About Mr. Nixon's speech . . . it was incredible . . . for what he did NOT say! . . . Regardless of how far his text was prepared it is inconceivable that it was not altered to include at least one sentence, much less a thought on it. Calley.

Granted, that as a result of the many wires, petitions etc., he finally did issue a statement . . . through his press secretary that he would intervene in the matter.

But, to speak to the nation and not even hint at the situation . . . but did repeat . . . and I emphasize that word REPEAT earlier statements about the war generally, and Vietnamization in particular . . . Well, it's more than I can understand.

Since we're back on that subject again . . . and I did promise not to leave it until a satisfactory conclusion is reached, there's been some second guessing, or re-adjustment of some thoughts on the matter, evidently.

By some others . . . yes; but as far as I'm concerned, I'll stick with my original impression on the matter. "They're using Calley . . . and charging him beyond all sense of reasoning. Pre-meditated murder just couldn't have been done . . . and done alone by a 2nd Lieutenant!"

It would be well to repeat the words of some others on this matter, like the editorial which appeared in the Miami Herald, as an example:

"The injustice of the Calley decision was not the finding of the court from the most believable evidence that there had been a massacre at My Lai, and thus a crime, but the singling out of a soldier for punishment during a war which, as the majority had come to realize, was itself futile and a crime against its interests as well as humanity."

That's what I'm talking about . . . it isn't just Calley . . . it's YOU AND ME, BROTHER cause we're sitting on our duffs and let the old cats do all the planning, while the young spill their blood.

It's a miserable "political" war . . . not in the sense that the Democrats nor the Republicans are solely to blame . . . we, the American public are the ones to fault.

Maybe I'd do better by referring to it as a "senseless" war . . . cause if we had stopped this war just say four or five years ago, how many more Americans would be alive yet? What really rattles my cage is that all this public out-crying . . . all the "bull" that some of those weakling politicians who can now see the tide shifting the other way . . . because of 22 lives in My Lai . . . All I ask is . . .

Where in God's name were they when 50,000 — FIFTY THOUSAND — American boys were getting knocked off? Why didn't they sound off with indignation then?

Just a matter of opinion, of course, and that's what this column is all about anyhow, now isn't it?

Schools Lose Out

By MARION BETHEA

Associate School Supt. Walter Teague has announced that a recent ruling by Judge Ben Willis, Tallahassee, in a suit emanating from a tax ratio comparison study, will result in a loss to Seminole County schools of approximately $92,000.

The matter stemmed from a 67-county tax assessment comparison, and the loss in the state education money this budget year had been earmarked for teacher salaries. Although Teague noted that the money was not included in the revenue which was anticipated in the 1970-71 budget, nevertheless the school board had earmarked it for funding of a recent salary increase given to teachers.

An estimate had been given that the salary increase of four per cent, effective Feb. 20, would cost $140,000 for the remainder of the budget year. Of this amount, $55,000 was allocated from unused salary funds already in the budget, with the balance of $85,000 to be covered with the money from the state which is now "lost."

Should the court ruling not be appealed by Floyd Christian, commissioner of education or by Ernest Ellison, state auditor general, the money must necessarily come from the county contingency fund.

The $92,000 was to be this county's share of a fund which was initiated under the provisions of House Bill 4954 which was adopted by the 1970 Legislature.

This fund and other tax equalization money, which was also provided in the bill, and calculated on each county's ad valorem tax assessment ratio ratio, Judge Willis, in his ruling, said that the tax ratio studies performed by a Tampa firm were faulty. However, Judge Willis ruled that the law which ordered the tax ratio studies is valid.

The tax ratio study was undertaken in order to equalize education funding between counties which have low property valuation but a high pupil enrollment, and those where the reverse is true.

Seminole County is not eligible for the equalization money because its tax assessment ratio, according to studies undertaken by the Tampa firm is 81 per cent, and below the state average of 83.22 per cent. Nevertheless, Seminole County, according to the ratio computations, did qualify for a pour-over fund.

Easter Sunrise Services will be held at many different locations throughout Seminole County as groups of early risers greet the new day with hope and joy born in remembrance of that first Easter morn and the glorious news that "He is Risen!"

The Sanford Area Ministerial Association will sponsor a joint Sunrise Service at 6 a. m. Sunday at Sanford Municipal Stadium to which everyone is invited. Rev. J. T. Pitts, president of the Ministerial Association, will bring the message. He is pastor of the Church of God, which is the alternate site for the service in event of inclement weather. The service is located at 803 West 22nd Street. Pastors from other churches will be sharing in the service.

The First United Methodist Church of Oviedo and the First Baptist Church will hold a joint sunrise service at the Methodist Church at 7 a. m., with Rev. Flournoy Jernigan, pastor of the Baptist Church, giving the sermon. Coffee and doughnuts will be served following the service.

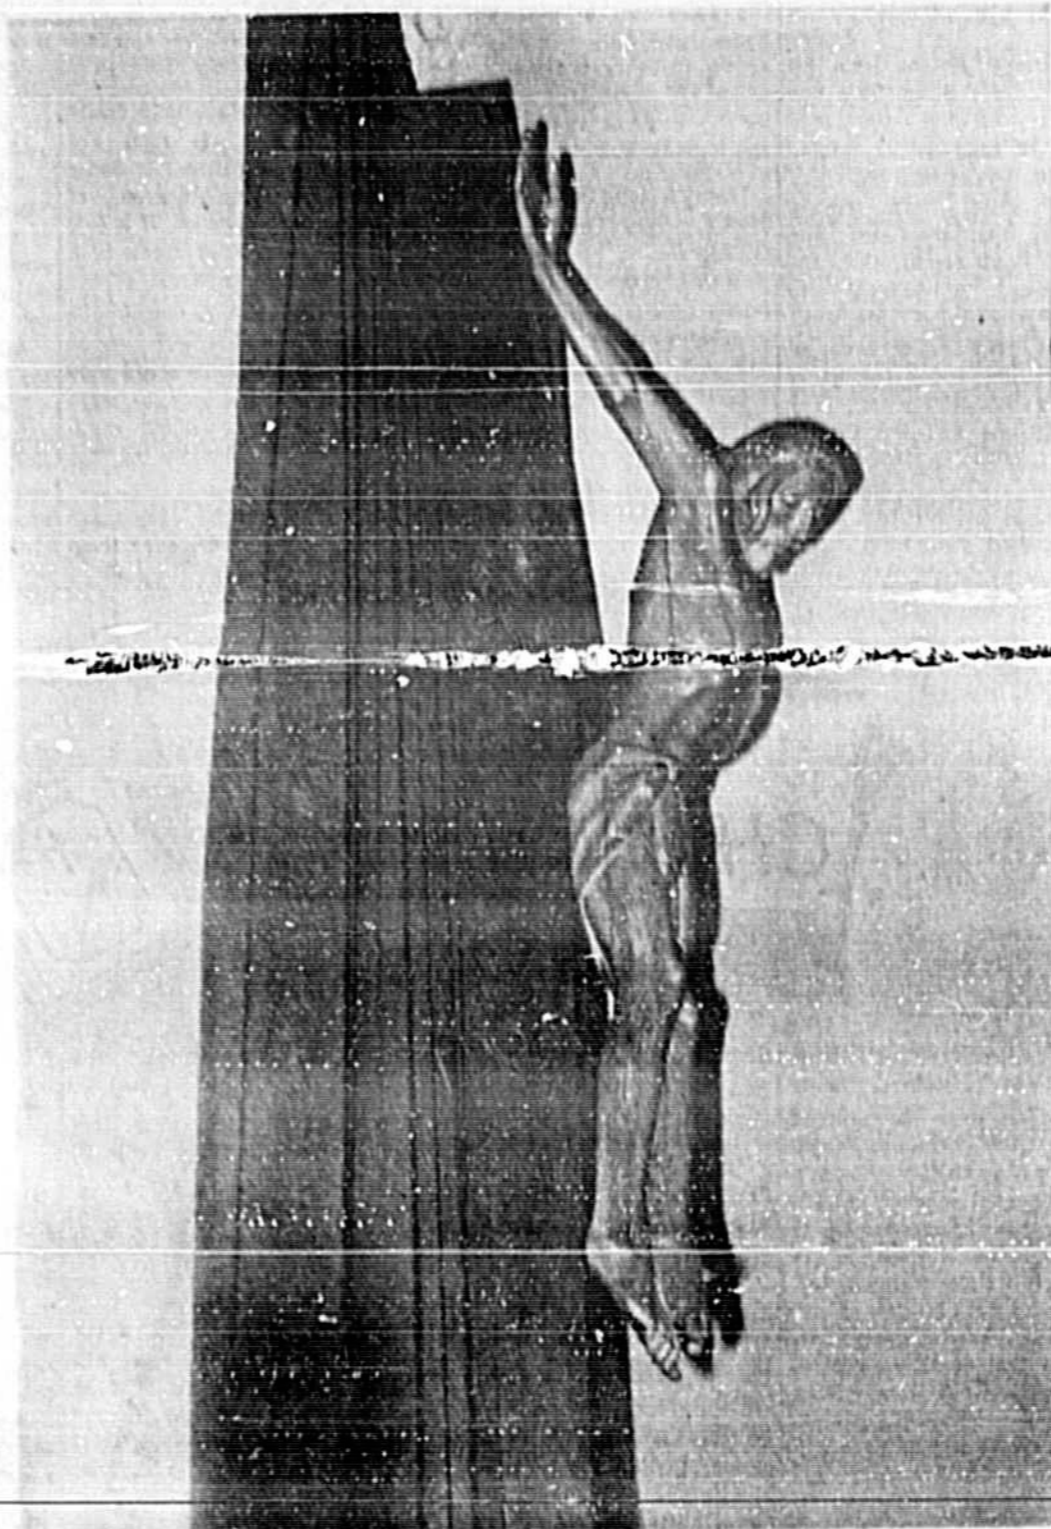

Churches of the community Sunrise service at 6 a. m. in the have been invited to join in a north parking lot of Community United Methodist Church of Casselberry. Rev. William Pickett will be assisted by David Nelson, one of the church's young people, in the informal but inspirational service.

