

One Way To Maintain Freedom, Democratic Way Of Life Is Voting

The total number of votes cast in last year's election came to the astounding figure of just seventy per cent of the registered voters in Seminole County.

Let's look at the seventy per cent figure.

Should the number of voters casting ballots have been nearer the ninety per cent total?

We think that it should—for several reasons.

First—it is a privilege—that of voting, each citizen should be proud to protect.

Second—the vote is one way to express opinion as to who should control the offices in your community, state, and nation.

If you were one that did not vote in last year's election it might be well to remember that:

ONE VOTE elected John Quincy Adams President.

ONE VOTE elected Thomas Jefferson President.

ONE VOTE passed military conscription in 1941.

ONE VOTE created the State of California.

ONE VOTE created the State of Washington.

ONE VOTE created the State of Texas.

ONE VOTE created the State of Idaho.

ONE VOTE elected Oliver Cromwell.

ONE VOTE made France a Republic in 1875.

ONE VOTE ended France as a Republic in 1840.

And there are other important steps in our government taken by the margin of just one vote.

Our American charter of liberty, the Constitution of the Declaration of Independence, was passed by the Continental Congress, July 2, 1776, when Cesar Rodney, delegate from Delaware, rose from his sickbed and rode 80 miles on horseback through a stormy night to cast JUST ONE VOTE—putting his state on the side of freedom and helping assure unanimous approval of all the colonies.

Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President by one vote. His election was contested, and it was referred to an electoral committee. The commission gave the contested electoral votes to Hayes by just one vote, 8 to 7. Whereupon Hayes was declared, by congress, elected by just one vote, 185 to 184.

Incidentally, the man who cast that deciding vote for Hayes, an Indiana Senator, won his place in Congress by just one vote. And that vote was cast by a man who, though desperately ill, insisted upon being taken to the polls to cast that one ballot.

Andrew Johnson, only U. S. President to be impeached kept the Presidency by just one vote. The U. S. Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, voted 35 for conviction and 19 for acquittal—just one vote less than the two-thirds necessary to convict.

In 1918 women suffrage in the United States passed the House of Representatives by just one vote. When the bill went to the Senate, it failed to pass by just two votes.

If you think that your vote doesn't count—then refer to history, past and present to find numerous occasions when ONE VOTE was important.

Not only in passing bills, electing high offices, in Senate and House of Representatives—yes—and in Countywide elections such as the one held in Seminole County last Tuesday—your vote is important.

Those votes—the one vote that you did not cast—may have been the deciding one in several elections that still must be decided.

Again, on May 22 and on May 29—your vote may be the deciding one. As long as there are more than two candidates in a race for any office, a vote is so important that, as has been the case in two instances in our history, one might be impelled to go to the polls from a sickbed to cast his or her ballot.

In many nations today, people are begging for the right to say who will or will not hold high office in their land. Now that we have the privilege of voting a secret ballot—many do not take advantage of the honor to name their choice.

Your vote may make history in your own community—it may name several people in offices that control the purse strings of your county and control the amount of the check that comes from your pocketbook to furnish the money for the county's purse.

Your ballot, cast in the election of last Tuesday, on the 22nd or on the 29th, gives you the permit to gripe if things do not go as you think they should in the political offices held by candidates elected, or that will be held by candidates to be elected.

America is free—and will forever remain free—because of that great American privilege of voting a secret ballot for the candidate of your choice. The one big way that we can maintain our freedom, and our Democratic way of life, is to use the privilege of voting.

American Banks Having Trouble

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—So many people want to borrow, that banks are having trouble finding the money to lend. A drive is on to induce Americans to spend less and save more.

When they save more, the banks have the money to lend to business to expand to people to build homes, to governments to build schools and roads. Inducements run all the way from appeals for greater thrift to the raising of interest payments to those who save.

Telling Americans what they ought to do with their money does not necessarily work—in the past they've usually changed their own spending or saving habits of their own free will and in their own good time. But W. R. Burgess, under Secretary of the Treasury, is trying. He says, "I think in the long run this country would make faster progress if we saved a little more and spent a little less."

His point: We must save first to build up productive capacity; otherwise, we'll try to expand too fast and just bid up prices on the material and labor we have, and thus pull the dollar's buying power another notch or two lower—saving is smaller now than a year ago.

Boosting interest rates to savers, may work more effectively. People piled up such a large debt last year, they are mainly occupied right now in making the regular payments needed to reduce the debt. The slower rate of savings is yet. The demand for loans seems one reason—and probably just as high as ever, and the volume of saving so far this year is below that of a year ago.

People are still saving. And the total volume of saving continues to rise. But the percentage of people who pile up such a large debt last year, they are mainly occupied right now in making the regular payments needed to reduce the debt. The slower rate of savings is yet. Cain Critic Of Security Program

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry P. Cain, 50-year-old Republican, did not make a reputation for himself as a champion of individual rights or civil liberties while he was a member of the Senate from Washington from 1917 to 1933.

