Police launch seatbelt program

SANFORD - School children will be learning seatbelt safety starting tomorrow morning. Law enforcement officers agencies in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties are launching a three week educational program.

According to Sanford police officer Rick Poovey, "We want to alert as many children as possible about scatbelt safety before they take off on their summertime vacations." The program will get underway at 6:30 tomorrow morning at Pinecrest Elementary School in Sanford.

Poovey explained, "We'll be going to various schools throughout Seminole County this week, Orange County next week, and Osceole County the third week." He said, "This is a combined effort by city police and county deputies in what we call the seat belt coalition." He added, "It's part of the statewide program called, "Avoid Summertime Blues - Buckle Up."

Joining Poovey at Pinecreat Elementary School tomorrow morning will be two officers dressed as Vince and Larry, the crash dummies featured in seat belt safety television commercials. "They do some idiotic things," Poovey said, "but there is a lot that children can learn from them."

Baby survives fall from window

SANFORD - A 17-month-old baby girl was listed in stable condition this morning. The baby fell out of a third story window yesterday evening.

The incident happened at 6:13 p.m. Sunday. at Victorian Flair Condominiums, 151 E. 24th

At Victorian Fishr Condominations, for a. avera St., in Sanford. According to Mike Hoening, battalion chief with the Banford Fire Departition, the little girl, identified as Karl Robinson, had been on a bed next to the window, either just completing a bath or having her diaper changed. He add when the child's mother was not looking for a accidently pushed the screen window out, failing to the ground below. Hoening observed, "Even though the child fell from the third floor of the condominium, she landed in an area of soft dirt behind the building, which apparently saved her life." She was airlifted to the Orlando Regional Medical Center for treatment of her injuries. A spokesperson at ORMC said this morning that the Robinson girl has apparently recovered sufficiently and is expected to be released from the hospital sometime today. Sanford Fire Department battalion chief William Ellenburg added this morning, "As far as we are concerned, the matter is being considered as an accident, and we don't expect any charges will be filed."

Ambulances violate code Waiver requested for stations to remain at present sites

By WICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The location of ambulance stations in Sanford has proven to be beneficial. The City Code however, indicates they cannot remain where they are.

Atlantic Ambulance Services presently has ambufance stations located at Parkside Place, 2530-G Hartwell Ave., off 25th Street, and Apt. #5, Shenandoah Apartmenta, 4220 Highway 17-92, near the Seminole County Public Works Complex.

Walter F. Eismann, operations manager of the service explained, "During Atlantic Ambulance Services first year of service in 1991, the City of Sanford had the lowest response time average in Seminole County." He added, "Response times are the number one concern for ambulance services.

"We keep track of response times in all areas we serve," Eismann said. His statistics indicated the average response time for an ambulance in Sanford is 5.07 minutes, compared to the average for all of Seminole County at 6.07 minutes. "Even the 6.07 is a good response time," he added.

Eismann was concerned over any change that may be required. He commented, "The possible relocation of these ambulances could result in longer response times and a decreased level of service to the citizens of Sanford."

According to Sanford City Planner Jay Marder. "The City's Land Development Regulations specifically prohibit the parking of ambulances in residential areas."

Although Atlantic Ambulance has operated from the two locations for over a year and a half, the violation of the code was only recently determined.

Eismann explained, "Ambulance personnel work on 24-hour shifts. Therefore, we must provide shower, cooking, eating and sleeping facilities."

Regarding the possibility of a move, Eismann sees no alternative. In a letter to City Manager Bill Simmons, he said, "In the immediate area of which we are currently located, nothing was available which will meet our needs."

Simmons said the violation of the code is not one that just recently came up. "When they started operation," he said, "they never actually got City approval to house their ambulances in the residential areas."

While the Land Development Regulations prohibit the parking. Marder believes he has the solution. He observed, "Our regulations do however, permit the parking of trucks that are on-call."

Based on an indication from the Sanford Fire Department that maintaining the ambulances at the present locations might be the best move. and what Marder considers "the overall benefit to the affety of City residents." he is recommending that the present locations be approved as an exception to the City's Land Development Regulations.

The waiver request is scheduled for the regular meeting of the City Commission tonight beginning at 7 p.m., in the Sanford City Hall.

McKenzie said. "They are so beautiful."

The twins were born by Ceasarian Section Mother's Day morning. The doctors had given her a choice between Saturday and Sunday to have the surgery, so she opted for Mother's Day.

