U. S. Army Engineer Pays Visit Here Following Survey

Despite the fact that this has been the worst season in many years for water hyacinths, Col. L. H. Watkins, U. S. Army district engineer from Jacksonville, reported this morning that the St. Johns River channel is practically free from the troublesome weed. Watkins said that the current is strong and that the current or suction program is making good progress.

Col. Watkins and members of his staff visited the upper reaches of Lake Jimmy and Lake Jessup to make plans for continuing their eradication program into those sections.

The district engineer reported that since the fight against the hyacinths was launched, several acres of water plants have been destroyed. In the lower part of the river where the channel is wider, the water hyacinths are more numerous and the work is being done more slowly.

Col. Watkins also said that these plants grow in the lower part of the river where the water is deep and the current is slow. He said that the work is being done more slowly in these sections.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—(AP)—With a roar of approving voices, the American Federation of Labor convention yesterday affirmed its drive on revision of the Wagner act and a new labor board after refusing to take a direct stand on the New Deal as a political issue.

The convention overruled a small dissenting minority in voting to carry on its campaign to place legislative curbs around some of the labor board's discretionary powers, and to secure the reappointment of Edwin S. Smith to the board when his term expires next year.

In a floor speech, John P. Butler of the paper mill workers, warned that revision of the act would be dangerous to the future welfare of workers.

P. P. Campbell Says Main Objectives Of C Of C To Be "Roads, Rates, And Tourists"

"Roads, rates and tourists" will be the main objectives of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce during the next 12 months, P. P. Campbell, recently elected president of the trade body, told the board of directors at their regular monthly meeting last night when the budget for the current fiscal year, calling for an expenditure of $4,900 was adopted.

Presiding over the first meeting of the directors for the new fiscal year, President Campbell declared that each of these projects is in itself a tremendous undertaking, but added, "With the active cooperation of everyone, much can be accomplished."

With reference to the roads, Mr. Campbell particularly mentioned the improvement of State Road No. 41, No. 288, and No. 283 in Seminole County and also the local chamber's cooperation with the St. Johns River, Train Association in obtaining improvements to sections of State Road No. 2.

In regard to the transportation of tourists, Mr. Campbell declared that the chamber is interested in the differential in rates its location makes possible. With this in mind, he said the chamber of commerce should seek an adjustment of the existing rates.

Outlining Seminole's tourist attractions and the increase in the number of tourists visiting Sanford last year, Mr. Campbell pointed out the value of going after the winter months and providing better accommodations and entertainment for them after they visit.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

If ye love me keep my commandments.—John 14:15.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Though is the way of life. Oh, no! It all depends just how you go, rough is the way for him and long. Who tries to walk it without song. Who never seeks when cases open press. Some hidden cause for happiness; Who does not learn before the end. How much it means to be a friend; Who never sees along that way. Some beauty touch each common day; Who has no goal set far ahead. Toward which in patience he may tread; Who does not find in every hour. Some proof of God's abiding power. Who does not vow, that though he fall. To reach his goal, he shall not fail. But thankful be, through peace through strife. He walks with joy his way of life!

ARTHUR WALLACE PEACH

Hitler's "peace offensive" seems to have been largely offensive.

Someone should use a big stick on Seminole County's timber thieves.

Admiral Byrd is planning another expedition to the South Pole and plans to leave Boston early next month. Well, that would seem to be about as good a place as any to spend the next couple of years.

War to Boom Fruit—headline. It should also help the pineapple industry says the Sanford Herald. How about peanuts?—there's bound to be a big demand for shells.—Miami Post. No thank you. We don't care for any.

After those first two games of the world series, we don't see much use in playing the other two. It looks like the Yanks are unmetaphoric. A more equal battle would be to match them with Hitler's bombers. Or with Sanford's league and southeastern champions.—Ocala Banner. We'll take 'em on next year.

We see where German soldiers wearing their war's stripes look to the Middle Ages in more ways than one. The Sanford Herald observes. That gives the European War some an original twist.

Modern war has been shorn of its heroics. There is nothing very glorifying about marching off as a soldier. But neither is it pleasant to be shot as a traitor. If we do not want to raise our boys to be soldiers, we should at least teach them to do their duty to love their country, and to fight for it if ever they are called.

