Surplus property to be sold

LONGWOOD — The cities of Casselberry and Longwood are having a joint surplus property sale Saturday to dispose of everything from cars and trucks to office supplies and equipment.

Seventeen cars, 10 trucks, 8 motorcycles, a van and a bus are for sale.

Cars and trucks comprise most of the items for sale from Casselberry ranging from 1975 to 1990 models, with milages from 41,070 to 92,295. Longwood is selling four cars, five trucks, a bus and four motorcycles. The vehicles are Fords, Chevrolets, GMC and Dodges from the cities' police and public works departments. All of the motorcycles on the auction block are Kawasakis.

In addition to the vehicles, Longwood is selling four file cabinets, calculators, typewriters, copy machines, a mower, chipper and fertilizer spreader. Casselberry is also selling an edger.

Terms of the sale are cash or cashier's checks, according to Longwood purchasing director Rhonda Ledford. The sale is being conducted at the Longwood Public Works Complex, 180 E. Warren Avenue beginning at 11 a.m. A preview of the items for sale will be Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. and prior to the sale Saturday morning beginning at 9 a.m.

Three houses condemned

SANFORD — Three houses were condemned by Seminole County commissioners Tuesday.

Unless the owners repair them by March 16, the county's condemnation inspector said they will be razed within a week. The condemnations follow the county's effort to clear blight from neighborhoods.

In Midway, 2187 Sipes Ave. and 2201 Water St. were condemned. Both buildings were declared public nuisances by commissioners Jan. 12 for debris and unsafe conditions at the structures. In Winwood Park, near Altamonte Springs, 105 Station St. was condemned.

Commissioners gave Catherine Marks 90 days to repair her structure at 1701 Tangerine Ave. in Lockhart's subdivision near Sanford. Marks told commissioners she had been away but planned to return to her home by May and would have it repaired.

Clarification

In a March 3 article regarding the arrest of Miles Craig on charges that he molested a young boy, Orange County HRS supervisor Arrie Owens was said to have refused comment. Owens was not available that morning, however, he said that he can not comment on Craig or his situation because of his "unfamiliarity with the particulars of the case."

Dead body identified

Roommate extradited, charged with murder

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A body recovered near St. Augustine Tuesday was identified this morning as that of a missing Altamonte Springs man who police say was murdered.

Altamonte Springs police spokesman Mark Anderson said the place where the body of Michael Angelo Rodriguez, 29, was found was located by the man charged with the murder.

Chad "Luke" Garrison, 27, waived extradition, and was returned to Seminole County Tuesday, from Richmond, Va. "One of our officers and a deputy sheriff drove up to get him," Anderson said, "and on the way back, they stopped in St. Johns County where Garrison showed the officers where he had hidden Rodriguez's body."

Garrison had been arrested in Richmond by Virginia Highway Patrol troopers. It started as a routine traffic stop, when officers saw a radar detector in the car he was driving. Radar detectors are illegal in Virginia.

A subsequent computer check revealed that the car Garrison was driving had belonged to Rodriguez, and was reportedly taken following the murder.

"St. Johns County officials positively identified the body through fingerprints," Anderson said. "They determined that the cause of death was a trauma to the head."

According to reports filed in connection with the case, Garrison is believed to have been involved in the murder of Rodriguez, in Altamonte Springs, on February 24. The two men had reportedly been roommates at the Capistrano condominium.

The written arrest report said Garrison had confessed to beating Rodriguez to death with a fireplace log, then putting the body covered with a blanket in Rodriguez's car. He then reportedly drove to Elkton, near St. Augustine, where the report said he was believed to have buried the body.

Anderson said he did not know exactly when

Science teacher builds a winning team of students

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Wayne Frongello, a science teacher at South Seminole Middle School in Casselberry, has been named the top teacher in Seminole County for the 1992-93 school year.

Art Woodruff, a physics and journalism teacher at Seminole High School, and Rebecca Dean, a second grade teacher at Goldsboro Elementary School, were named as runners up.

In a ceremony this morning at the Casselberry school, Frongello was surprised by family, friends and school district administrators with the announcement.

Frongello, who was selected from among 46 nominees in the district, will represent Seminole County in the state contest to be held later this spring.

Frongello, who teaches sixth, seventh and eighth graders, said he became interested in teaching after

County airs height limits

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — The majority of Seminole County commissioners are leaning towards relaxing their 15-foot sign height limitation.

In a worksession Tuesday, three of the four commissioners present declared the Dec. 1, 1992 deadline to enforce the limitation should either be extended for four years or not mandated unless the business changes hands or the sign is to physically change. No decisions were reached. Another discussion has been tentatively scheduled for April 12.

Only commissioner Bob Sturm was adamant about keeping the deadline.

"We gave businesses a sufficient amount of time," said Sturm. "We need to take a stand."

But led by commissioner Larry Furlong, three commissioners said

Should teens be penalized for smoking?

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Trying to curtail teen-agers use of tobacco by taking their driver's license or imposing curfews and fines probably won't work according to some Seminole High School students.

"I think it is dumb to try and pass a law like that," said 15-year old Matt Gioielli. Gioielli uses smokeless tobacco. I play a lot of sports and the coaches don't like it if you smoke." He added that many coaches use smokeless tobacco, too. Although Gioielli doesn't have a Florida license yet, he said he might think twice about using tobacco if he couldn't drive, but probably not.

"I've quit (using smokeless tobacco) once before when I moved to Texas," he said, "but I started again when I moved back here."

Although it is currently illegal for someone to sell a person under 18 tobacco products, Gioielli says he is rarely questioned about his age and has no trouble making the purchase.

A bill working its way through several House committees would penalize people under 18 for

Ecologists question exploratory wells

MIAMI — Oil drilling in the Everglades drew a step closer following release of a study saying Shell Oil Co.'s proposed exploratory wells won't threaten the environment.

But skeptical ecology groups say they are not satisfied with the federal environmental impact statement released Wednesday on the proposed drilling site on Miccosukee Indian reservation in western Broward County.

The holes would be slanted diagonally under Everglades water conservation areas where current state rules prohibit direct drilling, said Joe Podgor, director of Friends of the Everglades.

"Along with oil, they draw up a goodly amount of other things, including salt water, lubricants, drilling mud, and heavily mineralized water," Podgor said. "All have to be disposed of on Indian property in some way, and could have a very detrimental effect on water quality if they get loose."

Release of the draft environmental impact statement represents the first step toward possible approval of the plan late this year by two federal agencies, the Bureau of Land Management and the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Feces in bread claim denied

POMPANO BEACH — A woman who had eaten part of a loaf of bread made from a Winn-Dixie supermarket and bakery, according to a lawsuit filed against a supermarket and bakery.

But the Winn-Dixie supermarket and Flowers Baking Co. of Miami deny the claim and have refused to settle out of court.

The Pompano Beach woman, Kim Carrigan, bought the loaf of Nature's Own from a Winn-Dixie in Pompano Beach in January 1982, the suit filed in Broward County Court said.

Two days later, she said, she was eating a slice when she noticed there were feces on the loaf.

The suit asks for more than $10,000 in damages from both parties. Alan Braverman, Carrigan's attorney, said his client is still traumatized over the incident.

3 black women file suit against Dillard's

TAMPA — Three University of South Florida students have filed a lawsuit against Dillard's department store, accusing them of policies designed to discourage blacks from shopping there.

The three black women — Joie Colon, Katrina Humphreys and Sabrina Drain were arrested at Dillard's in University Mall on Nov. 13 and charged with trespass and disorderly conduct, according to courthouse records.

The suit, which asks damages in excess of $15,000, was filed Friday in Hillsborough County Circuit Court and alleges that the women, who say they were planning to buy blue jeans, were followed throughout the store by an off-duty Florida Highway Patrol trooper because they are black. The Tampa Tribune reported Wednesday.

"My clients get tired of being followed and treated like criminals," Bruce Kleinberg, an attorney who represents the women, said. "The trooper was implementing a policy of Dillard's to survey and otherwise discourage minorities from shopping there."

Ted Gestman, chairman of the state's Florida division, issued a statement Tuesday saying the women's allegations had been fully investigated "and are without merit" and that "we fully expect Dillard's and its employees to be vindicated."

Ball set in killing of officers

MELBOURNE — A judge has set ball at $75,000 for a man charged with killing two police officers while driving drunk.

