Special Olympics set

LAKE MARY — The swoosh of basketballs skimming through the hoops and the sounds of gymnasts performing their routines will fill Lake Mary High School Saturday as the Seminole County Special Olympics conduct their fall indoor games.

The bowling portion of the games will be conducted at the Altamonte Lanes Bowling Center on Douglas Avenue in Altamonte Springs.

The games at Lake Mary will consist of individual basketball skills, team competition and gymnastics. Bowling skills will consist of regulation bowling games in individual and team events.

Volunteers should arrive at both sites no later than 8:15 a.m. Oct. 7. The events should be completed at about noon.

Individuals who would like to volunteer to help at either location should contact Larry Levine at 942-5279 or 869-8951 or Lin Bonnett at 263-8043 or 322-1351.

Robbery investigated

SANFORD — The Seminole County sheriff's Major Crimes Division is continuing its investigation into bank robberies at the Barnett Bank in Longwood and Nations Bank in Lake Mary.

The bandit robbed six banks in Orange and Seminole Counties since Sept. 11.

Donaldson is presently being held in Orange County jail, so far charged only in connection with the robbery of a Winter Park Bank on Monday of this week.

Living will seminar

LONGWOOD — South Seminole Hospital will be the setting for a special workshop Thursday, Oct. 5, on living wills. Discussion will include durable powers of attorney, do not resuscitate orders, and other matters.

The workshop will be held next to the hospital at 521 Physicians Plaza, off SR-434. It begins at 10 a.m.

Reservations are requested by phoning 1-800-624-5498.

First Friday Luncheon

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will meet this Friday at 12 noon, for its First Friday Luncheon. The major subject of discussion will be the economic development of Sanford.

Reservations are required. For information and/or reservations, phone the chamber office at 322-2212.

Developing waterfront

City, county team up

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The proposed redevelopment of downtown and the waterfront got a boost Tuesday as city and county officials informally agreed to become equal decision-making partners on a Community Redevelopment Area governing board. The city would retain a one-vote majority regardless of the number of members on the board.

Officials hope the incentive program will draw businesses to help establish a unique, viable economic "niche" for the area.

After the formal OK, the city must move quickly to establish the CRA. See County, Page 5A

Marina Island

SANFORD — Two major developments will be under consideration this Thursday evening, before the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission meeting. The major Welcome Center at the airport and planned development for the western half of Marina Island are both listed on the agenda.

Regarding the lakewaterfront development, plans call for major changes to the area presently occupied by the Marina Hotel and Fitzgeralds Restaurant. It calls for the hotel to be expanded from a 2-story 100 See Planning, Page 5A

SANFORD — A helicopter service was approved and a complaint was settled yesterday morning during a Sanford Airport Authority meeting. While both matters were scheduled on the agenda, Director of Aviation Steve Cooke said one late item was brought up regarding a major new company move to the airport property.

"Hill Dermaceuticals, a skin care product manufacturer, wants to move to the airport facility," Cooke said. "Right now they have two buildings in Orlando and one aviation facility at the Orlando airport, but they want to combine into one operation right here in Sanford."

Cooke said the company plans to build a $2.5 million facility to the west of Building 1 (the former Airport Authority office area) where they will manufacture the products and prepare them for distribution.

"Then they will need a taxiway area for their plane which handles distribution for the company as See Airport, Page 5A

Meeting focus: Timacuan concerns

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Water, water, everywhere. And Lake Mary is getting concerned about not only the high levels, but the quality of the water.

Prior to the regular Thursday night city commission meeting this week, a special called meeting has been scheduled to discuss drainage issues, primarily a report on water quality in the Timacuan subdivision.

An additional matter expected to be brought up regarding Timacuan, is a concern voiced by residents over a new Winn Dixie store proposed to be built in front of Timacuan.

Residents say they have been passing out flyers throughout Timacuan urging everyone to appear at the meeting this week. The citizens' comments are to be heard during the public presentation period of the special work session.

The special meeting is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall.

At 7 p.m., or as soon thereafter as possible, the regular commission meeting will convene. As of earlier this week, the following items were listed on the agenda:

- Call to order — Pledge of Allegiance, approval of minutes.

- Citizen participation
 - Special presentation, appreciation certificate to Shari Brodie for committee service.
 - Report of city manager (see below)
 - Reports of mayor and commissioners.
 - Report of city attorney — Sun Drive satisfaction and release/Sunbank
 - Ordinance 765 — 2nd reading — Amending impact fees, (postponed from Sept. 6)
 - Ordinance 772 — Rezone from PO to C-1, 2.04 acres located at the northeast corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Rinehart Road, Michael McArdle

Much in store at Pioneer Days N' Ways

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Everyone will be on hand President Abraham Lincoln is coming, as is Florida Governor Madison Starke Perry and the men of the 7th Regiment, Florida Volunteer Company F.

This Saturday and Sunday, the Seminole County Historical Society is presenting its annual Pioneer Days N' Ways festival at the museum grounds in south Sanford.

One of the highlights this year will be when the soldiers of the Florida Volunteers met with people on a one-on-one basis, to discuss the Civil War, how it started, and the subsequent changes it brought about.

The unit is comprised of Civil War enthusiasts from throughout the area, who are working on keeping the memory of the unit in the forefront. They are also looking for interested persons to join their organization.

The original Company F was founded in Sumner, Orange and Volusia counties. At that time, what is now Seminole County was included in Orange County.

They were mostly farmers by occupation, although there were a few planters and a merchant in the ranks.

The average age was 25, and almost half were illiterate. Over half were married, a few with as many See Pioneer, Page 5A

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Nelson to work with lawmakers

TALLAHASSEE — Insurance Commissioner Bill Nelson said he plans to work with lawmakers to try to adopt an academic panel's ideas for stimulating Florida's hurricane-devastated homeowners' insurance market.

The Academic Task Force on Hurricane Catastrophe Insurance looked at ways to revive interest in Florida among companies reeled by $16 billion in insured losses from Hurricane Andrew in 1992.

Among other things, the group said property insurance rates should be allowed to rise as much as 40 percent, and tax dollars should be used to prevent companies from being hit with more than $20.5 billion in damages from any future storm.

The group adopted a final report Thursday and sent it to Nelson, Gov. Lawton Chiles and legislative leaders on Tuesday. "Now we'll work closely with the task force to convert its recommendations into legislation," said Nelson.

Police find retiree's marijuana plants

PENSACOLA — Police found 28 potted plants of marijuana growing on the balcony of a 63-year-old man's apartment in a Pensacola retirement complex.

They arrested Willie Bell on charges of cultivating more than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Officers said they found pipes, rolling papers, roach clips and scales in Bell's Pensacola Retirement Village apartment.

"This is the first person I'm aware of who has been arrested on narcotics charges who lives in a retirement facility, which shows illegal drugs are used among all age groups," said Officer Greg Stevens.

Police say they had received a tip that Bell was making a transaction in front of the facility. He was not charged with selling and insisted that he grew the marijuana for his personal use, according to a police report.

Feds grant bail to 3

ORLANDO — Three of six men charged with operating a prostitution ring out of sex clubs in Florida and Connecticut have been granted bail in federal court.

Prosecutors said Robert Labak, 60, and Phillip Squillante, 41, owned sex clubs in eight Florida cities and three in Connecticut.

They pleaded innocent and were granted bail along with William Colomore, 31, who was an employee. They are all from Palm Bay.

The others charged in a 19-count racketeering indictment last week were earlier released on bail. They are Squillante's brother, Michael, 40, of Palm Bay; Kenneth Taromino, 32, of St. Cloud; and Michael Avery, 32, of Salem, Conn.

In a hearing Monday, prosecutor Greg Miller called the businesses operated by Labak and Phillip Squillante were hazards to the community. He also said witness tampering had occurred.

William Crummett, an agent for the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, testified that Labak and Phillip Squillante ran massage parlors, where prostitution took place, in Orlando, Melbourne, Lakeland, Springfield, Avon Park, Longwood, Bradenton and Nokomis.

Other clubs were in the Connecticut cities of Seymour, Bridgeport and Waterbury, the agent said.

Nudeist to argue arrest charges

TITUSVILLE — The first nudeist arrested under Brevard County's new anti-nudity law says he will argue at his jury trial that he was involved in political protest at the time of his arrest.

Frank Cervasio, president of the Central Florida Naturists club, was arrested Sept. 8 at Playalinda Beach, a popular gathering place for nudeists. He pleaded innocent at a court appearance in Titusville on Monday.

Cervasio said previous court rulings have upheld a protester's right to free speech even if unclothed at the time. "I had given the sheriff's department adequate notice that I would be exercising my First Amendment rights," he said.

Cervasio and his lawyer also question the authority of deputy sheriffs to make arrests on federal property, an issue left unresolved when the Brevard County Commission adopted the ordinance last May.

