Two Scholarships For Girls Offered

Girl graduates of Seminole High School are offered an opportunity of winning one of the Elizabeth Bayley Seton Resident Scholarships, one valued at sixteen hundred dollars and one at eight hundred dollars. These scholarships will be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination.

In order to qualify for the examination an applicant should (1) have graduated from an approved high school in June 1948, (2) have ranked in the upper fifth of her class at graduation, (3) have credits sufficient for entrance to Seton Hill College, (4) present a recommendation by the principal of her high school.

The amount of the award will be distributed over a period of two years in installments amounting to one fourth the total amount. If for any reason the holder withdraws from the college the scholarship will cease at once.

The examinations will be held on Monday, June 17, at a point convenient to the contestants. Applicants for the scholarship must fill and send in a formal application blank on or before May 15, 1949 and must pay an examination fee of two dollars and fifty cents.

Latin Club Holds Meeting On Monday

The Latin Club met on Monday night at Seminole High School for its monthly meeting. The minutes were read by Paul Hodge, then the treasurer's report was given by Harry Lee. The meeting was discussed for a social program and a committee was appointed to arrange for the committee was as follows: Harry Lee, Edward Marshall, Paul Hodge, John L. B. Smith, and W. E. Butts, Jr.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for the presentation of the award to the winner of the Latin Club contest. The committee members are Harry Lee, Edward Marshall, Paul Hodge, John L. B. Smith, and W. E. Butts, Jr.

Students Engage In Many Pranks April Fools' Day

Miss Nellie Williams was not to be fooled by April Fool's Day pranks—not even when she was called at 7:30 A. M. Monday morning to the "telephone" or told upon her arrival at school that "a telegram awaited her at the office," and certainly not when a bright freshman girl, representative of any and all of Nellie's Latin Class, told her that she had studied her Latin. That's too much to ask any one teacher to believe on a Monday, even on April Fool's Day.

Seminole Teachers Attend FEA Meeting

The State Teachers' meeting was held in Orlando Mar. 28-29-30. The Sanford teachers arrived in Orlando in time for the Thursday afternoon sessions and the program Thursday night. Mr. Louis Fischer spoke to the meeting that night on "The Real Issues in Europe's War and their Implications for American Democracy." This talk was very interesting as it gave the views of a person who has lived in the various countries of Europe for the last eighteen years.

Sanford Students Take Part In Sanlando Springs Indian Pageant

By FRANK A. FRENCH

Sanford Junior High had the distinction last week of furnishing a group of Indian "warriors" for a most unusual and beautiful Indian legend pageant at Sanlando Springs top of the Principal Morris' own troupe of Boy Scouts took their parts as Mohawk Indians in war paint and did themselves proud. The "warriors" included, Hugh Whelchel, Hugh Carleton, Buddy Fleming, Lewis Humphrey, Billy Staples, Billy Southward, Joseph Lee, Herman Hill, Joe Davis, Buddy Angel, John Angel, Cullis Wright, Raymond Katter, Frank Robinson, John Dunn and Jack Morrison.

Youth Of Sanford Should Be Interested In City's Progress

Why Should I Want Sanford to Progress? Each youth of Sanford should be interested in this question. It deals with him individually and has much to do with his future life. Why does this reflect the youth life?

The first and most important reason is that most of us will continue residing in Sanford after we finish our education. We will seek to earn a living here. But if our town fails to progress, it will gradually fall to exist. To provide for the "up-and-coming" citizens, a foundation for a more progressive town must be built by the present generation. They must provide a substantial and progressive town that will exist and provide "food" and "shelter" for their children. You must realize that your town is not yours alone, it is yours and yours children's.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Seminole High School P. T. A. meeting will be held on April 3 at 7:30 P. M. at the school building. This meeting is for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

Music Festival Is Considered Success

The Annual Musical Festival was held Friday night April 3 at the Junior High School. The time was 8:00 o'clock, and every school in the county participated. There were three choruses as follows:

Grammar School—six students from each school directed by Mrs. Price.

High School—six students from each school directed by Mrs. Milwee.

High School—each Glee Club in the county directed by Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. McCracken.

Chapel Program Proves Varied At Seminole High

The chapel program at Seminole High School Thursday was presented by the Dramatic Club who have been working hard preparing it for the last several weeks. The program was opened by the flag salute and the singing of "God Bless America." The scriptures were then read and the students led in prayer.

Mary Martha Esmerick gave a piano solo, "Bacon Street Blues" and "St. Louis Blues," after which Grace Sabres sang a solo, "Summer" by Cecile Chaminade.

Rumanian Position Considered Danger Spot Of Balkan States

Rumania is the "sore spot" of the Balkan states. She is anxious to do this so that Russia will not step in to seize territory. This would take much of Italy's influence from the Balkans and would establish a Russian "sphere of influence" in this troublesome peninsula.

But Rumania's greatest dilemma is that she is caught between Great Britain and Germany. Her ally, Hungary, demands that she stop shipping oil to Germany and if she does, Germany could cause much trouble for her. First Germany could influence her "indirect" ally, Hungary and Bulgaria, to demand territorial concessions from Rumania. What is she to do? King Carol II, the dictator of Rumania, and Premier Georges Tataresco, his right hand man, are pondering the question now. They are continually wined by the British and German ambassadors stationed in Bucharest, the capital of Rumania.