An Easter Sunrise Service will be co-sponsored at 6 a. m. by three Lake Mary Churches—United Presbyterian, First Baptist and Nazarene. The service will be on the Evans' lakefront property or in case of rain at the Baptist Church, where coffee and doughnuts will be served following the service. Sunday will find the citizens of Geneva on a "scale gathering at Summers!" on Lake Geneva for the annual Easter service.

Altamonte Springs will hold a sunrise service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Jordan, 660 Lake Kathryn Circle, Casselberry, at 6 a. m. Doughnuts and coffee will be served. Everyone is invited.

Ascension Lutheran Church of Casselberry will hold a service on the church lawn at 6 a. m. followed by a breakfast served by the Senior High Youth.

On Midway Building

Zoning Appeal Set

Sanford builder W. O. Unsworth will go before the Seminole County Commission Tuesday to appeal the decision of the zoning board to deny his request for a zoning change on 20 acres in the Midway area from agricultural to residential-1.

Unsworth, who hopes to build 57 low cost homes on the tract located east of Brisson Avenue and south of Celery Avenue, says that he anticipates approximately 250 persons will attend the commission meeting to support his appeal.

Zoning Director Robert Brown had turned down the request or the recommendation of County Engineer William Bush, who cited drainage problems in that area, which is primarily farmland and subject to seasonal flooding in the past.

Unsworth charged in a Herald interview that Bush has a conflict of interest that should bar him from impartial judgment in this case.

"We offered to help financially in the drainage project, but Bush said the county couldn't find the money, then managed to find $7,000 to put on Sand Lake Road. It looks like they could come up with $1,000 to fix their drainage problem," opined Unsworth.

Unsworth stated, "There is no trouble with drainage on our property but the problem is 1,300 feet away and they are trying to put it on us. The problem has existed 25 years and will another 25 if it isn't taken care of now," he continued.

He accused the farmers owning the neighboring property of blocking his efforts to change the zoning. Hershel Halsey, also with Unsworth Builders, said, "Some of these people want to help have worked for the very ones who are objecting since they were children, now it comes time for the people to have something and they deny them the right to progress."

Unsworth stated, "If need be, we will organize these people and get a decent wage paid so they will be able to afford to live where ever they want."

Halsey concluded "The people in Midway need to stand on their own feet."

Art Assn. Re-Elects W. Clark

Woodrow W. Clark was unanimously re-elected president of the Sanford Seminole Art Association at the April 5 meeting at the Cultural Arts Center on Oak Avenue.

Other officers elected were Berylle Dyal, vice president; Frances Lyon, secretary; Ruth James, treasurer; Evarae Robb, chaplain, and Marie Richter, president elect.

The club will co-host the Centennial Art Festival which is sponsored by the Florida Federation of Art to be held at the DeBary Mansion on April 10 between the hours of 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend and participate in the festivities.

The art show to be held at the Sanford Plaza May 7 and 8 will be of equal interest to the public. This is an annual event sponsored by the Sanford Plaza Merchants.

However it is the first time the event has been managed by the Sanford Seminole Art Association.

HEW Grant Offered FTU

FTU—The College of Education at Florida Tech University has been awarded a $154,879 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to establish a Multi-Cultural Education Center for Central Florida.

The grant, is the largest single sum awarded FTU to date. It was made through the Emergency School Assistance Program of HEW's Office of Education.

Dr. C. C. Miller, Dean of Education at FTU, called the award "just wonderful, and another indication of the fine work and dedication of our faculty." Dr. David Hernandez was instrumental in developing the basic concept of the program.

Dean Miller was joined by Dr. Robert Cowgill, Assistant Dean of the College, and coordinator for advanced education projects, who noted that the grant will permit the University to become even more involved in elementary and secondary education in the region.

The Multi-Cultural Center, which is to be located on the FTU campus, will serve as "an initiation point and clearing house" for a number of projects, Dr. Cowgill observed.

The objective of the grant study will be creation of a program of individualized instruction through a series of target areas that include the development of "diagnostic and prescriptive techniques" to fit different teaching staffs, and the development of materials and study aids that can be used in various situations and environments.

Another objective of the FTU grant will be implementation of a model program for extending cooperation between public schools and the University.

Sanford Architect Praised By County

County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond recommended to commissioners that consideration be given to architect Eoghan Kelley in future contracts, in county government since his firm offers the lowest fee for services at six per cent of the basic services and $25 hourly for additional services. Most other firms, according to County Attorney Harold Johnson have gone to seven per cent of the basic cost.

Drummond stressed that his statement does not preclude other firms, but that with the low cost of Kelley's firm, this should certainly receive the consideration of the commission. Drummond noted that at a one per cent savings, on a million dollar contract, for instance, the savings to taxpayers would amount to $10,000.

Kelley's firm is the architect for the new county mental health facility, which voters approved in the amount of $325,000.

Nixon's TV Indochina Address Missed The Boat

President Nixon's globally broadcast TV updating on the Indochina War must be listed as a lost opportunity for a display of courageous leadership and the acceptance of that occasion as a means to re-state old convictions and resolve.

It was almost as though an official charged with overall direction of weather control had stood in the midst of a hurricane while explaining what effective steps had been taken to manage such natural disasters.

For there can be no doubt that this nation is mid-stream in a soul-searching effort of major proportions to discover and re-affirm its national character after the trial, conviction, and sentencing of Lt. William L. Calley, Jr.

While the President was pointing out the further withdrawal of American ground forces from South Vietnam (and making a very good argument for this procedure) the Calley case, which dug into the My Lai "massacre," had produced major debate in the national leadership and had shaken the Army throughout its chain of command.

His audience included many who had looked for a major, specific move for peace by the Commander-in-Chief which would have shown that this national Calley-inspired outburst of public concern with kindness, telephone calls and telegrams had had the kind of response from President Nixon that it merited.

However, the President confined his 20-minute TV presentation to the state of affairs which existed before the momentous and disturbing Calley Case terminated and set in motion the weakening of the American people and, in fact, the world as to the price the United States has paid and is paying for an undeclared war, which is now becoming almost unendurable.

Crews is due and must be given to the facts which President Nixon produced in words and by graphs the winding down of the Vietnamese war and the reduction of the number of United States soldiers from the 542,400 maximum to the 284,000 total expected by May 68, with an increased rate bringing more ground forces home before Dec. 1.

Yet the killing goes on. That it is now being done by Vietnamese in Vietnam in ground fighting and from the air by the mighty American Air Force does little to satisfy the conscience of the growing number of Americans who want the slaughter stopped.

The awareness of the Commander-in-Chief, when war casualties is the topic, was shown as a very sober-faced Nixon stated his desire for "peace" and hope for a time when "no American (would be) fighting and dying any place in the world."

His words that "American involvement in Vietnam is coming to an end" were uttered with all the force he could muster. For he knew that these remind Americans with memories of other promises by other top figures in other administrations which events proved wrong.

Criticism of the Nixon TV address has been already come from Democrats who have their eyes on the White House with the 1972 campaign in mind. This is to be expected. But these times — especially right now — should deny politics its usual role.

The setting of a date for the final withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Indochina is an action that the Commander-in-Chief has been urged to make.

Yet the Nixon appraisal of this was nothing new. He argued it would play into the hands of the enemy. Perhaps one of the most revealing comments however came from Assistant Senate GOP Leader Robert Griffin who thought the President had "set a date — election day 1972."

We would not like to even think that is a fact. We believe that the strong, firm, courageous leadership which will recognize the present national turmoil over this nightmare war can yet come from the White House.

A Penny Saved

Remember the adage, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and how true it was! Today that familiar maxim might be more appropriately changed to say, "A penny saved is a penny and one-fourth earned."

The recent increase in Social Security benefits will undoubtedly benefit thousands. By the same token, the recent increase in Social Security will burden hundreds of thousands with additional taxes.

Legislators passed the bill with relatively little opposition and were pleased to announce that although benefits would increase 10 per cent and be retroactive to January 1, 1971, it would not be necessary to increase Social Security taxes this year.

That's real nice, however, there was already one increase effective January 1. If they say it won't be necessary to increase taxes this year, does that mean it will be next year? Yes, Congress has already approved such an increase.

For the individual who makes at least $7,800 a year, the January 1 increase will mean an additional $21.00 ($10.50 in 1970). The employer pays this same amount. In 1972, the increase will cost someone making at least $9,000 another $62.40. Not only will he pay the increased amount, but his employer will also be required to match that figure.

So, think about that penny. It's going to take quite a bit more to replace it today. — Athens (Tex.) Review

It's Been Tested

The four-day work week for industry is said to be experimental, although it has already been tested thoroughly by Congress.

Don Oakley Says:

Permissive Dress Codes Fail

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editor

"Why are we so scared of our kids?" asks Fred B. Litton, a member of the board of education of Niles Township Community High School in Skokie, Ill.

Granted that student activism can be troublesome at times, he writes in the American School Board Journal. Nevertheless, we seem to be overly reluctant to give students opportunities to exercise the new freedoms and responsibilities we so glibly discuss in the abstract.

Take student dress, or undress, he says.

It would be folly to try to compute the number of man-hours devoted by board members and administrators to defining acceptable dress codes. How much of that big block of time taken up by "the battle of the thigh," for example, is necessary to assure quality education?

Why not simply permit students to set their own standards?

"Pocketbook Politics" Reviving

By ARNOLD R. SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Where all "bread and butter" and "pocketbook politics." It means paying attention to the cost of the voter's grocery bag and the size of his pay envelope.

Many believe the perfection of pocketbook politics is what has given the Democratic Party control of Congress in all but four of the last 39 years and possession of the White House in all but 16 years of that period.

