Federal Official Urges Dynamite For Some After An Inquiry

WASHINGTON, July 30.—If District Commissioner George Allen had his way, dynamite would be placed under American social workers "to blow some brains into their heads" so they would devote a little more thought to finding jobs for the unemployed.

Mr. Allen, who directs the District of Columbia's civic destinies, has returned to Washington after a week in headlines in Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo, Milwaukee and Detroit. He made the expedition "to see what was going on among the jobless." He didn't want to talk about the results but pent up wrath got the better of him.

"The snooziest people on God's green earth are running the federal employment agencies," he said. "You ask them for a job and they feel they're doing you a favor to make your application. Most of the offices close at noon. Why don't they keep open all day and fight for the unemployed, trying their damndest to get them jobs?"

Mr. Allen masqueraded in old clothes, let his beard grow and dispensed with baths for a few days. He boarded a train for Milwaukee, unsuccessfully sought a job, then moved on to Cleveland, Chicago and Toledo.

A discussion among his associates inspired the excursion, he said. His friends' attitude was that "unemployment relief was a lot of booby." Mr. Allen said he thought so too, but hoped he was wrong. "I once was a hotel executive," the commissioner said. "I went around with the big shots, met important people, ordered servants about and had a big time. My friends told me that handing out money to the unemployed was making them bums. Now I know they're wrong." Mr. Allen said he found 98 percent of the unemployed are anxious to get jobs and will work at almost anything.

"So now I know my friends were wrong. Only a few persons don't want work. These are classed as unemployable and should be separated from the employable and with respect to the latter I favor dynamite treatment for the social workers to make them use their brains and imagination in finding work for them."

Mr. Allen said he met several communists "and learned something from them." He said the power of the communist comes principally through his patience in listening to tales of woe and going out and fighting and trying to do something about it.

"The relief people," he said, "won't listen to the jobless man, much less fight for him, so he turns to the communist who offers to go out and get what the man wants. But communist orators can't hold their listeners if jobs are in prospect. Pass through a crowd of whistling jobs are available here and there and soon the communist is talking to himself."

HUEY LONG'S TROOPS AGAIN CALLED OUT

Guardsmen Seize List Of Qualified Voters After Breaking Doors Of Registry

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—(AP)—The 2500 members of the Huey Long's National Guardsmen were called out today to break doors of the voter registry office in the Louisiana "Kingfish" state in his hotel suite and directed fresh pre-election attacks on an antagonistic city administration.

More than a score of guardsmen swooped down on the City Hall annex last night, battered in the door and took possession of the lists of names of qualified voters in the September Congressional primary as Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, the Senator's bitter enemy, sat in his office in the City Hall across the street.

Governor O. K. Allen who was elected with Long's support issued a proclamation establishing partial martial law, and explaining the action as taken to protect the registrars office from "insult and intimidation."

The martial law applies only to a restricted area in the vicinity of the City Hall.

It is apparent they want to search the names from the registration books under the protection of the militia, Mayor Walmesley said. "They already control the registration office here through the state appointment of the local registrar," he continued.

The congressmen from New Orleans, and numerous other "radicals" will be nominated in the September primary. Other candidates are endorsed by Long and Walmesley.

Pickett Finds That Abstinence Habit Has Been Gaining

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Deals Pickett, secretary of the research and education department of the Methodist Episcopal board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, said in a formal statement that estimates of liquor consumption since repeal show that "during the years of prohibition the habit of abstinence from intoxicants became quite general in America."

Pickett estimated total consumption of hard liquor this year would not exceed 70,000,000 gallons, which he said was only half that consumed during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, the "last normal pre-prohibition year."

He said while it was "apparent" from these figures that prohibition had encouraged habits of abstinence, advertising and vigorous trade promotion by the liquor interests "will undoubtedly result in a rising consumption of liquors."

"This is the question before the American people," he added, "is such increased consumption of liquors desirable?"

Pickett said the willingness of the press to publish news disclosing unfavorable conditions under repeal "has already gone far to answer the critics so recently heard against prohibition."

- A 102.0% increase in weekly output to 1,000,000.

Daytona Beach Considers Proposal To Exempt New Homes From Taxation

DAYTONA BEACH, July 31.—A proposal to exempt new homes from city taxation for several years after they are constructed "is worthy of consideration," Milton S. Couch, city manager, said recently.

He said that he had observed after the World War in certain communities that such exemptions appeared to stimulate home building considerably.

Peace Returns To 3 Strike-Torn Areas

(By Associated Press)
The capital-labor pendulum swung back toward peace today as at least three major strikes were ended. Only in the strikes of Minneapolis truck drivers and Chicago livestock handlers were there adverse developments. Leaders of the striking truck drivers issued an ultimatum to Governor Floyd Olson that unless all trucks are halted for 48 hours they will stop them by force. The Chicago stockyards strike threatened to spread to packing plants, but General Hugh Johnson was reported unofficially to be planning personal intervention. The Pacific Coast longshoremen's strike became "history" as 12,000 strikers turned back to the docks today, and other maritime workers signified their readiness over their grievances to arbitrators.

GOV. TALMADGE DENOUNCED BY ORGANIZED LABOR

Executive Said To Be Reducing Laborers To State Of Peonage

ATLANTA, July 31.—(AP)—The charge that Governor Talmadge and the state highway board were reducing Georgia laborers "to a condition of virtual peonage" through their failure to fix a minimum wage scale of 40 cents an hour was hurled by organized labor yesterday.

Governor Talmadge replied that "the state of Georgia cannot afford to pay for unskilled labor higher wages than the average taxpayer himself can earn" and added:

"I have no quarrel with organized labor, and organized labor has no quarrel with me."

In a lengthy resolution adopted by the executive board of the Georgia Federation of Labor, the governor and the highway board were denounced for not establishing NRA code wages on state road projects and "fair minded citizens" were called on to help save labor from being forced "to the verge of starvation wages."

Approximately one-half of the 9,000,000 miles of the world's highways are in this country.

ECONOMIC LIFE OF STATE LIES IN NEW TARIFF PACT

Florida Growers Say Any Reductions Will Virtually Ruin Them

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—A document reaching to the vital depths of the economic life of Florida now is being drafted in the state department.

This is the new commercial treaty between the United States and Cuba. So important is the paper to the peninsula state it may be considered, to an appreciable extent, a treaty between Florida and the island republic. Florida and Cuba have similar climatic and soil conditions which throws them into competition in America's winter fruit and vegetable markets.