EULOGY

Seminole High School, both faculty and students, deeply regret the passing of one of the finest young men of this school—W. E. Butts, Jr., with his quiet, reserved manner and lovable character, will be greatly missed by his teachers, classmates and schoolmates.

He had all of the fine points of character which we respect, and none of the flaws which we sometimes accept as inevitable.

The school extends to his sorrowing family an understanding sympathy that can be understood only by those who knew and loved him.

Junior Class Wins Sally Sales Prize

The Balmagundi sales contest which ended April 1 was won by the Junior class. They will receive a prize of $100.00.

Pupils Are Told To Watch For Eclipse

Another rare occasion! Every one watch for the total eclipse of the sun which is to be visible on next Sunday, April 7. It is to occur in the early morning and is expected to last about two hours. The astronomers predict that it will be the most plainly visible in the Southern States, mainly Georgia.

Everyone is sure to look for it, especially those who have never seen one.

Future Farmers' Skit Proves To Be Very Amusing

At the regular meeting of the Future Farmers of America Tuesday night a skit "When Doctor's Meet" was put on by the Beginner's Class. This skit proved to be very funny when "Dr." John Hall and "Dr." Jack Hill became involved in an argument and they couldn't decide what kind of operation they would perform on Julius Bernstein, the patient. There were two moving picture shows, "The Scarecrow Takes Up Magic" and "The Story of the Hawk Saw."

There was one hundred percent attendance. New business was discussed. It will be the camping trip that was postponed from April fifth to April twelfth. It was also decided to organize a diamond ball team, a singing quartet, and a swimming team to be held in May. Homemade ice cream was served after the meeting.

Students Play While Teachers Are Away

Guess what? All those old teachers left Sanford Friday and went to a teacher's meeting in Orlando. Much to our happiness, we, the students, had a grand time. The ambitious students picked playing tennis, hood games, and enjoyed other outdoor sports, the more or less lazy students made the most of the day by loafing or sleeping, and those of us who were inclined to become young again, played dolls and made mud pies. There were no stuffy school rooms, cranky teachers, or text books. It was just an ideal day.

It is hereby agreed that the teachers should meet more often.

Another Azalea Sale

The Herald is glad to announce that through the co-operation of Mrs. C. R. Kirtley it has located 3,000 more azaleas which will be offered for sale in this city early next week. The price as before will be 15 cents a piece and we can assure the public that for that price the plants are a real bargain.

We also expect to offer for sale 500 gardenia plants at 25 cents each and 250 dogwood trees at 25 cents each. In this connection we would like to point out that the gardenias
make a splendid background for azaleas, that they were completely untouched by the cold weather last winter, and that their blooming season comes in the Spring just after the azaleas have bloomed.

In order to avoid any last minute rush or disappointments such as characterized the last sale, it is proposed that this time a coupon be run in The Herald giving everyone the opportunity to make reservations in advance. An order for one or two plants will have the same considerate attention as an order for 100, and all reservations will be filled in the order in which they are received.

For those who have made requests for certain particular varieties or have expressed a preference for particular colors of blooms, we can only say that it is impossible for us to guarantee varieties or colors in a sale of this kind.
We do not know ourselves what varieties will be included in next week's sale. We have seen a few specimens and they are very fine hardy plants and a real bargain at 15 cents regardless of variety.

Do not expect any azalea to bloom any more this season.
The blooming season is practically over and there will be no more blooms in any quantity before next winter.
However, there is a decided advantage in buying now, in that plants bought today will be considerably larger by next winter. The plant which you buy today for 15 cents would probably cost you 20 or 25 cents next winter, and more than that at retail in the nursery.

So let us urge you to fill out the coupon appearing in the advertisement in tonight's paper. State exactly what you want and leave at The Herald office at your earliest opportunity. First come, first served. You don't need any money now. Pay for the plants when you get them.

A Hot Spot

The difficulties of remaining a neutral with respect to the present hostilities now going on in Europe are plainly illustrated by the plight in which Norway has found herself during the week-end. She has been permitting German freighters carrying iron ore for German armament factories to use her territorial waters ever since the war began.

Now Great Britain, mistress of the seas, comes along and mines those territorial waters so as to prevent such shipments. This is a clean cut invasion of Norway's sovereign rights. A nation has exactly the same rights in the waters immediately offshore as she does on the land within her own boundaries. Britain has no more right to mine Norwegian waters than to build an air base on Norwegian soil.

But Norway's sympathies are naturally on the side of the Allies which in general have been protecting the rights of the small neutrals and have shown a far greater appreciation of Norwegian lives and property than the Nazis who have been continuously sinking Norwegian ships without warning. And there would seem to be nothing Norway can do about it except to protest or go to war against the Allies.

Undoubtedly she will protest, but that will not satisfy Germany. Suppose Germany should demand that Norway remove with warships if necessary the British mines and prevent with warships the British from laying any more mines in those waters. Norway's neutrality thus would be almost certainly sacrificed. For her it would mean war against Britain or war against Germany.

The situation illustrates how useless is the pious hope of remaining out of war. Merely to keep saying over and over again, "Let us keep out of war. We want peace," is not enough. It may represent a sane and sensible attitude, but it will not necessarily keep a nation out of war.
No matter how much Belgium had wanted to keep out of war in 1914, she could not have avoided it.

There is only one way which offers much hope under circumstances such as exist at present. That is to be well armed, well equipped and strong. Neither the Allies nor Germany would court disaster with a powerful nation ready for war. If Norway were the United States, Britain would not mine her territorial waters, and Germany would not go to war with Norway over mine laying.

