conference with John Foster Dulles, another of his foreign affairs advisers who has been attending the United Nations sessions in Paris.

Mr. Truman also planned a series of brush-up conferences on the ticklish international situation. But his meeting with Ickes held top interest with politicians in the Capitol.

About the only advance word was that the veteran New Deal cabinet officer had asked for the appointment and that the President had agreed.

Ickes broke with Mr. Truman over the "Pauley incident" in February 1946. He had testified against the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Undersecretary of the Navy, and the President later said Ickes could have been writing a newspaper column.

Ickes wound up his first trip of the campaign in an 8900-mile coast to coast swing, last night when his 17-car special train returned to Albany. He will go back on the road in about a week with a major speech set for Oct. 16 from St. Paul.

That swing may take him into the border states and Kentucky and West Virginia, which Mr. Truman visited last week on the last laps of his 8300-mile tour.

The President is due to leave Wednesday for a new speech-making grid through four Eastern States including New York.

In yesterday's political firing, Governor J. Strom Thurmond, the States Rights candidate for President, told a Washington radio audience the issue of racial segregation should be left up to the states.

He said that to deal with the matter by federal law "will only delay the progress we (Southerners) are determined to continue to achieve."

Excessive Rains Dim Outlook For Fall Vegetables

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The general overall picture in the early fall vegetable areas of the state does not look so promising due to excessive rains, high tides affecting drainage, and flood conditions as an aftermath of the hurricane.

"The brightest spot appears to be in the Florida City area with the report that water is going down fast and farmers are preparing to get the high spots ready for planting, though it will still be some time before fields are really dry enough to plant," said William L. Wilson, Director, State Markets, in reporting a survey of conditions at the State Farmers' Markets. "Fort Pierce tomato crop loss is about 10 per cent due to heavy rains and water is reported still rising in many areas. Some acreage will be replanted," he added.

"Pompano reports light damage from the hurricane due to small acreage. However, seed beds of pepper, eggplants and tomatoes suffered heavy damage necessitating replanting. Continued rains and high water flooding fields will delay planting for a week or ten days and the outlook just now is not favorable for a normal fall planting. The labor situation is far from satisfactory," he declared.

"Heavy rains in the Wauchoha State Market area are reported and fear is expressed damage to crops will be considerably increased over the first estimate after the hurricane. Peaches reported approximately 1,000 acres of beans, comprising virtually all planting in that area, were destroyed by heavy rains accompanying the recent hurricane. Replanting began immediately, however, on best drained land and is progressing steadily as areas dry off with the result that harvesting in good quantity should begin between November 15 and 20. A small acreage of celery set out prior to the hurricane was badly damaged and it is still threatened by high water. Celery seed beds suffered some damage but celery harvesting should start around December 1st to 10th. Seed beds for pepper and eggplant wanted setbacks, but were not totally destroyed," he asserted.

"Palmto market advises conditions in that area are very serious due to heavy rains but damage to crops could not be accurately estimated due to continued rain.

Sanford reports fear of damaging effect on growing crops due to daily heavy rains. The State Market reports to hold the first pecan auction of the season on October 31, however weather and other conditions may make a change in plans," he said.

Valley, Henry A. Wallace said at Harkersfield that Governor Earl Warren, the GOP vice presidential candidate, "is playing both sides" of the issue of big-acreage corporation farming.

"He came out bravely for the family-sized farm, and then added that he was afraid it wouldn't work in the Central Valley," Wallace, the Progressive Party presidential nominee, asserted.

GET READY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Farwell W. Perry, vice-president of the Western Newspaper Union and of the John H. Perry newspaper, said today on returning from Europe that the Russians' word "isn't worth a damn."

The Berlin crisis, he said, "ought to be a key for us to go ahead and get as strong as possible."

Perry arrived on the liner Mauritania after a two-month tour of England, France, Italy and Greece.

Robinson popped to Stephens. Boudreau cracked his second home run of the game and 18th of the year into the screen over the left field wall. Gordon flied to DiMaggio.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.
Fifth Inning Red Sox
Boudreau threw out Tebbetts. Doby took Kinder's fly. Keltner made a fine-gloved hand pickup of DiMaggio's hot smash and threw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Sixth Inning Indians
Keltner doubled off the left field wall. Doby popped to Stephens behind second base. Pesky threw out Kennedy. Keltner moving to third. Hegan struck out.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Seventh Inning Indians
Keltner doubled off the left field wall. Doby popped to Stephens behind second base. Pesky threw out Kennedy. Keltner moving to third. Hegan struck out.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Eighth Inning Indians
Doby doubled. Kennedy sacrificed Doby to third. Goodman to Doerr. Boudreau fouled out to Pesky.

