Reversal On Terrorism Retaliation

Identify And 'Go Get 'Em', Reagan Says

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) - The administration, in a dramatic reversal of its stance on last Friday's terrorist attacks in Rome and Vienna, says it would support retaliation if those responsible can be identified.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, accompanying President Reagan on his New Year's vacation in Palm Springs, said Monday the United States "would certainly favor retaliation" for the attacks at the Rome and Vienna airports in which 18 people were killed.

Reagan spent Monday secluded at the estate of publisher Walter Annenberg, playing his annual round of golf under sunny skies and later meeting several political buddles for dinner at the posh El Dorado Country Club.

Reagan was to be guest of honor at a black-tie New Year's Eve party tonight at the Annenberg's 250-acre walled estate.

On Saturday, Reagan sent a message to governments in the Middle East, which one official described as urging "restraint" in any possible retaliation.

By Monday, however, Speakes made it clear that if the United States or Israel could determine which of several Palestinian terrorist factions was responsible for going "beyond the pale of

Sanford Ushers In 'New Day'

Editor's note: Following are concluding articles in a series on the major accomplishments and events of 1985 in Seminole County, Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, within the Seminole School district and among area law enforcement and area business. The series began Sunday. Today's segment includes a look at the top ten stories of the year locally and internationally.

By Deane Jordan Jame Casselberry

As Seminole County witnessed a continuation of its unprecedented growth, a "new day" was ushered in in Sanford in 1985 with election of the city's first woman mayor, first black city commissioners and a number of new officals, including police chief and city manager. The new guard began handling the reigns of city government with decisive action on growth issues. These were the year's top ten stories:

It was also a year when the Soviet Union finally seemed to have a leader who would be in power for a while. But at least two other governments South Africa's and the Philippines' held on by their fingernails.

At home, there was AIDS, the farm crisis, collapse of many banks, a soaring stock market and a bull market in corporate takeovers.

What 1985 was not was a year for domestic politicians, as tax reform and other issues remained trapped in the Capitol. But at least the 1988 presidential campaign hadn't really started-yet.

Appeal Court Rules

Wives Not Liable For Husbands' Debts

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) -Citing a centuries-old law denying wives the right to incur debt, an appeal court Monday ruled a widow cannot be forced to pay her husband's hospital tab.

The 1st District Court of Appeal unanimously upheld a lower court's ruling that Rebecca Smith is not obliged to repay the University of Florida's Shands Teaching Hospital for her late husband's medical expenses because she never signed an agreement to pay if he could not.

In the absence of such a specific, voluntary contract, a three-judge panel of the appeal court ruled it must fall back on the English common law tradition that wives are the dependents of their husbands and cannot be held accountable for their husbands' debts. The ruling conflicts with prior decisions by the 2nd and 3rd District Courts of Appeal, which held that changes in women's legal and economic status rendered the common law doctrine anachronistic.

Appeal Judge Edward Barfleid conceded the point in a separate but concurring opinion, but said the Legislature - and not the courts - must bring the law into the 20th century.

"If the only fault courts can find with a rule is that it does not reflect contemporary societal values or that its application is impractical in our modern world, the proper judicial function is to point out to the legislatures the shortcomings of the rule and the need for change," he wrote.

Barfield said the rulings by the other appeal courts amount to "elitist" and "dangerous" judicial meddling.

"When courts ignore the broad powers within their prerogative and attempt to modify common law rules because they are 'outmoded' or 'anachronistic', they confuse the judicial role with the legislative," Barfield wrote.

In 1829, Florida adopted English common law precedents in force in 1776 as the basis of state law. Unless specifically overruled by the U.S. or state constitutions, or by state or federal statute, those precedents still stand, the court said.

Barfield said the constitution's equal protection clause might give husbands the right to challenge debts incurred in their names by their wives. But he noted the Issue was not before the court.

Textile Mill Worker Arrested In Abduction Of Georgia Girls

STAPLETON, Ga. (UPI) - A textile mill worker has been arrested in the abduction of two 12-year-old girls, and authorities say they believe the man acted alone even though the girls originally said there were two kidnappers.

Buford Williams. 23, who lives in a rural area near Stapleton, was arrested at midnight Monday as he prepared to leave his job at the J.P. Stevens plant. Jesserson County Sheriss Zollie Compton said. Williams was charged with kidnapping, and other charges could be filed today, the sheriff said.

Compton said his conversations with the two girls had convinced him there was only one abductor. He said police are no longer looking for other suspects.

Jennifer Barrow and Elizabeth Tanner were released Monday on the same dirt road where they had been abducted while riding bicycles Dec. 22. The girls said they were raped during the week they were held captive.

Meese: Law Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Two key sections of the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law cannot stand up to a court challenge because they are unconstitutional, the Justice Department told Congress.

In identical letters sent Monday to the House and Senate, Attorney General Edwin Meese said the department would file a motion seeking dismissal of a suit brought by Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., challenging the constitutionality of the "emergency powers" sections of the act.

Those sections allow President Reagan to "sequester" up to $11 billion in funds drawn from all government programs if the budget exceeds the prescribed limit by $10 billion and Congress cannot come up with alternatives to reduce spending.

The sequester could occur each Oct. 15 if the Office of Management and Budget, the Congressional Budget Office and the General Accounting Office find the overruns in their annual reports on the deficit. The reports are required under the law, which calls for the federal budget to be balanced by 1991.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Congress, rushing to adjourn for the holidays, refused to extend some tax provisions that expire at midnight, including those affecting jobs for minorities and special consideration for widows of Vietnam War MIAs.

Also set to expire is an exemption from Social Security taxes for retired federal judges working as senior jurists to keep active and reduce the backlog of cases crowding court dockets.

A four cent per gallon exemption from fuel excise taxes for taxis - which some members of Congress wanted restored was also rejected.

The Senate and House, in a bitter back-and-forth battle in the final days, rescued only two expiring tax provisions the 16 cent-a-pack levy on cigarettes and a freeze on Medicare payments for doctors and hospitals.

These two provisions were extended until March 15.

But many others, some with far-reaching impact such as tax credits for research and development, expire at midnight tonight. There was no indication at the time Congress adjourned as to when - or if they would be extended on a retroactive

Rep. Dan Rostenkowksi, D-III., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, first offered a package of 16 extensions, some of them changing the tax code to reflect the sweeping tax reform bill the

Trail-Sniffing Hound Flushes Suspect

A trail-sniffing dog and patient $500 bond. police flushed out a man who CAR fled from an officer in an housing area that has been burglarized recently.

The Winter Springs oificer said he was on routine patrol at 2:50 a.m. Saturday when he saw a man he thought might be prowling in the Tuscawilla Tennis Villas area. Since the area is the site of recent burglaries, the officer said he decided to investigate the man's presence. He said the man fled into a wooded when he saw the officer.

Officers set up a guard around the woods the man fled into and a specially trained dog was brought it to sniff out the trail. In the process of tacking the man down the man emerged from the woods near Bear Creek and was arrested. The man said he was in the area because that was where some friends dropped him off.

Charged with prowling, fleeing and attempting to clude and resisting arrest without violence was Joseph Brent Theophilus. 20, of 755 Dunlop Cir., Winter Springs. He was being held on

Loyal Shultz Must Act As Leader

Secretary of State George Shultz performed a distinct disservice to the Reagan administration recently by his emotional, public dissent from a presidential directive subjecting officials with access to top secrets to possible polygraph tests. A visibly angry Mr. Shultz said he would resign the day his loyalty was questioned.

That missed the point. No one imagines that George Shultz needs to be polygraphed because he might be slipping American secrets to the Soviet Union. But, as events this year so repeatedly demonstrated, there are any number of people in the U.S. governnment who are, or were, handing over America's secrets wholesale to the small army of Soviet and Soviet-bloc agents operating in the United States. Administering polygraph tests on a carefully selective basis to some of those officials with access to highly classified information seems a not unreasonable way of deterring spies and protecting vital secrets.

Certainly there is ample, indeed routine. precedent for the use of polygraph tests in this manner. The Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency have for many years given lie detector tests to new employees. Those tests are then repeated periodically throughout an employee's service. The Reagan administration wants the practice available for other government employees and other government agencies -State and Defense, for example — that handle highly classified information.

