"March Of Dimes" Drive Is New Under Way In Seminole County

Reports of all sorts over the whole country have raised large sums for the infantile paralysis fund. Prize fights are the backbone of the Free Milk Fund. All these football games support the "March Of Dimes" drive, conducted by the New York Herald Tribune, and the Chicago Tribune, for the benefit of the children, and the "March Of Dimes" drive is now being conducted in Seminole County by a big group.

A game between Sanford and Leesburg for the infantile paralysis fund netted $145.00. The Sanford team, led by Coach McLaughlin, defeated the Leesburg team, led by Coach McLaughlin, by a score of 10-0. The game was held at Sanford on Saturday afternoon.

Major Loss Felt By Reds, Firms Assert

Indications Are That Only Fraction Of Four Russian Divisions Get Away

Churchill Says Only 15 Of 7,500 Ships Conveyed Are Lost

London, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Firms reported today that losses of tanks and Finnish tanks had resulted in a major defeat for Russian forces above Lake Ladoga in northeastern Finland, where the Russian had four divisions.

Unofficial Finnish sources said the battle was held in Finland that only a fraction of four divisions had escaped in crossing. Russian troops to the Finnish trap had abandoned hundreds of tanks, aircraft, and material.

Against the Red army's proclamation that "nothing of importance had been done," a Finnish source said: "The Russian divisions, moved in the Finnish region after yesterday's battle, were reported to have been abandoned to the Finnish army. The Russian army has been retreating through the Finnish lines in the direction of Lake Ladoga. The Russian army has been retreating through the Finnish lines in the direction of Lake Ladoga. Another night of sub-freezing temperatures was predicted for Seminole County tonight as citrus and truck growers surveyed the damage done to their crops by last night's cold, which reached an official low of 23 degrees.

The weather man predicted a heavy frost for the central portion of Florida tonight with temperatures ranging from 21 to 29 degrees.

The Veterans Service Unit at Lakeland told fruitmen and growers to expect temperatures in the severe teens to ten deep into peninsular Florida tonight and tomorrow morning.

The forecast was a bright, clear sky with a light rain fall on the mercury between 6:00 and 8:00 P. M. tonight.

Monday should mark the end of severe temperatures in this cold wave, the official said.

Among the low predicted: Glen St. Mary, 13; Ocala, 16; Hastings, 18; Bunnell, 20; Florham, 16; New Smyrna and Mims, 19; Deland, 16; Sanford and Oviedo, 21; Howey, 17; Brooksville and Lakeland, 21; Clewater, 23; Moore Haven, 22; Homestead, 24.

Local growers and shippers reported that the celery crop has been damaged by the continued cold wave, the longest in many years, "but no one knows how much," one shipper said. Some estimates on the loss in the per acre yield for the part of the crop which will be harvested in February run as high as 50 percent.

Despite the apparent damage from the cold, growers are generally optimistic and expressed belief that better prices will offset any losses in yield. "The future looks bright to me," said one grower.

"Lettuce, escarole and other leaf crops were hardest hit by last night's cold but there is only a small acreage of these crops in this county. Cabbage, bunch vegetables and most of the other crops which are in season, have not been severely damaged by the cold. There is some strawberry acreage in the county and growers reported that the cold had not damaged the plants appreciably but that the yield has been reduced to almost nothing, resulting in an increase in price.

Reports from the Moore Haven district indicated that the cabbage crop there was damaged resulting in a jump in price for cabbage in that section to as high as $50 per ton. Prices for vegetables at the local State Farmers' Market also continued to rise.

Seminole County's citrus crop, too, was damaged but the extent of this damage was not immediately known, and will depend largely upon the weather within (Continued on Page 24)

The "Third Term" Again

Efforts to smother President Roosevelt out on the subject of a third term are continuing with increasing fury as the pre-convention campaign season approaches. Reporters at his press conference yesterday morning asked for comment on Lewis' "ignominious defeat" statement, and received only a verbal slap in reply.

Senator Wheeler of Montana, who seems to be the CIO's political favorite at this time, is fairly begging for the President to declare himself. His continued silence on this subject is threatening the Democratic party with disaster, the Senator declares. "The longer the situation exists the more chaotic conditions become. If he wants the nomination he should say so."

