

After Experience, Girl Is Willing To Pay For Milk

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer
FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Feb. 11.—You milk a cow on the right side—always.

"I'm just a city girl—but I learned that during the day I spent being on the ropes at the New York State Institute of Applied Agriculture here, where 60 girls a month will graduate to farms, they hope—to help alleviate an expected shortage of farm help."

Most of the girls joined because they love the outdoor life and meet the requirements of not being in an essential war job. But with a need for 3,500,000 additional farm hands this year these transplanted country girls may help keep us city people buttered on our bread.

"This bevy of serious looking girls means business. They don't want the farmer to get the impression they are glamor girls just because they're from the city," said one girl.

"With eggs 70c a dozen, a chicken in the country is of more value right now than a chicadee in the city."

"Please don't say we're from Broadway—we aren't," said a Connecticut girl.

"After all," said another, "we must like the life or we wouldn't have well-paid jobs for an extended 8 to 10 months and keep—and buy our own work clothes—besides."

"All the rope-too-easy chores on the farm such as greasing tractors, caring for livestock, chopping wood, and milk are being done with zest. There are classes in poultry, animal husbandry and rural culture.

The farmhand, Bill Minkler, says: "The girls are downright serious—but it takes longer than a month to learn farm routine."

"There are milking machines but the cows are being milked by hand—at 5 A. M.!! My instructor, an expert milker, gave me all the details before I tackled my tuberculin-tested Banga-free Betsy.

"The cows near leg should be back just so much—my head should rest against the right side, elbow in so I could sense a kick. The pail should be between the knees.

"No sooner shown than tried. No sooner tried than no milk! If she'd been a contented cow well, maybe. But she was more set on upsetting plans; moving her leg up, swung her tail and moaned.

"Even Felix, the cat, sauntered away to better his interests.

"You haven't the right technique," called out Edith Drury, an outdoor looking Boston girl, granddaughter of Roger Wolcott, an ex-governor of Massachusetts.

"I decided my talents lay elsewhere.

"So I tried to learn how to harness a horse team for a wood-chopping trip. It was dark. I backed into something and its tail swished.

"Oh, excuse me!" I cried.

"The preliminaries of getting food usually don't concern city folk, who don't see their eggs until they are scrambled, chicken until it's fried or milk until the milkman arrives. But, if they could realize all the work done by a farmer to produce just one quart of milk.

"Well, after my experience, I'm delighted to be a consumer at 17c a quart.

"Iraq is the first full-fledged Moslem member of the United Nations.

Gunnery Students At Tyndall Field Are Put Through

AP Features
PANAMA CITY, Feb. 11.—So you think you are pretty good because you can stand in one spot and shoot down street "birds" as they come sailing past you?

Well, you're sometimes while standing in the back of a truck going down a lumpy road. That's the kind of shooting soldiers at the Army Air Force flexible gunnery school at Tyndall Field here have to do.

That is the aerial gunnery student's first taste of shooting moving objects from a moving base. It is a preliminary to learning to fire a 30 caliber machine gun from his own lightning fast plane at an enemy trying to shoot him down or to bomb his business on the ground.

As in the later phases of his course, the aerial gunnery student has the benefit of the best instructions. The shoot shooting is in charge of Lieut. Graddon D. Hubbard of Elwood, Ind., former national skeet shooting champion and twice a member of All-American skeet teams.

The students ride the 2 1/2-mile course in army trucks, shotgun poised and trigger fingers itchy. Suddenly clay targets start flying through the air at all angles and they bang away.

Before he has gone far the student has another chance as more targets fill the air—some horizontally, only three feet or so from the ground, some at a 45-degree angle, some flying straight up.

He aims at from 50 to 100 targets in a day's shooting. If he hits half of them, it is considered

Judge Miller Bears Down On City Cases

Judge F. L. Miller continued to bear down hard on drunken and reckless drivers, when in City Court Monday evening. Joseph Johnson was found guilty of driving while drunk, penalty, $200 and costs or 60 days, and for reckless driving $25 and costs or 60 days. In addition, his driving license was revoked.

Horace Plenary, negro, young gully of driving while drunk and without a drivers license, received a sentence of $200 and costs or 60 days.

Cases of negroes arrested for drunkenness were: James Ferrall, $11 bond arrested; Ethel Stokes, $11 bond arrested; Walter Lockley, $11 bond arrested; George Johnson, $11 bond arrested; Louis Wilson, $11 bond arrested; James Johnson, $10 and costs or 60 days; Lily Mae Smith, $11 bond arrested; Henry Brewer, $11 bond arrested; Horace Mitchell, continued; Ben Bletcher, $11 bond arrested; and Henry Coleman.

Good shooting.

Lieut. Hubbard said boys who have done some hunting have an advantage in this type of shooting, although it happens that a "natural marksman," a youth who never had his hands on a gun before coming here, will make a higher score than an experienced shooter.

$11 bond arrested.

