AMONG THE THEATRES

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

Fannie Ward Tonight

For the first time in two years he has, been with the Jesse L. Lasky Company, the public will have the opportunity to see Horace B. Carpenter, the excellent character man of that organization, as he really is. As a member of the all star cast supporting Fannie Ward in Hector Turnbull's photodrama, "For the Defense," a Paramount Picture, which will be seen at the Star Theatre tonight, Mr. Carpenter is seen for the first time without a makeup. Mr. Carpenter has appeared in practically every production in the Lasky Company have made since "The Squaw man" and photodramatic authorities consider him one of the best character artists on the screen, but always, his real features have been concealed beneath false hair or heavy putty makeup.

During the first few scenes in "For the Defense," Mr. Carpenter was noticed to be quite a little upset and explained it by saying that he was a little embarrassed at having his face appear in this nude condition before the public and a fear that people would think him immodest, caused his temporary uneasiness.

Types of Southern Beauty

Bluebird Photoplays have been fortunate in the selection of Louise Lovely as leading lady of their company presenting "The Grip of Jealousy" at the Star Theatre on Saturday, Mar. 25th. The story of the play demands in the principal role a girlish beauty of that particular southern type that wove enduring romance into the ante-bellum days of the south.

The quaint style of dress, then affected by the women below the Mason-Nixon line is not well adapted to the average beauties of these modern times, when skirts are short and hats are of all styles. But to the rare accomplishments of the clever actress Louise Lovely is gifted by nature, to add just the style of physical charm that looks bewitching in the crinolines and jaunty headgear of other days.

Grace Thompson is another beauty in the cast of "The Grip of Jealousy"—so like Miss Lovely in personal appearance that she cleverly passes in the photoplay as almost a "double" of her screen sister. In these two characters the beauty of the early scenes are centered—but in the final parts of the photoplay Marcia Moore appears to add her charm to the galaxy of beauties that constitute a trinity of loveliness mighty hard to match in any one organization of photoplayers.

These girls are pictured in typically beautiful southern scenes; in the old mansion and grounds of the wealthy planter who was rich in lands and slaves before the Rebellion swept their fortunes from them. The rightly named Louise Lovely is seen in an exacting role; for the scenes of "The Grip of Jealousy" combine sensation with sentiment and the pretty love scenes are diversified by such exciting incidents as a chase of a slave girl by bloodhounds; the sensational rescue of a girl captive from a Mississippi river steamer; the entangling incidents of a bitter feudal fight, and other reminders of "the south before the war."

Constance Collier

Very humiliating is the lot of the wife whose husband turns craven at the time of crisis.

A strange and intensely fascinating story of a weak husband facing loss of fortune and reputation, and of his brave wife in the Morocco photoplay "The Code of Marcia Gray" coming to the Star Theatre, Monday, Mar. 27th on the Paramount Program.

The detectives are waiting in the spacious hall, impressed by the magnificence of the furnishings and the design of this palatial room.

While they wait the wife goes to the broken hearted fiancé and by her support and pleadings arouses him to face his punishment.

Thus buoyed up he approaches the officers of the law but his nerve weakens and in an intensely dramatic and superbly carried bit of acting the decisive step is accomplished.

Marguerite Snow

Metro's next release is "The Upstart," a satirical comedy drama starring the popular "Pretty Peggy" Snow, and featuring George LeGuere, the noted juvenile actor. "The Upstart" is a picturization from the play of the same name, which has a successful run at the Maxine Elliott Theatre in New York City and will be shown here at the Star Theatre on Tuesday, March 28th.

Rolle Photoplays Inc. made this picture production for Metro, under the direction of Edwin Carowe. An exceptionally strong supporting cast will be seen which includes James Lackaye, Frederick Santner and Frederick Sittenham.

Sarah Bernhardt Coming

Sarah Bernhardt, at the age of seventy-two, performed one of the greatest services to her art that it has been her privilege to contribute in a lifetime of devotion to the stage, when she carried acted the story of Jeanne Dore, which will be seen in Bluebird Photoplays at the Star Theatre on Thursday, Mar. 30th. Not alone will it preserve for future generations this photographic record of her artistry, but it will prove with what stout heart she stood the trying ordeal soon after she had undergone a surgical operation that would have resulted in a more or less permanent woman.

BIG CANNING INDUSTRY IN CITY SANFORD

ONE WILL BE ESTABLISHED HERE AND SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

Canning factories in Sanford have been a hobby of The Herald for many years and in a few days this paper will give a bit of news to the world regarding the establishment of one of the largest and best factories that can be brought here.

Several towns in South Florida are clamoring for canning factories. Tallahassee clamored for one and got it and now we cannot induce the farmers to keep it supplied with products.

Towns have clamored for them, newspapers have advised them, they are known to be good things for any section, yet they don't seem to succeed.

There have been at least two good canning factories in this section but one is burned down and the other is abandoned and has been for several years.

There is no reason why such things should not be kept running, except the one given by the Democrat and that is that the farmers cannot be induced to supply them with the necessary products.

The trouble is that farmers want too much for their products and will not furnish fruit and vegetables at prices which will give the canner a chance to make any profit and the prices which farmers would receive would also give them a profit but not such a big one as they usually secure.

In the north farmers claim to make good money selling tomatoes at $8 to $9 a ton to the factories and the farmers here laugh at such prices.

One of the canning factories here offered $1 a hundred pounds for cull pineapple and would pay freight so all the farmers had to do was to throw the pineapples in the cart right at his packing house door and get a cent a pound for them or otherwise throw them out on the road.

The latter is just what the farmer did and then paid $1.50 a day for a man and a team to haul his cull pile away and dump it on his fields and the tomato growers did virtually the same thing and threw all their cull tomatoes away instead of selling them to the canning factories at a reasonable price.

There were exceptions to these rules but the exceptions were so few that they could have furnished to the factories that they would not have kept the canneries running hardly a week.

It will take the hardest kind of times in this state to educate farmers to the point of making every cent they can even off of culls and then, perhaps, canning companies will be able to secure enough products to keep their factories running at a profitable rate at least a part of the time.—West Palm Beach Sun.

Will Florida canning clubs add any appreciable amount to the quantity of canned tomatoes for the country. According to the Philadelphia North American the scarcity of canned tomatoes is such that there is almost a panic among the big wholesale and retail dealers and they are buying up tomatoes to be grown this fall at 85 cents a dozen cans, although such advance sales in normal years usually bring them to the wholesaler at 65 cents a dozen.

"In 1894," the Philadelphia paper continues, "the wholesale price of tomatoes reached $1 a dozen for the first time. This was matched by the price of $1.10 a dozen in 1898. In 1902 the country experienced the greatest scarcity in its history and the price went to $1.50 a dozen. In 1906 the price went to $1.15, but since then has never gone above $1 until now. Wholesalers predict that the price will go to $1.25 a dozen before the fresh spring crop reaches the market."

Does all this say anything to the people of Florida? We have passed tomato fields in Dade county where tomatoes, too ripe to ship, had been dumped in heaps containing hundreds of bushels; and every year this waste is accepted by the farmers as a necessary part of the crop's "expense."

Nor is this all. People who have the opportunity to get all the ripe tomatoes they want for the carrying away from the fields do not can them. Many a farmer's family in Florida buys quantities of canned tomatoes from the grocer who has bought his goods, through various middlemen, from these same Philadelphia wholesale houses who are facing the problem of paying $1.25 a dozen for the ripe tomatoes of northern gardens come into market.

It's an eminently wrong situation. Florida could feed the country. Florida could grow and can enough tomatoes to stock every larder in the United States; but instead, Florida sends to England for her canned tomatoes! Florida lives out of the cans shipped in from northern factories!—Miami Metropolis.

PUBLIC RECEPTION

Southern Bell Telephone Co. Will Entertain People of Sanford

The plant of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. in this city being completed and one of the finest in the state the officials are desirous of showing it to the public and will hold a public reception on Thursday, April 6th from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening. The reception will be held in the exchange rooms which will be decorated for the occasion and the Woman's Club of Sanford has been requested to assist the officials in the entertaining of the guests.

Legal Manager J. F. Karpata will be assisted by District Manager R. L. Boyd of Jacksonville and several other officials of the company. Light refreshments will be served and the event promises to be a most enjoyable occasion for the hosts, hostesses and the many guests. There is a most cordial feeling existing between the people of Sanford and the Southern Bell Telephone Co. and the friendly relations will be cemented by the reception which will be a get together meeting of citizens and company officials.

Willard Won Easily

New York, March 25.—Willard, the heavyweight champion of the world, outpointed Moran in a hard fought ten round bout, tonight.

Willard had the better of Moran in every round except the third, which went to Moran by a shade, and the eighth and the ninth which were even.

It was noticeable that he used his right frequently during the latter rounds, and that it lacked the usual accuracy.

Willard fought gamely, although he had the impression on Willard's face that he was being outboxed.

Several times, Moran, who was badly cut up with Willard's jab, was dazed. Willard, however, did not seem to try for a knockout.

Referee White said it was one of the cleanest fights at which he had presided.

Mutual Insurance

Chas. H. Neeb, president of the Miami Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was in the city Saturday. Mr. Neeb says Florida people have been paying exorbitant rates for years. The rate is at least fifty per cent in excess of what it really should be. Mutual fire insurance companies all over the country have saved millions of dollars to the policy holders of fire insurance. The last session of the legislature enacted a law permitting the establishment of mutual fire insurance in the state of Florida. Prior to this date such a company could not obtain a charter under which to operate, and now that it is possible a long felt want will be filled which undoubtedly means much to the people of Florida in dollars and cents.

Mr. Neeb has many friends in Sanford as he was one of the Miami boosters who stood by the St. Johns river as the inland Waterway when our committee was down there.

TROOPS RUN BIG FESTIVAL VILLA BACK MADE HISTORY IN MEXICO LAST FRIDAY

SLY BANDIT SAID TO BE OUT OF SUPPLIES AND IS RUNNING BACK

El Paso, March 28.—The pursuit of Villa has developed into a race between the bandits, mounted on Mexican ponies, and the American cavalry. Dispatches from the front say Villa has broken through the Carranza lines and is fleeing southward. The American troops are straining every nerve to capture or kill him before he reaches the Sierra Tarahumara mountains in Guerrero district. One hope of a speedy end is that the bandits will become starved and their ponies exhausted. It is known that Villa is short of ammunition and supplies and dead and dying horses along the trail are evidence of his desperate need and haste. Most ominous news reaching the border and passed by the censor says that half the Carranza garrison at Naniquipa has disappeared, and some probably have joined Villa. The Villa forces are doubtless making headway in Durango, and Coahuila states American women and children are leaving Durango City and Torreon. This gives fresh impetus to the stories that Canuto Reyes, the Villa chief in Coahuila is menacing Torreon, and recently received many Carranza deserters.