By choosing to interpret President Reagan's directive as a possible affront to his honor. Mr. Shultz seems to be excluding himself, on pain of immediate resignation, from any polygraph test. But what sort of example does that set for Mr. Shultz's thousands of subordinates at the Department of State? Will each of them be possible candidates for a polygraph while their boss is exempt because the test would insult his honor? Or will the entire Department of State be exempt from a security precaution in force everywhere else in the government where legitimate secrets need to be kept? That cannot be acceptable.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, CIA director William Casey, and others in the Reagan administration are on record as saving they would gladly submit to polygraphs. How, otherwise, could one reasonably expect their subordinates to submit?

Obviously, a polygraph policy could be abused. It could be used to harass unpopular employees or whistle blowers. It could be exploited to spy on a person's private life. And a poorly run program could cast suspicion on the innocent while exonerating the guilty. But the Reagan administration appears to be taking all the necessary precautions to ensure that its expanded program will not commit any of these sins.

One might expect that Secretary Shultz would understand that something effective must be done to staunch the flow of American secrets to this nation's adversaries. And even if Mr. Shultz opposed this particular program. one might expect that he would be loyal enough to his own administration and to his own president to avoid the confrontation he has now provoked.

The Year's Five Biggest Untold Stories

WASHINGTON - In keeping with year-end tradition, it long has been my practice to reproduce the nine smallest news stories of the previous 11 months.

This time, I am changing the format a bit. Rather than select the nine smallest news stories of 1985. I hereby submit nominations for the list of the five biggest news stories that

1. BOSTON - The Massachusetts legislature today completed action on legislation to bar anyone whose last name is Kennedy from running for public office.

"Constitutional rights be hanged!" a sponsor of the bill said. "We have elected enough Kennedys for one century.'

The legislative stoppage followed an announcement by Joseph Kennedy II. son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, that he will seek the congressional seat once occupied by his uncle. Young Joseph threw his hat in the ring although some family members had urged the son of the late President John Kennedy to run for the same office.

The legislature's action will not prevent Joe's sister Kathleen from running for Congress in Maryland. Besides that, Kathleen's married name is Townsend.

2..WASHINGTON — Congress voted during its recent session to outlaw contributions by Political Action Committees during election campaigns next year.

President Reagan is expected to sign the measure into law before the year is over.

3. RALEIGH, N.C. — The tobacco industry announced today that all cigarette advertising will be stopped immediately.

A spokesman said the voluntary ban will include smokeless tobacco and other nicotine products that might be health hazards.

Chairman Jesse Helms of the Senate Agriculture Committee had urged the industry to comply with recommendations of the American Medical Association.

4. DES MOINES. IOWA - Wheat and corn growers plan to organize a "tractorcade" to demonstrate in favor of abolishing all forms of financial aid to farmers.

"This step should help reduce the federal deficit and make budget-balancing legislation unnecessary," a spokesman said.

5. MOSCOW — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev said today the Kremlin is dropping opposition to President Reagan's "Star Wars" research program and will scuttle all of his country's nuclear missiles. "We recognize that America's Strategic Defense initiative will enhance the possibility of world peace," he told the Soviet Presidium.

"The Soviet Union could never do It alone. "At the same time, we are destroying all of our missiles, both offensive and defensive. However, we aren't demanding similar action by the United States. "If America wants to keep missiles aimed at Soviet targets, that's understandable.' Gorbachev likewise admitted past strategic arms treaty violations and denials of civil liberties to certain groups.

Columbia To Study Halley

By William Harwood UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - A relatively modest camera system aboard the shuttle Columbia next week will give scientists the first-of-a-kind pictures and spectra of Halley's comet as the cosmic iceberg barrels toward the sun.

Columbia is scheduled to blast off Monday after a 17-day delay because by mechanical problems and then the holidays. The Halley study is one of many planned for the five-day mission.

"I think it's a neat little experiment to provide a unique data source," said Alan Stern, a principle investigator of the Comet Halley Active Monitoring Program, or CHAMP for short.

Stern, a researcher at the University of Colorado's Laboratory for Atmospheric and Space Physics, said the camera equipment, its use on three shuttle flights and the necessary data analysis costs about $65,000.

The experiment utilizes a 35mm Nikon camera and an image intensifier that can amplify dim light up to 100,000 times. The system was tested last April aboard the shuttle Discovery and its use aboard Columbia kicks off a three-flight series of observations.

"Even with a very small 2-foot long instrument, we're able to do some very useful things in a monitoring way from space on a regular basis to provide a background data set from the United States on Halley's comet," Stern

Mounted to a bracket on one of the shuttle's overhead windows, the camera will be wrapped in a lightproof shroud during exposures up to 16 seconds long.

While CHAMP is a modest undertaking compared to the armada of instrument-studded spacecraft on the way to intercept Halley's comet in March, it promises to record data about the chemical composition and activity of the comet at a time when it will be most active.

This is particularly true of CHAMP's use aboard the shuttle Challenger in late January and in early March aboard Columbia.

The comet disappears from view as seen from Earth in late January as it swings around to the other side of the sun for its closest approach on Feb. 9. Because the comet will be so close to the sun, shuttle observation time will be limited to orbital twilight when the Earth will block out the sun's glare.

"In January and early February. the comet will not be observable from the ground," Stern said.

blush, seem to have been a disastrous one for the United States, as far as spies go. In fact, however, it was a bad year for the spies because so many of them got caught. And as a bonus there were some important defections from the KGB, not even counting the one who changed his mind and went

Of the spies we discovered in 1985, in many ways the most interesting was Larry Wu-tai Chin. the former CIA analyst who appears to have served as an espionage agent for the Red Chinese for 30 or even 40 years. He may have become a communist as early as 1943, and was reportedly honored for his services at a dinner in Peking in 1982, the year after his official retirement from the CIA.

We are not told very precisely what Chin did for the CIA, but it is clear that he was in a position to see, and "borrow," many highly classified documents. He turned copies of these over to couriers near the Toronto airport, and was paid for them in the course of separate trips that he made from time to time to Hong Kong.

Eventually the payments Chin was receiving from the communists grew so large that it became necessary to explain to his American friends how a middle-ranking CIA employee was able to invest in real estate all around the Washington area while simultaneously putting his children through school. Chin boasted that he had invented a "system" for winning at Las Vegas and attributed his prosperity to

Chin may not actually have had a system for beating the bank in Las Vegas, but he certainly seems to have had one for beating the polygraph in Langley. All CIA employees are routinely required to undergo lie detector tests at regular intervals, and Chin was surely no

The year just ended might, at first exception. How, then, did he manage to fool the machine again and again, over a matter of decades? An honest answer to that question might well be the most useful information Larry Chin has to bargain with, if he's interested in getting his prison term shortened a bit. Secretary of State Shultz's well-known reservations about such tests simply increase the question's > Polygraphs, better known as "lie detector machines," aren't perfect, and are not ordinarily accepted as valid sources of evidence in a court of law. But they do measure the subtle physical indications of stress that are produced by (among other things) the effort of lying. They can, therefore, be extremely useful in spotting sensitive areas in the course of a long series of questions. and in a setting like Langley they have, to my personal knowledge, resulted in discoveries extremely useful to those concerned with American security.

There are all sorts of old wives' tales about how to beat the polygraph - e.g., to disrupt reaction patterns by hiding a pebble between your toes and squeezing it (to produce pain and a blip on the machine) at irrelevant moments.

But Chin must have confronted the monster dozens of times, and seems to have fooled it every time. Is he some sort of pathological liar, from whom lying elicits no more effort. let alone stress, than telling the truth? Or is he somehow particularly nerveless and low-key, in a way that simply anesthetized the machine?

Whatever the explanation, it seems likely to lead to revisions in the CIA's already strict procedures for granting and renewing security clearances.

DONALD LAMBRO Kemp's Vision Of Future

WASHINGTON - "Politics is about the future, never about the past," says Jack Kemp. "So the question is what agenda do you have to move this country to full employment without inflation?"

