the clock when the Hawks fumbled on a last-gasp drive to end the game.

In the past two weeks, the Hawks walked off the field without too much emotion.

Last night, there were tears, of frustration and the frustration of an opportunity lost.

But the Hawks woke up Saturday and, if there wasn't a sense of pride at an awesome effort, the Hawks don't know what they are missing.

Rally wins 6A-3 title for Lake Brantley

Junior Brian Smith came off the bench in the fourth quarter to score two touchdowns as Lake Brantley rallied from a 17-7 deficit to beat Lake Howell, 20-17.

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

CASSELBERRY - With an undefeated season on the line and an offense going nowhere, Lake Brantley turned to a seldom-used backup quarterback.

Junior Brian Smith came off the bench, replacing an injured Regan Russell and took the game into his own hands, leading the visiting Patriots on a last-minute scoring drive and a 20-17 win over huge underdog Lake Howell.

The win lifted the Patriots to 7-0 overall and 4-0 in the district and, combined with DeLand's victory over Lyman Friday night, clinched the Class 6A-District 3 Championship for Lake Brantley, which means home field advantage in the first game of state regionals.

Russell came into the game with an ankle injury and coach George Clayton said he struggled early, despite picking up 83 yards on 10 carries. When Russell started to slow down, Clayton went to Smith, who almost single-handedly led Lake Brantley out of a 17-7 hole.

"I had no doubt Brian could step in," Clayton said. "We think we can win every game when he's out there. He'll be our stud next year."

Smith finished with 95 yards on 14 carries, all in the fourth quarter. He expects to take his normal spot on the bench if Russell is ready next week.

"My role is backup here," Smith said. "I will get my chance next year. I just tried to do my best. Someone had to run the ball so I figured it could be me."

That's how it was when Smith took control of the Lake Brantley offense, trailing 17-7 in the fourth quarter. The Patriots took over after a fumble. Please see Patriots, Page 2B

Hudson, Quintero light Lions' fuse

By Tony DeBormier
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - After misfiring more times than anyone cares to count, the time bomb that many high school football observers considered the Oviedo High School Lions to be finally exploded Friday night.

Unfortunately for the Lake Mary Rams, it happened on the night that they were feting their graduating seniors at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

Running backs Alvin Hudson (91 yards on 17 carries) and Kevin Quintero (22 rushes for 83 yards) each scored a pair of touchdowns to lead the visiting Oviedo Lions to a 40-7 rout of the Rams in the 6A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference clash.

"They (the Lions) woke up," said Oviedo coach Greg Register. "They turned the clock back a year and had some fun tonight. And Lake Mary is a fine team. They've come a long way."

Despite the win, Oviedo (2-5 overall, 2-2 in the district) saw its slimmest of playoff chances all but disappear as Lake Brantley defeated Lake Howell. Lake Mary (1-3 in 6A-3 play) was mathematically eliminated from playoff contention.

"We have some hope," said Register with a smile and a shrug. "We know that they're small, but miracles can happen."

Hudson broke a 7-7 tie when he scored on a two-yard dive with 7:58 remaining in the second quarter, putting the Lions ahead to stay.

Including that drive, Oviedo scored on five of its last six possessions.

Oviedo broke on top with a touchdown 3:44 into the contest. After Ben Cleary recovered a Ram fumble at the Lake Mary 30-yard line at 11:04, Oviedo needed just six plays to score, quarterback Kenny Starling plunging in from the one-yard line.

Lake Mary's next possession ended in a blocked field goal by Oviedo's Jon Godwin. But the Rams hung tough, forcing the Lions to punt on their next series.

Starting at their own 32-yard line, Lake Mary tied the score on three plays - a three-yard run by Lawrence Rudolph, an incomplete pass, and a 65-yard sprint by Rudolph.

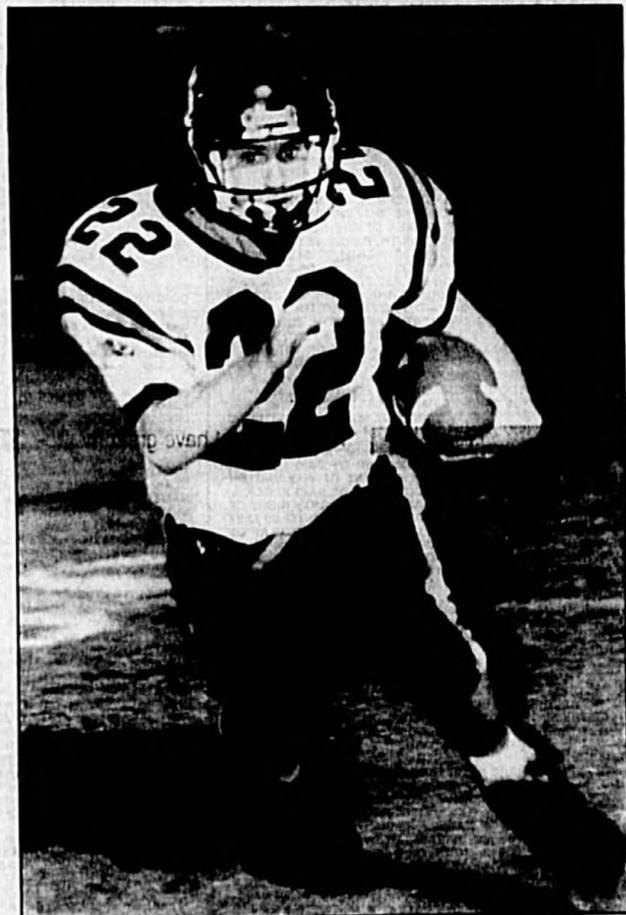

The Lions responded with an eight-play drive capped by Hudson's two-yard scoring run. A little more than four minutes later, sophomore quarterback Nick Tenekedes tossed a 15-yard touchdown pass to junior receiver Justin Holmes.

Quintero scored both of his touchdowns in the second half, bulling into the end zone from two yards out at 6:41 of the third quarter and dashing seven yards for a score with 3:26 left in the fourth quarter.

Hudson's other touchdown came on a one-yard rush at the 1:51 mark of the third quarter.

Rudolph led all rushers with 123 yards on 14 carries.