Rag Pickers Become Rich

If the present high prices obtain for rags and paper, the rag picker, heretofore looked upon as a pauper, and whose name has for a century been a synonym of poverty may yet become a rag picking millionaire, or at least aspire to the realm of the "new rich."

From the lowly consideration of $8 to $10 a ton for rags, the price has soared to not less than $70. Threadbare tablecloths and cast away articles are making the rag picker a wealthy man. The prices quoted are based upon bona fide facts, and the possibilities of the rag man rising to wealth is not exaggerated.

It is because of the curtailment of the raw materials for the manufacture of paper from Europe. Dry felt is as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. The war has done many wonderful things, making people rich over night through the advance in drugs, but that it should open wide the doors of prosperity for the rag picker is about the last thing surmised.

One of the latest advances in the price of raw felt was experienced within the last thirty days, the price soaring from 20 to 30 per cent. It is said this will not be the worst of it. It is being found a hard matter to get paper enough for commercial printing.

When conditions get down on to the raw edge it is thought it will be the joy of certain ruralite correspondents to write on both sides of the communications to their respective publications. But this is not yet.

Roofing men are complaining all over the country about the increase in price for felt used in roofing materials. All over the country the corps of rag pickers, and the various organizations, like the Salvation Army are watching for rags like the miner looks for the glistening nugget of gold.

The lack of raw materials for the manufacture of paper and felt products has recently elicited an appeal from the United States Department of commerce to the citizens to save rags and paper so the sources of supply would be conserved.—Tampa Tribune.

Purchased Tin Shop

James H. Cowan, the veteran tin and sheet metal man who has been in charge of this department of the Geo. H. Fernald Co. for many years has purchased the same and will operate it from the same place in the future. Jim Cowan as he is familiarly called by his many friends needs no introduction to the people of this section as he has been a resident of Sanford for many years and is thoroughly familiar with the tin and sheet metal and roofing business.

BIG FESTIVAL MADE HISTORY LAST FRIDAY

ONE OF LARGEST CROWDS IN HISTORY SANFORD WAS PRESENT

The Spring Festival and Celery Fair ended last Saturday night in a blaze of glory and was one of the most successful affairs that has ever been staged in this city. Successful from a financial as well as from a social standpoint for the local people and all the visitors had a good time and thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the time.

Friday was one big day and there was an immense crowd in the city from early morning till late at night. The candidates unlimbered about eleven o'clock at the Hotel Carnes where the speakers' stand had been appropriately decorated and with Hon. Forrest Lake acting as master of ceremonies all of the candidates present were allowed to go their length and most of them took advantage of the fact that the people could not get away and they told them all about it.

Telegrams of regret were read from Congressman W. J. Sears and Governor Trammell and the candidates for Governor present spoke in the morning and afternoon as follows:

F. A. Wood of St. Petersburg, Ion Paris of Jacksonville and Frederick M. Hudson of Miami and all of them made a good impression on the audience.

They were followed by the candidates for U. S. Senate present being Senator N. P. Bryan and Perry Wall. Senator Bryan is on the defensive somewhat and did not make as good an appearance as the man who is not fighting for place. Perry Wall made a good hit with most convincing business talk to the people.

Commissioner of Agriculture McRae, candidate for re-election gave a good talk on the possibilities of Florida soil. Supt. of Public Instruction W. N. Sheats and Dr. Kelley who wants his job also spoke and went at some length into each other's records.

John Jones of Orlando on behalf of his brother, Joseph Jones, present incumbent and candidate for states attorney made an address and was followed by A. D. Penny of Ft. Pierce, who is also a candidate for this position. There were many others who spoke and many candidates present who did not wish to speak but preferred the still hunting of votes and voters. The local candidates did not wish to monopolize the time of the visiting candidates and gave way to the out of town candidates of the state.

At one o'clock the big fish fry was held in front of the Hotel Carnes and here some 2,000 pounds of fine Sanford perch and bream were cooked to a turn and with bread and pickles and hot coffee made a most tempting lunch. The hungry crowd could hardly be appeased and the fish were fried until one o'clock to satisfy the late arrivals. Some of them could not wait but there was plenty of fish for all of them and it is estimated that over a thousand people were present and were fed. Others who wanted a lunch patronized the various hotels and restaurants.

The afternoon furnished more speaking and the many attractions at the grounds furnished by the Majestic Amusement Co. at night gave the visitors plenty of fun and many of them stayed over until late in the evening.

The day was all that could be desired and was voted a success in every particular. On Saturday the athletic events and Field Day made glad the hearts of the boys of the city and many stunts in the athletic line were pulled off in front of the Hotel Carnes.

The following is a record of the events, together with the names of the winners and the prizes won:

First event, 100-yard dash, boys over 14 years and not over 18 years; won by Harold Washburn, prize Christmas savings account. Second event, 100-yard dash, boys over 18 years; won by J. W. Van Wert, time 12.2 seconds; prize Christmas savings account.

Third event, 50-yard dash, boys under 14 years; won by Robert Snow; prize $1 cuff buttons.

Fourth event, winners of the two 100-yard events run off the tie, Van Wert being the winner and making the course in seven seconds.

Fifth event, running broad jump, won by Robert Green, 15 feet 6 inches; prize, fielder's glove.

Sixth event, standing broad jump; won by Van Wert, prize, 1 box neckties.

Seventh event, running high jump, won by Sherman Routh, prize one box sport cravats.

Eighth event, one-mile bicycle race; won by Virgil Smith, prize one electric lighting outfit.

Ninth event, two and a half mile bicycle race; first prize won by R. A. Green, prize $6 pair tires; second prize, won by W. L. Smith, prize $3.50 bicycle saddle; third prize, won by J. W. Wilcox, prize $2.50 bicycle lamp.

Immediately after the events the crowd gathered in front of Power's pharmacy, where Rev. Hyman, mounted in an automobile made the announcement of the winners, and directed the successful athletes to the Peoples Bank where Schelle Maines, secretary of the celebration committee gave each successful racer and jumper an order to the various business houses for the respective prizes.

GOOD ROADS FROSTED

Meeting in St. Augustine Was Not Well Attended

The meeting of the State Good Roads Association at St. Augustine was a frost, according to L. P. Dickie, secretary of the Tampa Board of Trade and Central Florida Highway Association, who passed through Orlando today on his way back from the Ancient City. In the Tampa party besides Mr. Dickie were T. Ed. Bryan, president of the Central Highway body, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Snow and Spencer Snow and Miss Nell Brown.

Great preparation had been made in St. Augustine for the state good roads meeting, said Mr. Dickie. The local militia were on duty to see that the cars were properly parked, and four hundred spaces had been provided for the parkings, and the mayor had given orders for other streets to be used when the regular parking spaces had been filled. It was expected that some two thousand cars would be present. There were not more than eleven cars parked at one time, Mr. Dickie said. The meeting of the Central Florida Highway Association held at Ocala the preceding day had a much larger number present and was much more of a success. An elaborate program had been provided for the St. Augustine meeting, but little of it came to pass.

"It takes a scrap of the prospects of one to get a meeting," said Mr. Dickie. He feels certain that the June meeting of the Central Florida body to be held in Orlando will be well attended. A big fight is said to be brewing, details of which will probably come out some time in advance of the date.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

GERMANS ARE ATTACKING VERDUN AGAIN

OTHER NEWS FROM WAR ZONES IN VARIOUS PHASES

London, March 28.—There are indications of new German attacks east of the Meuse. North Verdun has been the scene of a continually violent bombardment. The Donau and Vaux front is bearing the brunt of the attack. The infantry is idel along the Franco-Belgian front. The increased activities north of Salonki is attracting the attention of the Balkans. Skirmishing apparently is taking the form of a general Teutonic attack on the Franco-British lines.

The entente circles at Athens do not expect a serious attempt to take Salonki.

The sinking of the British steamers Cerne and Khratoun and the French steamer, Hobo are reported.

Washington, March 28.—The submarine situation is becoming very grave, is the view of the American officials. The possibility of breaking diplomatic relations with Germany is again discussed as an eventuality. It is expected this will follow if it is shown that a submarine sank the Sussex and Englishman. The officials are keeping their minds open. They are awaiting further facts.

Washington, March 28.—A piece of bronze resembling the part of a torpedo, was found on the Channel liner Sussex. The French officials informed the consular agent, Whitman at Beaulieu. Whitman thus reported today. The officials have no information other than the German submarines operating where the Sussex was attacked.

Majestic Shows Were Good

The Majestic Shows here last week to furnish the attractions for the Spring Festival and Celery Fair were not the greatest shows in the world but they were clean attractions and satisfied the people.

While people generally object to the old carnival features it is also true that some such attractions in the city bring the people here and if the attractions are not objectionable the city profits to a certain extent even if the shows carry some money out of town. The Majestic shows under the management of Nat Nordler with his able secretary, Jack DeVoe had an aggregation that fulfilled all their obligations to the letter and they can be recommended to any city that intends to put on a similar attraction of any kind.

Presbyterian C. E.

The Presbyterian C. E. enjoyed a social at the home of Mr. Kent Rossetter on Tuesday evening. The party met at the church and were carried in autos to Mr. Rossetter's home on Celery avenue. On their arrival they were welcomed by their host and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Rossetter, Sr.

The spacious home was thrown open to the young people for the evening and in a few minutes everybody was enjoying some kind of game, rook, finch, etc. Two of the young ladies, Misses Fern Ward and Charlie Seay sang beautiful solos during the evening. Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, pickles, celery, coffee and cakes were served, after which the whole party went out on the lawn and played old fashioned games in the moonlight.

The C. E. met on Friday evening for their usual prayer meeting. Meeting was in charge of Co. C. Mr. Kent Rossetter leader; subject, "Great Home Missionaries." An interesting program was rendered. Mr. D. U. Curry, State C. E. president was present and made a delightful talk.