It also believes that 1968 marked the end of the period in U.S. history when pocketbook politics alone could win elections. A new school of political thought held that inflation was the economic issue that bothered voters, and what Richard Scammon called "the social issue" — crime, drugs, youth revolt — was of prime importance.

Several candidates planned their 1970 campaigns out of Scammon's book "The Real Majority," coming down hard on law and order.

The results were mixed, probably because the candidates of both parties drowned each other out proclaiming their hate of crime. Still, there were enough tests in campaigns

Florida Politics

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — House Speaker Richard Pettigrew says he will press ahead with his plan to move Florida's presidential primary to March 14, even though Democratic presidential front-runner Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine is unhappy about the early date.

That puts Pettigrew, who feels at this point Muskie is the best of the Democratic candidates, in a ticklish position: Muskie's planned visit to the Florida Legislature on April 27 may prove a trifle embarrassing to both Muskie and to Pettigrew if the issue of early primaries comes up.

The Maine presidential contender apparently feels Florida's a fine place to visit, but not at the same time as the New Hampshire primary.

As it now stands, the granite state — southern and western neighbor to Muskie's own state — has the nation's first presidential primary set for January 27. There is nothing to keep it that way.

Muskie supporters say their man wants some time to rest after the New Hampshire primary before he plunges into another campaign — even if it is going to be in warm and sunny Florida.

Pettigrew says he's not about to change his mind about early primaries. "Whether it benefits a particular candidate who I might favor at this moment is irrelevant," said Pettigrew.

He said he told the same thing to Muskie campaign workers when they visited him recently.

An early Florida primary may be attractive to a number of other Democratic candidates, however, as it will provide them their first chance to try to swing the south.

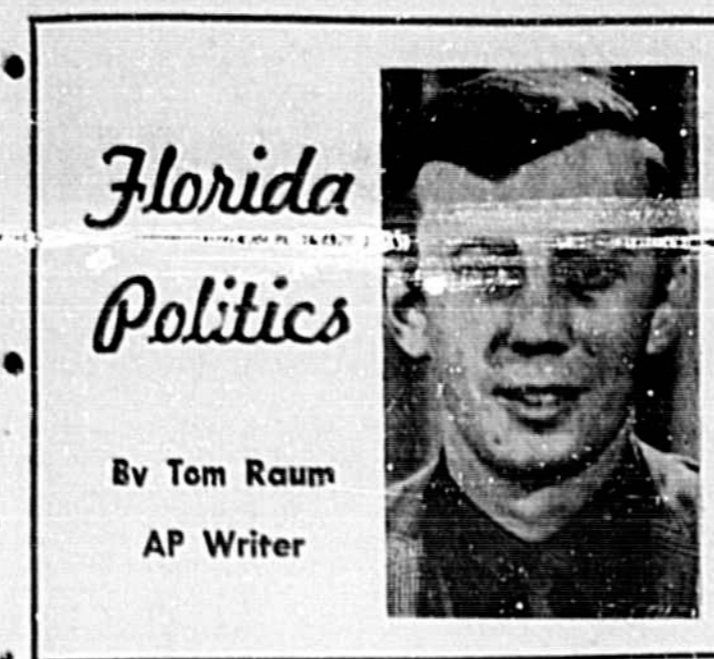

Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) is known to consider an early Florida campaign key to his underdog presidential bid.

For that reason, Muskie as front runner needs time in the New Hampshire primary to mount a strong drive in Florida, proving that he is the Democrat who can carry the south.

The Florida business concern which lobbied hard for the bloodless bullfighting bill during the 1970 session — the Jim Walter Corp. of Tampa — will not pursue the issue this session.

That's the word from Jimmy Kynes, a former University of Florida football star, Florida attorney general under Gov. Farris Bryant, most recently Florida vice president at Jim Walter Corp. of Tampa — will not pursue the issue this session.

Spook Hill Mystifies Deltonans

By ELLA MAY FRAZER
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — When the bus pulled out of the parking lot at Deltona Inn to take 25 Deltonans to the Lake Wales Passion Play, there were 10 empty seats. Empire State Club members on board that bus felt there must be at least 10 more Deltonans, who wanted to share the Easter message to be found at the Passion Play, but who just had not known the bus was going. This is one reason Club president John Taylor and Company of England in 1928 built the tower with 23,000 pounds to 12 pounds. The bells themselves are stationary, but the clappers are moved to strike precisely right for the stroke designed.

Improved bells were installed in 1907 in some parts of the tower, to make it easier for the carillonner to play. He strikes (depresses) wooden keys, not Carillonner at Washington Cathedral, and was with the late Staf Nees in Meehan, Belgium; and worked informally with Perivall Price at the University of Michigan.

Dinner at the Highlander Restaurant at Lake Wales at North Avenue and U. S. Route No. 27, was delightful; no hurry and delicious food. Then on to the Black Hills Passion Play. Harold Rogers is manager. The cast remains here for shows until April 18, when they make the trek to the Black Hills of South Dakota. Rogers said the summer months are most busy, but they are grateful for the interest of Floridians during their Spring Play.

Needless to say, this particular Passion Play is exceptionally well done, with feeling and dedication.

Investigation Asked

Watered Juice Denied

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A charge by Ralph Nader that the citrus industry watered its juice products and put the squeeze on the public for some $150 million Thursday triggered demands for an investigation.

The consumer advocate said at the University of Utah Wednesday $150 million was picked from the public's pockets by watering orange and grapefruit juice.

Bank robbers with a scant $8 million in earnings palled by comparison, Nader charged.

Florida Citrus Commissioners fired back that Nader's allegation was completely inaccurate and asked for state and federal investigations.

Nader didn't mention Florida by name but the state packs 95 per cent of frozen orange juice for retail.

The consumer advocate said the Florida Citrus Commission, headed by Doyle Conner asked Nader to withdraw any blanket charges against Florida.

"Florida has the strongest citrus codes of any state. Florida laws provide for strict controls on violators and I have no timidity toward enforcing the law," Conner said.

Nader, and his associates have complained in the past that canned orange juice and orange drinks are diluted virtually at will because there are no federal standards on adding water.

"His statement in regard to this is completely inaccurate and entirely uncalled for," claimed Florida Citrus Mutual, the state's big grower organization.

"Unless he can prove the charges he has done a tremendous disservice to frozen concentrate orange juice consumers and the entire Florida citrus industry," said Tom Osborne, Mutual's assistant general manager.

Frozen orange juice actually contains less water than the average fresh squeezed one, said Osborne.

Nader said in his speech that bank robbers had their second best year in 1970, according to FBI figures, but were pickers compared to the packers.

"Well, how about the citrus juice industry, a large proportion of which has an irresistible impulse to put water in pure orange juice, pure grapefruit juice — 10 to 15 per cent, almost undetectable.

"That's about $150 million. It's quite clear that bank robbers are in the wrong business. The FBI spends a good deal of its resources tracking down bank robbers, and of course doesn't have one dealing with this kind of criminal — or fraud," Nader said.

Senator Is Indicted For Income Tax Fraud

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A federal grand jury has released an eight-count indictment against State Sen. Robert Brannen, charging the Lakeland Democrat with concealing an additional $80,000 in income taxes.

Also named in the indictment was Brannen's business partner, Anthony V. Giannini.

Together, the federal government charged, the two conspired to conceal more than $37,000 in taxes on income from their corporation, Blue Seal Excavating and Paving Co.

The firm has its headquarters in Lakeland.

In the 12-page indictment handed down Wednesday, the 41-year-old legislator was charged with owing an additional $80,000 in income taxes.

Also named in the indictment was Brannen's business partner, Anthony V. Giannini.

Together, the federal government charged, the two conspired to conceal more than $37,000 in taxes on income from their corporation, Blue Seal Excavating and Paving Co.

Divorce Changes Pondered

By RICH OPPEL
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A liberalized divorce bill and a watered down resolution in support of Lt. William Calley in Florida topped the calendar in the Florida House of Representatives today.

As the first week of the 1971 legislative session drew to a close, the Senate did not plan to meet. Committee meetings were scheduled.

The divorce bill, sponsored by Major League Baseball pitcher Don Nichols, D-Jacksonville, provides for rehabilitative alimony and divorce only on grounds the marriage suffers irretrievable breakdown due to irreconcilable differences.

It also would give equal rights for the man to get child custody, a contract to present law which usually assures the woman of custody.

"I'm certain there will be some discussion because some may feel it makes divorce easier," said Nichols. "Why make people live together in unholy matrimony?"

A committee removed the original provision of mandatory counseling before divorce, providing only that a judge could suggest counseling when one party says the marriage is not completely broken.

Cabinet To Inherit State Barge Canal?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Senate committee has voted to abolish a middleman board and allow the State Cabinet to inherit the Cross Florida Barge Canal.

By a 6-1 vote, the Senate Natural Resources and Conservation Committee voted Thursday to transfer all duties of the Florida Canal Authority to the Cabinet.

The authority is charged with representing the interests of the canal and the counties it was to have crossed. But the agency has come under attack for its past inaction and its past inaction.