No runs, two hits, no errors, three left.
Ninth Inning Red Sox
Goodman walked. Tebbetts rapped back to Bearden who started a fast double play, the pitcher to Gordon to Robinson. Boudreau scrambled Kinder's high bouncer and threw him out at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Tenth Inning Indians
Doby doubled. Kennedy sacrificed Doby to third. Goodman to Doerr. Boudreau fouled out to Pesky.

Eleventh Inning Red Sox
Keltner threw out DiMaggio. Pesky struck out. Williams singled. Stephens grounded to Keltner who threw in Gordon forcing Williams at second.

Twelfth Inning Indians
Robinson and Boudreau singled. Kinder uncorked a wild pitch and both runners moved up a base. Gordon was purposely passed to load the bases. Keltner hit into a double play, Stephens to Doerr to Goodman. Robinson scored on the play. Doby struck out.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.
Thirteenth Inning Red Sox
Doerr was out. Bearden to Robinson. Billy Hitchcock batted for Spence and walked. Goodman struck out. Keltner threw out Tebbetts.

More basically, however, the Russians are opposed to the creation of a Western German state in the three Western occupation zones and have used the Berlin blockade as pressure against it.

Other delegates smiled. Vishinsky asserted the currency reform in Western Germany was "an act of aggression." The Russians put in their own money reform. He called Russian reactions, such as the blockade, "defensive measures."

RIBLE VERSE TODAY

NOW WE BUFFER THE LIMITATIONS OF THE FLESH WE HOPE FOR THE TIME WHEN THESE LIMITATIONS WILL PASS AWAY AND WHEN WE WILL UNDERSTAND ALL MYSTERIES THAT NOW CONFUSE US.

Great Britain is seeking another loan from this country. This time for $300,000,000. It's a good thing we've got lots of money.

Have you made up your mind about the constitutional amendments upon which you are expected to vote in the November election?

Frank Bleyer, director of the campaign in which Count Bernadotte was assassinated, is on his way to St. Petersburg, Fla. to visit his wife and four children.

Governor Thurmond is now on the ballot in 13 states with 142 electoral votes. You are going to be surprised at how many of those electoral votes are his on election day.

Bisbee, Ariz. has a slogan which Sanford might do well to copy. It is, "Bisbee, Arizona, 'Air Conditioned by Nature'."

There are now 4,000,000 automobiles in use in this country. How many are there in Russia? Of even more importance, we have retained the essential elements of liberty and freedom along with our automobiles.

The claim that Mr. Truman and Mr. Snyder and the White House coterie are more progressive and more liberal than Mr. Dewey, Mr. Warren, Mr. Vandenberg, Mr. Stassen, and their closest advisers and supporters, is a palpable absurdity.

We are glad to see business interests moving away from the congested districts. When Winn Lovett bought the corner at Palmetto and Third Street from the City, it started something which ought to be continued.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, who died last week, was the mother of six children, four boys and two girls. Of the four boys, the youngest, Quentin, was killed in an air battle in France in the first World War; the oldest, Theodore, Jr., died of a heart attack during the Normandy invasion; and a third son, Kermit, died in active service during the Aleutian campaign.

The importance of rat control is revealed by the American Public Works Association which shows that Jacksonville among other cities, by an expenditure of $17,000 eliminated losses caused by rats of over $500,000 a year.

The New York Times, Democratic newspaper, published by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, son-in-law of Adolph Ochs, who made the New York Times into the great newspaper which it is today, has come out for Governor Dewey for President.

Picking The Winner

"As Kelly goes, so goes the nation." This new clue to the correct forecasting of presidential elections has been put forth by Louis H. Bean, a student of politics and author of the recent book, "How To Predict Elections."

Mr. Bean noticed that former mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago had been elected in 1935, 1939 and 1943 by percentages which were followed roughly by President Roosevelt in his races in each of the following years.

Peril To Civilization

"For the first time in modern history a method of the destruction of civilization is present." So spoke General A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada in reminding the United Nations that a formula for international control of atomic explosives has not yet been found.

Various small signs from time to time have led to the belief that the United States has succeeded to an important degree in the effort to make the atomic bomb more effective, more destructive. This is pointed out to all other nations that the alternative to international control is an atomic armaments race with American science and industry.

Until acceptable international control is provided, it is only self-preservation for the United States to guard its atomic secrets with the greatest care.

Accident Rate

The fact that the accident rate among a given group of vehicle drivers can be cut as a result of a campaign for that purpose has been proved by the United States Army in the Philippines.

