No objections to county budget

By Vicki Belluccia
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The people of Seminole County spoke loud and clear about what they thought of the proposed 1998-99 county budget.

Without a single comment from the public, the board of county commissioners passed the budget 4-0 at a special meeting of the board on Wednesday night.

Chairman Randy Morris called twice for public comment, hearing none, he noted that "the people have spoken" by their lack of discussion on the matter.

"They've spoken quite clearly on this budget," Morris said.

Commissioner Win Adams was absent as his colleagues discussed the $378.9 million budget only in general terms. They said they didn't want to make any decisions on amending the budget without a full complement of commissioners on the dais to vote.

Commissioner Dick Van Der Weide cautioned his fellow board members about making any moves to change the budget without all of the members present.

"It might be premature to remove anything with one commissioner missing," he said. "I would assume Mr. Adams will be here next time. It would be foolhardy to make a move without him."

Commissioner Grant Maloy suggested $300,000 could be sliced from the budget by eliminating proposed renovations to the county attorney's office, renovations to the front entrance to the County Services Building and the calendar/annual report that is mailed to all county citizens.

"We could lower the millage rate, even just a little, by eliminating these items," Maloy suggested.

As it stands, the millage rate for the county is 5.2813 and 8.0375 for those in the unincorporated special districts.

Under the proposed millage rate, the owner of a $100,000 home with a $25,000 homestead exemption in the unincorporated area of the county would pay $602.81 in taxes for the county commission portion. Please See Budget, Page 3A

Park to be dedicated to Dunn

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The city on Tuesday will honor James L. Dunn in a park dedication ceremony at 10 a.m.

Marking the 100th anniversary of Dunn's birth, Lake Gem Park, located on 24th Street off Mellonville Avenue, will be renamed James L. Dunn Park. A magnolia tree will be planted in his honor. City officials will attend, with Mayor Larry Dale scheduled to speak.

"That was his favorite tree," said Sarah Miller, Dunn's daughter, who is coordinating the ceremony. "He used to bring us magnolia blossoms."

Dunn worked for the city as its superintendent of parks and recreation for almost 20 years. He retired in 1964 and died one year later.

"He was a very devoted employee and a sportsman," Miller said. "He loved to hunt and fish and tried to make sure he put what he took back into the earth."

She recalled when he once removed a deer that had become dangerous to the animals from Monkey Island at the zoo.

"With the help of the people from game and fish, he loaded the deer on the back of his pickup truck and released it into the woods," she said.

Dunn designed many of the playgrounds and recreational facilities still in use today. He built the duck pond at Fort Mellon Park and also installed an antique fire engine for children to enjoy.

Miller said her father was "thrilled" when the Sanford Historical Stadium was constructed because the high school teams could play on.

Bush centers campaign around family needs

By Tony Tizilo
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Republican candidate for governor Jeb Bush recently visited Central Florida on a mission. His mission is to make Florida a better place for everyone, especially for children. Bush visited Seminole County's Juvenile Assessment Center in Sanford and later talked about his life, family and his upcoming election.

"We need to build a state of opportunity for people," Bush said. Coming from a family dedicated to public service, the 45-year-old Bush added, "Most of the joy in my life has been serving others."

He says he's especially concerned about the children of Florida and has made children and their education the banner for his run for governor of Florida. This, his campaign has shown, has been proven in his many youth oriented community service activities such as the Liberty City Charter School which he co-founded in Miami.

Bush attributes his belief in strong family ties to his own very close knit family ties while growing up.

"I was fortunate to have an incredibly supportive mom and dad, former president and first lady, George and Barbara Bush. They created order and lots of love for their four children."

Love is also something he and his wife of 24 years, Columba, passed down to their three children, George, Noelle and Jeb. Bush was especially excited on this day because his oldest son, George, had just started his teaching career, teaching social studies.

Bush's family helped him decide to run for governor.

"My whole family is very supportive of my running for governor. I would not be running if I believed it would hurt them in any way," Bush said.

Children and families were also on his mind as he visited the Juvenile Assessment Center. The JAC reduces the time that law enforcement officers deal with juveniles in the criminal justice system.

The center also provides guidance in referring juveniles to the right program or service.

Mini-grants for teachers

GAINESVILLE — Florida Farm Bureau Federation is offering elementary and middle school teachers up to $250 each to help them incorporate agriculture into their classroom instruction during the 1998-99 school year. Any Florida classroom teacher in grade levels 4-8 is invited to apply. This is the fourth year Florida Farm Bureau has offered the grants. During the 1997-98 school year, Farm Bureau awarded 30 Mini Grants.

"We have found that $250 can go a long way in the hands of a creative classroom teacher," said FFBF President Carl B. Loop Jr.

Judges give favorable attention to interdisciplinary approaches and to proposals which require extensive student participation. Proposals should include some measure to assess the effectiveness of the grant-supported activities. Recipients are required to file a final report by the end of the year. Please see Briefs, Page 3A.

