First-Aid Treatments For Poisoning Cases

By EDWARD H. COWAN, M.D.

DURING the year, I have written many articles on first-aid treatment for poisoning. Just recently, I discussed what should be done in case a child swallows an overdose of aspirin.

Speed is essential in all cases of first-aid measures to prevent absorption of the poison. Whether you should administer an antidote first and then call the physician, or call the doctor before you begin any type of treatment, depends upon the nature of the poison.

A safe guide to call the physician at once if any of the following have been swallowed: Acid and acid-like corrosives such as sodium acid sulfate, (tablets), borax, cleaners, acetic acid (glacial), sulfuric acid, nitric acid, oxalic acid, hydrofluoric acid (rust removers).

WIVES HER DAUGHTER AGAIN AT 92—Mrs. Katherine de Vorensky, 92, finds a dream come true in Los Angeles as she ends a 48-year separation from her daughter, Mrs. Aubrey Nash (left). Also present is her granddaughter, Sandra, 20, whom she had never seen. Mrs. de Vorensky comes from Russia.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERP

A DIPLOMATIC MOTHER tells how she restored peace between her two embattled daughters, aged 17 and 14. The 14-year-old had had a big day in the open air and was ordered to bed at the early hour of 9 to recuperate.

Geneva News

By Addie Prevatt Mrs. Edson Golt arrived home Saturday from Villavesta, Fla., where she has been with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Lindsay, who has been in the hospital. Friends are glad to hear she is improving and has been removed from the hospital to the home of her son Howard Lindsay and family.

Privazone Being Studied

By EDWARD COWAN

United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—A way to unjam that morning bathroom traffic jam and make sleeping and dressing quarters more comfortable is being studied by home builders all over the country.

The proposed remedy is to eliminate the conventional bathroom in favor of a single room from each member of the family that would combine facilities for washing, dressing and grooming. Designed by the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Assn., the new concept in home layout is called "Privazone."

Privazone meets this demand, he said, with individual dressing-grooming units that include a toilet and wash basin and connect to a shared shower-bath.

Among the tools which Florida forestry interests have to keep wildfire out of valuable timber is a set of forest protection laws with teeth in them.

Many Hospital Beds Unsafe

By DWIGGS SMITH

United Press Science Editor NEW YORK (UP)—An analytical study of hospital patient accidents revealed that the most frequently occurring type was that of the patient falling out of bed.

"Many currently used hospital beds are obviously unsafe," said the scientific investigators. "Most beds are too high for a patient to get in and out of bed without risk of a fall and subsequent injury."

In a typical year at Mount Sinai there were 614 patient accidents. In that year there were 28,111 patients, so the annual incidence was 2.7 accidents per 1,000 patients. The rate of other hospitals certainly would be no less, and on this basis the scientists estimated that 800,000 to 850,000 accidents befall hospital patients in any given year.

Follow The Instructions

LONDON (UP)—A public inquiry was held Tuesday into the reason why the roofs blew off 20 houses in a suburban development during a recent gale.

1957 Best Year Forest Fire Wise

Just after the turn of the year, the Florida Forest Service announced that 1957 was the best year ever, forest fire wise. Their figures showed that a mere four-tenths of one percent of the protected acreage in Florida burned over during the twelve months period.

What weather admittedly played a part in the 1957 record, but the Forest Service points out that the trend in forest fire occurrence in Florida has been downward, no matter what the weather. In 1955, they say, the fire occurrence was lowest it had been up to that time, too, and it was pretty dry then.

Youth - BY THE DRAWERFUL

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

About three percent of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits. Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage...