A dispatch from Manila gives figures which show a 50 per cent drop in traffic accidents and injuries. Only one traffic accident per 100,000 miles of army motor vehicle operation occurred during the first half of this year.

One recognized cause of motor accidents is the common habit of passing the buck. It is always the other fellow's fault, according to the participants in an accident. The driving public needs to be educated toward individual responsibility.

Eyes which miss nothing, on the road in front, on either side, or in the rear together with a quick hand on the wheel and a sensitive foot on the brake, combine to make the best defense against accidents.

To The Ladies!

One of the dangers we Southerners constantly face is the legends that seem to grow up about ourselves and our section.

It is bad enough for the rest of the world to believe in these legends. Some are so persistent and enduring, however, that we have come dangerously close to believing in them ourselves.

Certainly, there are too many Southerners who half-believe in the legend of the Old South that never was, though we are realistic enough not to visualize too stately white columns across the facade of the mansions nor too many willing slaves waiting on the gentry hand and foot.

And there are a few too many Southern males who somehow half-credit that legend, universally accepted elsewhere, that Southern ladies never soiled their hands with work but were merely beautiful and fascinating ornaments to be put on a pedestal and cherished.

This canard has been subjected to wide publicizing in contemporary fiction and movies. Many a character in a novel or story is caricatured as being unfit for life, if she grew up in the South, because patently her mother had never taught her anything useful except that she must make herself attractive to men and catch herself a husband to keep her provided with the good things of life.

I had occasion to write a piece here some time ago about the essential part women played in bringing civilization to the rowdy American frontier, braving the toils and dangers of primitive living and taming their menfolk, who were just as rough as the wilderness.

Things have changed considerably for women in the Western world since then. This is as true of Southern ladies as their sisters elsewhere. Mechanical civilization has liberated them from drudgery. The washing machine and the electric stove and the vacuum cleaner—plus improved sanitation and general health conditions—have been the instruments of revolution.

Many of the things that used to need doing by hand at home or, if not actually doing, being supervised, can be bought in the form of goods and services, neatly packaged.

Just now the South is suffering a social revolution in the disappearance of domestic service, but the Southern lady is proving she can take that in her stride.

"THE RAINS CAME"

German Child Registry Is Seen As Way To Find "Lost" Kidnapees

GENEVA, Oct. 5.—A registration of 13,000,000 children in western Germany may be necessary to sort out the 321,000 who lost their homes and identities in Hitler's "Germanization Program."

Dr. Maurice Thudicum, director of the child search operations of the International Refugee Organization, reported to the IRO's general council here that "General coverage of all children presently alive in Germany" is the only way to give an answer to the thousands of inquiries concerning missing children in Germany.

Dr. Thudicum estimated it would take a year to complete the comprehensive search. The task is complicated, he said, by the fluctuation of Germany's post-war population and deliberate concealment of some children by their present German "parents."

Child search experts said some of the children brought home by Nazi "Germanization" teams were turned over to farmers to help feed the German war machine. Some of these farmers are now reluctant to lose their labor. In many cases, the names of the children were changed, their records falsified or their identity concealed in other ways.

Statistics published in Poland report 100,000 missing Polish children. The Germanization program also included children of collaborators in German-occupied countries who were sent to Germany for reeducation along Nazi lines.

Illegitimate children and so-called "volksdeutsche" children who were considered racially valuable also were kidnaped from such places as Luxembourg, Alsace-Lorraine, and lower Silesia.

Many other missing children were youngsters who followed the retreating German armies and subsequently were handed over to the Nazi racial offices for adoption or placement.

Most Jewish children, whether from east or west, suffered the same fate, Dr. Thudicum said. "Deportation to concentration camps with death through exposure, starvation, torture or deliberate extermination. A handful, relatively speaking, of the hardest or more fortunate survived."

Compulsory reporting by German authorities on allied nationalities resident in Germany during the war years has not been successful, in the United States zone of Germany, Dr. Thudicum said. 699 allied children were reported while child search teams already had discovered 1,273 in 191 districts where no children were reported by the Germans, search teams found 72.

material than their menfolk are fighting on any front. "Perhaps I am betraying the sex when I admit it, but in all honesty I must say I have never known or heard about a Southern lady of this or any other generation who did not work far harder and longer than her menfolk—sometimes if only at the job of inducing her husband's ballrooming that she was being cherished on a pedestal.

Parole Commission

(Continued from Page One) before it today a similar case involving a 10-day jail sentence of H. D. Dudley of Ocala for carrying firearms in the National Forest. It arose later and the Parole Commission has not completed its investigation.