Climb every mountain...at least this one

It's been too hot these days to even think about exercising here in Central Florida. But in Nome, Alaska, they're thinking about sprinting up a mountain today. The Anvil Mountain 59 Minute 37 Second Challenge will have people running up and then back down the 834-foot face of the mountain. Those who take more than the allotted 59 minutes 37 seconds to finish the race are disqualified.

About 1,000 people are expected to take on the mountain. The record time for the challenge was 25 minutes 37 seconds.

Maybe we should think about having a Lake Monroe Midge Rim to see who can run the fastest through the swarms of midges that gather out there at this time of year. (There are fewer of the pests than in past years thanks to a University of Florida experi-

Or, how about a Gator Hop out on Lake Jesup. Lest any Niles fans take umbrage to that suggestion, we were referring only to the fact that there are more of the pesky reptiles in that lake than just about anywhere else you can think of. Hop over a dozen of the critters in say 30 minutes and 10 seconds or less and you win.

Spice up your life

While we have the Sanford

Lions Club's 39th annual spaghetti dinner coming up this weekend, the people of Tulsa, Okla., are celebrating with a little more spice the next couple of days.

Their annual Chili and Bluegrass Festival celebrates the best in hot food and cool music.

Like the Chili Cookoff, which was tried in Sanford a few years ago, this event is sanctioned by the International Chili Society, so the food is guaranteed to be good and hot.

Maybe after we have our fill of yummy spaghetti we might consider spicing things up around here again with a chili festival of our own again.

Look it up in your Funk and Wagnalls.

We all heard that admonishment on Laugh In in the 1960s, and when we did, some of us rushed off after our dictionaries.

But Isaac Kauffman Funk, whose birthday is today, did more than put together a dictionary with his partner.

The publishers put out thousands of books in the course of their partnership and the company that bears their name continues to publish books, including dictionaries today.

Russ White is taking a break. His column, "Today Is...", will return next week.

The way we were: A little of this, a little of that

This is a column of bits and pieces that have been collecting on my desk.

Picture identification

Vera Swain Morrissey called me from Crystal River to identify Jimmy Spivey who is standing between Esther Lou Morrison and Barbara Cassube in Mrs. Dixon's 1946-47 fifth grade class which was published Jan. 28. Vera is also in the picture which someone sent to her.

Those in this picture were in my class (Seminole High School 1954); I was in the room across the hall in fifth grade. I had not heard from Vera since she moved from here to Jacksonville after eighth grade so it was good to be in contact with her again.

Ettie Jane Gleason wrote a note with a correction in the information under the picture of Governor Claude Kirk with some DeMolays. It was Clyde A. Gleason, not Claude, who was Grand Master of the Florida Masons 1965-66.

This was Ettie Jane's uncle and she gave me further information on him and others in her family. Clyde came to Sanford in the mid 1920s with his mother, Ettie Jane's grandmother. Mrs. Gleason later married V.C. Collier who owned Sanford Novelty Works located at 115 N. French Ave. Mr. Collier was a builder and his shop did beautiful finished millwork. (Since receiving this information about Sanford Novelty Works, this firm has cropped up in my other research. You will read further about it in future columns.)

Ettie Jane's parents came to Sanford about the same time and her dad, Homer Gleason, worked for Mr. Collier. The shop burned in July of 1936 or 1937.

I also had a caller give me information on some people in the 1907 Sanford Band which was published June 20. The three women in the picture were daughters of J.N. Stumon, band director. Jessie Stumon (Mrs. R.E.) Herndon in the second row used to go into the schools to play her trumpet for the children. Her sons, Emmet and Robert, also played instruments.

Junie Stumon (Mrs. E.L.) Burdick is in the third row. Her children were Margaret June and Rosemary. Josie Stumon in the back row was married to Gwynn Fox, the brother of Martha Fox who never married and lived into her 90s at 1306 Park Ave.

The third person from the right in the front row is perhaps Cottrell Talley. I know that a Cottrell Talley married Kathleen Laney who graduated from SHS in 1934; perhaps this was his father?

The third person from the left on the second row is Felix Frank. He had a sister Flossie who married a Lazarus. L.D. Brown was Felix Frank's cousin.

Others in this 1907 band but not pictured were Harold Haskins and Barney Smart.

Dr. Vann Parker corrected the name of the person who owned the property where the Mayfair Golf Course is now located. It was Charles Amory, not Emory, and he is the one who built the house which is now part of the club house. I had copied the name from an article in "Literary Florida"; this shows how misinformation can be passed on.

Daytona boardwalk

Ashby Jones, who lived in Daytona Beach 1929-37, sent me a note with further information on the Daytona Boardwalk.

According to Ashby, there was a bandstand just north of the amusements and right by the boardwalk which was about the size of Sanford's Centennial Park gazebo. The audience faced the beach. Ashby's mother loved the concerts and programs presented there.

Information wanted

A picture has turned up at the Sanford Museum of Kel's Dime Store which was located across Magnolia Avenue from Touchton's. McClung's Dime Store was located there in the early 1950s; both Joe and Peggy McClung were at SHS with me. Did this family sell out to Kel's? Does anyone have any information on Kel's Dime Store?