(Other cases were: Steve David Chery, negro, reckless driving $11 bond arrested; Marie Montgomery, negro, disorderly conduct, case continued.)

Allies, Striking Out Near Mateur, Report Advances

British, French Set Dormant Northern Front in Tunisia Into Quick Action

(By Associated Press)

American bombers and torpedoes were credited in delayed dispatches with sinking three Japanese destroyers and crippling at least four others in an attack on enemy ships attempting to traverse Guadalcanal during the first week in February.

(By Associated Press)

In North Africa, British dispatches reported a surge of Allied offensive activity on both ends of the 300 mile Tunisian front, but confirmation was lacking.

Frontline reports to Reuters said British and French troops were striking out in the Mateur sector advanced eight miles and another dispatch reported Marshal Rommel's army had fallen back in good order on the southern sector, declaring the maneuver shorted the whole battle.

Other reports said rainstorms were sweeping the area and observers said bad weather might delay the showdown a month or six weeks.

The report came from a Reuters correspondent in the Mateur sector about 15 miles south of Hirta—who declared that Allied troops including British and French commands attacked the Italian-held line in the northern sector at dawn Thursday.

The attack carried eight miles deep over an area of about 100 square miles, he said, adding:

"By evening the men reached their primary objectives."

"The attacking force was a good deal, but the results will not be known until the second day of fighting in progress has been completed."

There was no word of the attack immediately from any other source.

Meanwhile, far to the south on the vital Tunisian battlefield, the British Eighth Army was reported as fighting 30 miles inland from the Tunisian east coast, hemming in the German and Italian forces. Intense rains kept the sticky black soil of the center and north so soupy that only patrols were active.

Registration For War Ration Book Begins Feb. 22

Schools To Close To Handle Issuance Of Second Rations

Registration to secure War Ration Book 2, embracing the point system, will take place at schools throughout Seminole County from 9:00 A. M. to 4:00 P. M. on Monday, Feb. 22, according to A. H. Peterson, secretary of the Price and Rationing Board.

By agreement with Supt. T. W. Lawton, all school classes will be dismissed on this date and principal and teachers will take care of the registration.

This plan was decided at a meeting between Mr. Peterson and Supt. Lawton, Mrs. A. W. Knox, chairman of Home and Community Service of the Seminole County Defense Council, and Mrs. James Moughton, block chief of Seminole County.

"It is hoped that all registration will be completed by this date," Mr. Peterson stated, "but in case this cannot be accomplished, teachers will be requested to register the extra names at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon during the several days following."

The following instructions were issued by Mr. Peterson, which, he stated, must be observed by those making registration:

1—Only one person should register for each family.

2—Ration books No. 1 (sugar and coffee books) representing EVERY member of the family MUST be brought for checking, otherwise the new books cannot be issued.

3—A written report, either on an official declaration form, or an informal newspaper clipping of the form, must be made of how many cans, jars or bottles of eight ounce variety of berries, cherries, cranberries, grapefruit and grape juice and fruits for salads and cocktails, and all other canned and bottled fruits and juices and combinations.

4—At a later date the OPA is expected to make known a certain allowance of cans of food that may be kept on hand, and the declaration of cans will be that which is in excess of this amount.

The following foods will be rationed, Mr. Peterson said:

1—Canned and bottled fruits and juices including apples, apricots, peaches, pears, pineapples, all varieties of berries, cherries, cranberries, grapefruit and grape juice and fruits for salads and cocktails, and all other canned and bottled fruits and juices and combinations.

2—Frozen cherries, peaches, strawberries and other berries.

3—Dried and dehydrated fruits such as prunes, raisins, etc.

4—Canned and bottled vegetable and fruit products, such as tomatoes, corn, peas, sauerkraut, spinach, tomatoes, tomato catsup, chili sauce and other canned and bottled vegetables, juices and combinations.

5—Frozen vegetables.

6—Processed foods, canned soups and baby foods.

Food not rationed will include candied fruits, chili con carne, fruit cakes, fruit juices in containers over one gallon, fruit puddings, jams and jellies, meat slices (even though some vegetables be contained, some vegetables, olives. Also included as not rationed are pasta products such as spaghetti, macaroni, and noodles, whether or not they are packed with added vegetable sauce. Not rationed also are preserves, pickles, relishes, and sauces, also vegetable juices in containers of over one gallon.

R. A. F. Aircraft Hit Axis Targets In Burma Valley

NEW DELHI, Feb. 9. (AP)—R. A. F. planes have attacked enemy targets along a 200-mile stretch of the Northern Irrawaddy Valley in Burma, damaging storehouses, river steamers and railroads, a communication reported Thursday.

The attacks were carried out roughly between Kyaukse, in Central Burma, and Chank. At the same time Hurricane fighters destroyed railroads, Magyichang and Black River, and a single fire in two villages in the Akyah district.

Last night, the communists said, bombers raided the Japanese air base in Central Burma while enemy planes retaliated with a weak attack on Allied positions in the Rangoon area.