All Parole board members said they had received numerous letters and telephone calls urging them to back up the judge in efforts to know about the symptoms of these diseases, they could get diagnosis and treatment before the diseases get far along, said Dr. Quillman.

HEALTH PROGRAMS Health education programs with emphasis on the control of social diseases will be given over Station WTRR, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and Saturday evenings at 9:45 o'clock. It was announced today by Dr. Frank Quillman, director of the Seminole County Health Unit.

"We feel that if more people knew about the symptoms of these diseases, they could get diagnosis and treatment before the diseases get far along," said Dr. Quillman.

Erwin Canham, Monitor Editor, Tells Public How To Read A Newspaper

Written for The Associated Press by ERWIN D. CANHAM Editor, The Christian Science Monitor; President, American Society of Newspaper Editors

Newspapers are not in the habit of making demands on readers. Our job is to serve readers. And so when The Associated Press asked me to do 500 words on "How to read a newspaper" I was stuck. My first answer was: "Why read it any way you please. Standing on your head, if you want to."

But do we really? Isn't there a role readers have to play even more important than plunking down a nickel on the newsstand? It goes back to the primary purpose of newspapers: to inform, although that is one way to put it. What is the purpose of the information? Isn't it in order that readers may be better citizens—more active citizens? Isn't it in order that they may do their part in making better communities and helping to attain peace and otherwise helping mankind along its long and difficult road out of darkness into light?

What citizens do with the information they get from newspapers is the vital thing. It is summarized in the words of National Newspaper Week's slogan: "Your Right to Know Is the Key to All Your Liberties." Newspapers and newspaper men have not struggled and sacrificed for the right to discover and tell the news, disinterestedly, just for the sake of making black marks on white paper.

This struggle of mankind was to make facts not only known, but operative. Free speech is a dynamic business. It is a two-way street. Nothing any newspaper prints is of the slightest value until it is read and entered into the thinking of the reader. Once it is in his thinking, the seed for action has been planted.

And so I say that the first need is to read a newspaper with awareness. With awareness of the citizen's role to utilize the information he is getting. He uses that information to assess the men and women to whom he has given political authority. He uses it to govern many of his own most important decisions: in business, in his private and professional affairs. He uses it in determining his interests, his recreations, his entertainment. He uses it to enrich his cultural and spiritual life. He uses it—or his wife does—make better biscuits for breakfast.

If a reader realizes the operating and useful potential of newspapers, he will read them far more effectively. He will take the information he is offered, and force it into a weapon of democracy. He will preserve and purify his liberties with it.

And to all the newspaper asks of a reader is this: Be aware of what you are getting. Take this material, which comes to you every day or twice a day, and with it strengthen and enlarge your life. Take it, and make your community something worthier of your aspirations. Take it, and action an ever-broadening scale—so that ultimately you will not bring down on their heads the wars and destructions which this technical age threatens. Take it and use it. That is all your newspaper has any right to ask.

For we want you to know it within the pages of your newspaper, yours for the taking, the information which marks you off from the slave in darkness and makes you a free man.

Miami University Is Becoming "U" of Sun

AP NEWSFEATURES Coral Gables, Fla.—Planned to give students the feeling of being-out-of-doors while in dormitory and classrooms, the University of Miami's new main campus is a breeze-swept vista of modernistic buildings, tropical foliage and an 8-acre lake.

Acres of glass which let in the sun take the place of ivy-covered walls, and shaded breezeways support the traditional darkened halls.

Much of the $6,000,000 construction program has been completed on the 265-acre campus, but some work goes on a student activities building is going up on the lake side, and landscaping is going forward.

Twenty-nine buildings, of which 27 contain living quarters, have been completed. All were designed by Robert Law Wood, architect, and Miss Marion I. Manley, associate.

A university building remained a skeleton—and still is. But it will be completed soon and probably will become the liberal arts college. The "temporary" building in Coral Gables proper is the law school, houses advanced laboratories and contains two theaters.

Yavana Damage

Units of the 214th Infantry Florida National Guard, were notified to be ready for action duty in flooded areas and to guard against possible looting of damaged property.

Two 174-foot light towers at the Orange Bowl Stadium were dismantled. Poles were removed from low sewer pumping stations.

The city was "lifting" a set of unasssembled bleacher seats which have been piled along the east side of the stadium a few days. "We don't know who they belong to, but we can't have them lying around down there," Public Service Director Ray Williams declared.

Work crews were still going about the big job of clearing up after last hurricane. They planned to work until late today and then start over after the correct storm hits.