Playalinda is part of the Canaveral National Seashore, and the sheriff's office is enforcing the law on the basis of numerous complaints that nudeists have overflowed from a traditional clothing-optional section into areas used by families and others wearing beach attire.

The county measure outlaws public nudity, thong bikinis and other skimpy clothing throughout the county, but the enforcement focus is at Playalinda.

If Cervasio is convicted at his trial in county court, he could be sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $500.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Licking wounds from Erin Panhandle braces for Hurricane Opal

By BILL KACON
Associated Press Writer

PENSACOLA — Hurricane Opal raced towards the northeast Gulf Coast today, bringing deadly 115 mph winds and heavy rains to areas still recovering from Hurricane Erin two months ago.

"By far this is the biggest storm this year for Florida," Joe Myers, state director of the Division of Emergency Management, said late Tuesday. "It's the biggest storm for Florida since Hurricane Andrew."

The storm's northeast pace quickened from 11 to 21 mph within hours, meaning landfall could occur this afternoon. Panama City was the most likely target for Opal's eyes.

Residents already weary of the busy hurricane season embarked on what has become the routine practice of boarding up their homes but some left preparations until today.

"We haven't done anything," Teresa Hires, night audit manager at the Marriott Bay Point Resort in Panama City Beach said early today. "Our major preparations will begin at daylight: we'll submerge our pool furniture, board up windows. When we get in a situation like this, you might find a waitress sinking pool furniture."

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami feared intensive coverage of the O.J. Simpson verdict in Los Angeles had deflected attention from the hurricane.

"We don't even have a reporter here covering this tonight," said James Lewis Free, a research assistant. "And this storm is an imminent threat."

Hurricane specialist Miles Lawrence was concerned about today's Jewish holiday.

"Your orthodox Jewish neighbors in the warned area observing Yom Kippur may not be listening to radios or watching TV, and may not be aware of the hurricane situation," he said.

At the Boardwalk Beach Resort in Panama City Beach, "they're taping all the windows, taking the beds, flipping them around so they don't fly around," Robin Goodwin, a front desk clerk said early today as she awaited the onslaught of guests due to check out at dawn. "If the winds pick up, they're going to shut down the bridges, then they're stuck."

At least 10 people died and 20 were missing in Mexico after Opal passed over the Yucatan peninsula, causing flooding that drove more than 20,000 people in Campeche state from their homes.

"This is not a Jerry. It's not an Erin. It's getting to be a dangerous storm," said Myers. Tropical Storm Jerry doused Florida's southeast, central and southwest coasts in August.

County officials ordered Pensacola Beach, Perdido Key and low-lying areas of Pensacola evacuated Tuesday night. State offices were closed in coastal areas, and Escambia County schools were closed Wednesday.

Neighboring Santa Rosa County asked for voluntary evacuation of Navarre Beach, Okaloosa County ordered an evacuation Wednesday of all areas south of U.S. highway 98, which includes parts of Fort Walton Beach and Destin.

Hurricane warnings were issued from Mobile, Ala. east to Anclote Key on the west coast of Florida. Tropical storm warnings stretched south to Venice. Hurricane watches and a tropical storm warning extended west of Mobile to Grand Isle, La.

Say 'Cheese'

Pets and their owners lined up for photo sessions recently with Bob Dawes, owner of Best Paw Forward in Sanford. Some of the proceeds from the pet portraits will go to the Mid-Florida Golden Retriever Club. A number of pets turned up with their owners including Willie, a shepherd-sheltie who poses with his owner, Michelle Smith of Casselberry. Dawes gets the couple in focus while cooing Willie to say "Cheese."

300 Haitians smuggled into Miami

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — A 65-foot, wooden, rotting coastal freighter with nearly 300 Haitians stashed aboard had incredible luck in making its way in broad daylight through Biscayne Bay and up the Miami River, the U.S. Border Patrol said Tuesday.

Still stunned by the audacity of the smuggling operation, the Border Patrol said the no-name boat, taking on five gallons of water a minute as the anxious Haitians peered through the railings, threaded its way through the dozens of boaters in Biscayne Bay shortly before 9 a.m. last Sunday morning.

Then it chugged past cruise ships in the Port of Miami, turned into the narrow Miami River, bobbed defiantly past the U.S. Customs station, went under three draw bridges and tied up to let scores of Haitians scamper into waiting cars or vanish into Miami's quiet streets.

"It was a brazen daylight operation — incredible luck on their part," said Keith Roberts, an assistant chief patrol officer with the U.S. Border Patrol. "Usually there are a lot of people out there in boats who recognize these type of vessels and recognize that it is a smuggling operation and call the Coast Guard, or someone," Roberts said.

U.S. Customs, caught off guard by smugglers slipping right under its nose at the mouth of the river, took off in pursuit, but too late. By the time agents caught up with the freighter, about 100 people already had fled, Roberts said. Authorities arrested 172 Haitians who didn't have time to get off the boat, Roberts said. They included 100 men, 70 women and two children younger than 10.

The Haitians were turned over to immigration authorities and will be given a chance to appeal for asylum, Roberts said.

Immigration judges haven't looked favorably upon appeals for asylum from Haitians since President Jean-Bertrand Aristide was restored to power in Haiti last year, replacing a military dictatorship.

The Border Patrol has been stymied so far in trying to find out through questioning those arrested where the trip originated, who organized it, who the captain and crew were and how much people paid.

Those detained are giving unbelievable versions, Roberts said. "Some say they paid the equivalent of 12 cents for the trip."

The crew took everything that might give any clues. "The vessel was nearly stripped clean of evidence — no logs, no shipping charts. Nothing. The crew apparently were the first to jump ashore," Roberts said.

The boat, in such disrepair and leaking so badly that it could have sunk, was a throw away that the owner did not intend to try to get back to Haiti, Roberts said.

"It was a kamikaze operation — meant to just get here. That's all," he said.

The boat, kept afloat with pumps, will probably be declared a health hazard and will be cut up, Roberts said.

POLICE BRIEFS

Domestic violence arrests

Joshua Stankwicz, 24, 1113 A. Myrtle Ave., was arrested by Sanford police after a fight with his ex-girlfriend who is still his roommate.

Christopher Allen Bowen, 31, 1316 S. Mellonville Ave., was arrested along with co-defendant, Destiny Taylor, 23, same address, for domestic violence battery by Sanford police after an argument became physical Tuesday.

Resisting arrest alleged

Glen Carter, 31, 141 Springwood Circle, Longwood was arrested by sheriff's deputies for resisting a law enforcement officer without violence when he did not follow instructions. Officers were called to the residence on another matter. Carter did not cooperate and resisted when officers attempted to arrest him after repeated warnings, according to the police report.

Retail theft alleged

Russell Gene Barnes, 35, 486 W. Highbanks Road, DeBary was arrested by Sanford police Monday for retail theft at a food store at 1514 S. French Avenue. Barnes was arrested after he attempted to leave the store without paying for a pack of cigarettes he put in his pocket. After the arrest it was discovered Barnes also had a package of sausage biscuits in his pants. The value of the items was $4.10.

Trespass after warning arrest

Emory Griffin, 31, 58 Castle Brewer Court, was arrested for trespass by Sanford police Monday at 2434 Maple Avenue. He had received a trespass warning Aug. 31, according to police records.

Traffic arrests

Manuel Rivera, 32, 701 Glasgow Court, Winter Springs was arrested by deputies near Longwood for operating a motor vehicle with a suspended/revoked license and possession of drug paraphernalia. Rivera was stopped for having an expired tag Tuesday at 2:48 a.m. at Highway 17-92 and Orange Avenue. A computer check showed he had no valid license. While conducting the stop, the deputy observed a pipe sometimes used for smoking drugs in the car. The odor of burnt marijuana was detected in the bowl of the pipe.

Lugene Portland, 39, 211 S. Somerset Court, Sanford was arrested for driving under the influence by a Florida Highway patrolman about 1:30 a.m. Monday after a high speed pursuit on Lake Mary Boulevard. The trooper followed the Portland vehicle at 100 mph but did not gain on the vehicle until it stopped for a red light at Highway 17-92. The driver continued to travel 80 mph in the 45 mph zone for about one mile approaching the GreeneWay without heading the trooper's lights and siren, according to the arrest report. He was arrested after some field sobriety tests and refusing others.

Marvin M. Martin, 22, 2341 Center Street, Sanford was arrested for no drivers license by Longwood police Sunday. He was arrested following a traffic stop in the 800 block of S. County Road 427, Tico Lamont Livingston, 21, 1002 W. 9th Street, Sanford who was a passenger in Martin's car was arrested for possession of cocaine. During the traffic stop, police found an unlabeled nasal decongestant tube under the front passenger seat. A presumptive test revealed crack cocaine in the tube.

Marijuana arrest

Ronald Grafton, Jr. 18, 205 Duncan Court, Longwood was arrested by deputies at Wyndham Court for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana. Officers were called to the scene to investigate a report of an impaired driver in a Wekiva subdivision. After receiving permission to search the vehicle, a small bag of a green leafy substance was found, which tested to be marijuana.

