

Give Your Kids A Chance!

TOMORROW'S LEADERS are in the schools today. To prepare for their future they should have the best facilities we can provide. Let's see that they have the chance they deserve to learn in schools at least equal to the demands of the day.

Seminole County's Growing!

POPULATION has doubled in the last eight years. Every survey made forecasts a continuation of this sweeping upward trend. SCHOOL ENROLLMENT has gone up over 50 percent in the last five years. With the added families that come here day by day we must plan for a school enrollment increase of at least another 50 percent in the next three years.

School Space Is Needed!

You know that the classrooms are filled to capacity now. The additional students demand added school space if we are to avoid the unsatisfactory daily double sessions. Our out-moded schools MUST be modernized and expanded quickly.

Many Japanese Oppose Suspended Sentence Given Girard

By HARRY HUBBARD
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (UP)—Many Japanese reacted angrily today to the suspended sentence given U.S. Army Sgt. William S. Girard who shot and killed a Japanese woman last spring on what a Japanese judge called a "childish whim."

A three-man Japanese court today sentenced the Ottawa, Ill., soldier to three years of hard labor on the manslaughter conviction, but sentence was suspended for four years on good behavior. Girard walked out of court a freeman.

Today's sentence will not become final under Japanese law until 14 days have passed. During that time both prosecution and defense attorneys can file an appeal. Indications were both sides have had enough and the conviction will stand.

Sentence Opposed
Opposition to the light sentence was led by the Socialist Party whose demands for a Japanese trial for the slaying of Mrs. Naka Sakai, a brass scavenger at the Camp Weir firing range Jan. 30 touched off an international furor.

Jinzo Asanuma, Secretary General of the opposition Socialist Party, called the verdict a "complete manifestation of the weakness of Japanese courts toward the United States."

Kayoko Sakai, the 30-year-old daughter of the victim, turned the suspended sentence "the same thing as a non-guilty verdict." She said she believed the sentence would not "provide Girard with a chance to atone for his crime."

Girard himself was glad to be out of it. "It was kind of tough," he told a press conference at Camp Drew. "But I am glad the judge gave me another chance."

In Girard's home town of Ottawa, Mayor Fred Eichelkraut said, "I'm glad it's over and that Bill will be coming home to his mother soon."

Army Had No Comment
The Army had no comment, but military observers said Girard probably would have received much harsher treatment from a court-martial for the death. The Army charge probably would have been second degree murder or manslaughter, they said.

Two Are Dead

Train Jumps Tracks, Crashes Into Building

MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—The Boston and Maine Railroad's passenger train Red Wing jumped the tracks on an overpass today and plowed into a five-story brick building.

At least two persons—the engineer and fireman—were killed, eight were injured and scores were shaken up. The train, which runs between Boston and Montreal, was carrying about 50 passengers.

Dead were Engineer Harold J. Danforth of Somerville, Mass., and the fireman, identified only as Murphy, who was trapped in the cab of the locomotive, which toppled 11 feet to the street.

The seven-car train was traveling over a side track when it became derailed and tore into the Converse Rubber Co. warehouse in which 100 persons were working. The two-section locomotive tore a 15-foot gash in one corner of the building and fell to the street.

Only four rear cars—combination sleepers and coaches—remained on the tracks. The others, all baggage cars, were derailed. Tracks were twisted like spaghetti for 75 feet. Brick and debris covered the street. The rear section of the diesel locomotive rested on the street with the nose leaning on the overpass. Rescuers had to climb ladders to free the fireman from the cab.

One passenger said about 20 passengers in his car were knocked to the floor. "My whole body lurched three or four times from the impact," he said. "I thought we had hit another train—it sounded as if we did."

Small Loan Companies

By FRED DANES
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Small loan companies have found that respectability rubs off.

Borrowing suddenly became more fashionable in 1953, when the First National City Bank of New York opened a personal loan department, leading the way for other banks. This year, banks will dole out $12,500,000,000 in personal loans.

The small loan companies, instead of being hurt by this competition, find themselves doing better than ever.

This year, our 10,745 small loan offices will make about 16 million loans at a volume of $4 billion dollars. Ten years ago, it was 10 million loans at a $1,000,000,000 volume.