Oviedo put together a balanced attack. While Hudson and Quintero Please see Lions, Page 2B

Seminole keeps playoff hopes alive

By Kellie Werner

DELTONA - One down, one to go. Friday night, the Seminole High School football team traveled to Deltona to play a game it had to win if the playoffs are to be in its future.

And win it did, pounding the Wolves, 40-24, and proving that it belonged in the Class 5A-District 5 race.

"The players knew how important it was for us to win tonight," Seminole coach Jim Worthington said. "We came out flat tonight like we have been all season. Tonight, we were able to turn it on."

Deltona capitalized on the flat Fighting Seminoles team early and scored on its first possession. A missed extra point by the Wolves, however, allowed Seminole to take the lead when Clarence Lattimer scored on the first play of the second period and Matt Nixon kicked through the extra point.

The Tribe got the ball back after Deltona missed a field goal but had to punt after a quick three-and-out.

The Wolves only took two plays to regain the lead, going 55 yards to take a 12-6 advantage after a failed two-point conversion attempt.

Seminole turned the ball over soon after the touchdown and Deltona struck quickly for a second time, taking only four plays to find pay dirt. Again the Tribe broke up the conversion attempt and the Wolves led 18-7.

Seminole managed to put three points on the board before the half and watched Deltona's Homecoming festivities down 18-10.

The flat team of the first half became the dominator of the second. Seminole took the field and quickly cut its deficit to 18-16 with a eight-yard touchdown run by Willie Bennett, who would finish the night with 55 yards on 17 carries.

Deltona's attempt to retaliate was cut short when Jeff Williams intercepted the Wolves' first pass of the half. That gave Seminole the ball, and the momentum, on the 50-yard line.

Tribe quarterback Garrett Goldsmith found Julius Francis open on a 41-yard bomb, which set up a six-yard keeper by Goldsmith for the go-ahead touchdown. This time, Bennett converted for two and Seminole was up 24-18.

The rest of the night was all Seminole. Lattimer (14 carries, 240 yards) went on to score twice more. Goldsmith (four carries, 23 yards) added two conversions and with 1:00 left, the 'Noles were sitting on a comfortable 40-18 lead.

Deltona scored again, missed the two-point attempt...again, and sent Seminole home with a 40-24 win.

Seminole hosts Seminole Athletic Conference foe Oviedo for its Homecoming Game at 7:30 p.m. at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, then hosts undefeated (in district) Mainland for a rematch of last year's district championship game the following week. That is the game that matters.

"I think the kids will come out ready to play next week because it's Homecoming and we want to play well against the conference teams," Worthington said. "They won't be looking toward Mainland yet. But they do know that in order for us to have a chance at the playoffs, they have to beat Mainland."

A victory by Seminole (5-2 overall, 3-1 in 5A-5) over Mainland (which thumped Oak Ridge 35-6 Thursday night) would put the Tribe in the playoffs. Maybe.

If Spruce Creek, which crushed Pine Ridge 55-0 Friday night, beats Deltona on November 6th, they would clinch a playoff spot by virtue of their victory over Seminole earlier this season. Maybe.

If Seminole beats Mainland and Spruce Creek beats Deltona, there would be a three-team playoff for the two postseason berths. But if Seminole beats Mainland and Spruce Creek loses, the Tribe and Mainland would get the two spots, with Seminole being the district champion.

A loss by the Tribe against Mainland, however, would give the playoff spots to Mainland and Spruce Creek, no matter what the Hawks do against Deltona.

Lake Howell had time for a desperation drive and quarterback Jesse Hannon completed a long bomb to Larry Cummings to move the ball to the Lake Brantley 30, but it was called back when an official said Hannon crossed the line of scrimmage, a call hotly protested by the Hawks.

Lake Howell fumbled on the next play and the game was over.

The Hawks came into the game in the midst of a five-game losing streak with huge losses in the past three weeks. Still on Parents' Night, Lake Howell came out fired up, shutting down the Lake Brantley attack after the Patriots scored on a Russell keeper on their first drive to go up 7-0.

Lake Howell fought back as Christian DeJesus pounded the Lake Brantley defense with 76 yards on the night. He picked up most of the yardage on a 10-play drive that ended with Hannon scoring from the one.

The score remained tied until late in the first half, when Candeto ran the ball in from one yard out following a 21 yard pass to receiver Wes Timko.

The second half featured a battle of two unyielding defenses. Lyman's Julian Johnson, Matt Pickelsimer, and John Haritan forced punts and losses of downs throughout the third and into the fourth quarter.

Late in the fourth quarter, DeLand's Tim Henry picked up a Lyman fumble and Dustin Ferrell kicked a 32-yard field

Lyman could not make up the difference. After an interception, DeLand added a touchdown with 11-seconds left to make the final score 24-7.

Jaguars still having problems with less talented opponents

JACKSONVILLE - To play with the big boys, there's one thing the Jacksonville Jaguars need if they want to go beyond the first round of the playoffs.

Killer instinct. For the past two years, the Jaguars have been one of the NFL's most confusing teams. Bring on Denver or Pittsburgh and the Jaguars look like a Super Bowl contender.

When Baltimore or Tennessee come to town, the Jaguars are struggling to hold on.

It's a puzzling situation that coach Tom Coughlin has addressed over and over, but one that has failed to be resolved.

Look at the 1998 season. The Jaguars scored early in Week 1 against the Bears and a rout was underway. The team let down, and needed a last-minute touchdown to pull out the win.

The next week, powerful Kansas City came to town and the Jags again scored early, only to let down and allow the Chiefs back into the game before winning. Week 3, the Jags scored on their opening drive and promptly fell down by 10 points to a pathetic Baltimore team before winning.

The next few weeks were similar, but it finally caught up last week when the Jaguars scored on a 16-play opening drive against lowly Buffalo and struggled the rest of the way, leaving Doug Flutie a chance to work his magic.

The loss damaged Jacksonville's chances at home field advantage in the playoffs with a probable loss looming at Denver this weekend.

Last season, the Jags lost five regular season games, but led Washington, Dallas and Pittsburgh late in the fourth quarter before failing to put those teams away. If the Jags won two of those game, they would have had home field throughout the playoffs.

The Jaguars have one of the most explosive offenses in the NFL.

Winning record on the line for Bucs-Saints this Sunday

TAMPA - Two teams with equal records will try to go over the half way mark this weekend when Tampa Bay travels to New Orleans for an NFC showdown.