Due to the recent interest in Fort Mellon Park, pictures are needed by the museum of past activities in the park or lost features there such as the swimming pool and fire engine.

Information on the former Mayfair Inn is continually being sought by the Sanford Museum. If you or someone you know worked there at any time, went to the Sanford Naval Academy, or have any special memories, please contact the museum.

The Museum is also looking for information on the Banana Lake Presbyterian Church and Alo, Tru-Me, and Bludwine drinks which were all bottled in Sanford.

The museum is located at 520 E. First St. and the phone number is 302-1000. Alicia Clarke is curator.

Libby Mossman and others who worked for the telephone company in Sanford are researching its history. They know that Southern Bell bought the existing company in 1915. Does anyone know what the name of the company was before 1915 and who owned it? If you can furnish any answers about this old Sanford telephone company, contact me and I will pass on the information.

Officials do this by providing a centralized receiving unit for all juveniles as well as assessing and evaluating all juveniles. They also reduce the average time between arrest and assessment.

Bush also spent some time talking to a juvenile offender. When leaving the young man, Bush encouraged him to stay in school. Walking patiently through the various corridors of the facility hits down to earth personality was noticed by everyone. Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger, and JAC Manager, Kip Beacham guided Bush through the building.

As Bush said in another interview, "I like to listen." And listen he did. He later participated in a panel discussion, the panel including Eslinger, Beacham, State Attorney Norm Wolfinger and several JAC personnel, in which they talked about the many problems associated with juvenile offenders.

Asked when he was influenced to run for governor, Bush said, "It was when I was serving as secretary of commerce under former Governor Bob Martinez's administration."

Among his goals if elected governor: "I'd like to see government services be more relevant to people." Bush also would like to find ways to lessen the demands made on people, and have them create better lives.

Attractions salute wildfire heroes with comp admission

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE - On site at the Florida Fire Chiefs' Association's annual meeting in Key West, the Florida Attractions Association announced that from August 1 to Sept. 30 nearly 70 Florida attractions are opening their gates to firefighters who helped save the state from a series of wildfires earlier this month. This coordinated effort, spearheaded by the Florida Attractions Association, means that more than 30,000 (volunteer and professional) firefighters who helped battle the blazes that threatened to engulf parts of Florida will have free, unlimited admission to nearly 70 of Florida's most popular attractions for a two month period. Most attractions are also offering admission discounts to family members of the firefighters.

Mike Morawski, president of the Ernest Hemingway Home, Key West, and FAA Governmental Affairs Chair for the Association, told the more than 300 Florida fire chiefs in attendance at the meeting, "You may consider your recent effort on behalf of the state of Florida a job well done. The attractions in this state believe it to be an act of heroism. They are proud of you and your teams of firefighters and want to thank you."

Florida's attractions, representing the cornerstone of Florida's $41 billion tourism industry, were organized by the Florida Attractions Association to present the unprecedented demonstration of appreciation. Participating attractions include theme parks big and small, museums, historical sites, zoos, botanical gardens and other family oriented attractions. "These firefighters helped preserve our livelihoods and we felt that this was the best way to express our gratitude—the Florida attractions industry salutes them," said FAA President Bill Puckett, St. Augustine Alligator Farm.

A powerful series of ads are expected to appear on posters, flyers and in newspapers, depict firefighters moving toward and returning from the fires as well as a close up of a tree sapling suggesting life goes on. The ads were developed and donated by BVK/McDonald—a national ad agency with four offices in Florida. Printing of the flyers and posters were donated by Florida Media, publisher of Florida Living Magazine and Allied Printing Company of Jacksonville.

The participating attractions in the special offer are: A World of Orchids, Adventure Landing/Shipwreck Island Water Park, Ah-Tah-Thi-Ki Museum, Audubon House & Tropical Gardens, Babcock Wilderness Adventures, Billie Swamp Safari, Bok Tower Gardens, Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre, Busch Gardens Tampa Bay, Butterfly World, Caribbean Gardens, Church Street Station, Clearwater Marine Aquarium, Coral Castle, Cypress Gardens, Edson & Ford Winter Estates, Ernest Hemingway Home and of their tax bill. The millages have been reduced .8012 mills from last year, according to the county, to the lowest millage level since 1989-90.

This year's proposed taxes are just slightly lower than last year's because construction and renovations at the county's libraries is complete. Last year .0716 mills were levied to pay for library construction projects. This year, nothing is budgeted for such programs.

There is still money allocated in the budget to help the county increase the number of books in the county's libraries, however, the county is in its second year of a nine-year program to increase the per-capita book volume to 1.5 books per person.

Cindy Hall, director of Fiscal Services for the county, explained the tentative aggregate millage rate, exclusive of voted debt service millage, is 6.5248, "a 3.4 percent increase over the rolled back rate."

This year's budget includes 39 new staff members, including 26 new sheriff's deputies, two new circuit court positions and 11 positions in the Board of County Commissioner's department.

In the sheriff's office, 16 of the positions are covered by a federal community policing grant. The department is also adding 17 detention deputies who are needed to operate the Corrections Facility, the Juvenile Assessment Center and the Work Release Center.