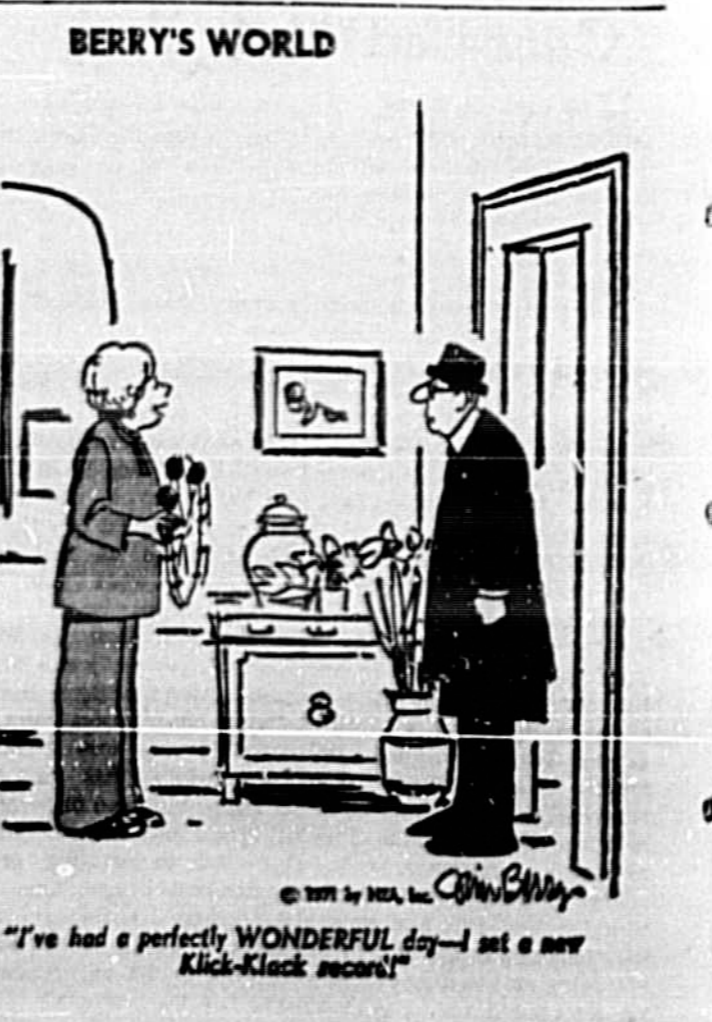

"The Canal Authority is made up of well qualified businessmen, and has done an admirable job," Beaufort told the committee. "The Cabinet already has all it can say grace over."

Meanwhile, Rep. Lew Earle, R-Orlando, claimed the Canal Authority was lobbying legislators to reject a similar proposal filed by him in the House.

Ceylon's Bandaranaika Acts

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The island of Ceylon sits off the southeast coast of India, outside the main stream of world events, its voice scarcely audible outside the narrow of its own 12 million people.

It is easy to forget that Ceylon gave the world its first woman prime minister, on July 21, 1960, in the person of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike and that, for better or for worse, Mrs. Bandaranaike must rank among the earliest of today's women's lib leaders.

While still the wife of a prime minister and not the prime minister herself she had dedicated herself to the rehabilitation of Ceylon's rural women, helping to provide them with low-cost and financial assistance to set themselves up as handloom weavers, or makers of mats, baskets and handicrafts.

Many a young woman owes her independence from masculine domination to her.

Before Mrs. Bandaranaike denounced her own iron will, she was known along Ceylon's campaign trail as the "weeping widow."

A sudden announcement from Mrs. Bandaranaike declared that youthful gangs calling themselves "The Peoples Liberation Army" have liberated wide areas of Ceylon and plotted against Colombo, the capital, itself.

Arnold Palmer Has His Problems

By RUBEAT WITZEL
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer once "owed" the Masters, winning four times in seven years.

Now he isn't even making an eight-inch putt.

"I played atrociously," growled the millionaire golfer. "I don't recall anything I did well on — worst round of the year."

Palmer's national hasn't been kind to Palmer since 1967 when his steel grip began to loosen on the course that Bobby Jones built.

"Conditions couldn't have been easier," observed Arnie's fellow superstar, Jack Nicklaus, after Thursday's opening round of the 35th Masters.

"None," said Palmer. "Can't blame me. Blame me."

Charles Coody, a tightwad of note from Texas, proved the Golden Bear's point with a blistering six-under-par 66 to leapfrog the field by three shots.

Coody shot three of 34-32 to a 66, three lower than a sumo on the 60 that included a Bob Lunn, Bob Murray, Ray Jonyard, Hale Irwin and Jim Fryday.

Pre-tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, the "Big Four" sweep on his mind after PG triumph in February, settled for 76 along with Dale Douglass, Art Wall, Champ here in 1958, stood with Bert Yancey and Tom Weiskopf at one-under 71.

From there, the field became crowded.

Twelve players bunched home with even-par 72 including defending champion Billy Casper and Gary Player. Also there were steady, colorless Gene Littles and Tom Weiskopf at one-under 71.

Palmer had 66 companions at 73 including amateurs Steve Melnyk and Lanny Wadkins.

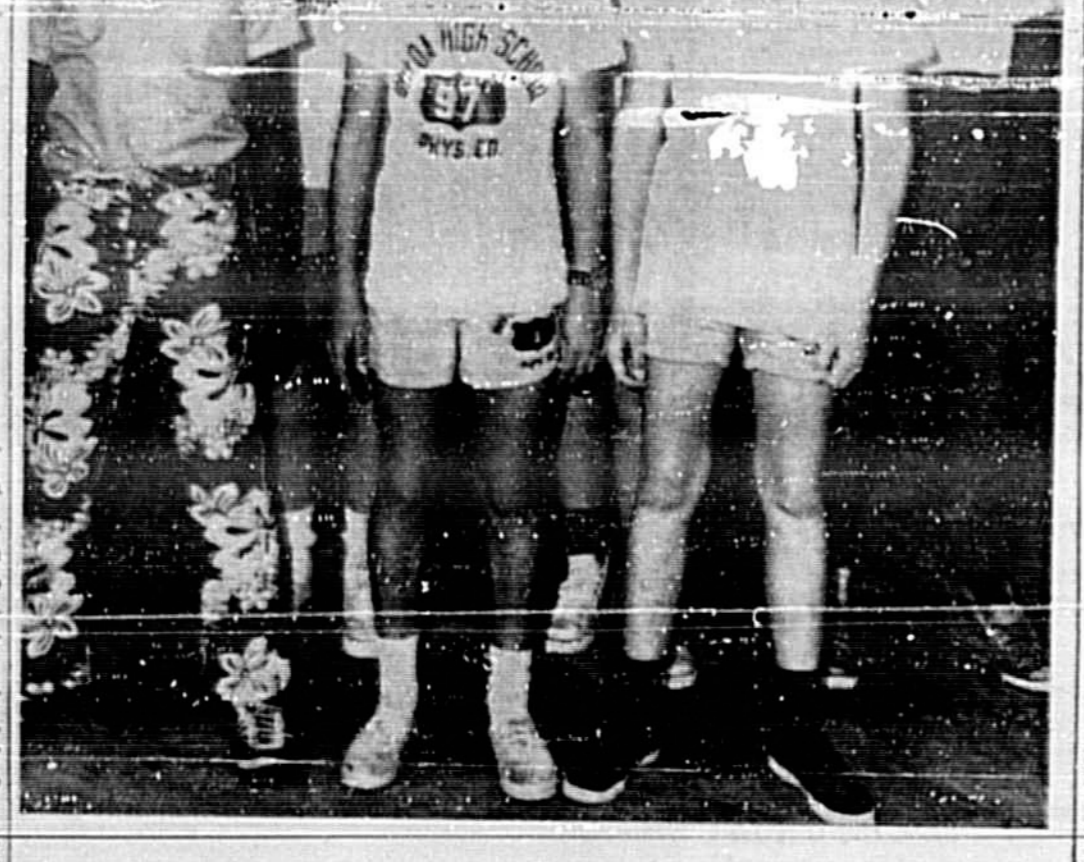

It was Coody's close pal, Frank Beard, who branded Charles as the pro tour's tightest man with the dollar. Beard, some claim, is one who should know.

"I didn't mind," smiled Coody. "I read Frank's book and enjoyed it. Yes, I'd guess you'd say I'm conservative."

Coody's play Thursday was nothing short of spectacular, especially on the par fives in the rolling 6,500-yard Augusta National layout.

He stroked a one-tee shot with five feet of the stick on the 55-yard, coody, but missed the eagle. Coody two-putted from 300 feet on the 330-yard eight and carried his 15-foot putt from the fringe on the 475-yard 13th hit the pin, but wound up a birdie, too.

Coody's day of par-5 miracles ended on the 320-yard 13th when he missed the eagle on the second shot pin high-fourth time of the sunny afternoon—and two-putted from 300 feet.

Arnold Palmer, center, is seen in a golfing stance during a practice round at the Augusta National Golf Club. He is surrounded by other players and spectators.

Stone Finds Trouble

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Single home run, single, double walk. How's that for a major league baseball debut?

Pitching, no hitting.

That's what San Francisco's rookie right-hander Steve Stone ran into in his first inning in the big time Thursday night.

"I wasn't nervous, but I didn't have very good stuff when I warmed up or when I started the game," said the 21-year-old.

Actually, Stone wasn't around long enough to be nervous anyway. Sent to the showers in the fourth after a minor-league pitcher listened on the radio to San Diego pulled out a wild and whacky 7-6 decision with a three-run ninth.

"Stone didn't throw like he did when he pitched against us in spring training," said San Diego manager Preston Gomez, who watched his team waste a three-run lead in the seventh, then win dramatically on Nate Colbert's ninth-inning sacrifice fly.

From the start, it didn't look like the Giants' night-or-Snow's for that matter—as the Padres stung the youngster for four first-inning hits, including Larry Stahl's two-run homer, Chris Cammarzaro's fourth-inning single, the seventh hit, chased Stone and Cammarzaro's error came around on Steve Arlin's single to make it 4-1.

But the Giants sprinted into a 6-4 lead on the wings of a five-run seventh, including Willie May's eighth career grand slam home run and 61st lifetime walk-off.

That was it until the ninth when singles by Don Mason, Dave Campbell, Stahl and Calzone, won the game and set the stage for Colbert's game-winning belt to center.

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Pittsburgh 2, Philadelphia 0; Montreal 6, New York 2; Houston 7, Chicago 2; Cleveland returned Boston 2 and Kansas City took a 2-2 decision over California in the American League.

Willie Stargell delivered a screaming, two-run double in the sixth inning and Dick Walker's handrudded Philadelphia on five hits in Pittsburgh's triumph.

John Bateman knocked in three runs and Steve Renko, a former New York farmhand, scattered 10 Mets' hits in the Montreal series.

