needs to eat a good lunch, Dr. "A good lunch will help him eel like studying and playing after school and also to grow properly," he adds. The school prepares a well balanced lunch for the students but some children may not be buying their lunch at school. As there may be more children ormerly, some timely suggestions from the health depart ment may be helpful. Florida's warm weather makes it important to take ex tra precautions in planning the food poisoning. Foods that ing the lunch that is carried to school are mayonnaise either as a spread on bread or mixed in a salad, eggs, fish in any form, chicken, ham, cold meat and frankfurters. Special care should be taken to have everything used in preparing the lunch clean, and the food should be kept wrapped. Suggestions for sandwiches include the old favorite peanut butter with some variations. Try adding aliced or chopped pickles, dill, sweet or sour whichever you prefer to peanut butter; raw carrots grated or sliced and peanut butter makes a different sandwich spread. Orange juice can be added to SPARE RIBS and peanut butter is popular. For a change, use applesauce ALL MEAT STEW or chopped raisins or dates foods that may spoil. A slice of American or Swiss cheese can be used with must- LEAN MEATY ard spread on one slice of bread, pimento cheese is good too. Cream cheese can be used in many ways—by adding nuts BACON or dried beef, or bacon or or pineapple. Nut bread and BOLOGNA cream cheese can be used as a LYKE'S PALM RIVER sandwich or as a dessert. Something crisp with sandwiches perks up the lunch. Try celery, carrot or cucumber sticks, tomate or cabbage wedges, bell pepper slices, and for the older children, pickles and olives occasionally. Fresh fruits that may packed in a lunch are apples bananas, pears, oranges, peaches, grapes. Canned fruits may be carried in a plastic container, but do not pack puddings made with egg and milk. Cookies and cup cakes are always popular in lunch boxes. Milk may be purchased i school or brought in a thermos. A thermos may also be used should be easy to eat with sandwiches cut in half and wrapped carefully, raw vegefruit washed, dried, and the "EVERFRESH" skin of oranges scored for easy Children need a well planned breakfast, lunch, and dinner every day for good health.

LAKELAND (AP)- Florida's early oranges are selling at prices 30 per cent higher than ast year-when the state produced its biggest crop in history -but there's no cause for orange juice drinkers to be alarmed. The price of frozen orange juice concentrate is expected to remain at the lowest level in a

Until the U.S. Department of Agriculture releases its estimate of the Florida crop Oct. 10, speculation on prices through the winter will be largely guess-

But Florida Citrus Mutual, a trade association of more than 14,000 growers, says that even if the crop is off 10 per cent from last year, prices on store shelves are not likely to change much from last year.

As of last month, the industry had 65 million gallons of frozen concentrate in warehouses, a reserve which can only benefit the Prices on early oranges usually are higher than the average for the full season. Later prices cannot be estimated until the size of the crop is estimated. At present, the price of a sixounce can of concentrate averages 14.1 cents, five cents less than a year ago. This boils down to 3½ cents for a six-ounce serving of juice. Because of this price, Mutual says producers of synthetic orange juices now wooing the public have taken only one per cent of the fruit juice market. Orange concentrate, almost all of which is produced in Florida. has 22.4 per cent of the market. The industry says it's rare when bumper orange crops come back to back and estimates that this year's output will be as much as 10 per cent Retail sales of concentrate

Employers Pay Matching Tax For Security

WASHINGTON (AP)-Chanc es are most workers know their Social Security tax is withheld. The tax makes a noticeable dent in the paycheck-and the famfly budget. But what about the matching tax paid by employers-and its effects? Is it passed on the consumers in the cost of goods? Does it affect management decisions about hiring, or buying machinery that could substitute for men? Is it approaching a limit beyond which it cannot be raised without damaging the economy?

No one seems to know for sure, conclude specialists who reported to the Senate-House Economic Committee on Social Security and a variety of other "Federal Programs for the Development of Human Re-

The information in the report was compiled last year, after the inauguration of medicare had caused an increase in the payroll tax. The subject is again very much alive, now that the House has passed and a Senate committee is considering Social Security benefit increases that would again raise the tax on employers and employes-a maximum of $44 each next year, more later.

"No clear consensus ha emerged as to the effect of the employer portion of the payroll tax." the committee study said. "This constitutes a nearly universal cost of doing business in the United States. It might therefore be considered an encouragement to employers to introduce labor saving machinery (but) there is little tangible evidence that the tax has had this

The compilers noted some producers may be able to pass the tax along in prices, and therefore have not had to come to grips with its effect. It presumably will be more difficult to pass on the tax as it increases. Even if the new Social Security bill were not to pass, the tax-now 4.4 per cent each on employers and employes-would increase by stages to 5.65 per cent in 1987. This is on a wage base of $6,600. The House-passed bill would increase the tax ultimately to 5.9 per cent on a base of $7,600. For years, a theory was prev alent among some high Social Security officials that a payroll tax might become a dangerous economic drag if it exceeded ! per cent each on employers and But Congress, when it provid