The commissioners will discuss the budget again at a meeting on Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. The public hearing on the budget will be heard after the board deals, once again, with the matter of the public nudity ordinance.

Editorial & Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Calling sin what it is

We are surely living in the LAST DAYS, many people and preachers don't have the backbone to call sin, sin, they are afraid they don't have enough donations if they preach the truth.

Peace is disappearing in the whole world. Mankind is destroying the world. Our peace is about to be history. Here in America I see the increasing spirit of hate and murder. Cities on fire, guns blazing in the schools where prayer is being taken away, riots and bloodshed. The world is becoming a bloody world.

TV is a window of horrors, news is sickening. I am tired of not being able to watch TV any more as a family unless I want my grandchildren to learn violence, foul language, immoral sex, etc. We are living in a generation that has been brainwashed with too much TV and know tuning the advance technology of computers is one evil pornography monster, which already has great power over people and is becoming a great danger for children also.

The world has forgotten the fear of God and forgotten how to obey His commandments. America needs God now. We have to turn to God, time is getting shorter. Jesus is around the corner.

I am tired of so much permissiveness in our society. The Supreme Court's decisions in which criminals become the victims and victims become the criminals, nudity, homosexuality, lechitism and child molesters, turning them into celebrities, writing books or making movies about their abhorrent sins.

The signs are here. These are the last days. But the fearful and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers and whoremongers and sorcerers and idolaters and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone which is the second death. Revelation 21:8

I am tired of being told that being a Christian is wrong, but abortions and drugs should be legalized. I am tired of dishonest people and the evil that lurks in the hearts of men; lack of personal integrity and sincere friendships. We can no longer fight each other. We must help one another.

Lord Jesus is the truth and the answer through the reading, teaching and learning of the Bible, the word of our Lord God.

the media that, at one time or the other, Clinton has hired 200 lawyers. His head press flack-- one of that large taxpayer-paid in-house group of spin-liars who cost more than $1 million a year--has said that Clinton has 50 lawyers working at one time. That alone is more than $5 million a year, which is paid by us. And this has been going on for more than 6 years.

We need an audit of the Clintons' spin-liar welfare machine.

Vision of progress in Fort Mellon Park development

Much has been written, and discussed relative to the proposed waterfront development in Sanford. It appears that the opponents have dominated the stage as they demonstrate the essence of selfishness.

The supporters of the project embrace this as an opportunity for the City of Sanford to increase its tax base and open an avenue of increased revenues. Just as sure as this project is realized, the First Street Corridor will come to life. Yes, someone with a vision will spring forth and compliment the new site.

For years as a commissioner, I pushed for a waterfront development because I saw the potential and the long-term benefits. I also saw it as a means of putting lifeblood into the downtown area. I envisioned a place that our young people would be proud of and motivated to stay home rather than leave the area after school/college to seek what we really could provide for them here. Unfortunately, this drive on my part fell on deaf ears.

Those who opposed the notion of Seminole Towne Center are seeing how businesses of all sorts are emerging around it. Hence, with this waterfront project, there will be a complete revolution of downtown Sanford.

As I understand, the Fort Mellon Park is used as the rationale for the opposition of the proposed project. The old west experienced the landowners resisting the coming of the railroads, but they lost and the rest is history. There is no stopping progress. Therefore, all the sentimentality of the park, and other reasons to preserved same are unbelievable, especially when it has been made clear that not only a portion of the park is going to remain, but it is also going to be greatly enhanced. Even if this were not so, a new park location can be found and we can move ahead.

The ability and willingness to accept and adjust to change is a sign of intelligence. Those who oppose this change are secure in that they have gainful employment, or are retired. This waterfront proposal, if brought forth, will bring jobs and a vast increase in capital.

I was born and reared in this city and have seen its domination by the farmers, who paid slave wages for the hard labor, accentuated by long hours by the have-nots. Many of our so-called fair-minded people want this former Celery City to continue its wicked journey. I certainly hope that does not happen.

Enjoyed story

When Shari Brodie told me she was doing a feature, (Memories of Gemini Springs, Seminole Herald Aug. 23) I didn't realize it was going to be a FEATURE. I know Dr. West's family will appreciate the article as much as we do. The acquisition of that parcel of land is important now, but will become more so as the years go by. I can tell Shari is sensitive to the importance of conservation and appreciation of the beauties of our lands and waters. Thank you for your perceptive and attentive interview, and the accurate portrayal of our feelings in seeing these important assets preserved for future generations. I hope our paths cross again.

Clinton's spin liars

There is a constant drum-roll of assertions by the Clintons' spin-liars that Kenneth Starr has spent $40 million and that the Clintons don't like it. This is their way of changing the subject when asked anything at all. Ask them why Clinton lied about answering questions, and they say that Starr spent $40 million.

None of their listeners challenges these non sequiturs, but the Clintons have spent more than $40 million of taxpayers money on their program of vilifying everyone who dares challenge their sainthood. It has been reported in

The sleeping Bear(s) may have been awakened a year early WINTER SPRINGS - Last year, it looked like 1999-2000 would be a banner year for Winter Springs High School.

