

MAROONED IN CHICAGO

Doc Gossman Writes About Many Things That Are And Are To Be

Mr. Robert J. Holly, Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.: Dear Mr. Holly—As I have been away from God's country for several years, and have not written you for many months, I'll just take my typewriter on my knee and indite these few lines for your edification—or mortification.

It is springtime today almost, and some overcoats are on men's arms instead of on their backs. The mercury has gone 'way up to 64, which is by far the warmest weather we have had since away last autumn. The sun has shone several times today, the highways are neat and clean, but the byways are still cluttered up with the accumulation of four months of snow, mud and just ordinary city filth, which floats around the alley corners in black and tan muddy streams. Chicago is not the cleanest city on earth—it may be the filthiest—at least that is the impression—after thinking of such clean cities as Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami and Sanford. You folks down there know nothing about dirt, actually nothing. Up here we walk in it, breathe it and eat it. A stranger to this city might think we were all in mourning if he should glance at the flags floating from the various buildings. They used to be the glorious red, white and blue, but after being in our Chicago atmosphere a few weeks they are as black as a nigger coal miner in Birmingham. Why do people stay here, people who are actually supposed to be intelligent and highly civilized? It is the Lure of the City that cannot be explained. There seems to be some fascination about having an office on the twentieth floor of an ugly building, and associating with these millions of hustling, rushing, grasping and apparently mad insane people of this great city.

Yes! It has been cold up here this winter. Only twice during the past twenty-five years has it been so cold, according to the papers. Most thermometers registered seventeen degrees BELOW zero one morning, but the official on top of a skyscraper said it was only twelve below. I know it was fourteen below zero when I came to work at 8 o'clock in the morning. But I did not suffer from the cold. In fact I got one of the great surprises of my life the past winter. Last winter I suffered a great deal from cold in Birmingham, and the winter before that I nearly froze to death in Mississippi on the wonderful (?) Gulf coast, which is the most over-rated place I have ever had the misfortune to wander into. But I have been shocked to learn that you folks also had a terrible winter. Most of the reports, strange to say, came here from the west, and stated that everything freezable in Florida was frozen to a frazzle. A man sat next to me in a beanery one day and told me that he had a friend in South Georgia who wrote him that "in Jacksonville the mercury was under fourteen degrees for three days and nights and that nearly all the orange and grapefruit trees in the whole of Florida were frozen so that they were split open and totally ruined, and all the winter vegetables were ruined." I told the man he was a good natured liar—and he simply said that possibly he had been misinformed. It's a good thing he looked at the matter in that light, else I might not be here today writing you this, as he was as big as a Seminole county sheriff. Still, I am one of the best runners in the state and have never yet been shot in the back. Anyhow, I hope it is not as bad as has been stated, as I own a crop of second growth pine trees in Seminole county and it would grieve me exceedingly if those beautiful trees were frozen and ruined, as it has been a dream for many years to have a little cottage in that pine grove some sweet day by and bye.

I suppose you occasionally hear of the H. C. L. which is keeping the mayors of certain cities in constant torment. Well, it has been steadily going up since last September and probably reached its zenith a month ago. When the Germans played their last hand a month ago and opened up their "ruthless submarine campaign," food prices were higher than they ever have been in the history of the country. Potatoes were $4 a bushel and hard to get; eggs, $2 a dozen; other food high in proportion. As high as fifteen carloads of eggs would leave Chicago IN A DAY, bound for England; the same was true of the spuds; and the warehouses were bursting full of wheat and corn—everything east bound, owned by the British government. But bang! There came the news of so many vessels being sunk. Ships were afraid to leave for the battlefields laden with food and ammunition. Prices began to drop, and the poor people of this city, and probably other places too, began to have hope. Americans were to be starved so that Great Britain could have the food we need! But now that food is not being shipped out of this country in such huge quantities, we are able to supply ourselves. I priced several staples this morning as I came down Clark street. Eggs 28c a dozen, potatoes $2.65 a bushel and even meats from one to three cents a pound cheaper than a month ago. That is a tremendous drop in prices for staples, and I do not see the need of women organizing "food riots" all over the country as long as Germany keeps England from getting all our food. The women in Chicago started to have a "starvation parade" yesterday, but the Chief of Police is a foxy old boy, and he had 500 of his best policemen on hand and "nipped it in the bud" so we had no "hunger riot." But the dear ladies say they will parade next Saturday. If they do there will probably be trouble as the strikers are apt to join them. The women claim that there will be 10,000 of them in line of march and about 15,000 strikers promise to march with them. There is a strike of some kind here every hour of the day and night, and has been ever since last Labor day when there were so many walkouts. From two to five labor organizations are on strike all the time. The big Railroad Strike threat seems to have started them all to strike, but they do not seem to be able to bluff the government like the railroad men did last autumn.

