Citrus Crop Report For the Year 1922-24 Shows Good Returns

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 17.—The citrus crop will exceed early production estimates, according to the monthly crop report for April, made public by Sam T. Fleming, federal agricultural statistician here.

The report continues: Harvesting of the present season's citrus crop is well advanced. With the increasing production of recent years, there has been a noticeable increase in the percentage of the crop to move by April 1.

For this season, indications are that approximately ninety-two per cent of the orange crop and over eighty per cent of the grapefruit crop is off of the trees.

Allowing for a somewhat heavier than usual tail-end movement this season, on account of late bloom, production will run a half million, or more, boxes ahead of the September estimate of fifteen million boxes.

Early prospects for the 1923-24 season are good. Condition of bearing orange areas is 95 per cent of normal compared with 92 per cent a month ago, 96 per cent a year ago, and a usual condition of about 97 per cent at this time.

Prospects for limes are the same as for a month ago, condition being 88 per cent compared with 85 per cent for last year and the same figure for usual condition at this time.

Condition of peaches is 72 per cent, much below a usual figure as the result of the February cold which killed early bloom. Late varieties have set a good crop.

Prospects for pears are uncertain, condition is 75 per cent of normal, lower than usual for April 1 on account of early indications of blight.

South Florida reports condition of avocados at 98 per cent of normal with a good bloom for both this crop and mangoes.

Planting of field crops is nearly complete. Early plantings are showing a good stand and cultivation is in progress.

Central Florida's tomato prospects are good and show a splendid recovery from March 1 condition. Movement has started on a small scale.

The acreage in field crops is larger than for last year, with a smaller than usual percentage of tillable land lying out.

There is no serious shortage of farm labor in Florida. Certain sections report a sharp increase of needs over the supply but for the state as a whole, supply and demand are nicely balanced.

Increased farming activities this year have driven the demand for farm labor up to 96 per cent of normal. In the cotton belt of the state, it is 98 per cent and in South Florida 110 per cent.

STATE-WIDE INVESTIGATION INTO FLOGGING OF CONVICTS IN STATE AND COUNTY CAMPS

Will Be Called By Joint Legislative Committee of Florida Legislature

TALLAHASSEE, April 17.—The amended house resolution calling for a state wide investigation into the flogging and other cruelties to convicts in both state and county convict camps by a joint legislative investigating committee, was unanimously passed by the senate, following Senator Lindsey's speech.

The joint committee reconvened this morning from its week end recess. While vested with the authority to conduct a state wide investigation, it was announced that the Tabert case would be the first gone into on the points of conviction, leasing and death, as set out in a resolution adopted by the North Dakota legislature, which requested the Florida legislature to make a full investigation.

The expected outbreak in the senate over the house resolution failed. Senator Lindsey, in his address said: "This senate received from the senate of North Dakota a resolution couched in deferential language asking us to make an investigation."

"I welcome it," continued the speaker, "and am proud that they put it in such language."

Senator Lindsey, in supporting his attempt to have the investigation broadened, cited the case of C. L. Denmark, boss of a state road camp near Jacksonville, reported to have administered brutal treatment to prisoners, and he brought in the governor's name in a critical light.

The governor, he said, was directly responsible for the employment of the inspectors. He touched upon the efforts of Commissioner of Agriculture McRae to have Denmark discharged, and the refusal of Chairman H. B. Phillips of the state road department to remove him.

"We all know that he is at a certain peculiar disadvantage in this matter," he said, referring to the chief executive.

Declaring that the governor stands in a position in which the responsibility is upon him, the senator said, that "honesty is the best policy—certainly in this situation it is true to the last degree. And the answer of this senate, based upon such inquiries as are contemplated and provided for in the senate resolution will be the effective answer. Let us tell the honest truth about conditions as we find them and let us do it so we will apply the proper legislation for conditions as they exist."

The senate's broadening of the scope of the inquiry must be concurred in by the house. Meanwhile, Speaker L. D. Edge of that body, had another report of maltreatment of leased convicts in the form of a Lee county grand jury presentment, which charged that convicts of that county, leased to the Mars Turpentine company, and worked at a camp six or seven miles in the woods from Mardock's, were inhumanly treated. Seven of them were diseased but still at hard work when the grand jury made its inquiry, the presentment set forth.

Their skins were broken, their bodies bare running sores, and they were required to live amid filthy conditions, and a negro with an incurable disease.

The inquiry yesterday revealed that a copy of the report had also been sent to Governor Hardee, along with a telegram from the county commissioners of Fort Myers. The governor asked the commissioner of agriculture for an immediate investigation which was promptly instituted.

Reports of Prison Inspector J. O. Gates, covering the camp, made public for the months of January, February and March, reported the "punishments" as seven, twelve and five, respectively, while other conditions, including sanitary were in each instance described as "good." Punishments according to the report is to be confined to ten lashes.