Now, in a job given him by President Eisenhower after he lost his Senate seat in the 1952 elections, he has become one of the most outspoken critics of the Eisenhower administration's security program.

In May 1953 Eisenhower appointed him to the Subversive Activities Control Board. For about a year and a half little was heard of Cain. Then in January 1955 he began his attacks on the program set up to get security risks out of the government.

His attacks have increased in intensity. Last Saturday, he took deliberate aim at Eisenhower's advisers, accusing them of keeping from the President information about the damage he says the program is, and has been, doing to hundreds of government workers.

His complaint against the program can be summed up this way: Government workers can't adequately defend themselves because the charges against them are too often too vaguely stated; the government takes far too long to reach decisions in their cases, leaving them dangling suspended and unemployed for months before clearing or firing them; after an ordeal like that these people remain frightened pigeons forever.

Asked in an interview why he didn't show similar consistent concern for the rights of individuals when he was in the Senate, Cain explained he was then less aware of individuals' problems. He noted that in those days he was mostly concerned with problems of economics, the armed services and government departments.

He said it was only after he went to the SACB, and learned of hardships suffered by individual government workers, that he began examining the security program. When he felt it was being handled wrong, he said, he started talking.

County On March For Mental Health

Seminole County is on the march for mental health. Now is the time to join the battle against mental illness, that claims more victims each year than all other major illnesses combined. To do the job we need thousands more doctors, nurses, and specialists trained to care for the mentally ill. New hospitals, clinics and child care centers must be built.

Science tells us we can lick mental health but it will take your dollars to do it. Support is needed for scientific research programs that can find newer better ways to cure... and prevent... mental illness. Help the mentally ill in your community return to a happy healthy life. Mental health is everybody's problem. Give now to the 1956 Seminole County Mental Health Campaign. A dollar will help do it—give all you can. Singer Took 10 Years To Make Trip

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It takes just 15 cents and a few minutes to go by subway from Brooklyn to the Metropolitan Opera House in Manhattan.

It took Robert Merrill 10 hard and often lonely years to make the journey but at 27 he came as a star. He was the youngest baritone ever to make his debut at the Metropolitan in a major role.

Good operatic baritones are almost as scarce as penguins in Florida. Merrill, 37, a Brooklyn laborer, is one of the best America has produced.

Like most opera stars Bob is proud to call himself "a long-hair," but he doesn't let his hair fall over his eyes and blind him to other forms of music.

"I like almost any kind of music except rock-a-roll," he said. "But that I don't go for."

Bob was a boy soprano. He took up singing to help cure him of stuttering.

"It did help, too," he remarked. "But I was still so shy about appearing in public that I quit singing at 12 and didn't take it up again until I was 17."

"This turned out to be a good thing. I found out later that many children ruin their voice by using it too much during the years when the voice is changing. It should be rested and allowed to strengthen."

An odd reversal takes place in boys' voices as they mature. Sopranos usually turn into baritones or even basses. It is the alto who becomes tenors.

Merrill has a theory that many young singers, even after they reach physical maturity, destroy their voices by overworking them too hard too early. They try to go after a fast buck too soon. For three years I sang nothing but simple Italian love songs before I appeared before an audience. I was working in a belt factory for $10 a week. I was paid $7 for singing four songs at a wedding reception. The $7 didn't impress me so much as the fact I got a free dinner too."

"In those days I used to buy a dime sandwich at a luncheon counter, then go out and buy a 25-cent cigar just to have a feeling of luxury."

"But it wasn't until I had ten full years of voice study that I felt ready to appear before an opera audience. It's dangerous for a kid to go up into the big leagues too fast. Opera is too demanding."

Merrill now does about 30 opera performances a year, 10 to 15 guest spots on television, about 30 concerts and spends three weeks in Las Vegas, where he usually is costarred with — of all people — "Satchmo" Armstrong, the jazz trumpeter.

To keep up this schedule Bob has to watch his weight like a boxer, take long walks, exercise twice a day.

What is the difference between a baritone and a tenor?

"That's easy," said Merrill laughing. "The tenor usually wins the girl in the opera. The tenor usually gets paid more money, but baritones have one consolation. They usually last longer than tenors."

But Bob is doing all right. His income is high in the six figure bracket.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CARR

TWO OF THE MOVING SPIRITS at a convention banquet drank so many toasts that finally they scarcely could move at all. "Lucky for me," one congratulated himself, "when I'm in this condition, I let somebody take me home, and then I fall sound asleep the minute I hit the old bed."

"My trouble," confessed the other, "is hitting the old bed."