Their farm systems are vastly different, involving different soils of living conditions which reflect on the cost of production. The American peninsula claims fruits and vegetables produced under a higher American living (Continued on Page Three)

Trammell Opposes Any Reduction In Vegetable Tariff

Senator Park Trammell, appealed to by telegram last yesterday for information as to the status of the new tariff treaty as it affects tariff on Cuban vegetables, replied as follows in less than an hour:

"Answering your wire relative to vegetable tariff, I beg to advise that I have contacted proper authorities in the State Department, and am advised that no decision on the tariff question has been reached as yet and that data on this subject is still being gathered. Last Monday I appeared before the hearing with a delegation from Florida and strongly protested any reduction in the tariff. I am very much in hopes of retaining the tariff as of today."

Senator Trammell's telegram is an answer to one sent from the Chamber of Commerce as the result of a meeting involving Peter Thurston, M. B. Smith, and R. G. Hickson of the Seminole Agricultural Club's Special Tariff Committee, R. L. Glenn and Karl Lehmann.

Their telegram was as follows: "Please wire today latest information on situation relative to Cuban tariff on vegetables. This seriously affects Florida agriculture. A 50 percent reduction would practically destroy our vegetable industry."

Dillinger's Dad Makes Appearance On Stage

INDIANAPOLIS, July 31.—(AP)—The father of the notorious John Dillinger made his stage debut here yesterday and told an audience he is certain that the body he buried here last Wednesday is that of his son.

"I know it's my son, the 70-year-old Moorville, Ind., farmer said. "I wish to the Lord Almighty it wasn't."

The 15-minute appearance of the Dillingers—the father, a son Hubert, and a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Hancock—was received mostly in silence.

NRA CONTROL BY JOHNSON IS ATTACKED

Recovery Acts Administration Termed Abhorrent To U.S. Sense Of Justice

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—The NRA as administered by Hugh S. Johnson was described last night by Thomas D. Thacher, solicitor general in the Hoover administration as "abhorrent to the American sense of justice and fair play."

Speaking in the Republican national committee's political speech series, Thacher contended the great question to be determined in the next Congress was to what extent the policy of giving the President vast powers over agriculture and industry should be continued.

"The question will certainly be considered, and may well be decided, by the new Congress," Thacher said. "Consequently it should be the controlling issue in the congressional election this fall."

"It involves the American system of government and rises far above the fortunes of candidates of political parties. Knowledge of the new system and its effect upon individual men and women is necessary to intelligent discussion."

Under critical necessity in the past 17 months, he said, hasty legislative and executive action had been taken without "considered thought of the ultimate consequences of the action taken."

Lamb Re-Assigned To Local FERA In Place Of Tyler

Roland F. Lamb, local man who was assigned to the post as chief auditor and treasurer of the Volusia county FERA office at Daytona Beach some weeks ago, is temporarily in charge of the same post in the Seminole County set-up, it was announced this morning.

Regional Administrator O. P. Swope at Orlando announced that for the present Mr. Lamb would act as auditor and treasurer of FERA activities in both Seminole and Volusia counties.

He was returned to local service on a part-time basis when Mr. Swope announced the removal of office of Warren I. Tyler, county auditor for the past few weeks.

Mr. Lamb announced today that W. W. Goetch of Sanford, employed in the FERA administrative office here for some weeks, would become chief clerk at the City Hall office to represent him while he was at Daytona Beach.

Mr. Lamb revealed that Mrs. Helen T. Morse of Sanford, recently assigned to the Daytona Beach office as director of operations, "is doing a fine job in the middle of a confused situation. She really has a man's-sized job, but she's reorganizing the Volusia county set-up in fine shape."

Roosevelt Talk Proved Disappointing To Japs

TOKYO, July 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's address at Honolulu, in which the Japanese had hoped to find indications of America's intentions in Pacific naval defense issues, disappointed the press here.

Afternoon papers nevertheless gave bold prominence to the speech, the headlines showing mixed interpretations.

Those of navalist Jingo type stressed the President's praise of the American Army and Navy. More moderately inclined papers hailed his emphasis on the defensive purpose of Hawaiian military establishments.

Certain official circles regretted Roosevelt's failure to mention Japanese-American relations, and specifically to hold out the olive branch to Japan. They had hoped the President would seize the opportunity while on a visit to the crossroads of the Pacific to make a definite gesture of friendship, possibly to alleviate the rising tension with which the Japanese press and public are viewing relations with America under the influence of Japanese navalist propaganda.

PWA has appropriated $2,700,000 for enlarging of the naval aircraft factory at League Island navy yard, Philadelphia.

WALLACE DEFENDS NEW DEAL

4000 Farmers Applaud Secretary's Explanation Of Program, Attack On Critics

RUSTON, La., July 31.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace yesterday attacked the Republican critics of the AAA and said the "New Deal" had returned twice as much to Southern farmers in 1933 as the return of the "Old Deal" in 1932.

Some 4000 Louisiana farmers cheered statements that the crop control activities of the AAA would be continued and interrupted with prolonged applause when he referred to President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Wallace, a former Republican, heatedly attacked the Republicans and what he termed "old dealers" and charged them with attempting to use the drought as an excuse for abandonment of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's policies.

"This effort to use the fact of the drought as an attack on the Agricultural Adjustment program is typical of the short-sighted leadership of the Republican party from 1921 to 1932," he said.

"During this period the high command in the Republican party steadfastly refused to see that the market for the 50 million acres which had been put into crops during the war had been destroyed by our change from a debtor to a creditor nation."

"They refused to do anything to take this into account either by appropriate changes in tariff policy or by giving farmers controlling power of government with which to retire gradually the acres producing surplus for a market which no longer existed."

British Ship Ready To Take MacDonald Home

BOSTON, July 31.—(AP)—The Boston Globe says in a special dispatch from a member of its staff in Halifax, N. S., that the swift British Dragon is under secret orders to be in readiness to speed Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to England at a moment's notice, so seriously does the head of the British government regard the Austrian situation.

The premier has been on a vacation tour of Canada, but the Globe says that anxiety over Great Britain's position in the European situation has caused him to cancel his scheduled trip to the nearby Grande pre-country of Evangeline fame and to go to Halifax where he can keep in momentary touch with developments.

TO OBSERVE NAVY DAY

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Naval commanders afloat and ashore were instructed yesterday by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, to cooperate with the Navy league in observation of Navy day, Oct. 27. The celebration will have as its slogan a "treaty navy fully manned, backed by an adequate merchant marine."

Early tradition in many different lands declares that the human race sprang from the roots of the ash tree.

19 Persons Arrested, Some Fined For Violations Of City Sanitary Rules

One white man and 18 negroes were brought into Municipal Court yesterday afternoon, most of them to be given suspended sentences of $5 each, after they had been found or pleaded guilty of violations of the City's sanitary regulations.

The wholesale arrest of these persons, all residing on Cypress Avenue in the vicinity of the H. L. Duffart properties at Ninth Street, was termed by Special Sanitary Officer Arthur Marshall, who appeared as a witness against each person, as the first step in a determined campaign to bring about "some sensible observance of our sanitary regulations."