And undoubtedly, if the President wanted it, he would say so. But of course he doesn't want it. Why should he want it? He has had it for eight years. He has been elected once, and re-elected once to the highest office in the land. He has had all the honor there is in it. What more is there for him to get out of it if he should have it for four more years? There is no money in it, and besides he has all the money he wants anyway.

On the other hand, if he does run again, he could expect the most bitter opposition he has ever received. Not only would Republicans fight him as they never have before, not only would all those who are naturally opposed to the New Deal move heaven and earth to defeat him, but so also would many of the regular New Dealers who simply do not believe that any President should seek to perpetuate himself in office, and who know only too well that a third term is a long step in that direction.

This does not necessarily mean that the President would meet with "ignominious defeat," but it does mean a hot and acrimonious presidential campaign, and if the President should be re-elected, it would mean a continuation of the struggle throughout his term of office. It would be a severe strain on him and a severe strain on the country. It is inconceivable that the President should desire any such consequences.

At the present time, in the light of world conditions and the situation at home, the best thing that could happen would be for the Democrats and the Republicans alike to nominate men for the presidency of the same general type and character, men with the same liberal tendencies and the same broad outlook on world affairs, so that no great issues might develop, and no heated controversies result.

Then no matter who might be elected, the voters who lost could still accept the leadership of the successful candidate, and the country would be united during the next four years which promise to be one of the most trying periods in this country's history.

 tative Treadway of Massachusetts.
 "I am considering the Secretary of State's position as far as while you still are thinking of conditions twenty years ago."

This little episode tells pretty much the whole story of the present conflict in economic policy of the majority and the minority parties.

The G. O. P., as is evidenced by the utterances of Senators Vandenberg and Taft, District Attorney Dewey, and others, is still thinking in terms of the Harding-Coolidge period. Their philosophy is the philosophy of the Smoot-Hawley tariff, that monstrously high tariff that movement to help the farmer through the tariff and wound up as the most ghastly customs bill this country has ever seen,
 and one which not only provoked reprisals all over the world but took the farmer's foreign market clean away from him.

The Hull agreements are as far from the Smoot-Hawley idea as the economic and humanitarian principles of the Roosevelt policy are away from the smug principles of the twenties when it was an accepted fact of the then dominant party that whatever his business wanted was O. K. and granting it was the province and business of the United States to be secured.

In those happy days the Connecticut, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Associations would stir tariff bills,
 bill this country has ever seen,
 and one which not only provoked reprisals all over the world but took the farmer's foreign market clean away from him.

More practical means of a possible separation could not be Internationalism was not their concern. They were the government's own interests. Community to protect their interests. They were not interested

An Old Custom

A reminder that the American people should not take too seriously the searching of American mails by the British comes from the Palm Beach Post which points out that this is an old American custom as well as British, and in fact is one of the inevitable consequences of war which always makes the neutral more difficult than in times of peace.

The Post's comment on the subject is as follows:

"British search American ships and searches United States mails for letters, or contraband."

"Great Britain searches American vessels overy long at its contraband, especially at Gibraltar."

"Secrets of the State Department protectors; Britain polices and refuses to halt her activities."

"Senators complain against the English... but the American public is noticeably apathetic."

Daily news stories tell us all this.

English propagandists clutter auditoriums and radio programs explaining the position of Britain and France in the present war; seeking to influence Americans to the Allied cause, while their bungling government goes ahead with British doggedness overseas cancelling such propa- ganda by high-handed methods against Yankee shipping and Yankee mails on the high seas.

RUT—let us forget...

Back in 1914-15-16, the American State Department was protesting almost the same incidents perpetrated by the British in their war with Imperial Germany; and Britain was just as adamant then as now.

And back in 1917-18, the United States was using the same tactics against other neutrals; using the self-same contraband list that Britain now is using; halting ships on the high seas for inspection of mails and cargoes.

So, here we are back at the same old "vicious circle," as it were.

Let us we forgotten—

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Three naturalized citizens, accused with others of a plot to overthrow the United States government, cannot be deported even if proved guilty.

The three, two Irish and one German in origin, were rounded up in New York by J. Edgar Hoover and his team and a feature of publicity almost as fantastic as the nature of the plot against the government of which the 17 were accused.

The moment an alien completes his citizenship ceremony, he becomes forever immune to deportation except on one condition. Only if it is proved he obtained his citizenship papers by fraud or deceit can he be deported, no matter how undesirable a citizen he may turn out to be.