The continuing widespread raids include the Akyah air base, which was bombed yesterday, and a communication said of United States bombers, attacking an Rangoon, Mandalay, Prome, Akyah and other air bases.

People Should Wait To Change Work Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce (disseminated yesterday) that it has advised its members to "wait light" and await official legislation before rushing into a change-over to the 48-hour work week.

The chamber's statement was issued in view of the splendid contribution of the Allied cause that these ships will make and the spirit of co-operation under which they have been built by the United States Maritime Commission for British use.

The Premier said each child would christen a separate vessel, and five were launched simultaneously.

Consent was asked if the children could christen the vessels. The hour is not yet determined.

Willkie Says Debt To Reach 300,000,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 12. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said last night the national debt might reach $300,000,000 before the war's end, and declared there was little likelihood the present administration would be able to solve the problem it presented.

In an address prepared for the annual Lincoln Day banquet of the Women's Republican Club of Indianapolis, Willkie asked how the country was going to meet the burden while expanding "our economy beyond our fundamental social obligations," and declared:

"I have not heard many practical suggestions from the administration, and I do not think we are apt to hear many."

"For the fact is that, until it went into full production, this administration was never able to generate a national income of even a hundred billion dollars."

Quintuplets Will Pay First Visit To U.S.

TORONTO, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets will pay their first visit to the United States May 9 when they christen five ships to be launched at Superior, Wis., Premier Gordon Conant informed the Ontario Legislature Thursday.

Conant said the invitation came from the United States Secretary of State and was accepted "in view of the splendid contribution of the Allied cause that these ships will make and the spirit of co-operation under which they have been built by the United States Maritime Commission for British use."

The Premier said each child would christen a separate vessel, and five were launched simultaneously.

Babies, Adults Will Get Same Amount Of Meat

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—OPA officials announced that babies, children and adults all will get the same meat allowance when rationing starts, probably about March 28.

Officials explained they could not find a workable plan of rationing meat rations according to age, and the only alternative was to deny meat to small children.

That wouldn't do, they said, because the parents would then have to divide their rations with their children, particularly teething babies. Under the present plans, parents will in effect get extra allotments.

Six Members Of Defense Force Get Promotions

Major David Wiley, commander of the Fourth Battalion of the Florida Defense Force conferred promotions on six members of Company C, at the drill held last evening at the Armory.

The following ranks were conferred by Major Wiley: first lieutenant, John W. Myles, Jr.; first sergeant, Porter Lansing; staff sergeant, Byrd J. Goode; sergeant, James Robson, Jr.; corporal, William H. Ferritt; corporal, Vivian A. Speer.

Captain John Galloway presented the promotions to each of the men.

School Teachers End Strike For Salary

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12. (AP)—Fifty public school teachers in suburban Rankin ended their three-day-old sit-down strike Thursday when the school board promised them a salary increase of $200 a year, provided the Pennsylvania legislature approved.

The 1500 pupils of the common day four schools given a "holi-day" from classroom work to cause the instructors refused to teach, were notified that classes would resume this afternoon.

Concluding a three-hour conference with the teachers, Board Secretary Vincent Russo said they would receive a temporary increase of about $100 a year if the legislature passes a bill to that effect. This would be in addition to $100 annually the board had already agreed upon.

He pointed out that according to an estimate made by the U. S. Public Health Service, about 100,000 children in the state are infected with hookworms.

Removal Of Tugwell Opposed By Ickes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes today urged the House Finance Committee to oppose the removal of Tugwell from the position of director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Mr. Ickes said that the removal of Tugwell would be a reflection on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and would be a reflection on the Federal Reserve System as a whole.

He said that the removal of Tugwell would be a reflection on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and would be a reflection on the Federal Reserve System as a whole.

Willkie Says Debt To Reach 300,000,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 12. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said last night the national debt might reach $300,000,000 before the war's end, and declared there was little likelihood the present administration would be able to solve the problem it presented.

In an address prepared for the annual Lincoln Day banquet of the Women's Republican Club of Indianapolis, Willkie asked how the country was going to meet the burden while expanding "our economy beyond our fundamental social obligations," and declared:

"I have not heard many practical suggestions from the administration, and I do not think we are apt to hear many."

"For the fact is that, until it went into full production, this administration was never able to generate a national income of even a hundred billion dollars."

Quintuplets Will Pay First Visit To U.S.

TORONTO, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets will pay their first visit to the United States May 9 when they christen five ships to be launched at Superior, Wis., Premier Gordon Conant informed the Ontario Legislature Thursday.

Conant said the invitation came from the United States Secretary of State and was accepted "in view of the splendid contribution of the Allied cause that these ships will make and the spirit of co-operation under which they have been built by the United States Maritime Commission for British use."

The Premier said each child would christen a separate vessel, and five were launched simultaneously.