All but five of the 19 persons were charged with that part of the sanitary regulations referring to trash cans which must be equipped with tight covers that will not only prevent the trash from blowing about streets and alleys, but, most important, will prevent the gathering of flies and other disease-bearing insects.

Miss Grace Oviatt and Sam Bradford, Jr. are the latest local persons who have had an experience with an unusually large rattlesnake, they reported this morning. While driving her automobile near her home on Washington Avenue late yesterday, Miss Oviatt ran over the snake but did not kill it. Sam Bradford, Jr. secured a gun, and shot it dead. The snake measured six feet in length and was 10 inches around. It had 17 rattles and a button.

A small crew of laborers, working on the Meriweth Building on Magnolia Avenue, are attempting to correct a condition which had resulted in a sinking of a portion of the building. Some weeks ago it was noticed that the space between the Coleman Office Equipment Co. store and the National Re-Employment Office was narrower at the top than near the ground level. A survey showed that the building was leaning slightly.

Seminole County had only one death from malaria fever during the first five months of 1934 although the total of the state during that period was 81 deaths, it is revealed in a report credited to Dr. Stewart G. Jackson and Marion counties had the greatest number of deaths attributed to malaria—five each—while Gadsden, Jefferson and Polk counties (Continued On Page Six)

New Chancellor Seeks To Establish Peace; Hindenberg Said To Be Seriously Ill

(By The Associated Press)
The Nazi who led the conspiracy to assassinate the Austrian Chancellor Dollfus last Wednesday, and the accomplice who pulled the trigger on the gun which killed the government leader, were both hanged today for high treason by sentence of the court martial.

The former was Otto Holzweber, and the latter was Otto Panetta, a former army sergeant. They went to their death saying "What we did we did for our country."

While the punishment for treason was being meted out the new government headed by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg strove, against a renewed bombing campaign, to restore peace in Austria.

Injected into the Austrian situation also was an indication by official quarters in Belgrade that Yugoslavia reserves the idea of Italy playing a lone hand in guaranteeing Austrian independence.

It was said that the Yugoslavian government held that the question of Austrian independence was a matter for all of Austria's neighbors who should be consulted before any steps are taken.

An Italian spokesman in Rome said Italy is not perturbed by the Belgrade statement and that it had not been Italy's idea to play a lone hand in the situation.

At Frankfurt, Germany, the condition of Paul von Hindenburg, 86-year-old, President of Germany grew suddenly worse today.

Physicians said they feared the worst. Members of his family were called to his bedside. Ver Hildebrandt, in a private room at the Hotel de Ville, was reported yesterday to be suffering from an old disorder of the prostate gland.

A bulletin issued by physicians at 5:15 o'clock P. M. said "There is no change in the President's condition. At least no deterioration. He took a little nourishment at noon. No fever. Pulse satisfactory."

Startling testimony that Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus, while dying from an assassin's bullet last Wednesday, asked that a man identified with his opponents—Dr. Anton Rintelen—be called on to (Continued on Page Six)

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD LOVES THE GOOD:
 Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart.—Psalm 73:1.

In Connecticut 8 small children were playing cards on the tracks of the New York-New Haven and Hartford railroad. A freight train suddenly rounded a bend in the road and swooped down upon them.
 All eight scrambled, but none was able to get out of the way. They will never play cards on a railroad track again. . . But others will.

Politically speaking we have no such word "putch" as was recently attempted in Austria in connection with the assassination of Dolfus. We have a word "push," which we sometimes use in connection with a "push in the face," and which means practically the same thing as the Austrian "putch," only on a smaller scale. If a group attempts a "putch" in this country, we would call it an insurrection, or possibly a revolution.

A woman who had "fixed" some pudding for her dear husband, left a note with it in the kitchen, for fear her daughter might eat the pudding. "Lillian, do not eat the chocolate pudding that's in the kitchen. It's your father's. do not touch it," the note read. Father came along first, however, read the note, and thought how sweet of his wife to make so certain he would not be deprived of his pudding. He ate it, promptly got a stomach ache; later discovered at the hospital that it had quantities of ground glass in it.

Twenty one years ago, shortly after Woodrow Wilson became president of the United States, and shortly before the World War began, Frank Jay Gould, a young multi-millionaire departed from this country vowing he would never return "because of government interference with private business." The other day, in the reign of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the first Mr. Gould returned, saying nothing about the New Deal, or the NRA, but vowing he would remain in the United States the rest of his days. It seems his "corner" on the gambling and hotel business in the South of France has not fared so well in recent years.

Russia, the country which knows no class distinctions, puts everybody on an equal basis, has gone in for polo. Not everyone plays polo as one might suppose in a country that boasts communism, only those who have the inside track. Members of the Russian army recently engaged in a game among themselves, supplied by American Ambassador, William C. Bullitt, on ponies, supplied by the Russian government. In this country, if we had communists, younger sons who inherited their wealth from the business leaders of the past century who made it in various forms of enterprise, would not play polo, but politics, wire-pullers would.

When the depression began some time ago, John D. Rockefeller started a new construction in the heart of New York City, a hotel has come to be known as "Rockefeller Center." An entire city within a city. Rockefeller Center cost $100,000,000, most thousands of men busy who otherwise would have been in the ranks of the unemployed. Rockefeller realized that if a "white elephant" would always be regarded as a loss. Offsets of the Rockefeller response to the depression, have recently been reported for the first time that the Rockefeller Center is ready to be ready for occupancy. The result of the Rockefeller Center is a new era of the available of jobs and these were needed at times which pay.

The International Wheat Pact

People often wonder why it is that attempts at international co-operation so often fail. Why is it that monetary systems and standards are always breaking down?
 Why is it that disarmament conferences never get anywhere? Why is it that efforts to promote trade agreements, limit tariff barriers and abolish quotas and embargoes, are so frequently futile? It is simply because of the prevailing disposition of the various peoples of the earth to ignore treaties, contracts, and agreements, whic-over their national self-interest is at stake.

We have a splendid illustration of this tendency on the part of human beings in the wheat agreement of last summer. Under the terms of this international pact, the leading wheat producing nations of the world and the leading wheat consuming nations of the world entered into an agreement restricting the production of wheat and limiting its export. The dumping of wheat by certain great wheat producing countries at less than cost price had been thought to be one of the major causes of the depression.
 This production and export agreement naturally would prevent much of this cut-throat competition.

The United States, in good faith, signed the agreement promising to reduce American exports of wheat by some 15 percent. Argentina also signed and accepted a quota of 110,000,000 bushels, based on the average output for the past three years. But Argentina had signed without knowing that particularly favorable weather conditions in that country would produce an exceptionally large crop and that despite acreage reduction a larger amount of wheat than ever would be harvested. Added to this was the fact that Argentina has no adequate storage facilities, and either had to export the wheat or destroy it.

