Look, who's kidding whom?

About two years ago, I was accused of not having any interest nor compassion for the Sanford Zoo. Actually, I was only trying to say what I thought was a valid opinion, and was misunderstood. Maybe I shouldn't try again; but, here goes anyhow: "I really don't believe the people of this area give two hoots in Hades about whether the monkeys and the gators and the rest of the menagerie gets humane treatment. And this can only be offered in the form of entirely new quarters."

For two years, we have heard of all the different kinds of plans on raising money (and no one can fault the City of Sanford — they've been most tolerant and benevolent). We had people who had good intentions, but the results just weren't there! We had some, I might add, who were always around when the camera was shown, but were invisible in making themselves invisible for the actual chores.

What we did NOT have previously was a dedicated and talented individual to handle the multitude of problems confronting the Zoological Society. That isn't the case presently. Clifford Nelson is the right man for the right job... there just isn't anyone that I can think of better qualified for this responsibility. And he doesn't get one red penny for his efforts... all for free!

With all of the good which would come to each of us... IF we go ahead and put up a first class zoological garden, well, there just isn't any logical reason for us to stop now.

There are 500 members. We have $31,000 in pledges and only $18,000 in a construction fund trust account. And we're trying to raise $221,000... all of which will transform those 104 acres near the 14 Sanford interchange, (along Lake Monroe), to one of the most attractive tourist locations in the south. None would be like... even the incomparable Disney World.

The stage is set, neighbors. Unless this money is raised by Sept. 30... OF THIS YEAR... there just won't be a zoo.

Prove me wrong. I don't think you're going to put your money where your mouth is!

For fifteen bucks you may become a member of the society. So what, you say? Big Deal? Look, for this same $15 you also receive FREE accommodations for four days and three nights to the respectable Seasons of Fort Lauderdale motel, or to the Sheraton Beach Hotel in Miami Beach.

Jury Acquits Sheriff Of Murder

BY F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
TAVARES, Fla. (AP) — Acquitted of second degree murder, but still under suspension, Willis V. McCall returned to political campaigning today confidently predicting he would be elected to an eighth consecutive term as Lake County sheriff.

Asked if he thought he could beat three opponents in the Sept. 12 Democratic primary and a Republican foe in the November general election, the 63-year-old McCall replied: "You want to lay odds on it. The folks up here tell me they're going to vote for me." He branded the charges that brought him to trial as a "politically motivated frameup."

The charges based on the death of Tommy J. Vickers, 37-year-old Miami truck driver, after an alleged beating in the county jail at Tavares. McCall was accused of inflicting a fatal kick to Vickers' abdomen when the black prisoner was banging on the metal door of his "tile tank" cell the morning of April 13, 1972.

Vickers had been ticketed by a state patrolman while driving through Lake County last fall. The charge was failure to display a proper vehicle inspection sticker, punishable by a $26 fine.

To Renominate Nixon GOP Launching Convention Today

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Budget Battle Settled By City Council

By BOB ORRELL
Sanford city commissioners finally settled their three-day "battle of the budget" with a compromise two per cent pay raise for the three positions which caused the stalemate.

The vote, however, was not unanimous. Commissioner Gordon Meyer held to his conviction that the jobs of city manager, finance director and assistant finance director should be capped at the present salaries.

Commissioner A. A. McClanahan proposed the two per cent increase in lieu of figures presented by the city manager.

At the Thursday budget work session, Commissioner Julian Senstrom was aligned with Meyer on the point of no increase for these top positions but Friday agreed to the compromise in order to get on to other matters of prime importance in the budget hearings.

Residents Move In Bram On First Day

By MARION BETHEA
The grandiose office is only for the young at heart, however, in that a renter must be 22 or older with a single income not exceeding $4,500, or an income of not more than $5,400 for couples.

The welcome mat was extended to area citizens over the weekend for a look-see at the magnificent 12-story complex enhancing Sanford's skyline.