Consent was asked if the children could christen the vessels. The hour is not yet determined.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

The spirit of the Lord is upon me, for he has anointed me to preach good tidings to the poor.

Lesson (From Voices)

Blanche S. Wagstaff. A right direction over steep, unpropitious ground, a vast loneliness like to sleep beyond all light or sound.

In the Navy it is all right to have a WAVE, but in the Army we suppose it is still unhelpful to yoo-hoo at a WAAAC.

Representative Green has announced that a new $10,000,000 hospital will be built in Sanford, Florida.

Point rationing will be simple for those who understand it. Only the point values will confront consumers when they do their shopping after Mar. 1 when the rationing system begins.

John Barber: "Haven't I stayed in you before, somewhere, somehow?"

"Nope, I got that scar on Pearl Harbor."—Our Army.

A few months ago everyone who heard that the Allies couldn't break the secret front before the Russians caved in. Now everyone says it can't be launched before the Germans are destroyed.

Representative Clare Luce, wife of the magazine publisher, thinks President Wallace's "global war" is globalism. But in these days of horse meat, globalism may not be so bad at that.

The railroads of the country are doing quite well, thank you, especially speaking, after years in the house. Class I roads report an increase of 48 percent in operating income for 1942 over 1941.

Mr. Merrill endorses the idea of sending the parents of delinquent children to Hitler camps. If this had been generally adopted a few years ago, we'd have less delinquency among youth and less complaint from parents that their sons manage their affairs.

Mr. Merrill of the perfect punishment for Hitler and Mussolini would be not to hang them, not to shoot by himself on an island, but to hang them on a hill in the manner of the gallows used in the days of the American West.

When you may have seen a man who has been in the army for years, you will see a man who is a different person. He is a man who has been through a lot of things.

Not long ago we read that the Nazis were trying to consolidate with them all of the people in America who had German blood in their veins.

Well, for our part, here is our answer. It is brought about by the remembrance of many happy times spent with our own German grandparents, and if any man cares to shoot us, we'll shoot him back.

In the new place, when Americans are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the second place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the third place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the fourth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the fifth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the sixth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the seventh place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the eighth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the ninth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the tenth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the eleventh place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the twelfth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the thirteenth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the fourteenth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

At the fifteenth place, when we are to be conscripted, we'll be conscripted as Americans, not as Germans.

Juvenile Delinquency

J. Edgar Hoover, Chief G-Man, has asked all policemen to assist in controlling a crime wave among boys and girls which threatens the future of America's homes.

That Sanford has not escaped this nation-wide trend, despite previous efforts toward providing our young people with wholesome recreational activities, was indicated only week before last when four boys between 13 and 15 years of age were arrested for participating in a number of robberies among local business establishments.

The primary responsibility for this sad state of affairs rests undeniably upon the home. No amount of welfare work, community boys' programs or governmental paternalism, no matter how well directed, can take the place of parental devotion when intelligently employed in developing the character of children and inculcating in them the proper principles of decency, morality and patriotism.

But parents whose children are running the streets, whose bed time hours are not rigidly controlled, whose conduct has been reviewed by juvenile courts, or should have been, have already demonstrated their inability to cope with the problem of childhood training.

The churches and the schools both do a great work along this line. People are prone all too frequently to blame these organizations every time a boy goes wrong, but you cannot rightly expect a school teacher in charge of a score or more of pupils to accomplish in a few hours what the parents have failed to do in years, nor can you expect a Sunday school to instill much Christianity in a boy during one hour a week when the boy is exposed to precious little of it all the rest of his time.

If this problem is to be solved in favor of better manhood and womanhood tomorrow, the child's day must be fully occupied during all his waking hours with wholesome worthwhile activities. Someone has said, and nothing could be truer, that "An idle brain is the devil's workshop."

And in hanning sweatshop labor for a comparatively few children, many wholesome occupations which formerly kept children on the straight and narrow path were frowned upon. Time was when it was considered an honorable inspiring sight for a boy of ten or twelve to sell newspapers on the street, save his money, invest it and pay for his own college education.

Well, now that that has largely gone, something else must be found for boys and girls to do if they are to be saved. If their minds are not occupied with the right things, they are sure to think of something bad. The Boy Scouts are doing a wonderful job. So are these Boys Clubs which Salvation Army leaders are organizing all over the country.

Let no one mistake the seriousness of this problem. Let no one think we are saving money by postponing it until the future. This is something that has to be done, and done now.

All Out for War

Two smartly dressed women and a soldier were in an elevator in Chicago. "My dear," said the one woman to the other, "travel conditions are terrific. You make reservations on a train and at the last minute they're canceled because the train is being used for troops."

"Yes," complained the other, "and planes! The army uses all the space."

"Ladies," the elevator operator stared at the two ladies, "you'll have to get off here. We're taking of a load of soldiers on the next floor."