'It was worth the pain." Pam said, lovingly careasing the infart in her arms.

Her husband, Gary, attentively carried the babies to her from their bassinetes and coordinated feeding schedules with the nurses. He occasionally sneaked a soft stroke of the babies' faces.

Pam, 29, and Gary, 31, live in Deltona.

Meagan, weighing in at 6 pounds 13½ ounces, is an inch taller than her sister Courtney who is 19 inches tall and weighs 6 pounds 111/2 ounces.

LONGWOOD - Rock Lake Middle teacher Stan Cutier and several students from his ecology class were scheduled to be honored Saturday at Wekiwa Springs State Park as semifinalists in the Take Pride in Florida competition.

"This is quite an honor," said Cutler. "The kids are very proud of this."

The group, which went on a Wekiva River cleanup Friday, are among 73 semifinalists from throughout the state honored by the Florida Park Service at the Seminole-Orange County state park west of Longwood. Seventeen finalists, including the Citizens for Wekiwa State Park, will compete for national Take Pride in America awards in Washington, D.C. in July.

The state and national programs recognize private citizen groups and government projects that benefit natural and cultural resources and public awareness of them.

Cutier, of Lake Mary, said he and his class first began their Wekiva River involvement about three years ago participating in removal of illegal "squatter" cabins.

Since then, the class has "adopted" a section of the river and has conducted at least two cleanups annually. The class in April participated in water hyacinth removal.

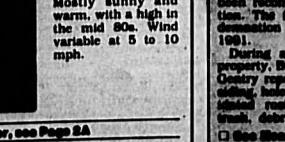

Cutler, who teaches 6th grade science and physical education, said textbooks don't emphasize nature. He said he began the class projects as a way to get the students involved first-hand with environmental issues. Typically, 15 to 20 students participate in the projects, he said.

Cutler was recently honored by the Friends of the Wekiya River with a service award for the class projects.

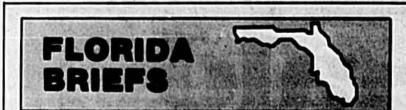

Dave Sukkert, president of the Citizens for Wekiwa State Park, say the 25-member organization is comprised about equally of Seminole and Orange County residents. The group was formed about three years ago and is active in park projects, including river cleanup days, planting trees and staging events such as Halloween nighttime rides through the park.

"I love that place out there," said Sukkert, who said he lives three minutes from the park in Apopka. "It has to be the best park in the state."

Noriega jury foreman speaks

MIAMI - Manuel Noriega's jurors might have found him innocent if they had been allowed to consider broader political issues, the foreman of the ousted Panamanian leader's jury 50YS.

Noriega's lawyers say they were thwarted from showing jurors the fundamentally political nature of the case, but prosecutors respond that the defense simply had no ammunition.

Jury foreman Lester Spencer says the panel stuck closely to the judge's instruction to avoid politics in convicting Noriega on eight drug and racketeering counts after the seven-month trial.

"If there would have been political issues brought into the case, it might have been a different verdict," Spencer says. "There would have been more evidence for us to consider."

New prostate cancer therapy

GAINESVILLE - A new combination of therapies for advanced prostate cancer appears to reduce the risk of recurrence, according to a new study by University of Florida rescarchers.

Urological surgeons from the university's medical school said they base their optimism on preliminary results of clinical studies involving 55 patients with prostate cancer that had spread beyond the gland itself.

A key factor in the new treatment plan involves hormonal therapy that shrinks the enlarged prostate so surgery can be performed with improved safety and chances of removing all malignancy.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE Is the death penalty effective?

By DRENT KALLESTAD Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - The death penalty enjoys strong public support in Florida and throughout the South, but is it effective?

Since Florida returned to capital punishment 13 years ago, it has executed 27 convicted killers. Only Texas has killed more

During that same period, 13 previously condemned people were released from Florida's death row after the state admitted errors in the prosecution and they were found to be innocent, said death-penalty scholar and author Michael Radelet, an associate professor of sociology at the University of Florida.

Radelet has documented 420 cases this century where an individual convicted of murder later was found to be innocent. There have been 23 erroneous executions in the country, he said.

Just last November, the Florida Supreme Court overturned a death appeal and said the defendant was probably innocent.

But the system doesn't appear to work even for those who are guilty.

"You can concede the issue that some people deserve to die," said Radelet. "But that's a theoretical problem."

It now takes anywhere from 10 to 15 years to execute a convicted killer - a period of great pain for victims and great expense to taxpayers.