I noticed by last night's papers that President Wilson has declared war on Germany. He did not issue such a proclamation of course, but he ordered merchant vessels to be armed and to "shoot at submarines on sight," WHICH IS THE SAME AS DECLARING WAR. However, Germany may refuse to fight the United States, but if the Teutons are forced to fight against the United States, then look out, we will have a d— of a time pulling the chestnuts out of the fire for King George. It will be a sad time for America, the last goat, to bleed and die for the honor of the Union Jack and the glory of the British Navy. Now do not be surprised if Russia and Japan make peace with Germany and become her allies. That is the logical thing for them to do. Continued on Page 8

Why Michelin Tubes Wear Longer

These cuts show the difference in shape between Michelin tubes and other makes.

The straight tubes are made by rolling rubber around an iron pipe and cementing the ends together. They do not conform to the shape of the tire and when used have to stretch to fit. When rubber stretches it becomes thinner and therefore weaker.

Michelin tubes are made on a ring mandrel, the same circular shape as a tire, and fit the inside wall of the tire perfectly. This shape removes all strain, preserves an even thickness and eliminates pinching and creasing—the main cause of tube troubles.

Michelin Tubes are made of a superior quality of rubber that is compounded by a secret process which preserves their elasticity and softness for years. By actual test they outlast three of any other tubes.

Chuluota is Coming
Chuluota, the beautiful little city of Seminole county is coming and many new people are buying property there and intend to build winter homes.

Our first stop was at Chuluota in Seminole county, a very thriving town with a splendid hotel, depot, and a fine business and residence parts.

Two of our party selected a piece of land on the bank of Lake Mills, only one mile from the town of Chuluota, and the lake extends far up to the town.

Yowell Heads Knights

Late on March 15 (with the election of officers and the selection of a program for the coming year, with the exception of a party that Jacksonville will be across the 24th annual K. of P. convention is drawing to a close this afternoon, with the final entertaining features—a banquet at the Killeb at 8:30 tonight, and a ball at the skating rink at 9 p. m. These events will round out a most successful and enjoyable convention.

The Grand Lodge at its session this afternoon elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: Supreme Lodge Officers N. P. Yowell, Grand Chancellor. W. J. Williams, Vice Chancellor. W. M. Gober, Prelate. J. W. Tompkins, Master of Exchequer. J. H. Coffee, Outer Guard. Paul L. Goss, M. D., Inner Guard. Scott M. Loftin of Pensacola. L. C. Lynch of Gainesville. Splendid addresses by high officials of the Pythian organization at an open meeting in the auditorium, engaged the attention of the delegates and visitors to the K. of P. convention most of the forenoon today.

Quality Shop Opening One of the prettiest millinery openings of the season was that of the Quality Shop yesterday and all day long the Shop was thronged with the ladies who were in ecstasies over the beautiful styles of head gear. Under the able management of Mrs. I. D. Pearson, assisted by Mrs. A. D. Parrish the Quality Shop is proving most popular and the opening was looked forward to by the ladies of this section of Florida. Our staff writer expects to cover the openings and all the millinery stores of Sanford in the big Easter edition of The Herald which will appear on Tuesday, April 3rd.