People Depend Upon Government for Roads — Idea is All Wrong

(By The Associated Press) GREENVILLE, S. C., April 17.—An increasing number of people are depending too much on the national government, former United States Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, declared in an address here today before the joint conventions of the United States Good Roads association and the Bankhead National Highway association. He spoke on the question of federal aid law.

Mr. Townsend stressed the importance of each local community feeling the necessity for economical efficiency in the expenditure of money on highways. The federal aid law, in the passage of which he played a prominent part, he said, was designed to eliminate as much as possible the "port" feature which he said "menaced the river and harbor appropriations and was seriously threatening all federal aid appropriations."

Senator Townsend gave statistics relating to the plan of the federal government to aid in building seven per cent of the most important road mileage in each state at a final cost to the government of three billions of dollars. He said the farmer, once an enemy of the automobile, now was the greatest automobile owner and as a result was becoming an ardent advocate of good roads.

"The auto truck is the most destructive agent of good roads. Its weight and speed should be regulated by the states and its license fees materially increased. The taxpayers will no longer endure the construction by taxation of roads costing on an average of $17,500 a mile if after they are built they are allowed to be destroyed by negligence or misuse.

are depending too much upon the federal government. They seem to think that it can do what the state cannot do; that appropriations from the federal treasury and gifts which costs them nothing and therefore ought to be encouraged and that the wasteful expenditure of these appropriations is to them a matter of indifference.

"Hence the importance of each local community feeling the necessity for economy and efficiency in the expenditure of money. This they will not feel so long as they believe that one-half the money comes from Washington and, therefore, costs them nothing. You must insist that the roads be built and maintained economically and according to the best scientific knowledge of the art of road building; that they shall be located, not to serve politicians, but to serve best the industrial and commercial needs of the whole country."

Senator Townsend said that the need of suitable highways to interstate commerce was also being increasingly shown and that the federal government was especially charged with facilitating it by aiding to build trunk lines.

"These trunk lines," he said, "connecting the state furnish the backbone of a system of roads with which will readily be connected the ribs and other parts of the body industrial, reaching into every section of the country, and also will furnish all of the highways that would be required in any emergency for military roads."

The ultimate cost will be approximately three billions dollars, he said.

FRANCE TO "CARRY ON FOR PEACE"

PARIS, April 17.—Reaffirming France's intention to withdraw from the newly occupied territory only as Germany makes her reparation payment, Premier Poincare in his Dunkirk speech yesterday, asserted that three months in the Ruhr had convinced France of Germany's ability to meet her coal deliveries.

The address, delivered at a dedication of a monument to Dunkirk's 1,500 war dead, expressed a vigorous renewal of France's determination "to carry on" and win the "peace" as she had bent every effort to "win the war."

Three months in the Ruhr, the premier said, had convinced France, that Germany could have made the coal deliveries asked of her as the Reich had been able to get along without her fuel.

"We have proof that she could have paid us in foreign exchange," he said, "as she now expends large sums abroad."

The occupation also had brought to light, the premier asserted, the military organizations which the Reich concealed as in upper Silesia, under the inoffensive name of security police.

Large advertisement for insurance. Text: "How to Insure Sales for Your Product! The chief asset of any business is the demand for its product. As long as that demand continues, the business is on a sure foundation. But let that demand subside, and every other asset of the business is in danger of becoming a liability. In times of prosperity and a rising market there is a general demand for the products of industry that comes to be accepted as a matter of course. It is seldom listed among the assets of the business—it is simply assumed that it will always be there. Changes in business conditions have little effect on a steady consumer demand for trade-marked articles of common use. The dealer may carry a lighter stock, and for a short time the demand through the jobber may seem curtailed; but just as sure as customers are calling on the dealer for the product, he is sure to supply it, and orders soon begin to flow in to make up for the temporary curtailment. The total consumption continues about the same. Any manufacturer who has an article for popular consumption that can be trade-marked has the opportunity to insure his consumer market and retail sales by means of Advertising. During the present business condition the manufacturers who have insured their demand by Advertising are in a far better position—in every way—than those who have trusted to the current demand that was not of their creating. But, overnight, conditions may change—as they have done before—and the matter-of-course demand becomes conspicuous by its absence. The business, once strong and flourishing, is suddenly found to be in a very tight place. The demand had not been insured—and yet the entire business depended upon its continuance. The modern, economical way to insure the market for any reliable product is by Advertising to the public which consumes it. Advertising creates a steadily increasing number of customers who desire the product, and ask for it by name. Published by the Sanford Daily Herald In co-operation with the American Association of Advertising Agencies"

NEW YORK, April 17.—Baseball prophets, noted for their inability in October to remember what they predicted in April, made their 1923 guesses yesterday, the eve of the major league season.