During a tour of America, the distinguished Irish wit, orator, and parliamentarian, T. P. O'Connor—fondly known as "Tay Fay" to his constituents—was asked repeatedly, "What is the state of Ireland today?"

"Status quo," Tay Fay would reply cheerily. "In the south of Ireland we have the Catholics, and in the north the Protestants, and they're at each other's throats, as usual all the time..."

"If only they were happy as they could live together like Christians!"

I deeply appreciate the splendid vote given me in Tuesday's Election.

May I thank each and every one who worked so hard in my behalf.

I shall strive to work for the growth and development of our district and state and to represent, in Tallahassee, to the best of my ability the people of my district.

I AM GRATEFUL

--- Deeply, Sincerely and Humbly

I am grateful to those who worked so tirelessly and unselfishly for me in this campaign; to those who have assisted me in making our administration one that has commanded respect and confidence, and, of course, to the people of Florida.

I do not regard the result as a personal triumph for LeRoy Collins. Rather, it is a triumph of the cause in which we have labored.

I dedicate myself anew to the service of the people of Florida. I want to serve them in the fine manner they deserve. I want to be their servant and God's servant.

The great and overwhelming victory we have achieved is, I believe, re-affirmation of our people's determination to continue on the sound, stable and progressive course we have steadfastly pursued for the past sixteen months. In the eyes of the nation, this should provide proof of the stability of our state and of our recognition that in good government we will find the foundation for building the greatest state in the nation.

Now we must work together. Florida's future is boundless and it is before us with courage and cooperation, with vision and understanding, we will build a state of which we can be even more proud.

Again, I say from the bottom of my heart and for my whole family: Thanks. And LeRoy Collins will never let you down.

Pennant-Winning Cubs Beat All-Stars 8-3

The pennant-winning Cubs maintained their reputation for victory when last night at the Memorial Stadium they knocked off the All-Stars of the Rotary League, 8 to 3, behind continued good mound work by Ken McMurray.

When the All-Stars took a one run lead in the opening half inning, the champs stormed back with four rallies just to let it be known that they had no intention of dropping the post-season "world series" tussle.

Bill Robinson's three-bagger was the "tall hit" of the game, but Cecil Dandridge and Tony Getman drilled doubles, both of them developing into runs as did Robinson's poke.

One of the brilliant defensive plays occurred in the first inning. George Harriett had drawn the ball on Bowen's bobs of his roll-up and when Dandridge poked out his two bagger into left field, Harriett tried to make it all the way to home. Carter had fielded the ball and Dave Bramlett had gone over half way to get his throw. The relay to the plate had Harriett by two steps.

Dandridge took third on a wild pitch and scored a moment later on another of the same breed.

The All-Star racked up a run each in the third and fifth frames. With two out Dandridge drove a fast ball past the mound which McMurray snubbed and slowed down but it went on toward second. Bramlett swept in after it but his hurried throw drew Robinson, catcher plattered the next two bays as Bush drew a pass. Brooks then slapped out a single that chased Dandridge across. Getman's double put him half way ground and he made it the rest of the way when English missed a throw at second base.

In the fourth inning McMurray diverted what seemed to be disaster when with three on and two out he set down Lester Bush on strikes.

McMurray, Robinson, Bramlett and Carter accounted for the Cubs initial runs in their turn at bat. McMurray walked, stole second and third. Robinson was safe at first on Bush's error on which McMurray scored. Bramlett singled to right field and took second on the throw-in to third in a brilliant effort to catch Robinson. Carter drew a pass, stole second. Willie Bowen blooped back of second and Bramlett and Carter were in.

Corley marked in the second when he singled stole the key-stone sack, took third on a wild

Indians Win Rubber Game; 2 Behind Yanks

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

This was supposed to be Black Friday in the American League— the day seven clubs awoke to find themselves among the walking dead with the New York Yankees having copped the pennant at the earliest date yet.

That's the way the talk was going. Those Yanks had smacked the Boston Red Sox 4 out of 5 and spanked the Chicago White Sox 2 out of 3. All they had to do was fast-shuffle the Injuns and of Casey Stengel had the deck stacked again.

But the Cleveland Indians put a stop to all that. The tribe won the rubber game of a three-game series going away yesterday at Yankee Stadium. The 7-2 victory lifted them past Boston into second place, two games behind New York.

Boston went down 2-1 to Chicago, which snapped a five-game losing streak.

Those were the only two games played in the majors. All the other scheduled contests were rained out.

If Cleveland keeps this up, Manager Al Lopez can write a sure bet sex had their number again, getting jellie entitled "How to Beat Casey Stengel." Stengel, now in play ball on his first pitch and his eighth year with the Yanks, then scattering seven hits was

Old-Timers Game Set

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U. S. Coach Terry Brennan, looking hard for youngsters capable of first-line duty, put four sophomores in Notre Dame's varsity lineup for tomorrow's annual spring football game with the old-timers.