Means To An End

Rereading Adolf Hitler's recent speech before the German Reichstag, we were impressed with the apparent sincerity with which he justifies all the crimes he has committed during his rule over Germany. The murder of his political opponents, the persecution of the Jews and Catholics, the oppression of German minorities, the seizure of Austria and Czechoslovakia, the conquest of Poland, the bombing of women and children in Warsaw, all are justified in his eyes on the grounds that in the end what he is really seeking is peace and prosperity for the German people.

After outlining the various steps by which he brought about the revision of the Versailles Treaty and the present aggrandizement of the German Empire, he declared, "If certain people think themselves obliged to reject with a hypocritical air the method by which a tolerable order of things were established in Central Europe, then my only reply to them is that in the end it is not so much the method but the useful result that counts." In other words, the end justifies the means.

How many times people who have done wrong are inclined to fall back on that doctrine of the devil. And how wrong they are! If dishonorable methods can be justified by worthy objectives, then anything at all can be upheld for the foulest act in the world can be made to appear the means to a more desirable end. Nothing that is wrong is ever the end in itself; it is only the means to an end which is high minded and decent. According to this philosophy, a good objective can be made to cover any multitude of sins.

The bandit who robs a bank excuses himself on the grounds that he needed the money to take care of a sick mother. Franklin Pierce McCall kidnapped little "Skeegie" Cash only as a means to an end. He wanted to buy pretty clothes for his wife and give her the better things of life. The mob which lynches sees itself as ridding the community of an undesirable element. The man who murders shot the policemen only in order to preserve his liberty, freedom and God-given right to independence.

Nor do we have to descend into the gutter to find people who try to justify unworthy acts by good objectives. President Roosevelt believed he was right in undermining the Supreme Court in order to secure the approval of certain legislation which he believed for the common good. The mother who tells her little boy that ghosts will get him if he doesn't mind justifies herself on the grounds that it is for his own good. And the little girl who runs into the street in front of a heavy truck was only chasing a ball.

And so Hitler believes that he is right in plunging the world into the most frightful slaughter of human beings history ever records because the end he really desires to achieve is the peace and prosperity of the German people. But what Hitler does not know, or has forgotten, is that no methods can be justified which are any less honorable than the end in view.

A Nation's Songs

Shortly after the beginning of the last World War there was a song which became popular in the United States admirably illustrating the frame of mind in which most people found themselves at that time. It may be that the younger generation of today has never heard of it, but their fathers and mothers who were youngsters themselves then, will recall it. The title of this song was, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier."

At the crest of its popularity that song perfectly interpreted the sentiment of at least 90 percent of the mothers and fathers. They really didn't raise their boys to be soldiers in those days. They didn't want them to be soldiers. They didn't want them shedding their blood on some other country's battlefields and they didn't care who knew it. But in the short span of two or three years, the popular songs had changed to "Over There" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Now we wonder if there isn't a great deal of sentiment in the country today against raising our boys to be soldiers. There certainly is not one single mother or father that we know of who wants to see their son marching off to the battlefield as millions of sons are already doing in Europe. We are confident that the sentiment in this country is at least 90, perhaps 95, percent against ever sending another American army to Europe, no matter what happens.

But we have been asking ourselves lately whether it is a good idea for the parents of this country again to get into the notion that they didn't raise their boys to be soldiers. If by "soldiers," we mean men who go out and kill and plunder ruthlessly against a weaker nation, why of course we do not want to raise any boys like that. But if by "soldiers," we mean men who are willing to do their duty and die in defense of their country, and their country's rights and institutions, we are inclined to believe we may need all of them we can get.

Though the parents of America did not raise their boys to be soldiers in the first decade of this century, they became soldiers anyway. Five million of them were called to the colors and saw some kind of service. More than two million actually went overseas and many of them faced the enemy on the battlefield. Many American boys who had not been raised to be soldiers had to face an enemy on the battlefield that had been trained from earliest infancy in the arts of war, in the technique of killing. That was some disadvantage.

Whether we raise our boys to be soldiers or not, there are other nations in the world which are raising theirs in the best schools of warfare. From earliest childhood they are being trained day and night, not only how to use a gun, for that is the simplest lesson, but in rigid military discipline, in drills and formations, in physical education, and in all the most advanced sciences of human destruction. Some day our boys may have to fight these other boys whether we want them to or not. And when their country calls there will be only one thing for them to do and that is to fight.

On second thought, there is one other thing they may do. Not many of the young men of today will remember Grover Cleveland Bergdoll other than as a man who has been in the newspaper headlines recently following some sort of a court martial. Their parents will remember him as "World War Slacker One," the millionaire playboy and draft dodger, who refused to answer his country's call and fled to Germany where he has been an exile, a man without a country, ever since. He has just returned, fleeing from Allied bombs which may make civilian centers as dangerous as battlefields, and has been sentenced to prison.