Twice within the past 10 days, two longtime members of death row have come within hours of execution in Florida.

Edward Kennedy was spared when the U.S. Supreme Court intervened on his behalf at a time Los Angeles was burning in the aftermath of the jury verdict in the Rodney King case. Kennedy, who is black, had already caten his last meal.

The Supreme Court, in its one paragraph order, said only that it would postpone the execution until it studies a formal appeal filed on his behalf.

The second, Nollie Lee Martin, who is white, was also temporarily spared by the federal system after state officials' appeals that included a letter from the prosecutor that Martin is insanc.

Radelet said those convicted of killing a white person are 3.8 times more likely to be sentenced to death than those whose victim is black.

'Many of the worst murderers in the state are not sentenced to death," he said. "We don't necessarily get the meanest, most rotten people who murder in Florida."

The soaring crime rate in the United States would seemingly indicate the death penalty is not a deterrent. The U.S. remains the lone western Democracy that employs capital punishment.

Absurd twist in murder trial

SANFORD - A man facing trial for murder says the victim died after his life-support machines were turned off, not as a result of his injurics.

The attorney for Antowian Bell says he should be charged only with aggravated battery in the case.

James Bims, 44, clung to life for 10 days last summer after he was beaten and robbed on his way to a store. Family members, faced with the prospect that he would not recover, agreed to disconnect the machines that kept him alive.

The cause of death cannot be directly attributed to Antowian Bell," said defense attorney James Weart. "Mr. Sims was still a living being at the time he was disconnected from life support."

Prosecutors say the argument creates an absurd twist that conveniently shifts blame from Bell.

John Walter Mullis, 20, 1911 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, was charged with driving with a suspended driver's license and with not having his vehicle registration when he was arrested on Friday.

When Mullis was stopped by Lake Mary Police on a traffic violation, it was discovered that his license had been suspended four times and that he did not have the registration for the car.

Mason had recognized Anthony Farina as a former employee of the restaurant. As word spread, other restaurant employees tracked the trio down to a motel in the area and pin-pointed them for police, who swooped in to make the arrests.

Henderson apparently waited in a car outside as the brothers herded the four into the restaurant cooler and bound their hands behind their backs, police said.

white. "My clients who were black were going away for far more prison time than my white clients were," Suzanne Hashimi, a federal public defender in Atlanta, told The Palm Beach

Post for Sunday's editions. The statute's five-year mandatory sentence applies to cases involving 5 to 50 grams of crack and 500 to 5,000 grams of cocaine powder.

Hashimi and other public de-fenders argue that the crack cocaine statute wrongly assumes that crack, which is cheaper than cocaine powder, is more addictive. They also say the law is unconstitutional because it denies blacks equal protection under the law.

'Statistically, we're finding that Llacks are being singled out." said Kathy Williams, chief assistant public defender for Florida's Southern District. "The statute appears neutral on its face, but when applied, it focuses on a particular ethnic group.

Such statistics are fueling legal attacks on the crack law by defense attorneys across the country.

In South Florida, assistant federal public defender Faith Mensekoff tried the new strategy for the first time last month in representing convicted crack dealer Christian Cadeau.

She argued that the federal law "has a discriminatory effect against people of color and of low economic standing," and she anid crack isn't any more dangerous or harmful than cocaine powder.

But U.S. District Judge Donald Graham rejected both arguments. He sentenced Cadeau to 10 years and three months in prison for conspiracy, possession with intent to distribute crack and carrying a firearm while committing a drug felony.

EDITORIALS Sad lesson

The saddest thing about the results of a new study of the educational benefits of Channel One, the Whittle Communications daily video news program with commercials that's shown in many high schools, is not that students don't learn much from it, but that most teachers think it's wonderful.

According to the survey, conducted by the University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research, students who watched the program knew little more about current events than those who did not. What the students liked best, according to the researchers, were the soft features - about pop music, fashion and summer jobs - and what they remembered most were the commercials.

Nonetheless, almost half said they learned something important; among their teachers. 60 percent said they would strongly recommend the program to others while 27 percent said they would recommend it with reserva-tions. Only 6 percent said they would not recommend it.

The big attraction of Channel One, which condenses and dumbs down the news considerably more than the nightly network programs, is that it lends TV receivers and other equipment to the schools that use it provided that the schools make all their students watch it.