And look they did... during the three-day period people came in droves, with approximately 2,000 persons visiting Bram Towers, which was over five years in the planning stage and built at a cost of over $2 million.

The residents of Bram Towers will find life in their golden years active and productive with planned activities including bridge, sewing, shuffleboard, dancing and classes in a foreign language.

Peace of mind, so necessary to senior citizens, is also the hallmark of Bram Towers with an innovation of a special system to ascertain the well being of residents each day without infringing upon their privacy.

And so with the continuation of years of planning, for the comfort and safety of residents of Bram Towers, with the week-end hospice over and the occupants taking their place in the "homey" atmosphere, we could only wish for those in the autumn of life that as the old Gaelic blessing says "God will hold you in the palm of his hand."

Orlando Drowns While Saving Wife

By GARY TAYLOR
An Orlando man drowned in the St. Johns River, while his wife was revived Sunday and two small boys were revived from carbon monoxide poisoning Friday by attendants at a Sanford service station.

Charles Dunn, 63, of Lake Shore Drive, Orlando, drowned after he jumped from a houseboat in an attempt to save his wife, who had fallen overboard.

Mattie Dunn, 63, was admitted to intensive care at Seminole Memorial Hospital. She apparently fell off a houseboat and her husband jumped in to try to save her.

Persons who responded to the screams for help pulled Mrs. Dunn to shore but he went under.

According to witnesses at the scene, Mrs. Dunn was not breathing when she was pulled ashore. Artificial respiration was started and Herndon...

Florida GOP In Rules Fight

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Florida Republican delegates have vowed to fight for a proposed rules change that would give some delegates at the 1975 convention to states carried this year by President Nixon a plan said to enhance a possible presidential bid by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

The state's 40 delegates left a Sunday caucus at their Barceles Hotel headquarters agreeing to support a Republican National Committee recommendations.

E. "Tommy" Thomas of Panama City, delegation chairman, told delegates a vote for the proposed rule change would be a vote of confidence for Agnew. "It comes right down to a contest right now between Agnew and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois," he said.

Florida delegates, many clad in bright orange "Hot State" blazers, boomed loudly when Thomas mentioned Percy's name and called the Illinois senator as "a Northern liberal."

Florida's delegation would increase by 26 members to 66 under the plan if Nixon carries the state as he did in 1968.

GOP Convention: More Than Theater?

As the beaming Republicans gather in Miami Beach for the formalities which will nominate President Richard M. Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as candidates for second terms it is interesting to look back to 1964. Not at the GOP convalesce of that year, but at the Democratic. For there is a similarity in the conditions which should not be overlooked.

In the White House and in power were the Democrats with President Lyndon B. Johnson luxuriating in the massive public approval which made him master in fact of their nominating convention.

There, however, the superficial similarity ends. For the exercise of presidential and its consequent political power by these contrasting presidents was as far apart as the men themselves.

Indeed, this year's Democratic and Republican conventions have every indication to do more to emphasize the gap which has always existed and now is being widened between our two major political parties.

Last month's Democratic convention did, regardless of the post-convention affairs, create a watershed for the voter to recognize and either reject or support.

This week's GOP convalesce, replete with the very natural self-applause which every in-office administration yearns for and exploits, is not expected to do a thing to re-model its political machinery to make it more responsive and more a real agency for letting the people become involved.

The very real danger is that the whole affair, staged with the millions of dollars which the GOP has squandered and produced by the very best talent that money can buy, will become an exhibition that is sort of self-defeating.

It is also quite probable that the opportunity to create headlines whenever it wills, on every issue it chooses to exploit and with that timing which is a White House exclusive will be exercised.

Thus the formalities in Miami Beach lack the contests, the challenges, and the raising of a new standard of political conscience within the convention hall. What takes place outside is another matter.

It is also quite important to give the usual acts of these nominating conventions only the amount of importance that history gives them. Adoption of the platform, for instance, is nothing more than an exercise in futility if the past can be accepted as a valid measuring instrument.

