Daughter Asks Why Mother, 87, Dead

DEAR DR. LAMB—I lost my mother a week ago and needless to say I'm heartbroken. I had lived with her for 54 years, and we were extremely close.

Dr. Lamb

Her final illness puzzled me. She was 87 years old with a rugged constitution, had arthritis of the knees but walked with a cane. She controlled her gallbladder condition by watching her diet. She entered the hospital because of a tiny stroke on the left side. Her arm was affected and she had congestion from the flu, a low hemoglobin of six and a liver tumor. A total of six pints gradually brought her blood count up and a barium enema was clear.

She did not smoke, drink or eat spicy foods. She got plenty of sleep and rest and did not overeat or overexert. How could she get such a terrible tumor? Did the gallbladder cause it? She fought to live. About two months after she entered the hospital she vomited blood and was very weak and slipped away. I'd be so grateful to hear from you.

Liver cancer is fairly rare. It is true that a person with gallbladder disease is more likely to have cancer of the gallbladder. And whether that's what occurred with your mother with extension to the liver or not, I wouldn't know without knowing specifically what the pathology report disclosed. That's one of the arguments for getting a gallbladder full of stones even if it's not causing any symptoms or problems. If your mother had primary cancer of the liver, meaning it originated from liver cells, then it was probably not related to her gallbladder disease at all.

The fact that your mother had a stroke is interesting since severe anemia in her case was undoubtedly secondary to the cancer.

The liver often has a tumor in it if a cancer occurs elsewhere in the digestive system. That's because the cancer cells are carried by the bloodstream to the liver.

Florida Declared A Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has declared Florida a disaster area because of the influx of Cuban refugees, Rep. L.A. Bafalis, R-Fla., disclosed today.

Perez Played Role In Refugee Center

By JANE CASSELLHERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Opening the Cuban refugee center at Eglin Air Force Base in Fort Walton Beach was one of the suggestions made by Dr. Luis Perez of Sanford when he conferred with representatives of the U.S. State Department, the White House and the refugee program recently.

Luis Perez plans Miami trip

Perez said he was called to Washington on April 26 from Chicago, where he was attending a Heart Association meeting, to discuss the refugee problem with Acting Secretary of State Warren Christopher and others.

The question put to Perez was: "How can we tell these people not to go to Cuba and pick up the refugees in these small boats?"

Perez said he responded that if he were to tell these people not to go in the small boats they would be apt to shoot him, but he said he had some "very good ideas on alternative ways to solve the problem."

Not as acceptable by the State Department as his Eglin suggestion he said was what he calls the "only real solution" to the problem of Cuban refugees — the "elimination of the cause."

"Take Castro and his regime out of Cuba and you will get rid of half of the 'United States' international problems in the Caribbean, Central and South America and Africa," Perez said.

But to solve the immediate problem at hand, the exodus of thousands of refugees to the state each day from Cuba, the Sanford cardiologist had these suggestions: — establish a freedom flight that permits more orderly screening of refugees. — send five big ships to Cuba to pick up refugees and eliminate the need for the armada of small boats — set up reception centers at Eglin or on an island off the coast of Puerto Rico used by the U.S. Navy — take up the offer of the South American countries which have offered to accept some of the Cuban refugees — the "elimination of the cause."

Carter May Order Airlift Of Cubans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter may order a massive airlift of Cuban refugees to the United States and may decide to admit 250,000 Cubans and 250,000 Haitians to this country, Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., said today after meeting with Carter at the White House. But other Florida lawmakers denied Carter was considering such a move and they also challenged Kelly's statement that Carter might decide to admit a half-million new refugees — 250,000 Cubans and 250,000 Haitians — to this country.

The White House withheld immediate comment.

"Are you ready for this?" Kelly asked reporters after he and other members of the Florida congressional delegation emerged from the meeting.

"I think the thrust is going to be that the president wants the cooperation of the Cuban community that's in the United States in agreeing to the United States establishing an airlift to bring the Cubans out," Kelly said.

Asked whether Carter would propose an airlift to go to Cuba to bring back refugees that want to come, Kelly stated: "Yes." But he was not specific on what such an airlift might entail.

The White House meeting came as thousands of Cubans continued to pour into Florida in small boats plying the treacherous Florida Straits.

Kelly said Carter was taking the action because — he said he was quoting the president — "to assuage the passion and fear of the Cuban community."

"We can't sink the boats with the refugees in them," Kelly quoted Carter as saying.