The 17 men, including the three naturalized citizens, had an array of arms full of powder, rifles, ammunition, machine-gun belts and various impediments which together with other information furnished by J. Edgar Hoover that they had in mind a plot to overthrow the government, led to their arrest.

As a pretense to detain the three naturalized citizens, they were charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

going to blow it up along with a Jewish newspaper.

The Bridge Case
 To a casual spectator it would appear that the main objective of becoming an American citizen would be to enjoy the sort of government and opportunities that America offers. Yet there is no provision in the law which states that a naturalized citizen may be checked back home if he tries to wreck the government he was presumably a devotee of enjoying.

It is pretty well established that an alien applicant for citizenship will be rejected if he has indicated a position to overthrow the United States government by force. Belonging to the Russian branch of the Communist party likely would be enough to bar a candidate for citizenship. That, at least, was the last time Harry Bridges, west coast waterfront labor leader, had to seek to secure his citizenship papers. Later, he was expelled from the party because he was deemed by his own party to be a Communist.

More practical means of a possible separation could not be as a reasonable business.

Internationalism was not their concern. They were the government's own interests. Community to protect their inter-est. They were not interested in any other country's inter-est. They were not interested in any other country's inter-est.

TRADE AT HOME!

As advocated by former Mayor Higgins and The Sanford Herald, be loyal to Sanford and Seminole County. When you can buy at home, do not buy elsewhere. See what that splendid trade-at-home campaign did for the merchants of Sanford this Christmas! The same patriotic policy will win for Seminole County a resident senator representing the 37th District in the Florida Senate. And That Is One Thing Seminole County Has Never Had! May is Florida's political Christmas. No one in Brevard or Seminole Counties is better equipped to do more for the 37th senatorial district than Ernest F. Housholder. So spend your elective power—your vote—at home on a Seminole County product. Elect Housholder to the Florida Senate and be proud of the fact that you have a home boy working for your best interests—not his own—up there in Tallahassee.

Joe Reising, Southern California center, pops in a close-up shot against U. C. L. A. in Los Angeles as trio of Bruins try vainly to stop him. It was the Bruins' 30th consecutive Pacific Coast Conference defeat and their 27th straight setback by the Trojans.

Crim battle for life between two giant moose in the Farewell Lake region of Alaska ends while Wildlife Agent Jack Benson looks on. This is one of few pictures ever taken of moose with horns interlocked in death grip. Benson lassoed the animals, sawed off the antlers of the vanquished animal to enable the victor to escape. Both combatants usually die after they have locked antlers.

WASHINGTON, January—Keith Morgan, National Chairman, and members of the Committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday tell President Roosevelt at White House conference that drive for "Fight Infantile Paralysis" funds is being speeded up in every state. "March of Dimes" contributions are rolling into the White House in a steady stream. Chairman Morgan's report declared that over 10,000 celebrations will be held in honor of the President's 68th birthday, Tuesday, January 30, when the drive will reach its climax. Last appeals are being made to every one to contribute something to the fund to fight the crippling disease. Those with the President are (left to right) District Commissioner George E. Allen; Col. D. Walker West, of New York, Assistant National Chairman; George V. Riley, and Keith Morgan, National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday.

WALTER B. PITKIN, author of "Life Begins at Forty" and holder of the record of three "best sellers" in one year, after a visit to the Sarasota Jungle, Florida's newest showplace, one-half mile south of the Ringling Museum of Art, declared: "I've been seeing trees, plants and flowers which hitherto have been looked upon only by explorers in the upper reaches of the Amazon and the swamps of Malaya. I am not a botanist, but I can say that I entered this jungle with no knowledge of and scanty interest in what lay ahead. I came out deeply excited. I shall come back again this winter, when I have time to linger and study."

Plan to spend $4,000,000 to fortify and improve harbor at Guam was revealed in testimony of Admiral Harold Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, before House Naval Affairs Committee. Proposed bill for similar project was defeated in Congress last year.

THE ANTICS of Adolf Hitler apparently evoke no enthusiasm among the three Atlanta, Ga., localities here shown returning the salute of "Adolf the Snow Man." The record nine and a half-inch snowfall at Atlanta brought forth a lot of snow men among them this one. Right to left: Mrs. Luther Drennon, Nita McIlinden, Mildred Graham and—of course—"Adolf."