The defendant, 34-year-old Kevin O'Neill, also was ordered to submit to random blood-alcohol testing no more than twice weekly if he can make bail.

Home and garden event

Name it, Ixora will have it at spring show tomorrow

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Ixora Garden Club is dedicated to the improvement of the City of Sanford.

Through a variety of projects from landscaping to scholarship awards, the club has been working to making life better for the citizens of the area.

One of its biggest fundraisers of the year is the annual spring luncheon and home and garden show, which will be tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For the event the Sanford Civic Center will be transformed into a wonderland of plants, crafts and baked delicacies.

"It is really a unique event," said Rose Long, president of the club. "Of course, the primary function is to raise money, but this is really a social event as well."

Long said that former Sanfordites, from as far away as Atlanta, plan trips to Sanford at this time of year to take part in the show, because they know that they will be able to see many of their friends all in one place.

Long said there will be 350 people eating lunch at the civic center tomorrow.

In addition, there will be plants for sale by members of the Ixora Club throughout the day. The plants, most of them perennials, will represent a wide variety of species.

"We will have a greater selection than most of the local nurseries," Long said. "The plants are beautiful."

Members of the club will be able to answer many gardening and planting questions from the public. If they are unable, however, to answer a particular question, Master Gardeners from the Seminole County extension service will be on hand to assist.

Members of the Ixora Club are not only experts in the garden, they are very proficient in the kitchen as well, Long said. Home baked products from their kitchens will be on sale tomorrow as well.

"There'll be some wonderful goodies available for sale," Long said.

Ixora members have also put together a cookbook of some of their favorite recipes, from the baked goods that will be available tomorrow to entrees, appetizers and more.

Artisans and crafters from as far away as California will be on hand to show off and sell their items at the show.

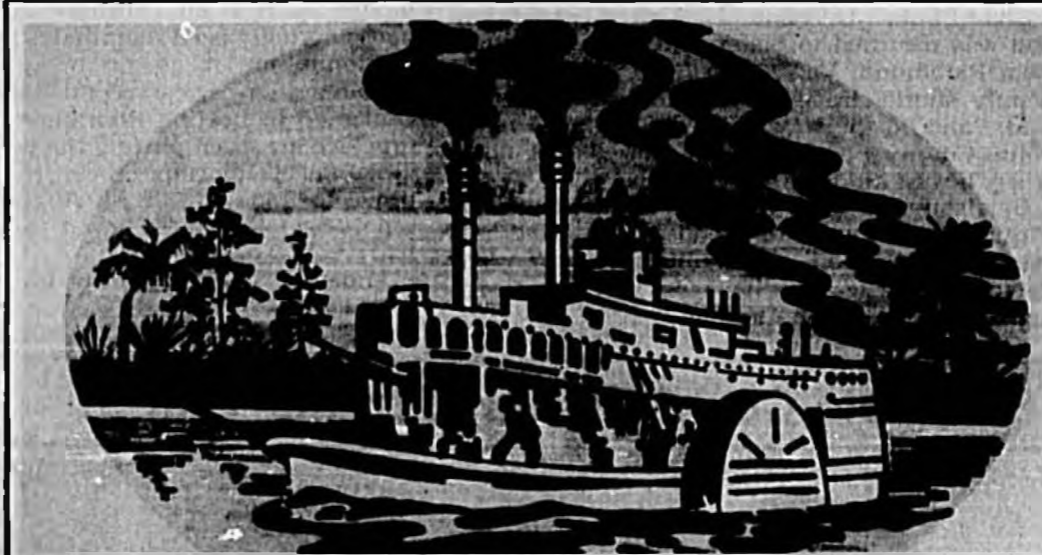

"There's a little something for everyone," Long said.

The Ixora Club has been involved in many beautification projects in the Sanford area, she said. They have landscaped area, including a section of Park on Park, the quadrangle at Seminole High School and the Cultural Arts Building.

"We have, for years, done these beautification projects," Long said.

The club also advises the owners of the historic homes featured on the "Tour of Homes" about how to use plants to decorate their homes; have given annual scholarships to Seminole High students who plan to major in the agricultural field in college and helps maintain the environmental study center at Hamilton Elementary School.

"We keep busy," Long said.

Lozano retrial moves back to Orlando

By Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — The much-traveled manslaughter case of suspended Miami policeman William Lozano was sent back to Orlando by an appeals court that ruled his retrial could not be held in Florida's capital.

Wednesday's decision by the state's 1st District Court of Appeal faulted Dade Circuit Judge W. Thomas Spencer for moving the racially charged case from Orlando to Tallahassee last year solely because he wanted a jury with more blacks — the race of the victims.

In so doing, the appellate court ruled, the judge denied the Hispanic defendant's rights to a jury of his peers and left any retrial held in Tallahassee fraught with legal error.

"Public confidence in our judicial system cannot be maintained under such circumstances," read the order of the appellate court's three-judge panel. "Either a conviction or an acquittal resulting from such a trial would be inherently suspect."

The court reinstated Spencer's original decision to hold the trial in Orlando. Spencer had no comment after the ruling other than to issue an order setting the trial date for May 17.

The decision came a day after attorneys for both sides argued that once the judge injected race into the issue of jury selection, he should not have ignored the ethnicity of Colombian-born Lozano, who is Hispanic.

By moving the trial to Tallahassee, with a 2 percent Hispanic population, the appeals court ruled that Spencer, in effect, excluded Hispanics from the jury pool and denied Lozano his equal-protection rights.

"As a prosecutor, our job is to seek justice, not just to seek convictions," said Assistant State Attorney John Hogan. "We have to make sure the constitution is upheld."

Gov. Chiles, lawmakers outraged at abortion clinic shooting

BRYAN KALLISTAD
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The fatal shooting of a doctor in back of his Pensacola abortion clinic will likely result in tougher Florida laws that restrict the activities of abortion protesters.

"I was shocked, in fact devastated, because my bill was designed to reduce the incidence of violence," said state Rep. Elaine Gordon, D-North Miami. "Unfortunately ... my bill was too late for Dr. (David) Gunn."

Gordon and Shirley Brown, D-Sarasota, have a bill pending in a House committee that would curtail stalking, trespass, breach of peace, nuisance, criminal mischief and other statutes that would apply to abortion protests.

The sponsors plan to fast-track the measure in the aftermath of Wednesday's shooting of Dr. Gunn.

Rep. Lois Benson, R-Pensacola, said the clinic was a full-range OB-GYN facility for women, "where high risk pregnancies were dealt with and a full range of services to women were performed."

Benson said "terminations may or may not have been done there."

Gov. Lawton Chiles said anti-abortion activists must denounce the growing extremism that surrounds their movement.

"The fact that it happened at the time of a pro-life protest is a terrible, bitter irony," Chiles said in a statement. "Such acts must be vigorously prosecuted."

A Florida legislator, who also is a doctor and has performed abortions, said it was only a matter of time before the increasing violence of protesters resulted in someone's death.

"For years we have overlooked vandalism, threats and trespassing and many times assault," said Rep. Ben Graber, D-Coral Springs. "It was just a matter of time until one of the people would respond in this way."

Graber carries a personal firearm at the suggestion of law officials after receiving several death threats.

"Let's not forget the man who was killed was not a murderer, not a criminal, but a doctor. A man who went to school for 12 years to devote his life to the care of people and he was murdered in cold blood for no good reason," Graber said.

And the South Florida lawmaker said some well-meaning citizens may want to carefully review their own actions when it comes to taking part in abortion protests.

"This is a clear message that nice churchgoing protesters who have been used as shields by these terrorist organizations have given birth to this type of radical response," he said. "Terrorism under any other name is still terrorism and ultimately breeds violence."

The Rev. Joseph Foreman in Milwaukee, a founder of Operation Rescue, said the Pensacola shooting could be the tip of the iceberg if the government continues to try and silence abortion protesters.

"Forty-six hundred children died in abortions today, and after 20 years, one abortionist is killed," said Foreman. "I've been saying for years that if the government insists on suppressing normal and time-honored dissent through injunctions, it turns the field over to the rock-throwers, the bombers and the assassins."

Gun found in car

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies arrested Louis Douglas Faison, 45, 3131 Lincoln Street, Sanford, following a traffic dispute Tuesday, at Highway 17-92 and N. Buah Blvd. Deputies said he had been in an argument with another driver. During the investigation, they said Faison informed them he had a gun in his vehicle. Officers located the gun contained in a case in the vehicle. Faison was charged with aggravated assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

Snakes stolen

Sanford police are investigating a residential burglary reported in the 200 block of S. Scott Avenue on Tuesday. Police said items said to have been taken include a three foot long Florida King snake, an additional snake estimated at three feet in length, plus two other snakes, with a total estimated value of $170. Nothing else was listed as having been taken.