Interesting Engagement Mrs. Julius Schultz, announced the engagement of her daughter, Evelyn, to Eugene Ernest Ferguson, Bachelor, the marriage to take place the middle of April. The wedding will be a quiet home affair. Miss Schultz is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Julius Schultz. Her attractive personality and charming manner, together with her many talented accomplishments have given her a place among Sanford's most popular girls. Judge Houghlander is quite popular as his bridegroom both in business and social circles. The young couple have hosts of friends who will be cordially invited to the announcement of their engagement.

Personal Mention Mr. Joe Wells, who spent several months in Sanford the last part of the winter, returned Tuesday from Ft. Lauderdale. He is en route to his home in Jacksonville.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Neal and little daughter will leave tomorrow to spend the week end at the Clarendon at Sea Breeze.

Miss Jane Tyler, who has been the attractive guest of Miss Charissa Starling left Tuesday to visit Mrs. Sparrow and Bishop Weed's family in Jacksonville. From there she will go to Savannah, Ga., where she will be the guest of Miss Lester Randolph and Miss Batey. Miss Tyler, who is the daughter of Bishop Tyler of North Dakota received many delightful social attentions while in Sanford.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, who have been spending the winter in Sanford left on Tuesday for Petersburg, Ind., accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Will Hoolehan.

Mrs. LeGette of Valdosta is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Malaby of Port Tampa City are visiting Mrs. Clarence Wolfe.

Mrs. Gragg Maxey and little son, Hugh is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Julia Dossey.

Miss Janet Chapman, the guest of the Misses Schultz is visiting friends for several days at Palm Beach. She will return next week and accompany Misses Gretchen and Olga Schultz on a visit of several days in DeLand.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Calendar Tuesday, March 20—Music Dept. program to Club. Mrs. R. E. Tolar, chairman. Wednesday, March 21—Welfare Department.

Talk: A Journey Through the Yellowstone—Miss Vlara Millen. March 19-24: Baby Week Campaign.

Better Baby Contest—March 21.

The Music Department has prepared an interesting and charming program to be presented to the club on Tuesday afternoon, this being their annual program. The department rejoices in unusual talent both in voice culture and instrumentally and each program meeting is a rare pleasure to the music lovers that attend. This special occasion will be of a social nature as well as musical and should bring out a large attendance. Every member of the club is urged to be present and enjoy with the Department members the specially fine program that is being prepared.

Social Dept. Afternoon Tea With Mrs. B. J. Starling the gracious hostess, afternoon tea with the Social Department at the Woman's Club on Tuesday was a charming event, surrounded with a quiet dignity in keeping with the Lenten season. The tea tables were most attractive with gleaming silver which reflected the modest beauty of purple violets which adorned them. Mrs. C. E. Henry, retiring chairman of the department and Mrs. Julius Schultz, the incoming chairman poured tea, while Mrs. Geo. Fox and Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop presided at the coffee urn and assisted Mrs. Starling throughout the afternoon. Mrs. James Taylor delighted with several beautiful vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Margaret Dyer. Mrs. Dyer, a member of Sanford's favorite musicians whose appearance on any program is always greeted with pleasure. The informal social gathering was much enjoyed, there being a number of guests from the club and other friends in addition to the Social Department members.

Former President at Literature Dept. Mrs. V. C. K. Brown, former president of the Literature Department on Wednesday afternoon. Her appearance was greeted with warm appreciation by friends and associates of former years. By request of the chairman, Mrs. E. R. Philips, Mrs. Brown gave a delightfully informal talk. Her scholarly ability and magnetic charm have won for her many responsible offices in club and nationwide affairs.

Longer Dresses and Shoes Less High Advocated When the Woman's Club meets on Monday afternoon Mrs. G. J. Gault Jennings, the president will introduce a motion to advocate the lowering of shoe tops and the lengthening of skirts to the waist and the high cost of living.

That the women of Jacksonville will liberally become purchasers and fashion setters is expected. The shoe manufacturers will lose, but the dress goods people, who are not so high in their charges for linen, pongee, silk and dress goods will flourish if the motion to buy cott high shoes is carried.