The New York congressman and likely presidential candidate is sitting in his Capital Hill office, surrounded by books on economics and photographs of his handsome family, and thinking out loud about the 1988 presidential primaries. which are little more than two years

Many politicos believe the race for the Republican presidential nomination will come down to a battle between Kemp and Vice President George Bush - a choice between Bush's Eastern Republicanism and Kemp's populist. growth-oriented politics. If it does, Kemp thinks victory will go to the candidate who has "the most credible vision of the future of America,' and an agenda for achieving vigorous economic growth and low infla-

"That is the overall social and economic goal for this country." he says during a wide-ranging interview. "And whoever has the most credible agenda for reaching that goal, which is pretty much a universal goal, and broadening the recovery. It seems to me has an intellectual advantage, i.e. a political leg up.'

"George Bush has the same agenda, too, doesn't he?" I ask.

Well, I would say that, in that sense, everybody has that agenda in terms of rhetoric," Kemp replies. "The question is, how do you get from here to there? Who has the most credible agenda of policy changes and reforms that can achieve that overall goal?"

"And I think that will be the issue around which, in large part, the political battle will be fought out on," he adds.

"But," I persist, "both you and Bush want tax rate reduction, economic growth and full employment without inflation. If that's the case, then doesn't that mean the one with the strongest political backing from the party apparatus wins?" And I point out that Bush enjoys very strong support among the party's rank and file as we head into 1986.

"I guess," says Kemp, "that if the rhetoric were exactly the same, the policies were exactly the same and the goals were exactly the same, and there was no difference, then the one with the most political backing wins."

Mengele Still Dreamed Of Faded Glory

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - Taped recordings of Dr. Josef Mengele merrily singing Christmas carols in his South American exile present a supposedly human side to the Nazi "Angel of Death," who consigned hundreds of thousands of Jews to the gas chambers at Auschwitz.

But transcripts of other Mengele tapes, obtained by our associate Lucette Lagnado, give a different impression of the homicidal quack. The conversations, recorded in Brazil in December 1969 and August 1971, reveal Mengele as a rather tiresome old crank, still spouting Nazi racial garbage and bemoaning the downfall of Hitler's 1,000-year Reich after only 12 years of slaughter.

If it weren't for the substance of Mengele's pontifications, and his record as a coldblooded Nazi who performed hideous experiments on helpless prisoners, one might almost feel sorry for this aging revived Mengele's spirits. "Long live fanatic, who had seen his dreams go up in smoke. But the dreams were too sick to inspire sympathy.

"There are no more elites," Mengele mourned in one of the long. wandering discussions with two sycophantic German fellow extles. Wolfgang Gerhard and Wolfram Bossert. "They should exist again. ... Ten thousand Spartans terrorized 300,000 Helots. Why should that not be possible over here?" The Helots were ancient Greeks enslaved by the Spartans who served as role models for the Nazis.

Mengele's drinking companion. Gerhard, offered a lugubrious observation on the sad state of Brazilian society: "Only here there are no Spartans, only Helots.'

Mengele agreed. "That's the problem. The problem isn't the law or the masses, but the fact that there are no more glants. That's the question."

A woman's arrival with drinks mulatto."

those who bring us drinks!" he

The irony of Mengele's situation never seemed to dawn on the old Nazi. He was contemptuous of the Brazilian society that had given him refuge. He apparently couldn't bring himself to admit that the racial mixing that was anathema to the Nazis had produced a robust, tolerant nation that daily contradicted Hitler's dire predictions of what "mongrelization" must inevitably

"The races will always mix," Mengele admitted glumly. "Nothing positive will be achieved. On the contrary, the more they mix the more disharmonic they will be."

The mulattoes who make up a substantial part of the Brazilian population were singled out for Mengele's crocodile tears. When blacks and whites intermarry, he said, "the result is a weaker

Even more ironically, Mengele, toward the end of his life, fell in love with a Brazilian mulatto and begged her to come live with him. But she declined, making it clear that she required a wedding ring as part of any arrangement. This was apparently more than Mengele was will-

Mengele repeatedly voiced his contempt for postwar Germany, where "the true values have been destroyed." He defined these as "race, nation, class, social status." Instead, he said sadly, modern Germans are concerned with "human beings."

After one three-hour discussion with his fellow Nazis, Mengele acknowledged the futility of their blatherings. "We are not getting anywhere," he said irritably.

A Justice Department Nazi-hunter put it more succinctly with a single Yiddish word. The contents of the Mengele tapes, he said, are "dreck" (rubbish). We couldn't agree more.

As the Seminole County prep sports scene forges into another year with plenty to look forward long while to place in the 3A to, it can look back on 1985 as a year when county teams and pinnacle of success.

Seminole High's boys track team, which had dominated the area for years only to come up short in the final meet, took their dominance one step futher by claiming the 1985 4A State Championship.

The Tribe ran away with the title with excellent performances by jumpers Alvin Jones and Leo Peterson, hurdler Frank Barnett, sprinters Louis Brown and Deron Thompson along with miler Billy Penick. Jones (triple jump) and Penick (mile) won state championships along with Lyman High junior Raiph Philpott, who surprised the high jump field with a leap of 6-8.

The Seminole High girls track team fell short (third place) of the state title, but broke two state records. Shownda Martin. only a freshman, broke the record in the 880 yard run while fellow freshman Dorchelle Webster and seniors Glenda Bass and Katrina Walker also shattered the state record.

While the county was a domiathletes vaulted from being on nant force in track, it also was the verge of state notoriety to the one of the best in the state in soccer. In girls soccer, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds ended a perfect 24-0 season with the State 4A Championship. Lyman is again the favorite this season and has run its win streak to 32 games. Keeper Lisa Chatman. Dawn Boyesen, Alyson Barnes. Sheila Mandy and Karen Abernethy were all-staters for the Lady Greyhounds.

In boys soccer, Lake Brantley ended a strong late-season surge with a second place finish in state. Lyman, Lake Mary, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley are all capable of making it to state this season, out of what is probably the strongest district in the state. Lake Mary's Andre Sanders. Lyman's Brian Ocasek, Lake Brantley's Mo Moghaddam and Lake Howell's Jim Morrissey and Eric Serino were all-staters.

In baseball, Lyman's Derek Livernois pitched the the mile relay team of Martin. Greyhounds to an upset victory over a power-laden Lake Mary lineup to win the District 4A-9 championship. Lake Mary's Rod 'C.J." Metz slugged nine Penick's victory in the state homers and drove in 40 runs while batting .436 to earn Evening Herald Player of the Year honors. Metz also set a Palumbo placed in the two mile state record with 11 consecutive while Ken Rohr placed in the hits. ORLANDO - For most of the way Monday night, Lake Mary's Rams held their own against powerful Tampa Leto. But Leto's Falcons showed why they are the defending 4A state champlons and currently ranked second in the state poll - they don't make mistakes.

The Falcons scored a pair of goals on what Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkie said were defensive mistakes and the Rams couldn't capitalize on their offensive opportunities as Leto won the Pizza Hut Invitational Soccer Tournament title with a 2-1 victory before 400 fans at Bishop Moore High.

Lake Mary, which now stands at 10-3, had a five-game winning streak snapped while Leto ran its record to 8-0.

"Leto is a very seasoned team and you don't see a team like that make crucial mistakes." McCorkle said. "We made a couple of mistakes that gave them their goals and didn't take advantage of our offensive chances.'

Leto coach Ray DiPompo said it wasn't one of his team's best performances but that the Falcons came back strong after Lake Mary tled the score in the second half.

"We matched up well with Lake Mary but we didn't have one of our better games." DiPompo said. "But the guys came back nicely after the Lake Mary goal. They showed a lot of character coming back the way they did."

On a chilly Monday night, the Falcons jumped right out of their warmups and right into the lead as they scored with less than three minutes gone in the game. The goal came on a long ball from Joey Valenti that deflected off a player about 40 yards from bounced right to George Fotopulos who had an open path to the goal, took two touches and fired a shot past keeper Greg Griffing for a 1-0 lead.

"That goal put us on the defensive right off the bat," McCorkle said. "It was a defensive breakdown that enabled them to score.'

While Lake Mary put together few offensive threats in the first half. Leto had some excellent opportunities turned away by the Lake Mary defense and goalkeeper Griffing who made some outstanding saves. Despite being banged up in the Seabreeze game (2-0 win) Louis Rosen and Vinay Jotwani were superb on defense.