Even though interest rates are about double when compared to bank rates, one family in six is a small loan company customer.

Charge More Interest

Small loan companies charge more interest than banks because they have higher operating costs and take greater risks. They deal mostly with skilled or semi-skilled workers while banks lend mostly to the white collar worker.

Why do some people who can get a bank loan borrow from a small loan company instead? Here are some reasons:

—Small loan offices are open at more convenient hours and may be closer to home.

—Small loan offices are more willing to lend small amounts.

—Their employees "speak the same language" and make the borrower feel more comfortable.

One psychologist recently found that "A large majority of Americans consider banks as distant, cold, formal institutions. They long for a more personal relationship."

Warm And Friendly

Small loan companies promote the "friendly and warm" angle to the limit.

One firm, General Finance, urges radio listeners to call a local number and let good "old Bob Adams" arrange a quick loan. This firm has about 300 employees answering calls for Adams. "We picked 'Bob Adams' because it's a typical American name," said Richard Trenkman, company vice president.

Some finance companies in the early 1940s began to realize that a get-tough policy toward delinquents was bad business and bad public relations. They reposed trust in rare cases these days. The danger of repossession is at a minimum because of such cushions as credit life, health and accident insurance, unemployment insurance and pensions.

A $200 24-month loan can cost you from $104 to $181 in interest, depending on the state law the small loan company works under. The bank's charge would put the same loan cost about $71. On a $300 loan, payable over 18 months, the bank cost comes to about $38 while the small loan company would charge at least $68.

Prolonged Taking Of Drugs Can Cause Damage To Brain

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—In rats (and presumably in people, too) the prolonged taking of certain drugs can cause brain and nervous system damage from which the rats never recover.

Proof of this was presented to the current fall meeting of the National Academy of Sciences by Dr. Curt P. Richter of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Dr. Richter cited indirect evidence for a presumption that what these drugs do to rats, they are capable of doing to people—if taken steadily over long periods.

But people can't be experimented with as rats are, of course, and so these ultimate—and dreadful—effects on people are presumed rather than proved.

By Prescription Only

Although in use, all the drugs belong to chemical families for which all physicians have the greatest respect. They are "prescription drugs" strictly, and any physician who prescribed them for prolonged use would not only be considered incompetent by his colleagues but also out of his head.

(1) The sulfa drugs, represented by sulfamerazine; (2) drugs which suppress secretion of the thyroid gland, represented by propylthiouracil and thiouracil; (3) the barbiturates (which often are prescribed as sleeping pills), represented by barbital; (4) fever-reducing drugs represented by salicylates; (5) sex hormones represented by estradiol and progesterone.

The one thing the drug families have in common, in the main, is that all act on the system of internally secreting glands which regulates body metabolism and keep all bodily systems functioning together in harmonious balance.

Dr. Richter fed them to rats in doses which were the proportionate equivalents of the doses usually given to people. He maintained these daily feedings for one to four months. These time intervals when translated from the normal life span of rats to the normal life span of people represent two to 8 years in the life of a man.

Results Were Disturbing

The resulting damage to the rats was irrefutable. Indeed, the rats seemed to be normal. But when their activity and food and water intake were measured over long periods, the damage was water intake were measured over long periods of their bodily systems.

To 14 to 28 days the animals would run incessantly in their treadmills, and eat and drink enormously. This cycle would be succeeded by a cycle of almost total inactivity, and food and fluid

Another 1,100,000 Persons Stricken With Influenza

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service has reported that another 1,100,000 persons in 38 states were stricken with various types of influenza last week.

This brought to 3,839,000 the number of cases reported since the outbreak of Asian flu last summer.

The service had no breakdown on how many of the total influenza cases were of the Asian variety. Most persons afflicted with influenza do not undergo the laboratory tests necessary to determine the exact cause.

The report said 307 deaths in 116 large cities occurred as the result of influenza and pneumonia. This was an increase of about 4 per cent, compared with an 11 per cent rise during the previous week.

The number of deaths last week was about three times higher, however, than the total for the same week of last year.