The old-timers are graduated and about-to-be-graduated stars of past Irish seasons, every year they suit up to give next season's Notre Dame team a test of big-time competition in a game ending in spring training.

In the old-timers lineup were eight players from the 1955 season: Wayne Edmonds and ex-captain Ray Lemek, tackles; Pat Bliscaglia and John McMullan, guards; Don Schaefer and Dick Fitzgerald, backs; Gene Kaphis, End; Jim Mense, center. All except Edmonds and McMullan played in either the East-West or North-South postseason games last winter.

Other old-timers include Ernie Zaleski, who last played in 1949; Paul Mats and Dan Shannon, ends, and Tom Carey, quarterback, 1934; Menil Mavruides, guard, 1933; Chet Ostrowski, end, 1931; Gus Cifelli, tackle, 1919; and Frank Epstein, guard, 1950. Varsity reserves round out the old-timers squad.

Nine Hurlers Still Undefeated In FSL

ORLANDO, — Nine hurlers remain undefeated in Florida State League play through Wednesday as the circuit neared the end of its third week of play, much of it rain-interrupted.

Orlando's scrappy little Art Brophy led the nine with four fine victories. He was second in men away from third base in a brilliant only 11 in 37 innings, second only 7 to 0 shut-out decision.

to team-mate Ron Stead who had walked but six in 32 frames. West Palm Beach's Bobby Dunn, the rookie to watch, led in strikeouts with 42, but there were indications that Tony Teegenkamp of St. Petersburg, with 33, will be a tough rival for leadership in that field.

Ivan Hannom, Palatka, came up Wednesday night with the best effort of the young season by holding the Daytona Beach Islanders to a 1-0 shut-out decision.

Many Under Care Of Mental Hospitals

Statistics show that 750,000 Americans are under the care of mental hospitals at the present time. There are more people hospitalized by mental illness than all other diseases combined with at least 400,000 more mental patients who need hospital treatment but cannot be admitted because of the lack of facilities.

According to statistics received at The Sanford Herald, there are seven million persons suffering from less severe mental disorders who are not getting needed treatment. There are now 8,000 trained psychiatrists while the need right now is for 15,000 more. At the same time there are 12,000 trained psychiatric nurses with the need today at four times the number.

Dr. George B. Stevenson, Medical Director of the National Association for Mental Health says "The outlook for recovery from mental illness is more hopeful than it is for chronic diseases." However, it is pointed out that recovery depends upon the proper treatment at the proper time.

Yesterday in Sanford the Kiwanis Club enthusiastically responded to an appeal that was made by Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr., who is a state legislator. It was informed by the present state hospitals in caring for the continuously increasing burden on them.

As is the case with most civic clubs Kiwanis has a ruling that there may be no financial solicitations at the meeting. In the case of this appeal for funds for mental health the cause was deemed worthy of the best they could do. Accordingly, Cleveland stationed himself outside the door and as the departing club members left, they made their donations to become "Friends of Mental Health." It was impossible, Cleveland said, to list the names of all those who contributed, so the list submitted is only partially complete. President Al Wilson said that he hoped that at the next meeting those names that were not listed would let him know so the local campaign could acknowledge their participation in this state-wide effort.

MENTAL ILLNESS PREVALENT

More Americans are in hospitals because of mental illness than for all of the other major diseases combined. In Florida, facilities are urgently needed to prevent, cure and care for the mental ill. Twice the number of hospital beds are needed—more than twice the number of doctors and nurses to help our mentally troubled return to a useful place in their communities. PUT IT IN WRITING! DENVER (AP)—The Colorado Board of Education has approved a plan under which charges of subversive activity made against teachers in the state's public schools would have to be submitted in writing and under oath to require action.

A 20-member citizen's committee suggested the procedures in dealing with such charges aimed at eliminating "hearsay" accusations submitted by "faceless informers." The committee defined subversive activity in teachers as membership in or adherence to the Communist party or advocacy of "any change in the form of government" of the state or nation "by means of violence."

MERIT PAY PROPOSED ST. LOUIS (AP)—A suggestion that students pay university professors personally at the end of each semester on the basis of the quality of their instruction was advanced in the Washington University campus newspaper. "If instructor A was judged best of a student's teachers he would receive perhaps $100 of the total tuition," said an editorial in Student Life. "If B were good, but not so good, he would receive $50 and so on."

Suds Pine Cones Clean Before Decorative Use If you're planning to make decorative novelties from small pine cones, they must first be washed clean. An easy way is to shake a few cones at one time in a covered jar of soap or detergent suds, then rinse them with clean water in the jar. It's normal for the cones to close tightly when wet, but they'll open again as they dry out.