Violation of probation

Bernadette Henderson James, 33, 911 Cypress Avenue, Sanford, VOP/resisting with violence and solicitation for prostitution.
Demetrius Seval Lomax, 21, 1915 Third Street, Sanford, VOP/Volusia County warrant.

FDLE says crime reports down

By The Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Fewer crimes were reported in Florida in the first half of 1995 than in the same six-month period last year, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement has reported.

Only five of 17 crimes tracked by the state increased. The number of arrests also increased.

"We're not celebrating these meager percentage points here because if you're a victim ... it's hard to see a damn bit of good in these numbers," FDLE Commissioner Tim Moore said Tuesday.

More than a half-million Floridians were victims of crimes from January through June.

However, Moore said the latest numbers were the best posted in the state in several years.

The number of crimes reported fell 1.4 percent from the first half of 1994 to 674,000. The number of arrests climbed 5 percent to more than 337,000.

Nearly one in five of the more than 71,000 violent offenses reported were domestic.

Some crimes dropped significantly.

Murders fell 12 percent, robberies 10 percent and motor vehicle thefts 11 percent.

Drug offenses climbed 10 percent, simple assaults 5 percent and embezzlement 13 percent. Larceny, by far the most common crime with some 288,000 reported incidents, edged up 0.2 percent.

Moore said he thought the get-tough stance taken by state lawmakers this year had a definite impact.

The Legislature made public safety its top priority. New laws that took effect Sunday will make criminals serve 85 percent of their sentences, impose mandatory prison terms for repeat violent offenders, increase penalties for dozens of offenses and make it more likely home burglars and auto thieves will do prison time.

Ron Sachs, a spokesman for Gov. Lawton Chiles, said his boss was encouraged by the news that "Florida's fight against crime is having significant success."

The trend of fewer crime reports actually began about three years ago, according to Moore, who warned against reading too much into the latest figures since they're only a "six-month snapshot."

Moore, however, said he saw a cause for concern in the increase in drug offenses, up 10 percent. "What's particularly alarming there is that the arrest for juveniles is up about 19 percent," he said.

Overall, juvenile arrests climbed just 7 percent, compared with a 26 percent increase in all of 1994 over 1993.

Juvenile arrests for car thefts dropped 24 percent to fewer than 2,300.

The six-month report also showed a 10.3 percent increase in reports of domestic violence to just over 60,000.

At a glance

Statistics on specific crimes during the first six months of 1995 as reported by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and compared with the same six-month period last year:

- DROP OF 10 PERCENT OR MORE
 - Murders, down 11.4 percent to 693
 - Forcible sodomy, down 13.7 percent to 685
 - Forcible landing, down 16 percent to 1,489
 - Robberies, down 10 percent to 79,461
 - Burglaries, down 9.4 percent to 99,594
 - Motor vehicle thefts, down 10.3 percent to 288,000
 - Manassaults, down 17.1 percent to 29
 - Kidnapping/abductions, down 26.9 percent to 1,254

DROP OF LESS THAN 10 PERCENT

- Forcible rape, down 4.7 percent to 3,276
- Aggravated assaults, down 3.4 percent to 45,999
- Arsons, down 5.1 percent to 1,376
- Briberies, down 1 percent to 11

UP

- Larcenies, up 0.2 percent to 288,000
- Simple assaults, up 5.1 percent to 98,479
- Drug offenses, up 10.3 percent to 29,842
- Embezzlements, up 13.1 percent to 1,739
- Fraud, up 12.8 percent to 26,342

O.J. gets a new lease on life, but there's rent to pay

By DEBORAH HASTINGS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES — He did not cry. He did not laugh. He stood there looking stunned and then half his mouth pulled back in a lopsided grin and O.J. Simpson uttered his first words as a free man.

"Thank you," he said in the direction of the jury that acquitted him Tuesday of murdering his ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman. And so began Simpson's new lease on life.

The rent will be high. He still faces three lawsuits from the families of the people he was accused of slaying to death. His youngest children, ages 7 and 9, are motherless, they have not seen Simpson in 16 months, and they know that for some reason, the police thought Daddy killed Mommy.

The youngest, Justin, copes with that knowledge by using proper nouns. "Nicole and O.J." are the names he uses when talking about the case, said his grandmother, Juditha Brown. In an interview broadcast Monday on ABC's "Nightline."

Those children were not part of Simpson's first day as a free man, a day that eerily mirrored his last day of freedom, June 17, 1994, when police pursued him on the freeway, with Simpson a passenger in a white vehicle.

On Tuesday, it was an unmarked, white sheriff's van, not a Bronco, that pulled up to Simpson's estate on Rockingham Avenue. A.C. Cowlings was there, this time not as a Bronco driver but as chairman of the welcoming committee.

Cowlings grabbed Simpson in a bear hug and wouldn't let go of his former schoolmate and San Francisco 49ers teammate. Longtime Simpson assistant Cathy Kanda brought balloons.

A band arrived. Well-wishers jostled for a look over his gate. Champagne flowed. For the first time in 16 months, Simpson had the opportunity to kick back and relax.

Simpson wants to spend at least one night in his own bed before deciding what to do next, according to his friend Robert Kardaashian.

What happens on the second day of Simpson's new life is anybody's guess.

The Hertz Corp. doesn't want him back as its grinning, sprinting spokesman. NBC won't say if the Heisman Trophy winner is welcome to return as network football commentator.

But Simpson did not intend to be penniless in his new life.

He already has written one book, "I Want To Tell You," and is said to be working on another. His first, for which he was given a $1 million advance by publishers Little, Brown & Co., immediately topped The New York Times best-seller list and has earned him at least $3 million more.

Money magazine reported that Simpson could make $2 million in a pay-per-view TV interview that he may be planning.

Behind bars, Simpson signed 2,500 trading cards, for which he was paid $200,000, and authorized the sale of 21-inch bronze statues in his likeness, for which he received $50,000 up front, Money reported.

No doubt a good chunk will go to paying his criminal lawyers, as well as civil lawyers who will represent him in three pending wrongful death lawsuits. The criminal attorneys, who number more than 12, have never disclosed their fees.

SANFORD — It was a long morning Tuesday. The Sanford Herald presses were on standby, ready to roll, but waiting for the jury decision in the O.J. Simpson murder trial.

For the first time in possibly decades, Associated Press, which supplies many of the news stories seen in publications across the nation and around the world, was on a standby basis, ready to release the words which would free or convict O.J. Simpson.

After the "not guilty" pronouncement, last minute stories regarding the trial were put into their proper place, and the machines began churning two hours late. As a result, home deliveries also ran slightly later than normal.

As soon as the verdict was announced, telephone calls began coming in from people expressing their feelings about the decision. Most of those who called were shocked at the results. A few voiced their objections with words which may have made Mark Fuhrman blush.

No doubt had a guilty verdict been announced, a similar number of calls would have been received voicing objections to that jury decision.

Even phone calls from people calling to discuss other matters or arrange for photo assignments drew comments regarding the trial.

From the period of approximately 1 p.m. until 1:30, French Avenue, immediately in front of the Sanford Herald building, and down the street at the usually busy intersection of French and W. First Street, were almost empty of vehicles. Everyone apparently had found somewhere to go, where they could hear the actual words and see the facial expressions from the Los Angeles courtroom, presented by network television.

Shortly before noon yesterday, workers were seen carrying a number of television sets into the Sanford City Hall, apparently for the use of city staff members wanting to see what proved to be the final stages of the O.J. Simpson trial.

The Sanford Herald ran late on Tuesday, October 3, 1995. It was a most unusual day, a day in which practically every conversation in the newsroom, sales offices, press rooms, and all over the city, state and nation, were focused on one court case.

Save tax dollars

I have two suggestions for saving tax money. Turn the public works road division over to private contractors.

or
Eliminate at least 20 percent of the employees from top to bottom and require the remaining 80 percent do an honest day's work.

It is very distressing to see the amount of goofing off done by the county road workers. I see poor project planning and poor allocation of labor to projects.

If weather is too inclement to work, clock them out and send them home rather than having them sitting in trucks for hours doing nothing. The trash collectors work in most all kinds of weather (private contractors) right?

Specific examples:

• Wednesday, Aug. 23, 1995, 1:25 to 3:30 p.m., truck full of workers parked at the north end of East Boulevard waiting to mix and pour about 8 feet of sidewalk that goes nowhere. Weather, very light, occasional drizzle, not enough to wet the sidewalk under the trees. Logic: send workers home.

• Monday, Aug. 28, 1995, 12:45 to about 3:15 p.m., truck with 5 men mixed enough to pour the 8 feet of sidewalk and small cap over drain tile. At 2:45 p.m., white county car showed up; by 3:15 a.m., everyone gone. Just this project job-time 2 1/2 hours conservatively at $8 per hour for 5 men, $100 — rather expensive, I'd say.