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor of each for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Scouts To Conduct Traffic Survey

LAKE MARY—Boy Scout Troop 242, sponsored by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, will conduct a traffic survey of the Lake Mary Community. This survey, it was announced, will include traffic violations, children playing in the street, bicycles on the highway, pedestrians and blind corners.
A complete report of the survey will be made by the Scouts at the next meeting of the chamber of Commerce group on the first Wednesday in April.
The Explorer Scouts of the troop will have their hands full getting instructions from Scoutmaster Don Coleman and Assistant Scoutmaster R. C. Martin on an overnight camping trip that same weekend at Camp Wilderness. The Explorers, on this outing, will be preparing themselves for the big weekend trip with the entire troop the following week. There will be many Scouts attending their first camping trip as a member of the troop.
Right now, after school hours, and during weekends, Explorer members of Troop 242 will be seen on Lake Mary in canoes getting ready for the canoe derby to be held April 26-27. This will be a 25-mile race starting at the yacht basin in Leesburg and ending at Mount Dora.
Scouts will also be found in one of the many fine parks around Lake Mary preparing for the next advancement or the Camp-O-See held at Camp La-No-Shee April 11-12.
If this is not enough to keep the boys busy, the first Court of Honor in DeLand, will be April 21 which a number of the boys are preparing for—plus the summer camp to follow the close of school—not counting at least two overnight camping trips.

Over 50 Clubs Will Be Represented In Golf Tourney

The State Board of the Florida Women's Golf Association met Wednesday night at the Mayfair Hotel with Frank Mobane to discuss completing arrangements for the tournament being held here in Sanford April 8 through the 13.
The amount of details being handled by the board is reported tremendous. The various committees have required many months of preparation to reach the final plans and assure the success of the tournament.
It is indicated by the requests for the required handicap cards that this is to be the largest field ever to play in the State Tournament.
As of last night's counting 240 women have asked for and received handicap cards. One hundred and eighteen women have returned them and entered. Over 50 clubs from around the state of Florida are to be represented with the March 23 deadline for entering still some days off.

Many Noticeable Gaps Appear in U. S. Mental Care Picture

More hospital beds in this country are occupied by mental patients than by those in any other category. Mental illness has become a major problem in the United States. The problem is complicated by a shortage of skilled personnel, especially psychiatrists.

Another aggravating factor, perhaps related to this shortage, is the high cost of psychiatric treatment. Many persons who need such treatment cannot afford it, and state mental institutions by no means fill the gap. The fact seems to be that thousands of Americans suffering from mental illness in various degrees are receiving either no treatment at all, or inadequate treatment.

The medical profession in this country has long prided itself on the claim that no one need go without because of inability to pay. Though it is still true that many citizens do not receive fully adequate medical care because they feel they cannot afford it and are unwilling to accept charity, the medical profession does have a most honorable record in this respect. The claim cannot be made, however, that anyone who needs expert psychiatric care can get it.

Our present system of psychotherapy is simply not adequate for such a formidable task. Nothing said here has been intended to suggest that the solution lies in establishing a government-sponsored system of psychotherapy. More national attention to the breadth and seriousness of this problem might not be at all amiss, however.

Mental illness is a drain upon the nation's most fundamental resource, its healthy, productive, active people. Making the benefits of modern psychiatry available to all who need them would be greatly in the public interest.

Intriguing Adjustment Problem

Landfall has been a familiar word during many centuries of seafaring. To those who go down to the sea in ships, it is one of the most potent of all words. It signifies the end of the voyage, and someone from the harbor of the sea.

Now there is another word, "planetfall." To most of us, it is as new as the earth satellites, and as strange to our ways of thinking. Yet "planetfall" may gain an important place in our vocabulary. The word has been defined by James B. Edson, the Army's assistant director of research and development, as "the act of coming down out of space to land on the surface of a planet."

Edson and many of his colleagues believe that space travel, which was in the realm of science fiction only a few years ago, is now both feasible and imminent. He believes that within the next four or five years an unmanned vehicle will have been sent to the moon, and within a decade there will be permanent, manned earth satellites, with crews regularly rotated. He thinks that between 1968 and 1978 man will have landed on Mars and established a permanent moon base.