Cops say inmate damaged tank

Sheriff's deputies charged James Wesley Corbitt, 21, of Clermont, for criminal mischief early Wednesday morning. Deputies at the John E. Polk Correctional facility said Corbitt, who was being held on unspecified charges, destroyed an oxygen tank in the jail cell. Damage to the tank was estimated at $250.

Man found hiding

Sanford police, driving through the 100 block of Maplewood Drive in Sanford early Wednesday, reported seeing a vehicle parked near a house. Upon checking, they found the motor was still warm. They launched a check of the area, and found Willie Roosevelt Brown, 27, of 1108 Orange Avenue, hiding behind a boat in a garage. He was charged with loitering and prowling, and burglary to an occupied dwelling. After his arrest, they found he was also wanted on a warrant charging him with battery.

Suspended license

Sanford police arrested Robert Wheeler Welch, 47, 232 Aberdeen Circle, Sanford, following a traffic stop at 2600 Georgia Avenue on Tuesday. A computer check revealed his license had been suspended on four previous occasions. He was charged with driving with a suspended license.

Bike rider nabbed

Sanford police arrested Terry Lee Williams, 18, of 1010 W. 9th Street on Tuesday. They said a woman reported seeing Williams on a bike stolen from her home on Feb. 18. Officers located Williams at 9th Street and Palmetto Avenue standing next to the bike. The police report stated that Williams said he had purchased the bike from another man for $20. The bike was valued at $160. Williams has been charged with petit theft.

Domestic violence arrests

Charles Lynnburg Rouse, 28, #27 Higgins Terrace, Sanford, was arrested in a parking lot in the 2700 block of S. Orlando Drive by Sanford police Tuesday. Officers said he had been in an altercation with a female. He was charged with battery, domestic violence.

David Allen Cruthers, 29, 1031 Rosecliff Circle, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Tuesday at his residence following a dispute with his wife. He was charged with domestic violence, battery.

Warrant arrests

Tomeke R. Bouler, 22, of Apopka, turned himself in at the jail Tuesday. He was wanted on a warrant for violation of parole on a conviction of theft.

Robert Douglas BeBout, 36, of 2511 Laurel Ave., Sanford, was arrested at his place of employment Tuesday by sheriff's deputies. He was wanted on an Orange County warrant charging him with workers compensation fraud.

Curtis Little, 44, 2221 Granby St., Sanford, turned himself in at the jail Tuesday. He was wanted for violation of parole on a conviction of possession of cocaine.

Joseph Culver, Jr., 22, 2427 24th Pl., Sanford, was arrested by sheriff's deputies at 2704 Orlando Dr. Tuesday. He was wanted on a warrant charging him with violation of parole on a sexual battery conviction.

Randall Alan Boston, 27, 4250 School Road, Sanford, was located at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility Tuesday. He was wanted for violation of parole on a conviction of burglary to a conveyance.

Incidents reported to the sheriff

A car, reported stolen from a Slidell, Louisiana man early this month, was located Tuesday in a parking lot at 4295 Highway 17-92. The person reporting the vehicle said the car had been there since Mar. 7.

$4,164 in traffic barricades was reported missing Tuesday from various construction sites around Seminole County. The barricades were owned by a rental company in Pennsylvania, and were believed to have been stolen between May 1, 1992 and Oct. 15, 1992.

An engine was reportedly stolen Tuesday from a sail boat owned by a Winter Park man, stored at the Sanford Boat Works. The engine reportedly is valued at $1,100.

King leaves witness stand after confused but controlled testimony

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES — Put through a wearying cross-examination, Rodney King admitted to lies, contradictions and memory lapses, confessing he was not too sure about his earlier claim that police had taunted him with racial slurs.

"I forget a lot of things that happened that night," the black motorist said before stepping down from the stand Wednesday. But King insisted he didn't deserve the 1991 police beating, even though he had been speeding and drunk.

During his two days on the stand, King wandered and grew weary but kept his cool, even under harsh cross-examination.

Officers Theodore Braeno, Laurence Powell and Timothy Wind and Sgt. Stacey Koon are charged with violating King's civil rights during the beating, in which King was clubbed and kicked while an onlooker videotaped the scene.

Although prosecutors refused to comment on King's testimony, they declined to question him after cross-examination, suggesting they didn't feel the need to rehabilitate him in the eyes of the jury.

Defense attorneys said outside court that King's testimony generally helped their case, even though he proved to be a sympathetic witness.

"It's better for us," said Ira Salzman, who represents Koon. "Now he's not this mythic looming presence in the sky. He's just a guy."

Charges after cop car chase

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary police placed multiple charges against a Winter Park man Tuesday, after a chase on Interstate-4.

Police said they saw a vehicle, driven by Timothy Paul Sinard, 29, being driven erratically in the I-4 area of Lake Mary. The vehicle was stopped a short distance away along the highway. The officer said when he went back to his vehicle, Sinard drove off again.

Police pursued him until the S.R. 46 exit, when he was stopped again on the ramp.

Officers reported finding beer cans and cannabis in the vehicle.

Sinard was charged with possession of cannabis less than 20 grams, driving under the influence of alcohol, resisting arrest without violence, driving with a suspended license, fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer, possession of an open container of alcohol in the vehicle, and failure to maintain a single lane.

On renumbering the boulevard

People have been irritated over traffic problems during the widening of Lake Mary Boulevard. When the roadwork ends at mid-year, there will be more irritation of a different type.

Seminole County has announced plans to change the street numbers on the entire boulevard. Lake Mary has been told the project should be completed by the beginning of the next fiscal year, Oct. 1, 1993.

The move is for the protection of people who live or work on the boulevard. It is aimed at improving responses by ambulances, fire fighters and law officers.

The boulevard, at various locations, is in Sanford, Seminole County, or Lake Mary. Because of this, street numbers are repeated in several areas. As an example, right now, a 9-1-1 emergency call specifying an address in the 100 or 200 block, could bring an ambulance to any of three different locations.

The county plans to advise all residences and businesses of the change by April or May. The notice will give them a minimum of six months to make the change.

The change however, will not be without problems.

Business cards, stationary, legal papers and other printed materials for stores and shops will all have to be changed.

For home owners, not only the street numbers, but other changes will be required. According to Florida Statutes, the law will require a resident to correct his or her address on a drivers license within 10 days, or be subject to a fine.

Personal checks and legal documents will also be required to have the new street address.

The difficulty connected with this move will ultimately result in benefits that will be apparent when an emergency unit is able to find a specific address with much greater speed and less confusion.

Voicing disappointment

I feel that I would be remiss in my duties as President of The Lake Mary Merchants and Professional Association if I did not voice my disappointment in the Sanford Herald concerning the tone of your editorial titled "Better Times on the Boulevard" published on Monday, Feb. 22, 1993.

The main thrust of your editorial seems to be that the merchants of Lake Mary grossly overreacted as to the seriousness of the economic decline caused by the delay in construction on Lake Mary Boulevard and that we were unjustly critical of county officials in their handling of the situation. You also seem to be of the opinion that county officials should now be praised for a job well done.

How many Lake Mary merchants and professionals did the Sanford Herald interview about the percentage of decline in their business during the six-month delay before you made your assumption? I don't recall anyone asking me. Our business drastically dropped beginning the first week the project came to a halt. The economic losses suffered by the merchants and professionals along Lake Mary Boulevard will never be fully recovered.

There are still many unanswered questions about the way county officials handled the whole situation. For instance, why did the county continue to pay John Mahoney Construction Co. approximately $1,530,000 (one million five hundred and thirty thousand dollars) after they had documented evidence that he was not paying for materials and sub-contractors? Which, is plainly stated in the contract to be a direct violation of the agreement and to constitute default on the part of the contractor.

Why did the county not exercise their legal right under the terms of the contract to take possession of all materials, equipment and finish the construction? The bonding company, Insurance Company of North America would still have been financially responsible.

Why did county officials wait months before legally declaring Mahoney in default when the same could have been legally done seven days after Mahoney abandoned the job?