One other notable occurance in the first half came with 7:18 remaining when Valenti, an All-South midfielder, was assessed a yellow card for roughing a Ram defender. Another yellow card would result in ejection from the game. Valenti, though, settled down in the second half and was a key figure in keeping Leto on the offensive.

"We had been playing him (Valenti) at sweeperback beacause our regular sweeper was out sick." DiPompo said. "But we moved him back to midfield tonight and he changed the game significantly."

Lake Mary got its offense on track early in the second half and, after some near misses, tied the score at 1-1 with 28 minutes left to play on a goal by Tony Fiorentino. After the Rams worked the ball downsleld, a deflected pass went to Florentino about 20 yards out. Fiorentino took one touch and lofted a nice shot over the keeper's head for the tying goal.

Fiorentino's goal was the only one scored on the Falcons in the tournament and only the second scored on them this season.

"When we got the goal we relaxed a little," McCorkle said. "The guys believe they can beat anybody if we go to penalty kicks and they figured after we tied it we could take them to penalty kicks. But still we had chances to score more goals."

Leto then picked up the offensive attack but Griffing and the Ram defense turned the Falcons away for the next 14 minutes. However, with 14:34 left to play, Rich Blondi took a shot from 30 vards out that Griffing looked to have a beat on but the ball slid by the senior keeper and into the cage for a 2-1 Leto lead.

'Hungry' Seminoles Devour Cowboys

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - While the rest of the country viewed the Gator Bowl as just another in a long line of holiday football games. Florida State coach Bobby Bowden took a different approach.

Following a 38-14 loss to arch-rival Florida in the final regular season game. Bowden told the sixteenthranked Seminoles the Gator Bowl was a game they "had to have." The Seminoles then went out and got it. defeating the No. 19 Cowboys 34-23 Monday night.

"I think we might have been just a little hungrier than they were," said Bowden, whose Seminoles improved to 9-3. "We wanted this game in the worst way. We had to have it."

The Seminoles, led by 338 yards passing by freshman Chip Ferguson and 202 yards rushing by senior Tony Smith, racked up a Gator-Bowl record 559 yards total offense against a Cowboy defense that had surrendered an average of 327 yards-per-game coming into the game.

Ferguson threw scoring tosses of 19 and 39 yards to sophomore split end Herb Gainer, and ran for another score. FSU also scored on a 3-yard run by Cletis Jones and fleld goals of 23 and 39 yards by Derek Schmidt.

OSU, 8-4, scored on a 29-yard screen pass from quarterback Ronnie Williams to tallback Thurman Thomas, a 12-yard halfback pass from Thomas to Williams, a 31-yard pass from Williams to Hart Lee Dykes, and a 33-yard field goal by Brad Dennis.

Oklahoma State finished the season with three straight losses, and coach Pat Jones said it was obvious the Seminoles wanted the game more than the Cowboys.

"We were not quite as hungry as we should have been," he said.

"Florida State wanted it more than us," Thomas said. Thomas, an All-America who gained 1.553 yards before the Gator Bowl, was held to 97 vards on 26 carries. Williams finished 21-of-43 for 251 yards, two touchdowns and two interceptions.

Florida State, which had great success running the ball late in the season, surprised Oklahoma State by passing 43 times, including the first eight plays from scrimmage.

"FSU was better offensively than we expected," Jones satd. "They came out firing at us and threw the ball more than we expected. Ferguson played a little better than we expected. We kept waiting for to make mistakes. but he just played well."

Bowden also was a little surprised by Ferguson's performance. Ferguson became the starter mid-way through the season after starter Danny McManus was sidelined with an injury and backup Kirk Coker was ineffective. "I wanted to see what Ferguson could do and whether we could start building around him next year.' Bowden sald. "You have to pattern your offense around what your quarterback can do. Let's face it, we

Their replacements, Gainer and flanker Randy White, had good games.

"Our game plan was to come out and throw the ball just like coach Bowden said," Ferguson said, "We knew we had good receivers. We lost two great ones, but we knew we had good receivers."

Gainer caught seven passes for 148 yards, and White caught four for 87.

Greyhounds, Lions Fatten Up At Classic

Some people fatten up at Thanksgiving while others wait until Christmas. Lyman's Greyhounds and Oviedo's Lions helped themselves to the pre-Christmas victory table at the recent Central Florida Classic. Each won three games in four outings.

For coach Tom Lawrence's Greyhounds, it was the continuation of what has become a steady diet of victories. Lyman Improved to 8.2. For coach Dale Phillips' Lions, it was a muchneeded helping. Oviedo pulled even at 5.5.

We have played steady ball all year," Lawrence said Monday. "I'm real pleased with the kids. We have four or five kids in double figures and we're playing well together, too."

The Greyhounds are well fortified in double figures. Sentor T.J. Scaletta (13.9 ppg), senior Ralph Philpott (11.3), juntor Robert Thomas (10.5) and sentor Brett Marshall (10.2) are all in double digits scoring. Sophomore Craig Radzak (8.9) and junior Vince Florence (7.7) aren't too far off either. Scaletta, in particular, is off to a greyhound start. The surehanded and quick-anticipating senior had a whopping 31 steals in nine games, an average of 3.4 thefts per outing to easily lead the county.

Lawrence said he doesn't expect a letdown from his veteran group, three of them (Philpott, Scaletta and Marshall). have played varsity ball since they were sophomores.

Oviedo, meanwhile, is saddled with an 0-3 SAC record, but Phillips was a good mood to forget the past after the Classic. The tournament definitely helped us get off on the right foot." Phillips said. 'James Walker really came on strong for us and Randy Ferguson did a good job, too.

Walker, a 6-6 center, began to rebound with authority during the Lions' final two games. "Walker is just getting better with each game." Inter-County Basketball Association president Mickey Norton said about the powerful senior.

Ferguson, a juntor wing player, came up with two clutch shots, one which won a game and another which sent the game into overtime. Oviedo then pulled away in OT.

Senior Allen Unroe continued to be the most consistent Lion. Unroe, a 6-3 wing, took over the county scoring lead from teammate Rob Hughes with a 16.4 average. Unroe has 164 points in 10 games. Hughes, who was bothered by the flu and missed one game, has 130 points in eight games for a 16.2 average.

Terry Campbell, a junior guard, has been a valuable cog. too, with 3.8 assists and 2.3 steals per game. Walker is grabbing 4.6 rebounds per game. Unroe (5.9) and Hughes (5.6) are just ahead.

While the scoring lead changed hands, rebounding and assists remained the same. Chris Jackson, Lake Mary's 6-3 senior forward, has 50 boards in five games for 10.0 per game. Andre Whitney, Seminole's 5-10 sophomore guard, has 57 assists in five games for 5.7 per game.

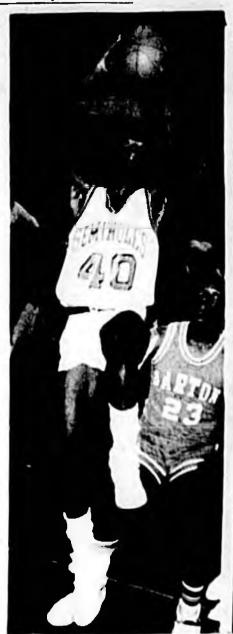

Another Seminole, senior Joe Holden, moved into the county lead for free throw shooting. Holden, a lefty, has converted 14 of 17 free throws for 82.4 percent. Teammate Craig Walker, a 6-7 sophomore, has 21 blocked shots in 10 games for an average of 2.1 per outing.

Seminole came away with three wins in the Classic to up its record to 6-4. Lake Howell went 1-2 to fall to 3-6. Lake Brantley also went 1.2 for a 5.4 mark. Lake Mary lost two more toughtes to drop to 1-5.

Phillips said that although the tournament wasn't a financial success, he and co-promoters Norton and assistant coach Chris Marlette were encouraged by the organization and attendance.

'The crowds were a lot better the last two nights," Phillips said. Phillips said he will add a Metro Conference team next year and maybe four out of state teams. Tampa Catholic has also applied and Dunedin wants to return. Phillips also said he will cut down on the losers' bracket, which a couple coaches thought was too drawn out with four Lyman's T.J. Scaletta and Seminole's Andre Whitney find the easy way to the hoop.