The intriguing thing about all this is that we have here, not a science fiction writer limited only by the extent of his imagination, but a serious research man near the peak of his profession.

There are challenge and excitement and high adventure in the prospect of journeys through the yawning depths of space. The idea is no longer a plaything; it is fast shaping up into reality. Human beings now living are going to have to adjust to what yesterday only imagined.

Local School Officials Praised

"There are many who say 'let an outsider tell me and I'll believe it.' Well, that's happened here in Sanford. We know now that our school officials and teachers are 'the very best school officials in the state.' And that came from a man who should know for he has taught in the state of Florida since 1918 and expects to teach nine more years before he retires.

Dr. D. Ballard Simmons came to Sanford last Wednesday to speak to the Sanford Kiwanis Club and he used those very words that we've just quoted.

Dr. Ballard is Professor of Education and head of the Department of Off-Campus Instruction at the University of Florida. He is also the State Co-ordinator of the Teacher Recruitment Program. He has been a school teacher, a principal. Then, too, he served as Assistant Professor and Assistant Dean of the College of Education. Not only that, he is a past president of the Gainesville Rotary Club with 24 years of perfect attendance at meetings.

There was an intriguing note in Dr. Ballard's address to the Sanford Kiwanis Club. He let everyone know that his subject was nothing new when he spoke of teachers and students. He started teaching when salaries were $50 a month, payable at the end of the school year.

Dr. Ballard admits that "Florida is a new state educationally and in every other way—we're growing by leaps and bounds."

His concern, though, is in teachers. Attracting young men and women into the profession where "there are great opportunities."

To get back to our original subject, however, Dr. Ballard insisted that "your schools are the good schools of the state."

Coming from an outsider, that's something we should really be proud of—our schools.

WHAT ABOUT THE BIBLE?

Religious News

BY LOUIS CASSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

The miracles recorded in the Bible may have served in past generations to strengthen faith. But many clergymen feel that the situation is reversed today. Modern man has been conditioned by a scientific age to look for natural cause-and-effect explanations of all phenomena. He tends to look with skepticism on any religion that takes miracles seriously. Thus for millions, in and outside of the churches, the "mighty works of God" related in the Old and New Testaments have become stumbling blocks to faith.

This problem, which cuts across all denominational lines, has recently engaged the attention of a number of Protestant and Catholic scholars. Of several books touching on the subject, two of the best are "The Book of Miracles," by Zolt Aradi, Farrar, Straus and Cudahy and "Barriers to Belief" by Norman F. Langford, Westminster Press. Aradi is a Catholic; Langford a Presbyterian.

Clear Distinction

Both writers draw a clear distinction between believing in miracles and believing that any particular miracle did take place. The Nationalist argument that miracles are "impossible" is based on the belief that the physical laws of the universe are inherently unchangeable. But Aradi points out that this belief cannot be "proved" scientifically. It is just as much an act of faith as the belief that the author of the universe can intervene in nature to produce effects which seem to be outside of its normal processes.

To deny the possibility of such intervention, Aradi says, is to deny God's omnipotence or "by implication, his very existence."

Atheist's Position

That, of course, is precisely the position that atheists take. But neither Aradi nor Langford are speaking primarily to the comparatively small percentage of people who are atheists. Their books are addressed rather to the large number of people who do believe in God but who say they "cannot believe in miracles."

This number, Langford notes, includes many professing Christians who accept Jesus Christ as a unique revelation of God's redemptive love but who would like to separate this faith from the "miracle stories" of the new testament.

Miracles and Magic

"One common source of confusion is the habit of regarding miracles as identical with magic, and thus out of place in a modern man's view of what is possible in our universe."

"The truth of the matter is that miracles and magic have nothing in common. Magic, if there were any such thing, would claim to be a kind of occult or mystic science that students of the subject could learn to practice by their own resources. A miracle, on the other hand, is not controlled, or in any wise done, by any man; it is an unexpected act of God."