• Wednesday, Aug. 30, 1995, about 2 p.m. on Eastbrook near Bougainvillea, a truck full of men sitting on side of road waiting for it to stop raining even though it had been raining hard most of the day and continued to do so the rest of the day. All of this day's trash was picked up by a contractor.

• Check how long it is taking to do the projects at the corners of Derbyshire and Cedarwood, Birchwood and Cherrywood. At least 3 or 4 weeks and still not finished.

In many instances this is the rule rather than the exception.

Democrats resort to scare tactics

"What the ---?" the radio attack ad begins. "Did you see this about the Republicans funding another tax giveaway to the rich by cutting Medicare and Medicaid?"

This shameless piece of political demagoguery actually aired on San Diego radio stations. It was paid for by an outfit that proclaims itself the "Save America's Families Coalition."

The target of the radio spot is San Diego Republican Congressman Brian Bilbray. Listeners are urged to bombard his office with phone calls. "Tell him to stop the Republican leadership's tax on our parents and grandparents."

The left-leaning Save America's Families Coalition is simply doing the dirty work of Democrats in Washington. The party of Clinton, Daschle and Gephardt is determined to stop much-needed Medicare reform at all costs.

Even the usually liberal Washington Post has decried the Democrats' scare tactics. In a Sept. 15 editorial headlined "Medagogues," the Post noted that "Newt Gingrich and Bob Dole accused the Democrats and their allies yesterday of conducting a campaign based on distortion and fear to block the cuts in projected Medicare spending that are the core of the Republican effort to balance the budget in the next seven

"They're right," the Post said, that's precisely what the Democrats are doing — it's pretty much all they're doing — and it's crummy stuff."

What the Post editorialists and practically everyone (except the demagogic Democrats) have acknowledged is that the Medicare program is on the verge of bankruptcy. This is the result of Medicare spending rising each year by roughly three times the rate of inflation.

Indeed, in 1992, Washington spent "only" $46.5 billion on Medicare. By 1992, Medicare spending had increased to $119 billion. And if Congress fails to enact Medicare reforms this year, the federal government will be faced with Medicare outlays of $345 billion by 2002.

The Republicans propose to slow the growth in Medicare spending, to 6.5 percent a year, which is still more than double the current rate of inflation. Yet by slowing Medicare's annual growth, the government will save $270 billion over the next seven years, which will accomplish the twin goals of rescuing Medicare from bankruptcy and moving the government closer to a balanced budget.

But that's not the way the Democrats and their allies portray it in their scare campaign. They say that the Republicans are proposing Medicare "cuts." They warn that seniors may "lose their Medicare." Neither claim stands up to scrutiny.

The fact is that Medicare spending will rise to $247 billion in 2002, under the Republican reform. Per patient Medicare spending will rise from $4,600 a year to $6,700 over the same span.

Since Medicare is a legal "entitlement" (which can only be changed by repeal of the federal law that created the program), there is absolutely no way that any one of the 39 million seniors who are enrolled in the federal program will lose their government-paid health care. But the GOP does propose to change the system by which Medicare recipients receive their health coverage.

You can't go home to mother

BOSTON — I hate to date myself, but I remember Ma Bell. She was a maternalistic sort who rarely kicked people out from under her sheltered roof. She was the matriarch of the era when large companies called themselves "families" with a straight face.

But in the 1980s, Ma's family was broken up. All the baby Bells went their own way. They joined a new economy in which companies merge and split more often than Elizabeth Taylor.

Want to know how the corporate culture in America has changed since Ma's day? Ponder the warm, personal way that her eldest offspring, AT&T, told employees that the company was breaking up again. On Wednesday (Sept. 20), they got the news by e-mail. One mouse click ahead of the press.

Later that afternoon I got a cold call at home from a saleswoman who must rank just below the e-mail threshold. As she began telling me I should have my service increased, I interrupted her pitch. "Do you know your company just split in three?" I asked. "You're kidding!" she answered, as the sales script dropped to the floor.

I said: "I hope you have some stock." She said, "I hope I have a job!" We both hung up. Have a nice day.

Well, there isn't anybody in America, let alone at American Tel and Tel who doesn't get it by now. The work force goes down 8,500 jobs; the stock goes up six points. Over 100,000 AT&T workers have been cut since the family breakup. No, Ma Bell doesn't live here anymore.

In this much-heralded, much lamented new world, companies merge or split, and either way the payrolls are cut. Whether the pitcher hits the rock or the rock hits the pitcher, it's bad for ... the three women in the Dayton AT&T office photographed consoling each other.

There are two things that Americans now take with them from one job to another (often lesser) job: their individual skills and their insecurity. In Rosabeth Kanter's new book, "World Class," a generally hopeful look at "thriving locally in the global economy," one man offers this vision of his job future: "I don't even buy green bananas."

Surely lifetime tenure had its downside, its deadwood and dead ends. But the side effects of job insecurity go beyond the troubles of people who have been permanently outplaced from the working world.

These effects can be measured inside, in the anxiety of those who still have good jobs, in the downsizing of their commitment and loyalty to any employer. They can be measured more subtly in the loss of the sense of community.

Everyone from Labor Secretary Robert Reich to the neighborhood management guru now urges workers to think like independent entrepreneurs. We are warned to prepare for six, 10, 12 jobs in our lifetime.

We are encouraged to stay in training, to be ready for the next career at the turn of the global economy. We are supposed to think of this as an exciting challenge. Even a growth experience.

But how do you build a solid company when your employees all have their mental resumes out? And how do you make the commitment to do good work when you are waiting for the boss' next e-mail — or the news of a merger, a takeover, a "right-sizing" — to determine your fate.

The old rules and the old bonds between owners and workers are cracking everywhere. Employers and employees often seem like two people trying to maintain a relationship while they're both out dating.

This time the business is a communications company whose slogan once was "Reach out and touch someone." But the story, repeated in one place after another, is also about the economy's human connections.

It's not that long since Americans connected in neighborhoods or parishes. Our sense of community was built around Main Streets, subdivisions, extended families.

In the last generation families became less permanent and neighborhoods less stable. Our companies became our communities, our co-workers became our extended family. Now, gradually we are losing that neighborhood too, as we are turned into competitive, transient and temporary workers. It's another kind of isolation.

Now maybe something new will come out of this economic disruption. And, after all, no business is ever really a family.

But in an electronic heartbeat, a former Bell pushed the anxiety level of its workers up almost as fast as the price of its stock. This was the message in the e-mail. You can't go home to Mother.

I hate to date myself, but I remember Ma Bell.

JACK ANDERSON

Close ties to seniors' groups

WASHINGTON — The battle to reform Medicare still has a long way to go on Capitol Hill, but it's already clear who one of the biggest winners will be: Richard Viguier, the conservative king of direct-mail fund raising.

Three groups founded by Viguier — the Seniors Coalition, the United Seniors Association and 80-Plus — have teamed with the House Republican leadership to gather public support for its controversial Medicare reforms. The Coalition to Save Medicare was launched in July and includes all three seniors' groups, in addition to leading industry groups like the National Association of Manufacturers and the Alliance for Managed Care.

But according to documents uncovered by the Democratic staff of the Senate Aging Committee, much of the money that's being raised by two of the three seniors' groups is going straight to Viguier's for-profit company.

Although the Seniors Coalition is no longer associated with Viguier, having severed its ties with him in 1993, the other two groups remain dependent on Viguier's fund-raising prowess. United Seniors Association, for example, signed a contract with Viguier's for-profit direct-mail firm, American Target Advertising, that calls for ATA to receive as much as 50 percent of gross revenue from direct mail until July 30, 1998. After that, ATA will get 25 percent of the take.

In Viguier's contract with 80-Plus, Viguier & Associates — which was later reorganized to become ATA — is slated to own 70 percent of the income for the life of the mailing lists. According to direct-mail experts, this means Viguier actually "owns" 70 percent of the organization, including its entire fund-raising operation. Some direct-mail experts wonder if 80-Plus should be allowed to retain its non-profit status, which lets it mail solicitations at taxpayer-subsidized rates.

"I've never seen anything like this (contract)," Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., told our associate Jan Moiler. Pryor, the ranking Democrat on the Aging Committee, has been directing the committee's investigation. "I've never seen one this flagrant. The worst part of it is the real deception. They're collecting the dollars from the seniors and using those dollars to reduce these programs that are so necessary for their quality of life."

The Viguier style of fund-raising is as familiar as it is effective: It starts with a "scare" letter warning seniors of the imminent collapse of Medicare unless something is done. It ends with a request for money, often accompanied by a petition to sign or some other device so respondents can get their "voice" heard in Washington. Viguier did not respond to our telephone calls.