Dubin Manhandles UCF Competition

Lyman's 121-Pounder Makes Amends For Missed Christmas Tournament

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

The layup is still the safest way to two

The flu bug that has been making life miserable in Seminole County for many the past month hit Lyman High's Chad Dubin at a most inopportune time. Dubin came down with the flu and missed the Lyman Christmas Tournament where he was top-seeded at 121 pounds.

Since he had only wrestled once the week before the tournament, and Lyman didn't have an matches scheduled until Jan. 10, Dubin, who was a state place winner last year, decided he needed to get some competition to keep from going stale.

And, aithough the competition couldn't handle Dubin, he was able to tune up for the second half of the prep season by winning the 121-pound weight class in the Sunshine Open Tournament this past weekend at the University of Central Florida.

"Because I didn't wrestle the tournament and with the Christmas break I needed to get some matches." Dubin said Monday night. "I wanted to use this tournament to tune up for when I get back into it after the break."

Dubin handled his first round foe pretty easily as he pinned him in 1:20. in the semifinals, the Lyman High senior standout went up against an opponent from Wheeler, Ga., and completely dominated the match.

Dubin's toughest competition came in the finals where he went up against one of the contingent from Miami Southridge, After falling behind early, Dubin rallied late and sent the match into overtime where he came out on top, 5·2.

Brent Bell (LB)

"He was winning in the beginning of the match because he put me on my back and got a lot of points." Dubin said of the finals. "Going into the third period, he was ahead, 10-5.

"In the third period I escaped and took him down then let him up and took him down a few more times.' continued Dubin. "It ended up tied up. 12-12. In overtime, I took him down with a double leg a few times and rode. him out until the end of the last period."

Dubin said the competition wasn't great until he got to the finals but that the Miami Southridge wrestler wasn't the best he's ever faced.

Compiled by Sam Cook

"I expected some better competition." Dubin said. "In the finals, the guy wasn't really great but he was really good. And I wrestled kind of sloppy. But he was a lot better than I had been getting from around this area. There's not as much strength in my class in this area as in the Miami area."

Another Lyman High wrestler. Pat Perkins came away with the 222pound weight class championship this past weekend. Perkins pulled out a 6-4 decision in the finals for the title. Perkins, also an All-County center on the football team, was at the Gator Bowl Monday night and was not available for comment.

Aggies' Optional Outcomes Spark Interest In Cotton

DALLAS (UPI) - Texas A&M defensive coordinator R.C. Slocum says his Aggies will play Auburn in Wednesday's Cotton Bowl the same way they played other 1-formation teams this

But, considering the wide range of outcomes, that isn't really saying anything. The No. 11 Aggles faced three Iformation teams this year, and each result was very different. A&M opened the season against the 1-formation at Alabama, and lost 23-10. The Aggies next went against the I when they faced Southern Methodist, and needed a field goal with 1:48 left to win 19-17. Finally, A&M won its Cotton Bowl berth with a 42-10 thrashing of Texas and the L

A&M now faces the I-formation of No. 15 Auburn, which also boasts Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson.

"We won't play them any differently than the other Iformation teams we've played this year," Slocum said. "Texas... SMU... Alabama, they all ran the same formation, but they didn't have a guy who can scare you to death.

"Obviously when you have a back as dangerous as Bo Jackson, you can't leave the secondary back playing pass defense all the time. And as to the linebackers - I'll tell you what the linebackers are going to be doing — they'll be up there on the line trying to stop Bo Jackson."

So the Aggies will have to concentrate their defensive efforts on Jackson, who gained 1.786 yards this season.

"We plan on running the ball," said Auburn offensive coordinator Jack Crowe. "I don't think we can go out there and be a different team than we've been

"But we need to get into our passing game. If they neutralize our running game, we'll have to get the big play with the pass."

Nebraska's Sack Master Seeks Meeting With Harbaugh

PHOENIX (UPI) - Jim Skow hopes he gets to meet Jim Harbaugh on New Year's Day - on any yard line.

Skow is Nebraska's Sack Master while Harbaugh quarterbacks the University of Michigan team the Cornhuskers will play in the Fiesta Bowl.

Coach Tom Osborne said of his recordsetting 6-foot-3, 250-pound defensive tackle. He compares Skow favorably with Michigan All-America defensive tackle Mike Hammerstein.

"It seems like Hammerstein does lot of things through quickness," Osborne said. "That's what Skow does."

Skow had an incredible year for Nebraska. He had 15 sacks in 25 tackles for a loss and a total of 163 yards in losses — all Nebraska records.

"Sacking somebody stops their drive,"

Football

Skow said. "And we're going to have to stop their drives.

'Harbaugh works well with the offense "Skow had a great year," Nebraska they have," the Omaha, Neb., native said. "I don't know if he has the rocket long arm somebody like Jack Trudeau of Illinois has but he's very good at running their offense.

"He's got that added dimension of running and he throws very well. We have to get to him a couple of times at least," Skow said. "It's pretty much guaranteed he's going to stay in the pocket - where our guy (McCathorn Clayton) is going to be all over the place.'

Skow should be all over the place, too.

"Skow is excellent," Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler said. "He's an excellent defensive lineman. Twenty-five tackles for a loss is a lot."

The leading Nebraska tackler among down linemen sees the game between his sixth-rated team and No. 5 Michigan as a typical Huskers' contest - the Wolverines will have to stop their running game.

"It's always been a contest between our offense and somebody else's defense," he said. "It's going to be a good Nebraska landed Skow through tradition. He was recruited by Big Eight schools and Texas but said "I narrowed it to Michigan and this school. "I chose Nebraska because of the coaching staff," he said. "It's stable. You don't see many people leaving. Our offensive line coach is leaving after 26 years — he's retiring."

Skow will leave a rich legacy behind at Nebraska. He owns the school records with 44 career tackles for a loss totaling a Nebraska record 268 yards.

"I grew up with Nebraska football, I guess." said Skow, who is playing his last game for the school in the Fiesta Bowl. "Not so much just my family, but the whole town itself.

"It's very stable, very sound here. Other schools are just stepping stones for some people. It's very down-home here. It's a pretty professional organization - 1 don't mean professional in the usual sense, I mean well-organized." Skow hasn't hurt the Nebraska tradition one bit. And he hopes to do well in his one more chance to add to it.

Seminole Pony Launches Spring Registration With Jan. 11 Clinic

Seminole Pony Baseball launches its spring registration in grand style Saturday, Jan. 11 when Denmark's Sportings Good in Longwood will be the site for signups and a few clinic from several former major leaguers and New York Mets manager Davey Johnson.

The clinic, which runs from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., involved several 45-minute seminars from Johnson, former Minnesota Twin George Mitterwald, Rochester Orioles manager John Hart. Rollins College coach Boyd Coffle and UCF coach Jay Bergman. A batting cage and the Rawlings Museum will also be used in the instruction.

Ed Suggs, president of Seminole Pony Baseball, said the league has reduced registration by $5 for the 1986 season. The Pinto (6-8) fee will be $35 while the Mustang (8-10), Bronco (11-12) and Pony (13-14) fees are $40.

Suggs also said a family plan membership will be available. If two players join the league, there is a $5 reduction. If three players join, there is a $10 reduction.

Denmark's is located in the Longwood Lakes Shopping Center just south of State Road 434 adjacent to U.S. Highway 17-92.

UTEP Plunges Hoyas To 11th

NEW YORK (UPI) - Texas-El Paso made a bigger impact on the UPI Board of Coaches college basketball rankings this week than its move from 19th to 16th might indicate.

More notable than the Miners' rise was their role in bringing about mighty Georgetown's plunge from seventh to 11th. Last week, UTEP, 9-2 through games of Sunday, handed Georgetown its first loss in 10 games this season. The Hoyas' loss came just when they appeared to be picking up steam with an impressive victory over DePaul the previous week.

The first six spots remained unchanged, as No. 1 North Carolina collected 31 first-place votes and 573 points. The 12-0 Tar Heels routed Manhattan and Brown by a total of 136 points last week.

No. 2 Michigan, which received six first-place votes and 525 points, also moved to 12-0 last week with victories over Illinois-Chicago and Cleveland State.