1,800 Refugees Arrive

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — About 1,800 more refugees reached Key West from Cuba's port of Mariel in the early hours today and the Coast Guard reported an armada of vessels en route to the United States.

But four freedom flights during the night took about 600 refugees to Eglin Air Force Base in the Florida Panhandle and 1,200 boarded buses for Miami.

"We're losing ground at a less rapid pace than before," said John Taylor, a state coordinator for the refugee processing operation.

The new arrivals on 24 boats included 370 aboard one vessel, the "Dudley." The Coast Guard reported as of 9:30 a.m. that 77 boats were en route to Mariel from the United States but 374 vessels were on their way to Key West from Cuba.

The latest arrivals brought the unofficial totals since the seafair began April 21 to 617 vessels and 17,636 refugees.

Two more drownings were reported Monday, bringing to seven the number of deaths reported in the ferrying operation.

As Gov. Bob Graham was composing an urgent letter to the president Monday criticizing the "sluggish" federal response, Carter opened the gates for the United States to receive all Cubans wishing to flee their country.

"We'll continue to provide an open heart and open arms to refugees seeking freedom from communist domination and from the economic deprivation brought about primarily by Fidel Castro and his government," Carter told the League of Women Voters in Washington Monday.

The president said the State Department has scrapped its policy of lining boat owners who carry the refugees to Florida.

420,000 In State Lose Power

The failure of Florida Power & Light generators in Sanford and Miami this morning caused scattered, 26-minute blackouts throughout the system serving much of central Florida, leaving an estimated 420,000 people briefly without power.

The load shedding outages left Sanford unaffected company spokesmen say.

FPL officials said the fossil-fired Sanford No. 4 generator tripped off at 9:18 a.m. and six minutes later, the No. 3 nuclear powered generator at Turkey Point near Miami dropped off the line, causing a 970 megawatt loss on the FPL system.

FPL had no immediate explanation for the shutdown of the two generators, but said it caused scattered blackouts in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties.

FPL spokesman Charles Scheer said full service was restored 35 minutes after the two generators dropped off line.

The system was using 5,500 megawatts when Sanford and Turkey Point went down "and we lost 970 megawatts, which is about 20 percent," Scheer said.

Scheer said FPL had no immediate estimate of how many customers lost service, but said "it would be fair to estimate that it affected 20 percent of our 2.1 million customers."

At noon today, FPL spokesmen said they had no idea either what caused the generators to trip off line, or when they would be back in service.

The company is presently buying power from other Florida utilities and through power grid connections with Georgia, said FPL spokesmen. The generators will be kept off line until the cause of the failures can be determined, the spokesmen said.

Hospital In Deltona Would Hurt SMH, Executive Says

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

If agitation for a hospital in Deltona results in a small hospital there and a smaller replacement hospital for Seminole Memorial, patients in both Deltona and Sanford will be continually going to Orlando for complicated services, Seminole Memorial Hospital's new administrator said this morning.

James Tesar, who took over as administrator under Hospital Corporation of America, told 23 members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that the situation in Deltona is "somewhat critical" to the fate of the planned replacement for Seminole Memorial.

"We're looking at the same group of patients," he said. "About one-third of our patients come from Deltona. If a hospital is built in Deltona, those people are lost to our service area."

"The bottom line of a hospital in Deltona would be that we would not be approved for as big a hospital as we plan, but HCA will redecorate and make it as comfortable as possible."

Tesar said HCA's stand is that a hospital is not needed in Deltona today, but may be in the future.

"The people in Deltona would be better off with a larger, more extensively equipped hospital 15 minutes away, he said.

Edmund Muskie: A Good Choice

President Carter has chosen a good man to succeed Cyrus Vance as secretary of state. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the Maine Democrat, is not an experienced diplomat but he has other qualifications for the post.

The danger was that, having been disappointed by Vance's failure to support the abortive rescue raid into Iran, President Carter would choose a novelty or yes-man to head the State Department.

Muskie is no novelty and he will never be a yes-man. He has been close to Mr. Carter, however, and the two men should have a good working relationship.

Muskie will be a good advocate with the president for the views of the professionals who make up the State Department. Too often these men and women have been dismissed as a corps of specialists more interested in protocol than policy.

Muskie will be a good advocate with the president for the views of the professionals who make up the State Department. Too often these men and women have been dismissed as a corps of specialists more interested in protocol than policy.

Warren Christopher, the California attorney who was Vance's No. 2 man, will remain as Muskie's side to help maintain continuity in the administration of the department and in the formulation of policy.