Conservation of shoe leather will be advocated, and the women of the city will aid their husbands in buying the more reasonable articles of wearing apparel. Women are the style makers, and it has remained for Jacksonville to tell the fair sex of the nation their duties along this line. Heretofore the styles have been dictated, but now the women will dictate the styles, and all public spirited women are expected to abide by the decision of the club.

The action on the motion, which will be introduced by Mrs. Jennings is looked forward to with much interest. Jacksonville Metropolis.

Maccabees Notice The Ladies of The Maccabees will meet at the Woman's Club Monday night at 7:30.

Social Life Dull

During the first spring days, when entertaining has practically ceased on account of Lent and the weather makes one feel too listless to undertake anything that requires much effort the Woman's Club are giving some of their most useful and interesting programs and the days are not lacking in something to do for all club members.

the club is expected to attend and enjoy the charming program which has been arranged.

Interesting to a smaller group of people was the silver tea, which was given on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Walker by the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational church.

Small, informal teas, automobile parties in quest of pleasure, school picnics, an occasional one or two tables of bridge and the Elks weekly dances make up the sum of the season's social activities, but there are whispers of weddings and an unusually gay post-Lenten season that will be ushered in with the pretty new gowns and military's wonderful hats at the Easter tide.

others throughout the state and the legislature, when it convenes in April will be asked to take action. The matter will probably be discussed at the General Florida Highway Association's next meeting at Orlando, says the Tampa Times.

Notices have been sent by Secretary L. P. Dickie, to the members of the association, notifying them of the meeting to be held at 9 o'clock in the Orange county court house. The South Florida Chamber of Commerce has been called together for a meeting at the same time and place, and in addition Orlando will be the stopping place for the day of the Tampa to Miami touring party, which is being organized for the trip across the state, down the east coast.

The resolution adopted by the Tallahassee Boosters' club follows: Whereas, the building of good roads in Florida should be done as economically as possible in the matter of labor; and

Whereas, the country at large has come to look upon the convict lease system with abhorrence, and this system has been abandoned in all progressive states; and

Whereas, if the convicts were put to work on all of the roads of the state of Florida for the next two years many miles of first class high-ways would be finished, thus promoting the agricultural and industrial development of this state in the best possible manner to hering more taxpayers into the state as permanent residents, and the resulting benefits would be valuable, financially and otherwise, and ultimately bring into the state treasury a great amount of money that could be received from the leasing of convicts to private contractors or confining their labor to the state farm; therefore, be it

Resolved, that the Tallahassee Boosters' club unanimously endorses the use of all state-owned municipal roads of the state under the direction of the Florida State Road Department, for confining prisoners to the county where sentenced and to be utilized

Resolved, that the members of the legislature, to have the present laws relating to the leasing of convicts amended that said prisoners shall not be leased to private contractors. And be it further

Resolved, that this club recommends that other commercial clubs in the state of Florida adopt a similar resolution and exert their influence to have the convict lease system abolished in Florida, for humane and economic reasons; and that the secretary, he is hereby instructed to send printed copies of this resolution to the boards of county commissioners of each county in Florida, to commercial clubs, to the members of the board of state institutions and members of the legislature of 1917.

Iron for the Future

That iron is the very basis of our industrial civilization will be admitted by the thoughtful, and many of our greatest supplies of iron ore are being rapidly depleted because of the increased per capita consumption of iron in the world over, an increase which is destined to be greater in the future when the races in Asia and Africa increase their consumption of iron. These conditions of increasing consumption of and decreasing reserves have often in the past, particularly about the beginning of this century, says J. E. Johnson in Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering, been used to create a scare, on the ground that our supplies of usable ore were being so rapidly depleted that their extinction would occur within two or three generations. This is a preposterous point of view; because as we lower the percentage of iron ore in the rock, which we call "ore," the quantity of such ore increases at a rate out of all proportion to the decrease in iron content, and as we use leaner and leaner ores technical improvements will be made which will minimize any tendency to increased cost of production. The same thing has happened in gold, silver, copper and other ores, and today copper ores are being worked with only 1.5 per cent of copper in them.