But when Aging Committee staffers called a sampling of Arkansas seniors whose names appeared on a "telegram" sent to Pryor's office by USA, they got a surprise: Fewer than 15 percent of the seniors said they supported the Republican effort to cut Medicare spending by $270 billion. And only 47 percent acknowledged being members of USA.

But it's already clear who one of the biggest winners will be.

Within the first year of service, beginning in April 1862, one-third of the company had died of disease. Several were killed in battle with others taken prisoner and subsequently being hanged.

History says that it was the custom of the times for a militia company to adopt a name such as the South Florida Bulldogs, Baker County Boys, or Yankee Killers. The name chosen by the local group was Jackson's Avengers, in honor of Samuel Jackson.

Ed Sexton, spokesman for the group will give a presentation to explain how important the war was, and, "how it changed the destiny of our nation."

Lincoln's visit is expected on Sunday at 2 p.m., along with Madison Starke Perry, Florida's 14th governor. Perry will be portrayed by Thomas B. Tart, a civil war historian and enthusiast. Lincoln and Perry will present a special program including a presentation of the Gettysburg Address.

Tart said he hoped the presentation will "provide an idea of what this nation went through when brothers fought brothers, states fought states, and 500,000 soldiers died, more deaths than all wars combined until well into the Vietnam War era.

Thomas B. Tart, Civil War historian and enthusiast will portray Florida's 4th Governor, Madison Starke Perry, during the Pioneer Days N' Ways event this Sunday in Sanford.

In addition to the Civil War presentations, many other events, special presentations, displays, and booths will be available.

well," Cooke said, "so our airport property is going to be just exactly what they have been looking for, and we are very pleased that they want to come here."

On a regularly scheduled agenda item, the Airport Authority heard the results of a check into a complaint lodged against them.

The complaint, sent by Universal Aviation Services, to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) last month, requested an investigation into the possibility of a breach of the Federal Deed restrictions, with regards to the granting of an exclusive right for aeronautical services at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

The matter pertained to the lease with the Central Florida Terminals (CFT), the new building adjacent to the airport main terminal, which will be headquarters for tourist flights from England.

The Airport Authority, however, responded that the aeronautical exclusive right pertains only to the new terminal area and parking area, and does not apply to the whole airport as the objection indicated.

In a subsequent letter from the FAA sent this past Friday, Director of Aviation at the Orlando Sanford Airport, Steve Cooke, was informed that after studying the lease agreement with CFT, The FAA found no objection to the lease as executed.

Regarding the helicopter service, the authority approved the lease for Building 41B at the airport, for BullDog Airlines, Inc. It will occupy the 6,000 square foot building formerly used by Westinghouse Cargo, for a period of 90 days.

"After that," Cooke explained, "we are working with them on the possibility of a new hangar to serve as a home for their operation."

BullDog has been in the helicopter business for approximately 10 years. "I think that says a lot about the company," Cooke commented, "because helicopter businesses are expensive and difficult to operate. The fact that BullDog has been operating for 10 years shows they are an extremely well managed company."

Cooke said BullDog had been located at Orlando International Airport, but lost its space which was taken over by a cargo operation. "They needed new facilities," Cooke said, "so we talked to them and convinced them to move to Sanford."

The company operates all types of helicopter service. Cooke said they do heavy-lifting crane operations, aerial photography trips, transportation, and other jobs, including handling the TV Channel-2 helicopter.

BullDog will be paying the airport for leasing of the building, 6,000 square feet of land area and a quarter acre of aircraft ramp.

Approval for the lease with BullDog Airlines was made by members of the authority this morning.

An additional item, which was accepted by the authority, was approval of Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) participation in the financing of the South Access Road at the airport. Originally listed at $1.15 million, the amount to be obtained from FDOT is now $1,786,000. The change was actually approved by FDOT last year, but has only been brought to the authority for approval at this time.

and Tax Incentive Financing (TIF) district before the end of the year or the delegation expires.

Sanford officials established a city-only CRA in 1980 for the Seminole Town Center. Since cities are not permitted more than one CRA, the county will have membership on the same CRA board as governs the Seminole Town Center CRA.

"However, most of those improvement programs and plans have been initiated, so county involvement in that City-only CRA/TIF district would be minimal," the staff report states.

"I'm very excited about this," district county Commissioner Daryl McLain commented. McLain worked closely with county staff to develop the plan to help revitalize downtown.

"We hope to turn a negative tax base into a positive one." The downtown tax base has decreased at a rate of 1.85 percent a year from 1981 to 1984.

"This indicates that without a program of government investment/actions," Pam Hastings, capital program analyst said, "the full potential of proposed new developments/redevelopments may not be realized."

In addition, Hastings said the Sanford project is a traditional, mixed use downtown where preserving and enhancing property values is directly related to its redevelopment as a downtown. The unique, already existing feature of the waterfront contributes to the area's distinct identity.

Special conditions recommended for inclusion in the delegation resolution to be considered by the county commission on the Oct. 24 consent agenda are:

Affected tax increment set at 95 percent for both the county and city.

City establishment of a Community Redevelopment Agency (decision making body) with "equal minus one" county representation.

No approval of tax increment expenditures for public administrative building is made or implied. (Funding related to a potential parking garage, identified as a CRA activity by the city, should more appropriately be considered at a future date.)

Using a 95 percent option in funding the CRA would generate more than $2 million over the 20 year life of the program. The payback time period on the county's CRA investment is 7-10 years after the 20 years end, between the year 2023 to 2035.

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and City Manager Bill Simmons said the proposal will be presented to the city commission Oct. 9.

Smith thanked McLain for his work. Emphasizing she was speaking as an individual, not on behalf of the city commission members, Smith said she supported the voluntary folding in of the downtown waterfront CRA with the mall. The city commission meets Oct. 9 to discuss the plan.

Planning

room unit to a 4-story 200 room unit. The restaurant will be enlarged from 210 existing seats to 569 seats.

An additional 320 parking spaces are also to be provided.

According to information supplied to the P&Z members by Director of Planning and Development Jay Marder, the proposed development represents an intensification of use of the marina lake within the city's downtown area.

The only issue of concern is parking, which initially is being proposed with a possible new parking garage proposed near the Sanford City Hall, to operate in conjunction with a county courthouse expansion. If the courthouse is moved to another location however and the parking garage is no longer considered, the lakefront parking will be required to pursue other options.

The other major development is consideration of the site plan for the Welcome Center and Dollar Rent-A-Car facility at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

The facility, already proposed, would be constructed immediately across Red Cleveland Blvd. from the new international departures terminal presently under construction. It would provide parking areas as well as covered walkways for the car rentals, and a major Welcome Center facility.

Also scheduled for consideration is a request for conditional use for Burdines, at the Seminole Towne Center mall. Burdines wants approval to sell alcoholic beverages. The application specifies the sale of wine only at the onset.

Another mall matter is consideration of the site plans for Olive Garden and Red Lobster restaurants, also located at the Seminole Towne Center.

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. this Thursday, in the commission chambers of Sanford City Hall.

One juror speaks

LOS ANGELES — It ended much as it began: a football legend on the move, zipping down the freeway in a white vehicle, news helicopters in hot pursuit, nobody really sure what was going to happen next.

In the O.J. Simpson trial, the surreal had become the real, the sensational had become the conventional. So much hyperbole had been expended for so long that it almost seemed inadequate to refer to the verdict as stunning, shocking, dramatic.

But it was. Orenthal James Simpson, who earned fame for running, will now go down in history for walking. A jury of 10 women and two men, after deliberations shorter than most of Simpson's football games, acquitted him of murder.

The prosecution's mountain of evidence crumbled in the jury room in less than four hours, and the first hints suggested at least one juror was heavily influenced by defense claims that Detective Mark Fuhrman's testimony was not to be trusted because of his racist views.

The daughter of Juror No. 3, Anise Aschenbach, a 61-year-old retiree, described in an interview with ABC-TV a telephone conversation she had with her mother shortly after the verdict.

"She said, 'I think he probably did do it, Denise,'" said the daughter, who was identified only by her first name. "I said something like, 'Gosh, you're kidding me.' And she said, 'No,' and she's crying. So I said, 'Why? What happened?'"

"She said it was because there wasn't enough evidence. And I said, 'Why?' She said, 'Because of Mark Fuhrman.' It was Fuhrman who found the bloody glove that prosecutors said was crucial evidence linking Simpson to the killings.

Pope arrives in Newark

NEWARK, N.J. — Gazing up at the cathedral on a hill above his drug-plagued neighborhood, Carlos Zhaghay of Ecuador thought about the last time he saw the pope. In 1985, just before he headed north in pursuit of his American dream.

"Something very beautiful entered into me then that I haven't felt here at all," Zhaghay said.

John Paul II arrives in Newark today for his five-day U.S. visit that will include services at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, Central Park and the Aqueduct Racetrack in New York, and at Camden Yards in Baltimore. He is scheduled to deliver an address on Thursday to the United Nations.

"He'll be preaching for peace, for the homeless and the poor," said Frances Downing, who lives in Zhaghay's neighborhood. "These are his people."