Duke, No. 3 with a 10-0 record, routed Appalachian State and captured the other two first-place votes and 472

Payton Keeps Driving Ahead

CHICAGO (UPI) - At an age when most NFL players have long since retired. Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears keeps driving forward.

In his 11th NFL season, the 31-year-old Payton has played nearly three times longer than the average NFL running back. And there were few that excelled like

His efforts earned him the UPI NFC Offensive Player of the Year award in balloting announced Monday.

Payton got 34 points while Roger Craig of San Francisco received 17; Payton teammate Jim McMahon 2; and Joe Montana of the 49ers, Gerald Riggs of Atlanta and Joe Morris of the New York Glants 1 each.

N.C. State Picks Eager Sheridan

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) - New North Carolina State football coach Dick Sheridan says he and his staff are eager to jump into the thick of the Atlantic Coast Conference recruiting wars.

"As long as a high school player hasn't signed or committed, it's open season as far as I'm concerned. Our staff is anxious to get out here and get started." said Sheridan, who coached Furman to a 12.2 record and the NCAA Division I-AA playoff finals this year.

Red Wing Burden Falls To Park

DETROIT (UPI) - The burden now falls on Brad Park to do something no Detroit Red Wing coach has done in 13 years — produce a winner.

Park, 37, a nine-time All-Star defenseman who retired last year, was named Monday to replace the fired Harry Neale as coach of the Wings, whose 8-23-4 record is the worst in the NHL. Park signed a 2 1/2-year contract through the 1987-88 season, becoming the team's 16th coach in the last 15 years and director of player personnel.

All-Pro Regular Loses Brakes But Not Advantage To Rogers

NEW SMRYNA BEACH - A notquite-so-strong backup engine did not keep All-Pro regular Daniel Keene from leading every lap to best a strong 24-car field and Red Eye 100 Late Model Championship on a cool Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

But that back-up engine did keep Keene from running away from the country's winningest stock car driver David Rogers. Rogers was all over Keene for most of the race and finished a strong second.

The previous week. Keene was leading with a full straightaway lead when the distributor's rotor button broke, bending the valves on his real strong, Dennis Boyd-built 9 to 1 engine.

"I just want everybody to know that Rogers did not run all over my real good motor," Keene said. "But I have to give David a lot of credit. He was very fast ... He drove a real clean race. I had to work my way through all those lapped cars and he almost got by me on several occasions."

Coming in third was the Champion TV Rentals Firebird, with Lee Faulk at the wheel. Fourth, after battling with Faulk for the whole race, was rookie Stan Eads. The prised many by qualifying third fastest in the first every late model race he entered. However, during the race, lack of experience might have caused him to chop Faulk off a few times in the heat of the battle. But Faulk. "the man with the eagle profile," was nice enough not to turn him around.

Fifth was consistent Greg Froemming. followed by fastest qualifier Jack Cook who had to pit when the shifter broke off the linkage. Rounding out the top ten were Donnie Strickland, Harold "Fat Rat" Johnson, 1985 Rookie of the Year Richard Cornwell and "Playboy" Ed Meredith, who got a ride in Rick Marjama's Firebird.

Ready for a steady ride. Meredith has bought the Champion TV car No. 36, with Right at the start, with the green being waived without previous warmup laps, the cold tires caused a few spins among the front pack runners, with LeRoy Porter's mount suffering the worst damage.

Keene jumped on the point right off the bat, with Rogers getting glued to the leader's back bumper in the turns, as the flying lead pair had to deal with heavylapped car traffic early in the race.

A few car lengths back was the red hot Faulk-Eads duel. Not far behind, a crowdpleasing, contact-filled war on wheels was taking place between the Skyharbor Aviation. 1986 Pontiac Firebird of Frank Wood, Cook, Bill Bigley Jr., Strickland and Meredith.

Finally, on lap 38, in the heat of the action, young Bigley was hit and he crashed. Bigley, although not at fault, was the first one to test the new steel guard rail installed on top of the front stretch wall.

With 20 laps to go, leader Keene's brakes super-talented, clean-cut youngster sur- had faded completely and showers of sparks were flying off the front brake calipers. Increasing the pressure, Rogers almost got

Although it took the lead, Leto played the rest of the game like it was trailing as it continued its relentless offensive attack. Griffing made a number of excellent saves the last 14 minutes but Lake Mary had a scant few offensive chances.

We were using too many people on desense and not get-ting enough on offense," Mc-Corkle said. "And we needed someone to take charge. It wasn't a character flaw, just inexperience."

Lake Mary did have a good scoring chance in the last minute of play when it pushed everyone on offense including Griffing. But, while Darrand Richards got the ball in position. the Rams couldn't put the finishing touches on.

"A lot of little things added up on us." McCorkle said. "We missed some passes that could have resulted in shots. When you're playing a team like Leto. you have to take advantage of those chances.

"Something we saw in the tournament that was, even when we didn't play well, we still played with a team the calibre of Leto," added McCorkle. "We're still fairly young and need some more games like this but I think we have enough talent to go to the final four in the state. That's our goal."

In football, Lake Mary's Rams were initiated into the big time as they won the district title for the second year in a row and then went on to win the region title with a victory over Lake City Columbia at Lake City. Lake Mary bowed out to powerful Pensacola Woodham but the football program at the youngest Seminole County school seems to be headed for bigger and better things. Lake Mary's Harry Nelson was named Evening Herald Coach of the Year and running back John touchdowns.

Curry was Herald Sophomore of the Year. Ray Hartsfield, the only county player to earn All-County honors at two positions (wide receiver and defensive back) was the honorary captain. Rams' Marty Hopkins, Byron Washington, Brett Molle, Shannon Porter and Shane Letterio were also All-County firstteam selections.

Other honors went to Seminole linebacker Brian Brinson, who was named Herald Defensive Player of the Year and Ovledo running back Andrew Smith, who was named Herald Offensive Player of the Year. Brinson led the county with 166 tackles and Smith ran for over 1,500 yards and scored 14

The public becomes increasingly concerned about AIDS as actor Rock Hudson dies of the disease.

By the end of the year, more than 13,000 Americans had died of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. But public awareness of the fatal condition heightened when popular film star Rock Hudson, 59, died of it.

The vast majority of AIDS' victims were male homosexuals or intravenous drug users. Researchers said that adults could only contract AIDS through intimate sexual contact, use of a contaminated hypodermic necdle or a blood transfusion containing the virus. Infants whose mothers have the disease are also at risk.

Many Americans, however, feared contracting the disease through casual contact. Concern about it was believed to be a major role in the resounding defeat of a homosexual rights measure in Houston.

în several areas, parents kept their children out of school when they learned that a child with AIDS - or related to someone with it - would be attending Thousands die in natural disesters in Latin America.

On Sept. 19 and 20, a major earthquake and its aftershock shook Mexico, killing more than 4,000 people, most in Mexico City. Hundreds of buildings were destroyed or damaged beyond repair and thousands of people were left homeless.

In Colombia, on Nov. 13, the volcano Nevada del Ruiz erupted, creating avalanches of mud and water that killed as many as 25,000 people and virtually buried an entire town.

agriculture. Bumper harvests added to the problems of the American farmer, as farm prices adn the value of farmland continued to decline. Farmers who had borrowed money when interest rates were high lost their land through foreclosure. Rural businesses and banks failed and entire towns faced extinction.

In March, the Department of Agriculture estimated that 6.3 percent of all family farms were insolvent and that another 7.4 percent were threatened with insolvency.

America discovers spies in its midst - and a Russian defector goes home.

In one week in November, the United States broke three spy cases - and in each case the spies were allegedly working for a different government.

The major spy case of the year, however, came in the spring when the government arrested John Walker, a retired Navy communications specialist. an accused him of selling secrets to the Russians. Charged with Walker, were his son, his brother and a friend.

In the November roundup, the government charged a Navy intelligence analyst and his wife with spying for Israel, a retired National Security Agency employee with spying for the Soviets, and a CIA employee with spying for China.

But the most intriguing cloak and dagger story of the year involved Vitaly Yurchenko, who earlier in the year became one of the highest ranking Soviet intelligence officials ever to defect to the West.