Both teams are 3-3 and struggling. The Bucs got a little life out of their receiving game last week with the return of Bert Emanuel. This week, another boost will be added to the unit when Jacques Green again enters the line up after recouping his shoulder.

The running game has also struggled and that might not change against a fairly strong Saints' defense. Mike Alstott has been pretty quiet this year but could explode at anytime.

Which quarterback will take the helm this week for New Orleans remains to be seen, although Kerry Collins may want to sit this one out. Bucs defen-

ELECTION PROCLAMATION REFERENDUM

Under and by virtue of authority in me vested as the Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida, I hereby call a Municipal Referendum Election to be held throughout the City of Sanford, Florida on the 3rd day of November, 1998 as provided by Ordinance No. 3432 to allow the voters of the City of Sanford to vote on the following referendum question:

Should the City allow a City park and banquets/conference center on Fort Stanton Park?

What's Up In The NFL..... Week No. 8

SANFORD - Welcome to Week Eight football fans.

In the years before the institution of the bye week, this was the halfway point of the season. Now, with the elongated season, it's just another opportunity for the networks to sell more television ads.

I for one enjoy the longer season, but I can understand the e-mails I've received from traditionalists who hate what they view as further commercialization of the game.

Interesting update. My LOCK OF THE WEEK record remains at 7-0 after SAN DIEGO (-3) pushed against the Eagles last week. Ryan "Cry-baby" Leaf showed once again that he is totally unprepared to play at the N.F.L. level.

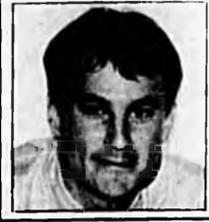

Let's get down to business. The Jaguars got smoked by an excited Doug Flutie in Buffalo last week. I told you that their squeaker victory against the Dolphins two weeks ago exposed some weakness!

The Dolphins beat the Rams in a lackluster 14-0 win that was very easy to bet on. This team will need to continue improving if they stand a chance in the playoffs.

The Bucs limped to another victory as they disposed of the confused Panthers. Tony Dunny needs to get this team fired up or I'll make some changes over there.

Let's take a look into the CRYSTAL BALL OF FOOTBALL and find some winners.

What's Up In The NFL

BRADY LESSARD

MIAMI (-1) VS. NEW ENGLAND
Patriot injuries that were kept secret by the team made the Jets an easy play on Monday Night. Many of them haven't healed yet, and I look for New England to handle last week's loss poorly. Dolphins 23, Patriots 12.

TAMPA BAY (-3) AT NEW ORLEANS
As much as I hate to admit it, I think the Bucs are a very easy wager to make here. The magic, and weak schedule, the Saints were enjoying early on are gone. Bucs look to start their climb back up in the N.F.C. Bucs 17, Saints 9.

DENVER (-7) VS. JACKSONVILLE
A week ago this looked like it may be a great game, but things have changed. I look for the Broncos to overpower this team early and not look back. The Jaguars will recover from their current slump, but not in this one. Broncos 31,

Jaguars 17.
GREEN BAY (-11) VS. BALTIMORE
The Cheeseheads are getting restless as Favre has led the Packers to two straight defeats in the Division. Logic says they'll crush the Ravens, but this sure is a lot of points to give. Force me to bet it? I'll go with Lambeau. Packers 31, Ravens 10.

MINNESOTA (-8) AT DETROIT
I'm so tired of hearing about Charlie Batch I want to be sick. The Lions are a mediocre team facing a very good Viking squad, a team accustomed to playing on artificial turf and in a dome. Vikings 24, Lions 17.

TENNESSEE (-6) VS. CHICAGO
I told everyone at the beginning of the season that the Oilers were a surprise team to watch and they've proven me to be correct. Give McNair another year or two and he'll have this team at the top of the Conference. Bears play everyone tough on the grass. Bettors beware! Oilers 20, Bears 17.

SEATTLE (-8) AT SAN DIEGO
The Chargers looked horrible in their win last week, and things don't get any easier against the Seahawks in this one. I look for Seattle to work off a lot of frustration on a terrible offense and an exhausted defense. Junior Seau cannot carry the entire team forever. Seahawks 34, Chargers 13.

OAKLAND (-3) VS. CINCINNATI
The Cheaters are one of my favorite teams, but I'm paid to help you make money in football. Oakland has no right to be favored in this game, and I look for the Bengals to post a very good performance. Bengals 24, Cheaters 13.

CAROLINA (-2) VS. BUFFALO
Another one of my favorite teams is in for trouble as my beloved Bills head to Carolina to face the winless Panthers. Flutie and Company couldn't have picked a worse time to play a proud team that is desperate for a win, this one is on national television and at home. Panthers 27, Bills 13.

KANSAS CITY (-6) VS. PITTSBURGH
Arrowhead Stadium is a very difficult place to play any game, let alone Monday Night Football. This crowd will be ready for this one and I'm not sure Kordell Stewart will be. Tough game to play with this line, but if I had to, I'd take the points. Chiefs 23, Steelers 21.

As you can see there are some great games this week, and I'll be watching every one of them on my satellite system.

This week may provide the most "easy" money we've seen all year. Regardless, I like to keep it simple. "One play...gets the pay."

The CRYSTAL BALL OF FOOTBALL is going with the SEATTLE SEAHAWKS (-8) OVER THE HAPLESS SAN DIEGO CHARGERS as my patented LOCK OF THE WEEK. San Diego had a tough time shutting down the Eagles passing game last week, wait until Warren Moon and Joey Galloway arrive! This game will be a blow-out and I'll love every minute of it.

Jags

offenses in the NFL. They just need to use it when it counts.

JAGUAR NOTES

Running back Fred Taylor will play this week, but backup Tavian Banks is out with an ankle sprain. Chris Howard and George Jones are the backups and tailback, but Howard struggled last week and Jones has never played an NFL down...Fullback Damian Shelton had his biggest day as a pro last week, rushing for the first time all season...Mike Hollis missed another field goal last weekend and the Jaguars are searching to bring someone in to compete with Hollis for the job...Tackle Tony Boselli, who achieved national prominence for holding future Hall-of-Famer Bruce Smith without a sack in teams' first two meetings, allowed two last weekend and has been penalized often this season.