And so, although Argentina's quota was only 110,000,000 bushels, that country has already exported 125,000,000 bushels and is still going strong. One can hardly blame it for taking advantage of the largesse of Nature and realizing as much on the crop as possible. Nor can one blame the wheat consuming nations, unable to produce their own wheat, and suffering from the depression and a general scarcity of foods, for taking advantage of Argentina's offer and buying the surplus wheat at the lowest possible price.

But what becomes of the wheat agreement? The minute it ceases to react favorably for a certain nation, it is thrown overboard by that nation. Argentina is not the only offender when it comes to international agreements of one kind or another. What of the European nations which agreed to repay the war debts? As long as it was to their advantage to pay, they paid. As soon as their national self-interest in the payment of the war debts ceased they stopped paying? What of Japan and the Nine Power Peace Pact? What of Germany and its agreement prior to the World War to maintain Belgian neutrality?

And so we have little faith in the formation of these international treaties, pacts, agreements, and so forth. We doubt if even the United States would strain itself very far in trying to carry out one of these international promises if it entailed any reaction against the interests of the people of the United States. We have, for instance, the pledge of the United States to pay certain bonds in gold.
 But when it became politically inexpedient to pay those bonds in gold, we broke the pledge.
 So what good is a contract?

Auto Accidents Increase

A bulletin from the Governor's office in Tallahassee indicates that there has been a substantial increase in the number of automobile accidents during the past two years.
 Figures released by Asher Frank, head of the Governor's Safety Committee, reveal that during the first four months of 1932 there were 107 persons killed in automobile accidents in Florida; during the first four months of 1933, there were 172 persons killed; and during the first four months of 1934, there were 199 persons killed.

"In Miami alone," the bulletin continues, "in the past 6 months 18 people have been killed on the streets and highways, 14 of them pedestrians. Ten of these were under the age of 25. The pedestrian in subjecting himself to accident hazards is causing part of this increase of avoidable accidents and fatalities in Florida. They should observe the traffic laws just the same as the motorist.

"The four months of 1934 report further shows that of the 199 Florida deaths 61 were children and young people under 25, and a good many of these accidents were caused by driving on the wrong side of the road, hitting stationary objects such as bridges, telephone poles and safety zones and speeding beyond the driver's control. Of these fatalities 4 were killed at railroad crossings. It would appear that the public still tries to beat the trains, always a losing race, and that they never seem to remember that the train can't leave the track and get out of the way."

It may, of course, be argued that the increase in accidents is due to the increase in the number of automobiles, and the increased amount of automobile driving, as indicated by continuously rising gasoline sales, but with this fact it should not be overlooked that automobile today are mechanically safer than those of two years ago, having better brakes, shatter proof glass, and other improvements which minimize the danger of accidents.

The increase in the number of accidents may be accounted for in some other way, and it is probably true that it is due primarily to an increase in carelessness. In spite of safety campaigns, waged by local, state, and national officials, the public by in large is paying very little attention to the rules of the roads and the rights of others. As long as this condition persists, accidents will continue.

TRAVEL NOTES

BY SUSAN E. WRIGHT

Since the building of Norton Memorial Hall, that beautiful and complete modern theatre, the play has been quite the thing in Chau-taquaque and not less popular than the operas given in the same house, and always to capacity audiences.

This is a corollary of the emphasis that Chautauqua has always laid upon its School of Speech, a department now under the capable supervision of Prof.
 Davis Edwards of the University of Chicago. This includes Expression and Dramatics for young people, The Speaking Voice, Oral Interpretation of Literature, Effective Speaking, and The Correct Word. In addition to this is a course in Religious Pageantry under a special instructor.
 Whatever the School of Speech has done in the way of direct instruction it has an important by-product in developing an intelligent appreciation of the work of the Chautauqua Players which to the name we give the members of The Cleveland Play House group when they come here for their term. This group includes two artists of outstanding merit and reputation, Katherine Wick Kelly and Noel Leslie. The plays of this season are "The Mad Hopes," "The Drunkard," "Criminal at Large," "Midsummer Night's Dream," and "The Late Christopher Bean."

Like the musicians mentioned in a previous paper, Professor day.
 Miss Muriel Harrold was the gracious young hostess at a very charming afternoon and evening party Tuesday, in honor of her house guest Miss Jewel Dinkle of Longwood. Miss Julietta Gibbons of Jacksonville and Miss Lettie Caldwell. The beautiful home of the Harrolds, nestling beneath the grand old oaks was a fitting setting for the gay party of young people assembled beneath its hospitable roof. Those invited to meet the guests of honor were Misses Gene Mauldin, Eleanor and Ruth Roberts, Charlotte Hand, Helen and Ruth Hand, Annie Lee Caldwell, Margaret Davis, Margaret Wight, Mary and Lucia Chappell, Helen Rowland, Essie Purdon, Annie Whitner, Lillian Herring, Douglas Abernathy, Gladys Morris,
 Susie Brown, Dora Harrold,
 Messrs. Frank Campbell, Pope Weber, David and Weidman Caldwell, Speer, Frank Woodruff, Rob-

March!—a powerful plea for universal disarmament. "Adventuring With Jill and Judy," "Making a Peacock's Tail out of a Broomhandle," on how to overcome the inferiority complex and take oneself for granted.
 This morning we heard an old something that was new to us—a Story-Choir program led by the gifted Georgia M. Clifford who is in charge of the Story Telling Group in the summer schools.
 This is a modern revival in its most ancient form, of the drama, and the program embraced "The Congo" by Nacpiel Lindsay, well read by a soloist, with chorus like intonations from the choir of children and adults. This number quite prepared the audience for similar and reverent presentations of negro prayers and sermons. As we listened, we felt that Mrs.
 Clifford has anticipated something which will well become a popular esthetic movement in this country.

If I were to attempt anything like a complete story of Chau-taquaque activities I should be obliged to rent a hall instead of scribbling these notes into The Sanford Herald. I have not touched on the Fine Arts department in the schools, have not mentioned the important exhibitions in the wide halls of the Hotel Athenaeum, nor a dozen other things—all of great interest. Lowell Thomas, Harry Emerson Fosdick, and Jerome Hopperport will all give programs very soon, but we cannot tarry longer in this lovely cool spot. Before closing this paper, however, I must mention two things that are along my line of former activity, the Woman's Club and the Bird and Tree Club—the latter equivalent of our own Garden Club. Both of these organizations are housed in their own beautiful buildings and have very large membership rolls composed of like minded women from all over the country. For years past, Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, former president of the General Federation of Women's Club has headed the Chautauqua Club and in addition has held an important place in the councils of the Chautauqua Institution.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison is president of the Bird and Tree Club.
 Frequent programs given by these two organizations bring Chau-taquaque visitors into close and friendly touch, and I fancy many club days all over the United States will recall the inspiration given here.