Italy, Yugoslavia Consider Closing Adriatic Approach

ROME, Apr. 8.—Italy and Yugoslavia are considering closing the Adriatic to all foreign warships by means of Italian guns dominating the Straits of Otranto to prevent the British navy from enforcing the Allied blockade there, it was stated authoritatively last night.

Italian Foreign Minister Ciano
and the Yugoslav minister, Bucko Cristitch, in weekend consultations were reported to have discussed the advisability of "strong measures" to defeat British blockade efforts in the Adriatic.

The Italo-Yugoslav discussions
were decided upon, it was said, after the reported searching of three Yugoslav freighters by British warships.

The disclosure was accompanied by a series of developments indicating rising Italian anger and apprehension over the Allies' plan to tighten the economic blockade of Germany, including:

1.—A semi-official Italian warning by the Organ Relazioni Internazionali that the tightening of the Allied blockade is "extremely dangerous" as a risk of extending the conflict to Russia.

2.—A speech by Premier Mussolini at Otranto asserting that Italy is confident of her strength and that "no matter what strength the Allies possess they will not be able to force Italy
into submission."

THE BIG PARADE

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(AP)—
Note to midwestern and western farmers: That grasshopper
plague in the Senate certainly is doing youman service in your behalf. In true hopper fashion, it gave the House Economy bloc a $1,000,000
kick in the seat of the pants.

That sent me skittering around to the Department of Agriculture to find out what it's all about,
and, if what I hear is true, that boot may have a back-breaking kickback.

It's this way: When the present fiscal year deficiency appropriation bill came up in the House, the economy bloc allotted
$2,000,000 for grasshopper extermination. That made the Senate hopper bloc hopping mad and they raised it $2,000,000.

The catch, as I understand it, is that now the bill, back in conference, is not subject to some of the provisions. And by the time it gets promised in conference and back to both floors and past the President, those little fellows may be gone. And what have you got there from $20,000,000 into nine big figures!

If you want to put the heat on you better hurry. You know how it's where.

The Agriculture Department
tells me the grasshopper census is almost complete and will be announced soon if funds don't run out completely. Some of the hoppers say that it looks like last year's prediction, which did not pan out, will be justified this year: The biggest hopper crop
since the humbling "Nineties" any.

Question: What city of 600,000
in this great democracy doesn't have the privilege of voting on anything?

Answer: Washington, D. C.
That's exactly how it is. Inhabitants of Washington, where there is more politics than in any other city in the world; where the nation's democratic principles are possibly its most deeply rooted;
where there are most elective officials per square inch than anywhere else, can't even get a quint at the inside of a voting booth.

The perennial battle to obtain suffrage for the District of Columbia is now at fever heat.
High-minded civic organizations and individuals are lining up profoundly enough, usually high-minded citizens are lined up.

A great many active citizens
get pretty heated about it, feeling that the district people were two senators, a couple of representatives, and the privilege of city self-government.

Opponents are less active but more numerous. They feel that Washington is one of the best and cleanest governed cities in the Canadian's Plea For U. S. Help Roundly Scored

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(AP)—
A Canadian official's plea for United States involvement in the European war stirred angry denunciations of "propaganda"
yesterday, during which, Senator
Holt, Democrat, West Virginia
described James Cromwell, American minister to Canada, as a
"les hound" diplomat "who paid $50,000 for his job."

Holt read the Senate excerpt from an address yesterday by Ontario's attorney general, Gordon Conant. Conant said Canadian officials "do everything within our power to enlist the active support of the United States in the cause of the Allies."

"But I don't hold the Canadian people any responsible for that statement," Holt shouted,
"than the American people are responsible for the statements of James Cromwell."

Cromwell recently made an address supporting the Allies in their war against Germany. The talk drew a rebuke from Secretary of State Hull last week but has not yet been considered by the Senate.

Holt took the floor four times, and urged the Senate to order a speedy investigation of Cromwell's "white book" charges that American diplomats had engaged in war mongering activities.

The Michigan senator suggested that such an inquiry be conducted by a special seven-member investigation committee proposed by Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, to look into all war propaganda activities. Clark's resolution won approval of the foreign relations committee last week but has not yet been considered by the Senate.

Vandenberg said he accepted at face value the denials of Secretary of State Hull and William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, that Bullitt had said the United States would join Great Britain and France in fighting Germany.

"I am willing to forget personal differences and go to Wardha myself and meet Gandhi in his camp. I think the time has come when Gandhi and myself can get together and talk brass tacks."

"I feel I can speak in behalf of the Moslems in India and Gandhi in behalf of the Hindus,
but not all India as he pretends to represent."

It was significant that the Moslem League was making the first advance toward joining with the All-India National Congress, over which Mr. Gandhi rules, in bringing about an independent India.

The Moslem League has been
at odds with the powerful,
dominant All-India National Congress, which claims to represent the entire Indian people.

Asked if he wanted complete independence, Mr. Jinnah replied:
"I would be satisfied with Dominion status for Moslem India
within the British Commonwealth of Nations. India is a continent of 400,000,000 persons. If British bayonets disappeared suddenly,
then the central government would collapse. One might as well dream of a united North and South America."

Mr. Jinnah recalled that Burma once belonged to India, but was permitted to separate.

"The same," he said, "should follow for Moslem India."