Not surprisingly, the program, which includes two minutes of commercials in each day's 12-minute program, has met strong opposition from some educators. Nonetheless, far more teen-agers now get their "news" from Whittle than from the three major networks combined.

It doesn't have to be that way. It would be easy enough for teachers to require students to watch the news on one of the commercial networks. et. the Manflett-Lines. News Hour on PBB - or to read a newspaper - and then to discuss the major events with their students the next day.

The Channel One study showed, not surprisingly, that the students learned more from the program when their teachers made it part of their lessons than when they did

How will riots affect Campaign?

WASHINGTON - Both the White House and the Democrats are urgently trying to assess the effect of the Los Angeles riots on the political landscape. It's clear from discussions with GOP and Democratic insiders that both sides recognize a major new issue has been inserted into Campaign '92.

Most had assumed that personalities would dominate the political agenda. Any issue-oriented campaigning was expected to center almost wholly on the economy, with the possibility that abortion rights would move to the front, depending on the Supreme Court's ruling in the current Pennsylvania case.

However, now the subject of civil rights, and the continued plight of the nation's inner cities, has been thrust into the campaign mix with a suddenness that is frightening both sides.

As authorities struggled to control rioting in Los Angeles, near political panic swept the White House. Bush campagin insiders viewed the events as a complete no-win situation for the president. His natural constituency would demand he move forcefully against the rioters. But. if he did, and did not show compassion for growing black outrage over the Rodney King decision, he risked a major outpouring of minority voters voting against him in November.

That's why, in the first hours of the violence, ...

Bush changed themes several times. First, he against the acquitted police officers. made a straight law-and-order statement con - Democrats have been given a ma demning the vio-ience. Then he expressed "personal shock" at the jury verdict and announced he was meeting with a wide array of black leaders at the White House. Finally, in his carefully crafted national television address, he tried to work both sides.

This attempt to find the middle ground was also evident in the president's actions. He quickly complied with a request from California Gov. Pete Wilson and ordered federal law enforcement officers into Los Angeles. However, even as he was doing this, he was ordering the Justice Department to explore whether federal charges could be brought

Near political panic swept the White House.

Democrats have been given a major issue, but they are still groping for ways to take advantage of it without seeming exploitative or suffering a white backlash.

The most obvious line of attack is to charge that the riots occurred at least in part because conditions in the inner cities have deteriorated over the last decade due to GOP institution to the problems of minorities and the inner cities.

Democratic National Chairman Ron Brown immediately started to hammer away at that theme in a speech he gave before a political gathering in New Orleans. "We should all be outraged by the Bush administration's cynical inaction on the issues of civil rights, social justice and equal opportunity in America," Brown said.

Brown picked up on a second theme that Democrate will probably use in the election. "We saw the results of 12 years of 'wedge' polities on television the last two nights." he said. Brown was referring to a Democratic allegation that Republicans use divisive issues - such as white fear of black crime - to turn one bloc of voters against another.

How to handle the issue has been almost as difficult for Democratic front-runner Bill Clinton as it has been for the president.

JACK ANDERSON Senate rivalry disrupts state

WASHINGTON - One of this city's classic political rivalries has turned downright ugly in recent months, and it's threatening the comity of one of the most harmonious state delegations on Capitol Hill.

In one corner stands Brock Adams, the senior Senator from Washington state, whose re-election bid was detailed earlier this year after eight unnamed women accused him of sexual improprieties in a published report.

In the other corner is the man who Adams beat in the 1966 election, Republican Sen. Slade Gorton, known widely back home as "Slade the Blade" for his slashing rhetori-cal style. Gorton was returned "to the" Senate in 1968.

With Adams a lame duck after his forced withdrawal. and with House l i can't be D-Wash., limping objective from abuse he has about Brock, taken over the House but I'd hang him high. bank scandal, Gorton sees a golden opportunity to raise his political profile back home. In recent months, Gorton along with Republican pit bull Newt Gingrich encouraged Foley's opponent in the November election to escalate his attacks on the genial gentleman from Spokane. But Adams is hanging tough in his final months, despite the repeated calls for his resignation from women's groups and his political rivals. While the Scattle chapter of the National Organization for Women holds weekly vigils of protest against him in his home state, Adams has told his staff to "take no prisoners" in the fight for the liberal issues that have been his political staple over the years. Senate sources thought Gorton violated the first commandment of schoolyard fair play don't hit a guy when he's down - by his curioualy worded letter regarding a possible Ethics Committee probe of Adams stemming from charges of sexual misconduct. Gorton recused himself from any Ethics Committee investigation of Adams. In a letter to Republican committee members, Gorton blasted Adams as guilty as accused. His letter also raised the 1987 allegations against Adams, brought by his former aide Kari Tupper, that Adams made unwanted sexual advances against her. Those charges were diaminaed by a Republican-appointed prosecutor after no supporting evidence was found.

not. But it also showed how bad things are in most schools.