All members are urged to attend prayer meeting on Wednesday evening, without fail.

Mr. Norman DeForrest is expected in Sanford about April 1st to visit his mother, after which he and his wife will spend several weeks in Daytona before returning north.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"---SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

I am not taking part in the city election as it merely means the filling in of a vacancy caused by resignation and yet this filling in process sometimes is very important, as Mahoney and Walker would both tell you, if approached. But somehow we have been having so much excitement lately that we have lost track of the city election. Now I had to until I picked up the little book that contains the platform of one O. P. Herndon, who is I presume Osborne Herndon, the moving picture king. Now I can swear that I have not seen Osborne Herndon for the past six months nor did I know that he was a candidate and yet I want to shake his hand for giving some of the best and most advanced ideas for the city council that I have seen in many a day. And then, these ideas are exactly what I would like to see worked out in our city. Listen to some of them:

I am in favor of a Great White Way for Sanford, thus magnifying the city's beauties and general attractiveness.

I believe that the old railroad dock, which is not only dangerous for boats traversing the placid waters of the St. Johns but is an eyesore and disgusting to look upon, should be removed and the railroad company compelled to pay for its removal. By so doing it would improve the lake front and encourage tourists to locate here when they could be assured that their yachts would not go to ruin among a lot of useless old pilings.

I believe that the parks should be equipped with devices that would encourage its use for children's playgrounds and general headquarters.

I believe that the police should have a thorough knowledge of the city's streets, important places, arrival of trains, etc., so as to give the stranger or the townspeople information, which would treble the merits of the city.

I believe the city council should create a new committee with a purpose of using every effort to encourage the use of Sanford as a convention center which would give the town advertising that money could not buy.

I believe that certain sections of the city (those neglected) should receive proper attention and the concentration of improvements on a few places be discontinued.

I believe that a rest room should be provided in the business section for the benefit of lady shoppers, strangers, country folks, etc., and maintained by popular subscription or otherwise.

Last week was a big week in Sanford so I am told by those who know and while I have never been wild about the carnival idea I still think that you must have the crowd in your town during the season to show them what you have. The idea of having the candidates here for a day was good, bringing as it did many people from different parts of the state and while the fish fry developed into a grand grabfest every one seemed to enjoy it and there was much fun over the fish and the candidates. I can well remember the day some twenty years ago when Sanford was the convention city of the state and none of them had any larger crowds or greater people visiting the city.

General Grant when he was president was here and President Cleveland and other notables, and the rest of the state conceded that Sanford was the gate city of Florida and it went by that name. We could just as well be the Gate City now and make this the center of everything and let the rest of the state revolve around us as it formerly did. We need that old spirit of getting up and doing things and all of us need more ginger in our makeup.

There has been some suggestions about naming the different city parks and while we are on that subject I as an old timer would like to suggest the name of General Sanford for one of the parks. General Sanford is the father of this city and donated all the parks that we now possess and this city could do no less to honor his memory than by naming one of the parks after General Sanford.

selfishness of individuals and the cowardice of their authorities. The fact remains that public sentiment in Jacksonville was not aroused against either and the fly was granted the freedom of the city, to multiply and claim new victims from the human population.

This matter of the responsibility of municipal and state authority with respect to public health is but little realized or appreciated in Florida. Already a number of strong laws for the sanitary protection of the people are enrolled on the statute books of the state and of some cities. They are as important as those enactments that punish murderers, for they are intended to conserve human life. The public official who failed of his most strenuous effort to apprehend and punish the murderer would be censured, perhaps be removed from his place, but no one blames him when he neglects the enforcement of those laws that protect the private citizen from typhoid or other highly fatal diseases.

From this season of the year the fly begins to breed with increasing rapidity. As a result disease also begins its annual increase. Your city council can stop it.

What are YOU going to do about it?

Cost of Silo Vary With Material

There are so many silos on the market that the beginner hardly knows which one to select. C. L. Willoughby, professor of animal husbandry and dairying in the University of Florida, College of Agriculture, says that each has its merits. Economy is the principal object. The concrete silo is probably the most economical in the long run. The first cost is greater than for some of the other types but one will last a lifetime. They cost from $3.50 to $4 a ton for the 100 ton size. The price varies with the cost of labor and the distance from rock and sand suitable to use in the concrete.

Several varieties of wood silos are now in use. They cost less than concrete and can be built for about $2 to $2.50 a ton capacity. Some of the patent wood silos are easier to put up than the ordinary stave silo, but they are probably no better. A wood silo, if painted every year and the staves crooked before the silo is built will last from ten to fifteen years in this climate. Without proper care they will not last more than five years. One type is made of three quarter inch material. The expense of building this is low and those who wish to try the silo and do not want to spend much at first will find it useful. They are too light, however, to stand much pressure and are short lived.

A few iron and steel silos are on the market now, but most of them cost about $5 a ton capacity. They are, however, easy to put up, and if painted ought to be enduring. The man who wants a small silo would find one of these desirable. Concrete blocks and hollow tile make good silos which are durable and keep the silage well. The cost more than the other types but have an attractive appearance and are worth the price for those who want to pay for the artistic effect.

Those who wish information on silo building should address P. H. Rolfs, director of the Extension Division of the University of Florida.

SANFORD LEADS PROCESSION

C. E. Movement in Presbyterian Church is Great

We are all familiar with the fact that Sanford leads the procession in celery growing and has all the others beat on natural conditions for trucking, but that is not all of our leadership by a long way.

We are strong in religious and moral activities. The Presbyterian church is showing the south how to handle its young people's problems, until it is no longer a problem but one of the liveliest things in the community. Now this is not merely a piece of our "Lucky Sanford Boosting." We are basing this statement upon the statement of the vice chairman of the executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Movement in the south, who, in possession of the facts, of the Christian Endeavor work in our local Presbyterian church declared that he knew no parallel to the work for young people that was being done in the Sanford Presbyterian church. It is no small thing to lead a great denomination of over 3000 churches manned by a trained leadership. The attainment of the local church should be a matter of civic pride. It more prominently puts Sanford on the map.

Fido's Future.
"What if Fido would go mad!" exclaimed the woman who wastes affection. "Don't worry," answered her husband. "That dog hasn't enough sense to be sure enough mad. The most he'll ever do is to go peevish."

TYPHOID AND THE FLY

(State Board of Health)

The poor we have with us always also the typhoid fever!

Organized society and individual effort are devoted to relieve the recipients of poverty. Outside of health boards and authorities no attention is given to the prevention of typhoid, until it becomes practically epidemic, and then it becomes a question of how quickly and how widely society can separate itself from infection.

Typhoid fever, can be prevented—that has been proved. It can be wiped out, and one medical authority has predicted that by 1930 it will be a rare disease. This enthusiast, however, has been dreaming that by that far away year, society, meaning the men, women and authorities of the state or nation will have become aroused to the fact that the disease can be prevented, to the enormous, economic waste it entails and to the moral offense of permitting it to ravage the community.

There are two ways at least of avoiding the disease. Vaccination with the anti-typhoid serum has wiped it out in the United States army and navy and its efficiency has been established in thousands of individual cases.

The second way, which is of prime importance is by preventing its occurrence. Typhoid is spread by the transference of the disease germs. These are carried by flies from excreta of the patient to the food that is eaten uncooked, or to the food already cooked, and the disease is started anew. The fly is a filthy thing. It feasts on what would turn a buzzard to other pastures, and so it becomes a duty to stop the breeding of the fly to the largest possible extent; to keep it absolutely isolated from infection and from food. Both are necessary as precautions and as preventatives.

There is a law on Florida's statute books, which requires the screening of the earth closets of all public schools. This law, enforced, would accomplish much, especially in rural communities. Another statute provides that all earth closets within incorporated cities and towns be similarly screened and made to comply with certain sanitary standards required by the state Board of Health.

There is a law, also a state enactment, which requires the screening with wire netting cloth netting won't answer the requirements of the law) of all food, fruit and vegetables offered or exposed for sale in any public place in the state.

These laws pre-suppose the existence of flies and they make no provision for their extinction or to prevent their unrestricted breeding. But one or two Florida cities have enactments which attack the insect in its breeding places, these laws and the effectiveness of the same has been proven.

It is too much to anticipate, but entire eradication of the fly committee may be lessened in overmanure heaps of the stable are prolific in the production of the fly. In comparison the open garbage can is innocence itself. Municipal authority has the power to require that all stable owners, livery or private—any place where horses, mules or cattle are kept—shall keep stable refuse, manure, under flyproof cover, and that in removing it the same precautions shall be observed. This prevents the escape of the fly from his breeding place and vastly lessens the menace. That it is a practical and effective precaution has been proved by experience, in those places where municipal authorities have been brave enough to defy opposition.

An attempt was made in Jacksonville a year or more ago to protect the residents of Florida's largest city from its stables. To install and enforce the operation of the necessary devices, would cost money—real money. Strong opposition was developed among those whose money would have to be spent, and the proposed law died "abornin'." Possibly other Florida cities have had similar experiences with the

To the Democratic Voters of the Fourth Congressional District

Much space has been filled by candidates heretofore, and the matter therein christened a "Platform." I, however, prefer to assume that the people of the Fourth District know that I advocate and will seek to advance all the common planks that look to the general betterment of the common and better known needs of our Florida people, so I shall content myself with bringing into prominence in this article a few of the more vital things I believe would be beneficial, and can be secured for the district and state, and be of advantage to the people of the entire country.

Parcel Post Extension

Cumulative evidence in the shape of heavily increasing usage has shown that the parcel post is one of the most valuable and convenient methods of distributing products whether of the farm, factory, or the shelves of the merchants. The parcel post has not yet attained to that which it was intended—a distributor, over local territory, of small articles of merchandise and farm products at a cost just sufficient to meet the expense of carriage and handling.