Asked what sort of State he wanted, Mr. Jinnah said:
"There should be a Moslem federation based on 90,000,000 Moslems in India, including the Northwest Frontier Province and Kashmir and the eastern zone comprising Bengal and Assam.
Lahore should be the capital."

Mr. Jinnah declared that Moslem India would be "willing to fight for Great Britain" in the European war.

"Our practical interests are to have Britain win," he said.

Recently the militant Khaksars, composed of Moslems, held a series of demonstrations in Lahore
in which twenty-five persons were killed. Mr. Jinnah said that until six months ago the Khaksars were used for keeping order at the Moslem rallies. He said he did not know whether they were a "military or social service organization," but "we must examine and see what their real character is worth."

Balinese women, torn from the west up, consider American women in modest for showing part of their legs.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Sponsored By Jaycees

By climbing a rail fence which barred the front door of the Country Club house, admission was gained to the Sadie Hawkins Leap Year party and dance sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday night from 7:00 until 1:00 o'clock at the club.

Old wagen wheels, horse collars and hames decorated the club rooms and hen nests and log were used as seats. Prizes for the best costumes depicting the various "Lil Abner" characters were live chickens.

Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. John Schiavari, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lundquist, and Mr. and Mrs. William Stemper.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Sauter, Mr. and Mrs. George Speer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zachary, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vahlen, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Gradick, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Parker of Mrs. Dora, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Aspinwall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Velyington.

And, Miss Helen Palmer, Miss Betty Armstrong of El Paso, Texas, Miss Marguerite Ingley, Richard Ocas, James Rowland, Robert Reitz, Richard Bennett, St. Clair Cameron, Max Rumbly, Claude A. Whiddon, Jr., and Robert Rumbly.

Garden Clubs Will Hold Annual Meet

The 15th Annual Convention of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs will be held in Daytona Beach on Thursday and Friday of this week, Apr. 11 and Apr. 12. All convention activities will center at the Clarendon Hotel. The program will begin in the ballroom on Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The hostess clubs include the Garden Club of Halifax County, Mrs. Victor Camp, president; Arlington Garden Club, Mrs. Ralph Coburn, president; and the Daytona Beach Garden Club, Mrs. E. H. Armstrong, president.

Among the speakers who will take part on the program are Dr. H. S. Wolfe of the Department of Horticulture at Gainesville; Dr. H. Harold Hume who will speak on "The Sales of Our Roads"; Colonel Richard Lieber of the National Park Service; Alfred C. Hutter, associate editor of Better Homes and Gardens magazine, who will speak on "Vitamins for Garden Clubs"; Mrs. Frederick J. Was who will speak on "Flower Arrangement"; and George E. Gross who will speak on "Planning Recreation for Beautiful Florida." There will also be an illustrated lecture on "The Progress of Civilization" and an animated movie cartoon, "Where to Now?"

Entertainment planned is to include a tea, a garden tour, luncheon, banquet, president's breakfast, and a dinner for state officers and past presidents. About 400 garden club members from all over the state are expected to attend.

LONGWOOD

At the dedication of Longwood, $7,200 Park on Wednesday there were 153 guests and members of the Tourist Club served with a turkey dinner.

Many members of the Club enjoy shuffle board, many young folks of the town play tennis on the new courts across the street.

The Civic League held the April business session on Tuesday afternoon at the library when the new president, Mrs. Maud Tappet presided.

The members completed plans for the baked bean and brown bread supper to be served in the Park on Thursday at 2:00 o'clock. This will be open to the public and is to raise funds for purchase of new books for the League's circulating library.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Day of Topoka, Kansas, have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Minger at Oak Crest.

The Five Hundred Club enjoyed the weekly card party at the library on Tuesday evening. Plans were discussed for the annual banquet of the Club.

Mrs. J. H. Monck, as delegate from the County Federation, attended the State Convention of Women's Club in Sarasota recently.

On Friday night at the Park 35 members and guests of the Junior Board Club had a turkey supper by candle light. There was singing by the group.

The Lyman Senior play will be put on at the auditorium on Friday night. Mrs. Rayburn Miller and Mrs. Ernie Starr are the directors of the play.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church held their meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Church with a good attendance.

The next meeting will be on Thursday, April 25.

Glenn Payne, star pitcher for Stetson spent Spring vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Payne.

Joe Martin Is Good Timer For President's Race

Republican House Leader Is Quiet, But An Organizer

This is another of a weekly series of articles describing the family lives of possible presidential candidates.

By FLORIAN ARNE
WASHINGTON, Apr. 7.—(AP)—Joe Martin is in New England the town meeting is important, and the banker and blacksmith stand up and talk with equal weight. Remember that, and you can better understand Rep. Joseph Martin, the Republican leader of the House.

He's a simple-mannered bachelor. He lives a quarter-mile from the house in which he was born 45 years ago at North Attleboro, Mass. His tinkering with the stalled Republican jalopy started in going again the past two years. He is a blacksmith's son. He has been in the House since 1924. And 1940 may offer him a fork in the road that few men come to. He may be in line for the speakership of the House, provided the Republicans win a majority. And his party may tap him to run for the Presidency.

He's had three similar choices in his life time. At the age of 21, when the first choice came, between a college scholarship and a 100-week reporter's job on the local town paper. He took the job. He has no regrets. But later he took the scholarship and a brother-in-law's job at Dartmouth.