When teachers like the thin gruei that Whittle provides, they are speaking volumes about how desperate things are — how poor the resources, how insubstantial the fare.

No more borrow pits

STOP. STOP. STOP! It's bad enough that we have to live with the ke-plunk, ke-plunk from the Beltway but our right to quiet enjoyment to our homes and properties is about to be invaded again. Now it's borrow pits off Pineway, etc. While our commissioner Kelley rests on her laurels, our end of town becomes Pits-ville. Read our lips - NO MORE BORROW PITS.

Greed and money make unhappy bedfellows. They say they need more pits - builcrap · it's all greed. And, as for White of DOT, there are pits in Hell that should interest him. Leave our properties and homes alone.

HODDING CARTER

L.A.: We're all in this together

As the last of the broken glass is cleared away in Los Angeles, the last insurance adjuster shakes his head, the last mourner leaves the last gravesite, let's concentrate on what we should not do if we want to avert another multi-death, billion-dollar catastrophe.

First, let's not pretend that it is someone eise's problem. It's not "the government's." It's not whitey's. It's not black America's or African-America's. It's not "the system's."

It's ours. It is either ours or we are doomed. It is either something that we tackle together. or it is something that will tear us apart, subvert the foundations of our democracy and destroy the unrealized promise of what yet remains mankied's "last, best hope."

That means long-term commitments, not verbal Band-Aids and blue ribbon commissions. It means a rediscovery of community, of the sense that we're all in this together. It means going beyond sloppy language about the melting pot and arriving at an appreciation of the hard reality of interwoven, though separate, strands.

Second, let's not talk wisely of limitations, of what can't be done. This is a calamity. It is an earthquake, the first of many if we do not act with prompt efficiency, not necessarily tomorrow, but inevitably on some tomorrow before this century is over. In the face of this shocking sciamic collapse, we are limited only by imagination and will. This rich nation will learn soon enough the real meaning of limitations if it lets a miserly concern about current investment blind it to future horror.

Don't think about dollars. Think about people, 250 million people, a nation in which "majority" and "minority" are losing their meaning. Think about a mass society that could have a mass breakdown if it doesn't recognize that any stool is only as strong as its weakest leg. Third, let's not try to fake each other about the nature of the problem. It goes beyond black America and brown America. It is systemic and it is structural. We have a deteriorating moral infrastructure, an economy that is inequitable in its distribution of rewards and a criminal justice system that is inequitable in its allocation of protection and punishment.

The statistics have been irrefutable on this subject for some time, though the politically self-interested and the self-deluded have managed to distort what they could not impeach. But the raw, incontrovertible facts won't go away. The education is not there for too many of the nation's poor. The jobs are not there. The housing is not there. The basic opportunities in this land of opportunity are not available.

Strong family structure is built on more than pieties, though they can help. Fatheriess households will not suddenly grow fathers absent conditions that reward a father for his presence and confirm his integral importance to the family's health. That means employment as well as moral instruction. It means the chance of advancement as well as the certainty of puniahment.

Fourth, don't accept anyone who offers a simple solution. If Politician X preaches self-help as a panacea, laugh him off the podium. If Politician Y tries to claim that three new government pro-grams and a bigger welfare payment will solve all problems. hoot him down. There is no one way. truth and light on this one. Go back to the first negative. Just as the blame does not all lie in one corner, there is no one solution.

Where are the industrial leaders and businessmen? Where are the labor leaders? Where are the community leaders? Don't let anyone tell you he or she is waiting for leadership. Leadership begins wherever you are. So does cooperation.

I've been working on a book about the contemporary South, and it has taken me deeply into the events of the civil rights era. What emerges most forcibly is the optimism that imbued so many of those engaged in the struggle. They knew firsthand the vicious power and brutal instinct for domination that ay at white supremacy's core, but they persevered. They didn't reach the Promised Land. but they broke from Egypt's bondage.

It's different now. The point today is that we're all in the wilderness together. We've worshiped the Golden Calf and bayed at the moon. We've turned away from the great civic undertaking, following dead-end paths and striking out on selfish tangents.