Gulf Fish Killed by Gas.

Reports received by the United States bureau of fisheries show that there were two recent periods of heavy mortality among the fishes on the west coast of Florida, between Naples and Sarasota for 15 or 20 miles off shore. Outbreaks of this phenomenon, which appears to be due to natural causes, occurred on October 3 and October 18, 1916.

The benches were lined with windrows of dead fish. Persons living in the vicinity were affected with inflammation of the mucous membrane induced by some gas, presumably sulphur dioxide, given off from the waters. There is ground for the belief that the conditions are attributable to intertidal disturbances and the release of poisonous gases which rise and pollute the waters.—All Outdoors.

THE GAME OF GOLF

One of Which Every Business Man Should Try For. It Adds Years To Your Life

(Frank Hudaker in Tampa Times)

"Come on, boy, and play the game. You need it, intellectually, physically and—well, otherwise."

"Aw, lemme 'lone, Doc. You preacher folk ain't contented with taking care of a fellow's soul; you insist upon looking after his physical and financial wellbeing as well. Why, I'd rather sit up here on the veranda and talk to one of these Blue Grass belles than play all the games that were ever originated. Furthermore, it's a reflection upon the marvelous sweetness of my voice to think that it doesn't sound better than the noise made by the swat of one of those sticks against a helpless golf ball. You play the game; exercise of the vocal organs is good enough for me."

"There'll come a day, youngster, when you'll remember the advice I am giving you and regret that you did not accept it. This is your last chance, are you coming?"

"Nope! Being as I love you very much, I'd rather see you develop yourself, than to develop my own marvelously made body. Waiter, as I am too young to be allowed the privilege of surrounding a high-ball, I suppose you had better bring me a cigar."

Almost twenty years ago a conversation running something like the above occurred between a famous minister of the gospel and the writer, the scene being the club house veranda of one of the first golf courses established in the south, that is, it was one of the few I knew of, for the "golf bug" with its attendant blessings had not invaded the country at that time. Today it has wedged its way into every cotton section and, because of its interest in our fellow men and women, I am glad indeed that thousands and thousands have responded to its demands in behalf of better health, more happiness and greater success.

I was forcibly reminded of the conversation, also of the divine's prophecy, upon a visit to the Palma Cera Golf club's course, and the thought that came to my mind was, "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: 'It might have been.'" The "good old doctor," who still plays the "grand old game" at the age of sixty or more is as slender and active as a boy, and he preaches with greater power as the years slip by. As for me—well, my once-was sylph-like form has taken on the contour of a squash.

How different my condition would have been if I, like older, wiser men, had followed my friend's advice—had manifested a sensible, health and pleasure bringing interest in golf and other outdoor sports, also in the society of my fellows, instead of drawing, crablike, into the shell of inactivity and indifference. The fact that I had voluntarily thrown away a great deal here in upon me as I watched stalwart men and lither-limbed women walk with childlike briskness over the beautiful course, and my wish was that I could induce every man in the country to take interest in and play the game.

"I wish I was as slender as you are, Charlie," I said, turning to Charlie Smith, the golf expert, who stood beside me.

"Well, you can be," was the reply. "How?" I asked.

"Play golf."

"Aw, I'd rather talk to my friends than play any game," I answered—and the scene and conversation of many years arose again before me.

Every man owes it to himself to patronize or participate in outdoor games, and particularly does this apply to hard worked, mind racked successful business and professional men, for whom the greatest of all games is the game of golf. "Don't take yourself too damned seriously," is a good motto for every man to adopt early in life—and to cling to until the clouds fall on his coffin.

And I claim that the men who are encouraging the playing of golf are, from a physical standpoint and in some other ways, among the greatest benefactors of the present day.

Not many years ago golf was a fad; now it is a fact—a health bringing, thought inspiring fact in the lives of the biggest men in America, including the nation's President.

Get in the game and you and those who are dear to you will not regret it.