Modern war has been shorn of its heroics. There is nothing very glorifying about marching off as a soldier. But neither is it pleasant to be shot as a traitor. If we do not want to raise our boys to be soldiers, we should at least teach them to do their duty to love their country, and to fight for it if ever they are called.

(Continued From Page One) child and his progress by observing other children in their work and play. It has made me aware of the child's needs and of what is involved in fulfilling his needs. My horizons have become larger, my vision more clear. To me it seems that the parent-teacher association will have served its purpose, if it helps fathers and mothers to see their children as a part of the oncoming generation and to work towards making that oncoming generation happy and useful citizens, devoted to the democratic way of life.

The philosophy of the parent-teacher organization, as taken from the 1939 manual is as follows: "The parent-teacher organization has a three-fold purpose: to know the child through child study and parent education; to co-operate with the schools and other educational agencies in his training through shared participation with teachers and educators; and to control and build his environment through development of public opinion and civic activity."

The parent-teacher association provides an opportunity for the membership to share in the joint responsibilities of the home, the school and the community. The test of achievement is the growth and development of a membership which through participation responds intelligently and purposefully to all the demands of a new citizenship for a new day.

Florida Publicized By Famous Writer

ARCADIA, Oct. 11.—(FNS)—Florida's great "Wild West" well spiced with fighting, feuding, fishing, and looting, was given a big play in last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Courtney Ryley Cooper, the author, wrote a splendid description of the annual rodeo held at Arcadia which should bring a lot of tenderfoot Easterners to the celebration this year.

Woven through the article is the story of Florida's early struggles with scrub cattle, ticks and fever; the introduction of hump-backed Alabama cattle and the development of a new type of "western" beef as fine as the world has ever known.

The improvement in the economic condition of our cattlemen resulting from improved markets through the building of State Farmers Markets in cattle areas is given a prominent place in this informative article. Kissimmee's federally supervised market, which accommodates 5,000 head of cattle and often does an auction business of $15,000 in a day, is cited as an example.

Stetson Botanist To Address Garden Club

Dr. Cornelia Marshall Smith, wife of Dr. Charles Smith, dean of Stetson University, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Sanford Garden Club which will be held at the Woman's Club at 11:00 o'clock on Friday, Oct. 13.

Dr. Smith, who is described as modest and charming with a simple and natural manner of speech, is a professor of biology at Stetson. She is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a member of the Botanical Society of America.

The author of numerous articles on botany and allied subjects, many of which have been published in the Botanical Gazette, she is also listed in the American Men of Science and Who's Who Among American Women.

Dr. Smith received her A. B. degree from Baylor University in 1915. Later she received an M. A. degree from the University of Chicago and a Ph. D. degree from Johns Hopkins University. She is a member of the Texas Academy of Science and the Florida Academy of Science.

Illustrating her talk with slides which are described as unusually beautiful, Dr. Smith will talk to the garden club on the subject of flowers, which all Garden Club members and flower lovers are cordially invited by officials of the club to hear.

L. H. Bridge Club Holds First Meet

The newly organized L. H. Bridge Club held its first meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Martha Adams on West North Street. The club will hold a weekly meeting on Tuesday night, rotating with its members.

The club was organized by Mrs. H. B. O'Brien Jr. and consisted of Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Margaret Reitz, Mrs. Maudie Dugley, Miss Dora Wathen, Mrs. Marion E. Truluck, Mrs. John Hall, Miss Elizabeth Hukens, Mrs. Katherine Thibodeau, Mrs. Anna Cornell and Mrs. H. B. O'Brien Jr.

Mrs. Williams Talks On Baptist Doctrine

Mrs. Volie Williams gave an interesting talk on the Baptist doctrine at the regular meeting of the Woman's Home Demonstration Club of the First Baptist Church which met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Brooks Jr. on Park Avenue.

Mrs. Williams, chairman of the club, discussed the doctrine of the Baptist Church, which she said is based on the Bible and the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Florida Power Drops Osceola 15 To 1 In Free Scoring Game

Kinlaw Permits Osceolans But One Hit; Also Paces Team Mates At Bat With Triple, Three Singles

Florida Power produced a powerful batting attack and a sparkling pitching performance by Ed Kinlaw last night to defeat Osceola 15 to 1.