Entire State the First Zone

What I believe we should have, and will urge the necessary amendments for, is an extension of the First Zone to include the entire state. That is, a parcel being mailed at any postoffice in any state—up to a certain weight limit—should be delivered anywhere within the confines of that state for one flat fixed rate charged per pound. This arrangement would give every merchant and farmer in every state an equal opportunity for business with every merchant and every farmer in every other state. How this change will operate for the benefit of Florida, for instance, will be readily seen when it is pointed out that, under the present Zone arrangement it costs as much to send a package from Jacksonville to Pensacola, Jacksonville to Key West, or from either of these places to Jacksonville, as it does to send the same package to points in southern Ohio, Indiana and as far west as Memphis. The present First Zone limit is fixed at fifty miles; and within that radius ten pounds can be sent for fourteen cents. Beyond that limit the rate increases so rapidly that by the time Tallahassee or Tampa has been reached, from Jacksonville, or Jacksonville from them, the cost has increased to twenty-four cents. While to reach Pensacola or Key West from Jacksonville or Jacksonville from them, the cost on the same package is forty-three cents. A pound package comes from Chicago to central Florida for eight cents, while it costs seven cents to send that same package from Key West or Pensacola to Jacksonville. I believe we should be able to send a package by parcel post anywhere in the state for one price; and if we had this right, every farm house would be a mail order house, on an equal footing with the mail order houses in every state, while the merchants of every city and town would be placed on an equality for business with the merchants of every other city and town.

Wet Lands as Valuable as Arid Lands

Having within the limits of our state and also in many other states, large areas of submerged or overflowed lands, I believe that the Federal Government should, and can, lend aid in the drainage of these lands where it becomes necessary. The Federal Government has shown recognition of its duty along this line in its large and valuable development of arid land projects in the west, and I would urge the adoption by Congress of a bill suitable to the needs of our undrained and submerged lands, wherein we should share in this governmental assistance.

Aid for Agricultural Advancement

Owing to the immense value of our farm lands and their possibilities I shall advocate and urge greater Federal assistance and encouragement in agricultural training and development through experiment stations and farms, girls' canning clubs, and the various clubs organized by the boys of the state for their agricultural education and betterment.

Naval Base at Key West

Realizing that an adequately and properly fortified naval base at Key West would command the entrance to the Gulf of Mexico, afford protection to the Panama Canal, and in case of foreign trouble be a safeguard to the long line of sea coast through which Florida is exposed, I believe that this naval base should be established by the Federal Government and I will urge that it be done.

Aid for Eradication

The great natural industries of every state are necessary to the welfare and interests of every person in every state, therefore I believe that the Federal Government should lend material aid when danger confronts these industries; I therefore approve and will urge for Federal aid for the control and eradication of any disease or pest injuring any animal, farm, garden, grove, forest, or fishery industry of the state.

Preparedness

Events developing within the last few years have pointed out to us our need for preparation in case of war or threatened serious trouble with any foreign nation; I believe in and shall advocate military and naval preparedness of such scope that these United States shall at all times be able and ready to defend their honor, protect the lives and property of their citizens, and give adequate protection to their mercantile interests on the high seas.

Federal Aid for Good Roads

Resting in the belief that Good Roads are an important adjunct in the general plan of military preparedness, and necessary for the extension of our Rural Mail Routes and the transportation of mails over them, I believe in and will advocate Federal aid for good road building.

Inland Waterways

I shall also urge and advocate prompt action by the Federal Government the development and extension of Inland Waterways, believing them to be an incalculable asset in the scheme of national preparedness, and necessary for the building up and the extension of commerce between our Coast and Inland cities.

Promising if elected, fidelity, loyalty, earnest work for my constituents, with careful consideration of, and an intelligent vote on, all matters that may arise, I ask your support.

Sincerely yours,
(Advt) (Signed) FORREST LAKE.

CHIEFS OF AMERICAN LEAGUE WILL STICK

American League Managers.

Indications now are that none of the American league clubs will change managers during the coming winter, and that when the call for spring training is made next spring the men at the helm of the clubs in the Johnson circuit last season will issue the notification to the players to assemble on the southern training fields.

So far as Boston is concerned, there is not the slightest danger that Bill Carrigan will be dropped.

Hughie Jennings is a positive fixture with the Detroit Tigers. Having a considerable financial interest in the club, and having produced a pennant contender, his chances for getting out are extremely remote.

Chicago will keep Clarence Rowland. The team got off to a good start, but found the going rather tough. Comiskey, however, is said to have already signed Rowland to a 1916 contract.

Clark Griffith will remain in Washington.

Wild Bill Donovan is to remain at the head of the New York Yankees. His employers, Colonel Ruppert and Captain Huston, have stated they are well satisfied with his work with the mediocre players he inherited and have confidence in Wild Bill to build up a fighting machine.

Branch Rickey is to continue as manager of the St. Louis Browns for at least another year. Col. Bob Hedges is reported to have made that statement to St. Louis newspaper men, and he is the man to decide.

Lee Fohl was signed to a 1916 contract to manage the Cleveland Indians a few days ago, and has a cinch on the job.

This leaves only Connie Mack to be figured on, and no one has even suggested that the grand old man of Quakertown baseball would be let out.

trian this time, made his appearance in the translation of a Viennese bulletin, published in a number of Swiss-French papers. This was "General K-u-k," who was named as commanding the right wing of the army operating against the Montenegrins. In some of the Parisian journals military critics gravely discussed General K-u-k and the composition of his forces. Somewhat later a note appeared in the Swiss papers acknowledging that an error had been made at Geneva in transmission and that the initials K-u-k, of three words, had been mistaken for the name of a general, the abbreviation being intended for the German terms, "Kaiserlich und koeniglich" (imperial and royal).

Problem of Pumpnickel.

Is pumpnickel bread or cake? This question is agitating legal and commercial circles in Frankfort-of-the-Main. If this delicacy is a bread, its sale is limited under the card system, whereas if it is cake it may be sold ad lib.

The police of Frankfort had been trying to stop the sale of pumpnickel without the necessary "bread card," but when a case was taken to court the decision was to the effect that it was a delicacy and could be sold accordingly. But this didn't settle the matter, as the authorities appealed the case and declared they would keep on arresting violators of the card rule.

The Frankforter Zeitung of November 30 says an exception is made in the case of pumpnickel made from flour sold at the government distribution stations especially for that purpose.

Serbian Gnarled Bark Off Trees. The English Red Cross unit attached to the Serbian army had to abandon $5,000 worth of tents, several motor cars and valuable sets of operating instruments, besides leaving the wounded behind in the hands of the advancing Bulgarians.

ROMANTIC STORY OF WHEAT

World Being Fed on Grain Grown on Land That Was Comparatively Recently a Waste.

A direct result of the present war, more pleasant to contemplate than the stories of carnage, is the stimulus it has given to the chief industry of the huge central basin of North America. Winnipeg is the geographical center of the continent, and from it in every direction in Canada and far down into the United States spread the rolling miles of what is undoubtedly the greatest wheat region in the world.

The figures presented by the American and Canadian governments for the year just closed tell a romantic story. In the area of the Canadian Northwest and of the American border states 600,000,000 bushels of the highest grade wheat known to the markets was grown, and yet within the memory of men not yet old every acre of it was given over to the Indian and the buffalo.

Long after our Civil war a British traveler wrote an exceedingly interesting book called "The Great Lone Land," describing his struggles with blizzards and starvation in what is now the wheat empire. He did not think much of it as a country for settlers; but time has quickly shown how much he was mistaken, just as it showed in a few years de Tocqueville's great error when he predicted that our western advance would break against the Rocky mountains, or Macaulay's miscalculation when he asserted that we would cease to grow much as soon as all our good free land was taken up.

There are many impressive chapters in the story of the continent, but there is none more picturesque than the one which is being made in our day by a grain of wheat.

French Press Troubles. The English and the German languages alike give the French newspapers quite as much trouble as papers on this side the water find in French and German names. Recently a Parisian paper revealed at some length the wonderful activity of "General Headquarters," a British commander in Mesopotamia! Some days before, another general, unknown, an Aus-

Children Interest King.

The king of Spain has become interested in juvenile courts and has instructed the minister of justice to 'crawl up and submit to parliament a bill creating children's courts in various parts of Spain. The plan is to have a presiding judge, who will have jurisdiction over children under fifteen years old. It will have authority in cases of vagrancy and delinquency, and where the parents are shown to be irresponsible they may be deprived of their guardianship.

The courts, according to the king's intention, will be modeled on similar institutions in England. During his visits to London, and before the war Alfonso and his queen went to London at least once a year, the king frequently visited the various courts and took an especial interest in the juvenile one.

Brown Is Elected President.

Didn't Have to Pawn Her Ring.

A woman called at the loan agency of the board of public welfare and offered a cheap ring as collateral for a small loan.

"I pawned my ring here last summer. I wonder whether you still have it?" she asked the clerk.

"How much was lent on it?" the clerk asked.

"One hundred dollars. I simply couldn't get the money together to redeem it."

"We sold your ring at auction the other day for $125. You have $25 coming."

Ralph Jerry, attorney for the agency, paid the woman the balance due her. She didn't pawn the cheap ring, and went away surprised and happy.

About two hundred other patrons of the agency have balances due them, ranging in size from five cents to $150. The last auction was held last Monday and Tuesday. All unredeemed pledges were sold, and in cases where the sale brought less than the amount loaned, the agency stands the loss.—Kansas City Star.

British Savings Are Large.

In a written answer to a parliamentary question, Pike Pease says that the amount of deposits in the post office savings banks in England and Wales, according to the last return, dated December 31, 1914, was $84,773,000. The total for the whole of the United Kingdom was $952,666,000.

It is estimated that the total at the present time is about ten million less than this figure.

Deposits have exceeded withdrawals during many months of the current year, but some twenty million have been diverted to the war loan.

There are nothing but elections now and today we have the city election for an alderman to fill the term of R. C. Maxwell, resigned.

It gives The Herald pleasure to announce that the dredging operations will be resumed at an early date. The burning of the dredge boat was a sad blow to the Seminole Dredging Co., but they will have a new dredge here this week and the great work of filling in the bulkhead will go forward and be completed on record time.

The local candidates did not get an opportunity to speak last Friday, being hospitable and giving way to the distinguished visitors. Would it not be a good idea to have the local candidates speak in Sanford every Saturday night on the street. This would enliven the campaign and give the candidates the benefit of a large crowd each week.

Senator Bryan and Governor Trammell are holding joint debates and accusing each other of all sorts of things. Some way they imagine they are the only two candidates out for this important office and no one else is running. It is now proposed to get up a debate between Gov. Gilchrist and Perry G. Wall with Bob Holly as referee. Debates are all right but candidates should not call each other names. Stuart Times.