Bucs

this season and stop throwing interceptions. Tampa Bay should come home with a winning record.

NOTES

This week the Bucs released receiver Chris Jackson and re-signed tight end Lamont Hall. While Sapp was announcing his plans to punish Collins, he came to the defense of Diller. He said earlier this week that he stands behind the leader of the offense and believes Diller can get the job done.

Wide Receiver Reidel Anthony is looking to enhance his career plans with a little acting. Based on his performance in a television ad, Anthony believes he is ready for the big screen.

Have you ever told a lie? If so, then you've broken the 9th Commandment, & you'll be found guilty on Judgment Day. Avoid Hell; trust and obey Jesus Christ; He paid for your sins. ☺

WIN AT BRIDGE

Looking at the full picture

By Phillip Alder

Bridge retains its appeal primarily because you can (almost) never say "always" or "never." One aspect of this is highlighted in Sally Brock's "Suit Combinations in Bridge" (Hatsford).

The basic approach of the book is to show how the "correct" play in a suit can differ when the whole deal is taken into account. Overall, it is good, though the difficulty level of the deals varies considerably.

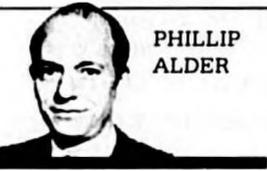

In this snapshot from the book, look first only at the heart suit. How would you play it to avoid a loser? Secondly, how would you plan the play in four hearts after West cashes the diamond ace (East drops the two), then switches to the spade eight?

East's weak two opening showed a decent six-card suit and some 6-10 high card points.

Taken in isolation, the correct play is to cash dummy's heart king, then to run the 10.

BRIDGE

Here, though, West rates to have the heart queen. Presumably he has a singleton spade. And West probably has exactly four diamonds. (If West had five diamonds, East would have started an echo with his doubleton. With six diamonds, West would have cashed his second trick before switching to spades.) So, you know only five of West's cards but nine of East's. Also, East is highly unlikely to be void in clubs.

The right line is clear: Take trick two and lead a heart to dummy's 10. When it wins, cash the heart king, play a club to your king, draw West's last

The haunting of the Inside-Outside House

By Debra Wood
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LONGWOOD - Could the cool drafts, scattered artificial flowers and rattling doors at the Inside-Outside House be the work of ghosts?

Some folks believe it's the spirit of the original owner's cat, while others think "the Captain" himself still inhabits the historic home.

Until retirement in 1898, Capt. W. Pierce and his black cat, Brutus, traveled the high seas. The seafaring feline would wander in distant ports of call, but the captain always waited for his cohort to re-board before setting sail.

Pierce built the unique two-story Inside-Outside House in 1870. Thought to be one of the oldest prefabricated houses in the United States, the home was constructed in Boston, then dismantled and shipped to Florida, where it was reassembled in Altamonte Springs. The Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation moved the house to Longwood's historic district in 1973.

The captain reportedly buried his faithful companion in an ornate hand-crafted, teak casket. However, the remains were not found at the Altamonte site when it was excavated before construction of a medical office building. And then strange things began to happen.

"It started when they moved the house," said Pamm Redditt, owner of the Culinary Cottage, a gift shop occupying the historic house. "When I came, I was a big skeptic. There have been numerous occurrences that made me believe there is something here."

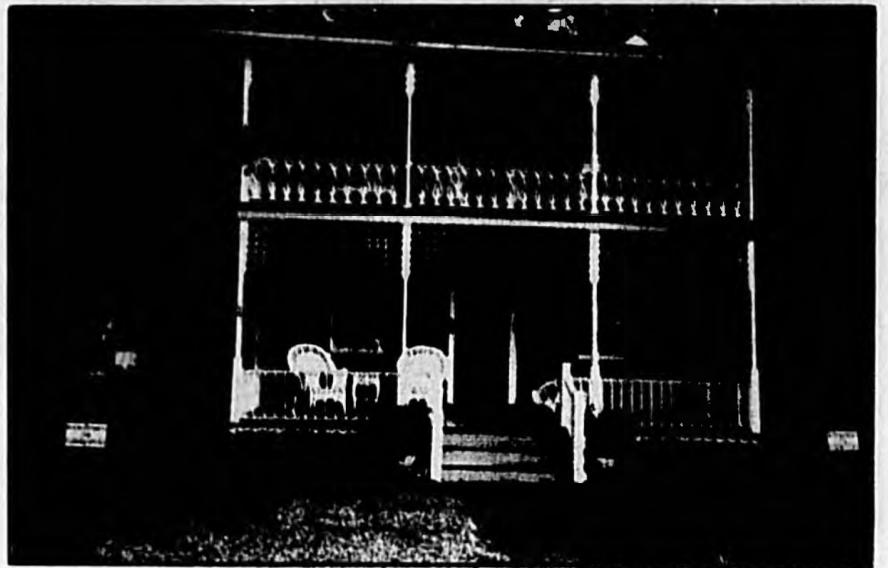

After experiencing unexplainable sensations, Redditt and a previous gift-shop owner are convinced that the house is haunted.

"I had a couple dealings with Brutus," said Dorothy Giffin, who owned the shop for six years in the 1980's. "I had a closet under the steps, and I heard the door rattle. When I opened the door, there was a brush against my [long] skirt."

Giffin also suspects that a neighborhood cat, who fled the shop in fright, may have encountered the original feline inhabitant. Giffin has stayed active in the preservation society and denies that the cat's spirit frightened her.

"I really believe the cat is in there," Giffin said. "We just have had several little incidents you can't explain."

A teen-age girl was the first person to declare the house haunted. But many people

People have seen a cat sitting in the upstairs window of Longwood's Inside-Outside House (upper photo). Dorothy Giffin felt the spirit of Brutus brush against dismissed her claims, thinking they resulted from an over-active young imagination.

Since that time, the image of a black cat has been seen in the front window, and people have felt the air turn cool, heard the rattle of the door, seen a rocker set in motion for no apparent reason or found flowers scattered around a store room that no one had been in.

"He doesn't do anything bad," Giffin said. "Evidently, he doesn't mind us here, or he'd be destructive."

Redditt believes not only in Brutus' visits but also his master's. She has seen, heard and felt the captain's apparition. Like the cat, he seems to be a friendly ghost.