The service said that since Sept. 1, there have been 2,610 more deaths from influenza and pneumonia than during the same period of last year. It said nearly 50 per cent of this increase occurred in the past six weeks.

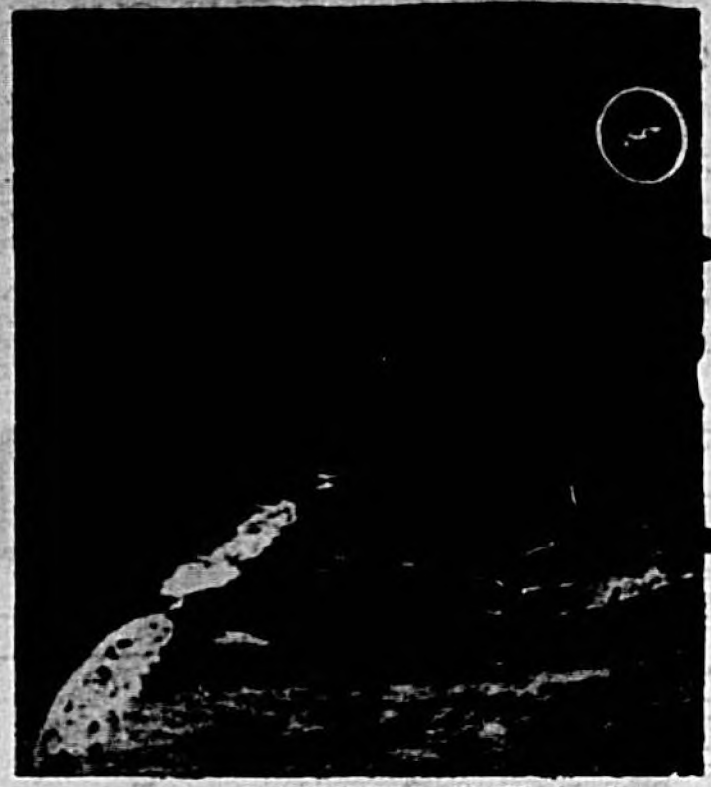

Mother Says Son Played Hookey Because He's Shy

LONDON (UP)—A British mother told a court that her 15-year-old son played hookey from school only because he was "shy."

Then she proceeded to tell the judge that the boy—identified only as "the gov'nor" because of his age—ruled the house with an iron hand.

The parents go to bed when he tells them to. He locks up the house at night. His meals are served by his mother in a separate room from his parents. He opens all his father's mail and tells his mother not to speak to him unless spoken to.

The judge said he doubted that "shyness" was the boy's trouble and put him on probation for truancy for one month.

FIND BODIES OF STRATOCRUISER CRASH—An air-sea operation combed from a small area of the Pacific Ocean the wreckage of the Pan American strato-carrier which crashed six days earlier. Soviet Satellites Challenge

NEW YORK (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says that the Soviet earth satellites are not a portent of disaster but a challenge to man's ability to control himself rather than exterminate himself.

Stevenson had "no comment" on reports that President Eisenhower has asked him to head U. S. negotiations for greater Allied scientific cooperation. A United Press dispatch from Washington said it was learned the offer has been made but that Stevenson has not committed himself.

"The choice is either extinction or the human brotherhood that has been the vision of visionaries since the beginning of time," the two-time Democratic presidential candidate said.

In a speech to the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Stevenson said the fact that the United States did not launch the first earth satellite disturbed him deeply. But he said the basic is-