Now that the lag week is over it would be a good thing to take stock and see if these gatherings in Sanford once each year would pay. The Herald is very much in favor of attracting people here all the time and other cities are heartily in favor of a big gathering at least once in the year, bringing the people together and promoting better trade relations in every way. If you do nothing to attract the people to Sanford it is certain that they will not come here.

Tom Taggart, the great French lick gambler and notorious high roller has been elected as a Democratic United States Senator from Indiana. Hoosier Democracy must be at a very low ebb. Arcadia Enterprise.

Down down on the soft pedal, Bro., when it comes to making remarks about Democrats as a whole. Taggart was not elected but appointed by the governor of Indiana to fill the unexpired term of Senator Shively, who died in office. If we are wrong tell us about it.

If the fish hatchery bill introduced by Senator Fletcher becomes a law, there will be a merry race among lake side cities for the location of the hatchery. The lake-girt section here in Lake county would consider it a clever move on the part of the Florida representatives at Washington if they should secure it for some point here among the lakes. Leesburg Commercial.

Quite so, and the Lake Monroe and Sanford section silken gartered by the ribbons of inland rivers, creeks and lakes will also be in the running. There is no place in Florida that can offer so much fish for a fish hatchery as Lake Monroe.

SERIOUS
An interesting three cornered race for congress in the Fourth district is launched by the entry of Forrest Lake of Sanford. Lake had the reputation of being the most solemn man in the Florida legislature, and it is the serious chaps who carry away the honors. So it's up Sears and Dr. Fogarty to "look a leedle oudt."—Lakeland Telegram.
Say, that is serious. We are rather open faced and pleasant faced ourselves and have never been exactly solemn.

SUBSCRIPTION FAKES
Every time there is a big gathering of people in Sanford the streets are filled with sheet writers as they are called who write up subscriptions to various magazines and papers and give glasses or pocketbooks or other prizes. Now there would be no objection to these gentry getting subscriptions if they really meant to send the magazines but nine times out of ten they do not send the subscription in to the house and some one gets stung. Last week during the Spring Fair and Celery Festival there were about a dozen of these people taking subscriptions and the mayor and police were kept busy watching them. There is no law that prohibits taking orders on the streets but whenever these men attempted to give away prizes first they were promptly warned by the police to vacate. There was a great howl went up from all of them about the town and the people in it, but if those subscriptions are not forthcoming there will be a greater howl and the magazines that allow these men to take subscriptions will be the losers. Several here took subscriptions for a Florida magazine last week and we expect this magazine to make good on every subscription that was taken by these travelling agents. The Florida Grower has already been stung by this practice and no good can come of it. The Grower of last week has the following to say of the sheet writers:

"We are not entirely innocent ourselves. Three years ago we allowed a gang of professional solicitors to handle the Grower, but we got next to ourselves in three weeks time. Never again for us. From our experience we believe that if the pen game went wrong that they would have no hesitation in donning a mask and taking to the highway as hold-up men. Circulation gained in such manner is no good to the publisher nor to the advertiser. We advise the Home-seeker and Packer to use other means."

EDITORS FOR OFFICE
It is very unusual for a newspaper editor to become a candidate for a public office. Of some two hundred of them in Florida, in days gone by not five per cent of them have been candidates for elective offices.

Now, however, an unusual number of them are candidates for nomination in the June primaries. The Herald is especially pleased to note that most of them are candidates for the legislature and we sincerely hope that all of them will be nominated and elected, for they are needed in the legislature not only for promoting legislation for the general good of Florida, but for the relieving the press of the unreasonable restrictions and burdens imposed upon it by legislatures of the past.

Amongst those who are candidates for the legislature are the following:
R. W. Storrs, editor of the Breeze, DeFuniak Springs, candidate for senator from Walton county, an excellent man, friend of the farmers, belonging to the radical wing of the Democratic party, but a man whom both of the wings and the people in general can safely trust.

Wm. H. Maypoles, editor of the Laurel Hill News, candidate for the legislature from Okaloosa county, who has served two terms in the legislature and is noted as a fighter for the right.
Rube Allyn, editor of the Sarasota Sun, candidate for representative from Manatee county—an original genius, but fully competent and worthy of the honor.

Robert J. Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald, candidate for representative from Seminole county, a "safe and sane" man who can be depended upon to work for the best interests of Florida and of the state press.

Wm. A. Russell, editor of the Palatka News, and H. S. McKenzie, editor of the Palatka Times-Herald, both of whom are candidates for representative from Putnam county, both experienced in legislation and both capable of rendering excellent service for the state and the press. As Putnam is entitled to two representatives both should be chosen.

Other editors aspiring to office are Senator L. W. Zim, editor of the St. Augustine Meteor, who wishes to be chosen as superintendent of public instruction of St. Johns county, and C. C. Woodward of the Plant City Courier, who aspires to the tax assessorship of Hillsborough county, both loyal Democrats and thoroughly worthy of the recognition which they seek.

W. L. Straub, editor of the St. Petersburg Times, candidate for the postmastership of his city, a man well qualified and highly deserving.

The Herald is emphatically in favor of giving each one of these editors the office to which he aspires, as it is convinced that each and every one of them is worthy, competent, honest and patriotic. They have spent years in serving the people and the Democratic party and in boosting the state, and now they should receive a more substantial recognition than self-consciousness of duty performed and laudatory resolutions of boards of trade and complimentary remarks of appreciative subscribers.—Punta Gorda Herald.

SYMPATHY, THE SUBSIDIZER
No one as fully appreciates the meaning of the expression, "Between the devil and the deep blue sea," as the newspaper editor. He occupies that unenviable position about 365 days in each year, and therefore can speak from experience. He gets stinging criticisms if he does or does not publish news that is news and little lasting appreciation regardless of his attitude on any subject. In fact, his life is "just one blank thing after another."

Because they have withheld news items of more or less importance, many newspaper editors have for years writhed under the charge of being subsidized. They have gotten credit for securing money by suppressing items or failing to champion certain causes, when the fact is that a newspaper editor or reporter who will accept a questionable dollar is scorned by other members of the profession. In fact, a vast majority of newspaper workers never think of accepting tainted money on any account, and it is unfortunate that members of some other professions do not cling to the same standard of honor as tenaciously.

The one great bugaboo of the newspaperman, though in sympathy for those who have erred, added to which is the habit of championing the causes of men wholly because of personal friendship. They experience difficulty in saying "no" to man or woman who pleads to have an injurious story of their wrongdoing suppressed, or to the alleged "personal friend" who has an axe to grind. Most of them get away from this weakness, as the years pass, however, and no man is worthy of being an editor until he does get away from it.

Those who repeatedly commit willful offenses against the public are always the most fearful when pleading against being exposed. If their personal efforts are not successful, they send their friends and wives to the editor with further pleas in their behalf. If the editor is weak enough to grant these requests, he hears, "You don't know how much we appreciate this kindness," and at the next opportunity the culprit is liable to stab him in the back. At the same time he is being condemned by those who know the details of the story and believe it should have been published.

On the other hand, really big men stand up and receive merciless poundings in the press and suffer in silence in preference to squealing for mercy. That's generally the case in everyday life, though, for the man or woman of heroic mould suffers in silence for adhering to duty, while the tear beamed hypocrite commits offence and "gets away with it."

With the newspaperman human sympathy is the greatest of all subsidizers, and in four cases out of five his sympathy is misplaced.

The Jordan of Newspaperdom is indeed a "hard road to travel." Under the caption, "Have Pity, Pity," the Palm Beach Post has this to say on the subject:

How often the "man in the office" of a newspaper hears this wail. It is compassion here and sympathy there till, were all the alarm headed the columns would be merely as blank paper.

News is not inserted in a paper merely to vent a spite which may have previously existed although frequently such accusation is made. No paper would willingly inflict pain upon a citizen—or cause any stigma to be attached. But it must publish matters as they occur or give up the business.

The cry is frequently made when all reference regarding some escapade or some minor offense is urged to be "suppressed." Consider the family! The time, however, to consider the family is before the incident occurred. After the happening it is useless to consider the family or anything else save the requirement of publishing the news.

The newspaper is not to blame for conditions which have been caused by the omissions or commissions of others. It may be blamed for making those conditions public—but if they be of public interest it is the duty of every paper to place the matters precisely as they are before the people. In this way there is no distortion of facts; no misunderstanding of conditions; no loophole left for the formation of incorrect opinions.

It is better by far to have the newspaper publish a correct version of any affair than to have the public accept a garbled account which becomes the more unreliable at every recital. A paper endeavors to give the "plain, unvarnished tale" on all matters; but if it, as is sometimes the case, is refused the authentic details it must publish the best account possible. Such accounts reflect often times much more against the principal in the case than would the full facts published without comment or bias.

Where all mention of matters pertinent to the public is omitted from the press there is ever a murmur of a subsidized press, and the belief promptly obtains credence that through either fear or favor silence, painful and purchased silence, is at the bat; and the last condition of the perpetrator of the offense is far worse than the first. But it should be borne in mind that no paper publishes matter merely for the delight of offending any one. At the same time the "consideration of the family which will feel disgraced if the matter is in the paper" should be thought of before the act is committed.—Tampa Times.

FOUR YEAR TERM
Representative Frank Clark has a bill before congress to increase the term of the congressman to four years. It is surprising that such a measure was not enacted long ago. It is certain that most congressmen are in favor of such a change, and if the people look at it sanely they will also approve it. While it may be argued that a two year term in office is too much for some men, we must all agree that a congressman hardly has time to take a good look around him during that period, and there is next to nothing that he can accomplish for his constituency aside from the petty fetching and carrying which might be done by any clerk in this district we have a case in point. Congressman Sears took his seat in December. Before he gets it warm he has two opponents in the field against him. If he remains in Washington his candidatorial interests will undoubtedly suffer, and if he comes to Florida to make a campaign he will be charged with neglecting his duties. A new man in need of gaining all the experience possible during his first months in congress, this does not apply to older members. The latter know the ropes and are acquainted with men and measures and can keep track of events in a much more intelligent manner without following proceedings so closely. New members need to learn all the can during the first year, and after that they can better themselves in accomplishing something worth while. No man no matter how brilliant or able can do much in two years, and it is likely that Congressman Clark's bill will be passed. Reporter Star.