I have never tried to analyze all that Chautauque has meant to me. The Institution is sixty years old, and I can remember its inception in our home of the long ago, a movement like this always calls for discussions, and it can't be done in a few lines.

MARCONI WIPES OUT PERILS OF FOGS ON OCEAN

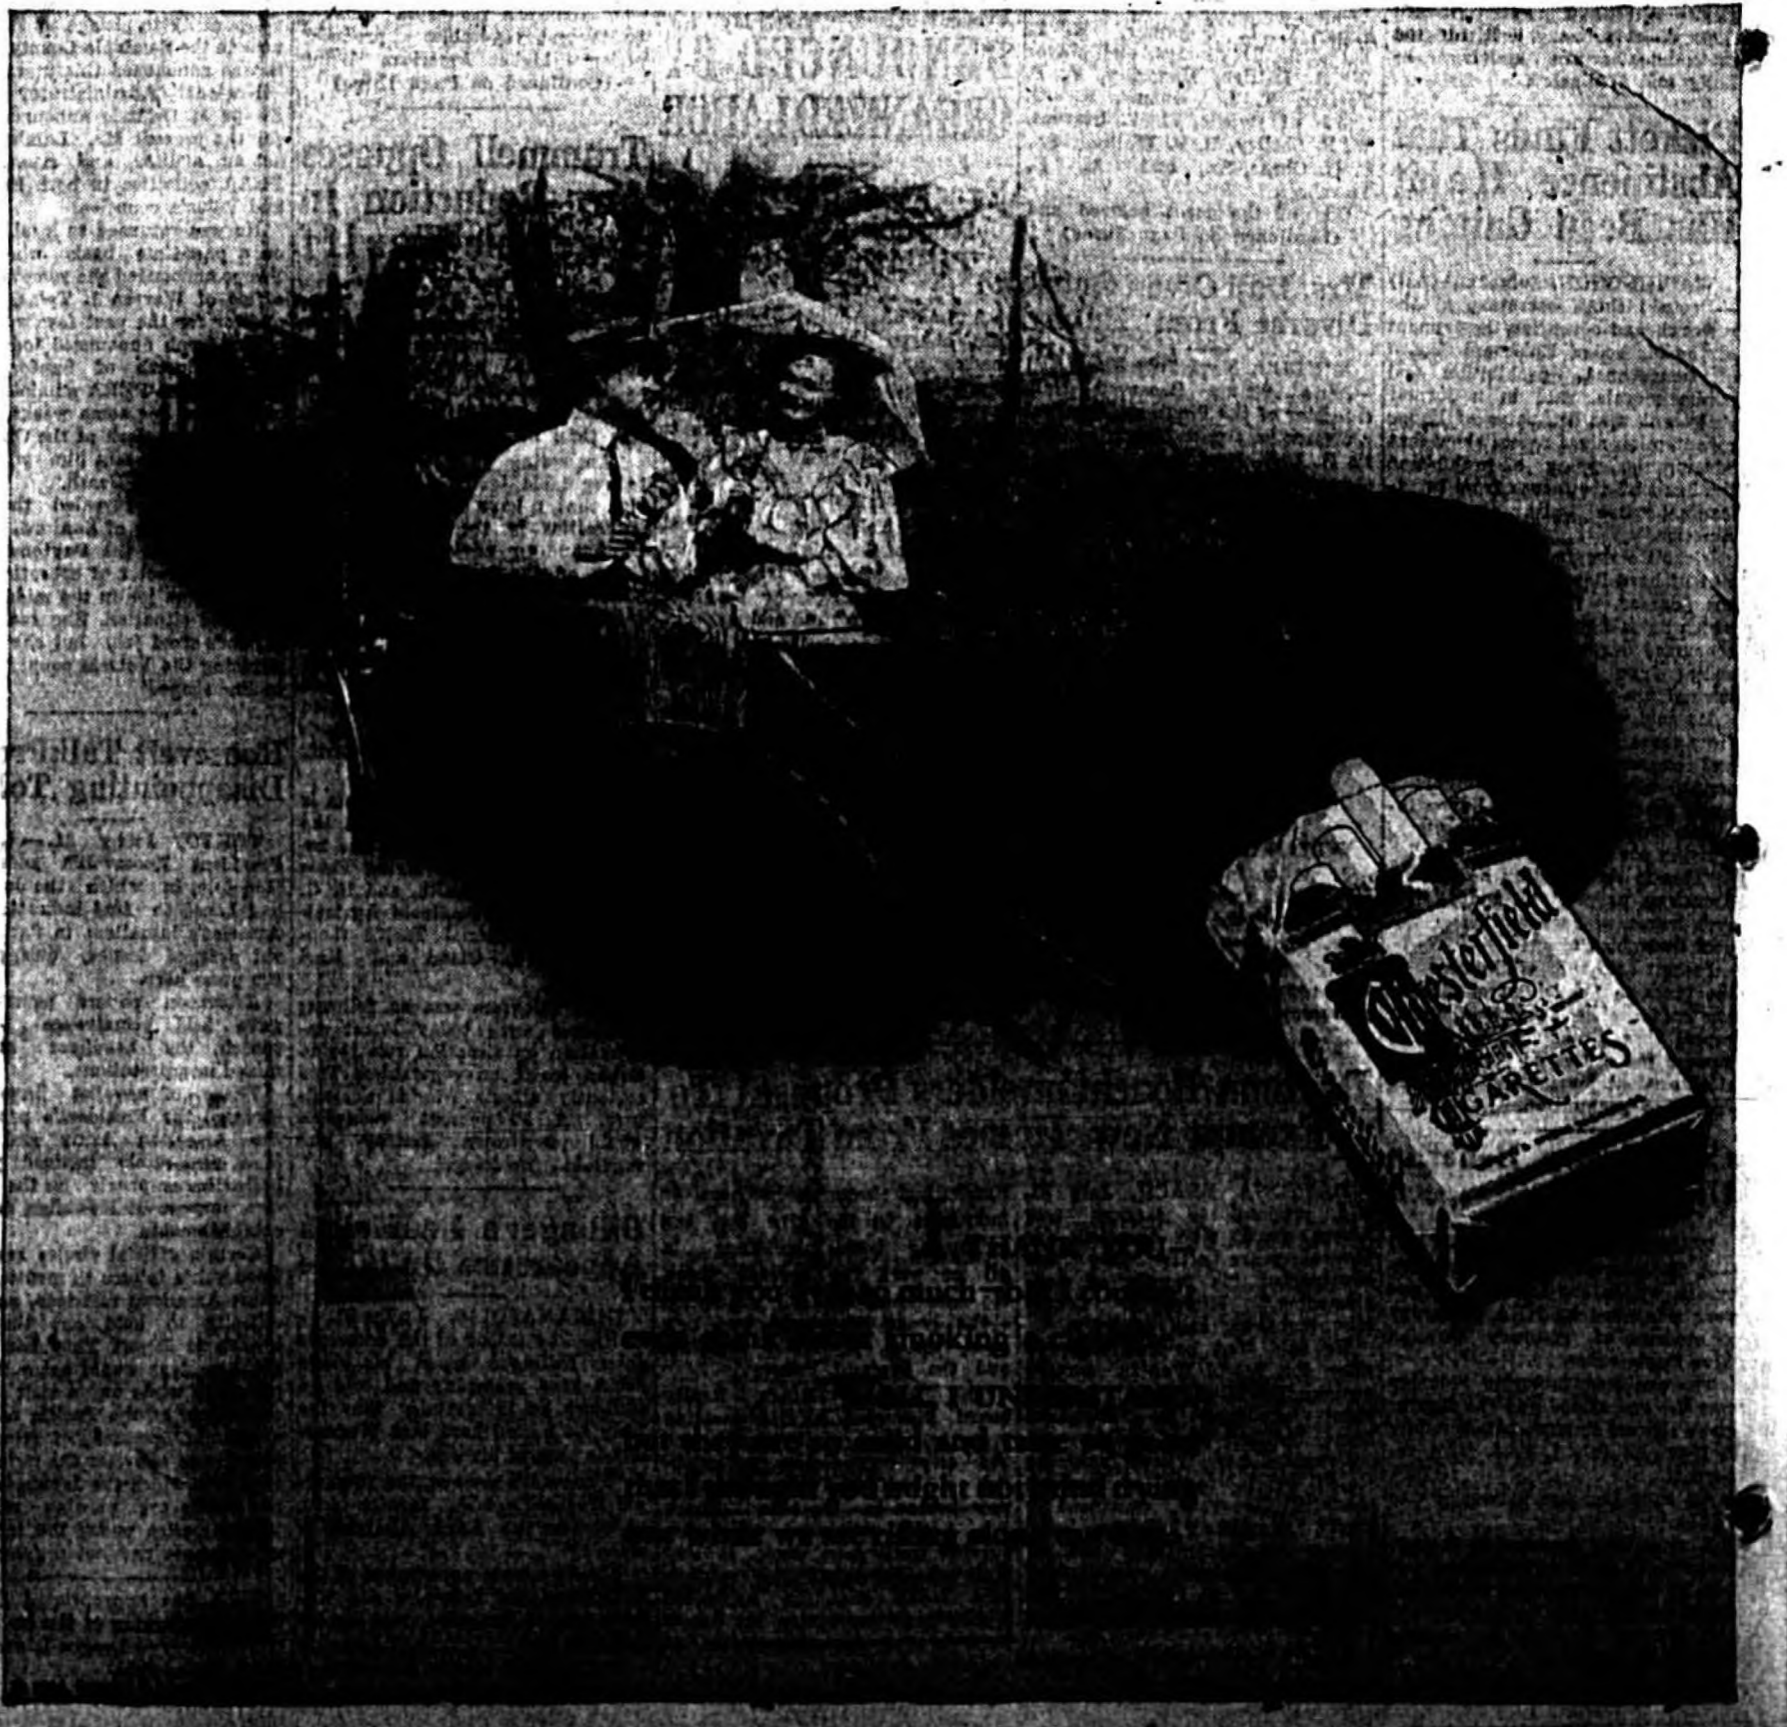

His Radio Lighthouse Pilots Ships Safely Into Harbor Ports

SANTA MARGHERITA, LU-GURE, Italy, July 31.—(AP)—Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, with a smile of triumph, demonstrated yesterday what he believed to be his greatest invention—a radio lighthouse.
 Even as his invention of the wireless saved thousands of lives through the S. O. S., so, he said, the radio lighthouse should save hundreds of ships from collision just outside ports.

In the presence of Italian government authorities and newspapermen, Marconi blindly, yet successfully, piloted the ocean-going yacht "Electra" into the harbor at Santa Margherita.
 His new apparatus is distributed in several points: First, an ultra short wave transmission station on a high promontory about 300 feet above the sea here; then there are two radio lighthouses on large buoys floating at the entrance of the harbor a little more than 300 feet apart. Each buoy is equipped with a kind of relay station, being in effect a reflector.

Finally there is a receiving station aboard the yacht which has two kinds of indicators, a dial divided into a red and green section, and a loudspeaker. So long as the ship pursued a direct course for the harbor, the dial stood midway between the green and red sections, but the slightest depression to one side or the other caused a corresponding movement of the indicator.
 At the same time the loudspeaker gave two signals, one of high frequency and the other of low frequency. The varying in-dently to the pilot whether he was varying from the course, and if so, in what direction.