"I had to break my bat to get a base hit," said the burly catcher who knocked in the runs with a pinch runner in the first and a broken-bat bloop in the seventh. "But I'll take them any way they come."

Hawks Win Title In Oviedo League

The Name's The Same; But, Spell It Right

DETROIT (AP) — Who says Billy Martin is brash, cocky, and a holler guy?

Nearly everyone has used such descriptions for the new Detroit Tiger manager. Martin, however, says the image is not appropriate but "I don't try to shake it as long as they spell my name right."

"When I came to this club as a player in 1958, I was built up to be a sparkling and holler guy," the 45-year-old outfielder said Thursday at a 30-day workout. "But I never was a holler guy. I didn't yell on the field. I let by actions, not by my voice."

"When I'm introduced at old-time games they say, 'Here's brash, cocky Billy Martin.' Richardson they talk about his World Series team, Hall. I've got better World Series records than he does."

TAKING A QUICK 'PEEK' AT DISNEY WORLD

CAMBODIAN RUINS IN TROPICAL GROWTH

S-t-r-e-t-c-h Your Imagination For Disney World

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
Associate Editor

Two years ago, I was privileged to see the birth of a miracle. It was at that time, I visited a special press preview, hosted by the folks whom I'd only known and identified with fictional characters like Mickey Mouse, and Donald Duck, and all of the others who made me chuckle and grin as a kid.

They were showing all of the people from the various press media what they were about to do here in Central Florida.

We all boarded air-conditioned buses and toured the vast 27,000 acres of grove and swamplands and were told of a fantastic dream which the late Walt Disney was going to bring to Florida.

As we viewed the mounds and mountains of dirt which had been scooped from one spot and removed to another, our guide would point to a high-flying balloon and say, "over in that spot, in the not too distant future, you'll come back one day and see a huge hotel . . . one of four which we plan to build here. All with many more rooms than any which are presently built in this part of the state."

And the voice would continue . . . "and over there, we're going to build a lake. One which will have an all-white sandy-bottom, and over there we'll have a monorail which will carry the visitors from the parking area right up to the ultra-modern motel.

The clincher which really made you think and compare what was being said of the other already fantastic Disney Land in California was that the parking lot here in Florida would occupy more acreage than all of the tourists' paradise in California . . . the parking lot here would be bigger than all of the project in California!

I sucked in my breath and wondered aloud, "Just how much of this is clever propaganda, and what part is fact?"

That was two years ago. This past Sunday, I had my second privilege when the combined efforts of Eastern Air Line (the official host airlines for Disney World) and the people of Disney invited 27 foreign correspondents, and "would I like to serve as one of the local media hosts?"

I jumped at the chance, honored at being singled out, and secondly, to see first-hand just what progress had been made since my first visit.

At this point, it is only fair to also recall my original impression which was conveyed via The Herald. And as nearly as I can recall it, "words espoused from this writer could not do justice to what will eventually happen here as a result of Disney World. Further, there was absolutely no way by which we could be nearly prepared insofar as required roads could be built, and hotels/motels erected to accommodate the millions of visitors expected to spend dollars and time with us. Yes, us; as far away as 40 miles in Seminole County, too."

That's what I thought two years ago, and now after my most recent visit to "tomorrow-land", prepare yourselves Seminole Countians! Take a long look at what you have right now . . . 'cause there is just no way that it can possibly remain that way in another four or five years.

There will be progress and expansion in such gigantic strides that . . . that see what I mean? Here again, there are no words which I can offer to do justice.

Assuming that this just might be the case again, I went armed with camera in hand, and offer to you today the second installment of what greeted us last Sunday, about seven months away from the official grand opening.

The Walt Disney World Preview Center, open a little more than a year, has welcomed 750,000 guests to see a film and model preview of the new Vacation Kingdom. The center is located 15 miles southwest of Orlando on Highway 535. Walt Disney World's main entrance, when it opens in October of this year, will be on U.S. Highway 192 near Interstate Highway 4. Plans are already advanced to provide convenient transportation to major airports and train stations.

Historical And Today

Extremist Parallels Are Drawn

By GLENDA BRADFORD

MAITLAND—The Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce met April 8 in the Maitland Civic Center and had as their guest speakers Dr. Jack C. Lane and Ken Blakley. Dr. Lane is chairman of the Rollins College history department and Blakley is student body president at Rollins.

George Foster, program chairman of the Chamber, introduced Dr. Lane as an eminent authority in American history and as professor of a course in American radicalism at the college.

Speaking on "American Dissent Yesterday and Today," Dr. Lane likened today's bomb makers, rioters, marchers, and other so-called extremists and radicals to those founding fathers who first organized the Boston Tea Party.

The professor drew many parallels between historical extremists and those groups termed extremists today. Citing the revolutionaries against British imperialism and the Abolitionists of the Civil War Era, Dr. Lane made the analogy that those who dissent to bring about the creation of more personable schools, the abolition of poverty, and a less bureaucratic government, and an end to the war in Vietnam may well be considered heroes in years to come.

In a question and answer period following the program, Blakley answered a barrage of questions from the floor. He explained that the college students of today believed in the ideals espoused by the adult population, but had become disillusioned when they learned that the ideals were carried out only in word not by deeds.

The Black Panthers, he stated, are no longer a part of society. They have deviated to the point that they do not try to function within any of the guidelines set forth in our society.

On the war in Vietnam Blakley told of a letter that college editors and student body presidents over the entire nation have been sending to the office of the President since the administration of President Lyndon Johnson stating a position of ending the war in Southeast Asia.

He felt that neither President Johnson nor President Nixon actually took their feelings into consideration and that this lack of acknowledgment on the part of government officials leads to extremist action. This is an innovation in the club designed to recognize those members who have contributed outstandingly to the club.

Shriners' Fete Slated

DELTONA — The Deltona Shrine Club will be host to the illustrious potestote of Bahis Temple, Fred Quenter, and his divan, with their ladies, Wednesday at the Woman's Club in Deltona. The occasion is the formal presentation of the club charter to the officers and nobles in Deltona.

Social hour is from 8 to 9:30 p. m., followed by a dinner at 9:45 by the Woman's Club. Reservations must be made by Monday to Earl Langworthy, secretary, phone: 666-6411. This will be an informal dinner with Deltona Shrine Club ladies as guests. Officers will be attired in white dinner jackets. Nobles may dress informal with ties. All nobles in the area are invited to participate in club affairs. They may retain their membership in home Temple and Shrine clubs and still take part in Deltona Shrine Club. Bahis Temple welcomes each noble to its meetings and ceremonies. There is no charge for affiliation if the noble desires to devote to Bahis Temple.

At the regular March meeting, the speaker was Prof. John Evans, of Stetson University. His topic was "Russia Today." He and several Stetson students spent two weeks in Russia as exchange students during this semester. His talk was informative, as it told of personal interviews with Russian students.

The general attitude of those attending was that the county-wide unified computer program was an excellent proposal and they would return to their respective boards and commissions and pursue the matter in depth.

Keogh, employed by Florida Data Center of Orlando, made his proposal on the basis that there are three computer centers being used by government agencies in the county and most of the agencies would be better served by one large computer center that would be available to hospital, school system, municipal and county governments to use.

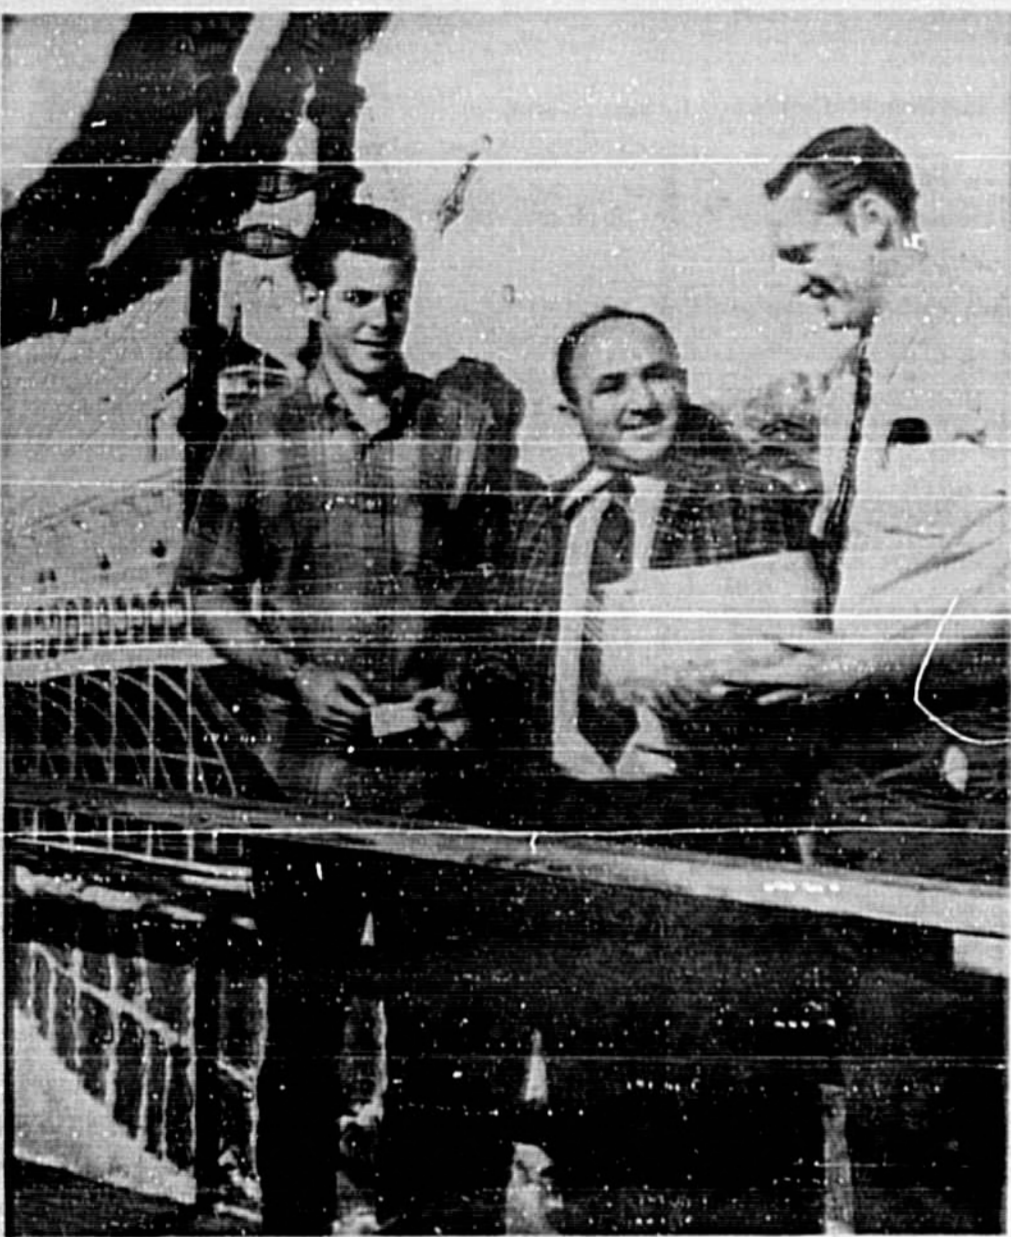

He cited Escambia County as an example where a computer system was being used by all of the county agencies. Keogh added that he was not making the presentation with his company in mind, but the savings that the taxpayers would realize.