A lot of people might have underestimated the Bears.

When the school opened a year ago, with only ninth- and 10th-graders, everyone knew it would be just a matter of time before Winter Springs became a powerhouse in Seminole County athletics.

The term you heard most was "sleeping giant."

Winter Springs had some of the best athletes in the county flocking for the new school and, even in its first year of play, the Bears were somewhat competitive, even making the state playoffs in softball as well as a girls' volleyball team that finished 21-11.

Great times were looming for the Class of 2000.

But, even though there are no seniors in the school, 1999 is starting to look like the season when Winter Springs moves to the elite of the county athletic programs.

Start with fall sports.

The girls' volleyball team is considered one of the best in the state for its conference. Last year's top-10 ranking was a great start and coach Kim Vach has an even more experienced team this year. The girls battled Berkeley Christian, ranked eighth in the nation, down to the wire and can hold their own against anything Seminole County has to offer. Don't be shocked by a state title for a second-year school.

Then there's football.

Last year, the Bears took their lumps, playing a junior varsity schedule and trying to field a first-year team.

But the lumps paid off.

When Winter Springs took the field Friday for its first varsity game, ironically against Bayside, another first-year school, the tables were turned and the Blake boys - Brandon and Johnny - ran up a 54-0 score. No one at Winter Springs can get carried away; Bayside is as easy as it gets this year, but Winter Springs should be a force by next year when it fields its first senior class.

In other sports, the basketball teams should both be significantly better. Winston Morgan and Brian Baker make for a formidable duo for a team that improved as the inaugural season went on last year, and in girls' basketball, look out.

The Lady Bears will have maybe the second strongest starting unit in the county with the Dedelow twins and a few transfers including Mary Lou Johnston, one of the best point guards in the state, from Oviedo.

The Bears' baseball team got better as the year went on last year and the softball team, made up of a strong youth program, may be dominating.

It's not all talent at Winter Springs. Principal Wayne Epps, formerly of Oviedo, and one of the biggest sports advocates in the county, along with Athletic Director Rick Tribett, have built this program and generated tons of excitement for a school that most people thought had little chance of winning during the first years.

Winter Springs has one of the best and most vocal fan bases in the county and the faculty, according to some of their players, are some of the school's biggest boosters.

There's a spirit at Winter Springs that should propel the Bears to the elite in the county.

It might be time to start clearing the walls in the Winter Springs gym. By the time volleyball season is over, it could be time to hang the first of many banners.

Last Second Shot: Now that Mark McGuire has his 62nd homer, can we get back to remembering that 99 percent of all baseball players are overpaid jerks playing for arrogant owners? It's college football season, for God's sake.

Rebuilding Rams romp

Young Lake Mary squad sweeps away Seminole in Seminole Athletic Conference boys volleyball play

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The Lake Mary boys' volleyball team isn't used to losing at VolleyFest.

So they just aren't talking about it.

Last season, the Rams lost VolleyFest, the unofficial state championship of Florida, for the first time in years. The Rams host the tournament, but Oviedo captured it last season and it isn't something the Rams are talking about as the 1998 season kicks off.

"VolleyFest is not discussed around here," Lake Mary coach Jeannie Fisher said.

There might be some discussion in about two months when the tournament convenes again at Lake Mary. The Rams are looking tough and demonstrated that with a convincing 15-12, 15-7 win over visiting Seminole last night.

The Rams are young, without the big names of the past several years such as Jason Hawkins, now at Penn State. But they still are deep with a good chemistry that will have to stay intact before VolleyFest rolls around. With a 3-0 start to the season, the Rams appear to have things going their way.

"It depends on how this team develops," Fisher said. "We need to play as a unit. The guys have been together for four years now but where we go depends on how hard we work."

So far, it's worked well. The Rams were tough in the pre-season jamboree and haven't been seriously threatened since the start of the regular season.

"With this group, everybody is capable of developing into a cohesive unit," Fisher said. "Last year, it wasn't there."

Last night, it was.

The Rams fell into a 6-0 hole in the first game as Seminole came out blazing. After a time out, Lake Mary adjusted and clawed back in. Behind the serve of Corey Ruckdachel, Lake Mary scored three straight, then cut it to 7-6 to put Seminole on the ropes.

After falling down, 9-8, Matt Main took over serve and the Rams ran off four straight to take the lead it wouldn't relinquish. Kevin Coogan and Scott Henderson pounded home spikes to end the first game.

In Game 2, Seminole lumped out to another lead, jumping out 3-0, but Brett Pocock started dominating at the net and Lake Mary came back. Eric Otero's serves brought the Rams six straight points and the Rams never looked back.

The loss was Seminole's second straight, but both have been on the road to tough teams. Coach Matt Hibbard is looking forward to another shot at Lake Mary and Oviedo at home.

"They beat us on the front line," Hibbard said. "Our serves killed us tonight. Every time we got some momentum, the serves killed it."

Seminole will host DeLand at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium on Friday at 5 p.m. before traveling to Lyman on Monday for a 7 p.m. Seminole Athletic Conference contest.