St. Augustine Takes First Palatka Tilt

ST. AUGUSTINE, April 17.—In a game that was chuck full of interest from start to finish, St. Augustine defeated Palatka 3 to 1, Sunday afternoon in the opening game of the season for both nines.

Cliff Cole had slightly the better of a pitching duel with Richardson, allowing but four scattered hits, 3 bingles coming in his third inning, which coupled with two sacrifice hits, and a walk netted three runs for the home folks.

twirlers skilled in either league, Meusel and Sehang are capable of carrying on a consistent and effective attack along with Ruth.

The attack forces of Detroit, the dope says, will carry them far, but their pitching corps does not rank as high as those of the White Sox, Athletics or the Browns. With a more dependable pitching staff, Cobb would have an even chance the prophets think of nosing out the Yanks.

Gleason's men, the Athletics and the Browns are given places below the Yanks and Detroit, the Browns mainly because of the absence from the lineup of George Sisler. If Sisler returned to the game during the first month of the season, however, St. Louis is conceded a place with the Cobb men as the Yankee's closest rivals.

Cleveland, Washington and the Red Sox are given second division classifications. The American League season opens Wednesday with the Red Sox aiding the Yankees in chiseling the stadium in the Bronx, Washington at Philadelphia, Detroit at St. Louis and Chicago at Cleveland.

PAPER MOVES PLANT, LIKE NEWS, RAPIDLY

NEW YORK, April 16.—Transfer of a newspaper plant over a three-mile route, beginning when the presser ran off the last edition this morning, was accomplished by the New York Tribune today when it moved into its new home in West 107th street from Printing House Square opposite city hall, the site on which it was founded by Horace Greeley. Monday's edition will be printed with the entire mechanical appliances used twenty-four previously, through the rapid work of a fleet of trucks and 300 skilled mechanics. By police permission the trucks traversed the distance in less than half the ordinary time. The seven-story building, which will be occupied exclusively by the newspaper, is said to be the most modern of its kind.

There are 27 professional baseball leagues, covering territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the interior of Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. Players number 2,200.

END OF AMERICAN ISOLATION IN SIGHT

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 16.—Membership of the United States in the United States in the International Court of Justice "is the beginning of the end of American isolation," declared James M. Cox, presidential nominee of the democrats in 1920, in an address at a Jefferson day banquet here. Mr. Cox expressed confidence that the senate would approve membership in the court and asserted that "the work of conversion is over." "There should be no disposition at the Jeffersonian observance to exult over the confusion in the ranks of the Old Guard in the republican party," said Mr. Cox. "The mere circumstance of hundreds of thousands of republicans coming to the democratic viewpoint in international questions is sufficient unto our joy at this hour."

Because the Athletic Commission of Minnesota forbids boxing bouts between white men and negroes, the state does not permit fights of any kind to be held. The commission is charged with violating the Fourteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution.

SENATE ABOLISHES OFFICE OF RURAL SCHOOL INSPECTOR

TALLAHASSEE, April 17.—The senate today passed, 17 to 12, a measure by Senator Russell providing for the abolition of the office of the state rural school inspector, the subject of an onslaught at the last session. Today's success on the part of the abolitionists came at the end of about 30 minutes of debate, and found many of the senators who are favoring other bills designed to help educational work in the state voting for the death of the inspectors.

The senate also passed a measure by Senator Lindsey, which would give effect to the constitutional amendment adopted last November, providing for an increased millage in special school districts up to ten mills. The house several days ago passed a measure having the same purpose.

Jeanne La Mar, champion woman featherweight boxer of the world, is matched to fight Miss Ida Schall, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for the feminine featherweight title of the world.

Of the four tennis matches played between Susanne Lenglen and Molla Mallory, Lenglen won three, and Mallory one.

...MAGIC NAMES...

The influence of advertising is apparent in every turn of my daily life. I find I cannot disregard it. It is always with me, guiding me in my pleasures and in my duties, telling me what I should eat, wear, and use and what I should buy for my family. I find that there is on the tip of my tongue a multitude of names the mention of which will bring from some shelf nearly everything that I can use in my daily life and in the daily life of my family.

In every instance that name means a very definite promise and assurance of something substantial and which will make me feel completely satisfied about having exchanged my money for it. Let me say a few things which these names—these old friends of the newspaper and magazine pages—mean to me. They mean good taste. For certainly I desire to do the thing that I believe discriminating people have judged best.

They mean convenience. It is not necessary to describe the thing I want. Even the most intimate articles may be purchased without embarrassment since the advertisers have given us handy names.

They mean assurance in shopping. There is no indecision. Even before I enter the shop I know what I want to buy.

And certainly they mean satisfaction. For the advertiser whose product is not good cannot continue to advertise. The fact that I have seen a name repeated over and over again assures me that it stands for a product of quality. In speaking that name to the clerk I know I am asking for the best. I am a more judicious shopper because I buy advertised goods. I patronize the shop that sells them.