In five years at $10 a week he saved $1,000. The town's rich banker had bought the local paper. He became a publisher. At 26 he still owns the paper and says it's always made money for his 2,000 circulation. He's two other choices came in his 20's. His party offered him the speakership of Massachusetts. But he chose to stay in the House. Then his party offered him the Senate seat. Again he chose the House.

The other day Martin resigned from the Republican national committee. That started the gossip. Was he looking for position in one of the Republican campaigns for the No. 1 spot? The rumor got feverish when Martin showed up on the House floor with a fresh hair cut and a new suit. The rumor is for some time but was in the air.

Martin himself just chuckles. He says he just wants to be a publisher. His background seems to be in the paper. He may yet play party boss in the political arena. "You take the high road and I'll take the low road." But it's hard to remember that the song goes on. "And I'll get to Scotland."

Not that he sings. He walks for exercise. He small hotel apartment is about two miles from the town. He walks halfway home each night. He doesn't drink. He reads an occasional newspaper, but politics is his day-time work and his nighttime play. "Politics is always next door to the kitchen," he says. "It's a family affair." He has a mother and a widowed sister. Also there's "Princess," a beautiful wife, who "tricked" into the Martin party one day, got a good meal and stayed. Martin says Princess has traveled 15,000 miles with him. Most of that around Martin's district, which lies southwest of Boston.

Martin is a sort of modern-day David England town meeting. He has a habit of visiting the towns of his district and holding post-office meetings. He carries a desk from the postoffice, but in the lobby he sits with the townsman of constituents to solve and complain or ask for advice.

One thicket gave him a terrible job. A woman complained there was no sidewalk next her house. Martin, who had with the town's responsibility — congress could do nothing. A month later the woman was killed by an auto on this very road. There was no sidewalk.

For years in congress Martin was just a willing leg-man for the more able Republicans of the House. His name has never appeared on a bill of national importance. So it is no orator and knows how he works well with people.

The 50-year-old leader of the House in New York, del. Joseph P. Kamp, says in a letter to Martin that he is a "good timer." Martin says he is a "good timer" because he is a "good timer."

He was offered this year to sit on a special committee at the state level. He says he is a "good timer" because he is a "good timer."

He says he is a "good timer" because he is a "good timer."

Grass Found To Possess Great Vitamin Values

Man Can Eat Grass and Get More Vitamins From It Than From All The Other Plants and Fruits Put Together

By HOWARD W. BLANKENHORN
CINCINNATI, Apr. 5.—(AP)—Man can eat grass and get more vitamins from it than from all the other plants and fruits put together.

Twenty pounds, dried, of the stuff that flies from the lawn-mower contains more vitamins than 500 pounds of fruits and vegetables—more fruits and vegetables than "the average person eats in a year."

This scientific discovery, along with methods to make grass powder palatable in pancakes, breakfast foods, bread, cookies, desserts and candy was made public last night by the American Chemical society. The organization today begins a five-day meeting with about 2500 of the nation's leading chemists on hand. Approximately 450 scientific reports and discoveries will be presented.

The man-made-grass report came from W. H. Grigg, G. H. Kober and C. F. Schmiedel of Kansas City, Mo. It is a new back-to-nature movement in chemistry intended to put more vitamins in reach of modest pocketbooks. Most of the vitamins in the grass are now available in synthetic form, but they are comparatively expensive. The report contends that the grass powder can be made cheaply enough to be put in common foods with little expense.

If man could eat grass like animals, he would get all the vitamins except D. Law grass is not palatable, however, and when sun-dried, it loses vitamins. But in recent years the agricultural scientists have discovered that quick-drying preserves most of the vitamin content.

Trying this for a human food, the Kansas City chemists dried the grass in a flash high temperature. Then they powdered it and found that if it is sealed in containers filled with nitrogen, the vitamins last unimpaired for two years.

One objection was green stains. The chemists said they had overcome this by changing the grass to a neutral yellow color.

The report said powdered grass contains 250,000 international units of vitamin A against from 1000 to 12,000 units for equal quantities of all fruits and vegetables.

In B-1, the nerve vitamin, grass rates 1500 units against a range of 70 to 100 in fruits and vegetables. It also contains the B-complex, which is a half-dozen or more vitamins associated with B-1. These include nicotinic acid, which prevents pellagra, and riboflavin, a factor important for a good skin and growth. In riboflavin the grass has 11,000 units against 25 to 510 units in fruits and vegetables.

Grass apparently contains also the "gray hair factor" and as yet not fully identified part of the B-complex. This has caused a rash of laboratory animals and has had a slight effect in darkening graying human hair.

In C, the scurvy vitamin, the grass was rated at 2500 units against 50 to 800 units for fruits and vegetables.

Grass also has E, the fertility vitamin. Lately E has been found to be important also to nervous system and has cured some cases of human paralysis.

There is not vitamin D in the grass. Normally human beings make their own D from sunlight and food. Vitamin D also comes from fish oil.

The grass is only a source of vitamins and not a substitute for any of the usual fruits and vegetables.

Norman Thomas Is Nominated By Socialists

WASHINGTON, Apr. 7.—(AP)—The Socialist party last night unanimously and for the fourth time nominated Norman Thomas, 55-year-old former Presbyterian minister of New York, to head its presidential ticket in the November elections.

Maynard G. Kueger, 34, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, was elected as his running mate. Neither was opposed at the party's convention which earlier had adopted a nine-point program in opposition to war and approved resolutions strongly denouncing foreign dictators.