But on Nov. 4. Yurchenko redefected, charging that he had been captured by U.S. agents.

Sanford Land, Home Values Up, But Industrial Growth Stagnant

1985 was a year of growth in the county with appraised valuations streaking upwards nearly 20 percent: From $5.37 billion to $6.02. Residential, including single family, mobile homes, condominiums and multi-family, account for $4.29 billion while commercial and industrial valuations total $790 million. Exempt properties total $280 million and the balance, $656 million, is in vacant and unimproved land.

And the value of that vacant land is on a fast ride up, according to local officials, which will result in more multiple-family housing and less industrial usage.

"Industrial growth was flat in 1985 and 1986 will not see a change," said Roy L. Harris, Jr., president of the Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida. "Much can be attributed to the Congress and indecision about the depreciation allowance. Also, the problems with utilities have tended to dent growth. But the lack of reasonably priced land is caus-

All experts agree in a few areas: The population of the county will continue to grow; the tax base will continue to expand; and property values will continue their upward spiral.

Because of crowding at the jail. the state began to pressure Seminole County to enlarge its jail facility. Throughout 1985, a one-penny sales tax was added to fund a new jail. Known as the One-Cent Criminal Justice Sales Tax it appeared on the general election ballot in 1984 and was passed overwhelmingly by Seminole County residents. About $13 million was expected to be raised by the tax. The jail tentatively will be expanded from 236 beds to 500.

Racial discord resulted in a family's home being burned to the ground in Casselberry.

1985 was the year Rodney Hamilton and his family were torched out of their home in a Casselberry neighborhood where racial tension had been festering for several years. Two men were arrested in connection with the fire. The fire was preceded by a plague of fights and threats. There were no injuries in the September blaze.

A Deltona boy, subsequently identified, was buried in a pauper's grave because law officials didn't exchange information about an unidentified body.

William Bryant, 15, died Sept. 8 when his bicycle was struck from behind on U.S. Highway 17-92 in DeBary. Two days later, his parents, unaware of the accident, reported the boy missing. DEAR ABBY: Last New Year's Eve you published some New Year's resolutions. I cut that column out and taped it on my bathroom mirror where I could read it every morning. I, want you to know that it has helped me to become a better person. I am not saying that I kept every one of those resolutions every day, but I kept most of them. and they have now become habits that have made a remarkable improvement in my per-

NEVER TOO OLD

DEAR NEVER: The "resolutions" column has become an established annual tradition: DEAR READERS: These New Year's resolutions are based on the original credo of Alcoholics Anonymous. I have taken the liberty of using that theme with some variations of my own: Just for today I will live through this day only, and not set far-reaching goals to try to overcome all my problems at once. I know I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime. Just for today I will be happy. Abraham Lincoln said. "Most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be." He was right. I will not dwell on thoughts that depress me. I will replace them with happy thoughts. Just for today I will adjust myself to what is. I will face reality. I will change those things that I can change and accept those things I cannot chase them out of my mind and change. Just for today I will improve my mind. I will not be a mental loafer. I will force myself to read something that requires effort.

Just for today I will do something positive to improve my health. If I'm a smoker, I'll make an honest effort to cut down. If I'm overweight, I'll eat nothing I know is fattening. And I will force myself to exercise - even if it's only walking around the block or using the stairs instead of the elevator. Just for today I will be totally honest. If someone asks me something I don't know, I will not bluff: I'll simply say. "I don't know. Just for today I'll do something I've been putting off for a long time. I'll finally write that letter, make that phone call, clean that closet or straighten out those dresser drawers. Just for today, before I speak I will ask myself. "Is it true? Is it oline the highest? (a) 1977 (b) 1981 (c) kind?" And if the answer to 1973 either of those questions is negative, I won't say it. Just for today I will make a conscious effort to be agreeable. I will look as good as I can, dress becomingly, talk softly, act courteously and not interrupt when someone else is talking. Just for today I'll not improve anybody except myself. Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. thereby saving myself from two pests: hurry and indecision. Just for today I will have a quiet half-hour to relax alone. During this time I will reflect on my behavior and will get a better perspective on my life.

thought and concentration.

Just for today I will be unafraid. I will gather the courage to do what is right and take the responsibility for my own actions. I will expect nothing from the world, but I will realize that as I give to the world, the world will give to me.

Have a happy, healthy New

Beethoven Tops Celebrity List

TOKYO (UPI) - The most popular man in Japan at this time of year is not Japanese and never even visited the country. His name is Ludwig van Beethoven, and his presence looms oddly over the nation's biggest annual holiday.

Across Japan, the end of the old year and the beginning of the new is heralded by the strains of Beethoven's 9th Symphony.

The 9th with choral accompaniment is a prime feature on orchestra bills every day leading up to New Year's Day in major Japanese cities and is performed more frequently here than anywhere in the world.

Nearly every orchestra performs the symphony at least once in late December, and amateur choirs practice for months to learn the tonguetwisting German lyrics.

Recorded versions drone from coffee shops and restaurants, are a staple on television and radio and are a hot-selling item in record stores.

It is one of the stranger adaptations the Japanese have made from Western culture to local custom, but it's all part of the three-day fest that makes New Year's Japan's most widely celebrated holiday.

About 80 million people are expected to crowd temples and shrines Jan. 1-3 to pray for good fortune in the coming year. About 27 million will travel, most within Japan to hot springs and ski resorts.

Families gather to drink sake, eat special holiday foods and give each other oseibo obligatory year-end gifts of liquor and household

Emperor Hirohito, the longest reigning monarch in Japanese history, will start his 61st year with a public appearance at the imperial Palace to offer prayers for the nation.

The following day, the palace gates will swing open and thousands of people will jam the inner grounds.

Through all this, Beethoven plays in the background.

The reasons for the 9th's popularity are somewhat clusive, but it once determined the fate of an entire industry.

When Sony Corp. introduced its first compact discs in 1981, the standard playing time was set at 70 minutes on the insistence of Sony President Norio Oaga, once a professional singer, who wanted the entire 9th to fit on a single disc.

"Japanese generally have great respect for Beethoven as a composer," sald James Loughran. former conductor of the Halle Orchestra in Manchester. England, who was in Tokyo to conduct the 9th at the Japan Philharmonic.

"It seems something in the last movement appeals to them — all men are brothers, good will to everyone, that kind of message," he said.

According to Prof. Kosuke Nakamura, a Beethoven expert at Tsukuba University, there may also be something in "playing his last symphony in the last month of the year."

When Beethoven finished the 9th in 1821, Japan was still a closed feudal land and 32 years away from the day when Commodore Matthew Perry arrived to open it.

The 9th was performed in public for the first time in Tokyo in November 1924, but Nakamura said it didn't gain its present popularity until after World War II, at a time when Japanese were anxious for peace.

The orchestra supported by NHK. Japan's giant public broadcasting network, performed the 9th by chance at New Year's in 1947 for a packed audience and was treated to an unexpectedly wild

"The orchestra then became rich, and others orchestras set sail in the same direction." Nakamura said. Now, he said. "Beethoven's 9th in December is not a muscial affair, but a social fashlon. The 9th has not entirely eclipsed popular music, though.

In another ritual, NHK television will again dominate New Year's Eve programming with its annual "Kohaku," a spectacular 3-hour prime time singoff by the country's most popular

The show usually draws a whopping 60 percent audience share and criticism from competing commercial stations that go largely unwatched.

This year, however, two commercial stations are slotting their own high-budget extravaganzas to win back viewers.

One is even trying to beat NHK at its own game by putting on a worldwide "kohaku" linking popular singers in London, New York, Los Angeles and Hawaii by satellite, for which it is reportedly trying to sign Michael Jackson.

Neo-Nazis Convicted

SEATTLE (UPI) -Ten neo-Nazis found guilty on racketeering charges wanted to topple the government in a racist revolution. but their convictions resulted from specific acts of violence rather than their philosophy. jury members say. The nine men and one woman - alleged members of the racist group known as The Order - were convicted Monday of conspiracy and racketeering at the end of a U.S. District Court trial lasting nearly four months.

Each defendant faces up a maximum 40 years in prison and $25,000 fine. Sentencing will be held Feb. 6 and Feb. 7.