When the door had closed he turned to the soldier. "Let 'em know we're in a war, too," he commented briefly. — Chicago Sun.

vegetables. We learned to watch birds breathlessly so that we would not frighten them away. We learned the companionship of flowers and we learned the loneliness of a vineyard as the grapes are ripening—each day growing deeper in color.

He introduced us to the mysteries of great cellars under their big house and there we watched him make the wine which was stored later for 30 years ahead.

In the front cellar, the flour was bricked. Here was his wine press and here he had his huge racks in which his wine was kept until ready to be bottled and stored in the back "cellar" cellar.

And then would come Easter and an Easter-egg hunt. There were six grandchildren, but all ways about six dozen eggs. That was so that everyone of us could have the thrill of finding some eggs hidden in the shrubbery. Well, we didn't only find them, but most of us went home pretty sick.

One uncle used to draw us Brownies (that was before McCutcheon's Brownies made such a hit in the Chicago Tribune), and another would show us treasures he had found in his travels, through the South Sea, Bermuda, Trinidad and other remote places and we would have the pleasure of listening to a guitar and a mandolin expertly played. (Our grand mother's father played the piano creditably at the age of one hundred and one!)

The Nazis have ruined that old comfortable Germany. They have now ruined our country, too. We are in a war, too, he commented briefly. — Chicago Sun.

Dot Richardson's Job Is To Solve Child Delinquency

By ADELAIDE KERR AP Features Writer

Dorothy Richardson is finding solutions for the nation's two waves of delinquency—the juvenile and the adult. She is a young woman, a graduate of the University of California, who has spent the last year in the United States Army, where she worked in the child delinquency division of the War Relocation Authority. She is now in the United States Army, where she works in the child delinquency division of the War Relocation Authority.

The war has given her a unique opportunity to study the child delinquency problem in the United States. She has seen the effects of the war on the children of the United States, and she has seen the effects of the war on the children of the United States.

Whirlaway To Run Down Home Path Again Next Year

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 12. (AP) Mighty Whirlaway will be thundering down the homestretch again next year—provided a cloud of uncertainty still hangs over horse racing, and tracks still are running.

Owen Warren Wright cleared the status of the turf's greatest money winner yesterday with the assertion:

"Whirlaway wouldn't have a chance of stud right now. With the situation so indefinite, there would be no demand for his services."

"So he might as well be racing," the statement represented a change of heart, because Trainer Ben Jones reported a month ago that Wright had decided to retire the long-tailed horse at the end of the year.

Jones himself hopeful of seeing Whirlaway become the first three-time winner in history to win a $1 million dollar, but advocated racing the horse as long as he is sound and earning well.

Whirlaway's earnings now total $1,000,000.

Last year the champion money maker was caught in California when a winter storm closed all sport months of enforced silence was determined to keep the horse in the running as much as possible. Wright decided to ship him to New Orleans this winter when the ban on pleasure driving forced the shut down of both Florida tracks.

"It's too bad," said Wright, "that nothing could be worked out to keep the track open in Florida. Of course the winning of the war comes first, but it seems to me that the revenue derived from racing made a great deal of difference to the state."

Axis In Prisons Are Luckier Than On Battle Fronts

By JOSEPH MORTON
AP Feature Writer
CAIRO, Feb. 12. "The cleanest, best-organized and most comfortable of prisoners of war camps are those occupied by German and Italian prisoners in the Mid East."

This is the observation of Fredrick F. Driffmiller of Shenandoah, International Y.M.C.A. secretary for prisoners of war and the only American working with "starved" enemy soldiers in the Mid Eastern area.

"They are so good that the prisoners are disabused when they first come in," the tall, youthful social service worker reported just before he left for the United States on sick leave.

"Imagine, first, a collection of tents spread over an area as big as a city. Look for hatched wire fences surrounding them. The picture everything else as you would find it in any model army camp in America."

Look for hospitals, library, community kitchen, bakeries, laundries, canteens, schools, chapels, barber shops, shoe repair shops, watchmakers and so forth, down the list. There'll be land scaping, too, and sculpturing, and flower and vegetable gardens flourishing in dirt carried by hand.

"But above all, look for a big post office big enough to handle thousands of parcels a week."

All of these things can be found in the British prison camps, Driffmiller said, notwithstanding that they serve principally as transit centers where men are imprisoned only for a few months pending movement to South Africa, Canada, Australia and elsewhere.

He said the post offices were "particularly important." "Soldiers only German officers and employed prisoners receive money because of a reciprocal agreement they must get all of their 'extras'—tobacco, chocolate and so forth—in parcels from home."

He said the German officers and employed prisoners receive money because of a reciprocal agreement they must get all of their "extras" through neutral countries. The Italians have an arrangement under which their men are paid and can buy everything they need in the camp canteen.

"Of course those who work get extra money and the prisoners will fight for the privilege of working. The jobs cover every thing from street cleaning to running a newspaper, and they even have been allowed to build their own camp."

This happened when the British were capturing more men than they had camps for. So they simply turned the wire and locks over to the prisoners and told them to build a prison for themselves.