At the meeting was A. F. Keith, Chairman of the Seminole County School Board, Charles Lansing, Chairman of the Board of Seminole Memorial Hospital, Richard Barnett, principal of Seminole High School, County Commissioner Sidney Vibber, County Commission Administrative Assistant J. Martin Gaiser, Sanford City Manager W. E. (Pat) Knowles and Sanford City Commissioner Gordon Meyer.

Groundbreaking Is Set At Trinity

Trinity Preparatory School will celebrate the beginning of construction of her new $200,000 classroom building with a groundbreaking ceremony on Easter Sunday.

In connection with the groundbreaking will be a gigantic Easter egg hunt on the campus, with some 6,000 eggs involved. Areas will be set aside for various age groups.

In addition to the egg hunt there will be a teen-age Easter parade. Judges for the most attractively dressed boy and girl will be Eva Proctor, the Proctor Shops; Millie Andrews, Camelot Studios; and Arthur Grindie, Massey Grindie Dodge. Prizes will be given for both egg hunt and the Easter parade winners.

The public is invited to participate both in the egg hunt and the teen-age Easter parade. Students of Trinity's eight major sports teams will supervise the parking of cars and general activities. They will wear their particular sports attire. Mrs. Alice Hanna is general chairman of the event and will be assisted by parents and Trinity student council.

The Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay, Rector of Trinity Preparatory School will officiate at the groundbreaking, assisted by Mr. J. Walter Tucker, Jr., Chairman of the Board.

In addition to the construction of the classroom building, which makes available expansion of the Trinity student body, the contract has been let for the building of tennis courts and pole vault and high jump pits. $10,000 has been allocated for the purchase of new books for the library.

A Unified Computer System Offered County

By LARRY NEELY

Most taxpayers don't do much about taxes except complain. Richard Keogh became one of the few exceptions Thursday when he met with representatives of five governmental agencies and bodies at the Holiday Inn. Keogh organized the meeting to present a plan for a county-wide unified computer system.

At the meeting was A. F. Keith, Chairman of the Seminole County School Board, Charles Lansing, Chairman of the Board of Seminole Memorial Hospital, Richard Barnett, principal of Seminole High School, County Commissioner Sidney Vibber, County Commission Administrative Assistant J. Martin Gaiser, Sanford City Manager W. E. (Pat) Knowles and Sanford City Commissioner Gordon Meyer.

 Subject: "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

On a lonely hill a man died slowly, nailed to a cross.
 His crime — goodness.
 He walked the hills of Judea and the shores of Galilee, healing and consoling, loving everyone He met. Confidently, simply, He spoke of the Kingdom of Heaven, and crowds hurried to hear His vital words.
 To some, His clear, sure talk of the Kingdom and the Way and of Himself the Son of God seemed a threat. And so He suffered on a cross, while a faithful few huddled in its shade and wept at the sacrifice.
 Today, the shadow of that cross circles the globe, as people gather in churches around the world to remember that first Good Friday and give thanks for Jesus, the gift of a loving Father. His life and death and resurrection point the way for every man to find joy in the reality of God's love.

ADDITIONAL EASTER VISITOR ARRIVED EARLY THIS YEAR FOR ALLYSON LEIGH CAHILL, 3, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. DON CAHILL.

TV Preview

By JACK GAVER
 NEW YORK (UPI)—The television networks will have special Easter Sunday programs to begin the next week.
 The big entertainment spot of the week is the annual movie Oscar Awards show, which NBC airs Thursday night.
 CBS has another National Geographic special Tuesday. ABC has a welfare documentary Wednesday and a Friday documentary involving a survey of Americans' hopes and frustrations.
 Highlights (Times EST):

FRIDAY
 The CBS night movie at 9 screens 1967's "Tarzan and the Great River," with Mike Henry starting in a tale about terrorists in the Amazon jungle.
 NBC's "Strange Reports" at 10 offers "Lonelyhearts" — Who killed Dan Cupid? Death of a Lonelyhearts Club leader proves to be murder instead of suicide.
 ABC's "Love American Style" at 10 repeats "Love and the Elopement," "Love and the Understanding," "Love and the Happy Couple" and "Love and the Visitor." Jim Backus, Jan Murray, Anne Francis and William Windom are some of the actors.

SATURDAY
 WBNC's "Major League Baseball Game of the Week" begins another season at 2 p.m. with Detroit playing Baltimore.
 "CBS Golf Classic" at 4 offers a semi-final match in which Frank Beal and Larry Hinson play Al Gieberger and Dave Stockton.
 Play in the third round of the Masters golf tourney at Augusta, Ga., is on CBS from 5 to 6.
 "ABC's World Wide of Sports" at 5 devotes its 90 minutes to the grand national stock car race at Greenville, S.C.
 NBC's movie at 8:30 screens 1967's "Hobbes," starring Stanley Baker and Jaunita Pette in a tale about a British train heist.

SUNDAY
 CBS preempts "Lamp Unto My Feet" and "Look Up and Live," 10:11 a.m., for the premiere of an original cantata, "And David Wept," with Metropolitan Opera soloists and the CBS orchestra interpreting this Joe Darton Ezra Luderman work dedicated to both Passover and Easter.
 NBC airs Easter Sunday service from Central United Methodist Church in Atlanta, Ga. from 11 to noon.
 CBS preempts "Camera Three" and "Face The Nation," 11 noon, for Easter services at the Asylum Hill Congregational Church in Hartford, Conn.
 Play on final holes of the last round of the Masters Golf Tournament, Augusta, Ga., is on CBS from 4 to 5:30.
 NBC's Disney hour at 7:30 repeats "Van Drake In Spain," a combination animation/human show about Spain, with star

New Plans

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Leslie Bricuse, executive producer of "Scrooge," announced he is planning a musical picture version of "Henry VIII."

Questions And Answers

By PENNY PENCE

Q: Please tell me if all the girls in the Carter family are sisters. One is almost identical to June Carter Cash. Are they twins? Weren't there more members of the family once?—P.H., St. John, N.B.

A: Three of the girls in the Carter family are sisters, and the fourth is their mother, Maybelle. Anita Carter is the youngest, Helen two years her senior, and June (four years older than Helen). The original Carter family consisted of mother Maybelle, her brother-in-law, the late A. P. Carter, and his wife, Sarah, now retired.

Q: I would like to be Lucille Ball's friend. Where can I write to tell her so?—M.N., Portsmouth, Va.

A: You can write her in care of CBS, Hollywood, and you can best prove your friendship by continuing to tune in Lucy each week, helping her to keep up her consistently good ratings.

Q: Please tell me why "The Young Rebels" was taken off the air. I'd like to write and complain about it. Where can I write?—J.B., Greensboro, N.C.

A: Write to the Director of Programming, ABC TV, Hollywood 90027.

Q: Doesn't Stuart Whitman, who was recently in "City Beneath the Sea," have a whole family who acts?—R.R., Kent, Wash.

A: Whitman has a younger brother, Kip, who's an actor, and a father who has just been signed for his first movie role.

Q: Please settle an argument. Are Karen Valentine of "Room 222" and the girl who plays the wife of Sam Marsh of "The Interns" the same person? I say they are not.—M.W., W. Willington, Conn.

A: You are correct. Elaine Giffes, Sam March's wife, would be hurt to think that her efforts were being attributed to an actress on another series.

Q: Please tell me if the Johnny Carsons are feuding.—D.L., Bing Binghamton.

A: Now, the feud has been over since they agreed to separate and divorce.

Q: Does Chris George have a brother who appeared once in one of the segments of "Rat Patrol"?—R.E., Decatur, Ill.

A: Yes. It was a script written especially for the brothers.

Q: Could you tell me who the fellow is who does the ads for American Motors on TV? What series did he use to be in?—F.D., Campbell, Ohio.

A: That fellow is Kevin McCarthy, who played a scoundrel on "The Survivors."

Q: I have a small bet with my husband about who starred in the movie, "Imitation of Life," on TV recently. Is there any way I can find out that information?—J.P., San Carlos, Calif.

A: Tell you Lana Turner and John Gavin co-starred in the 1939 film.

Q: My sister says that Lucie Arnaz is Desi Jr.'s half-sister and I say that Desi Sr. is the father of both children. Nothing earth-shaking about this, but I'd like to know which of us is right.—O.L., Tacoma.

A: You are correct. Both children are offspring of the Arnaz marriage.

Q: When many of the TV series instigated under the Cooper regime at Screen Gems passed into obsolescence, Cooper exited the executive suite. "A change of pace is good for a man," he says, and claims that he was first an actor and will always be one.