The prosecution linked the defendants to two murders, two armored car robberies. counterfeiting and weapons violations from Pennsylvania to California. Prosecutors said the criminal acts were designed to finance a revolution and install a white supremthe United States.

The men allegedy killed by The Order were Denver radio talk show host Alan Berg, a Jew who spoke out against racists, and white supremacist Walter E. West, who was considered a security risk. The jury of eight women and four men listened to 370 witnesses during 14 weeks, then deliberated for 55 hours before returning a verdict. "We were instructed to base our decision on the evidence," said Mary Ball, jury forewoman. "Their beliefs and all that had nothing to do with it."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Gene Wilson said the verdict "sends a message that you can't do things like this. Obviously, the government is capable of dealing with people who choose to do that."

The conviction also was welcomed by Jewish organizations.

The defendants were among 23 Order acist government in members indicted last April.

The Duck Family's Car Rental Firm Hitting Big Time With Golden Oldies

By Jan A. Zverina UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) -Almost anyone can name the top two car rental firms. Some can even name the top four. But most will have a tough time with the fifth largest one despite its unusual name.

It is Ugly Duckling Rent-A-Car System. Inc., a 7.year.old Tucson, Ariz., firm founded by Tom Duck Sr., now 71. His son. Tom Duck Jr., 37, is the newly elected chief executive officer. The younger Duck's wife. Linda, works in sales and promotion, while his sister, Carolynn. works in merchandising. Even the elder Duck's wife Junta helps run the business which includes a catalog merchandising operation that sells everything from license plate frames to golf shirts.

Not one to linger on the golf links, the senior Duck started his firm with nine used cars and one of his own after retiring as an insurance agent.

"Age is a state of mind," said Duck, who recently attended his 50th reunion at the University of Arizona.

"I do my exercises. pump weights, ride the bicycle, and am probably in better shape than most younger guys." Duck said, although he admits to having a private limousine and chauffeur, one of the perks of owning a firm that gives him a

"comfortable profit." Now with over 550 franchise lots in 41 states and three in last year surpassed taken. Thrifty and Dollar Rent-A-Car in sales, and is closing in on No. 4 new strategy which Budget Rent-A-Car will shore up their used

It is also a family owned and run business which has never been for sale, unlike Avis Inc. and Hertz Corp. which have been bought and sold so many times its hard to keep track of the owner.

Most of Ugly Duckling's rental outlets are at auto dealerships, gas stations, or body shops, not at airports like most of the heavyweights.

"We are not fighting the airports," Duck said. "They get a huge percent of rental car commissions for letting them have those booths, and we would have to do a lot of business just to bid on one of them.

"The airlines offer economy, coach, and excursion fares," he added, "But all you get at an airport are high-cost, high-level new rental cars."

The top firms buy their cars new and sell them either retail or wholesale after a certain time or mileage is reached. The Rent-A-Wreck chain, a name which some people recognize even before National or Budget, has built up its business and image by renting a hodge-podge of older cars.

Ugly Duckling's cars are also used, most being 3 to 7 years old. But they all start when you turn the key and stop when you step on the brakes, says the vounger Duck. They rent for an average $10.95 a day, and all Canada, Ugly Duckling major credit cards are

A full-sized new Ford, for instance, rents for $24.95 a day. A new Chevrolet Sprint subcompact rents for $9.95 a day, and a Renault Alliance convertible for $19.95.

We like to stick with American cars because many imports have a parts problem. Anyway, I don't believe the foreign makes are any more durable," he said. adding that they recently retired their first rental car, a 1973 AMC Hornet which returned more than $35,000 on a $3,500 investment.

The A fleet cars then move into the B fleet, which consists of cars up to 5 years old that rent for still lower prices. As the A fleet ages, the new car loans are refinanced, enabling the company to continue to depreciate the B cars while keeping a cash reserve for future new car purchases.

"We work with financial credit organizations like ITT to back us because they know that not only do we have a good idea, we know how to make it pay off." Duck said.

After five years the B cars enter the C fleet. where each one gets a large Ugly Ducking

'It's free advertising which a lot of people don't mind doing for us." Duck Sr. said. And by the time cars enter the C fleet, they are fully paid for.

Each fleet has a full range of cars, from the smallest to the largest. A recently signed agreement allows renters to have the cars repaired at any K mart Corp. auto center. K where they rent at 'mart also services the cars regularly and keeps a computer printout to make sure franchisees perform all needed work.

Duck said the new strategy will provide even stronger financing capabilities for Ugly Duckling.

"You can't bulldoze away years of financing practices overnight. but we think that this program is something that will turn their heads around," he said.

Not one to be called a sitting duck, the company is now looking into picking up reposessed cars.

"Everyone would be happy. We get a car and the bank gets its money," Duck said.

Being Bedridden Boring But Won't Cause Illness

DEAR DR. GOTT - I was paralyzed in a fall seven years ago, and for the last five years I have been confined to my hospital bed because of the chronic pain I suffer. I realize living in bed is not healthy, but it is the only way it seems I can survive. The problem is I just don't feel good. I have flu-like symptoms most of the time. I itch a lot and have erratic sleep patterns. Could you give me some pointers and some literature that I might read to correct my condition?

DEAR READER - Being bedridden is, as you point out, a discouraging way to live. However, the inactivity, by itself, is not a likely cause of your symptoms. Rather than relying on reading materials to correct your condition, you would probably be more effectively helped it you asked your doctor to bring in some specialists. You could be suffering an allergic reaction to medications or bedding materi-

Also, you don't say where your chronic pain is located but I think you need, at the very least, a physiatrist (M.D. trained in rehabilitation). Modern methods of treating paralysis can often produce amazing improvement in patients' mobility, independence and emotional outlook.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have been taking the blood thinner dipyridamole for almost two years. However, a year ago I had a slight stroke. Does this mean that the dipyridamole hasn't done any good?

DEARREADER -Dipyridamole is not really a blood thinner. It is supposed to prevent tiny blood cells' (platelets) from sticking together and forming the basis for clots in your blood vessels. Some recent evidence indicates that aspirin has the same effect and may be as useful as (and less expensive than) dipyridamole. If your doctor felt that your blood really should be thinned tanticoagulated), he would have prescribed a drug like Coumadin, which chemically interrupts the blood-clotting 68 Thing (Lat.) mechanism.

DEAR DR. GOTT - 1 am a 55-year-old female who, for the past few years, has had problems with a swelling abdomen. I've had two upper- and lower-G.I series and routine hysterectomy. I'm on Cinobac 500 for a severe bladder infection. I used to drink, so I'm worried it might be cirrhosis of What can you suggest?

DEAR READER - Cinoxacin (Cinobac) is an antibiotic that can cause a variety of intestinal side effects. Although abdominal

WIN AT BRIDGE

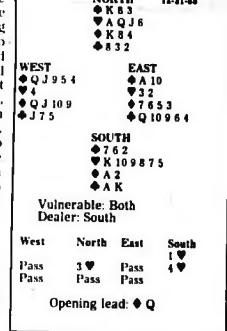

By James Jacoby

There isn't much drama in today's deal. If you are declarer in four hearts, you could probably throw the hand in at trick one, saying something like "I'll draw trumps and lead up to the king of spades: if West has the ace. I make an overtrick." No one could quarrel with that statement, but let's just suppose that through some partnership aberration you had reached a contract of five hearts. Would you play it the same way?

can give yourself an extra the remaining spade loser from chance of doing better at no risk at all to your overtrick. Let then play to the diamond king to the acc.

and ruff dummy's last diamond. Now it is time to play toward the king of spades. But just because you are playing toward that king does not mean you have toimmediately play if. West should play the jack or queen, and when he does, let him hold that trick. He'll now continue spades, QJ 109 and there is nothing wrong with | $\int J75 your now playing the king. which will lose to the ace. But lo and behold. East has no more spades to play and must lead a minor suit card, allowing you to This deal illustrates how you trump in one hand and dump the other.

This line of play will always declarer win the ace of yield II tricks whenever West diamonds, play one round of holds the spade ace. You can trumps and then cash the A-K of also give yourself the extra clubs. Now he can play a trump chance of making 11 tricks to dummy and ruff a club, and when East holds only two spades