While we are very happy that work has again resumed on the boulevard, we are still of the opinion that the Lake Mary Boulevard project has been poorly handled by county officials from day one.

If any praise and thanks are due, it should go to the landlords who worked so diligently with those who were struggling to pay their rents during this time. And to the loyal customers who continued to patronize our businesses in spite of the deplorable road conditions. In my personal opinion, your editorial is an insult to the merchants of Lake Mary. My opinion does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all Lake Mary merchants.

Thank you for your time.

The problem of the rented van

May I rise to say a word in behalf of Mr. Mohammed Salameh? He is the Jordan-born Palestinian whom the FBI arrested after he returned to a Jersey City car rental agency to claim the $400 deposit on a van he had rented there and subsequently reported as stolen. The van was the one involved in the explosion at Manhattan's World Trade Center on Feb. 26.

If Mr. Salameh is indeed guilty, as charged, of involvement in the explosion, I would have no trouble, as a judge, imposing the death penalty if it is legally available.

But Mr. Salameh has been widely accused, not only of conspiracy to murder, but of stupidity, and it is from the latter charge that I seek to exonerate him. That, after all, involves his pride.

Let us assume, for the sake of the argument, that he is indeed guilty. His role in the conspiracy, then, seems to have been to acquire the van that was used, and apparently to help in the explosion.

The first question might be, why rent a van at all? Why not use some vehicle already owned by one of the conspirators? But perhaps nobody owned one, or at least not one they were willing to part with.

Well, then, why not steal one? But that would give rise to the risk that it might be reported, and spotted, and stopped, on its way to its destination.

All right, then — rent one. But why on earth did Mr. Salameh rent it under his real name?

Think for a moment. This particular vehicle was never going to be returned to the agency. What end-game was Mr. Salameh planning to play? If he simply never showed up again, the agency would report the van as missing, and would give the police a careful description of Mr. Salameh. If the name on the rental papers was phony, that would prove that Salameh himself was the thief, and that he had intended larceny from the start.

Let us assume, for the sake of the argument, that he is indeed guilty.

Even so, of course, the police might never find him, or even try very hard. But what if the FBI somehow connected this particular stolen van in Jersey City with the explosion in Manhattan (as in fact they did, thanks to some numbers discovered on a partially destroyed axle)? An unknown man of Mr. Salameh's description would have been the object of one of the great man-hunts of all time.

On the other hand, if Mr. Salameh used his own name, then waited for the explosion, and promptly thereafter reported the van as stolen the night before, and pressed for the return of his $400 deposit, he would be in a much better position. His actions would appear to be those of an innocent man. Even if, by some mischance, the van was connected with the explosion, the sheer openness of his conduct would in retrospect count in his favor, and investigators might go off on a wild goose chase after the non-existent "thief."

Of course we now know, in the light of hindsight, that Mr. Salameh, though not guilty of stupidity, was certainly guilty of optimism. The very papers he handled, in making out the report of the van's "theft," contained traces of the explosives he had apparently helped to carry or load.

MARTIN SCHRAM

When best hopes are gun-shy

Jack Kemp and Stephen Higgins cured their political laryngitis the same day. It was a virulent strain — "weenia politicus" — which plunges officials into years of shameful silence while drug thugs outgun our cops and murder our civilians.

Kemp you know. He's a smart conservative who opted to play dumb on assault weapons — a leading exponent of empowerment who feigned powerlessness, rather than enrage the National Rifle Association and its sycophant, his ex-boss, George Bush.

Until Sunday, March 7. Then, asked if the paramilitary cult shootout in Waco, Texas, meant we must finally ban sales of mass-killer assault weapons, Kemp told NBC News' "Meet the Press":

"I believe in the constitutional right to own guns. But you don't need ... assault weapons like AK47 submachine guns or Usis to be a hunter or a legitimate sportsman. Ban it any way you can."

That's something Kemp could never bring himself to say in his four years in the Bush Cabinet. So I telephoned Kemp and asked: "You're an ideological leader with a large following, why didn't you speak out years earlier?"

Kemp's straightforward answer tells much about what is wrong with Washington: "There's only so many battles you can expect a HUD secretary to fight. I didn't speak out, so maybe I'm guilty of hypocrisy. But if I had, I would have been even more persona non grata with the White House and OMB."

Higgins you probably don't know. He's the director of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which routinely ignored police pleas for a ban on sales of assault weapons and for the Brady Bill's nationwide five-day waiting period and mandatory background check for gun purchasers.

Until Sunday, March 7. Then, in the wake of Waco, Higgins supported the Brady Bill on CBS News' "Face the Nation." And asked if this was a new position for his agency, Higgins declared: "That's correct. And we've never had four agents killed in a single day before."

Right. We've had five children killed and 30 wounded in their Stockton, Calif., schoolyard in 1989 by a man who squeezed off 100 rounds in two minutes with his semi-automatic. But those kids weren't agents from his ATF agency. So Higgins kept silent. So too when local cops were killed in the line of duty and when bystanders were killed in drive-by shootings.

Even though 87 percent of gun owners avored a Brady Bill waiting period, Bush blinked in fear of the NRA's Wizard of Oz lobbyists. And his assault weapons policy was even more cynical — Buy American. He banned imports of specific foreign-made models, but refused to ban identical American-made guns.

Result: We are a nation overrun with rapid-fire Rambo-style shoot-from-the-hip assault weapons that can fire 60 or 80 rounds a minute. The Washington Post reports that China exported almost 2 million guns into the United States in the first three years of Bush's presidency; they just changed to a new AK47 model not named in Bush's micro-ban.

And because there is no nationwide standard waiting period, even states that enact tough gun laws are at the mercy of states that don't. More than 90 percent of the guns used in New York City crimes have been trucked in from Virginia and other states, mainly in the South, where a gang buyer could purchase a truckload at a time. Now Virginia, the favorite state of crooks and murderers, has enacted a most modest law — limiting handgun purchases to one a month, per person. That should become national policy.

Clear-thinking, card-carrying NRA members — folks like Jack Kemp — are today our best hope for enacting tough common sense gun laws to help our police in our war on crime and criminals. It can happen only when they cure their expedient laryngitis and speak out against gun lobbyists who no longer represent the hunters and sports shooters.

There's only so many battles you can expect a HUD secretary to fight.

STOMP delivers deserved whacks

Hear me, oh noble legions of media critics: There is a danger, as we rejoice in the resignation of that charlatan Michael Gartner — now former president of the NBC News operation that faked a fiery crash of a General Motors truck, — that we will focus too much on this momentous event and ignore the countless but smaller ways the media abuse our sensibilities. Gartner's demise is but one victory; our crusade seeks a thousand. On, then, with our virtuous mission.

While the public has been preoccupied with deficits, the Special Tribunal for the Obliteration of Media Perfidy, an arm of the Spear Foundation, a small but assiduous Washington think tank, has been quietly probing media trespasses. From our intensive research and from letters and phone calls to our new STOMP hotline (1-LETSTOMP), we have culled this update:

— Reports continue to pour in of media partiality during the elections. A "non-partisan" analysis conducted by PR Data Systems and Mead Data Central found a pro-Clinton bias in the form of innuendo and subtle references. George Bush himself noticed the media presented a "one-sided picture." The Washington Times perceived that "the press corps ... gushed every time Mr. Clinton bit his lower lip." Hear (his, pressies: innuendoes, subtle references, one-sidedness and gushing are definite no-nos. Three stomps to the whole, left-leaning lot of you: STOMP, STOMP, STOMP.

— The recent election of four former TV journalists to Congress caused us to take a closer look at the quality of legislators we are electing. We discovered to our amazement and disgust that perhaps 5 percent of the House and 10 percent of the Senate once had ties of some sort to the news business. We are checking reports they were financed by the hair dryer industry and are planning to form a Blow Dryer Caucus. Meanwhile, here's two whacks on the noggin to these journalist-lawmakers for further debasing the reputation of an already disreputable institution: STOMP, STOMP.

— Did the press push us into Somalia? Newweek posed this question and answered in the negative. We think otherwise. We believe the networks goaded George Bush into launching Operation Restore Hope so they could get that absurd footage of the nighttime amphibious landing, and so they could send their anchorpersons to a relatively safe hotspot to remind us they were once real reporters. Two swats on suspicion: STOMP, STOMP.