And now the smell of smoke is in our nostrils and ash falls around our heads. Let's not focus and and fails around our means. Let's not locus on the looting alone, or the jury verdict alone, or color as justification or color as cause. Let's not blow this one by trying to force it into ideological trick bags. It has been an expensive warning. Let's not ignore it or, worse, try to trivialize it with petty partiaanship.

Say it loud, say it clear: We're all in this together.

In other words, Gorton was telling potential judges of Adams: I can't be objective about brock, but I'd hang him high.

"Ms. Tupper's charges are so confirmed and buttressed by the statement of seven (sic) unnamed women published by the Seattle Times as to leave no reasonable doubt in my mind as to the truth of Ms. Tupper's allegations." Gorton wrote in the letter. Just last fall, Gorton was not nearly as sympathetic to similar charges that Anita Hill made against Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas. Though the Thomas-Hill hearings galvanised Congress over the issue of sexual harassment, Gorton was not sufficiently swayed to vote against the confirmation.

"With the exception of the two principals, 1 doubt that any of us will ever know the truth. the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Gorton said at the time in defense of his vote. Apparently Gorton doesn't apply this judiciousness across-the-board, where he has judiciousness across-the-board, where he has become his colleague's self-appointed judge, jury and executioner. Gorton's letter prompted a rare, on-the-record emption by a Senate staffer against a sitting Senator. "Putting Slade Gorton on Ethics is like putting a barracuda in your bathtub," Adam's Senate Special Counsel Tom Keefe Red back in the Washington media.

Creative 'Invention Convention'

Lake Mary Elementary School participated in a special kind of science fair called "The Inven-tion Convention." It was designed to promote children's problem-solving and creativethinking skills.

Students were to invent a new product or develop a new method for doing something. They began their preparation for The Invention Convention by learning about inventors and their inventions. Hopefully, students gained an appreciation of the invention process to better facilitate their creative process. Children were encouraged to find a problem that needed to be solved. The Invention Convention was held at 7 p.m. on May 5. A patent certificate was awarded to each participant.

Students in the third grade at Lake Mary Elementary have had some interesting projects of late. One was a mystery book box. This was where the students were asked to read a mystery book and instead of the usual written book report they made up a creative box and put in things that they felt related to the book and then presented an oral report.

Another project was a "Tube Project" that involved a tollet paper or paper towel tube or combination. They had to "in-vent" an object which solved some type of problem. The object could use other items as well as the tubes, but had to contain at least one tube. Many creative ideas were derived from this: feeders for animals, storage for golf balls, the Neat Nik for keeping a student's desk organized that also held papers. pencils and a drink while doing homework, to name a few.

Fine Arts Night, May 5.

Heathrow students had been diligently working on a rain forest. Every detail, minus the heat, humidity and of course, the rain, had been incorporated into their jungle. All the snakes. birds, insects, animals and plants had been made by the students.

Mrs. Merganov and Mrs. Reilly, along with the help of many parents, created a unique rain forest. Mrs. Offer provided the special jungle sound effects. The Heathrow rain forest had been integrated learning. Language arts, science, art and music were all incorporated in this experience.

Heathrow Elementary was also very proud of three of their students' works that went to national competition. The students: Zachery Drake - litera-ture: Melissa Powell - visual arts: and Elizabeth Meredith visual arts. These students received Honorable Mention on the state level and their work was judged with K-12 grades. Their work will not be returned until

By ROBERT STOCK Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK - For Seminole County athletes, Saturday night's Class 4A State Track Meet did not produce any team or individual champions, but it did show the heart and desire of the competitors.

In a strange meet that featured several injuries and a surprise finish, no athlete from Seminole County won an event and only one team, the girls' squad from Lyman, placed in the top 10. But many of the athletes and coaches were

"I'm proud of each and every one of them." said Lyman giris' coach Larry Baker, whose team tied for 10th with eight points. "They wouldn't have made me prouder if they had won all first places." Ktanah Breanick and Janet Greenberg finished second and third, respectively, in the 3,200-meter run, each setting a personal record. Breanick, a sophomore, crossed the finish line in 11:16.11, just ahead of Greenberg (11:16.16), a senior. Kathi Ward of Tallahassee Lincoln streaked to the title for the second consecutive year with a blistering time of 10:55.94, breaking her old state record by eight seconds. "it's a positive way to end the year," said Lyman's Fred Finke, who coaches the girls' distance runners as well as the boys' team. "I think they (Bresnick and Greenberg) were aggressive, ran a tough race, and placed the best they could. Ward was the best and we were the best of the rest."