Congressman Sears
Congressman W. J. Sears is announcing through the press of the district his intention of being a candidate for the nomination to congress to succeed himself, at the Democratic primary to be held in June.

The congressman is just beginning his first term, having been elected in November, 1914. As has been pointed out, just after Mr. Sears was sworn in, congress adjourned until the regular session which began early in last December. He has served in congress a matter of three months.

During the short period that he has represented this district in congress he has obtained a fair amount of recognition for one so new in the body. He has presided over the house in the absence of the speaker, and has had opportunity to address the house on several occasions. He has appeared before committees on behalf of projects for the benefit of his constituents, notably on behalf of Miami's deep water program, and has been energetic in attending to those duties which a large constituency always call on their congressmen to perform.

It is the right of any citizen of the district, qualified as a voter, to be a candidate for the nomination to congress and hence there is not the slightest criticism of those gentlemen who have announced that they would be candidates for the seat now occupied by Mr. Sears, but the Herald submits that in all justice there is no need now to make a change in officials, but that in fairness and for the purpose of securing recognition for the district the present congressman should be continued in office until he is able to accomplish things for his district and his state. If there was reason for electing Mr. Sears last year, and the voter seemed quite enthusiastic in his support, there are more reasons, now, and nothing in the conduct of Mr. Sears while in congress, or elsewhere has led to the belief or could give countenance to the charge that he has proved unfit to represent the people of this district. It has been the custom of Florida generally speaking, to return congressmen for a second term and if The Herald knows the sentiment and spirit of the people of this district, they will not refuse to do so now, even if other very excellent gentlemen have evinced a desire to serve a term in congress.—Miami Herald.

LONGWOOD PICKUPS
Mrs. S. V. Lewis returned last Sunday, after a pleasant visit with friends at Enterprise.
Miss Marian Smith, Miss Carrie Hooks and Miss Mary D. Rowan of Orlando were guests of Miss Olive Dinkel for the week end.

Miss Maude Entzinger had as her guest for the week end Miss Etta West, Miss Gladys Morris, Miss Susie Brown and Miss Elizabeth Stafford of Sanford.
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dinkel, Mrs. Ledstone, Messrs. Hornbecker and Corn motored to Orlando Monday.
The ladies of the Civic League gave an ice cream social Wednesday, March 22nd at the Library.
Mr. Edwin Dinkel and Roy Jewell motored over to Clermont Sunday, March 19th. "The Little Ford Ranbled right along."
The many friends of Miss Etha Hartley are glad to see her back in the postoffice again.

Mrs. P. S. Morton is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rand.
Mr. Charles Corn left March 25th for his home in Franklin, Tenn.
Mrs. J. N. Searey spent Wednesday in Orlando.
Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Walker of Sanford were calling in town where they have many friends.

"Dime Rumor" reports that work will soon be commenced at Hoosier Springs to convert it into an attractive public resort, but to the people of Longwood and vicinity it will never be the same "dear old swimming hole" where we have whiled away many happy hours and enjoyed the wonders and beauties of Nature and the seclusion that a public resort can never give.

Notice
Sam A. McCook, Florida's blind orator and educator is coming to Sanford and will deliver an address on Christian Citizenship in the M. E. church South Thursday, 7:30 p. m., March 30th. Subject, "Safety of the Young Man, or the Evil Spirit of the Times."

He will deal with man as a triune being, made in the image of God, captured by the evil tendency of our times, with special reference to sports, double standard of society, commercial marriage and divorce, prostitution, white slavery and the legalized liquor traffic.

The Gainesville Sun, the Bradford County Times and Apalachicola News have the following to say of this address.

Sam A. McCook, the blind orator spoke in the M. E. church, South, Sunday night on the "Safety of the Young Man." Many who heard him declared it was the greatest address ever delivered on that subject in the University City. Bradford County Times: The blind orator, Sam A. McCook, by special invitation returned to Lake Butler and spoke to a packed house. All were delighted.

Sam A. McCook, the blind orator spoke in M. E. church, South, of Apalachicola Sunday a. m. and p. m. to splendid audiences. His eloquence was sublime.

THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT AND THE BOOK COMPANIES

The Reporter-Star, a paper edited in Orlando by J. H. Reese, has published an editorial, dated March 11, 1916, in support of the candidacy of State Superintendent Sheats for re-election...

This editor affirms in the remainder of his article that W. N. Sheats is the man that will safeguard the educational interests of the state from the "text-book monster"...

The Hon. W. N. Sheats has been a cunning opponent of the Uniform Text-Book Law. Please read what he has to say in his biennial report, June 30, 1900, page 45...

I assumed the duties of County Superintendent of Alachua County in January, 1905; was a member of the Superintendents' Convention in Tallahassee, April 1905...

Dr. John A. Thaxton, Gainesville, Florida. Dear Dr. Thaxton: I have just returned from a somewhat hurried trip to a few points in Florida...

William Sheats, Jr., has for years been the agent for the Wheeler Company and the Rand-McNally Company. It is alleged that he has had free access to his father's office...

Personally came before me F. W. Buchholz, who, being by me, first duly sworn, deposes and says: That during the month of February, A. D. 1916, he had a conversation with F. O. Spain...

I am making a candidacy in harmony with the dignity of the office to which I aspire, and I regret very much that Mr. Sheats and his supporters have made it necessary for me to write this communication...

Florida Epworth League

State League Conference to be held at Sutherland, May 29-June 1 promises to be the best in our history, which proves that Florida Leaguedom is advancing: "All for Christ," our motto is, we "Look Up, Lift Up," too. We'll bear our banners in the strife and valiant be and true; We'll make this old world better" and our strength we will renew As we go marching on!

Sanford Seniors and Juniors are busy—These are in Miami district, which for convenience is divided into three divisions, under Mrs. Hilda Smith, Key West; Miss Kate Wilcox, W. Palm Beach and Miss Ira Skipper of New Smyrna.

Quincy Seniors held their last business social at the home of Miss Margaret Woodberry. All obligations were met, including $16.00 African special, and $1.00 on Southern College share. They sent the Handbook and Epworth Era to Seniors at Enterprise, to be followed by a large donation to the Orphanage. They are divided into white and gold, each side to be awarded according to their efficiency in League work. Leaguers Malcolm Lester and Raymond Parrs are captains.

Umatilla Seniors have a mission study class, have paid all assessments and have elected two delegates to their Institute to be held at Kissimmee, the home of their secretary, Miss Cecelia Overstreet, in April. Membership is sixty.

Our president, Garfield Evans, writes, "The work of the state officers this year is one of pleasure, made possible by the cheerful cooperation and even sacrifice on the part of many. Our consecrated district secretaries are keeping their work before the Throne and things cannot fail to happen." Cooperation is strictly essential in all organizations.

Mrs. LaVorgne Blue, (formerly Miss Verdie Haddock) our superintendent of "Culture and Recreation" visited Gainesville League recently. She is a well posted Epworth Leaguer.

With the assistance of the pastor, Rev. J. E. Hartsfield, we organized a junior League at Reddick Mar. 19. Mary Belle Wilson, president; Anna Bessie Hammon, secretary and Mrs. Clay, superintendent. They complete organization this week. Reddick Seniors are at work under Mrs. S. C. Mayo. They meet on Sunday at 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. F. S. Parker, General League Sec'y and editor of the Epworth Era is expected to be present from Nashville during the entire Conference at Sutherland. Dr. Parker on his League visit to Florida in 1914 endeared himself to the young people who will be delighted to know of his return.

Our third department officer will occupy League space in the Florida Christian Advocate next week under her department of "Culture and Recreation". She insists that our entertainments be so distinctive, instructive and elevating in their nature as to cause young people to lose taste for the coarse, frivolous and light amusements offered by the public. She stresses the importance of finding League talent, and developing it "All for Christ." She advocates hospitality, Christian fellowship and the welcoming of visitors and strangers in our Leagues. Good literature is one of the strongest features of this department, circulate the best of books and get them read, for, if they be good and true, they are the message of Christ, the maker of all things, the teacher of all truth.

Miss Anna Dickinson has been appointed Jacksonville district secretary to fill out the unexpired term of W. C. White. She has a new League at Grand Crossing, one at Marietta and expects to organize others soon. She is an exceedingly busy young person, being an enthusiastic worker in state, city and local Leagues.

Secretary E. A. Gallagher, Tampa district has been ill but is now convalescent, much to the delight of all Florida Leaguedom, since every moment of his time counts "All for Christ." He is also president Tampa City League, first department officer in his home League, League transportation officer and is connected with the Annual Conference League Board. Yet he never craves "too busy." He finds time while others are framing excuses.

Annual Conference last December reported 171 chapters and 5,464 League members, an increase at League Conference many new chapters have been formed, and old ones reorganized.

Mrs. W. C. Wicks has an excellent article for publication in her department of Junior work. She is also an active worker in Waldo League.

League Manuel H. Jones represented his department of social service in the League columns of last week's Christian Advocate. This is the most practical every day service within the reach of every Leaguer and if he be disposed he can "help somebody today" by preventing some evil, or helping some one else to overcome.

Maud B. Little, Department Editor. Ocala, March 21.

Great Runner Does Not Take Pessimistic View of Outlook.

Believes That Within Year or Two Another Crop of Fast Ones Will Come Along — Distancers Show Much Improvement.

George V. Bonhag, probably the greatest long-distance runner ever developed on the American cinder path, does not take a pessimistic view of the present condition of the distance game.

"I believe," he said, "that it is purely a question of cycles. Just at present there is a lull, where a few years ago we were turning out fast distancers by the dozen. Probably within a year or two another crop of fast ones will come along. One thing is certain, our distancers, as a class, have improved marvellously in the last decade.

"What we need now," continued Bonhag, "is a distance champion coming from the ranks. He will take to running fast and set a standard. The boys who will try to beat him will gradually work up to that standard, and when they have reached it the real champion will move along to a still faster level. I know it was that way when I was coming along at my best. The last year I was running fast there were a dozen men who could smother the performance I did when I first won the two-mile championship.

"Had Hannes Kolehmainen developed in this country, running against our distancers, the chances are that he would have carried half a dozen of our men along with him, and as a result we would have had just so many runners capable of running closer to him than we now have."