One of the most hotly-debated proposals before the gathering was whether the United States should give economic aid to the Allies. It was rejected, 150 to 28.

The platform on which Thomas and Kueger will run will be made public today before the convention ends.

Thomas' name was placed in nomination by David H. H. Felix of Philadelphia, who drew prolonged applause when he described his nominee as "worthy of the mantle of the great Gen. Debs."

Felix listed the two major parties by remarking that the name of his candidate would occasion no surprise, and adding: "It has not been necessary for us to manufacture our man, or to hire publicity agents to build up a mediocrity."

In accepting the nomination, Thomas said that he has previously resolved not to run again and had hoped that the Socialists might this year co-operate with some larger group representing the "growing interest and intelligence of the producing and consuming masses of Americans in the conquest of our wholly unnecessary poverty."

He changed his mind, he said, because "in the year of crisis and confusion, of continuing unemployment and war, for the Socialist party of America to run no ticket would be abdication in the face of the enemy."

"I make no prophecy of the size of our vote," he said. "But this I affirm: If we can make our fellow citizens stop and listen to our program for keeping America out of war and abolishing poverty, if we can make our work like a burr to stick on their mind and conscience in this hour of darkness, doubt and confusion, we shall not have failed."

Thomas made no direct reference to the new deal which he has never liked much and which he had attacked often and hard. Rank-and-file supporters of the new deal in 1936, however, almost voted the party out of politics. In that year the nation cast an aggregate of 25,814,000 votes in favor of the Socialists, recorded only 187,000.

Joe Cronin To Devote Time To Developing Young Rookie Pitchers

BY DILLON GRAHAM
 CHARLESTON, S. C. Apr. 8.—(AP)—There's a lot of chatter around the exhibition circuit about rookie Dominic DiMaggio, sophomore slugger Ted Williams and the veterans Lefty Grove and Jimmy Foxx of the Red Sox but Manager Joe Cronin is more interested in other chaps you don't hear so much about.

Cronin has no doubts about the four above mentioned. He figures DiMaggio is going to be one of the top rookies of the year. He's willing to bet that Grove and Foxx will be as good as they were last year and that Williams will be even better.

But those four can be stars and Cronin, Doerr, Taylor and Cramer can have exceptional good years and still the Red Sox won't finish better than second. The lads with whom Joe is working over-looked are the young pitchers.

That's where the Yankees have the edge on Boston—pitching.

Cronin plans to carry 10 or 11 pitchers. Six of these will be the so-called regulars—Lefty O'Donnell, Jack Wilson, Danny Gahagan and the relief hurler, Emerson Dickman and Joe Heving. The other five of the staff—to be chosen from among the eight recent writers in the camp—are the ones who'll likely make or break the Sox.

Figuring that his power and his defensive strength is enough to challenge New York, Cronin knows that he must get exceptional results from these young hurlers if the Sox are to be challengers.

Here are three rookies on whom Boston's hopes rest:

Jim Bagby, Little Rock, won 7 last 6.

Ted Olsen, Louisville, 12 and 10.

Charles Wagner, Louisville, 10 and 11.

Woody Rich, Louisville, 2 and 2.

Frank Dasso, Scranton, 4 and 3.

Herb Hash, Minneapolis, 23 and 19.

Wilburn Butland, Minneapolis, 19 and 10.

Mickey Harris, Scranton, 17 and 4.

Bagby, Rich and Wagner have had trials with Boston before Bagby, son of Cleveland's former side but some distance from the sun.

The army air corps' eclipse photographic party, flying in one of Uncle Sam's newest and biggest bombers, left the ground after they did not pass up going up. They climbed to 33,000 feet and dived back down part of the way. They greeted us when we landed at 6:05 P. M.

On the way up some of us took off our coats but we put them back on when the temperature dropped to 20 degrees above zero and thin ice formed on the windows where our breath clouded the glass. We all shivered gum like nobody's business to counteract the changes in altitude. We had a tank of oxygen but each of us took a "drag" only to see what it was like.

The radio men complained of excessive static but we maintained two-way contact with the ground. The photographers said they "got everything we wanted except our breath." They had to work fast in 20-degree temperature and pushing winds, as the show didn't last long.

Babies are more susceptible to altitude sickness in airplanes than adults.

"It's the one unforgivable social error"

There is seldom any excuse for offending others with halitosis (bad breath) due to food fermentation in the mouth. It is so easy to make your breath sweetest and more agreeable with Listerine, the most scientific.

The hideous thing about this offensive condition is that nearly everybody has it at some time or other without realizing it. Experienced people protect themselves by gurgling with Listerine at breakfast, morning and night, and before important social or business engagements. Listerine Antibiotic kills food fermentation, and by doing so prevents it from becoming a major cause of bad breath, and overcomes the odor themselves.

Barbee Speaks Here In Behalf Of Candidacy

dealings and a character above reproach?" Mr. Barbee said, adding that his accomplishments in Tallahassee in connection with his concerted drive against the outlawing of slot machines, that he cannot be bought off, traded off, or scared off.

A minister should not be a politician but by training and ideals he is fitted to be a statesman, the speaker said, adding, "Florida's greatest need is more statesmanship and less politics."

"Florida needs a governor for all of the people, a friend of the masses. A man cannot serve all of the people if he is a Charles McCarthy for a political party, a political card himself or is a paid hireling of some interest," the speaker said.