If you have a question or any TV program or actor, send it to TV Time Answer Girl, in care of this newspaper.

Garner Keeps Shirt On In 'Skin Game'

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — It may have a title that suggests nudity and pornography, but "Skin Game" stars James Garner, who is about as pornographic as a bowl of cereal.

Actually, Garner is so anti-pornographic movies that he's decided to return to television next season. Ask him why and he launches into a small lecture.

"Have you seen the movies they're making lately?" he says. "I don't look too good with my clothes off. With movies today, if it looks like it's going to bomb, they hire a girl to take her clothes off. TV is more of a challenge—you can't do that, you have to work with in a certain framework."

He's acquiescing "Skin Game" in before he starts his TV show. The title refers to a "skin" racket he and Lou Gossett have going in the Old West. Gossett is his slave and Garner goes around selling him, then stealing him back and moving on to the next town. They work together and have a good time going — for awhile.

Gossett says the part is a departure for him and adds, with a cheerful smile, "It's a lot better than 'The Young Rebels.'"

For Garner, the return to TV is under considerably better conditions than when he did 'Maverick'.

"The parking attendant had a better deal than I had on 'Maverick,'" he says. "My stand-in made more than I did — literally."

He says he hired three writers to create formats for him and two of them turned out. He finally picked the one he'll do, but he may still produce the other one with another actor, too. The one he chose has him playing a small town sheriff in 1915.

They were shooting a scene for "Skin Game" in which Susan Clark comes to Gossett's rescue when she thinks—rightly—that Garner is about to sell his. Gossett makes like a caricature of a slave, cringing and bowing and saying "Massa" weakly.

And Susan Clark, in a handsome green dress, looks elegant and ladylike. Susan, a beautiful and talented Canadian, has come a long way in a short time.

"I've been lucky," she says.

"In three and one-half years here, I've done some good things — 'Colossus' and 'Tell Them Willie Boy Was Here' and 'Valdez Is Coming' with Burt Lancaster. And even 'Sluggers' was a good part, though the film turned out badly."

She says she was naive when she first came to Hollywood, and thought she could just wait and let things happen. She learned that it doesn't work that way—"You have to guide things along."

Scott To Add To Record?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If George C. Scott is named best actor of 1970 next Thursday night, he will establish an Academy Award record: the first winner to refuse an Oscar.

"I don't give a damn about it," the explosive actor responded upon his nomination as best actor for his performance in "Patton." He asked to have his nomination withdrawn. The academy declined.

A victory by Scott would add a colorful chapter to the 43-year history of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. That history also contains one unclaimed Oscar.

In 1956, the award for best original story and screenplay went to Robert Rich for "The Brave One." No one appeared to claim the statuette. Years later, it was revealed that Robert Rich was a pseudonym for Dalton Trumbo, a blacklisted writer who still has not sought possession of the Oscar.

Among the other Oscar records over the years:

Most awards for an actress: Katherine Hepburn, three.

Most awards for an actor: Walter Brennan, three, all in supporting roles.

Most awards for a director: John Ford, four.

Most awards: Walt Disney, 30.

Youngest award winner: Shirley Temple, who won juvenile award in 1934 at 5 years, 10 months.

Youngest nominee: Jackie Cooper for best actor of 1930-31 in "Skippy" at 10.

Most nominations for a single film: "All about Eve," 14 in 1950.

Most awards for a single film: "Ben-Hur," 11 in 1959.

Most nominations for an actress: Katherine Hepburn, 11.

Most nominations for an actor: Spencer Tracy, nine.

Longest acceptance speech: Greer Garson, who talked for 45 minutes in 1943.

Shortest acceptance speech: William Holden, who could only say "Thank you" because television time was running out in 1954.

Now the question: Will George C. Scott add his own unique record?

Scott's nose-thumbing at Oscar threw the town's seers into a tizzy. Before his outburst, he seemed far in the lead because of his high-powered portrayal of Gen. George Patton.

There is no way of fathoming the reaction of the academy voters. Will they resent his affront to the academy's dignity? Or will they submerge their feelings and give him the Oscar anyway?

Scott faces the opposition of Melvyn Douglas for "I Never Sang For My Father," James Earl Jones for "The Great White Hope," Jack Nicholson for "Five Easy Pieces" and Ryan O'Neal for "Love Story."

Douglas could be a sentimental winner, and Jones is a strong contender. Less likely to score with the voters, whose average age is in the 50s, are newcomers Nicholson and O'Neal.

It may be the toughest race in Academy history to predict, but I'll take Scott.

The other races: Best actress—Newcomers all: Jane Alexander, "The Great White Hope;" Sarah Miles, "Ryan's Daughter;" Carolee Snodgrass, "Diary of a Mad Housewife." It could go to any of them, but Miss Snodgrass had the greatest tour de force.

Tighten Egg Controls

By FRANK J. JASA
County Agricultural Agent

Controls over the marketing of eggs and egg products have been tightened under a new Egg Products Inspection Act signed into law in late 1970.

Effective June 30, 1971, the Act will require continuous inspection under USDA supervision of establishments that process frozen, liquid, and dried eggs for human use. In the past, such inspection has been on a voluntary basis.

The Act will also prohibit — beginning June 30, 1972 — the distribution of unwholesome shell eggs and their use in food products. A key objective of the law is to prevent dirty, leaking, and cracked eggs from being sold to the consumer, or from being used in manufactured egg products without proper controls. Strict controls are needed because these kinds of eggs may contain harmful bacteria.

The inspection program requires plant approval by USDA officials and pasteurization of all egg products, specifies plant operating procedures, and provides for testing of the finished products.

But specifically exempted from the Act's requirement is any egg dealer who: 1—has an egg processing plant that receives or breaks only clean, whole eggs — those within the limits allowed under consumer grade standards; 2—sells eggs or processed egg products from his own flock directly to household consumers; 3—has an annual egg output from a flock of 3,000 hens or less; or 4—sells, transports, possesses or uses only eggs that meet tolerances for restricted eggs under U.S. consumer grade standards.

Egg producers who ship nest-run eggs to a handler to grade for a retail market would not be directly affected. Producers with grading operations (over 3,000 hens) will be subject to spot inspections — as will all other egg packers — to assure their eggs are being handled as prescribed by the Act.

Keyword: Today Is Handcraft

By LOUISE L. GILL

The keyword in the accessories future is handcrafted. The important look in handbags and jewelry is a hand-made individualized design. Handbags are being made in hemp, jute, burlap. And decoration consists of beaten gold ornaments, wooden balls and beads. Jewelry also has a more sculptured art form look. Beaten gold and abstract shapes are important. The pendant is significant and natural materials such as wood, shells and feathers are being used. Gloves are also being made in natural materials like hemp, denim and canvas — decorated with wood, rope and unusual ornaments. Belts are still wide and the painted belt will still have a run. These belts also look handmade (most are) with faces and scenes in full color or suede appliques of trees, sunsets, houses, etc. The cinch belt is gaining in importance to pull in the waist for the longer fashions.

For Spring 1971, there is an important trend toward simplicity — a primitive quality to the weaves in wool and wool blends — prints that show the influence of "grass roots" — small florals, calico looks, denim looks. Also, there is a touch of the traditional in plaids and stripes, and a touch of the 30s—dusty colors, small graphic patterns. Coordinates are important — prints with solids or, more exciting, a potpourri of prints even in boldly printed silks, cottons and Qiana nylon.

Fall 1971 shows an increase of conservatism in color and prints. Whatever peasant-American Indian expression was featured in Spring has been largely replaced by the dependence on the conventional — plaids, stripes, florals, tapestries. Printed fabrics, including printed wools of sweater weights, are more important now and replace the novelty of the open weave although weaves are still simple and rustic. 1971 is rustic, casual, classic.

Spider Mites 'Serious Pests' On Roses

By DAVID DeVOLL
Extension Agent

A problem many people have this time of year but not know it, is spider mite infestation of their roses. Spider mites commonly called "red spiders" are frequently serious pests.

Mites are closely related to the spiders, ticks and scorpions. They are extremely small 1-50 of an inch or less in length and are oval shaped. They commonly infest the undersides of the rose leaves and spin extensive webbing. Silvery-white spots result when the needle-like mouth parts puncture the leaves. Later these spots turn yellow, bronze and reddish. Mites suck the plant sap and chlorophyll causing the tissues to die and the affected leaves to drop.

Rose plants only moderately infested by mites lose much of their foliage so assimilation is greatly reduced resulting in an unhealthy condition.

Spider mites pass through several stages in development from egg to adult. The yellowish-white eggs are laid along the main veins on the underside of the leaves.

Many of the miticides kill spider mites only when they are in the active stages. Those miticides which kill only by contact do not kill the quiescent stages. Thus applications must be repeated, and this frequently results in plant injury.

The miticides recommended for mite control include, Kelthane, cygon, Trithion and Tedion. Follow directions on the label for spraying and be sure to spray the undersides of the leaves.

SUPER SUMMER BOOK—If you're 15 and it's summer, some pretty weird things can happen but not as weird—or as funny —or as sad—as the things that happen to Jamie McBride, the hero (of sorts) of a satirical book called "The Super Summer of Jamie McBride," written by two magazine writers who've covered the youth scene since the early 1960s. Jack Shepherd and Christopher S. Wren are the authors and they chronicle the summer spent by Jamie in the "hip, cool, what's happening world" of drugs, demonstrations, sensitivity training and meditation, with Constant Flowersong as his 21-year-old guide. The book takes a funny, but, in some ways, sympathetic look at what the youth culture has become—and it's hilarious and eye-opening reading.

BRIDGING THE COUNTRY GAP—"Teen Magazine had an idea last year for breaking down some international barriers. What they started as a pen pal program between Teen readers and Bravo fans (Bravo is a teen-age magazine published in West Germany). The response to the program was fantastic, with 76,000 German teen-agers responding and 46,000 Americans following suit. The program went over so well, in fact, that in its April, 1971, issue Teen is repeating its offer. And they're thinking of making the program worldwide, with an exchange of letters with Italian teens next on the list. If you're interested in finding out what's happening outside the U. S. A., the Teen program sounds like a good way to do it.