President Carter, at his recent news conference, looked more tired and burdened than we have ever seen him, heaving deep sighs as he listened to the questions. We have criticized the president's recent conduct of the Iranian hostage situation but we well know, as LBJ used to say, that we can have only one president at a time.

Death Of A Genius

Possibly the best-known director in the motion picture industry has died at 80 in Bel-Air. Alfred Hitchcock worked in the movies for 60 years and was supreme at producing films known for their sheer horror and comedy.

Some of the most famous of his 54 pictures included "The Birds," "Psycho," "Jamaica Inn," and "Lifeboat." His films seldom were mysteries in that the killer almost always was known to the audience from the outset.

In recent years Hitchcock was sorely troubled with arthritis and other ills but he continued with his life work. At his death, the director was preparing to film the movie "Short Night."

Hitchcock was born the son of a fish and poultry dealer in Leytonstone, England. He became a U.S. citizen in 1955.

From 1955 to 1956 he offered for television "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" — a series of chills with the theme song based on the "Funeral March of a Marionette."

Hitchcock was a credit to his profession. The film industry will miss his extraordinary talent.

Political Control Battle

HARRISBURG, Pa. — In this city and approximately a dozen other state capitals throughout the country, one of the most important but least understood political struggles of the 1980s is now under way.

It is the battle for control of the legislatures in states where major population shifts during the past decade soon will require the elimination, addition or realignment of scores of congressional districts.

The contest pits not only Republicans against Democrats but also conservatives against liberals, city dwellers against rural residents, blacks against whites and political "regulars" against mavericks and independents.

The outcome of the struggle will have a profound influence on the development of public policy at all levels of government — local, state and federal — throughout the next decade.

Although the official results of the 1980 census of population will not be available until early next year, the state legislatures elected this autumn will be responsible for the 1981-82 task of congressional reapportionment.

Preliminary estimates from the Census Bureau indicate that eight states — all in the Northeast and Midwest — will lose seats in Congress, while 10 other states — all in the South and West — will gain representation in the House.

New York probably will lose four seats; Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania two each; and Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey and South Dakota one apiece.

Florida is expected to gain three seats; California and Texas two each; and Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah and Washington one apiece.

But a recent analysis prepared by the Conference on Alternative State and Local Politics notes that there also have been major population shifts within some states.

During the past decade, "all but one of New York City's congressional districts lost population, as did seven districts in both Chicago and Los Angeles and five each in Philadelphia and Detroit," says the report issued by the Washington-based group.

Those losses probably will heighten the tensions between urban and rural interests that have played a major role in past reapportionment struggles in many state legislatures.

In some states, rural lawmakers who control the legislature have been able to gerrymander district lines to dilute the political power of voters in major cities.

Other forms of gerrymandering have been used to fragment the votes of blacks and other minorities, to punish maverick politicians and — perhaps most important — to advance the cause of the political party that controls the legislature.

William E. Brock III, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has noted repeatedly that throughout the 1970s the number of House seats won by GOP candidates has fallen approximately 10 percent behind the number of popular votes cast.

Insight Into The Vance Resignation

WASHINGTON — Former Secretary of State Cyrus Vance apparently came to the reluctant conclusion that the American hostages in Tehran would never be released so long as Jimmy Carter is in the White House.

And the president did likewise in his letter of acceptance, signed "Your friend," — the secret document shows that Vance's private opinion struck tellingly at the White House handling of the Iranian crisis.

Vance believed that it was Carter and his political advisers, with their Rose Garden strategy, who gave Ayatollah Khomeini the idea that he had something of inestimable value in a hard-line stance on the hostages during an election campaign.

By inflating the hostage crisis to the paramount issue in American policy — and in his reelection campaign — Carter has succeeded in lionizing Khomeini as the conqueror of the "American devil," Vance feels. Further pressure from the United States will serve only to unite Iran even more behind Khomeini, the former secretary of state was convinced.

Pressure from the United States, the secret document pointed out, relieves Khomeini from the impossible task of dealing with Iran's internal problems. Without the convenient U.S. occupation, the ayatollah would eventually be forced to release the hostages under pressure from other Muslim nations, Vance suggested.

There is a youth movement on even at the high school level? At a time when teeny boppers are making their marks in women's sports — a Tracy Austin — Seminole High's distaff jockey is taking no back seat.

After experiencing healthy success during the basketball season, a group of super sophomores has played a major role in leading Betty Turner's Fighting Lady Seminole softball squad to the District 9 title and into today's regional championship game at Merritt Island.