But Breanick and Greenberg were not the only Seminole County competitors to break personal records.

Lake Mary senior Shannon Cook threw herself into the county record books with an effort of 40 feet, 714 inches in the shot, good enough for second place and the top performance of her high school career.

With the throw, which came on her second attempt in the finals, Cook became the all-time county leader in the shot since they began using the 4-kilogram shot four years ago.

"I'd been a little bit slow (up until the record throw)," Cook said. "I had wanted to go for my personal record, so I gave it all 1 had." Lake Howell's Kelly Kobia finished fourth in the shot (38 feet, 41/s inches).

One of the many enigmas during the meet involved Kobia, the 4A-Region III discus champion. She faulted three times in the preliminaries and did not make it to the finals.

"Everybody was having trouble getting any-thing going." Lake Mary girls' coach Mike Gibson said. "Nothing is a given when you come here (to the state meet)."

One athlete who did not struggle was Lake Mary senior D. J. Lewis, who ran a career-best Bee Track, Page 28

Churches wrap up titles

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Church of God of Prophecy and Sanford First Nazarene both wrapped up division championships at Chase Park Saturday, but the Fun Division is still a three-team race with only make-up games remaining in the Sanford Church Softball League Spring Season.

But the Fun Division is still not decided as Holy Cross Lutheran (7-2). Sanford Christian "Blue" (7-3) and Lake Mary Nativity "Disciples" (6-3) are still in the hunt. Sanford Christian "Blue" has finished its season, but both Holy Cross and the "Disciples" have 'make-ups with Sanford First Baptist next week.

In other games, Sanford Christian "Red" nipped the Nativity "Crusaders" 14-12. KNOXVILLE - Chris Kokinda hit a homer and drove in three runs as Florida downed Tennessee 8-3 Sunday to sweep a three-game Southeastern Conference series.

The series sweep eliminated Tennessee (35-20, 10-14 in the SEC) from the SEC tournament. Florida ended the regular season at 40-16 overall, 16-8 in the league.

Nick McClellan (3-0) allowed one run over 514 innings. Richard King (7-5) took the loss.

Seminoles advance in ACC

GREENVILLE, S.C. - Ty Mueller's three-run homer with two outs in the first inning gave Florida State a 6-1 win over Wake Forest in the Atlantic Coast Conference baseball tournament Sunday.

Losing pitcher Steve DeFranco (7-5) retired Allen Bevia and Nandy Serrano to open the inning, but Kenny Felder walked and Chris Roberts singled, setting the table for Mueller's fifth home run of the season.

The second-seeded Seminoles (39-16) celebrated their first ACC tournament game by adding a run in the fifth and two in the seventh. Wake Forest (33-21) had defeated Duke 5-2 in the tournament's first game Saturday.

Hurricanes skin Maine

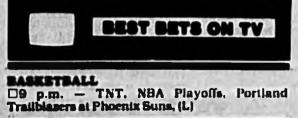

ORONO, Maine - Two home runs and solid pitching by Kenny Henderson and Jose Prado led Miami to a 5-1 win Sunday over Maine in the Black Bears' last game of the season.

It was Maine's second loss to the top-ranked Hurricanes (44-) this weekend. Maine (19-24-1) lost 5-1 Friday but beat Miami 8-7 Saturday in 10 innings.

Miami took a 3-1 lead in the eighth inning when Charles Johnson belted his second home run of the series and eighth of the season.

The Hurricanes added two more runs in the ninth. With two out, pinch-hitter Donald Robinson was hit by a pitch and Chris Anderson walked. Both runners scored on a pinch-hit RBI double by Chad Rupp.

County turns out in support of Seminoles, Lions

Everybody was there.

That's the way it seemed this weekend at the Baseball City Sports Complex. as Seminole and Oviedo high schools challenged for the Class 3A and 4A baseball state championships, respectively.

Seminole, as previously noted. completed its quest Saturday night. defeating Tampa-Jeouit 7-5 in the title game after duating off Fort Lauderdale-Cardinal Giobons 7-1 Friday night.

Oviedo had eventual state Sarasota-Riverview beaten a handful of times Thursday night (and Friday morning) but let the Rams get away in a 2-1 war of attrition that lasted 15 innings and over four hours.

Riverview came back to shut out Miramar 10-0 Saturday night in a game stopped after six innings by the 10-run rule to win the 4A crown.