Lake Mary will host Lake Brantley on Monday and Oviedo on Wednesday. Both matches will start at 7 p.m.

Transfer adds fire to Winter Springs' girls state volleyball title hopes

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

WINTER SPRINGS - At a lot of schools, talk about state championships two weeks into the season is taboo.

Winter Springs junior volleyball player Cortney Bliss isn't afraid to talk about it.

In fact, she gets kind of excited talking about it.

"We have all the talent a team can have," she said. "We want to win it for our coach. She's come close so many times and it's time for her to get one."

Bliss is talking about coach Kim Vach who reached the Final Four but never got the trophy during her career at Cypress Creek High School. Bliss said one of the reasons she wanted to play at Winter Springs was for the experience Vach had to offer.

The Bears, in only their second season as a varsity team, have a loaded lineup. Bliss holds the young school's records for digs in a season (297), kills (273) and had 23 digs and 20 kills in a loss to

Berkeley, the eighth-ranked team in the nation last week.

Besides Bliss, Winter Springs has Kris and Bev Dedelow as hitters, and Gretchen Naruta at setter. All four are solid athletes and Naruta played with Bliss during the summer for the Orlando Volleyball Academy Junior Olympic club team which finished third in the nation.

Naruta and Bliss played for the elite team which is made up of only the top players in Central Florida.

Bliss transferred to Winter Springs after spending ninth grade at Mount Dora Christian Home and Bible High School. Then she met Vach.

"I met coach Vach and just decided I wanted to play for Winter Springs," Bliss said. "They pay a lot of attention to female athletics"

Busy night for county volleyball squads

From Staff Reports

OVIEDO - Oviedo defeated Winter Springs in Seminole Athletic Conference boys' varsity volleyball action on Wednesday night winning both games 15-3, 15-3.

The victory lifted the Lions to an even record of 2-2 on the season, and added to the Bears' winless record of 0-3.

Oviedo received superb efforts from Turner Elliot, who had 12 kills, Alex Gonzalez, who had 13 aces, and Del Wyneger with four blocks. Steve Luppert came off the bench to aid the Lions' effort with six kills.

Oviedo will try to get a winning streak going Friday at home against St. Cloud at 5:30 p.m. before traveling to Lake Mary for a huge conference game at 7 p.m. next Wednesday.

Coach Tim Desego is proud of his team's effort following a disappointing start.

"We're steadily improving as the season continues," said Desego.

PATRIOTS OUTLAST GREYHOUNDS

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Host Lake Brantley got off to a fast start but had to overcome a horrible second game to defeat Lyman in Seminole Athletic Conference boys volleyball action Wednesday night. The Patriots (3-0) raced to a 15-5 victory in the first game only to see the Greyhounds (1-3) bounce back to whitewash the hosts 15-0 in the middle game to force a winner-take-all game.

Lake Brantley rallied from the loss to hold off Lyman, 15-12, to remain undefeated.

The match featured outstanding efforts from the Patriots' Jon Cheek and Bobby LaBrunda.

Cheek had 18 aces, 15 spikes, and three kills, while LaBrunda added 28 aces and six spikes.

The Greyhounds, which opened the season with a huge win over defending VolleyFest champion Oviedo, will try to regain their focus after losing their last three matches on Thursday at home against Bishop Moore at 7 p.m.

TRIBE GIRLS WIN DISTRICT THRILLER

SANFORD - Seminole High School's girls' varsity volleyball team claimed a big district victory over Spruce Creek in a three-game thriller Wednesday night at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium, 5-15, 15-5, 21-19.

In the tense third game, the two teams watched as their serving rotation went around three times, but in the end, the home crowd saw the Lady Nokes (2-4) eke out the victory.

Richloom -- A clunker hatchery with '90s race car performance

SANFORD - No way could an early-1980s Ford or Chevrolet contend in a late 1990s Daytona 500 stock car race.

However, an antiquated fish hatchery situated in Sumter County not only competes successfully with new, state-of-the-art hatchery facilities throughout the nation, it frequently exceeds them in fish production and creative initiatives.

For example, last year Richloom Fish Hatchery produced its 50 millionth fish for transplanting into public waters, and the facility annually places about three million sport fish into more than 100 public lakes and rivers throughout Florida augmenting existing populations.

Operating on a finite budget with little fanfare, the hatchery has chalked up numerous "firsts" including the creation of the sunshine bass. The American Fisheries Society last year listed Richloom as second in the southeast for striped bass and sunshine bass production.

Other firsts include the spawning of the state's first grass carp, producing 8-inch or larger sub-adult largemouth bass raised on dry feed pellets, and developing various fish culture procedures that are now applied routinely by many private and public hatch-eries in and outside of Florida, such as a method to remove stickiness from fish eggs making incubation much easier, cheaper and more efficient; the development of water hardening additives that aid in fish transportation; the design of a hatching apparatus that holds larvae inside of drainage screens which reduces waterflow clogging and prevents serious losses of baby fish from system overflows; and the development of a pressure chamber that induces sterilization in grass carp eggs.

