Most Veterans Are On The Job USES Reports

By JANE BADS WASHINGTON - The United States Employment Service (USES) reports that of the approximately 12,810,000 male vetrans of World War II about 11,290,000 are in the nation's civlian labor force.

This represents those actually employed or those seeking em-ploment. The total number of employed veterans, according to a Census Bureau survey released Oct. 10, la 10,460,000.

Census figures show that 740, entered the civilian labor force.

The 10,460,000 employed represents an increase of 7,350,000 over to $3.50.

Nov. 1945. First USES reports coming in from labor market areas indicated that enrollment of vaterans to schools and colleges were important fatcors in reducing labor surluses in certain areas.
This will make itself felt in some labor market areas, but in others, especially where skilled or seinl-skilled labor is in great demand, USES says it will have little effect.

The USES points out that if you took 400,000 to 500,000 skilled or semiskilled permanent workers

"The corn was of poor quality because we had an early frost and wet weather," Dr. Burmeitser said.

"The frost came before most of it was matured. It had to be harvested in an immaure stage. This means that it had less nutritional ways. means that it had less nutritional value. More of it had to be used to fatten fewer animals."

Normally a corn crop can be carried over to the following summer and used to fatten hogs and cattle. Experts said this year's earry-over was of such poor quality it began to mold carry and had to fed before warm weather arrived in the spring. Thus the shortage

Thanks To The OPA

During the past 25 years there have been times when for one reason or another our newsprint supply was very low though as a rule we tried to carry enough to last for about six months. Never before have we reached the point when our supply was completely exhausted. That happened to us yesterday when after weeks of effort to obtain more newsprint, we had to get the Celery City Printing Company to print our paper on part of the small supply of flat (job) stock which they had on hand.

This entails considerable inconvenience not only to our staff but also to the Celery City Printing Company as they, too, of course, are behind with their orders. It also entails considerable additional expense to ourselves, for, while the OPA insists we cannot afford to pay more than 5 cents a pound for rolled newsprint, we have to pay 9 cents a pound for the job stock on which we are now printing.

The difficulties of printing a daily newspaper on a job press may not be readily apparent to the average subscriber, but they involve not only setting the type and locking it into forms in one office and then carrying them to another plant a block away for printing, but also printing the paper on one side, then printing it on the other side, then folding each and every one of over three thousand papers by hand, instead of doing all of this in one operation as it is done on a newspaper press.

Furthermore, it is impossible for us to print more than four pages on any one day unless we double the operations listed above, and double our use of our limited supply of paper. It will consequently be necessary to restrict drastically the length and number of the news stories which we can publish and hold advertising to a minimum: We hate to do this as the jobs of our employees are dependent upon a steady flow of advertising the widest possible circulation of our paper.

Meanwhile, we are in hopes that the OPA may soon see the error of its ways and rescind its ceilings on newsprint prices. We believe that there will be plenty of newsprint available as soon as these ceilings are lifted.