It is with this assumption that we are bold enough to mention the Republican platform of 1968 on which Candidate Nixon ran and on which he was elected.

Even the most enthralled Nixonite finds it difficult to find in the Nixon record any sticking to the planks which dealt with foreign affairs, domestic affairs or fiscal policies.

Nor do we bring this up except as a warning — as much for the Democrats as for the Republican campaigners who take to the hustings and harangue the public — that performance, not promise is the pay-off.

With this in mind the carefully designed and professionally performed nominating convention in Miami Beach can be given all the weight it deserves. From an entertainment point of view it should get top billing. But it is, in truth, more than a show!

Buttons, Buttonholes And Tiny Lips

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing could improve the human race more than to have every baby born with a button in its upper lip.

As it is now, the average infant is born not with a silver spoon in its mouth — but one of its own feet. And throughout the rest of its life it keeps putting that foot back in its mouth.

If you want to live peacefully learn to turn off the lip flow when you don't know what you're talking about. Silence is more than golden; silence is safety.

Here are a few remarks to avoid if you don't want to put your foot in your mouth, shoe and all.

"Why did you want to get a divorce from him, anyway?" He always seemed like a pretty swell guy to me.

"What's a pretty girl like you doing in the women's liberation movement?" You look intelligent.

"Believe I tell you how I think it fits you, let me ask you one question. Can you still take the suit back?"

"You've got nobody to blame but yourself."

"Did you ever stop to think that if you didn't live the way you do, you wouldn't feel the way you do?"

"If I had you out of this, it'll only get you into the habit of expecting someone else to solve your problems for you."

"Of course, I don't doubt your word, but if you've lost all that much weight, I don't understand why it doesn't show more."

"Are you sure you aren't just feeling sorry for yourself?" "Tell me something, would you? Why is it when a guy like me takes a girl like you out to dinner, she always feels like she has to order the most expensive steak on the menu? Don't you girls ever get steak at home?" "I'm not exactly sure I should tell an off-color joke like this to my own mother-in-law, but here goes—"

"Do you want me to tell you what I really think is wrong with you?"

Wholesale Murder Backfires on Reds

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Historical parallels are dangerous. But the North Korean invasion of the South in 1950 and North Vietnam's Tet offensive may have something to tell us about the after-effects of Hanoi's current invasion and occupation of parts of South Vietnam.

The Communist occupation of major areas in South Korea in 1950 was so vicious, and the killing of teachers, village officials, police and other local leaders so widespread that the North Koreans to this day have been unable to set up a viable Communist underground in the South.

In that 1950 occupation, the Communist underground surfaced and became known to the citizens. With the retreat of the North Korean armies, the backbone of the underground also disappeared.

The anger of the South Koreans was increased by the action of the retreating North Koreans. Before leaving each town they were forced to give up, they would order the local citizens to dig long trenches. The civilian leaders of these towns and small villages—those who remained—would be forced to line up beside these trenches. They were shot and buried.

I have a picture left from those days. In this case the bloody dead lay sprawled by the trenches. The retreating Communists did not have time for burying the bodies.

In these killings, the retreating North Koreans attempted to destroy all civilian leadership—teachers, farm cooperative leaders, minor officials, policemen, professional men.

The situation after the massacres in Hue during Tet-1968 was similar. The Communists who occupied Hue systematically killed members of political parties, other leading citizens and those who might later oppose them. The citizens of Hue remember the Communists with hatred to this day.

Although the Saigon government perhaps would win no popularity contests in Hue, the Communists are disliked and feared far more. My friends report that in the most difficult days after the Communist capture of Quang Tri, this spring, the men and women of Hue began to form civilian militia units to fight the invaders house-to-house and door-to-door. Some men sent their families away but stayed behind themselves.

If the Communists enter Hue again, they will find themselves faced by these citizen irregulars by night.