Go-Slow Attitude On Tax Reduction

By HERMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—It will be later April or early May at the earliest before the Eisenhower administration decides on a tax cut, according to the President's top economic advisers.

These sources said the administration is waiting to see the business outlook in April before coming to any conclusions on taxes. They said there are also political fears of life to be faced.

Congress is tentatively scheduled to take an Easter recess about April 6. If the lawmakers are still at home fully agitated about the recession, they will come back demanding immediate action, if there is less excitement in the budgeting than in Washington, they may return in calmer mood.

These two factors are responsible for the go-slow attitude on tax reduction, if the President eventually decides on a cut, he is expected to take a major personal role both in drawing up plans and presenting them to Congress and the public.

Many Plans Considered

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson told GOP congressional leaders Tuesday the Treasury is working on many plans for tax reduction. A decision will be reached until the government decides it is time to act.

One plan under study would forgive all withholding taxes on personal income for the last quarter of 1958. This is estimated to cost the government between 8 and 9 billion dollars. The plan would keep the corporate tax rate at its present 48 per cent. It would terminate next Jan. 1.

Some high administration officials feel this would be the "cleanest" way to effect a personal income tax cut, releasing a torrent of consumer money that would not have to be paid back to the government later. However they also see weaknesses in such a three-month moratorium as a means of inducing spending. For example, taxpayers might use most of the money to pay debts or put in savings.

Auto Sales Lag

The Treasury also is looking over several suggested plans for cutting excise sales taxes, particularly on autos. Officials said however, auto makers may be hurting themselves by agitating publicly for a tax cut and promising to cut car prices. The officials said a lot of consumers may have decided it's foolish to buy cars now when they might save $20 or more by waiting a couple of months.

Plans for cutting business taxes also are under consideration. But some highly-placed economists are not so sure lowering the 48 per cent corporation rate would be wise. They say business has plenty of money and confidence is more important than tax cuts.

The White House is not now as optimistic about the timing of the expected recovery as the President indicated early last month. Thinking now generally is that it will take until the end of the April-June quarter to halt the downward drift; that then there will be a few months of a low-level "plateau" with occasional "sparks" of increased business activity; more "sparks" during the third quarter; and the economy really picking up speed slow-year.

Signs of Light

Despite that gloomy outlook the administration already sees a few signs of light. At least two major corporations that halted major building projects shortly before January now have decided to go ahead. Within the past two weeks they decided that with money from, prices down and labor plentiful they could build at will be low their original cost estimates—11 per cent less in one instance.

"If this sort of thing gets around," one high official said, "it might be catching and really do more good than money moved by the government."

The administration is prepared to go beyond its present announced stop-up of public works, but it feels tax reduction would be a quicker shot-in-the-arm. Government economists feel big public works programs are slow to create new jobs. Plans set in motion now, they say, could not help employment much before November.

By BILL McFARLAND
United Press Sports Writer

Sanford, Fla. — The San Diego Padres and the San Francisco Giants met out the field today as they moved into the second leg of spring training.

The left-handed hitter, who averages 200 hits a year, is the only one who can use the "hook" catcher, of course. He is attempting to get another infielder," said Manager Bobby Bragan of the Indians. But neither man would admit that there was a deal cooking.

Could Use Help

"Naturally, we can use some help," says Tribe General Manager Frank Lane. "But I can't see anything that would help us at this time that we could get."

"But who knows? Maybe this kid, Billy Moran, up from San Diego, will fill the bill for us at second base. He hit only .311 in 188 games last year. But he had just come out of two years in the service.

"The way he is hitting in spring training he may make it. I'll tell you right now he is a major league infielder."

The Giants plight has been recognizable since camp opened. The only left-handed hitters on the roster are Whitey Lockman, Willie Kirkland, Don Mueller and Dusty Rhodes. It is doubtful that Rigney plans to use more than one of these men in the lineup at a time.

Lockman appears to be the only possible regular — unless Kirkland improves on his hitting.