"For the most part, these men are given jobs comparable to those they held before the war. In one camp, an Italian Davis Cup tennis player is going to teach tennis. In another, a champion weight lifter is running a gymnasium center."

Plastic Surgery Affords Milliner Brand New Thumb

By H. W. HAKESLIME
AP Science Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. The American Journal of Surgery tells of a woman milliner who has a new thumb, including bone, all built by plastic surgery.

She had lost about half her left thumb due to an infection. She was unable to thread a needle. The joint remained and a stump of bone extending a little beyond it. Reconstruction of this thumb into a full-size thumb is described by Maxwell Maltz, M.D. of New York City, who was the bone part of the work.

The rebuilding was in several stages. First a roll of flesh was transferred from her abdomen, from a handle fashion, to form a new thumb end. In a few weeks the flesh knitted to the stump and took the contours of a thumb. The end, however, was left open.

Next a piece of bone 2 1/2 inches long was taken from her leg. One end of this bone was sharpened like a lead pencil point, so that it could be inserted in the bone stump. There it united with the old bone and in a few weeks became a living part of the thumb. The end of the thumb was closed and shaped.

In this stage the milliner had a perfectly useful thumb for threading needles again, but no thumb nail. An artificial thumb nail was added. The nail is realistic in shape and takes rouge like

On The Spot

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. Once in a long time you can spot a kid fighter, going a few rounds in one of the preliminaries, and take him as a certain champion-to-be.

He'll have a class. He'll be fast and a clever boxer and a hard hitter and he'll look good any way you consider him. You'll go away from the arena satisfied you've seen a boy who one night will win a world championship.

Allie Stolz was a kid like that. Four years ago the sports writers were predicting that a crown would be Allie's.

He came along all right until Pezzy Szabo knocked him late in 1939. All the next year he had only two fights, winning both. But again in 1941, he came along fast. In May, 1942, he got his chance at the lightweight title. That night, Champion Sammy Angott was just a trifle too good for him. A little later, Allie whipped Chalky Wright, featherweight titleholder, in a non-title bout.

His second chance at the lightweight title came late last year. Sammy Angott retired and Allie was matched with Beau Jack with the winner likely to move on to the championship. But Beau Jack stopped him with a badly gashed eye in seven rounds. The other night Allie took on Willie Pep, Chalky Wright's successor as featherweight ruler, and was roundly beaten.

Four years ago he was a champion in the making. And less than a year ago when Allie made his first challenge, against Angott, few fight fans had ever heard of Beau Jack, the little negro from Augusta, or the skinny kid from Hartford known as Willie Pep. But these two newcomers, in rapid succession, have shut the door in Allie's face and won world championships.

This Pep is quite a boy. He's a thin, frail looking youngster, with unassuming power in his slender arms and small fists. He's fast as a rumor, fast on his feet, and fast with a punch.

Willie's a good strategist, too, a chap who can change his own style as the occasion demands. He was a slippery hit-and-run boxer in winning the featherweight honors from wise old Chalky Wright, and then an entirely different fighter, a chap who barged in and banged away, against Stolz.

He's won 50 straight fights, the longest consecutive streak on record, and from the general outlook he can stretch that string if he stays in his own class. Willie is considering a bout with heavier Beau Jack and may be giving away too many pounds.

Industry Aiding Ranks Of Marines Hearing Does Get Thrown Open To Public Attention Women Members

By RAY PEACOCK
AP Features Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. The hearing industry was looking around for a bright idea to get public attention when it came to a museum of sound, like those popular science exhibits at the World's Fair?

"That," said somebody else, "is a bright idea. Let's do it."

So on upper Fifth Avenue there is a museum of sound with a fancy name all its own, the Soundorama.

In the window there is a gadget which registers the sound of Fifth Avenue traffic. It begins registering at 50 decibels and hits the roof at 100 decibels whenever there is a parade, or when loud sirens are tested.

A decibel is an arbitrary unit of sound measurement. The scale begins at 1, or with a sound just audible, and runs up to 160, which is about as much as the ear can stand without injury. Decibels are tricky. A level of 100 decibels is not twice as loud as 50, but about 40 times as loud. So the top level of 160 is not 160 times, but, comparatively, the difference in weight between a pin and three battleships each weighing 35,000 tons.

Now that you know all about decibels, you can go inside the museum of sound, where a pretty girl will hand you a "magic" ear trumpet. You stand in a magnified field and through the trumpet (simply an induction coil with a diaphragm) you hear words inaudible to the unaided ear.

Then you see a "map" of the sound world. By pointing a ray-gun at any object on the map—a bird, a cow, a violin, saxophone, rooster, flute, frog, French horn, owl, bullfrog—you hear the pitch, not the natural sounds, but pure tones.