"I never felt threatened," Redditt said. "I've had numerous customers say they felt the presence of something other than a cat, that something ice cold rushed past."

Now, she starts each day by warmly greeting the pair and ends each evening with, "Goodnight Captain, goodnight Brutus."

Beware: Some treats are tricky for braces

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Gleeful goblins, witches, superheros and princesses soon will lug home trick-or-treat bags bulging with candy that could be just murder on braces.

"If it's sticky, chewy, hard or crunchy, it's a food that anyone wearing braces or retainers should avoid," says Dr. Donald R. Poulton, president of the American Association of Orthodontists.

October is National Orthodontic Health Month, and orthodontists warn their patients to steer clear of caramel, gum and taffy. AAO members also advise those in treatment to beware of popcorn, peanuts, taco chips and ice.

Orthodontists frequently remind patients that consuming "off limit" foods could lengthen their treatment time. "Sneaking food that could harm your braces may affect treatment—just as if you weren't wearing your headgear or rubber bands," notes Dr. Poulton.

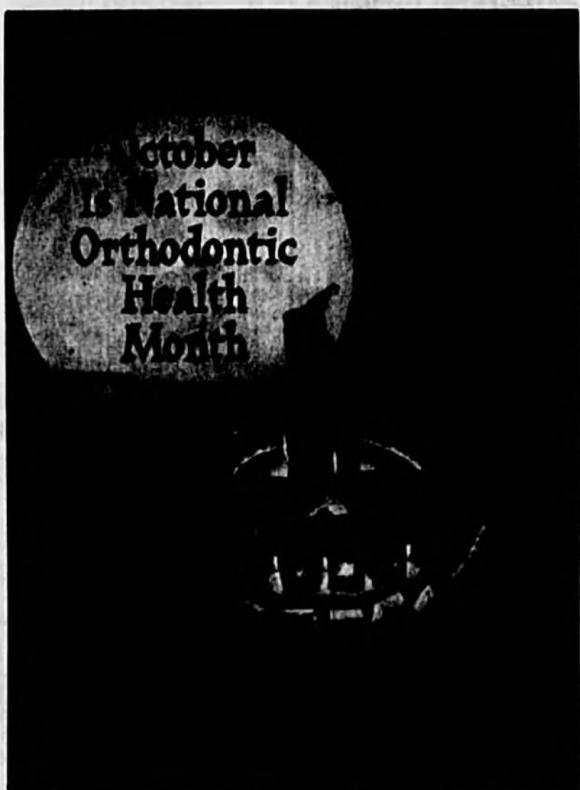

For patients wearing a retainer, remember: remove it before indulging—especially before bobbing for apples at the Halloween party. (And don't wrap it in a napkin. Retainers wind up in the garbage more often than you might think.)

What to do if you or your child has a treat-related mishap? Contact your orthodontist immediately. Most doctors have emergency numbers where they can be reached. "Usually small problems can be solved over the phone. Loose or protruding brackets or wires can be held in place with orthodontic wax until the patient can come into the office," Dr. Poulton says.

Of course, Halloween does not have to be completely treat-less. Plain chocolate candy is acceptable, provided you remember to brush afterwards. "We want patients to have fun while in orthodontic treatment," emphasizes Dr. Poulton. "Cooperation is always key, and exercising caution at Halloween could lead to great results!"

Orthodontics contribute to a lifetime of health

By Dr. Rick Dunn
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

LAKE MARY - Creating beautiful smiles is what orthodontics is all about.

Orthodontic treatment is an investment in self-improvement that will reap benefits for a lifetime. Whether it's a child facing the rigors of adolescence or an achievement-oriented adult, an attractive smile always creates a better impression for the outside, as well as from the inside.

Orthodontics is important not only to a great smile and improved self-confidence, but also to better dental health. With straight teeth and a proper bite, tooth decay and gum disease can be prevented. Problems with the jawjoint (TMJ) can also be avoided or corrected with orthodontics.

October is National Orthodontic Health Month. According to the American Association of Orthodontists, nearly 4.5 million people in the United States and Canada are in the care of an orthodontist and looking forward to a beautiful, healthy smile that is good for life. Orthodontists are the dental specialists who correct dental and facial irregularities. These specialists are required to follow dental school with at least two years of postdoctoral residency at an accredited program.

As parents help their kids carve grins into pumpkins, and dress up as witches or superheroes, orthodontics is probably one of the furthest things from their minds. However, as the trick-or-treaters return home with bulging bags of candy, it is important to remember that, if it's sticky, chewy, or hard, it's a food that anyone wearing braces or retainers should avoid.

Orthodontics has changed tremendously in recent years. Early diagnosis and new methods of treatment have allowed the orthodontist to guide facial growth, and tooth eruption in the right direction thus preventing more serious problems for developing. Some early warning signs that may indicate the necessity of an orthodontic evaluation are mouth breathing; finger sucking; jaws that pop or hurt; crowding of erupting permanent teeth; grinding of teeth; and a developing underbite or protruding front teeth.

New techniques and materials have not only reduced the discomfort of wearing braces, but have decreased the frequency of visits and overall treatment time. New space-age wires that are activated by the heat of the mouth help to move teeth in a more consistent and gentle way. Newly designed mini-braces are much smaller and less noticeable. For patients concerned with esthetics, ceramic braces and the completely invisible lingual braces are also available.

Certain procedures and techniques are best used while patients are going through active growth. During these years, treatment can achieve results not possible once the face and jaw bone growth is complete. However, it is important to note that the process in moving the teeth is essentially the same for both adults and children and orthodontics is now widely accepted at any age.

Central Florida is blessed with some of the finest orthodontists in the country. It is a good idea to ask your family dentist for a referral to a qualified orthodontist or call the American Association of Orthodontists (800) STRAIGHT or call The Dental Society of Greater Orlando (407) 425-2756.

Dr. Rick Dunn grew up in Casselberry and attended Seminole Community College and UCF. He received his dental degree from Medical College of Virginia and his orthodontic residency at the University of Alabama. He has been in practice in the Lake Mary and Longwood area for 21 years.

Diabetes? Know your blood sugar level

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

While Americans typically know key healthcare numbers such as their blood pressure, cholesterol levels and weight, three-quarters of the population over the age of 45 do not know a single number that indicates whether they have type 2 diabetes.