VFW, Auxiliary

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary of Sanford Post 10108 meet the third Monday at 7:00 p.m. at the post home, 2844 S. Sanford Ave.

Back in April we discussed the advantages of having an estate plan regardless of income and net worth and the four basic tools that should comprise an estate plan: 1) the will; 2) the durable power of attorney; 3) the designation of health care surrogate; and 4) the living will. As noted then, a complete plan should provide for the use and disposal of assets and for the management of debts in accordance with the person's expressed wishes in the event that he or she becomes incapacitated. This may be done by supplementing a will with a durable power of attorney.

A durable power of attorney is a document which allows a person, otherwise referred to as the principal, to designate the person, persons, or institution that he or she wants to manage his or her affairs in the event of incapacity. The person, persons, or institution who is designated is otherwise referred to as the attorney in fact. Following are the basic advantages and disadvantages of using a power of attorney.

PEOPLE'S LAW

First, using a power of attorney may reduce the costs involved for someone who becomes incapacitated. This is due to the fact that if no one has the authority to act on behalf of a person who becomes incapacitated, the court will have to appoint a guardian who is entitled to be compensated from the assets of the incapacitated person. Additionally, before a guardian is appointed, the court, in order to protect the rights of the alleged incapacitated person will appoint an attorney for that person which will also be compensated from the assets of the incapacitated person.

Second, unless otherwise stated, a durable general power of attorney applies to any interest in property such as land, stocks, bonds, and mutual funds among others. Therefore, an attorney in fact is able to monitor or assess the principal's assets and interests in order to maximize their value or return.

Thirdly, a durable general power of attorney can help reduce estate taxes by granting the attorney in fact the power to allocate assets to trusts and/or to make gifts to charities or other individuals.

There are risks involved, however, in using a durable general power of attorney. But circumventing the protections afforded by guardianship proceedings to persons who become incapacitated, a person opens him or herself up to the possibility of having his or her assets depleted. This because although the attorney in fact has a fiduciary responsibility to act in the best interest of the principal, the opportunity and the temptation for abuse can be substantial.

A durable general power of attorney is a powerful tool that can complement an estate plan. As discussed above, however, the advantages that can be gained from the use of a durable general power of attorney must be carefully weighed against the potential disadvantages inherent in such a grant of power. In the coming weeks we will discuss other aspects of estate law.

Divorced dad glad he chose kids over fortune

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Heartbroken in Oregon," the man who is in the middle of a divorce and whose wife now wants to move their daughter out of state, really hit home. In the beginning, our divorce was far from friendly. However, we finally got over our anger and got back to the business of raising our two beautiful children. We now have a 50-50 custody arrangement, and our son and daughter are happy and well-adjusted.

Last year I was offered the job of a lifetime. It meant more money, more prestige and tremendous potential for advancement. It also meant moving thousands of miles away from my family.

My career has always been important to me and this offer was quite a prize. My ex-wife and I discussed the situation at length. We explored all possible options, but focused always on our main objective — the best interests of the children.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Ultimately, we decided that it would be best for me to turn down the job and remain in California. My ex-wife couldn't afford to relocate, and she and I agreed that the children still need both of us around on a full-time basis. Obviously, this was a huge sacrifice on my part, but one I gladly made.

Your response to "Heartbroken" was appropriate when you advised him to consider moving closer to Florida to be near his daughter. I take exception, however, to your remark that the little girl "belongs with her mother." I grew up in a family with an absentee father, so I know firsthand the pain such a situation can cause. That's why I am committed to making any sacrifice necessary to stay close to my kids.

Both "Heartbroken" and his ex sound as if they are thinking only of themselves. They need to buck up, quit whining, and get to work at being parents.

LOVING THE DADDY GIG IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LOVING THE DADDY GIG: Many readers disagreed with my statement that the little girl belongs with her mother. Since the father seemed agreeable to moving near his daughter in the future, I think my answer was on target. A short separation from her father will not have long-term effects on the child if she understands it is only temporary.

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Well-Fed in Sacramento," who was ashamed when those treating her to dinner left inadequate tips: Why doesn't she offer to leave the tip? This is a polite response when one party insists on paying, and it would relieve her of the embarrassment of the host leaving an insufficient tip.

LIKES TO EAT OUT IN BOONTON, N.J.

DEAR LIKES TO EAT OUT: Now why didn't I think of that? It would work nicely if the hosts would allow it. If not, the guest could take my suggestion of leaving additional money quietly as he or she leaves the table.

DEAR ABBY: This guy (I'll call him Alan) and I broke up a few months ago. I have dated others, but he's constantly on my mind. I want to tell Alan how I feel, but I'm afraid the feelings won't be returned. To complicate matters, three of my girlfriends also have crushes on him. Nobody but me knows how I feel, and I can't take it any more. What should I do?

HOT FOR ALAN IN BRAIDWOOD, ILL.

DEAR HOT FOR ALAN: It would have been helpful had you mentioned which one of you ended the relationship. If you did, there might be a chance Alan will be receptive if you confide to him that he's the kind of man who isn't easily forgotten. If he did, stay silent.

To order "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $6.95 ($4.95 in Canada) to Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61864-9447. (Postage is included.)