The normal ear can detect sounds ranging from about 16 cycles to 20,000 cycles per second. Below 16 the sound is received as feeling, and above 20,000 it goes into the realm of auriculars. Dogs, for instance, can hear sounds humans cannot detect, and some insects emit noises inaudible to humans. Loudness is measured in decibels, and pitch in cycles.

There is also a plastic head, and a diagrammatic ear showing the path of sound, and a play-back of your own voice, heard normally and as a partly deaf person would hear it.

As indicated, however, the museum wasn't established for fun, although there is no admission fee. The hearing-aid industry, says Theodore Swanson, editor of Better Living, a trade publication, was 25 years ago.

People had to be convinced that eyeglasses were not unightly Swanson says, and the same missionary work is now going on in the hearing field. The several leaders are operating heavily in that end, selling the idea before their product, and philosophically small that the non-advertisers get each benefit, but don't seem to care a great deal. The idea is to stress the importance of hearing.

More than half of American hearing-aid sales, he says, go to the hearing-aid industry.

ATLANTA, Feb. 12. (Special) The ranks of the Marine Corps have finally been thrown open to women as the Corps announced the establishment of a Women's Reserve, authorized by Congress in an Act of 1942. Members of the Reserve will be called Marines.

Nationwide enrollment of women between the ages of 20 and 50 as officer candidates and 20 and 36 as enlisted personnel will begin immediately under the all-gender program in the Marine Corps. The Women Reserve are to be trained in schools already established for Navy WAVES at major women's colleges throughout the country. Later, they will be assigned to Marine Corps training centers, posts, and stations, replacing men fitted for active service with fighting units. By Women Reserve will serve only within the continental United States.

The Women's Reserve will include both commissioned officers and enlisted personnel. Ranks and pay will be the same as those for men of the Corps. It will be possible for women to work their way up through the enlisted ranks and into the commissioned grades, Major Streeter said.

Applicants for officer commissions must be between 20 and 50 and have a college degree or two years of college and at least two years of business experience, or special qualifications in a particular field.

Enlisted personnel must be between 20 and 36, have at least two years of high school or business school education, or special qualifications in a particular field. Both married and unmarried women are eligible for service. But no married woman with children under 18 years of age will be accepted, and no woman married to a member of the Marine Corps can serve.

The duties of the trained women reserves will be varied and many. They will include administrative, clerical, stenographic, photographic, laboratory, sergentic, aircraft mechanic, and parachute rigging assignments.

Major Streeter stressed that applicants need not have specialized training in order to volunteer. "The Corps," he said, "is a woman of high caliber who can be trained for their duties after they are enlisted."

Women wanting to enlist are directed to apply to the nearest Office of Naval and Marine Procurement, or Marine Recruiting station, stating their age, education, and occupational and marital status.

Home-Mixed Ration For Chickens Found

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 12. (Special) High costs of raising feed led experimenters at the University of Florida during the past year to seek—and find—a home-mixed ration for farm broods.

The first chicken feed the University researchers tried was just almost chick ration consisting of 10 percent wheat and 10 percent corn. It yielded almost as much as the best ration.

But in a series of this ration only 5 percent of the feed was wheat and 10 percent was corn. The result was a 10 percent increase in the amount of feed consumed by the chickens.

Four New Civilian Jobs Listed By Civil Service

Four new civilian war service jobs were announced today by the United States Civil Service Commission. L. V. McLaughlin, local secretary reported. All contribute directly or indirectly to the war effort.

Applicants are sought as (1) Corp Production Specialists, (2) Junior Soil Conservationists, (3) Historical Specialists, (4) Printer's Assistants (women).

Corp Production Specialists. To increase the nation's supply of natural rubber and vegetable oil, specialists in tropical plants are sought for service principally in Central and South America where they will administer research stations and plantations in remote and primitive areas. Salaries are from $2,000 to $8,000 plus additional compensation for overtime and for foreign service.

Junior Soil Conservationists. For protection of plant and soil resources in the United States, applicants with appropriate college study are sought to do work in forestry, range and soil conservation, and soil surveying. Salaries are $2,000 a year (plus additional compensation for overtime).

Historical Specialists. To select and preserve records significant not merely for future reference but also for the immediate conduct of the war, specialists are sought who have had suitable college training and have done appropriate work in history or in one or more of the social sciences. Salaries are from $2,000 to $5,500 a year (plus additional compensation for overtime).

Appointees for the foregoing positions will be selected on the basis of previous training and experience. Mr. McLaughlin emphasized. No written tests are required and no maximum age limit is specified. Applications will be accepted in the Commission's Washington office until further notice.

Printer's Assistants (women). A written test will give applicants an opportunity to give an oral examination at Orlando, Mr. McLaughlin announced, to fill positions in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing of the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. No previous experience is required for jobs that pay on an average $1,700 a year and offer opportunities for advancement.