Kinlaw came close to hurling a no-hit no-run game but a single by Winger in the sixth inning robbed him of the honor. For five innings he held complete control and never seemed on the verge of letting down. The single in the sixth was the only safety he gave up for the evening.

Florida Power collected 15 hits off the offerings of the Osceola hurlers but their total would have been less had the Osceola outfielders been able to judge the balls that came their way. Time after time long, high fly balls were misjudged completely.

Errors played a prominent part in Osceola's downfall, the Blue-shirts being guilty of nine miscues.

Osceola's lone score was tallied in the sixth. Dalbo walked, went to second on a fielder's choice and advanced to third on the same play, coming home on Winger's single.

Florida Power scored almost at will, pushing across five runs in the second inning, three in the third, four in the fourth, two in the fifth, and one in the sixth.

Fitcher Kinlaw not only tossed his team to victory but paced his mates at the plate with a triple and three singles. Weaver connected for a triple and two singles.

There is no game tonight but tomorrow Reel and Lemmond tangle.

Score by innings: R H E
Osceola 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 1 0
Fla. Power 0 5 3 4 2 1 x 15 15 1

Batteries: Osceola, Farrin, Bylonis and Patrick. Fla. Power, Kinlaw and Whidden.

Field Trials To Begin Sunday In Marion County

The sixth annual field trials of the Marion County Fox Hunter's association will be held at Ocala three days, beginning the morning of Oct. 15. It has been announced by W. D. Heister, president of the Marion county association.

W. D. Waits of Sanford will enter five dogs in the meet. One of these, a 11-month old puppy—Flying Clipper out of Flying Eagle one of the most famous of all bench show winners—Mr. Waits expects to make an excellent showing.

Invitations have been extended to hunters from all parts of Florida and Georgia and it is expected that more than 100 dogs will be entered.

Headquarters for the meet will be at the Ocala House hotel and all hunters who wish to enter dogs are urged to get their entries in by Saturday, Oct. 14.

The first cast will be staged at daybreak about three miles east of Ocala with a puppy race on the program for Sunday afternoon. A bench show will be held Monday night, Oct. 16, and the final cast will be run Tuesday morning.

Winners of all events will be announced Tuesday afternoon and the judges will present the trophies in the lobby of the hotel. Winners of the all-age and derby class hounds will be awarded silver pitcher trophies with silver goblets going to the hunters whose dogs place second, third and fourth.

The puppies will run after a released fox and the winner of this event will be awarded a beautiful silver cup, donated by Holmes L. Allen of Miami.

Horses will be available for those who wish to ride and a nice camping spot has been found for those who wish to pitch their tents for the three day hunt.

To Ease Women's Pain: "Build-Up"

Do you suffer periodically from headaches, nervousness, irritability, restlessness or cramp like pains? If so, here's good news! These may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea, which is so often caused by undernourishment. By improving the appetite, digestion, assimilation through the proper use of CARDUI, women by thousands find they are able to build strength, energy, and nerve-force. Thus, periodical pain is relieved for many users of CARDUI. By taking it just before and during "the time," women by thousands report that CARDUI also helps to allay the pain and discomfort of the period.

CHALKING 'EM UP

With CHARLIE CHALKER

A Real Playground
Fort Mellon Park is rapidly becoming one of the finest play spots in the State. That long stretch along the lake front can't be equaled in the entire State. Jacksonville has its Memorial park—a gem of beautiful landscaping in a setting that can hardly be surpassed—Miami, Palm Beach, St. Augustine, and Orlando have their parks too, but none of these cities will be able to boast of a better park than Fort Mellon.

At present only part of the tremendous space there has been sowed to grass or set with trees. The eastern half will be completed later. When that is done the people of Sanford can well feel proud of themselves for having achieved something extremely worthwhile.

In the western half of the park, basketball, sand-tennis courts, a tennis court, and at present, construction is underway on six bowling alleys and a miniature golf course. The two latter features will be privately owned and a charge will be made for use of them but the others are owned by the City and are free to the public. The idea back of leasing of space for the bowling alleys and miniature golf course was that the City could understand the expense at this time of such construction and yet it was felt that bowling alleys and a miniature golf course would mean a great deal to those persons who have to go to Orlando or Deland to bowl or play miniature golf.

All of the features in the park with the exception of the tennis court will be lighted for night play.

