

Austria's Plan To Raise More Troops Is Given Approval

Britain, France, Italy Support Request Of Dollfus For Protection Against Nazis

PARIS, Sept. 2.—(A.P.)—Britain, France and Italy in identical notes approved Austria's plan to raise a special corps of 8000 men for duty against "terrorist elements" within the country and on the German border. Austria requested the increase in her armed forces after propaganda leaflets attacking the Dollfus government were dropped from airplanes, said by Austrians to have come from Germany, and after a German broadcasting campaign against the Vienna government had got under way. Austria's plan involves a one year voluntary enlistment period and is designed as a purely temporary measure.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—(A.P.)—Premier Edouard Daladier assured his cabinet yesterday that France's new line of steel and concrete defense works which stretches for 125 miles along the German border, is adequate to block invasion. The American attitude toward disarmament at Geneva in the face of Hitlerite activities along the border is worrying the government, which is tightening up its military and economic structure.

Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour reported to his colleagues the departure of Norman Davis, American ambassador-at-large, from New York for conferences at London and Paris, adding that London and Washington are nervous over tension between Austria and Germany.

M. Paul-Boncour is particularly anxious for confirmation from Davis that the United States will make efficient control of armaments a necessary preliminary to arms limitation.

"Germany has an inestimable advantage over the old military powers—she has no superannuated war material," the article says.

"What arms she produces today are based on the best and most recent experiments made by all the powers and may surprise if possible in quality, the arms of the old military powers."

Premier Daladier's report on border defenses followed a recent inspection tour as war minister. The new fortification chain cost $100,000,000 and includes trenches and dugouts of steel and concrete.

FORD PLANNING BIG OFFENSIVE, IS LATEST WORD

Indications Are That Motor Magnate Will Not Sign NRA Code

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—(A.P.)—Indications last night were that Henry Ford is planning a sudden, vigorous offensive in his controversy with the national recovery administration, but just what the motor magnate intends to do his associates profess not to know.

Out of a welter of rumors springing up in the face of the refusal of Ford to reveal his plans has come one principal belief—fostered by associates who will not permit the use of their names—that Ford will not sign the NRA automotive code, but will launch out in a spectacular "go it alone" plan, which may include the public presentation of his own business code.

It may even include a return in the famous $5 a day minimum wage, abandoned several months ago.

But, one associate declared yesterday it will not include a plan for sharing profits with employees, as had been widely rumored during the past few days.

The profit-sharing plan, the associate declared, is "strictly the bunk."

By next Tuesday—the day the automobile code becomes effective—it was indicated, Ford will be back from his vacation in the north woods of Michigan. While there he has refused any comment on the NRA with the crisp statement, "I have nothing at all to say on the NRA."

All the Ford officials who have remained in Detroit during the vacation period have indicated, although refusing to be quoted, that the motor manufacturer, veteran of many "go it alone" campaigns (Continued On Page Two)

BIG INCREASE IS REPORTED IN BUYING POWER

Survey Of Business Attributes Improvement To Recovery Program Of Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(A.P.)—An increase in the buying power of the nation is reported by a survey of business which attributes improvement to the recovery program of the American Federation of Labor.

The monthly survey of business by the federation said, "As September opens we can already see clear signs of real progress, noting that since the speculative rise of business was checked in July, Congress is beginning to reveal a solid foundation for business advance."

The statement was made at a luncheon given by the federation at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. The speaker, Arthur S. Johnson, president of the federation, said that the task of mobilizing industry in the war against depression, the administration, however, worked on the speech he will deliver Labor Day at Chicago, the date he has set for the turning point in the re-employment drive.