Scouting for a Catcher

Last week the Giants sent scout Tom Sheehan to Florida to look over any possibility in the way of help — presumably a left-handed hitting catcher.

Of the catchers in camp here regular Vinny Thomas hit .349 last year; Bob Schmidt hit .351 at Homestead; Herb Tison .333 at Dallas; Roger McCordell .304 at Sioux City; and Ray Kaitz .280 for the Giants. All are right-handed at the plate.

"Most of the spring training games we have gone up to the plate with no left-handed hitters in the line-up, unless it happened to be the pitcher," said Rigney. "We certainly could use some of that left-handed power."

WEST COMPLETES SQUAD

NEW YORK — The West team for the annual East-West All-Star Fresh Air Fund college basketball game at Madison Square Garden March 29 was completed when Bob Plump of Butler and Jack Minilla of St. Louis were named. They join Archie Dees, Indiana; Hub Reed, Oklahoma City; Dave Gamba, Oregon State; Red Murrell, Drake; Gene Brown and Mike Farmer, San Francisco; Ray DeWitt, Kansas State; and Joe Stevens, Wichita.

The lion, hailed as the king of the beach, has a comparatively short reign of only 80 to 90 years.

NEW YORK — "Lighthouse Harry" Cooper is on the way today chalking up his 80,000th mile as the world's only one-gain gold pro while proving once again that golf doesn't have to be the awfully boring contest which most pros make it.

One of the first great Tomors of the fairway, Cooper earned his nicknames when he won the Los Angeles Open in a record two hours and 50 minutes round. He's still under a full head of steam literally and figuratively, as gold pro of the S. S. Homeric in the luxury cruise among the Caribbean ports.

In the process he has every body from the head cook to the captain wargling a golf club and speaking an unheard of nautical jargon concerning birds, buffets and bad-lye longitudes.

Like Tidal Wave

Cooper sweeps over the ship like a tidal wave, disconcerting a looping barstooling with the head bartender, advising the dishwasher on how to play a ball burned cancer deep in water, conducting daily clinics on the sundeck for as many as 60 passengers at a time and giving private lessons from sunup until dusk.

"You've got to keep moving, just like they should on the golf course," Cooper says in his machine-gun manner. "Players take entirely too long to play a round of golf these days. Those five hour rounds are a disgrace and there should be stiff penalties for such slow-motion play."

Cooper is making his 14th cruise aboard the Homeric.

Throw Clubs Overboard

The golfers aboard gear their swing decks under his critical eye, and when they reach port, Cooper conducts them to the local golf course for a morning round. That leaves the afternoon for shopping, which makes the seaborne golf widows, happy again.

At the final port of call, wherever it may be, Cooper runs a tournament which is decided under the Callaway system. Prizes are awarded at a dinner party the final night aboard.

Coach Woodruff Praises Fullbacks

GAINESVILLE — Following every scrimmage session this spring for candidates for the 1950 University of Florida football team, a handful of young fullbacks have drawn praise from Coach Bob Woodruff.

At least once during the spring, and often more, Coach Woodruff or members of his staff have singled out Benny Giles, Jacksonville, Bob Milby, Ocala, Jon MacBeth, Pensacola, Ray Thomas, Cowan, Tenn. and Doug Partin, Kissimmee for having turned in superior performances in the rugged phases of the drills.

Blair Culpepper of Tallahassee is a returning letterman and most experienced fullback on the spring roster, but he has been out of action with a bum knee.

Big things are also expected of Charlie Roberts, next season, for the High Spring lad will be the most experienced line plunger on the squad. A senior to be, he was excused from the spring activity, along with other senior members of the team.

Clayton Fichels, who was moved from halfback to fullback, figures in the variety picture, too, but minor injuries have slowed him down a bit. The Jacksonville product is considered a potentially fine ball player for the Gators, however.

TAMPA, Fla. — Pitching cost the Cincinnati Redlegs any chance of winning the National League pennant last year and is quite likely to plague them again this season.