According to the results of a Yankelovich Partners survey released, 74 percent of Americans in this age group do not know their blood sugar level, which is a direct indicator for type 2 diabetes. The survey was sponsored by Bristol-Myers Squibb (NYSE: BMY), maker of Glucophage (metformin hydrochloride tablets) the number one name brand oral antidiabetic.

The results of the Yankelovich poll underscore the serious lack of awareness in the United States about type 2 diabetes among an age group that is at increased risk for developing the disease. Fifty-six percent of the survey respondents were unaware of the symptoms of type 2 diabetes and 42 percent were not aware of the serious complications associated with the condition. In addition, 79 percent of those surveyed had never asked their doctor whether they were at risk for the condition. Furthermore, 43 percent of survey participants did not know they should have their blood sugar level checked regularly.

"The results of this survey highlight a disturbing lack of awareness among Americans about type 2 diabetes," said Richard J. Lane, President, U.S. Pharmaceutical Group, Bristol-Myers Squibb. "As the maker of Glucophage, Bristol-Myers Squibb maintains a long-standing commitment to providing safe and effective therapies to help manage type 2 diabetes. In response to the results of this survey, we are expanding our commitment by launching 'Learn Your Level,' a major public awareness initiative designed to encourage Americans to learn their blood sugar level, and, if diagnosed with type 2 diabetes, to work closely with their healthcare provider to make sure their blood sugar is under control."

As part of the "Learn Your Level" program, Bristol-Myers Squibb has set itself the challenge of encouraging 1 million Americans to determine their risk for type 2 diabetes in 1998 by filling out a risk assessment test. The company is making risk assessment tests available on-line via <http://www.diabetesnetwork.com>. Patients can also obtain information about type 2 diabetes by calling 1-800-392-9700.

To bolster this education effort, senior PGA golfer Lee Elder is joining Bristol-Myers Squibb in encouraging Americans over 45 years of age to learn their blood sugar levels. Mr. Elder was diagnosed with type 2 diabetes in 1992 and is managing his condition through diet, exercise and Glucophage (metformin hydrochloride tablets).

"I learned my own blood sugar level only after I began experiencing symptoms," said Elder. "By working with my healthcare provider, I am able to successfully manage my type 2 diabetes. I know firsthand the importance of learning and controlling your blood sugar level, and I am committed to making others aware as well."

In conducting the survey, Yankelovich Partners interviewed more than 1,000 people age 45 or older who had not been diagnosed with type 2 diabetes. Participants were asked a number of questions about the symptoms, diagnosis and management of type 2 diabetes, as well as questions pertaining to other measures of their current health. Ninety-four percent of survey participants knew their weight; in addition, 67 percent listed a recent blood pressure reading and 48 percent knew their total cholesterol level.

Type 2 diabetes affects an estimated 15.3 million Americans. Over the past 20 years, the number of patients with type 2 diabetes has doubled, mainly due to increased levels of obesity and the aging of the U.S. population. If undiagnosed or improperly managed, type 2 diabetes can lead to serious complications that can cause blindness, kidney failure, amputations, circulatory problems and heart disease. Type 2 diabetes can sometimes be controlled through weight loss, dietary modifications and regular exercise. When weight loss, diet and exercise do not have the desired effect, oral antidiabetic agents such as Glucophage (metformin hydrochloride tablets) are usually added to the management program.

Glucophage, as an adjunct to diet, helps lower blood sugar level by improving insulin sensitivity and by decreasing hepatic glucose production and intestinal absorption of glucose.

Glucophage stabilizes body weight; some patients may experience a slight decrease in weight.

Glucophage may modestly improve both cholesterol and triglyceride levels in patients with type 2 diabetes, particularly if baseline levels are elevated.

Glucophage is generally well tolerated. Gastrointestinal side effects such as diarrhea, nausea and upset stomach are most common and generally resolve with continued use. Lactic acidosis, a serious condition, has been reported rarely, primarily in patients whose kidneys are not working normally. If cases occur, up to half may be fatal. Glucophage is

Tea honors Ballet Guild Dancers raise funds for December gala

SENIOR EDITOR

DORIS DIETRICH

Members of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole are on their toes and dancing their way into the 31st season. Dancers, their parents, the board of directors and other guests were honored by the board at a tea Oct. 10, in the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

According to Sally Sawczuk, president of the board, 115 persons attended and "it went just fine. Everyone had a good time...very warm reception."

Sally said each of the colorfully appointed tables was decorated differently and individual favors were created by Pam Singleton, board member, who is an artist. The board prepared an array of tempting tea treats accompanied by fruit punch and iced tea.

The dancers, who had rehearsed all morning for the forthcoming December performance, arrived in their Sunday best with their parents whom they introduced.

Among the other guests were Miriam Doktor, artistic director, and her husband, Ken; Valerie Weld, artistic director, and her husband, George; and Natalie Weld and escort, Matt Roben. The Rev. Bruce Scott, church pastor gave the invocation.

Board members attending, along with Sally and Pam, were: Mary Ann Duxbury, Jane Unsworth and her mother, Sue Sessions, Cheryl and Mark Russi and Barbara Mantuano.

Ballet Guild is currently raising funds for the 31st annual performance, "A Holiday Party Mix (With Nuts)," to be presented Dec. 12, at 8 p.m., at Winter Springs High School. A car wash was recently held and an auction is coming up on Nov. 21 at All Souls Catholic Church with Jeff Smith as the auctioneer. An Italian feast will be held at the auction.

The Guild's main source of revenue is provided by sponsors. Each dancer is required to have a minimum of 20 sponsors annually, at $10 each, which includes free admission to the performance. Through the years, thousands of supporters have kept the dancers on their toes. Anyone interested in sponsoring a dancer may call the dancer direct, or phone the studio at 323-1900.

The 1998-99 Ballet Guild company dancers are: Roxann Hirt, Dion Leonhard, Karolyin Mantuano, Melissa Garris, Sarah Twilleagar, Lori Ann

BRIDGE SOCIAL

Amid autumn leaves tumbling down and golden pumpkins everywhere, members of the Bridge Social of the Sanford Woman's Club took a few moments to enjoy and appreciate the wonders of autumn when they met at the Park Avenue home of Mary Dale Jones in the Historic District. Doris Stein, co-hostess, assisted Mary Dale in serving delicious refreshments of assorted sandwiches, pastries and cookies.