In several parts of occupied northern South Vietnam, reportedly the Communists are once again killing and kidnapping those who could provide leadership, those who protest and those with connections in Saigon.

If the Hue and Korean experiences have validity, the current terror will force such hatred among the people of the Communists if they are defeated in this round of the war, to rebuild their underground.

As this reporter knows from his own guerrilla days in Asia in World War II, no underground can exist for long without cooperation, at least from some groups within the local population. Once that cooperation is dead, the underground is finished.

Study Finds Taxes Support Strikes

By DON OAKLEY

How can a labor union maintain a long strike against a company without paying a cent out of its own funds to support its striking members?

By using tax-supported funds.

A new book entitled "Welfare and Strikes" reveals that this is exactly what happened in a 151-day strike of 1,122 members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union of America against Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Lester, Pa.

During the 1970 strike, a total of some $2.5 million in public funds was paid to strikers and their families.

Some strikers received various forms of public assistance—food stamps, surplus food, unemployment compensation, etc.—that amounted to 90 per cent of their regular working income. Meanwhile, the striking union, Local 107, contributed only a load of coal to some families and a free meal to strikers on picket duty.

"Welfare and Strikes" is the first carefully documented study of the extent to which striking union members are able to draw upon tax-supported public funds. The book is published by the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania as one of a series on labor relations and public policy. Its authors are Dr. Armand J. Thuellet, Jr., of the College of Business Administration of the University of Maryland and Ronald M. Cowan of the Wharton School.

The authors contend that the practice of providing public aid to strikers is rapidly spreading. They estimate that by 1972, the direct and indirect dollar cost of such aid will exceed $365 million a year, or more than $1 billion on a day.

The authors propose, as one solution, that Congress and the appropriate administrative agencies simply declare strikers ineligible for tax-supported benefits.

"We believe that this is in the general interest," they say, "and that the hardship, if any, which would result is fully within the capacity of organized labor to care for."

Grooms Second Again

Royer's Hot Finish Nabs MAGA Crown

Bill Grooms is a "bridesmaid" again and Ron Royer is mighty glad of it. Grooms found his third excellent "shot" at the Metropolitan Amateur Golf Association title last shot as did the past two when Royer came up with a red hot 68 in the final round yesterday at the new Errol Estates Country Club course.

important was never more true than in the sequence of events on that final hole yesterday. On the tee shots Grooms hit his directly toward Royer's destination after Royer's driver sent his ball into the bunker. The key second shot Royer blasted his way to the putting surface, six and a half feet from the pin. Grooms was equally as astute in the direction of his second shot but found the flagstick literally smack him in the face.

The "on line" shot of Grooms hit the flagstick on the 18th and bounded back into a sand trap guarding the 18th green. From the bunker it took Grooms three more shots before he was "home."

Billy Martin had a lot going for him. All Chuck Tanner had was his 16-year-old kid. In each case, it was just about enough.

Martin's Detroit Tigers, rebounding from a nine-run California explosion in the fourth inning, came up with eight of their own in the sixth to outlast the Angels 11-9 Sunday and grab a 1/2 game lead over Baltimore in the American League's East division.

"We've got everything going for us," said Martin who, a week ago, in a successful effort to snap Detroit out of a slump, determined his starting lineup by picking it out of a hat.

A COUPLE OF BIG WINNERS — If all goes well, these two pitchers will win more than 20 games each in the American League this season.

Mets Reviving Talk Of The Bad Old Days

By Associated Press
Just last week, the New York Mets were talking about the summer of 1969 when they made their late-season charge to win the National League pennant.

On Sunday, the Mets had the fans talking about the summer of '62 when they were the laughing stock of baseball. The Mets brought back the good old days or rather bad old days—with a mistake-filled seventh inning that helped the Cincinnati Reds to an easy 8-1 baseball victory.