After an address at the airport, the pope will travel to Newark's Sacred Heart church, a magnificent Gothic cathedral that stands taller than Notre Dame in Paris and is larger than St. Patrick's in New York.

Eating lean could be key

WASHINGTON — Eating lean could become a key part of treating prostate cancer if clinical studies confirm laboratory findings that a low-fat diet cuts the rate of tumor growth by at least half. A study published today in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute showed that human prostate cancer tumors in mice fed low-fat food grew at a markedly slower rate than did tumors in mice fed a diet enriched with the fat levels typically consumed by American men.

"What we found was astonishing to us," said Dr. William R. Fair, a member of a research team at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York. "Tumors didn't disappear, but the decrease in growth was really impressive."

Prostate cancer generally is slow growing, said Fair, and if it can be slowed even more by reducing fat "then it is possible that many men wouldn't need anything more than dietary manipulation."

Most prostate cancers develop around the age of 60, said Fair, and "if we are able to tell a 60-year-old that he could do something to slow growth of the cancer for 30 years, that's the same as a cure for most men."

Macedonia's investigation

SKOPJE, Macedonia — Authorities checked travelers' documents and U.S. anti-terrorism experts joined Macedonia's investigation into a bombing that seriously injured the former Yugoslav republic's president.

Kiro Gligorov, who led Macedonia to uncertain independence in 1991, lay in intensive care today after hours of neurosurgery to remove shrapnel lodged in his head by a car bomb.

Gligorov, 78, lost his right eye in the blast Tuesday, said Sasa Ordanoski, director of Macedonian TV. Three pieces of shrapnel were removed from the president's head in hours of surgery, said a hospital source.

Little change was reported in the president's condition overnight, but official media reported Gligorov had suffered a brain hemorrhage and had undergone a "delicate operation on the cortex."

Vision testing for elderly drivers

CHICAGO — Efforts in many states to make it easier to renew driver's licenses may be misguided, according to a nationwide study that shows screening programs help reduce fatal crashes among the elderly.

"Many people think license screening is just pro forma and nobody is really protected," said lead researcher, David T. Levy, an economics professor at the University of Baltimore.

"This study shows that license screening, particularly vision testing, is effective at reducing fatal crashes involving senior drivers."

Eight states that did not require vision testing during the 1985-89 study had 7 percent more fatalities each year among elderly drivers than the 42 states with mandatory vision screening, the researchers reported in today's issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

claim in their lawsuit that Simpson acted with "vicious and outrageous savagery." Ronald Goldman's mother, Sharon Ruffo, filed a separate claim.

The Browns' lawsuit claims that Simpson "brutally and with malice aforethought stalked, attacked and repeatedly stabbed and beat" Ms. Simpson.

But it is another legal filing, one dated July 27, 1994, that probably will draw Simpson's immediate attention. He signed that document, which awarded the Browns custody of Sydney Brooke Simpson and Justin Ryan Simpson.

With Simpson out of jail, he could regain custody.

Late Tuesday, on Geraldo Rivera's CNBC show, Denise Brown, Nicole's older sister, read a statement on behalf of her family.

"The trial is over. The welfare of the children supersedes everything else," it said.

In an ABC News interview Tuesday, Juditha Brown, Nicole's mother, said her family has told Sydney and Justin that "Daddy's free."

"They're happy. They love Daddy. We have never said anything negative about Daddy," she said.

Sydney asked, "Do I have to leave?" "And I said 'maybe,'" Mrs. Brown said.

Lou Brown, Nicole's father, said the custody issue would be resolved peacefully. "We gain nothing by fighting. In-fighting in a family is never healthy," he said.

Denise Brown, asked what she remembered today about Nicole, replied.

"Her words exactly — 'He's going to kill me and get away with it.'"

Clinton veto reveals strategy

BY TOM BRAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — With the third veto of his presidency, President Clinton demonstrated what is evolving as an end-of-session veto strategy: talk tough, deal with the Senate where possible and try to avoid gridlock.

Buoyed by recent public opinion polls showing growing disenchantment with the GOP agenda, Clinton is trying to use his veto in a way that takes advantage of Republican divisions and pits the House against the Senate.

His veto Tuesday of a bill appropriating money for the operations of Congress was a shot across the congressional bow as he and his advisers weigh which of his more than two dozen veto threats to pursue and which to drop or negotiate.

Clinton is making the most veto noise where GOP positions are the shakiest, his own views the strongest — cuts in education, in environmental protection, in crime prevention.

An evolving "Senate veto strategy" entails working behind the scenes, mostly with Senate members, to find ways of avoiding vetoes in areas where Clinton wants to show flexibility, Clinton strategists said.

"He doesn't have a core of people in the House he can work with," said one adviser who spoke on the condition of anonymity. "He's threatening vetoes on things he really cares about. Then he'll try to work a compromise with the Senate, where the Senate will take the lead in coming out with a more moderate position out of the conference committee."

Clinton on Tuesday vetoed the first of 13 spending bills needed to fund the government for the fiscal year that began Sunday. A temporary spending bill is keeping the government running for now.

The measure appropriating money for running Congress was an easy target.

"I don't think Congress should take care of its own business before it takes care of the people's business," Clinton said in his veto message. He trod lightly on the fact that the measure cut $200 million from Congress' current budget.

A more combative stance is being urged by many aides, led by Deputy White House Chief of Staff Harold Ickes, a scrappy Democratic fighter who is also coordinating re-election efforts within the White House.

But too many vetoes could lead to gridlock and backfire, generating sympathy for the GOP majority put in power less than a year ago.

Other advisers, led by political consultant Dick Morris, are urging Clinton to be more conciliatory so he won't be seen as an agent of more gridlock.

It would seem that Clinton is being pulled in two different directions by advisers — be tougher and cut more deals. But White House aides suggest such a view is simplistic.

Tom Mann, an analyst at the Brookings Institution, said, "The two strategies go hand in hand. In order to participate in the bargaining, he has to demonstrate a willingness to veto some bills."

Clinton also has worked to co-opt some of the more popular parts of the House GOP's "Contract With America," coming up with his own less-ambitious balanced budget proposal and tax-cut plan, for instance.

Of the 13 spending bills needed to fund government, Clinton has vetoed one and signed one — a military construction bill that he signed Tuesday. Of the remaining 11, in various stages of congressional completion, veto threats have been issued on seven.

Among them: spending bills that would kill the direct college loan program, dismantle Clinton's prized "AmeriCorps" youth-service program and undermine last year's commitment for 100,000 more police officers.

In addition, Clinton has threatened vetoes on 18 other pieces of legislation, ranging from a telecommunications bill to legislation opening the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to development.

The president himself holds out the promise of agreement down the road. "There may be some vetoes first, but I think in the end, we'll reach accord," he said recently.

One example of the strategy of negotiating where possible with the Senate: Clinton's decision to back a Senate welfare reform bill sponsored by Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan.

The White House hopes something close to the Dole version can prevail in a House-Senate conference panel that is reconciling it with a more restrictive House version — thus avoiding a veto.

CC win to Howell girls

WINTER SPRINGS — Lake Howell won the girls team competition at the Seminole Athletic Conference freshman/sophomore meet Tuesday at Central Winds Park, while Oviedo's Karyn Hall captured the individual competition. The boys meet was cancelled because of lightning.

The Silver Hawks scored 16 points, while Lake Mary was second with 37. Lake Brantley was third with 54. Oviedo was fourth with 57, and Lyman was last with 73. Hall led all individual runners with a time of 13:13, while Lake Howell runners Sarah Richins (13:50), Ite Fuller (13:54) and Mia McCormick (14:20) took second through fourth respectively.

Lake Brantley's Carrie Brockman was fifth with a time of 14:29; Lake Mary's Kristin Hoyle was sixth in 14:43; Lake Howell's Dawn Hatton was seventh in 14:45; Lake Brantley's Dara Wise was eighth in 14:59; Lake Mary's Christina Cooley was ninth in 15:01; and Lake Mary's Lorissa Bazile was tenth in 15:02.

Wrestling Club started

OVIDEO — The Florida Jets Olympic Wrestling Club is looking for new members.

All Seminole County students from elementary through high school are invited to compete on the team that will take part in 20 tournaments (all on Saturdays) and will be coached Oviedo High School's Rick Tribit and J.D. Robbins, who has coached at every level of wrestling and also handled the California Jets that won 12 national championships and 13 state championships.

Practice at Oviedo High School will be every Wednesday from 6-7:30 p.m. The fee to join the club is $30, which includes insurance, T-shirt, USA Wrestling membership card, newsletter, magazine and participation certificate. Additional family members can join at a prorated fee.

If you miss a practice, don't worry, come the next time.

For more info, call J.D. Robbins (366-4840) or Rick Tribit (366-3562).