More tourists will be brought into the state by keeping racket-bars out. The substantial tourists do not come to Florida for vice and gambling. Such things can be found closer home. Sunshine, climate, outdoor recreation and entertainment bring the tourists. All the racketeers do is to take the tourists' money which would otherwise go to legitimate merchants. Racketeers will eventually ruin a community, he said.

Law enforcement cannot be classified as blue laws, he said, but it means red, white and blue freedom. Graft and corruption undermine democracy. Criminals often control both politics and law enforcement, he said adding that legitimate business and law-abiding citizens have a decision to make in this election. "Either you will control crime, or crime will control you," he declared. "For the protection of our youth we need statesmen who will look a generation ahead instead of politicians who look only to the next election," he added.

Declaring that he favored assistance to the aged, he said that the aged do not need promises but more money. There is enough

Atlanta Crackers Are Defeated By Washington 5 To 2

ATLANTA, Apr. 8.—(AP)—The Washington Nationals had no trouble again yesterday with the Atlanta Crackers in an exhibition baseball game, making it three straight with a 5 to 2 victory.

Dutch Leonard held the home team to four hits and one run in seven innings and Rookie Jim (Dopey) Dean gave them one more in the last two frames.

Meanwhile, paced by George Case's three safe blows, the Nationals banged out nine hits. Wash. (A) 300 001 001—5 9 2 Atlanta (S) 000 010 010—2 5 2

Robert Jackson Seen As Likely Choice Of Demos

Dynamic Attorney-General Is Quiet, Unassuming Privately

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—@
—He is 10 o'clock Sunday morning. I have an appointment to talk to the Robert Jacksons. He's Attorney General. He might live next year at No. 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. The White House.

And what's worse I've listened to his trigger responses from the witness stand. You just don't drop vague sentences around Mr. Jackson. But his face is kind, his smile open and quick, and he's relaxed and easy to meet.

I trot tensely, nevertheless, down their apartment hotel corridor and give the bronze check a rat-a-tat-tat. The door opens. Mrs. Jackson I'd expected a maid. Seems they just have a butler that comes in by the day. She takes my coat and put it on the piano bench (just like home) as we walk through to the study.

Those riding boots up on the typewriter stand could—they do belong to the Attorney General. He's buried in Sunday papers. They spill about him as he rises. His white shirt is open at the neck. No tie. We sit down. Mrs. Jackson pours a second cup of coffee.

He says, "Yes," he'd been to Pittsburgh on important business once before he was sent to try the government's tax case against the aluminum king, Andrew Mellon. Some 15 years before.

Thirty-five years? Jackson is only 48 now.

"Yes," grins Jackson. "You see I rode into Pittsburgh on top of a box car. I was delivering a horse my father had sold to a Pittsburgher."

Jackson vs. Hogan
They along came that case. Before that Jackson was just one of the bright young lawyers around Washington. But in the Mellon case he was pitted against the inextinguishable Frank Hogan, legal representative of the upper "clawees." Jackson won the case—and his spurs.

There was quite a difference in Jackson's status on those two trips to Pittsburgh. But he's not much impressed by the implied success story. He comes from persistent Democratic stock in southwestern New York, where persistent Republicans are rather ubiquitous. So Jackson is used to speaking his piece, and pugnaciously.

He always wanted to be an orator. Mrs. Jackson says, "I'll tell that story." So he says the town grocer (Frewsburg, N. Y.) had an old-fashioned talking machine when he was a lad. Young Robert discovered there were also some William Jennings Bryan records. For weeks the lad kept the store's good Republican customers upset with the "Cross of Gold."

He still writes his own speeches. Tired them out on his favorite playmate, his daughter Mary Margaret, who at 18, is a sophomore at Smith. When

Conservation To Be Aided Through Chamber's Efforts

TAMPA, Apr. 8.—An intensive program of education looking toward conservation of Florida's wild life and natural resources will be initiated soon, Carl D. Brorein, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce declared today in announcing personnel of the State Chamber's conservation committee for 1940.

Mrs. A. B. Whitman of Orlando will direct activities of the group as its chairman. Mr. Brorein stated, adding the committee will cooperate fully with all State and Federal agencies, as well as recognized public conservation organizations in Florida.

Serving on the State Chamber committee with Mrs. Whitman will be: C. H. Lang, Melbourne; H. J. Longstreet, Daytona Beach; M. O. Harrison, Palmetto; C. H. Overman, Bagdad; C. C. Woodward, Tampa.

STEEL MAN CHANGES JOBS

NEW YORK, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Harry Woodhead, for 18 years president and general manager of the Cleveland plant of the Trucon Steel Company, yesterday succeeded W. H. Beal as president of Aviation Manufacturing Corporation. Beal resigned because of ill health.

HEADQUARTERS FOR the four-day Inter-American Educational and Cultural Conference at the University of Florida April 14-17, which is attracting widespread attention throughout South and Latin America, and in this country, will be Florida Union, student activities building on the state university campus at Gainesville. The University of Florida has gained international recognition in the 10 years it has fostered and actively carried out a program directed to promoting inter-American friendship, understanding and good-will. Students from many Latin and South American countries are enrolled in the University of Florida.

Railmen Conclude 5-Day Conference

LAKELAND, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Retired railwaymen concluded a five-day conference here yesterday with a motored to Bok tower, Cypress Gardens and other points in Polk county. Many states were represented ### and visitors came from points throughout Florida.