Although they made a number of off-season deals, adding six pitchers from other major league teams, the Redlegs' staff still is far from first grade and they sacrificed some of their power in those trades.

However, Manager Birdie Tebbetts pointed out that pitching was and still might be his major need and says he still feels the club has enough hitting strength even without Wally Post and big Ted Kluszewski.

Trade Away Power

In an attempt to remedy that weakness, Post was traded to the Phillies and Kluszewski, whose baseball career is in jeopardy because of a back ailment, was traded to the Pirates. Those trades took two mighty bats out of the Cincinnati hitting array.

Tebbetts is counting on Bob Purkey, obtained from the Pirates, and Haddix for starting pitching roles. He hopes that trades Willard Schmidt and Bill Wright will solve his bullpen difficulties.

For other starters, Tebbetts probably will call on holdovers Brooks Lawrence 18-13, Tom Acker 10-5, Joe Nuxhall 10-10, John Klippstein 8-11 and Hal Zell 12-13.

Tebbetts said that he might use both Klippstein and Zell as relievers as well as starters, depending upon how Harsh Freeman, his bullpen ace of 1950, makes out.

Depth at First

To replace Kluszewski at first base, Tebbetts has George Crowe, who batted .271 in 123 games last year, Doc Foady, who also can play the outfield and big Steve Bilko, who hit .34 some runs and batted in 140 for the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League last season, are back of Crowe.

The rest of the infield is set with Johnny Temple at second, Roy McMillan at short and Don Hoak at third.

Cincinnati has the best catching in the league with two power hitters, Ed Bailey and Smokey Burgess the No. 1 and 2 men. A lot of other clubs, including the Dodgers, are trying to get one of them, with Bailey the main target. If one of them should go, there is a good chance Dutch Dotterer, up from Nashville where he hit .302, will be retained.

Country Needs Male-Beautifier

NEW YORK—What this country needs is a good five-cent male-beautifier, the high cost of hairdressing is appalling. In the case of some businessmen who need extensive repairs but have a limited beauty budget, the cost might be downright ruinous. Listen to this: "The result man is not just an aging man, a nervous wreck, the man who feels his youth falling. Today many a businessman feels he has to keep up his appearance for job security or personal reasons. "The high cost of reconstructions—$165 toupees; $300 contact lenses; $250 sandpapering facial blemishes; $3,000 teeth capes; $3,000 face lift; $300 machine for exercise while you rest; $1.95 life-guard shorts; $34.95 elevator shoes—total $4,841.90.

Foreign Women Enter Business

By GAY PAULY
United Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK—Today's American working woman has plenty of company in other lands. The number of wives holding outside jobs is on the increase in dozens of other countries—Korea, Uganda, Thailand and Liberia, to name a few. The reason usually is the same as in the United States, reported a group of advisory secretaries for the Young Women's Christian Association. The woman want to bolster family income.

Two remedial measures are just beyond the horizon. One is chemical, the other physical. Chemical side: On the chemical side, a team headed by Prof. Carroll M. Williams of Harvard reports it hopes soon to be able to write a chemical formula for an insect "juvenis hormone" that would be able to produce it in quantities synthetically.

Chemical side: On the chemical side, a team headed by Prof. Carroll M. Williams of Harvard reports it hopes soon to be able to write a chemical formula for an insect "juvenis hormone" that would be able to produce it in quantities synthetically.

This stuff which Professor Williams says "represents at the insect level, a 'Peter Pan hormone', controls the aging process. As long as a caterpillar keeps producing it, he stays a growing caterpillar and doesn't change into a moth.

There is no knowledge about how this Peter Pan juice would work on what man alleges are the "higher animals", including himself. But look, businessmen, we can hope, can't we?

As for what physics offers, it's the theory that the speed of a space ship can slow down time.