Adult Flag Football

SANFORD — The Sanford Recreation Department will hold an organizational meeting for an adult flag football league on Wednesday, October 4th at 6 p.m. at the Downtown Youth Center, lower level of Sanford City Hall.

The league hopes to start play on Saturday, October 14th.

For more information, call the Sanford Recreation Department at (407) 330-5697.

Kiwanis Golf Tournament

SANFORD — Bette Gramkow, Kiwanis Golf Tournament chair, announced that the Sanford club will be sponsoring a golf tournament at DeBary Golf and Country Club on Friday, October 13th with a 1 p.m. shotgun start followed by dinner at the club. The tournament format is four person scramble, make your own team, with gross and net categories.

Entry fees are $70 per person, $325 new sponsorship, $300 repeat sponsorship, which includes four entries and hole recognition. Fees include cart and greens fee, players package, prizes, dinner and awards for longest drive and closest to the pin.

Entry deadline is Monday, October 9th. Mail checks payable to Sanford Kiwanis Club and mail, along with entries and golfers' handicaps, to: Bette Gramkow, 500 E. Airport Blvd., Sanford, FL 32773. Or phone (407) 322-3213.

Magic Ink Koncak

ORLANDO — Center Jon Koncak, who has spent all 10 years of his pro career with the Atlanta Hawks, signed with the Orlando Magic.

"We're ecstatic about obtaining a player of Jon's experience and ability," said John Gabriel, the Magic's vice president of basketball operations and player personnel. "This transaction even further strengthens our frontcourt presence for the upcoming season."

Koncak, who attended Southern Methodist University, was Atlanta's first round draft selection in 1985 — the fifth overall pick.

The 7-foot Koncak has a career average of 5 rebounds, 4.6 points and 1 assist per game.

Last season, he saw action in 62 games and had 20 starts.

Rams post come-from-behind win over Patriots

By GARY COATMAN
 Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Mary improved to 7-6 overall and 4-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference Tuesday with a 10-15, 15-6, 15-10 win over Lake Brantley. The Patriots fell to 10-6 overall and 3-4 in the conference.

Jeannie Manz had 13 service points and seven kills for the Rams, while Traci Tombros scored six kills and three service points. Noelle Fehn had nine kills and eight service points for Lake Brantley, while Michelle Cates had four digs and one service point.

"This is the kind of rivalry that brings our play to the next level," said Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry. "It was Lake Brantley on the other side, and that means something."

Fehn put Lake Brantley ahead 4-0 in the first game. Kinsley Craven extended the lead to 8-2 with three service points, and Carrie Arago pushed the advantage to 14-5 with four service points. The Rams cut the lead to 14-10 before Cates closed out the game.

"We didn't pass the ball well," said Lake Brantley coach Stan Cutler. "I think a few of our girls wanted it a little too much and overpassed. We were a little tight because we wanted to win so bad."

After Lake Brantley took a 2-1 lead in game two, Manz and Stephanie Dale put Lake Mary ahead 6-2. Craven and Lauren Andrade put the Patriots ahead 7-6 before Monica Camardeese, Sarah McWeesey and Manz combined to serve out the game for the Rams.

Arago and Andrade put Lake Brantley ahead 6-2 to start the third game, before Tombros and Camardeese knotted the game 8-8 for Lake Mary. Arago and Sarah Winchell put the Patriots ahead for the last time 10-8. Manz then closed out the match with seven straight service points.

Lake Brantley improved its record to 11-5 and 6-1 in the SAC with a 15-6, 15-12 win over Lake Mary in the junior varsity match. The Rams are now 5-6 overall and 2-2 in the conference. Lake Brantley hosts Gateway tonight, while Lake Mary travels to play Boone.

TRIBE HANDLES GREYHOUNDS

LONGWOOD — Seminole improved to 9-0 overall and 5-1 in the SAC Tuesday with a 15-4, 15-9 win over Lyman. Aubrey Nelson led the Tribe attack with 11 service points, seven aces and three kills.

"Everybody played, and we kept really nice rhythm," said Seminole coach Beth Corso. "Our overall team looked good. We executed well and Aubrey passed the ball with outstanding efficiency."

Tina White had 10 service points, six assists and one ace for Seminole; Sabrena Sapp added six digs and five service points; Harmon Rosie 10 service points, 10 aces and two digs; Marisa Alford five service points, four digs and three kills; and Dawn Traina five service points.

Mayfair C.C. to host fund-raiser

SANFORD — Mayfair Country Club owner Jack Daniels and general manager Rich Cleary recently presented golf bags to Seminole High School team captains Matt Kuchar and Jeremy Anderson which led the Tribe to the SAC championship, the district championship and a fourth place finish in the state tournament last spring.

Jeremy is a two-time Florida State Junior Champion and both he and Matt are ranked in the top 10 juniors in the state.

On October 8-9, Mayfair will host a tournament to raise money for the SHS golf team. Positions are still available at $150 per two-ball team or $75 for an individual (who will be paired by the club).

Mayfair Country Club has been a big booster of the Tribe for years, opening the facilities and course to both the girls and boys team. From January through May the teams use the course each day, free of charge, which figures to approximately 750 rounds at $15 per round, or around $5,000.

Sanford's Blake gets new contract from Bengals

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — Two seasons removed from third-string status on the New York Jets, Sanford's Jeff Blake was rewarded by the Cincinnati Bengals with a contract extension through 1999.

Blake, a quarterback who was a sixth-round draft choice three years ago from Eastern Carolina, signed a deal worth reportedly $3.1 million a year.

"He's shown splendid leadership," general manager Mike Brown said after Tuesday's signing. "He's given us a chance to win. That's a step we think we can build off."

"We've got the core players of our team pretty well tied up, and Jeff has become the leader."

Blake emerged as the Bengals' starting quarterback after former first-round pick David Klingler and backup Don Hollas were injured in the same game last year.

Terms of the contract, which also renegotiated this year's deal, were not disclosed by Brown or Blake's agent, Ralph Cindrich. But Blake did not dispute the $3.1 million figure reported by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

"I don't know all the numbers, but I got first-round money," Blake said.

He had been under contract for $714,000 this year.

Cindrich said the deal "puts him in a nice situation, a nice category."

"Obviously, what he would have been able to make on the free-agent market figured into what we wanted," Cindrich said. "It's a nice system here, nice players."

Blake, 24, was a sixth-round pick by the New York Jets in 1992. He appeared in three games that season, none in 1993, and was acquired by the Bengals on waivers just prior to the start of the 1994 season.

He took over in the eighth game when Klingler hurt his knee, and won the starting job in training camp this summer. Klingler, who broke his jaw in the preseason, has not played this season and could become a free agent at the end of the season.

"My goal was to come in and play this year and see what happens, and that's still unchanged," Klingler said. "He's played well this year and deserves whatever he got."

Blake, who also could have been a free agent after this year, has completed 103 of 185 passes (55.7 percent) for 1,339 yards, 11 touchdowns and one interception. He leads the NFL in touchdown-to-interception ratio, leads the AFC in passing yards and is the sixth-rated quarterback in the NFL at 96.2.

"I'm glad we were able to get this done quickly," Blake said. "Now I know this won't be a distraction to the rest of the season. And it's great." □ See Blake, Page 2B

Salads add dazzle as main dishes

The fall harvest season has arrived with an abundance of fresh vegetables just waiting to become a dazzling salad entree. By adding cubes or slices of meat, fish or poultry to basic greens, a delicious salad meal emerges.

The following salad recipes were developed by the Crisco kitchen.

SPICY FRIED CHICKEN SALAD

Salad
4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cut crosswise into 1/4-inch strips
Salt
1/4 cup flour
1 egg, beaten with 1 Tbsp. water
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
4 cups spinach leaves, rinsed and stemmed
1 red bell pepper, cored and cut into small strips
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 medium onion, peeled and thinly sliced
1 small yellow summer squash, cut into small strips
1/4 cup Crisco Savory Seasonings Hot & Spicy Flavor
Sweet & Spicy Salad Dressing
3 Tbsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. water
1/4 cup Crisco Savory Seasonings Hot & Spicy Flavor
3 Tbsp. cider vinegar
2 tsp. Dijon-style mustard
1/4 tsp. salt

For salad, season chicken strips with salt. Dredge in flour to coat lightly, dip into egg mixture and coat with crumbs. Place on wax paper-lined dish and chill, uncovered for 30 minutes.

Toss together spinach leaves, bell pepper, celery, onion and squash. Chill.

For the dressing, heat sugar and water in glass measuring cup in the microwave until boiling and sugar is dissolved. Cool slightly and stir in remaining ingredients.

Heat 1/4 cup of oil in a heavy skillet. Brown chicken strips on one side, turn and cook until brown and done through on the second side (4 to 6 minutes).