J. L. Starr, president of the National Railway Employees, was among those present. The group will hold its annual convention in Cincinnati next month.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, who spent the night in Lakeland, yesterday visited the city's colony for retired railway employees. The ### first unit of 10 homes already is occupied and the city engineer's office is preparing plans for construction of another similar unit.

Virtually no business was transacted at the conference here, but a busy program of entertainment was provided for the visitors.

Scientist Says Cancer Toll Can Be Cut By Half

NEW YORK, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Scientific knowledge of cancer has progressed to the point where the death rate from it may be cut in half, Dr. Charles C. Little, director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, said yesterday.

In a statement made in connection with the drive underway this month against the disease he said that "though the disease is a complicated problem, we know enough today about many of the more common types of cancer to cure between one-third and one-half of the 150,000 men, women and children who are destroyed annually by it. We shall save these thousands only when individuals everywhere inform themselves about cancer and what they should do for their own protection."

Cancers can be treated successfully with surgery, X-rays and radium treatment, Dr. James Ewing of Memorial hospital said, but early diagnosis is important. To illustrate the difficulty of ### diagnosing cancer, Dr. Ewing said that many persons develop ulcers of the stomach, one of the most dreaded forms, he said, may progress slowly for 25 years with only mild digestive trouble. For that reason, he added, any stomach trouble continuing for longer than a few weeks should receive attention.

The stomach is the principal site of the disease in men and causes more than 20 percent of all cancer deaths.

TM WRONG—HOORAY!

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Apr. 8.—(AP)—A motorist reported excitedly to police his automobile had "hit a woman." Officers hurried to the scene. The "victim" was a dummy, clad in skirt, hat and sweater. Children had suspended the dummy by strings in the street.

BULL STORY

FORT SCOTT, Kans., Apr. 8.—(AP)—A bull on the Henry Johnson farm climbed a flight of rickety barn stairs, shoved his way through holes of hay and jumped from a second story window. The leap didn't hurt the bull.

Road Damage Estimated at Over Million

RAIN FREEZE!

Small showing weather-proof concrete pavement. This is how it looks after 3 years. Harris & Co., Brookville, Florida.

Concrete Roads Can Take It

Once more newspaper headlines like these, following the recent heavy freeze, broke the bad news to motorists.

But there's another side to the story. Concrete resisted the damaging effects of heavy rains and severe cold—saved millions of dollars for motorists.

Concrete has the "bridging strength" needed to keep pavements from breaking up when the supporting soil is weakened by frost and soaking rains.

Because of this simple engineering fact, your concrete roads remain safe and efficient in all weather—need no "load limit" or "detour" signs—are kept in prime condition without expensive maintenance.

Concrete is a true "low-cost road" over a period of years.

the won't listen, the horse does. Crazy Over Horses
Jackson has ridden since boyhood when his father ran a hotel and livery stable at Frewsburg. Now his whole family rides—the Misses, Mary and the son, Bill, a junior at Yale. They're so fond of horses they keep a fine race track on their farm at Jamestown, N. Y.

They vacationed together this summer, taking a motor trip across the Pacific. Stopped at tourist camps. Stopped whenever there was a chance to ride a horse, walk up a mountain, or read a book or cook a meal under a tree.

Jackson says, "Don't forget 'Alibi.' That's their motor boat at Jamestown. It's special virtue is that it has no phone."

Mrs. Jackson says it was a cousin who introduced them. She was young Irene Gerhardt from Kingston, N. Y. She had a job as a government secretary at Albany. The cousin was attending the Albany law school, but she couldn't bring any law students around. He insisted, "You wouldn't like lawyers." Then suddenly he was all affairs to bring one around. It was Robert Jackson. Three years later, in 1916, they married. They settled in Jamestown, N. Y., and he developed a general practice, from labor unions to corporations. He is proudly a member of 12,000 the first year and they felt like millionaires.

Joined New Deal in '33
Jackson took his first New Deal post in 1933.

He turned into a New Deal spokesman. He took the holding company bill, with its red hot "death sentence" to the Supreme Court and won. He tried 24 government cases in '28-'30 and won 21. The Chief Justice is reported to have called him the ablest Solicitor General in his experience on the court.

Jackson acquires a little at the mention but he says, "Anyway, I'm the only cabinet officer that drives his own car."

Mrs. Jackson says the village isn't so good but the family gondola makes up for it in dash. It has red leather upholstery.

Hobbies? He says, "Nothing inside." Riding, hiking, camp cooking, skiing, gardening and reading classic literature under a tree.

A Close-Knit Family
Mrs. Jackson and the children share all of his hobbies. The family is extremely close. Like the day the White House called to say, "We're swearing you into the Attorney-Generalship tomorrow." Jackson shook his head and said, "Things happen fast around here." So he phoned Son Bill, at Yale, and said, "I'd like to have you down here."

Bill had a debate that night but he'd try to make it. He did. They arrived at the President's study for the ceremony with quite extended checks. But not for what you think. Bill, of course, got a check of $100. But Father had just heard what Bill had done the night before.

He'd won the coveted Yale Ten Eyck prize for oratory. Just before he caught the Washington train.

Girls Need "Build-up"
Many girls are who try to turn the key for the lock, and are disappointed when the key is not turned. This is because they are not "built-up" enough. The girls who are "built-up" are the girls who are healthy and strong. They are the girls who are the girls of the future.