Warning flags could not be hoisted at city docks until 11:30 hours after they were authorized. The flag pole was damaged during the hurricane two weeks ago. A tow truck hoisted a ladder to assist the warning.

A calculating contest and the community chest kickoff among the young early storm specialists. Postponement of the cake fest will give contestants a chance to work up a bigger appetite waiting for the storm to blow over.

Russians Plan

The anti-Communist city assembly decided Sept. 6 to hold municipal elections. The decision was opposed by both the German Communists and the Russians.

City officials said the assembly will consider the question of setting a new date for the balloting. They said two districts in the Soviet sector have been forbidden to prepare ballots.

City pointed out the existence of the western national wage committee, said the carriers' operating costs would increase $181,175,000 a year if the 10-cent increase is granted to all rail workers. The wage hikes granted in two previous rounds were the same for all unions.

LIMA, PERU, Oct. 5.—Peru outlawed last night the left wing APRA Party, which the government blamed for the bloody Sunday riot at Callao. Its leaders were ordered brought to justice.

The government said 1,072 arrests already have been made. APRA leader, Manuel Pardo, Popular Revolutionary American (P.R.A.) Party, was arrested with 100 followers. He proposed, among other things, to break up big estates. Much of the support has come from Indians and city laborers.

U. S. Reaffirms

Continued From Page One celebration in Madrid. Officials here emphasize that this country's attitude in these minor diplomatic matters continues to be one of absolute neutrality and friendship toward the present Spanish regime.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—U.S. Secretary of State Acheson today reaffirmed the United States' position on the Elbe River border between the Russian and British zones of Germany. Russia has more troops in the zone than in Europe.

Continued From Page One minister was appealing for rescue recruits for the Royal Air Force. He said Britain would be very foolish to repeat again the mistakes of the past and be drawn, under even worse and far less excusable circumstances, into a life and death struggle for the mere existence of our country.

It is not the existence of our country alone which is at stake," he said in a speech to 7,000 persons because the cause rages in all its forms, whatever they are, and wherever it rages, it is a world cause and the duty which every man and woman owes to the human race.

Two Unions

Negotiations with three other operating unions and 16 non-operating brotherhoods are pending. Daniel P. Loomis, chairman of the western national wage committee, said the carriers' operating costs would increase $181,175,000 a year if the 10-cent increase is granted to all rail workers. The wage hikes granted in two previous rounds were the same for all unions.

Trouble Predicted In French Strike

LILLE, France, Oct. 5.—A department official today predicted trouble in the French coal strike.

About 35,000 miners failed to show up yesterday at the government-owned pits, virtually paralyzing France's entire coal industry. The last day of the strike passed without violence, but Jean Souvignier, top aide to the Minister of Nord department, expressed his concern.

These things always go quietly at first. It is difficult after the people begin to think of going hungry and when there are no constant succession of meetings to keep them excited. Watch for trouble after a few days.

Shanghai To Face Strict Rationing

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5.—The municipal government today created a sweeping rationing system for Shanghai residents.

Woolens, cottons, cloth, oil, and a score of other commodities were listed in the rationing schedule. Most items will be rationed by weight, but some will be rationed by quantity.

No administrative machinery was provided for the rationing system.

On Saturday, Mr. Higgins, representing the Chamber of Commerce and W. G. Kilbee, representing the County Commission, attended the Florida Flood Control Committee meeting in Kissimmee.

"The object of the meeting," Mr. Higgins declared, "was to seek the support of the Florida representatives and the State government heads to secure funds at the next Legislature to match federal funds to develop the overall Florida Flood Control Project."

"The total cost of the project is estimated at $208,000,000 of which $34,000,000 is to be supplied by the sponsors, the people of the State of Florida."

"It was pointed out that Governor Caldwell and Governor-elect Fuller Warren will in the next 10 days appoint a committee of citizens and legislative representatives to devise plans for accomplishing the sponsors' obligation."

"I was hoping that if Harry Truman had to have his pound of flesh, he would put me in jail rather than take it from you," he told the 3,000 delegates. It was the first time Lewis had "trud these boards with you" in four years...

He referred to Attorney General Tom Clark, whom he described as "Long Tom." He suggested that Mr. Truman and Clark had "staged a skit" before a Texas audience a week ago when Clark introduced Mr. Truman as "the man who stopped Joe Louis."

The President corrected Clark by saying he didn't have the muscle for that, but said it was John Lewis he had stopped. "It's unlikely that Tom Clark could have made a mistake, because I'm the man that old Tom prosecuted so often," Lewis said.