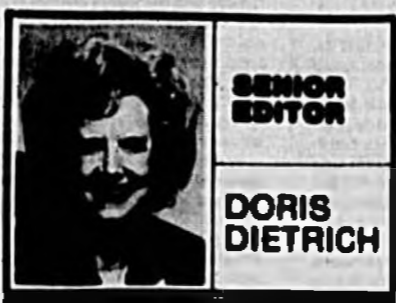

Toss spinach mixture with dressing in a large shallow bowl and top with hot chicken. Serve immediately.

ASIAN PORK SALAD

Salad
1 lb. thinly sliced lean pork loin (str.-ty pork)
Salt and pepper
2 Tbsp. Crisco Savory Seasonings Roasted Garlic Flavor
2 Tbsp. sesame seeds
1 8-oz. bag baby carrots, halved

Clockwise (from top left): Spicy Fried Chicken Pork Salad, Seashell Salmon Salad, Salade Nicoise, Southwestern Turkey Rice Salad, Asian Steak and Potato Salad.

SENIOR EDITOR

DORIS DIETRICH

4 cups fresh spinach leaves, rinsed and stemmed
1 cup fresh bean sprouts, rinsed
1/4 cup thinly sliced scallions
3 oranges, peeled and thinly sliced (or one 8-oz. can mandarin oranges, chilled and drained)
2 Tbsp. chopped cilantro

Sweet and Sour Dressing
1/4 cup Crisco Savory Seasonings Roasted Garlic Flavor
1/2 cup honey
1/4 cup fresh lime juice
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
1/4 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1/4 tsp. salt

For salad, season pork with salt and pepper. Heat 2 tablespoons of oil in a large skillet. Sauté pork and sesame seeds over high heat for 3 to 4 minutes or until cooked through. Remove from skillet to cool.

Steam carrots 8 to 10 minutes or until crisp-tender. For dressing, whisk together all dressing ingredients until blended.

Place spinach in a large salad bowl and toss with just enough dressing to coat.

In separate bowl, toss pork, carrots, bean sprouts, scallions and oranges in remaining dressing. Spoon on top of spinach. Sprinkle with cilantro.

SALADE NICOISE
Salad

6 small red potatoes, unpeeled, boiled and cooled
1 pound fresh whole green beans, rinsed and trimmed
1 pound fresh whole green beans, rinsed and trimmed
1 large head Boston lettuce, rinsed, dried and chilled
3 cans (8 oz.) chunk tuna fish, drained
1/4 cup pitted black olives
2 boiled eggs, peeled and quartered lengthwise
3 large tomatoes, cored and cut into wedges
6 to 12 anchovy fillets, drained (optional)

3 Tbsp. chopped parsley
Berb Vinaigrette Dressing
1/4 cup Crisco Savory Seasonings Classic Herb Flavor
1/2 cup red wine vinegar
1 Tbsp. Dijon-style mustard
1 Tbsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. sugar

For dressing, whisk together all dressing ingredients until well blended.

For salad, cut potatoes into 1/4-inch slices. Toss with 1/4 cup of dressing.

Cook green beans in boiling salted water for 5 to 7 minutes, or until crisp-tender. Refresh in ice water, drain and toss with 2 tablespoons of dressing.

Tear lettuce into bite-sized pieces and toss in salad bowl with 1/4 cup of dressing. Arrange potatoes in middle with green beans around the edge. Top with tuna and olives.

Arrange egg and tomato wedges around edge of bowl. Drape anchovies, if used, across top. Dressing with remaining dressing and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serves 4 to 6.

New school is same old battle for boy teased in class

DEAR ABBY: We really need your help. My son, "Mike," is in sixth grade. Ever since he was a second-grader, he has been the one in class who is teased and ostracized.

We had hoped that starting middle school this year would provide a new beginning for him, but after only a few weeks, the teasing has resumed and become worse. What used to be a struggle every morning to get him to go to school has become almost impossible.

We are searching for a solution. We could put Mike in another new school, but I'm worried that there is something in his behavior that will isolate him again. We've considered private school, where there is better supervision; however, it would create a heavy financial burden.

Our son is miserable. What has helped others in this position? Please tell us what to do.

WORRIED MOM IN VIRGINIA
DEAR WORRIED MOM: S i n c e changing from grammar school to middle school failed to provide relief for your son, don't rush to change to another school. There must be a reason for his continuing problem.

Talk to his teachers. Have they observed anything that might be causing his problem? Then contact the parents of the children who tease and ostracize your son and ask if they would please level with you about why their children dislike him. Take that information to a professional counselor who specializes in children his age (your physician can refer you). Explain your concerns and arrange therapy for your son to help him regain his self-esteem.

DEAR ABBY: A little rhyme regarding non-voters: About politics, they've much to say Because that's the American way. But they can't cast their vote

Check drug therapy with blood test

DEAR DR. GOTT: I find the only medicine that really controls my rheumatoid arthritis without outward symptoms is weekly injections of methotrexate. Is a urine and blood test enough to determine if this medication is harming me?

DEAR READER: Methotrexate, an anti-metabolite, is a relatively new treatment for rheumatoid arthritis -- and it is effective in many cases.

However, because it is a powerful drug that affects the immune system, it has the potential for causing serious side effects, such as nausea, low white blood cell count, lung inflammation, renal failure, liver damage, and others.

Because most of these complications are correctable if detected early, patients taking methotrexate must be closely monitored with blood tests and urinalyses. The type and frequency of these tests should be left to the discretion of the prescribing physician.

But, unquestionably, they should be performed at regular intervals. With such supervision, the tests will indicate any harm the medicine may cause, and allow the doctor to reduce the dose or stop the drug entirely.

In such cases, less powerful (but equally effective) drugs, such as Prednisone, may be used.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has a large bump on his upper left shoulder that drains like a pimple. It's dark red and very painful and drains green and white stuff. Six months go by and it drains again. We use hot rags and poultice of hot bread and milk to assist the draining and we think it's a boil. Is this the proper treatment for such a lesion?

DEAR READER: From your vivid description, I'd conclude that your husband does, indeed, have a chronic abscess on his shoulder.

Because such an infection usually contains a hard core of infected material (that causes continuing inflammation), the abscess probably requires incision and drainage. During this office procedure, the surgeon first anesthetizes the area, then enlarges the opening and expels the core. Finally, the wound is packed with gauze to promote drainage. Healing ordinarily follows in two to three weeks.

I do not believe that your home remedies will solve your husband's problem. Rather, he should be examined by a surgeon and, possibly, have the treatment I described. If the abscess is very large, antibiotics by mouth may be necessary, in addition to the drainage procedure.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
Bridge is a game full of negative inferences. You learn something positive because of something that didn't happen. Occasionally, this negative inference is so solid that you can bet your contract on it. Other times, though, it is a tenuous inference to rely upon. However, any inference is often better than none.

In today's deal, South had to judge the best line in three no-trump after West had led the spade five and East had put up the queen.

Clearly, South had to make use of his club suit. After winning the first trick with the spade king, South immediately led the club king. But East won with the ace and returned his second spade. West cashed four spade tricks to defeat the contract. "Boy, was that unlucky," said South. "I go down only if East has the club ace and exactly queen-low in spades."

"Yet is that so unlikely?" asked North. "If West does have five spades, he probably doesn't have the club ace."

"Why not?" interrupted South.

"Because he would have made a one-spade overall."

That's true. Everyone strains to bid spades because the opponents must then go up a level to outbid them. Also, if spades are 4-3, ducking the first trick only costs a trick -- an overtrick -- when West has the club ace. Finally, two missing aces are more likely to be one in each opponent's hand than both in one hand.

All the inferences, negative and positive, point to the first-trick duck being best.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Cool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Oct. 5, 1995

Financial trends look good for you in the year ahead. In fact, you might experience some periods where you'll be graced with unexpected windfalls at very desirable times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Scan your sources for bargains today, especially for an item you've been wanting. There's a chance you might find it at a very attractive price. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone whose help is essential to furthering your present intentions might be more supportive than usual today. Get in touch with this person as early as possible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A development that could be of considerable material value can be worked out favorably today if you take it upon yourself to initiate the action.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Things should work out smoothly for you today if that which you hope for yourself you also want for others. Selfish thoughts might limit your potential.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today, if you do the very best you can, your achievements are likely to be grander than usual. Keep an open mind and reject all limitations on your thinking.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Let persons with whom you're involved today know you have faith in them and their ideas. Praise from you will help stimulate their ingenuity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Prepare to move swiftly today if a career opportunity presents itself. Something unusual and positive, though of brief duration, might develop.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your judgment is good today.

especially when making snap decisions. Challenges will awaken know-how acquired from successful past experiences.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something in which you're presently involved could be more rewarding for you than you realize. You may begin to see it for its real worth today.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your partner in a business arrangement may have better ideas than you today. Encourage this person to express his or her views and opinions.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Follow your impulses today if they urge you to make yourself of greater service to a person who helped you recently. Your deeds will be appreciated and you'll feel gratified.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your probabilities for success will be considerably enhanced today if you treat life more like a game than an ordeal.