Fortunes for women's sports at Seminole seem brighter than ever with the emergence of such young talent and should pave the way for continued success throughout the next two seasons.

Now that spring pickin' practice has officially started, many of the booster clubs are once again swinging into a more active role. In Oviedo, where Joe Montgomery's Lions face the task of matching last year's 13-1 record, the Booster Club has begun its 1980 membership drive.

All parents of O.H.S. athletes will be contacted by a telephone committee to enlist their support for the upcoming sports year. The club has also begun an advertising campaign for the fall football and basketball programs.

Any interested parties who would like to support the Lions are encouraged to contact Ways and Means Chairman Tim Johnson at 667-1389.

Lady Seminoles Eye Mustangs On Menu

By JOE DESANTIS
Herald Sports Editor

For coach Betty Turner and her Lady Seminole High softball squad, today is simply a case of having been there before. Turner and her District 9 Champion Seminoles tackle Merritt Island's Lady Mustangs this afternoon at 4 p.m. in a score all too familiar — the Regional Women's title game. The contest takes place on the road at Kiwanis Park in Merritt Island.

After making it to the sectional game three years running, Turner and her proteges think it's about time they went all the way to the state championship game.

"The girls told me they'll take me all the way this year," commented the bubbly, enthusiastic Turner about her squad, which knocked off Lake Howell 13-3 last Friday for the district crown.

"There's a lot of spirit, a lot of togetherness on this team and they just want to go out and play ball," added the fulltime Seminole High bookkeeper and part time softball boss.

Over the past five seasons as the Tribe's softball coach, Turner has seen to it that her teams have indeed gone out and played ball, very successfully.

During her five year tenure Turner has piloted the Lady Seminoles to a pair of Five Star Conference titles, a trio of district championship titles and two trips to the sectional playoffs.

This season's cast holds a perfect blend of power, depth, youth and experience. One Turner feels has a solid shot at the 1980 state championship.

The starting lineup that claimed a trip to Merritt Island boasts some impressive statistics.

1B. Robbin Higgins — One of Seminole High's super sophomores, Turner labels her an "outstanding fielder with power at the plate." Higgins gets the Golden Glove with just two errors the entire season and carries a .365 batting average.

2B. Sherry Bledsoe — a junior, first year on the team. "A steady improver who had a great tournament at the plate," says coach Turner.

3B. Dee Dee Reese — a junior with a .319 average. "Great arm and handles the hot corner well," says Turner.

SS. Johnnie Bennett — .611 batting average. "A super kid with a shogun arm," compliments Turner. Bennett hits for power, too.

C. Theresa Behrens — another of Seminole's talented sophomores. "She carries a .366 average and can go for the long ball when she doesn't hesitate," says Turner.

OF. Dana Younshaw — a senior who worked her way into the starting lineup after two seasons as a part time player. "A great attitude and a .328 average," points out Turner.

OF. Debi Bostick — the rock of the outfield as a three-year starter. Switched from first base a year ago and hits for power with a .431 average.

OF. Marie Kona — good hitter with a .333 mark at the plate. Sometimes splits duty with reserves Patji Jacobs and Terry Belts.

SF. Liz Galim — leadoff batter who gets on base with super percentage.

P. Dee Dee Hogan — the third super soph for Seminole. Hits for power with a .375 average and has mastered the hard-to-hit knuckle ball.

Turner also has plenty of depth on the bench that she and assistant coach Beth Shoemaker can turn to.

Mary Bledsoe, Susan Bagley, Brenda Saunders and Pat Moore give the Lady Seminoles what it takes to make it through tournament play.

"We've had our ups and downs this year like any ball club has during the course of the season," explained Turner about the road to the district title.

"But the team has pulled together at the right time and they feel like they can go all the way."

How does Turner feel her sophomore-junior lineup, Junior League

K.O.C. Clinches First Half Tie

Kiwans routed V.F.W. 11-1 Monday for its ninth win without a loss in the Sanford Junior League, while Knights of Columbus clinched at least a tie for second place in the first half with a 17-5 win over Elks.

Mike Baker struck out a dozen batters in just five innings for Kiwanis, allowing just one hit. The game was shortened under the 10-run lead rule. Six of those strikeouts were consecutive as Baker mowed down the last six batters he faced.

Larry Boyd and Joan Scott, Freddie Miller limited Elks to just three hits in pitching Knights of Columbus to the win.

Leading the eight-hit attack for Knights of Columbus was Wardell Friedrichs with an inside-the-park home run and a single and Miller with two singles. Tim Hall added a triple.