— The police chief in Washington, D.C., has charged the media with telling lies about the city. "This is not the murder capital of the world," Fred Thomas said. "The media need to get the facts straight." It depends on your definition, of course — Washington does have the highest per capita murder rate of all major U.S. cities. But the chief was right in the broad sense if not in the particular — the media can't keep their facts straight, and here are three thundering thumps to the lowlife creeps that malign our nation's capital: STOMP, STOMP, STOMP.

— CBS News has decided the State Department is not newsworthy enough to warrant a full-time correspondent. "Most of the stories (at State) are quintessential talking-head stories," a CBS source told the Washington Post. "A story that features nothing but white men in suits has an uphill battle to get on the air." Yeah! Four shattering smacks to all white males everywhere who wear suits and have the audacity to think they have a right to appear on television: STOMP, STOMP, STOMP, STOMP.

On, then, with our virtuous mission.

Spring concert

On a warm winter day recently, few had gathered at the amphitheater at Lake Mary City Hall to hear the concert being given by the birds in this area. The birds sing each day to small, but appreciative audiences. The park is open to the public.

Signs

The requirement was too strict. Last October, Furlong called for a re-evaluation of the December deadline to lower signs out of a concern hundreds of sign owners would swamp county staffers with appeals. Commissioners faced five appeals from the requirement in one evening, including Orlando Jai-Alai Fronton, Fern Park.

Commissioners voted 4-1 to table the deadline until they could re-examine the requirement imposed three years earlier. Sturm then was the only commissioner to support the deadline.

The deadline was established in 1989, when commissioners passed sweeping reforms to their existing 17-year-old sign regulations in an effort to reduce sign clutter and "visual pollution." One of the new requirements was to require all on-premise signs to be lowered to at least 15 feet by Dec. 1, 1992.

Commissioners then felt three years was adequate time for business owners to "write off" the expense.

Current Planning Division officials believe there are between 350 and 400 signs in the unincorporated areas of the county exceeding the 15 foot limit. A total of 66 new sign permits have been issued since the ordinance took effect. Each was required to meet the limit. Another 76 permits have been issued for sign changes also required to lower existing signs to the new limit.

Division manager Herb Hardin said no sign owners have voluntarily lowered their signs to meet the limit that did not seek some other change. Six sign owners have requested commissioners grant them exclusions and two have been granted.

Tuesday, commissioners split on how to carry on with the ordinance. Furlong said he favored deleting the time limit from the ordinance. The action would serve to allow all signs higher than the 15-foot restriction to remain unless the owners sought to change them by obtaining a county building permit.

"I'm not sure lowering them is going to improve anything," said Furlong. "If we're too restrictive, we may be providing an incentive for large commercial businesses to annex into cities. This will be just the hook for them to annex in."

Commissioner Dick Van Der Weide said he agreed with Furlong in deleting the deadline requirement. Van Der Weide said he called area hospitals Tuesday morning and found none had patients suffering from sight pollution from signs.

Sturm countered. "Visual pollution is a state of mind. Maybe you should have checked the mental hospitals." Van Der Weide added he had.

Commissioner Daryl McLain said he would favor granting businessmen an extra four years to lower their signs by Dec. 1, 1998. If the remainder of the commissioners did not support that position, McLain said he would favor eliminating the deadline requirement altogether.

Although not present Tuesday, commissioner Pat Warren said Wednesday she thinks the present requirement should be enforced retroactively to Dec. 1, but is willing to offer sign owners

"The basic sign ordinance has to stay," said Warren. "I have heard from a lot of citizens and there is a lot of support for following through on the ordinance. But there can be a trade off. If the sign owners are willing to give up a sign or two on their property in return for allowing one to remain higher, then that may be an acceptable compromise."

But Warren added if a sign owner has only one sign, she believes it should be lowered immediately.

A similar compromise was granted to Butler Plaza owners last month. Shopping center owners agreed to remove three signs along State Road 436 which ranged from 20 to 35 feet in height in return for allowing one 23-foot-high sign to remain. The Board of Adjustment unanimously opposed the offer, saying the sign ordinance should not be compromised.

Chuck Martin, manager of a 7-11 store on French Avenue said employees ask for identification, depending upon how young a customer looks. "We ask for ID and can't sell to anyone under 18."

Seminole High School principal Gretchen Schapker said, "I certainly think we should do anything we can to prevent our children from becoming addicted to nicotine but I'm not sure we should keep passing laws we can't enforce."

Students are not allowed to smoke or even possess tobacco on school grounds under guidelines set by the school board, Schapker said.

"I'm ambivalent," Schapker said. "On the one hand, we should do whatever we need to do to keep our children from killing themselves, which is what tobacco will do. But on the other hand, I don't know if we should keep passing laws that can't be enforced."

Rather than focusing on teen penalties for buying cigarettes, Schapker said, perhaps more money should be spent on programs aimed at educating people about the dangers of smoking and getting them to stop.

into this, we realized we are talking about the total Seminole County lakefront area, not only near the city. We are looking at the wetland areas, and westward out to the Interstate-4 and Highway 17-92 bridges."

The state is presently involved in replacing the 17-92 bridge. "When that project is finished," Marder said, "the old bridge is to remain. Because it has great historical significance, it will eventually become a peer, fishing area and park, and that is also being included in the waterfront master plan."

The original proposal was to have a 15 member steering committee which would hold an initial meeting to determine the direction to be taken in formulating a plan.

The next meeting on the waterfront master plan is scheduled for Saturday morning, March 27, from 9 a.m. until noon at the Sanford Civic Center. It is scheduled as an open forum for citizens and users of the lakefront area.

"We want people to know that their ideas are important, and we will give them serious consideration," Marder commented. "Different people have different points of view on what the lakefront should become, and each of these concepts is important."

The date for the second public meeting, also scheduled for an entire Saturday morning, has been moved from April 10 to April 17.

Smoking

buying cigarettes or other tobacco products. The bill was originally written to penalize teens for possession of tobacco products too, but bill sponsor, Rep. Carol Hanson, R-Boca Raton thinks that portion will be cut from the final wording of the legislation.

The House Finance and Tax Committee approved the measure (HB 43) 24-4 and sent the measure to the Appropriations Committee.

"Currently no person may sell or give cigarettes or other tobacco products to a minor. There is no law prohibiting a minor from purchasing or possessing such items," Hansen said.

The local teen-agers say threatening to take away driving privileges won't keep teens from buying cigarettes.

"Peer pressure is why kids do it," Larry Moore, 16, said, "from drugs to drinking and smoking. They will drive without a license too, it doesn't matter."

Darlene Cortes, 17, questioned how long a license could be suspended under the proposed law. "Would they take it for a number of days or weeks or until you stopped smoking? How would they enforce it? They couldn't come into your home, could they?" Many of her friends who smoke get cigarettes from older friends and some even smoke at home, because their parents smoke.

"I think people will smoke if they want to regardless of what law is passed," said Terrell Wright, 14. "It's not a drug and if they want to hurt themselves, why should anyone try to stop them?"

The four students are enrolled in a life management class at SHS where they learn about life skills and discuss health issues related to smoking.

struggling to keep up with his own work while in school. A college track coach encouraged him to pursue a teaching career.

"You have empathy for those who are struggling," the coach told him. "You should become a teacher."

Frongello's classroom provides a strong learning environment for the students, the selection committee said. He believes in "empowering the students to create a positive learning environment where they have ownership of their behavior and learning."

The committee was impressed by his work in changing behavior of students through class meetings to resolve issues. They reported that since he started the practice of holding the class meetings, not a single student has been referred to the dean of students for disciplinary action.

The committee said that his classroom is an exciting place where students don't just read about science, they experience it.

A decade ago, Frongello established the South Seminole Weather Forecasting Service which is staffed entirely by his science students. They measure relative humidity, barometric pressure and winds and predict the weather as accurately as the professionals.

His classroom is very much a "hands-on" experience for the students, the committee reported. Students in sixth grade earth science, seventh grade biology and eighth grade physics and chemistry do those things about which they are learning.

Frongello told the committee that teaching for him is a very rewarding experience.

"It is the thrill of seeing former students successful in the community and being part of a winning team," he told them.

any confession might have taken place, but said Garrison talked freely with officers during the trip from Virginia to Florida.

"We are still interviewing people and compiling our reports at this time," Anderson said. "From here, it will go to the state attorney for prosecution."

Garrison has been charged with murder, and is being held without bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in Sanford.