Recreation Problem Not Simple
While on the subject of recreational facilities, we may as well note the appointment of a recreation advisory board by Mayor Higgins. The board will see that City Recreation is adequately conducted as it should be. Recreation seems a simple matter. Many persons think it consists only of getting a tennis ball and racquet, or some kind of ball and bat, and going out and playing with somebody. Proper conduct of recreation is an extremely difficult proposition. The program is designed to reach all classes and this calls for providing a number of different kinds of games or sports at varying times. Some of America's more progressive cities pay recreational directors and boards thousands of dollars each year to insure proper recreation for its citizens.

United States Requests Soviet Russia Not To Break Peace With Finns

American Move Made By Ambassador As Finnish Envoy Held Talks At Kremlin

Nazis Still Are Hoping For Peace

Increasing Activity On Western Front Reported By French

The United States sent Soviet Russia a message today which was said authoritatively to express the "earnest hope" that nothing would disrupt peace with Finland.

Simultaneously Prime Minister Chamberlain declared Britain and France would not make peace on Adolf Hitler's terms.

The American move, made through Ambassador Steinhardt in Moscow, came as the Finnish envoy entered the Kremlin for another of a series of talks which thus far has given Russia a clean sweep of the small Baltic nations.

Anxiety over Finland's fate was raised by the fact that Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania became virtual Soviet protectorates after their envoys had similar talks in Moscow.

Reports from the West indicate that the Soviet government is perfecting air raid defenses.

The Finnish press expressed determination to preserve the nation's neutrality.

Through Germany's war chiefs were shaping plans on the theory that the war on the Western Front must run its course.

First unofficial comment in Berlin was that Chamberlain, like Premier Daladier in France, did not answer Hitler fully.

A German news agency published a report claiming mastery of the North Sea despite British maritime blockade.

Increasing operations on the Western Front were reported by the French who asserted German patrol attacks failed to gain "an inch of ground" in the past three days.

Artillery thundered along a 100-mile front but still there was no major offensive action.

The British Press Association reported the 15,615 ton German steamer Cap Nord had been captured by the British Navy.

Senator Bennett C. Clark yesterday bitterly assailed President Roosevelt's war policy and charged that the neutrality bill that Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson had made "moronic, idiotic and unparliamentary."

NEW MOVES IN THE TROUBLED BALTIC

Russia continues drive for Baltic domination with Finland the newest target. While Finland and Russia hold conversations at Moscow, both nations mass troops on border.

Sanford Kiwanis Convention Bid Made Too Late

Attempts To Bring Mid-Winter Meet Here Being Made

Sanford's bid for the 1940 Kiwanis convention was received too late, delegates from the local club told members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon in the Valdes Hotel yesterday.

However they pointed out that a strong bid is being made for the mid-winter conference of the Florida district which annually attracts 400 to 500 delegates.

The delegates reported that J. Edwin Baker of Umatilla was selected governor of the Florida district at the state convention Tuesday and St. Petersburg was named as the 1940 meeting place.

Baker is superintendent of the Harry Anscombe home for crippled children at Umatilla. He is past president of the Florida Kiwanis Association and former Kiwanis International governor for the central division.

St. Petersburg was selected as the site of next year's convention without opposition as a bid from Sanford was received too late.

The Jacksonville club was awarded a copy for its work among underprivileged children, having provided food and medicine for 188 babies during the past year.

The West Palm Beach group earned an achievement award for its clinic at central school.

A committee which studied the problem of tuition for non-residents of Florida schools recommended that it be left to the discretion of county governments.

The citizens of Sanford and Seminole County have directed a campaign of protests against "undesirable projects" during the past several weeks and their efforts have brought a measure of success.

The County also is seeking orders to eliminate the presence of projects at some of the places through refusal to renew the licenses for certain operators.

Bremen Is In Russian Port, Seaman Says

Dutch Cook On German Ship Relates Thrilling Voyage Under Soviet Flag

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—A Netherlands seaman named Post, on the German liner Bremen declared today the vessel had reached Murmansk, North Russian port, after a thrilling voyage during which she flew the Soviet flag and preparations were made to destroy her rather than allow her to fall in British hands.

Post, a cook, and the only Dutch seaman on the big German ship, told the story on his arrival here.

He said Capt. Adolf Ahrens skirted the blockade of the British fleet with barrels of gas lying on deck ready for the burning of the vessel rather than allow her to be captured by the British.

Red Spies Kept In U. S. Army, Dies Committee Hears

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Walter G. Krivitsky, former Soviet military intelligence chief, told the Dies investigating committee yesterday that Joseph Stalin of Russia maintained spies in the United States army and navy and that the American Communist party took direct orders from him.