Women in sound physical health are sought. Applications must be filed with the Commission's Washington office by March 23, 1945. HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12 (WW)—They talk about the "B" producer who picked up his newspaper and failed, the heartless "C" who clamped on Corn. It's Sir Alexander Korda's yarn, I believe about the farmer the doctor and the politician who were arguing as to whose profession was oldest. The doctor said, "I was formed from a rib taken from Adam's side, the heartless 'C' said, 'I was formed from the Garden of Eden when there was only chaos before.' The politician said, 'My friends, but who created the chaos?'"

Bette Davis and Ida Lupino will meet in "The Corn Is Green." Jack Brice once played a bit in "Tom, Dick and Harry" with Olinger Rogers, and has worked on stages adjacent here but didn't really meet her until almost their wedding day. That's not unusual in Hollywood.

Michael Whalen, back from a few turns in eastern stock, is co-starring with Simone Simon in "Tahiti Honey." They once worked for three years on the same set. The 9th Century box, and they met for the first time when Mike stepped on a sound stage dance floor, took her in his arms, and started stepping on the set of "Tahiti Honey" across the village at Republic.

Incidental note: The sweetness-and-light department; Simone is reformed character—has given up tantrums, sulking, and pouting and is acting like an adult.

Jane Wyatt, who has reared for a family goat ever since the end of the extra richness in milk, has promoted one via Tom Sawyer fence-sitting technique. She talked up the virtues of goat's milk so convincingly that her next-door neighbor bought the project and agreed to raise a community goat. Jane said she had one of her own and could be sure of enough milk to give it proper care. Ah, the joys of goat's milk.

Travel Lecturer Cannot Understand Changes In Japan

By RAY FRACOCK
As a former U.S. Ambassador in Japan, Holmes acquired an early love of travel and photography.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Between white-bearded Burton Holmes and myself there was a small, round-topped table. It was, he said, "the only unpolluted bit of Paris left in the world." The table was in front of the Cafe de la Paix in 1931—stole a custard, with the proprietor closing one eye and grinning, and recording the deed. The bald-topped bit of thievery was related in newspaper all over the world. Holmes had been sitting at the table for years, and just wanted it. Much note of it was made in Japan.

The Japanese didn't quite understand. Burton Holmes doesn't quite understand the Japanese any more, either. They country was the first he visited when he began his singular profession of travel lecturing, 40 years ago. This is his golden anniversary year.

"I went to Japan ten times," he told me. "At first it was a fairyland. I saw a change coming in 1932. The last time I was there, two little boys came up and spoke to me in English. They asked if I didn't think they had the best army and the best navy in the world. They said they would proudly die for their Emperor."

"I said every country thought it had the best army and navy. But those are the little mischievous boys of ten years ago who are the Japanese army today. They got that doctrine rubbed into them, and I think they would rather be rubbed out than see it fall. Japan used to be clean and decent. I can't realize the change. Burton Holmes could be excused for becoming nostalgic over the changes in the world as he has seen them take place. But he wasn't in the least, for his business is better than at any time in the last half-dozen years.

Two of his most popular illustrated lectures now deal with North Africa and Russia. Pictures he took in Morocco 40 years ago now go very well for contrast.

myths. One such myth was that there was something supernatural about the body. This is the astonishing story that is supposed to whisk through the prairie moonlight on the same night each April, suddenly stopping everybody's clocks and watches, and many more. But the principal myth is that Lincoln's tomb is empty and it bores up throughout the year to bewilder Herbert Wells Fay, the custodian of the Springfield Memorial.

"There's never a day goes by," says Fay, "without some story and most days, a lot of people—asking if it isn't true that Mr. Lincoln's body is missing. From every state in the Union, people come suspecting that Mr. Lincoln's corpse is gone—lost or stolen. Nearly everybody asks where he is buried.

It was these "interrimable burials" that gave rise to many with his recent ones. Born in Chicago, Jan. 8, 1870, of fairly well-to-do parents, Holmes acquired an early love of travel and photography. In 1893 he gave his first professional lecture, on Japan. He had been there the year before. It was in 1892, also, that he first acquired his beard. "I got disgusted with a Japanese barber and refused to go through that torture again," he said.

As the years went on his fame grew, and an ill technical skill. He first used a motion picture camera in 1897. Now he uses colored motion picture film, black-and-white film, and slides.

A gentleman of the old school, with wing collar and sedate bow tie, Holmes gives his way quietly, but in a most up-to-the-minute manner. His blue eyes are clear, and while his white hair is thinning, his Van Dyke is as carefully trimmed as ever.

All his professional life he has avoided the spectacular in search of honey through people like him. He has been in many dangerous spots, particularly the European fronts during World War I when he was a "correspondent" for himself. He always felt that the shooting was abstract.

Patches of vegetation are believed to have been seen on the planet Mars.

LIBERTY LIMERICKS

"War Bonds," said an angler named Wade.

"Are the spartanest catch I have made."

"They'll save our freedom And then, when we need 'em, They're good for more cash than we paid!"

Help with these Japanese "Reformers." Put a full teaspoon of your income into War Bonds or Stamps, every day. It's VITAL.