28-Year-Old Rookie Seeks Cards QB Job

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Maybe this will be Old Timmy's year in pro football. Old Timmy is Tim Van Galder, a 28-year-old rookie quarterback, who came off the bench in the second half and sparked the St. Louis Cardinals to a come-from-behind 17-13 victory over the Denver Broncos in one of 10 National Football League exhibition games over the weekend.

ANOTHER BIG CONTRACT — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets warms up during summer training at Hempstead, N.Y. He had been holding out for a bigger contract. Now that's settled with a two-year pact. Some guess figure is $250,000 each year. If so, it would make him highest paid in football.

Worry Clinic By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Senator Leo Sullivan shows the problems that state legislators face when Uncle Sam lowered the voting age to 18. Ponder the 5 "ages" described below. Which ones should have been added to the blend of age of 18, re voting or buying whiskey?

Case U-567: Leo Sullivan is a distinguished member of the Indiana State Senate. "Dr. Crane," he began, "at our last session of the Legislature, we considered a bill to let 18-year-olds drink hard liquor.

"The issue was debated, back and forth, but a majority felt that if adulthood and voting privileges had been granted to those 18-year-olds, it would be difficult to deny them ALL adult rights."

TEST OF ADULTHOOD Many people originally opposed lowering the voting age to 18 years.

But others said that if Uncle Sam was drafting such teenagers for war purposes, then those same teenagers should have a right to vote for the U.S. Senators who send us into foreign wars.

If, therefore, 18-year-olds are deemed adults, with the resulting rights to vote, to sign legal contracts in business and to marry, how else are they denied the usual rights to buy whiskey?

This is obviously a good topic for high school debaters.

But we must recognize there are several "ages" to consider!

First, there is the chronological (calendar) age.

Second, the physical age, for many youngsters don't mature in body and muscle as fast as others.

Third, we consider your mental age, for many big 6-foot adults may still have the mind of a 3-year-old (idiot).

Fourth, there is your educational age, which covers both your amount of formal schooling and your practical experience (horse sense).

Lastly, we discuss emotional age, for many adults are deemed adults, with the resulting rights to vote, to sign legal contracts in business and to marry, how else are they denied the usual rights to buy whiskey?

Fischer Favored To Win

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky played to their third consecutive draw in the world chess championships Sunday, bringing the American challenger only three points from capturing Spassky's crown.

Fischer was leading 8½-6½ after the 16th game and needs 12½ to take the title held by Russians ever since 1948. They play again Tuesday in the 17th game of the maximum 24-game championship match.

A win counts one point and a draw half a point.

Fischer's lead is enough for him to win the championship by drawing six of the remaining eight games. But Spassky, although needing only 12 points to retain his title, must win at least three and draw the other five. Most of the experts consider this impossible since in the 15 games played so far Fischer lost the second game on a forfeit—Spassky has defeated the American challenger only twice while Fischer has won six games.

The 35-year-old champion doggedly ran out the end game for at least 25 moves after the experts agreed that Sunday's contest was a draw.

"Most of the dreary and repetitive moves of the last half of the 60-minute game might have been dispensed with," grandmaster Yugo Slavica said the champion perhaps "at first tried to exploit the extra piece, then didn't know when to stop."

Floating Hi School Visits World Ports

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (AP)—Mark Mead school means the spray-swept decks of a 136-foot sailing ship where a 16-year-old scholar-seaman can experience the vastness of his world and test his mettle against the elements.

Mead and about 30 classmates spend nine months of each year cruising the world aboard the Te Vega, working as crew members while she's at sea and high school students when she puts into port.

He said the vessel, owned by the Flint School of Sarasota, Fla., suspends classes until the anchor is down because "we have too much to do while under way."

"All of us take turns on watch or any of the other functions necessary to the operation of the ship, though I actually believe five of us more expertly."

THE OTHER BANKS WON'T LIKE THIS AD, BUT YOU WILL. WE'VE ELIMINATED THE $200 CATCH IN FREE CHECKING.