The one-time Russian general presented a sweeping expose of alleged Soviet intrigue, substance of which was that Stalin kept all national units of the Communist International under his thumb, that he had executed nine former party leaders in Germany, Poland and Hungary and "disciplined" hundreds of others.

He also testified through an interpreter, while newswired cameramen and newspaper photographers recorded the scene.

One of his first acts was to contradict previous testimony of Earl Browder, Communist leader in the United States, who said that the American party was an autonomous and independent Stalin, Krivitsky declared, "completely controls" party policies in this country.

Moscow also subsidized the American party through the Russian embassy here, he said, in contrast to Browder's denial that it received funds from the Kremlin.

Krivitsky did not know of his own personal knowledge that there were Russian spies in the United States, he said, but he said he was sure that the American party was a purely precautionary measure by Moscow.

He said, however, he said, had convinced him that Russian activity here was carried out along the same lines followed in other countries.

Iroquois Completes Atlantic Crossing

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP)—With colored lights gleaming cheerfully on her little after-deck, the American liner Iroquois—whom the German admiralty had said would be sunk near the American coast—pulled safely into her dock last night bringing 277 Americans from Europe.

She was conveyed to the entrance of New York harbor by two navy destroyers, attached to her as a purely precautionary measure by the White House after the receipt of an assertion from Grand Admiral Raeder of the German fleet that she would be sunk under circumstances similar to the destruction of the British liner Athenia.

This was an implication that she would be sunk by the British or the French, since the Germans disclaimed any responsibility for the Athenia disaster.

The Iroquois passengers had been told Monday by the liner's master, Capt. E. A. Cochran, that a threat against her had been made although they received none of the details until landing here.

They were called together by the captain and given a verbal explanation after the destroyers had come alongside. In the resultant search for explosives aboard the Iroquois—a search ordered by the American government—some abnormal circumstances were noted.

As a result, the Iroquois pulled into her pier some 2,000 feet from the water, where she was being heavily searched across the water, and some near the Starboard side.

Chamberlain Refuses To Accept Hitler Peace Bid

Prime Minister Says Nazi Chief May Have "Real And Settled" Peace If He Wishes

German Proposals Declared "Vague"

Opposition Leader Talks In Favor Of Chamberlain Stand

LONDON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told Adolf Hitler today he could have peace if he wanted it but it "must be a real and settled peace" and not that outlined by the German Fuehrer in the Reichstag last Friday.

Replying to Hitler's peace overtures, Chamberlain told the House of Commons that Britain would not accept the German proposals.

He said proposals of Hitler's speech were "vague and uncertain and contain no suggestion for fighting the wrong done by Czechoslovakia and Poland."

The German government and German people alone, he declared, "stand in the way of the peace we are determined to secure."

"The Prime Minister said that having 'convincing proof' by definite acts and guarantees of Hitler's will for peace, Britain and France 'must persevere in our duty to the end.'"

Chamberlain finished his speech by declaring that the British people would support the Prime Minister's words.

Replying, Chamberlain declared that he would not accept such a basis for peace as Hitler proposed without "convincing proof."

Roosevelt Asks CIO For Peace In Labor Unions

Appeal Is Similar To One President Sent To AFL Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—President Roosevelt appealed to the Congress of Industrial Organizations' convention yesterday for peace in the labor movement.

He said that the American people are tired of the search for an accord, and that they want peace, order and cooperation.

The appeal, addressed personally to John L. Lewis, president of the CIO, was similar to one the President sent to the American Federation of Labor yesterday.

"If we desire peace and order in the world we must begin to practice these in the small and large things of our own life," President Roosevelt's message said.

"The continued conflict and separation in the labor movement can hardly be overlooked, in these days, when discord in any group is so harmful to world peace."

"I have already asked the American Federation of Labor at its convention to continue wholeheartedly and generously the search for an accord. I now ask your body to do the same. The hold in honor those whose insight, courage and unselfishness can effect it."

"I hope you will let me hear from you that the progress already made will be continued and that your committee is prepared to renew the negotiations promptly and continue them until a settlement is reached."

Lewis, prior to the opening of the convention, indicated a reply in the message would be left in the hands of the convention.

Harry Bridges, west coast CIO director, had stated there was only a slim possibility of the two labor groups reuniting unless the industrial setup of the CIO could be preserved.

Labor leaders said a paragraph in President Roosevelt's message might be construed as a guarantee that the rights labor had won would not be abrogated on (Continued on Page Five)