Rinkavage slugged a triple for Elks, while Daryl Merrille and James Buie added singles.

Seminole Petroleum put the first run on the scoreboard when Reginald Hayes was safe on an error to lead off the bottom of the second and circled the bases on three passed balls.

Atlantic Bank scored three times in the top of the third. Jeff Melton was hit by a pitch with one out and then Monozor Baker, Eddie Kergan and Joey Evans ripped consecutive two-out hits. Evans' hit was a two-bagger.

Expos Rake Richard's Smoker In 10-1 Win

By United Press International

A spring rain finally accomplished what N.L. hitters couldn't — took the heat off J.R. Richard's fastball.

"It wasn't my day today," Houston's imposing right-hander, who was bombed out in the first inning of the Montreal Expos' 10-1 victory over the Astros, agreed Monday. "But it's only one game and it was played under extremely bad conditions."

The conditions, which included a 2-hour, 35-minute rain delay, suited the Expos just fine. Ron LaFare, Montreal's off-season acquisition from Detroit, went 4-for-5 to lead a 10-1 attack against Richard and the rest of the Houston staff. Ellis Valentine and Warren Cromartie each drove in two runs.

It was a fine output considering Richard entered the game with a 4-4 record and a 1.90 ERA.

"It's good to beat J.R.," said Montreal manager Dick Williams. "Everybody was hitting today and it's the first time this season we win one at a time."

Dave Palmer worked the first 3-2-2 innings to bring his record to 1-4.

"That was a big lift for me," said Palmer. "Especially, when you get a four-run lead off J.R. Richard and the first inning isn't even over."

LaFare led off the first with a single and went to second on an error by Cesar Cedeño. Rodney Scott followed with a single and Rowland Hodder doubled home the first run. After a walk to Gary Carter loaded the bases, Cromartie singled home a pair of runs and Sam Mocha followed with an RBI single.

Phillips 7, Braves 1

Steve Carlton has never pitched a no-hitter, but he's getting closer. Bill Nahayrak spelled his bid with a clean single to center with two out in the eighth and Carlton, 5-1, settled for a three-hitter to lead Philadelphia.

Mets 3, Reds 2

Pinch-hitter Ron Hodges doubled home Alex Trevino from first base with one out in the 11th to lift New York over the Reds.

Cardinals 3, Giants 2

Tom Sturdevant led in two runs to highlight a five-run second inning for St. Louis.

Phillies 7, Braves 1

Air Force Expands 48-Acre Tent City At Eglin Base

PORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The steady stream of arriving Cuban refugees kept Air Force personnel hard at work through the night Monday processing new arrivals and expanding the 48-acre tent city pitched on the city fairgrounds, five miles from Eglin Air Force Base.

By late Monday, roughly 2,500 emigres had poured into the camp from Key West and officials said before the freedom flights from Cuba are over as many as four times that number could be housed in the tent city.

"We're ordering materials and we're planning to go to 10,000," said Air Force Maj. John Toner, doubling an estimate he made earlier in the day.

"If we're going to go beyond that, we're going to have to grow someplace else."

By nightfall Monday, 66 wooden-framed, canvas tents were in place and crews were erecting more.

The crunched camp officials Monday night to house more than 300 refugees on incoming flights in temporary quarters set up in a gymnasium and in Hangar 68 at Eglin Air Force Base.

Toner and others at the tent city said everyone over as many as four times that number could be housed in the tent city.

"We're ordering materials and we're planning to go to 10,000," said Air Force Maj. John Toner, doubling an estimate he made earlier in the day.

The tranquility of the camp was broken briefly Monday when a group of refugees accused on a man they accused of being an agent of Cuban President Fidel Castro. The attackers hit the man on the head with a chair, inflicting a minor injury.

Air Force security officers quickly broke up the melee and separated the man from others in the compound for further investigation. Toner said late Monday that immigration officials were still trying to determine if the man was a member of Castro's secret police or if the fight could have been part of an altercation between temperamental refugees.

'Big Cajun' Boat Leaves Jazz City To Find Cubans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The sponsors of a 300-passenger ship sailing to join the "Freedom Flotilla" from Cuba to Key West, Fla., hope President Carter meant what he said about welcoming the refugees. But they wish he had said more.

The ship, donated by a "big Cajun" who demanded anonymity, left Louisiana under strict secrecy out of concern that the U.S. government might impound it. Its planned work is technically illegal because the refugees it will ferry to this country do not have visas.