High score for the afternoon was Rose Jacobson with Terri Millikan second high, and Peggy Mergo, third high.

Other players were: Frances Webster, Helen Ernest, Dib McElrath, Alice Potter, Selma Newman, Zeldia Siskind, Rustie Dean, and Libby Prevatt.

The November Bridge Social will be held at the home of Frances Webster. Call 323-9840 for directions to her new home.

Yorktown DAR presents program about battle survivor

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Sally Harrison Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution luncheon meeting was held Friday at the Marina. Regent Betty Bridgewater introduced Claire O'Connor and her two daughters.

Mary Jane Duryea and Melissa Sovran presented the program featuring their ancestor, Carey Toney of Virginia, who fought at the battle of Yorktown. Mary Jane gave the background beginning with 1780-1781 General Nathaniel Greene forces in the south causing the British under Cornwallis to withdraw from the area.

The British retreated to the seacoast north into Virginia selecting Yorktown as the place to fortify. The main British force under Gen. Henry Clinton and the British fleet remained in New York under British Adm. Lord Graves. Gen. Rochambeau had a force of 6,000 men camped at Newport, RI in the summer of 1780. Gen. Washington also requested a French fleet to be sent to his aid in addition to the men on land. The French sent a powerful fleet under Count Francois de Grasse. Gen. Washington and Gen. Rochambeau joined their armies and marched south while de Grasse moved north with his fleet in 1781.

The British were caught unprepared. By the time Graves left New York for Chesapeake Bay, the French were in position to ward them off. The fighting was disastrous for the British ships and they retreated back to New York.

Meanwhile, Washington and Rochambeau's combined armies arrived at Yorktown where Cornwallis was surrounded. With the French fleet in the bay, no reinforcements could come to Cornwallis' aid by the sea. On Oct. 19, 1781, Cornwallis surrendered with all his men. This surrender brought about the fall of the British cabinet. A new cabinet was formed giving the American's peace and independence. Claire gave the family history of Carey Toney, born Oct. 3, 1757 in Buckingham Co., Virginia.

He joined the American Revolution and was active in the battle of Yorktown. In 1781 he married Elizabeth Doren and in 1820 he emigrated to Ohio where he raised 10 children, 9 sons and 1 daughter. He lived a long life living to age 102, dying 9/6/1859. He voted in every national election from George Washington to John Freeman.

Costume contest to highlight CIA annual Halloween party

The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association will hold its third annual Halloween Party on Friday, Oct. 30 from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Community Building on Country Club Road. There will be food, fun and a costume contest. Children will be judged in 5 categories: 10-12 age group, 7-9 age group, 4-6 age group, 2-3 age group, and an under 2 group.

Last year, Dr. Victoria Frankenstein led children on a tour of her mad scientist lab. This year, rumor has it that vampires have invaded Lake Mary and they will be escorting children on a tour of a haunted castle. All blood types are welcome.

DONATIONS NEEDED FOR GARAGE SALE

Having a band is an expensive proposition. That's why the Lake Mary High Band holds a huge garage sale every year. This year, the event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 5 and 6. To make the sale a success, the band needs help. That's why members will be collecting donations beginning Saturday, Oct. 31 and every Saturday in November from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Lake Mary High School. There will be a trailer at the high school on those days for drop-offs.

If you have a large item you can't transport, you can still donate it. The sale organizers will arrange for transportation. They're looking for furniture, toys, games, electronics, clean used clothing, books, dishes, sports equipment, bikes. Just about anything you can think to donate. Items that are not sold are donated to Goodwill. The money raised is used to buy instruments, music, fund band trips and other band related expenses.

If you have any items you would like to donate to the garage sale, just bring them by during the drop off times. If you have a large item or can't come during the drop off times, call 321-6123, 333-9722 or 332-6183.

TALENT SHOW, SILENT AUCTION SET

Girl Scout Senior Troop 148 in Lake Mary will host a talent show at 7PM on Saturday, November 7 at Lake Mary Elementary School. Girl Scout Troops and individual scouts will be performing. There will also be a silent auction to raise money for the troop. The money will be used for a trip to the Girl Scout National Headquarters in New York. They still need donations for the silent auction.

Last year's contest winners in the 4-6 age group: Trey Bartley, Sara Bursell and Sam Huss

Ghouls in the haunted house last year

If you or your business had anything you can donate, call Peggy Wolfe at 327-8207.

If you would like to attend the talent show, admission is $3 for adults, $2 for children and $1 for scouts in uniform.

BLANKETS NEEDED

Got any old army blankets you're not using? Well, the Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts in Lake Mary could use a few. Stardust is planning a camporee in mid-December. The theme for this year's camporee is Scouting in the 1920's. There weren't a lot of sleeping bags in the 1920's. One of the things the girls will learn is how to make a bed roll to take camping. Bed rolls were, mostly, army blankets. So, if you can donate or loan them any, call Peggy Wolfe at 327-8207.

Lake Mary kids making some beautiful music

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

The brand new Lake Mary Elementary School band likes playing music so much, it doesn't always know when to stop.

"Everyone keeps playing even after we're supposed to stop," saxophone player Casey Forner said. "Everyone's month is just like it's glued to their instruments."

The kids at Lake Mary have a new music teacher, Amy Gonzalez who has helped out at the school for the past several years, but joined the faculty full-time to take charge of its entire musical program.

She held tryouts for fourth- and fifth-graders at the start of the school year and allowed each kid who was interested to try several different instruments.

Pretty soon, over 60 members had signed up for the band which will put on its first show Dec. 1 with a part-holiday, part-anything else concert.

"They love it," Gonzalez said. "They all really seem to be enjoying it and we've had so much parental support."

She remembers that the first day of practice, when all of the kids were holding instruments for the first time, was a challenge.

"They didn't know how to read music yet, in fact, we spent that day teaching them how to put their instruments together."

Since then, by practicing twice weekly, the band is starting to make music although, with just over a month until the first concert, everyone in the band is getting just a little bit nervous.

"That first day, it was so noisy," Timmy Hill, a trombone player said. "All you could hear were a bunch of squeaks."

"We didn't even know how to put our instruments together," added percussionist Argentina D'Amico.