Aside from the athletic accomplishments of the two schools and what it may mean for the future - Seminole graduates only three players while Oviedo has alx seniors

- what made the whole experience exponentially more special was how all of Berninole County came out to support the two teams.

Players, coaches, fans and parents from the other five county achools were in the crowd when either Oviedo or Seminole were on the field, a fact that didn't go unnoticed by the participants.

"There were a whole lot of people from around the county who came out to support us," said Seminole coach Mike Powers as his team celebrated the school's first state championship ever in baseball. "It feels good to have everybody on your side. The whole county was behind us."

Anthony "Redman" Roberts, one of three acniors on the Seminole roster and one of two that are in the starting lineup, said that the Tribe's victory was one that every player in Seminole County shares in.

"We've played games like this all season long in the conference," said Roberts, referring to how Jesuit came back on three different occasions and challenged Beminole until the final out was made.

"Playing in the Seminole Athletic Conference really prepares you for something like this. We play in the toughest conference in Central Florida. We must, we had two teams here (at the state playoffs). They (the rest of the SAC) helped us get here.

And once they got there, the county turned out in impressive fashion to lend whatever moral support they could to help the Tribe complete the task. Seminole's title is the county's second baseball championship in three years, following up Lake Brantley's Class 4A state crown won in 1990.

Those are also the only two titles in the sport ever won by county schools in seven state tournament appearances; Seminole was a state finalist in 1968 and a semifinalist in 1977; Lake Mary was a Class 4A finalist and Oviedo was a Class 3A semifinalist in 1986.

Maybe it's because of that lack of success - save that of the Patriots in 1990 - that feeling of getting so close, that whet the appetites of county baseball fans. We've certainly turned out our fair share of top-flight college and pro players. County youth programs win state titles left and right. Why don't we have the high school state "hardware" to go with it?

And next year, that number could just as casily double.

I know you'll all be there to help out.

"I'm happy," said Lewis. "It was a tough race, but I ran good."

Lewis stayed within 10 yards of the leader, Luis Prestes of of Miami Beach, for the first seven laps, but couldn't find the energy for a sprint finish. Prestes won both the metric mile and two-mile races Saturday.

Lewis' three points tied Lake Mary for 21st while Lake Brantley finished tied for 19th on the strength of Marcus Kaiser's second-place effort in the pole vault. Kaiser, one of three Seminole

Master gardeners aid community

April 26 through May 2 was National Volunteer Week, and I would like to take time out to recognize our master gardeners as an excellent group of volunteers who contributed their time and energy to help us here at the Seminole County Extension office to better serve our community.

The Master Gardener program is an eight-week course that trains volunteers to help homeowners with their gardening questions. The Master Gardener program is 45 strong and a training session is planned for the fail of 1992 to incorporate more of our community into the program. The master gardeners provide many important services for the Seminole County residents. Here is a list of just a few of their contributions. They answer telephone questions, answer questions from clients that visit ur office, conduct and assist in giving presentations at meetings such as garden clubs, set up exhibits for fairs and presentations, act as contest judges at fairs, assist in youth programs such as FFA and 4-H, assist in writing newsletters and newspa-(each Monday and Thursday). received in my first few weeks help with the design and in- on the "New" job. It's time to clear up IRS problem

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I did a foolish thing, and now I'm afraid I'll lose everything and possibly wind up in fail! Back in 1980, I was alone and raising my son and a younger brother. I figured out my taxes, and I owed $100. Abby, we didn't have enough money to eat the day before payday, and I wasn't able to come up with $5, let alone $100. I panicked and didn't file at all!

The following year, I was afraid to file because I was afraid their computer would show that I didn't file the year before and I would be in big trouble.

You can probably guess where this is headed - out of fear and stupidity, I have not filed since. I receive letters from the IRS periodically, but I just put them aside, hoping to clear things up "later."

I have dug myself into a very deep hole. Their last letter said I owed the IRS $3,000. 1 am willing to pay the money, but I can't pay it all at once. I am afraid the IRS will contact my employer and I will lose my job, or even get sent to jail. I need to know what to do.

IN DEEP TROUBLE DEAR IN DEEP: It is time to take action. "Enrolled (tax) agents" are equipped to handle the most complex tax returns and, should it be necessary, are authorized to represent taxpayers before all administrative levels of the Internal Revenue Service. Many enrolled agents are former employees of the IRS and have undergone extensive training and testing in tax matters.