In all the ballyhoo about "Free Checking Accounts," it could be that you've missed The $200 Catch.

Here it is: Somewhere, all advertising says something like "you must maintain a minimum balance of $200."

That's bank talk for "either $200 of your money remains in the bank, or your free checking isn't free." At Barnett Bank, this strikes us as a bit unfair.

So as of now, we're eliminating all our checking service charges. No fine print, no ifs, and's or but's.

All we ask is that you keep enough money in your account to cover your checks.

If you have an account with us, you won't have to pay another penny in service charges.

If you don't, this is a good reason to switch. Just stop in and we'll handle the paper work in minutes.

Bruises Told By Nurse In Murder Trial

Mrs. Clark related the events of the fatal evening when she was called to the residence of the victim, Victoria Marie Wesolowski, 36, at Longwood. Mrs. Clark said she observed the murder in the beating death of his common-law wife, that the defendant told her the victim was "his nephew's girl friend and he didn't know what happened."

A five-woman, one-man jury is hearing testimony before Circuit Judge Richard Muldrew. Prosecuting is Assistant State Attorney Newman Brock, with Assistant Public Defender Gerald Rutberg defending the accused.

The husky, muscular defendant observed the witness through small beady eyes, his glance barely wavering. Spry's appearance is reminiscent of styles of the 1950s, with long sideburns and duck tail haircut.

Frequently detectives or vice agents grow beards or mustaches. You'll even see them with long hair. But you've never seen an agent with as much hair as this new "guy."

Expertise Vowed For Zoo Society

The Seminole County Zoological Society, faced with a $975,300 deadline to the relocation of the Sanford Zoo, welcomed the Monday visit of Lori Wilson, chairman of the Brevard County Commission. Mrs. Wilson, who is campaigning for the office of state senator on an independent ticket, had had success in obtaining state and federal money to assist in building parks and recreational areas in her home county.

Jack Glattling, executive director of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, also volunteered his time to meet with Clifford Nelson, President of the Zoological Society, and David Farr, Seminole County planner.

The two-hour meeting was devoted to discussion of various ways of obtaining federal matching funds to assist in completing the new facilities on Lake Monroe.

Mrs. Wilson related she had worked strongly with park projects for the past four years.

It's interesting to note that the new section of SR 46 west of Sanford isn't even open yet, but the billboards already are going up.

Understand a few folks are trying out the new road before it's opened to the public and they're being escorted to "Pik's Motel."

Speaking of signs and motels, there's one on U.S. 17-92 just south of Airport Boulevard telling about a new Best Western Motel that will be constructed there.

The fellow that wrote that editorial that appeared in an Orlando newspaper Sunday was just a little behind the times. The editorial stressed the need for 14 to be widened from Par Avenue north to SR 434 in Seminole County.

Seems I remember a press release from the Department of Transportation which was sent to us Aug. 15, five days before the editorial.

It was concerning the opportunity for a public hearing in connection with widening 14 from Par Avenue to SR 434.

Understand the new Johnny Unitas Firestone Store on SR 434, just east of Oxford Road is open for business. Dick Smith, of Sanford, formerly a sales manager with the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, is the manager of the new store. Look for the big grand opening ceremonies which will be coming soon. Unitas is expected to put in a personal appearance at the grand opening.

I just hope Johnny U.'s outfit has better luck than Broadway Joe's Restaurant which was just down the street. Notice I said WAS.

Saigon Makes Offer To Hanoi S. Viets Would Free Red PWs

SAIGON (AP)—The South Vietnamese government offered Tuesday to return 600 disabled North Vietnamese prisoners of war unconditionally. It also announced amnesty for 496 South Vietnamese convicts.

The Foreign Ministry called on Hanoi to propose arrangements for receiving the POWs.

The Foreign Ministry said the amnesty was being made on the occasion of Vu Lan, the Buddhist All Souls' Day Festival, which begins Wednesday.