There were other problems to overcome. Amanda John got dizzy trying to learn to play the flute. Because of the blowing of air, it's not uncommon for a beginning flautist to feel a little faint, but it was totally unexpected.

The kids had to make their first decision after trying out several different instruments. They all came about their choices in different ways.

Casey said, "I wanted to play the trombone, but once I lifted the saxophone, I loved it. It's cool the way the rock stars play."

Timmy said he wanted to play trumpet but his parents encouraged him to give trombone a shot. Once he tried it, he said, his decision was made.

Once the instruments were given out, the band was taught scales and an easy tune called "Time For Band." They started working on breathing techniques and stretching exercises and, pretty soon, the noise started to sound like music as they learned their first real song, "Hot Cross Buns."

Now they have a month to put together their first performance.

"I'm a little nervous already," Kelsey Rawlins said. "The kids always talk during the music and we have to get all dressed up."

How about a critique? "We sound pretty good and pretty bad sometimes," Amanda said. "We're kind of right in the middle. I just hope I don't get dizzy."

Either way, it's been a fun experience for the kids who, Assistant Principal Lucy Jackman said, have learned a great enjoyment about music from the experience. "I never played anything before, but my dad told me he loves the clarinet," Maria Coral said. "I love playing it. It's been fun."

Now if the band can just figure out how to stop playing when they're supposed to.

Jessica Fredrick said if she could meet anyone it would be the late Kurt Cobaine of Nirvana.

If I could meet anyone, who would it be?

By Jessica Fredrick
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Wouldn't it be cool if we could meet anyone in the world, dead or alive?

If I were to meet anyone, it would be Kurt Cobaine (lead singer of Nirvana). I would want to know how he died and if people have been lying for the past five years, about him committing suicide, or did someone kill him.

I would ask him why he didn't like his career and I would want to meet him because I have so many questions I have always wondered about him that I can't say.

He is, was, the lead singer of Nirvana, my favorite band ever. He used to be very cute, if he cleaned himself up a little.

So if I were to meet someone, who would it be?

What would you say or ask? Why would you meet this certain person and what did they do to influence you so much.

Jessica Fredrick is a student at Greenwood Lakes Middle School.

Precautions can keep Halloween safe

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

The celebrations, creative costumes and decorations of Halloween have provided enjoyment for young and old for centuries. Most children are fond of "trick-or-treating," but this tradition can be hazardous if kids—and their parents—do not take precautions.

Halloween-related injuries may involve: eye abrasions from sharp objects attached to masks or costumes; skin irritations or rashes from decorative face paints or creams; and burns from flammable costumes ignited by open flames from items such as candles and Jack O'Lanterns. But parents can take steps to ensure their children's safety without denying them the enjoyment of celebrating this holiday. The Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Service and the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission offer the following Halloween safety tips:

- Examine all treats carefully for signs of tampering before allowing children to eat them.
- When purchasing costumes—including masks, bears and wigs—look for labels indicating the materials are "fire resistant" or "flame retardant." Materials so labeled are not fire-proof, but will resist burning and extinguish quickly.
- Purchase or make costumes that are bright enough to be seen clearly by motorists. Decorate or trim costumes and treat bags with reflective tape. Children should carry flashlights when trick-or-treating.

*Costumes should not be so long as to cause tripping and falling. Children's shoes should be sturdy and well fitting. Mom's high heels are not a good idea for safe walking.

*Apply a natural mask of cosmetics rather than have a child wear a mask that might block vision or interfere with breathing. Supervise children's use of Halloween makeup kits and make sure all directions for application and removal are followed. Take special care to see that makeup does not get into the eyes.

*Costume swords, knives and similar accessories should be soft and flexible.

*Young children should always be accompanied by an adult or an older, responsible child when trick-or-treating. Children should walk, not run, from house to house and should stay out of the street.

*Children should go only to homes where residents are known and have outside lights on as a sign of welcome. Unless accompanied by an adult, children should never enter homes or apartments.

*When driving on Halloween, be especially careful and watch out for trick-or-treaters.

A safer alternative to trick-or-treating is to attend a supervised Halloween event instead. Organized events sponsored by civic organizations, school groups, merchants associations and recreation centers provide a controlled and secure environment for children.

With a few precautions, Halloween can be a special treat.

Have a snack or meal before you go out.

The history and tradition of the holiday

Hallowe'en or All Hallow's Eve

An ancient celebration combining Druid autumn festival and Christian customs. Hallowe'en (All Hallow's Eve) is the beginning of Hallow-tide, a season that embraces the Feast of All Saints (Nov. 1) and the Feast of All Souls (Nov. 2). The observance, dating from the sixth or seventh centuries, has long been associated with thoughts of the dead, spirits, witches, ghosts and devils. In fact, the ancient Celtic Feast of Samhain, the festival that marked the beginning of winter and of the New Year, was observed on Nov. 1.

IN BRIEF

Film series

MAITLAND - The Holocaust Memorial Resource and Education Center of Central Florida will begin its 1998-1999 Film Series on Oct. 26 at 7:30 p.m. with the film The Long Way Home.

For the majority of Holocaust survivors, World War II did not end with their liberation from German concentration camps. As the personal accounts contained in The Long Way Home demonstrate, the battle to rebuild lives and human dignity continued long after the Allies' victory. The tumultuous years between 1945-1948, from liberation to the creation of the State of Israel, epitomized the challenges Holocaust survivors faced in recreating their identity from the remnants of their destroyed world. The film, narrated by Morgan Freeman, was written and directed by Mark Jonathan Harris.

There is no admission charge. The film series will also include Jewish Soul, American Beat, Dec. 7; A Story of Women, Feb. 8; Carpenter: 50 Miles, 50 Years, May 31. For more information call (407) 628-0555.

The production examines the lives of three outstanding African American poets—Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen and Claude McKay—as seen through the eyes of the great painter and muralist Aaron Douglas. The Core Ensemble also performs music of jazz greats Duke Ellington, Jelly Roll Morton, Billy Strayhorn, Thelonious Monk and Charles Mingus to concert composers William Grant Still and George Walker.

The Core Ensemble consists of Andrew Mark on cello, Hugh Hinton on piano, and Michael Parola on percussion. The script of Of Ebony Embers was written and is performed by Akin Babatunde.