Way Back When

This is the Seminole County Bank and Trust Company at the southwest corner of East First Street and Magnolia Avenue. Today it is the eastern half of Touchton's Drugstore. Right after Seminole County came into existence in 1913 Forrest Lake founded the bank and it was located in the Welborn Building at North Park Avenue and Commercial Street. The bank moved to the Hazel and Magnolia site when the Welborn building was demolished to make way for the erection of the Valdez Hotel. When the bank failed in 1927 both Lake and Cashier Raymond Key were indicted, tried, found guilty and each served three years in the Florida state prison at Starke, better known in those days as Raiford.

Democrats hurry Clinton economic plan along

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The House Budget Committee approved the outlines of a giant deficit reduction largely reflecting President Clinton's priorities, and Senate budget writers are prepping to endorse a similar package.

Democrats controlling the House budget panel won approval of a blueprint of Clinton's plan Wednesday night on a party-line vote of 26-17.

The savings outlined in the House package, if enacted in future legislation, would reduce deficits over the next five years by $510 billion. That would make it the biggest deficit-reduction plan ever, exceeding the savings in the 1990 budget agreement by more than $10 billion.

"We think we have a good product," said committee Chairman Martin Olav Sabo, D-Minn. He predicted passage by the full House next week.

The deficit-reduction outline includes a far-reaching energy tax, higher income taxes on the well-to-do and deep defense cuts. The plan was approved after Democrats added $62 billion more in spending cuts over the next five years than the president initially proposed. He has since endorsed the extra cuts.

Meanwhile, outnumbered Republicans planned to try to substitute more spending cuts for tax increases today as the Senate Budget Committee worked on its version of the measure.

Like the House plan, it would lower the deficit by about $600 billion over the next five years. Written chiefly by Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., chairman of the panel, the proposal would delay some of Clinton's recommended spending increases and rely to a greater extent on taxing the well-off.

Republicans on the Senate committee put together at least three dozen amendments, most of which would shift the emphasis away from tax increases and impose even tighter spending restraints.

First on the list was a proposal by Sen. Charles

Grassley, R-Iowa, that would freeze at current levels non-defense discretionary spending — a category that includes everything from education assistance to water projects, but not Social Security and Medicare.

Congressional leaders expect both the House and Senate to consider the deficit-reduction proposals next week as part of the $1.5 trillion budget outline for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

The House and Senate plans both would cut the projected deficit for that year by about $40 billion, to $254 billion.

Democrats praised their own proposals as real efforts to make lasting reductions in the deficit.

"This budget ... is primarily about getting our economic house in order and moving our nation forward," said Sabo, the House Budget Committee chairman.

Sen. Sasser said his version, which hews closely to the concepts outlined by Clinton, "is the most comprehensive assault on deficit reduction to ever come before this committee."

Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., responded: "The only real spending cuts are in defense. This is a comprehensive assault on the taxpayer."

While the House panel was working its way through about 30 Republican amendments — rejecting every one that offered a significant change from the Democratic plan — senators spent Wednesday arguing about procedures and exchanging partisan barbs.

Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, senior Republican on the budget committee, bristled at Democratic suggestions that his party is trying to stall Clinton's plan. "We ought to have a full day" to debate amendments, he demanded.

Republicans "don't have any idea of moving anything," Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., shot back. "I know what they are doing. They are the guardians of gridlock."

The spending resolutions being approved by the two budget committees merely set targets for spending and taxing. It will be up to other committees to determine which taxes will be raised and which programs will be restrained.

FBI: 2nd arrest in Trade Center blast knew how to make bombs

By FRED PIERETTI
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, N.J. — The second person arrested on charges of helping to carry out the World Trade Center bombing was identified as Palestinian-American chemical engineer believed to have the know-how to mix explosives.

Nidal Ayyad, 25, was arrested Wednesday by the FBI at his home in Maplewood. Like Mohammed Salameh, he was charged with aiding and abetting in the Feb. 26 bombing that killed at least five people and injured about 1,000.

The men had a joint bank account, authorities said. And investigators believe the bombing was financed with $8,000 wired from Europe to the account. The New York Times reported today, citing unidentified law enforcement sources.

Authorities would not specify what role Ayyad was alleged to have played in the bombing. But FBI agent James Eposito said: "By his educational background he has expertise that lends itself to this kind of crime. He certainly has some expert knowledge because of his training in the chemical engineering field." Jeffrey L. Rankin, assistant dean of Rutgers University's engineering school, where Ayyad earned a degree, said that Ayyad was a student in a course he taught that covered some principles of bomb-making.

On Tuesday, James Fox, the head of the FBI's New York office, told a congressional panel in Washington that investigators believe the bombing was carried out by a large and highly professional terrorist group.

Salameh, 25, rented a van thought to have carried the bomb into the parking garage under the twin 110-story towers.

Ayyad and Salameh worshipped at the same mosque and are of Palestinian descent, investigators said. Salameh was born in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, grew up in Jordan and entered the United States on a now-expired tourist visa. Ayyad was born in Kuwait, came to the United States in 1985 and became a U.S. citizen in 1991.

Salameh withdrew money from their joint account at a National Westminster Bank branch in Jersey City, according to the Times.

And the day before the bombing, the FBI said, Salameh called Ayyad four times at his office at AlliedSignal Inc. in Morristown, where Ayyad is a research engineer. AlliedSignal makes aerospace and auto products.

Salameh was calling from a self-storage facility in Jersey City where agents found chemicals that could make an explosive, the FBI said in court papers.

On Feb. 15, Ayyad rented a red General Motors car and listed Salameh as an additional driver, the FBI said. When the van believed used in the bombing was rented, Salameh was accompanied by someone in a red GM car, the FBI said.

Like Salameh and another man charged with obstruction of justice in the case, Ayyad was ordered held without bail for another hearing on Friday. If convicted, he could receive life in prison and a $250,000 fine.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES

1. Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishes, collectibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items.
2. Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale! Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors.
3. Make it easy to pay! Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure one person is on duty at all times at a centralized location preferably with a calculator or adding machine.
4. Provide prices. Do not make every person ask. "How much is this?" Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start bargaining.
5. Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before.
6. Departmentalize. Separate the inexpensive items from the more costly areas. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lawn equipment and other items with similar merchandise.
7. Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5", another for "Under $1". Consider having a batch of items that are "FREE with purchase of $5". Remember the youngsters, too. Encourage this with small, low-priced items that are appropriate for this purpose.
8. These years sell quickly! Have it at a time when most sales are at home and unconcerned with special events.
9. Combine your efforts! Incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more variety and greater impact.
10. Be specific! When advertising your sale in the newspaper, list individual items. Don't simply say "several things available." Each time you list an item, you are broadening the list of potential customers.

Tolbert, O'Neal lead Magic

ORLANDO — Tom Tolbert scored 10 fourth-quarter points, seven during a 12-1 spurt, that enabled the Orlando Magic to open an 11-point lead en route to Wednesday night's 119-106 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

Shaquille O'Neal led the Magic with 26 points and 11 rebounds and Tolbert finished with 22 points and 13 rebounds as Orlando remained ahead of Indiana and Atlanta in the race for the last two playoff spots in the Eastern Conference.

AROUND THE STATE

Marlins best Tigers

LAKELAND — Geronimo Herroa homered and Gary Scott extended his hitting streak to six games as the Florida Marlins beat the Detroit Tigers 9-4 Wednesday.

Florida won for the fifth time in seven games. Rookie Phil Clark, playing for the first time this spring, hit a solo homer for the Tigers. Jack Armstrong pitched four innings for the Marlins, giving up three runs and four hits. Mike Myers got the victory by allowing one run over the next three innings.

Gators rally by Wagner

GAINESVILLE — The University of Florida Gators scored five runs in the fifth inning to come back from a four-run deficit and defeat the Wagner Seahawks 10-9 Wednesday night.

With the win, Florida broke a four-game losing streak and improved its record to 10-9 on the season, while Wagner went to 0-1.

Hurricanes dump Georgetown

CORAL GABLES — Luis Hernandez and Chad Rupp each went 3-for-4 to lead Miami to a 9-5 victory over visiting Georgetown Wednesday at Mark Light Stadium.

After Georgetown pulled within 5-4, Miami plated one in the sixth on an RBI triple by Mike Melcalle, scoring Keith Tippett, and two in the seventh to take an 8-4 lead.

Silvio Censale (1-1) picked up the win, while Sean Maloney took the loss.