GAP-BRIDGING—Steve Trammell, a 17-year-old from Highland, Calif., decided to bridge a generation gap of sorts by enrolling in an adult education class in photography. Not only were the vibrations from the adults good, but Steve did so well that the course helped him win a $1,000 scholarship in photography from Eastman Kodak, which sponsors a 4-H Photography Project.

ANKA'S WAY—Paul Anka, who's "My Way" with Frank Sinatra has been on the British musical charts for two years, has rewritten the lyrics for Joe Frazier's rendition of the song. Naturally, it'll be the song of a champ.

The group's been together for two years and they got their first big break with TV exposure on the BC Mel Galley, David Holland and Glenn Hughes are the Trapeze artists.

RIVERS FLOW—Johnny Rivers' upcoming single record "Sea Cruise," the old Frankie Ford No. 1 single, is being released on the United Artist label in April. (David Frost will have Johnny on his show.) Incidentally, Rivers has just returned from India, where he meditated and still managed to write lots of songs.

Hopkins To Teach At SNA

Kenneth Hopkins, 2417 Myrtle Avenue, former substitute speech and English teacher at Seminole County schools, has joined the faculty of Sanford Naval Academy, teaching ninth grade English.

Hopkins, who worked as a newsman for Ft. Pierce radio station WARN, has been a radio announcer for WTRR in Sanford, WOOO in DeLand, WTAL, WTNT, LOMA, WONS, WBGM, WGLF and WFSU-TV in Tallahassee.

He received his bachelor's degree in speech and radio-TV from Florida State and served four years in the Army ROTC program.

Hopkins is currently working with the Sanford "Save Our Zoo" Taxpayers' Association. He likes all sports, including golf, bowling, and playing chess. He is also interested in astrology, traveling, and reading positive thought-oriented books.

Feature attraction at the Sanford Plaza Theatre Sunday through Wednesday is "Midnight Cowboy" starring Robert F. Kennedy, Stefanie Powers, Phil Silvers and Dustin Hoffman.

Feature co-attraction is "King of the Grizzlies," another Walt Disney production, in which a rancher sets traps for grizzly-raiding wolves only to attract a hungry bear who traps him.

Walt, a grizzly approaching early adulthood, comes on the scene but doesn't understand the ways of the world. He doesn't care the meat comes like breakfast, he crashes out of the brush and lumbers toward the set. The wolves try a short distance to a little rise and sit down to watch.

The bear moves directly up to the bait and as he does so steps into a trap in front of it.

By the time many movie-makers build sets representing locations, they can be at the actual locations and back. With today's cinematic advances, such as zoom and telescopic lenses, there's no need for the street scenes and large interiors should be simulated."

Altamonte Girl Victim Of Rape

By BILL SCOTT

An 18-year-old Altamonte Springs woman was raped at her home early Sunday by a man who broke into the sleeping woman's house and awakened her by placing a knife to her throat.

County Detective Johnny Wright reported the woman, who lives in a duplex apartment with her sister, was alone in the house when a man described as black, 245-250 pounds and over six feet tall, entered and assaulted her.

According to Detective Wright's report, the man told the victim he had been watching her for sometime and promised he would be back.

The woman was removed to Florida Hospital and later transferred to Seminole Memorial Hospital where a doctor, upon examination, confirmed the report.

In other activity: Vandals tore down eight mail boxes and paper boxes on SR 434 early Friday between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. and left them in the middle of the road.

An outboard motor was reported missing off a boat in the yard of R. S. Palmer, 1612 South Bear Lake Road. It was valued at $350.

C & F Equipment Company, SR 46 and Beardall Avenue, east of Sanford was broken into. Entry was gained at the back of the building through a bathroom window. A tool box and tools valued at $250, PTO bearing valued at $25 and a hydraulic pump, valued at $100, were reported missing.

The Seminole County food stamp office was reported broken into but, according to authorities, nothing was missing.

Robert Williams, whose cows have been getting out along Highway 17-92 recently, reported that someone had cut the fence again Thursday night.

How long does it take to repair a crossing? It's been almost three or four weeks that the workers have been doing something to the railroad crossing on First Street (west on SE 46).

In addition to it being poorly marked . . . about a hundred yards each side of the crossing, where they were supposed to be making it more smooth, I swear we're going to lose some little foreign cars soon.

Seriously, those holes they're repairing? must be close to a half foot in depth. Who's going to pay for all the cars with wheels out of alignment?

And I'm not even mentioning the call we received from a respected local citizen who waited from 12:45 p. m. 'til 1:05 p. m. before they could get across, what with the shifter going back and forth.

That's 20 minutes . . . and I can remember the company official being interviewed recently on TV and saying that "It's never more than a 5 or 10 minute wait at any of their crossings!"

Ha!

Sure Ralph Nader get his foot stuck in his mouth . . . SOMETIMES. But, I'd still rather that he be on the scene. How many times in the past, before his arrival, can you remember a big car manufacturer recalling any of his products due to defects?

And if there is someone diluting the orange juice, they ought to "squeeze" their pocketbooks a little with a nice juicy fine.

Kirkland Trial Opens

Orlando Attorney Faces Charges Of Lewd, Lascivious Assault

By MARION BETHEA
The oft-delayed trial of Orlando attorney Edward Kirkland, charged with two counts of lewd and lascivious assault upon a female child and crime against nature, began this morning before Circuit Judge Richard Muldrew.

The charges stemmed from an all-night party on Jan. 12-13, 1970, at the Regency Apartments in South Seminole County. Harlan Blackburn, charged in the same incident, was acquitted by a Circuit Court jury last June.

The venire, numbering 105, was qualified this morning, and over half called to another criminal trial in progress before Judge Tom Waddell.

An interesting aspect of the case is that each prospective juror is being interrogated individually, sequestered from the remainder of the venire. At press time, one juror was tentatively seated. Seated in the rear of the courtroom was Blackburn, who is expected to be a witness for the state.

5 Hearings Scheduled By County

County Commissioners face a lengthy session tomorrow, with five scheduled public hearings and three bid openings, in addition to regular agenda items and reports from various county attaches.

Listed on the agenda is a report from Road Supt. J. C. Lawender, regarding the Brantley Avenue widening at Lake Jessup. Commission Chairman Greg Drummond will report relative to traffic signal emergency repair program.

Judge Kenneth Monroe of the small claims court will appear relative to a revision of the court on June 1. In February, the judge proposed a revamp of the small claims court with judge's salary of $3,600, clerk for $4,500 salary, $340 supplies, $1,500 office expenses and $189 for fixtures.

The commission approved a counter proposal of a $6,000 annual salary to become effective at the beginning of the county's fiscal year on Oct. 1. Also approved was a 50 per cent increase in fees from the present $3.5 range.

There will be a discussion relative to the county water resources and drainage study.

County Attorney Harold Johnson will report upon a developer's bond for Idyllwild of Loch Arbor.

Bid openings include a motor grader, with trade, one 10 yard tandem axle dump truck, and one 12,000 gallon horizontal fuel tank for underground service. These items will be utilized at the county's central sanitary landfill as well as in the road program.

Public hearings include a rezoning from A-1 to R-1, east of Brison and north of 29th Street; a special exception to park a trailer in a C-3 zone, lot 1, Eren date, east of U. S. 17-92 and south of SR 434; rezoning from A-1 to RM-2, highway 427 to Bedford Avenue, south on Bedford across the railroad; amendment to zoning regulations to permit open or closed system construction and amendment to zoning regulations to include definitions of closed system and open system construction.

MAJOR ARTHUR KLINGER of the McCoy Air Force Base weather station shows Melba Broach and Nancy Hubbard, South Seminole Middle School eighth graders of Richard Miller's physical science class, around the observation tower as class and other students particularly interested in meteorology went on a field trip.

Mrs. Eilene T. Bowen Postmaster At Geneva

The appointment of Mrs. Eilene T. Bowen to be postmaster at Geneva was announced by T. J. Coleman, director of the Atlanta postal service region.

Prior to her appointment, Mrs. Bowen had served as acting postmaster of the Geneva post office since December, 1966.

In accordance with the merit selection procedures of the Postal Reorganization Act, Mrs. Bowen was nominated for the postmastership by the regional management selection board, and appointed by Postmaster General Winston M. Blount.

The appointment is not subject to Senate confirmation. Mrs. Bowen is a native of Groton, S. D., and is a graduate of Groton High School.

Mrs. Bowen was formerly employed in the Belle Glade post office, as a temporary substitute clerk and attained career status in November, 1963, as a temporary substitute

State Sunshine Law Will Be Considered

A discussion of the State "Sunshine Law" and pathologist's Dr. Fred Ionata's contract is on the lengthy agenda for tonight's Seminole Memorial Hospital monthly trustee meeting.

Attorneys representing news media have been requested to appear at the session to discuss the law, which in effect, prohibits public bodies, such as city and county commissions or public hospital trustees from holding unannounced meetings away from the public.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of the pathologist contract with the hospital, by which Dr. Ionata is empowered to operate the hospital's pathology department.

City To Name Prosecutor Tonight

Robert M. (Bob) Morris, 35, of Satsuma and formerly of Sanford, is expected to be named prosecuting attorney for the City of Sanford at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Morris, a recent University of Florida law graduate, is a member of the Hutchison and Lefler law firm with headquarters at 230 North Park Avenue in Sanford.

Kenneth Laffler, also a member of the same firm, presently is serving as city prosecutor. Morris is married to the former Sonja Monforton, of Sanford, and they have two daughters, ages six and four.

The attorney has served as general manager of a 4,100-acre quarterhorse and cattle ranch; director of a private summer camp, hunting preserve and dude ranch operator. He has participated in legal aid and