Bonhag saw Jole Hay, the sturdy Chicagoan, run for the first time at the New York Athletic club games and he was greatly struck with the national mile champion's ability. "If that boy ever learns to judge his pace properly 4 minutes and 10 seconds will be possible for him," was Bonhag's comment. Recently Ray ran his first 220 yards around 26 seconds, after which he slowed down, finishing with a terrific quarter sprint at the end.

BANKS THEIR VICTIMS

NEAT SWINDLE PRACTICED BY PAIR OF ROGUES.

Man With Certified Check, and Fat "Detective" Make a Handsome Sum Easily and Run Small Risk of Detection.

A tall, well-dressed young man strode vigorously into a large bank. He walked to one of the glass-covered desks, took from his pocket a piece of paper, scribbled something upon it and went to the paying teller's window.

"I would be obliged if you will give me that in new fifties," said the young man with a certain air of positiveness.

It was a certified check for $850. The paying teller examined it, recognized the signature of the bank and counted out 17 new $50 bills and slipped a little rubber band around them.

Just as the tall man started from the window with his money in his overcoat pocket a shorter, older and fatter man edged up alongside of him. "If you move a step or say a word I'll shoot you for the crook you are," said the stout one.

"At the same time he shoved a pistol against the side of the younger man and handed a card through the window to the paying teller. "Pinkerton" was there in big type and below a man's name as special detective.

"This fellow," said the man with the man with the gun, "is a counterfeiter wanted in Cincinnati. Now hand back that money," he said to the captured criminal. The little sheaf of new fifties was returned.

"If you will let me take that check I'll do the rest," added the detective, and the obliging teller returned it. There had been no noise, no excitement and no observers to this odd transaction. When the pair left the bank they didn't go to a police station, but to another bank not 200 feet away.

There they went through exactly the same performance—got 17 nice new $50 bills, handed the little bundle back and also got their alleged bogus check.

And from this second bank they went to six others in the space of less than an hour. Later in the day when counting up their cash eight bank tellers made a remarkable discovery.

Each one was shy, as the poker players say, exactly $150. What happened was this: While the stout confederate posing as a defective went through his role, the other slipped three of the $50 bills from the rubber-band sheaf and returned not 17, but 14.

Unless you stop to count them, 14 new bills feel and look as much like 17 as one guinea pig looks like another. It was done, so quickly the tellers didn't seem to think it necessary to count the returned cash.

As for the check for $850, it was really genuine and the swindlers got back that money before leaving town with their $1,200 in those nice new fifties.—Philadelphia Ledger.

LITTLE PICKUPS OF SPORT

Ed Geers has given marks to forty-eight 2-10 trotters, which is the record.

George F. Slosson has accepted a position as billiard instructor at the City club, Boston.

Walter Cox drove in 132 races over various courses in light harness circuits last season.

Rube Oldring, who announced his retirement last fall, has signed a 1916 contract with C. Mack.

The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association embraces in its membership thirty institutions.

"What is the lightweight limit?" a fan asked the St. Louis Post Dispatch "Freddy Welsh," was the answer.

Canadian sportsmen who enlisted in the war have been gazetted as the One Hundred and Eightieth battalion.

Dr. W. G. Kendall has been elected president of the Boston Bicycle club for the twenty-eighth consecutive year.

Connie Mack has eighteen pitchers, five catchers, ten infielders and six outfielders with which to construct a winning team this season.

Fred Toney, pitcher, says he will win twenty-five games next season. Evidently he does not expect to pitch for the Cincinnati Reds again.

Charley White, the Chicago light weight boxer, has registered sixteen knockouts in his last 33 contests, extending over a period of over two years.

"Sun Follower."

The old name of the sunflower was solisole, the sun follower. The ancient sunflower or sun follower, was the marigold, the tall plants of the present day are of American origin.

CITY ELECTION LAST TUESDAY QUIET AFFAIR

ELECTION FOR ALDERMAN PLACES NEWMAN IN OFFICE

The city election last Tuesday was nothing more than a preliminary skirmish for the big affairs to come but while it lasted it was some affair. The election was held to supply the position of alderman made vacant by the recent resignation of Alderman R. C. Maxwell and there were three candidates in the field, A. D. Parrish, R. A. Newman and O. P. Herndon. It was to be regretted that Mr. Herndon was forced to be away on election day as Mrs. Herndon was seriously ill at Daytona, necessitating the absence of Mr. Herndon all day, otherwise the election would have been as picturesque as one could wish for.

Newman and Parrish both worked at the polls the greater part of the day and the voters were waltzed around about as lively as they would be at a big election. There was much good humor and banter injected into the election and this kept it from being as quiet as it fore-shadowed.

The count did not take long after the polls closed, as there were but 283 votes cast and the result was as follows:

- R. A. Newman 144
- A. D. Parrish 107
- O. P. Herndon 32

On account of there being so many candidates out in the spring primary for county offices the majority of the voters were absolutely non-committal and the candidates in the city election had a difficult time getting a line on those who were candidates themselves.

Our Library

Among the notable and delightful additions to our city library, perhaps none have acquired greater fame and appreciation than Mary Antin's "Promised Land."

To those who have not yet read it there will be a revelation of the situation in Russia regarding the Jews that will be appealing, if not appalling.

What they have suffered in oppression and suppression can never, perhaps, be fully recorded. A brighter day may be dawning for this down-trodden race in the land of the Czars, but the light has been slowly, slowly coming, and the long reign of injustice, inhumanity and cruelty has been black with a darkness that "could be felt."

Mary Antin's family after a checkered career of comfort followed by dire misfortune finally emigrated to America, and under our own fair sky of freedom, equality and justice it became to them indeed "The Promised Land." Never will we have an alien transplanted to our country who has so revealed in its privileges as this gifted girl did—none ever more enthusiastic and grateful as this little Russian Jewess.

In the words of one who speaks with literary authority, "The Promised Land seems to me one of the most remarkable human documents of these later years. It might be called a great book, I think. Certainly it has so impressed thousands of readers in this city (New York). I think it most truthful and sincere and that it is written right from the heart. Whatever crudeness of style it may have vanishes in the light of these higher qualities."

For a Russian Jewess starting in the first primary grade, Mary Antin's command of English is wonderful. Her poetic temperament is betrayed in lovely flights of fancy, and it may not be too much to say that this book sparkles with fascinating gems of imagination and delicious suggestions of beautiful visions and happy dreams!

Well may America, the "home of the brave and the land of the free" welcome such ardent, appreciative, devoted citizens to her hospitable, kindly and beneficent bosom.

Bad Wreck in Ohio
Cleveland, O., March 30.—Federal and state investigations were begun today into the wreck on the New York Central at Amhurst, O., early this morning when two sections of the Chicago Limited came together in a rear end collision killing at least thirty persons and injuring forty or more. The Twentieth Century Limited, traveling westward crashed into the wreckage.

The wreck, which occurred before daylight was one of the most disastrous in the history of the New York Central Road. Two sections of the Chicago Pittsburgh Limited, No. 86, were said to have been proceeding eastward at a rapid rate when the second section crashed into the first. The Twentieth Century Limited, proceeding in an opposite direction on a parallel track, plowing into the debris and toppling over coaches and engine.

The heavy steel and woodwork of the first section was piled thirty feet in the air by the rear-end collision. Two coaches of the first section were demolished. Fourteen were overturned.

All the casualties were on No. 86. The Twentieth Century, notwithstanding its heavy impact, with the wreckage, emerged almost unscathed and proceeded on its journey, its passengers suffering only a severe shake-up.

A heavy fog from Lake Erie had settled down over northern Ohio and the night was of almost inky darkness. Many of the injured, pinned in the wreckage called desperately for help. Injured passengers, half dead, emerged from the sleepers and joined with trainmen and others in rescue work. Firemen from Amherst quenched flames which started in the coach where most of the fatalities occurred.

Hospital cases were taken from Cleveland, Elmhurst and Lorain and hundreds of villagers and farmers from Amherst and vicinity helped with the rescue. The dead were mangled beyond recognition and it was believed the death list would be large.

Want Check on Gas

Washington, March 30.—Two measures looking to putting a check on the rise in the price of gasoline were offered in congress today.

Amendment to the Federal Trade Commission law was proposed by Representative Stearns of Minnesota. His bill would require certain dealers in petroleum, gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil to post prices, file them with the commission, require them to be just and reasonable and empower the commission to prescribe just and maximum prices.

Representative Howard of Georgia introduced a resolution proposing authority for the President to place an embargo on shipments of gasoline.

Mr. Howard said he drafted his measure after a conference with Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, who told him that producers were asking the government not less than forty cents a gallon for gasoline.

Can Use Carranza's Road

El Paso, Tex., Mar. 30.—A statement coming from Alfredo Obregon, Carranza minister of war, charging that the United States is blameable for border conditions has caused a new cloud on the Mexican horizon.

Obregon declares had Wilson permitted him to take out of the United States Villa spies and execute them all trouble would have been prevented.

He declares that scores and scores of enemies of Carranza are harbored across the border.

Consul Garcia said late today that he had received no information relative to the American forces being permitted to use Mexican railroads.

Natal Hay

Farmers who intend to sow Natal grass should avoid seed gathered since the recent cold spells. It is probable that seed has been damaged by frost. Frost stops development and hastens maturity. The heads look ripe when they are really dead.

A. P. Spencer, district agent for the University of Florida Extension Division suggests that it will be unwise to sow until a new crop has matured. It will be beat to wait until June or just before the rainy season because the present drouth will lessen the chances for a good stand.

VILLA ESCAPES THE PURSUERS ONCE MORE

ELUSIVE BANDIT SEEMS TO HAVE SLIPPED BY AGAIN

El Paso, March 31.—Army men made no secret of the belief that Villa has slipped through the cordon of American and Carranza troops, who are pursuing him in Mexico. The latest dispatches said the bandit is moving through the Santa Maria valley. Once among his peon friends Villa might escape detection for a long time. It is said that roving Villa bands are reported everywhere in the Santa Maria valley. Apparently the American flying columns have not come into contact with them. The Mexican officials have no information.

Chihuahua ranchers said that as soon as there was known that there was a price on Villa's head dead or alive he would be in constant danger of betrayal. Whether American troops made the reward known is not learned. Brigadier General Bell of Fort Bliss is awaiting orders to ship supplies over the Mexican Northwestern Railroad, permission to use same having been granted late yesterday by Carranza. Meanwhile great quantities of supplies being sent to Columbus will go forward by motor truck.