Coping with the 'terrible twos'

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son, 2, enjoys biting whenever anything is taken away from him. We've tried many different kinds of punishment, but he laughs, throws something or bites back. I know about the "terrible twos," but this is ridiculous.

DEAR READER: Youngsters often take great delight in exploring their environments, "flexing their muscles" — and getting a rise out of adults. Think of it: Here's a 2-year-old who automatically becomes the center of attention by chomping at will. Of course, biting is inappropriate behavior; yet consider the amount of reinforcement he receives. The attention may be worth the temporary discomfort of punishment.

I suggest that you discuss this problem with your son's pediatrician. A professional who knows both the child and the family is in a sound position to give you advice about how best to discourage the biting pattern.

DEAR DR. GOTT: There was too much protein in my blood, so I was told to have a bone marrow test. It was OK. What does excess protein signify?

DEAR READER: Your question is deceptively simple; the subject of blood proteins is complex. I'll try to give you an overview.

The body's organs produce many types of proteins that circulate in the bloodstream. Each protein has a specific function. By subjecting a small sample of cell-free blood serum to a tiny electrical charge, scientists can separate the various blood proteins from one another. Because proteins vary in weight, light proteins will migrate further than heavy ones in an electrical field. This characteristic provides the basis for the medical test called serum electrophoresis, in which the blood proteins are separated, identified and quantified.

Human blood usually contains five major forms of protein: albumin, alpha-1 globulin, alpha-2 globulin, beta globulin and gamma globulin. These proteins can be further divided into classes by more sophisticated tests, yielding the forms called immunoglobulin: IgA, IgD, IgE, IgG and IgM.

Depending on the protein characteristics of a blood sample, doctors can diagnose certain diseases. For example, low serum albumin is often the consequence of dietary deficiency or liver disease. Antibodies, the body's infection-neutralizing proteins, are usually included in the IgG (or gamma globulin) fraction. Patients sometimes show abnormal proteins (or too much of a particular protein) in their bloodstreams. The most common abnormal marrow test to make sure that your plasma cells, many of which are in the marrow, were normal.

Your excess proteins may represent a normal variation but, as I mentioned, the type of protein should be identified. Your doctor may choose to do this by further analysis using complex tests.

WIN AT BRIDGE

How weak can it get?

By Phillip Alder

Yesterday, I gave a deal in which the only making game was with a trump suit of 8-6-5-3 opposite A-7-4-3. Can game be made with a weaker suit than that?

As this isn't bluff and double bluff, you know the answer. When my students have reached a certain level, I give them today's deal to emphasize the "length over strength" concept. And when I'm really feeling mean (which is never!), I give South the 5-4-3-2.

Well, suppose you find four spades. How would you plan the play after West has led the diamond queen? When South rebids one spade, North, with four-card support and the values for game, goes straight there. Don't leave to your partner what you can do yourself. Remember, he cannot read your mind.

After winning the first trick, lead a trump. Perhaps East will pull three rounds, but if he does something else, win that trick and play another spade. Then abandon trumps. Your 10 tricks will be three hearts, two diamonds, three clubs, one club ruff in the dummy and one heart ruff in hand.

Note that in three no-trump, you have only eight tricks when neither of the rounded suits — hearts and clubs — splits 3-3. Before you can set up the long spade, the opponents will have established and cashed their diamond suit. So, although the spade suit is so weak, four spades is the only making game against best defense.

Forsooth, all the honors of my opponents couldn't defeat me, as Shakespeare would have written if he had thought of it first.

HOROSCOPE

Friday, Sept. 11, 1998

In the year ahead, try to associate yourself with bold, enterprising individuals. Their enthusiasm will be contagious, and you'll find yourself going after bigger and bigger fish.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your tolerance for outsiders will be up to its usual standards today, but you may not show the same consideration to family members. Keep your priorities in proper order. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that'll govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Rely on logic and reason today, instead of intuition and hunches. What you sense may be a departure from reality.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be positive and optimistic today, but don't build your hopes on faulty premises. If your base is weak, your house of cards will crumble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your behavior will be closely scrutinized by others today. When you're in the public eye, put your best foot forward — a bad showing could leave a long memory.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A verbal agreement won't count for much today if you're trying to extract a biased opinion. Important terms should be committed to writing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Use your contacts today instead of waiting on others to open doors for you. You'll be inside before they get their keys out of their pockets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Partners aren't apt to be of much value in helping you achieve your objectives today. Don't saddle yourself with people whose ideas can't measure up to yours.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not a good day for you to handle complicated, distasteful chores. Errors are likely — wait until conditions are better and you're in a good frame of mind.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) In social situations today, don't resurrect an old misunderstanding. It could divide your friends and put you in the middle.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're going out with others this evening, disagreements between you and your mate should be left at home. Don't air problems in public that could leave an unpleasant impression.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A close friend might not live up to your expectations today. However, it will hurt your relationship if you criticize this person in front of others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your resistance could be lower than usual today, so watch out for sharpies with smooth pitches, or you could end up buying the sizzle they're selling.