"This is a unilateral decision in accordance with the humanitarian policy of the government of the Republic of Vietnam," the Foreign Ministry said in a statement.

Although described officially as a unilateral decision, such proposals in the past have been made in hopes of a reciprocal release of American prisoners of war held by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

Last Oct. 8, the Viet Cong released the first American prisoners in nearly two years, Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., 23, of Warren, Mich. The Viet Cong indicated they would welcome reciprocation, and three days later the United States and South Vietnam freed a North Vietnamese prisoner. But that was the last prisoner exchange.

If carried out, the POW release proposed today would be the largest of the war involving North Vietnamese troops.

A similar proposal in June 1971 ended in failure, recommitment, and imprisonment in Saigon and Washington.

The Saigon government announced the release of 570 sick or wounded prisoners but could produce only 13 who said they wanted to return to the North. The 13 were to be transferred from a U.S. naval vessel at sea, but the ship never entered the agreed-on cease-fire zone because the North Vietnamese terminated the plan a hour and rejected it.

Last Nov. 1, to mark the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu for a second term, the South Vietnamese government released 518 Viet Cong soldiers of South Vietnam and granted amnesty to another 3,390.

The South Vietnamese hold about 35,000 prisoners of war, a little more than 4,000 of them North Vietnamese. The U.S. Command lists 1,851 Americans as missing or captured in Indochina.

In Hit-Run Death Driver Surrenders

Wright and Trooper E. W. Jacobs are conducting the investigation of the accident which occurred at 9:30 p. m. last night. Wright told The Herald that the car involved was a 1967 Pontiac, with approximately $250 damage to the front end.

According to Chief Sweet, the three boys had been at his house shortly before the accident. Apparently there were no witnesses to the accident and area law enforcement officers had only a vague description of the hit-and-run vehicle.

Bound on Alex Bare was set at $1,000. According to Wright, there will be no other charges at this time but the investigation is continuing.

Greene Ewaldt, Justice of the Peace, served as the coroner at the scene. The sheriff's department and the Longwood police department assisted with traffic at the scene as one of the northbound lanes was blocked off for over an hour.

The Longwood death brings the traffic fatality count to 19 in this county for 1972. It is the second traffic fatality in Longwood this year.

Floor Fight On Tap At GOP Meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The battle between large-state moderates and small-state conservatives over the shape of the 1974 Republican convention appeared headed for a floor fight today in the only visible rift of a united GOP poised to renominate President Nixon tonight.

Conservatives from the South and the smaller, traditionally Republican states seen favoring a potential 1976 presidential bid by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew pushed their delegate appointment plan through the convention's Rules Committee in a nine-hour session that lasted until late Monday night.

"They've asked for a floor fight and we're getting it, as far as I'm concerned," said William McLaughlin, Michigan's Republican chairman and a leader of the GOP moderates.

Others indicated their enthusiasm for a floor battle was waning, though the full convention loomed as a more favorable forum than the committee, on which each state has equal strength.

Budget Of Port Set At $165,222

Seminole County Port Authority members voted the projected $165,222 budget for the coming year with James S. Ryan, administrator, at the regular board meeting Monday night.

Members' presentation of the budget received approval of all Ryan's present and will be delivered to the Seminole County commissioners for a public hearing on Aug. 21.

One item of interest in the administrator's financial report was the economic impact of the port on Seminole County. According to Ryan's report, 428 people will be employed here by the end of the 1973 fiscal year. With their families, this will mean 1,568 new permanent residents (excluding personal incomes of close to $1 million).

The net benefit to the county in retail sales, taxes, etc. will amount to approximately $200,000 by Ryan's figures.

The Port Authority has received several inquiries from companies interested in using the port facilities in addition to the approval of the budget being consummated at present.

Under the heading of new business, Tom Binford, recently appointed board member, was introduced. Binford is well known to local residents for his publication of a magazine devoted to bass fishing.