The transmitting station was broadcasting on a 60 centimeter wave and the broadcast was picked up by the radio lighthouse and was retransmitted automatically to the ship.
 The ship entered the harbor safely, although Marconi and his captain were guiding it blindly.

Milane Vaudeville To Be Presented Tuesday Instead Of Wednesday

Calling attention to the fact that until further notice weekly vaudeville shows will be held on Tuesday instead of Wednesday, the Milane Theatre, invites special patronage of the Dorothy Byton "Gold Coast Revue" which is featured today. Dorothy Byton's performances, often seen here during the past 18 months, have all been outstanding in their presentation, costuming, quality, and appeal for every member of the family. Mr. Marentette pointed out today. Dorothy Byton, he said, brings to Sanford on her latest tour of Florida, a group of performers who have had considerable experience and success in Chicago and its environs. Headlining the presentation is Miss Byton and her partner, known professionally as Debel and Byton, comedy entertainers. Miss Cleopatra also is listed as one of the featured entertainers, her part being the presentation of a spectacular "dance that is different."

Other entertainers are Lillian Reasly, a blues singer; Hal and Elinor Chutkan, tap dancers; the Six Chicago Sensations, and the Bobby Kuhn trio. The performances are to be staged in connection with the feature picture, "The Trumpet Blows," starring George Raft and Adolphe Menjou.

KIDDIES' COLUMN

By HAZEL MOUGHTON

The Zoo
OUR CAR-DI-NALS
You will see these car-di-nals at the zoo. I think they are the prettiest of the Florida small birds. But there is a secret to tell you. Many boys and girls, and our fathers and mothers, too, do not know why these pretty birds are called "CAR-DI-NALS." I did not know till I looked it up. Now you will know why. CAR-DI-NALS has three words to tell what it is. Priest or leader, dress, and red. Now with his pretty red feathers he is a leader among small birds.