Quiet American Will Be Seen At Drive-In

Saigon is known as the Paris of the Orient. To which the cast and crew of Joseph L. Mankiewicz's "The Quiet American" can only say, "It'll take vanilla." Or, preferably to vanilla, the French, which is located in France.

Saigon, Viet Nam, halfway around the world from Hollywood, was the location sight for the filming of "The Quiet American", which opens on Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre through United Artists release.

Some fifty souls—actors and technicians of "The Quiet American" company—spend at three months in Saigon under somewhat less than ideal conditions. Their discomforts began, in fact, right at home. Before leaving for Saigon, they all spent six weeks on the receiving end of dozens of hypodermic syringes carrying immunization shots against polio, fever, smallpox, tetanus, typhoid and cholera.

The thermometer in Saigon rarely fell below 100, and was usually considerably above. Hotel accommodations did not include air-conditioning, and the only method open to members of the troupe to let off steam was swimming.

Stomach aches were the usual penalty for gustatory adventures. The temptations, in this direction were strong. Saigon being long on exotic side street restaurants and street vendors whose stalls hold a dazzling variety of intriguing foods.

Saigon's night life offered little in the way of after-hours diversion to tempt the fairly sophisticated tastes of the company, and so the two hotels at which "The Quiet American" company was lodged were the scene of nightly poker, bridge, canasta and chess sessions.

But once the cameras started to turn, all of that was forgotten. The crowds, the excitement of an oriental city, the exotic atmosphere, the quality of unreplicable authenticity and mood—these made the everything worth the trouble.

'Brothers Karamazov' Opens Sunday At Ritz

One of the biggest and most important pictures to emanate from the M-G-M studios, "The Brothers Karamazov" brings to the screen in color the powerful novel by Fyodor Dostoyevsky. "The Brothers Karamazov" begins Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. First published in 1880, this engrossing story, unfolded against a vivid backdrop of Tzarist Russia, has been read and continues to be read by millions throughout the world. Probing into the universal conflict between good and evil, it is both a passionate love story and a psychological thriller, with all the suspense of a detective story and of an ingenious and diabolical crime.

To bring its varied characters to the screen, M-G-M assembled one of the finest casts ever brought together for a motion picture, headed by Yul Brynner in his first film role since his Academy Award-winning portrayal in "The King and I" and his equally lauded role in "Anastasia."

Over $10 Million Said 'Stolen, Embezzled Or Misused' By Union Men

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Rackets Committee reported today that more than 10 million dollars has been "stolen, embezzled or misused" by union men during the past 10 years.

It said the effect was to take an average of $6 out of the pocket of every member of the five unions covered in a 15,000-word report on the committee's first installment of the committee's formal report on its first year's operations.

The unions involved are the Teamsters, Bakers, Operating Engineers, United Textile Workers and Allied Industrial Workers. The report did not cover the current study of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), a member of the committee, issued a blistering dissent calling the financial estimates an unsupported "statistical perversion." He said the report read like a "market indictment of the labor movement."

The report included findings on alleged improper practices by both union and company officials as well as some lawyers. It urged laws to control union funds, promote union democracy, curb activity of labor-management "advisers" and clean up a "boon-doggery" between state and federal legislatures.

But it did not spell out any specific legislation. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said he was "pleased" that the legislative proposals "as far as they go . . . follow generally" President Eisenhower's recommendations.

The Rackets Committee session prepared to hear more witnesses in its long-drawn investigation into the UAW strike against the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin. Chief counsel Robert F. Hammer said the committee hoped to wind up testimony by later witnesses in time to hear from UAW President Walter P. Reuther and company President Herbert Kohler before the week is over.

Five Republican senators planned to introduce a bill today to double the size of the proposed new union research program as another anti-strike measure. Their measure would add $50 million dollars to the previously recommended funds for helping others carry out their clearance and other community projects in the coming fiscal year.

The "Critical Comment" on the Corps of Engineers report points out that "local interests object to the inadequate and ultraconservative estimates of the benefits in the report."