El Paso, March 31.—The report that Villa on Tuesday raided Santa Tomas south of Nampiquipa is not confirmed. Mexican officials had no information.

Will Entertain Editors

Kassimere, March 30th. All the preliminary plans have now been made for the entertainment of the members of the Florida State Press Association, which meets here on April 13, 14 and 15th. The committee on entertainment has been divided into three special committees to handle the various details of the entertainment as follows:

Boat trip on Lake Tohopekaliga on Friday afternoon, April 14th—C. W. Griffin and J. W. Thompson.

Reception at the Golf Club Thursday night, April 13th. W. H. Crawford and Arthur E. Donegan.

Banquet at the Graystone Hotel Friday night—W. B. Harris and E. E. Naught.

These three events cover the main portion of the entertainment of the visitors, but it is likely that a social affair of some sort will be planned for the ladies of the party by the Woman's Club. This matter will be taken up at the meeting of the club on Monday afternoon.

On Thursday afternoon at the close of the business session the visitors will become the guests of St. Cloud and a delegation from the Wonder City will come here to take the visitors there in automobiles. The good people of St. Cloud are planning an entertainment at the lake pier, a program in the G. A. R. hall and a luncheon to be served by the Ladies Improvement Association.

In Crones in Sanford?

Chicago, March 31.—The possibility that Pean Crones, charged with poisoning a banquet tend Archbishop Mendelein here, five weeks ago, is in a Florida resort, was intimated today by those directing his hunt.

Only a few of the derisive letters Crones wrote have been made public and more recent ones sent to the York police have not been made public.

The last one published was post-marked Charleston, so it is believed that Crones is still farther south.

Presbyterian Church

At eleven o'clock there will be communion service. No services at night on account of the temperance meeting at Allen's Theatre.

Notice to Children

The children who are to take part in the play "Thistle-down" will please meet in the Woman's Club rooms on Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock.

BIG CHANGE IS SUGGESTED IN POST OFFICES

WOULD MAKE THE POST- MASTER GENERAL KING OF NATION

Washington, D. C., March 30.—A large number of postmasters in Florida will lose their jobs if legislation which is now on the verge of passage is finally approved in conference.

That such legislation is even contemplated will be news to most persons, as it has attracted virtually no attention. Under its sweeping provisions 50,000 postmasters throughout the country would be abolished. The offices themselves would not be wiped out, but after the postmaster-ships have been abolished the offices would be open to the appointment of superintendents. Postmaster General Burleson is backing the legislation and doing all he can to procure its passage.

The legislation referred to is now in conference and is in a bill which provides a reorganization of the postal savings system. The house committee on postoffice and post-roads refused to recommend it and the bill as it passed from the house did not contain the provision. It was incorporated in the senate bill, however, and is now one of the amendments in dispute between the house and senate conferees.

The provision which would go so far toward uprooting the established postal service reads as follows:

"Hereafter the Postmaster General may establish under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, one or more branch offices, non-accounting, for the transaction of any postoffice business which may be required for the convenience of the public."

In a statement before the house committee explaining the operation of the proposed legislation First Asst. Postmaster General Daniel C. Roper said:

"By making the county the unit and each postoffice located therein subsidiary to the main office situated at the county seat the number of accounting offices would be reduced from 56,000 to 3,000. The county postmaster would be assisted by a clerk in charge, under his immediate supervision at each subsidiary office, instead of a regularly appointed postmaster and the business conducted in precisely the same manner as at stations in the larger cities."

Mr. Roper clearly stated in hearings before the committee that the legislation would abolish the present postmasters. Representative Madden of Illinois was one of the members who asked questions and one of his queries was:

"This would put the Postmaster General in a position to appoint one postmaster in each county, would it not, and would put all other postoffices in the county as non-accounting offices, subject to his jurisdiction?"

Mr. Roper said that it was so. It is said that more than fifty members of the house have been in conference with the Postmaster General during the last week in regard to this item. The conferees have been at the request of the Postmaster General, who is insistent on the approval of the item.

There was a similar proposition once before when the Postoffice Department wanted to get rid of all assistant postmasters by abolishing the office. Congress would not stand for it and it is believed by many that the firm attitude shown on that proposed measure will be repeated in the house on the present wholesale proposition.

It is anticipated that there will be a general and sweeping opposition to the measure from local communities that will lose their postmasters and become sub-stations if the legislation goes through congress.

In Memoriam

In the death of N. H. Fogg, Altamonte loses one of her most valued citizens. The people of this community are deeply sensible of their great loss and mourn his passing with hearts filled with sincere grief and deep appreciation of their friend and neighbor.

For more than thirty years he has been identified with this place, giving to its every interest his most enthusiastic support, working always for its growth and advancement and giving generously of his time and means to that end.

He loved this beautiful region with his whole heart and never tired of describing its beauties and merits and of praising its location and advantages.

A lover of nature and all things beautiful, he longed to inspire others with his own enthusiasm and deep appreciation and to bring to all the fullness of joy which he experienced because his heart was open to the knowledge of God's great gifts.

Kind of heart and generous of hand, unselfish and thoughtful of others, his kindness and gentleness endeared him to every member of the community and one and all with one accord they desire to pay him a tribute of great love and respect to express their heartfelt sorrow, extending to his wife and family their deepest sympathy and condolence.

Grant to him, O Lord, eternal rest, and may perpetual light shine upon him.

Altamonte Springs, Mar. 20th.

Letter From Paul Biggers

Mr. R. J. Holly, Sanford, Fla.:

Dear Mr. Holly:

Enclosed find check for $2.00 for the paper. I don't know what I would do if I didn't get the Sanford paper.

I have been away from Sanford two years the first of next September and it seems like it has been Sanford some days and I hope some of the dead ones their will open their eyes and get busy, build a hotel or two and advertise Sanford in the north and west. You would be surprised to know the people that go from this town to Florida. This past winter killed California dead. Florida is the coming state for winter tourists from now on, and I hope Sanford will get its share, but it won't unless you build a first class hotel.

This town that I live in is the best town in the west and the best lighted in the United States—of its size—but I can't help from wanting to go back to Sanford.

Wages are mighty good but it costs an awful lot to live.

I am glad that the Sanford farmers made money this year.

My wife and baby are getting along fine.

Regards to the boys.

Very truly yours,
Paul S. Biggers,
Lewistown, Montana.

NEW POSTOFFICE

Postmaster Elder is Having Building Renovated and Cleaned

Sanford will not get that new postoffice building this year but our new postmaster, P. M. Elder thinks that the old building being cleaned up would help some and is having all the woodwork and walls in the lobby done over. The postoffice is one place that sees considerable wear and tear and is apt to wear a very tired look.

Capt. P. M. Elder, the new postmaster expects to take his position tomorrow and all this week has been busy putting the office in shape and the new and neat appearance of the office is proof sufficient that a change is taking place. The woodwork is receiving a new coat of varnish and the walls are being calcimine and painted.

Some day in the near future the new postmaster expects to get into a new government building that will be a credit to the city but until that time comes Capt. Elder will endeavor to keep the present quarters in good shape.

The present force of valuable assistants will be retained by the new postmaster, headed by the first assistant postmaster, Harold C. Haskins with Miss Muller at the money order window, Dwight Babbett and R. A. Terhoun at the stamp window, M. L. Wright mailing clerk, and R. C. Shaffer clerk.

Fort Reed Church

Rev. Baldwin, S. S. evangelist will preach at 3 o'clock p. m. All friends of this church and Sunday school are invited to attend and hear Rev. Baldwin.

LATE NEWS FROM WAR IN EUROPE

SPRING BRINGS ON GREAT- ER OPERATION IN EUROPE

London, Mar. 31.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Petrograd says:

"With the breaking up of the ice the Russians are preparing for an expected renewal of German attacks on Riga, which it is anticipated will begin within the next four weeks. There is every indication that the Germans this time plan to attack Riga by land and sea at the same time, as they are now assembling large numbers of ships at Libau with the apparent intention of attempting to destroy the Russian fleet, so as to control the Baltic.

Paris, March 31.—Several German infantry attacks upon Avocourt Wood, in an endeavor to retake lost positions, were made last night. The war office report today says these assaults failed. No further advances against Malancourt were attempted by the Germans. East of the Meuse there was heavy fighting.

London, March 31.—The labor party of the British Parliament has decided that any consideration of conditions of peace is impossible and undesirable, and that the only thing the labor party could concern itself with was the prosecution of the war to a victorious termination.

London, March 31.—Four vessels are reported to have been sunk during the past twenty-four hours—two British steamers, the Kilbride and Lavinia Westoll, the Dutch steamer Univeland and the small Russian schooner Ottomar. Twenty British ships have been sunk since the beginning of the new German submarine campaign.

Commanding Attention

Florida today is commanding the attention of the nation and the careful study of business men, home-seekers and investors because of the rapid awakening of the outside world to its wonderful advantages and attractions.

The Manufacturers Record of Feb. 17th contains many articles of interest about Florida, the principal of these being a two page display by "R. H. E." Richard H. Edmunds, the owner and editor of this powerful trade paper, on Florida as the "Motor Tourists' Winter Paradise."

These two pages are most attractively illustrated showing some of the improved highways of Florida the improved highways of Florida and the beauty spots that make them so enticing to the automobilist.

Other very interesting articles discuss Florida as a possible producer of natural oil, and South Florida as a field for the production of the avocado pear.

The state owes much of its recent growth in popularity and prosperity to the powerful pen and influence of Mr. Edmunds.

The Country Gentleman of Feb. 19, also pays Florida the compliment of giving an article by James H. Collins on "Florida's Neglected Products," the first place in a very interesting issue.

Mr. Collins calls attention to "Some Delicacies that Have a Future" which are being profitably raised in Florida, but he dwells also upon the great waste and loss to the farmer and fruit grower in their neglect to utilize the culls for canning and preserves.

Congregational Church

Communion service next Sunday morning, and in the evening we unite in the Big Temperance Rally at Allen's Theatre. All members are urged to remember the morning services.

Jno. Wilson and wife have returned from a trip to St. Augustine where they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Conway and family, who are returning to their home in Ohio.