He with his high top-knotty head is even busier. Now he fits here. Now he fits there. He is forever singing his "chip, chip, chip," from January to September. He is a joy to see. There is black about his bill and black about his throat. His wings, tail and back are tipped with little feathers of gray. The rest of his body is a rich pinkish red. I have been saying "he" and "him" because it was as if the Papa I was telling you.

Now the Mama bird is so good and dear. She does not need to be so pretty. Maybe you have heard your mama say, "Pretty is as pretty does." Anyhow, good old Dame Nature colored the Mama bird much darker than the Papa bird. She colored her like the grayish nest she sits on. Like the twigs of bushes and the branches of the trees she flies in. This way Mama bird cannot be seen easily. No harm can come to her. The mother bird's throat and face are grayish black. You will see that the under parts of her little body are a very pale yellow or orange. That her back is brownish. Then to show that she truly belongs to Papa Car-di-nal, Mother Nature colored her with dull red wings and tail.

Cardinals build their nests in thick brush, about six feet from the ground. The papa and mama weave a cup of rootlets, small twigs and sometimes Spanish moss as a home. Then three or four bluish white eggs, dotted with cinnamon and lavender, are laid in the cozy nest. The cardinal is easy to scare. He will leave his nest quicker than any other bird. Besides this, he will not speak to it. When the Cardinals are building their nests, they sing as many as six tunes.

These are to us very helpful little birds. They eat bugs that kill strawberries. They eat potato bugs. Then they carry off, too, many weed seeds. They also eat poison ivy berries. Don't you think they are just as pretty as they standard cannot compete successfully without a tariff. The new commercial treaty is being drafted at a time government agencies are looking about to adjust some selected duties as bait to retrieve foreign trade which has drifted from America. The theory is that by giving other countries a few trade advances and letting foreign movements to our ports become easier, America will create good will and in the long run rebuild its foreign trade with resultant benefits both to agriculture and industry. reverted women who played a large part in the early history of Sanford. Mrs. Higgins came to Sanford with her husband and their nine children in 1901. She resided here almost continuously since that time, her later years having been spent in visiting her seven remaining children. She was a native of Baltimore, Md., where she was born in 1844. A devoted Catholic, Mrs. Higgins was one of the most active women in All Souls' parish. She often was heard in humble expressions of pride over the fact that she had been a slave until she had, with her husband, bought and emancipated her own mother and each of her children. In her later years she often acted as a mediator in the active disputes between the various parishes in which they reside.

Lazy Man's Rest On 15-Acre Ranch in Texas

WVALE, (AP), July 30.—(AP)—"I don't see any sense in my resting here," said Vice President Charles G. Dawes. He pulled himself out of a restful chair, perked in the sun-room of his comfortable home, bathed, shaved, dressed, and then, with a yawn, turned toward the barn on his 15-acre place.

Garner is taking a real "easy man's rest" from arduous duties as president of the Senate and confidant of the President.

"I should anyone want to go to Florida or some place for a vacation when he can stay at home and be himself?" he asked as he made his way to the hen-house. A white chicken was sprayed over a dark egg by the "vice president."

"You know Mrs. Garner (the best person in the world," he said, "she will let all of them come to see me. I like to have them here."

"Not taking any interest in Texas as a politician," he said sharply. "You know," Garner remarked, "we got into from everywhere. Just today there came by express another dog. I don't know what kind of a dog it is, but it is as long as my leg and as fat as my arm."

"Did you know," he asked, "that John Quincy Adams got up every day about 5 o'clock and took a walk in the Park? Can you imagine what the reaction would be if an occupant of the White House in this day and time would slip out before daylight and take a walk like that?"

Garner had a fine grape arbor as well as a peach orchard and a large vegetable garden. He has a small fine picking grapes and peaches there July 27. He said he would like to go to the new orange in the state next year.

On Jan. 12, 1972, Chang became ill with bronchitis at his home. When it came time to go to Eng's house, Eng tried to persuade Chang to remain at Chang's home. But the latter insisted on carrying out their marital arrangements.

Finally the families separated. The first children were born within three or four days of each other. The twins at first occupied jointly a large plantation. There was harmony in the house until the wives began to quarrel.

Half Of $4,500,000,000 f Emergency Money Spent In 1933-34 May Be Lost To U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—The government spent about $4,500,000,000 of emergency money in the last fiscal year, but nearly half of it bore a return or some back in a debatable point.

The best available figures indicate that about $2,000,000,000 was used for loans, federal credit projects, and in other channels, where it remains, eventually, at least, an asset.

Some Administration critics say the nation's bill has good prospects to nearly all its emergency dollars.

While on display, the giant measured 12 feet in length and weighing 2,000 pounds, was viewed by thousands including many scientists and doctors who professed to believe it to be the remains of a prehistoric man.

10-Year Old Edgar Hoover Directs Varied Activities of Swift, Silent, U. S. Agents

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—A red brick building on Belmont Avenue, a short, compact, muscular man, sits at a desk in a crisp voice he speaks one after another of a battery of telephones.

A few miles away machine gun bullets splatter a target, shattering the somnolent peace of the Maryland countryside—sounding a warning to "Baby Face" Nelson and other killers of his ilk.

The man at the desk in the red brick building is J. Edgar Hoover, 39-year-old chief of the "G-men"—the gangster's panic for government men, giving direction, suggestions and encouragement by telephone to the leaders of some 400 federal agents in the nationwide offensive against crime, which has been revitalized by the "taking" of Dillinger.

The bullets raining on targets at nearby Fort Meade are propelled from guns similar to gangster's own "rubbing out" weapons and the men wielding the guns are "feds."

Not so long ago the federal agents engaged in tracking down some of the most desperate criminals were sparsely equipped with pistols and a few rifles. Now they are being rapidly supplied with machine guns, high powered rifles and shotguns while instructors are teaching them to handle these weapons expertly.

At Fort Meade and other arm rifle ranges throughout the country, target practice and sharp-shooting drill has been going on quietly for several months.

When the full strength of the division of investigation is mustered this summer it is expected some 600 agents will be in the well-drilled army fighting kidnapers, bank robbers and routing outlaws of all types. They will be assisted in their cleanup by 17 new federal laws with jagged teeth.

While department of justice officials were disappointed in the failure of Congress to provide an additional $700,000 for equipping them with armored cars for use in the main arteries of interstate highway traffic and with planes close at hand for speedy pursuit, the agents will be provided with a fleet of light, fast cars such as the gangster's use.

The educational qualifications—some of them are gifted linguists and about 80 percent of the investigators have had legal training or work in expert accounting—have prompted some critics to call them "high-brows," "campus detectives" and "boy scouts."

But Hoover cites their record of 96 percent convictions in court, not to mention the Dillinger coup, and the crushing of several kidnaping rings and racketeering gangs, as justification for the high requirements of personnel.

One of his prime requisites is that an investigator have the knowledge and experience to gather evidence that will "stick" when an offender is brought to trial.