Polar Bear tiebreaker

Touchdown Pub, Too Tuff Crew force playoff

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It'll take one more game to decide the championship in the Sanford Recreation Department Wednesday Men's Polar Bear Slowpitch Softball League.

Last night at Chase Park, Touchdown Pub defeated Beer: 30 7-5 and Too Tuff Crew held off Heilig-Meyers 9-8 to finish in a tie for first place. Having split their two games during the season, the two squads will have to square off one more time to decide the title.

In the first game of the evening, Bamboo Cafe picked up a forfeit win over Crazy Wings.

The regular season ends with Touchdown Pub and Too Tuff Crew tied at 8-2. Heilig-Meyers, which led the league or held a share of the league lead for the first eight weeks of the 10-week season, finishes third at 6-4 after losing its fourth game in five weeks.

Bamboo Cafe, Crazy Wings, and Beer: 30 all

Touchdown Pub	003	201	0	—	7	12

Clutch hits, big pitches boost Rams

By GARY COATOAM Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — Strong pitching and timely hitting carried the Lake Mary Rams to a 4-1 defeat of the Lyman Greyhounds in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball contest Wednesday night at Lyman High School.

Lake Mary's Ben Rovito and Mike Carr combined to limit the Greyhounds to just five hits while striking out four.

"It's good to win anytime you can," said Lake Mary coach Allan Tuttle. "I thought Ben did an outstanding job. He got a little tired late, and Mike came in like he's been doing all year long. It's nice to have someone to go to that you know is going to do that for you."

Lake Mary scored the first run of the game in the second inning as Dan Story led off the inning with a single, advanced to third on a double by Rene Perez, and scored when Chris Kleibl singled to center field.

The Rams added another run in the fifth inning without the ball leaving the infield. Mike Werner led off with a walk and took second on

Chunat, Tribe take care of Lions

From Staff Reports

OVIEDO — While there was still 6½ innings to go, there was reason to believe that Wednesday's Seminole Athletic Conference baseball game between the Seminole Fighting Seminoles and Oviedo Lions was over in the top of the first inning.

Why? Because Seminole had struck for three runs in the opening frame and had Jeremy Chunat on the mound. Given that Chunat had allowed only two runs, one earned, in 18 innings so far this season, the lead

Raiders take out anger on Minnesota's Hibbing C.C.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Hibbing (Minn.) Community College's baseball team picked the wrong day to visit Sanford.

After getting hammered 14-4 by Florida Community College-Jacksonville on Tuesday the Seminole Community College Raiders were looking for someone on which to take out their frustration.

And the Raiders did just that Wednesday, whipping the visitors from Minnesota 16-0 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader and taking a 10-4 lead in the second game before play was stopped by darkness in the middle of the sixth inning.

Not that he needed it, but Bob Franklin (5-1) was the beneficiary of the Raider outburst in the first game. He made the the 16-run advantage stand up by tossing a four-hit shutout, striking out nine without walking a batter through seven innings.

Designated hitter Peter Bezerehd (Deltona) and center fielder Johnny Goodrich (New Smyrna Beach) led the SCC assault in the first game as

Deeb on target for Lake Mary

From Staff Reports

DAYTONA BEACH — Tiffany Deeb tossed a five-hit shutout Wednesday to lead the Lake Mary's to a 9-0 win over the Mainland Buccaneers in a 4A-District 5 girls' slowpitch softball contest.

Lake Mary also won the junior varsity contest, 22-0.

It was the second shutout of the season for Deeb, who struck out one and didn't walk any. In her last two starts, Deeb has walked a just one hitter.

Kelli Woodall led the Lake Mary attack by going 2-for-4 with a double, one run scored and three RBI. Michelle Allen also went 2-for-4 and scored three runs. Angie Snow contributed two hits in three at bats, two RBI, and two runs scored.

Robyn Dacey added two singles and an RBI. Cort Hillinski, J.R. Spires, and Jennie Longstaff each hit a single and scored a run. Diane Duber and Deeb also had one single each.

Now 8-2, Lake Mary will return to Seminole Athletic Conference action with a game at Seminole High School this afternoon. The varsity game is scheduled to start at 4 p.m. with the junior varsity contest to follow.

OVIEDO 11, MELBOURNE C.C. 3

OVIEDO — Catcher Jenny Jakubek was 4-for-4 with two RBI and a run scored Wednesday night to help the Oviedo Lions turn back Melbourne Central Catholic 11-3 in a girls' slowpitch softball game played at the Oviedo Sports Complex.

Tonya Bellamy contributed a double, two singles, and three runs for the Lions. Andrea Sparrow had a 2-for-4 effort that included a home

The Mid-Orlando Depressive/Manic Depressive Support Group meeting for depressed persons, their family members and their friends is held the first and third Thursdays of each month at 7:30 p.m. at Lakeside Alternatives, 434 W. Kennedy Blvd., Orlando, and the second Saturday of each month, 10:30 a.m., at the Orlando Public Library. For information, call 657-4763 or 381-5070.

Farming reviewed for DAR

Morgan: Lives, country and future depend on farms

SANFORD — The Sallie Harrison Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, held the March meeting at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Thomas O. Morgan, Ph.D. was guest speaker. Dr. Morgan is director of corporate communications at A. Duda and Sons of Oviedo. His background includes professor of communications at University of Central Florida, mayor of Oviedo, radio anchor man, and organizer of Crime Line. He spoke on "Food, Farming and Communication."

Ester Anderson introduced Dr. Thomas Morgan.

He said lives, the country and the future depend on farms and that Americans take food too much for granted.

In 1900, 47 percent of the population was in farming. Today it is 1.9 percent. This attrition is due to John Deere's tractor and farm implements, but also it is because of a lack of profitability due to unnecessary restrictions and regulations imposed by the government. Morgan said that Duda has not hired a single farmer in five years, but instead hires lawyers and chemists. They have a profit margin of only three to five percent. One thousand five hundred farmer give up farming each week. 4,093 acres go out of production in each day.

China spends 67 percent on food, Western Europe spends 40-45 percent on food. America spends about 10 percent. We have been prosperous because of our farms. Florida is especially dependent on farming. The United States feeds 40 percent of the world.

Morgan then spoke about the media: Papers, magazines, television, radio. These are businesses run for profit. They are allowed to influence millions with eye and ear-catching unsubstantiated rumors and stories. Their focus can be skewed to show a small section to represent the whole. This often incites well-meaning environmentalists to do something. Needless laws, regulations, and costly restrictions are imposed which further discourage farmers who are so few now that they no longer have much representation in government. Only seven percent of the world's surface is capable of production. Five years ago there were 53 Florida dairy farms, now there are 15. Duda Company recently divested itself of 150,000 acres in Zellwood because they were not profitable. The price of corn will necessarily rise in the future.

Morgan said not to get excited about the safety of the produce you buy in the market. It is uncontaminated. If in any doubt, simply rinse off before eating (but do not use soap). Don't be alarmed by "monster chemical poisonings" and food scares. Remember the media do not give a scientific, comprehensive window on the world.

In conclusion, he repeated that the problem is the unreasonable government restrictions. As citizens are the government, he challenged DAR members to research facts, become knowledgeable, then contact representatives.

Virginia Mikler, regent, led the business meeting. Pat Fox gave an update on by-laws and resolutions. Libby Boyd reviewed an article reaffirming that the founding fathers did not intend to avoid God in any way. She quoted George Washington, "It is impossible to govern rightly without God and the Bible."

Children's clothes were collected for the DAR school in Tomasco, S.C.

Regent Mikler announced that a naturalization ceremony will be held Mar. 19 at the Civic Center. The DAR will present the 200 new Americans literature on the responsibilities of citizenship.

Dogs directed by instinct, not thought

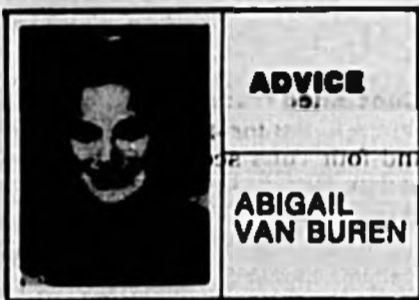

DEAR ABBY: While your advice never to leave a child alone with dogs is correct, the reasoning behind it is flawed.

I am a police sergeant and the K-9 trainer/instructor for the Culver City (Calif.) Police Department. I have been involved in the training and use of dogs for more than 13 years. I am concerned with what makes them behave as they do and how to channel it to our uses.