Monday, however, the president said in Washington the United States will continue to welcome the world's homeless. "We are the most generous nation in the world in dealing with refugees," Carter said. "We'll continue to provide open arms and an open heart."

The Rev. Joannaris Doss, an Episcopal priest coordinating the "big Cajun" rescue mission, said the president's statement was good news — but not good enough.

"We are very pleased to hear that he's giving these people legal standing," Doss said. "But what we'd like to know from the president is whether he's going to cooperate by not confiscating any boats."

"He's cooperating by helping people enter into this country. That's wonderful. Now will he cooperate by not confiscating the boats of those who bring them in?"

Doss refused to identify the ship, its owner or the Louisiana port from which it sailed.

The primary objective of the mission was to rescue relatives of Cubans living in New Orleans, Doss said. The New Orleans group paid for the sailing, but other refugees would be welcome if there was space on the ship, he said.

"Castro can give us anyone he wants to," Doss said. "Unlike some boats, we will take anyone."

The ship was expected to arrive in Key West Wednesday. Doss said it could sail for Cuba the same day if the Cubans permitted.

"We are in the happy but peculiar position of being in contact with the Cuban government," Doss said. "We are trying all we can to get the Cubans to cooperate once we arrive. When we've exhausted all efforts to make sure about the people who'll be at the dock, then we'll leave."

The priest predicted a total cost of $170,000 to move the vessel from Louisiana to Florida, pay the crew, buy insurance and prepare for one refugee trip. He said each additional shuttle between Mariel, Cuba, and Key West will cost $6,000.

"If it turns out we don't have good financial sense we could lose our shirt," Doss said. "But what are they going to do, close down the church?"

The Rev. Leo Frade, a native of Cuba who is in charge of Hispanic ministries at Grace Episcopal Church, flew to Cuba Monday to help refugees trying to fly from Havana to Miami, Doss said.

Before he left, Frade made arrangements to obtain the ship from a man he described as a born-again South Louisiana Christian.

"I had to drive several hours into Cajun Country to set this thing up," Frade said. "This is not a backwards thing. I'm talking about a big Cajun."

Relief agencies in New Orleans were preparing for the arrival of about 100 refugees from Miami.

"We are expecting them within the next seven days," said the Rev. Pedro Nunes of the Cuban Relief Fund. Nunes said his organization, working with the U.S. Catholic Conference, will give each of the refugees $200 and help arrange for housing.

The priest, countering concern expressed by some Floridians, said this country will benefit from the exodus.

"These people are willing to work," he said. "These people will never be parasites."

Authority: Thumb Sucking Is Not Always Harmless

DEAR ABBY: You told the mother of a 17-year-old boy who still sucks his thumb. "It's a harmless habit formed in infancy which provides the thumb sucker with a feeling of pleasure and gratification."

Thumb sucking is not always harmless. It can cause teeth to protrude, and in some cases it can cause the upper jaw to become deformed.

Some children who have sucked their thumbs in infancy escape without damaging their teeth or jaw formation, but if a child continues to suck his thumb after the age of 4, an orthodontist should be consulted.

OHIO ORTHODONTIST: DEAR ORTHODONTIST: Thank you for suggesting that a good rule of thumb to follow (excuse the pun) is: "Thumb sucking is harmless unless continued after the age of 4." Now let's hear it from a woman who's been at it for 34 years.

DEAR ABBY: I can't resist writing in regard to the mother of a 17-year-old thumb sucker. I thought your answer was excellent. I wish I had had that reassurance years ago.

I am a 36-year-old mother of three, and I still suck my thumb! When I was a baby my mother would shove my thumb into my mouth as a pacifier to quiet me. Too late she realized I formed the habit of thumb sucking, and she did everything she could think of to stop me. She painted my thumb with iodine, bandaged it, and even strapped my hands to the bedpost at night. Nothing worked. Whenever I grew tired (even in high school), I'd suck my thumb. The kids teased me unmercifully, but even that didn't make me quit. I just became more skillful in hiding my habit.

After I was married I tried hiding it from my husband, but sleeping in the same bed made it impossible. Eventually he found out, but luckily it didn't matter one bit to him.

To this very day I can't fall asleep unless I have my thumb in my mouth. I've tried hypnosis, but I'm one of those people who can't be hypnotized. I went to a psychiatrist and he said, "It's harmless. Forget it."

I'm curious. Am I the oldest thumb sucker on record?

TACOMA READER: DEAR READER: If I hear from a thumb sucker over 26, I'll let you know.