The dynamic director's definition of an ideal agent is an "operator who combines intelligence and experience with courage, loyalty and horse sense."

The force includes a number of former chiefs of detective bureaus, chiefs of police, Texas rangers, sheriffs, state troopers and plain detectives.

An applicant for service as a "G-man" must be between 25 and 35 years of age; personnel records of the department show that the average age of an investigator is slightly over 35.

While the division has no airplanes there are six agents who can pilot a plane and one investigator has been a parachute jumper. Others have been teachers in colleges and high schools, truck drivers, newspaper reporters, bank clerks, professional baseball players, football stars and expert boxers.

BANK DEPOSITOR OF RECENT YEARS SEEN FORTUNATE

Jones Says Losers In 1931-33 Crashes Are To Get Big Dividends

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Depositors in banks which closed during the 1931-1933 depression period will get back a larger percentage than has been true in bank failures over a period of 25 years, Jesse H. Jones, R. F. C. chairman, declared today.

At the same time Jones revealed that of the nation's 15,000 banking institutions the R. F. C. has made loans to 5,000 banks since 1932 and has purchased preferred stocks and capital notes in more than 7,000 banks.

Jones declared that depositors in closed banks on the whole will receive an average of 65 percent of their deposits in banks which failed during the wholesale closing of the last two years, as compared with about 58 percent in the past.

He said that closed banks during the years 1931, 1932 and 1933 had aggregate deposits at the time of closing $6,500,000,000. One half of this amount has already been distributed to depositors, and a fair estimate of the ultimate loss in all closed banks will be from two billion to two billion five hundred million dollars.

In its campaign to strengthen the banking structure of the country, Jones said, the R. F. C. authorized investments in capital notes and preferred stocks in banks amounting to $1,115,000,000.

This policy will be continued until every bank in the United States has had an opportunity of becoming a really strong bank in point of capital. Such investments serve the double purpose of preventing further bank failures and insuring deposits, Jones said.

An armadillo and a Florida blue racer snake were added to Sanford Municipal Zoo yesterday the former having been purchased from Ocie Gibbs; the latter being a donation by Miss Nona Wyly of Lake Mary. The armadillo, a female, is said to be a splendid type, in apparently perfect health. The snake, measuring seven feet in length, was caught on Miss Wyly's property at Lake Mary. It is the longest reptile of its kind now in the Zoo.

J. L. Marentette, H. B. Papp, E. J. Moughton and James Moughton have been appointed as a special purchasing committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for materials needed in the rebuilding of the Municipal Zoo and the construction of the new aquarium. This work is to be done with FERA labor, and materials are to be supplied through the Chamber of Commerce and the City work will begin within a few days it was reported this morning.

Young men residents of this city are invited to gather at the Sanford Country Club tonight at 8:00 o'clock to participate in a discussion at the advisability of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce in Sanford. Guest speaker will be Claude Wolfe of Orlando and Jimmy Milligan, also of Orlando, both officials of the Orlando Junior organization. Gordon J. Barnett of Fern Park is the backer of the movement, and he and the Orlando speakers will lead the discussion.

Representatives of the four local commercial printing plants met yesterday afternoon in conference with C. P. Helfenstein of Live Oak, chairman of the Florida Graphic Arts Code Authority, and editor and owner of the Live Oak "Democrat." Highlights of the code were thoroughly discussed, and at the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Helfenstein appointed W. M. Haynes as his local "contact" man. Blue Eagles of compliance with the code were issued to each plant owner or representative.

The State Racing Commission has again denied an application for permit to operate the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club at Longwood for a 1935 season of greyhound racing, it was learned here today. Denial of a permit to the Dade County Kennel Club at Miami perturbed officials of that club only slightly for they promptly announced an intention of appealing to the Supreme Court for an alternative writ of mandamus directing the commission to show cause why it should not grant the permit.

County Agent C. R. Dawson announced this morning that he has called a meeting of the Mole Cricket Committee of the Seminole Agricultural Club, to be held at 8:00 o'clock tonight at his office in the Court House. All members of the committee have been reached by telephone, Mr. Dawson stated, but all persons interested in the drive against this pest are urged to attend. The committee includes O. P. Herndon, chairman, Victor Greene, Edmund Malsch, Henry Thurston, Henry Schumacher, Roy P. Symms and Mr. Dawson.

Replacement of the present unsanitary toilets widely used in the colored sections of this city is contemplated by members of the City Commission as the result of the visit here yesterday of Russell Broughman of Orlando, of the State Board of Health. Mr. Broughman told the Commissioners that the FERA would furnish the labor needed in the erection of a new pit-type toilet, provided the City would furnish materials. Approximate cost to the City would be about $6, it was learned, and the Commissioners are studying the advisability of setting up a fund at once and assessing property owners for the improvements as fast as they are constructed. Nearly 500 would be installed under the present plan.

KING TO CELEBRATE

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—King George has agreed to the suggestion of Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald that the jubilee celebration of his ascension to the throne be held next year. It was announced in parliament yesterday, and at the same time it was revealed that President De Valera of the Irish Free State has declined an invitation to take part.

Nazi Mob Head, Arm Man Who Fired Shot At Dollfuss, Hanged

bring peace to Austria was offered yesterday in Vienna by Emil Fey, former vice chancellor, at the court martial of two men involved in the slaying of the chancellor.

Rintelen, in a hospital seriously wounded, was the Austrian minister to Italy and the man selected by Nazi revolutionaries as a successor to Dollfuss.

"The last words I heard the dying chancellor speak," Fey testified, "were 'Rintelen must make peace.'"

"Let there be no blood" he said, and a little later he called on Rintelen to restore peace to the country."

Fey made the statement, which took many in the court by surprise, after he was asked whether Dollfuss resigned his office as he lay dying.

Fey replied that he did not hear, in so many words, that Dollfuss intended resigning, but did hear him invoke the aid of Rintelen as the man who could bring peace to the nation.

News from the "front" in Styria and Carinthia, where the Nazi forces were strongest in the revolt, was scarce yesterday. The government insisted that the situation was well in hand.

Dispatches to Belgrade from the Austrian border told of explosions indicating that railway bridges and roads had been blown up by the rebels in Styria.

On the other hand, some 350 more Nazis had crossed into Yugoslavia with arms and three armored cars. This brought past 1000 the number of refugees in that country.

Munich also heard an unconfirmed rumor that 100 Italian soldiers had moved into Innsbruck, Austria, to guard the Italian consulate there. Rome stated, however, that no troops had crossed the border.

Rumors of approaching restoration of the monarchy continued, becoming more strong.

Chancellor Schuschnigg apparently was in safe control of the government, with the co-operation of Prince von Starhemberg, who became vice chancellor again instead of acting chancellor as his colleague took over the reins.