Many dog owners say, "My dog thinks he's a person." This leads them to attribute human values and emotions to their dog. These people believe that a dog can think reason, and behave inappropriately because he harbors ill feelings toward his owner or others.

I believe this is impossible. A dog is incapable of thought or harboring ill feelings. A dog views the world from a dog's point of view. He considers himself a dog and us as other dogs. We are merely members of his "pack."

Dogs occasionally kill or injure children because of several differences between human children and puppies. Dogs are driven by instinct. That is what makes them dogs. There are about six of these drives. The one at work here is the "pack drive," which forces the dog to become a member of a pack and to establish his "pecking order" within that pack. He does that by non-verbal communication, primarily by body language.

ADVICE

The difference between human infants and children and dogs is that when puppies or adult dogs are placed in a submissive position by a dominant member of the pack, they exhibit body language that communicates to the dominant dog that he has achieved his dominance. Human infants and children do not have this instinct, and wouldn't know how to communicate their submission if they did.

For example: When a puppy who is nursing bites his mother's nipple too hard, she will take his entire head into her mouth. She will bite down until the puppy lets out a yell and becomes completely still. Then she knows that she is applying enough pressure to get his attention. She will hold this pressure for a moment and then release him.

If a child were to displeas a dog, the dog would react in a similar fashion. But when human infants and children suffer pain or discomfort, such as the dog biting their head, they react in an opposite fashion. Instead of becoming passive and motionless, they cry and thrash around. Their screams become louder as they receive more pain.

This communicates to the dog that he is not applying enough pressure, so he bites harder. This frequently results in death for the infant or child, when his skull fractures.

Your statement that "the most docile pets have been known to turn on a child, unprovoked" is rooted in folklore. The dog does not "turn on a child" — rather, he treats the child as if he were a dog, and when the child does not respond as a dog, the dog steps up his expression of dominance.

In short, any dog can be a danger to any child, because of the different instincts each species possesses.

DEAR MR. CASTLE: Thank you for an illuminating letter.

CATINA L. SUNDVALL, LACKLAND AIR FORCE BASE, San Antonio — Airman Catina L. Sundvall has graduated from Air Force basic training here.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

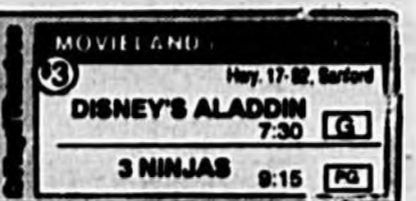

Sundvall is the daughter of Nikki K. Holmes of 78-4 Vanburen Road, Voorhees, N.J. and granddaughter of Marie Sundvall of 1802 Roseway, Sanford.

GERALD P. MORRIS, U.S. FORCES JAPAN, Hokkaido, Japan — Army Spec. Gerald P. Morris has completed a joint/bilateral field training exercise involving Japanese Self-Defense Forces and U.S. Forces, called Keen Edge 93.

Conducted on Hokkaido and Honshu, the purpose of the exercise was to increase combat readiness of both nations through training in joint air, ground, and sea operations.

He is an infantryman at Fort Wainwright, Fairbanks, Alaska. Morris is the son of Grady Morris of 1803 Knox Ave., and William Morris of 1415 West 13th St., both of Sanford.

The specialist is a 1990 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford.

IF YOU CAN'T CHOOSE, WHO WILL?

Some would have you believe the only way to reform the health care system is by sacrificing your right to select the physician, hospital or insurance program of your choice.

Don't believe it.

Health care reform shouldn't be about giving up your basic rights. And it shouldn't be about jeopardizing the quality care you deserve.

This month the Florida Legislature will decide if your right to choose should be sacrificed in the name of "health care reform." Your doctor supports health care reform only if your right to choose is guaranteed.

HELP SAVE THE DOCTOR/PATIENT RELATIONSHIP

Please take time now to contact your state legislator(s) and ask them to:

- Support only that health care reform legislation which preserves my right to choose my own physician and guarantees my right to select the health care plan best suited for my family.

Is there hope for co-dependents?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm interested in obtaining information on co-dependency. Is there a national organization I can write to for literature?

DEAR READER: Co-dependency is a complex interpersonal interaction between a person who is addicted to certain behavior (alcohol, drugs, gambling, sex and so forth) and another person. This other person feels responsible for the addict's feelings, thoughts, choices and ultimate destiny. In short, the co-dependent individual is obsessed with controlling another person's behavior.

This is not a healthy situation and can lead to serious psychological problems. It is much more common than previously believed. Anybody who loves or lives with an alcoholic, a rebellious adolescent, a neurotic parent, or a chemical addict is probably co-dependent -- and needs help, which can be obtained through a psychologist or counselor.

The best book I have seen on the subject is "Co-Dependent No More" by Melody Beattie, Hazelden Foundation, 1987. Also, you can write Co-Dependents Anonymous, Inc., P.O. Box 33577, Phoenix, AZ 85067 or telephone them at 602 277-7991.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why do people have nightmares? I take Ativan for my nerves and am under a great deal of stress. Is the medication causing my nightly problem? I've gotten to the degree that I'm afraid to fall asleep because of the dreaded outcome.

DEAR READER: Nightmares are merely frightening thoughts that occur during sleep. They can be worsened by stress, anxiety and emotional upset. Also, certain drugs -- notably tranquilizers, alcohol and anti-anxiety medicine (such as Ativan) -- may cause more frequent nightmares. Regrettably, you are now in a bad cycle: Your fear of falling asleep will increase your fatigue and stress level, thereby increasing the likelihood of nightmares. Ask your doctor about this.

I believe you could be helped by substituting a safer drug, such as Benadryl, for sleep. Your doctor can advise you.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Sleep-Wake Disorders."

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

When commenting about a Hollywood studio chief, Wilson Mizner said, "He's the only man I ever knew who had rubber pockets so he could steal soap."

It is true that some bridge defenders will try to steal you blind. But usually their plays will be logical and give away their holdings in the key suits. Today's deal is a good example.

Against your contract of four hearts, West leads the club king. He continues with the club jack; East overtakes with the ace and returns a low spade. How should you continue?

North's three-heart response was a limit raise showing at least four-card support and some 11 total points: an accurate assessment for a hand with a five-card side suit and only seven losers. You have lost two club tricks.

You seem to have a certain diamond loser, so if you lose a spade trick as well, you will fall to defeat. Therefore, the immediate reaction is to try the spade queen. But against competent defenders there is no chance that East has the spade king. If East holds the king, he won't overtake with the club ace at trick two. He will play low, waiting for his partner to switch to spades.

Given that West has the spade king, your only chance rests in an elimination. Play the spade five and win with dummy's ace. Draw trumps and cash your two top diamonds before casting adrift with a spade.

If your luck is in, West will be endplayed. You will ruff his black-suit return in the dummy and discard your diamond loser.

Always draw conclusions from your opponents' plays.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
 March 12, 1993

Both material and social conditions look better for you in the year ahead than they have for quite some time. Take measures to make the most of your life in both of these areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In general, conditions look favorable for you today, so don't take yourself or life too seriously. Know in the back of your mind that everything is OK and likely to get even better. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for Pisces' Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your probabilities for material gratification are likely to be better today, and these will stem from your second source of income rather than your primary one.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

You might have to make a decision today that will affect another person besides yourself. Try to do what is good for him or her as well as what is good for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Services you render for loved ones today could bring you a strong sense of personal satisfaction. Do your good deeds and feel better about the world.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something that you're presently involved in isn't being managed as effectively as it could be. Since you'll be aware of the flaws, step in and make the necessary adjustments.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you associate with procrastinators today, they could have a negative effect upon your productivity. Use your initiative, and don't be influenced by ne'er-do-wells.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Associates are likely to be more receptive to your ideas or concepts today than they were yesterday. Don't be bashful about going back to people whose support you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Financial trends are starting to move in your favor at this time, so give priority to situations that could make or save you money. Profit is likely, as long as you handle things properly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone who never did you a favor previously could turn out to be your biggest booster today. This will be due to factors that you won't be aware of at first.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be logical in matters that are of significance to you today, but, by the same token, don't discount hunches or intuitive perceptions, because they could provide the edge for success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This could be a very fortunate day for you where your career is concerned. Lady Luck will be doing everything she can to help, but she expects you to do your share as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If your objectives are clearly defined today, this will enhance your motivation and desire to succeed. Once you convince yourself you can do something, chances are you will do just that.