NEW YORK (UP)—Today's woman sticks to her knitting. Along with her weaving, crocheting, rug-hooking, tatting, quilting and a hundred other hobbies which fill her spare time.
At the rate she is going, she will outdo grandma, and grandma was no slouch. She reared a big family, did all the housework and still found time to knit socks and crochet antimacassars.
"Look at what has happened to weaving," said Mrs. Leo Feinberg, who is coordinating the 31th Annual Women's International Exposition, which opened today at the 71st Regiment Armory. "It is an ancient craft, in a fantastic new vogue. Women are weaving skirts, suits and dress fabrics, by crocheting covers, draperies, coats, covers. One woman even has woven a room divider."
"All this on a hand loom, mind you. This year we are giving four times as much space to weaving entries than last year."
Half The Gals Crochet
The other handicrafts are doing right well. Mrs. Feinberg, who has been with the exposition since 1910, said at least 99 per cent of the nation's adult female population does crochet. Almost as many knit. Some women are skilled at three or four types of needlework.
She isn't sure where they find the time, considering that some 22 million hold outside jobs.
Satisfies Creative Urge
"But there are three good reasons handicrafts will go on and on," she said. "They satisfy our creative urge. Take me, I'm a knitter. I can go out and buy a sweater for my grandson for $5. It will take me several hours to knit one and I will spend just as much money. But I get more pleasure out of seeing him wear what I made."
"Doing something with our hands calms our nerves better than tranquilizing pills."
"And, I do think most of us women deep down want to keep alive the arts and skills our grandmothers knew."
For most women, their handicraft is a hobby, although a few have turned it into a money-maker, she added.
No Age Limit
Women from 8 to 80 are included in the more than 5,000 showing their work at the current exposition, which runs until Nov. 10. Youngest exhibitor is 8-year-old Gabriela De Ganges, of Encino, Calif., who with her brother, Raoul, 9, is showing various quilt items made of shells. One of the oldest is Miss Mary O'Brien, 80, of the Bronx, an embroidery expert.
A star attraction of the show is the "Rug-O-Rama," consisting of 40 handmade rugs including a "one world" design by a travel-

Italian Cover Girl Has Modest Chest Measurements

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—A new style Italian actress is in our midst. This one announced that her chest is flat, but she thinks her acting will make her a hit with U.S. movie-goers anyway.
"Maybe I'll be a bigger girl. It would be helpful," said 24-year-old Maria Landi, who's no competition for Gina Lollobrigida or Sophia Loren in the measurements department.
"But in Italy," she added, "the fans like Grace Kelly and Audrey Hepburn. This gives me some hope."
"Fannies? That isn't the same," said the long-legged Miss Landi, who also happens to be one of the world's highest paid fashion and photography models. Sort of a continental answer to Suz Parker, the red-haired U.S. model who's made a quick rise to fame in films.
Eying Hollywood
Miss Landi, who is dark-haired and dark-eyed, has just completed her third, and she said, best film in Turin. "My father had high hopes for me and my sister," she said. "I wanted to be a doctor. I would never have made it. My sister is the brains of the family. She is practicing in Turin."
Model, Actress Easily
She became both model and actress easily, and almost simultaneously. Her husband, who is with an aluminum firm, was transferred to London three years ago. Miss Landi, who had had a little modeling experience, posed for some fashion photographs for a milliner friend.
Her modeling career has been zooming ever since. She has been a cover girl on virtually every leading glossy magazine on the Continent, has done work for Vogue and Harper's Bazaar, has modeled Long Island, N.Y., housewife, Mrs. Ingrid McBrian featured a 6-by-15 foot bookend rug "which has been years in the making. I couldn't count the hours."

Sputnik Influences New Jewelry Style

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—We've had out-of-this-world clothes, hats and hairdos inspired by the International Geophysical Year. Now comes outer-space jewelry, which capitalizes on the world-wide sensation created by Sputnik.
Various designers and hair stylists latched onto the space theme for promotion long before the Russians launched a baby moon. But no sooner had Sputnik streaked across the horizon than manufacturers began "trucking" with novelty jewelry.
They have produced miniature earth satellites, globes, comets, star bursts and crescents in pins, bracelets, even key rings.
Globe on Pivot
One large manufacturer, Corofeared, a Sputnik charm bracelet with the charm a globe on a pivot. The bracelet is in either simulated gold or silver and a spokesman for the firm said sales were excellent.
"But," he added, "it may be a fad which will die out after the holiday shopping season."
"These are the kind of things we usually wind up buying," said one retail jewelry buyer.
But other manufacturers thought the space motif would last longer.
"Actually, this is just a revival which we are crediting to Sputnik," said Mrs. Janet Brown, a leading stylist and owner of a fabulous collection of antique jewelry.
Good Design Source
"Craftsmen through the centuries have found the heavens a good source for design," she said.
Mrs. Brown said the celestial theme dominated in jewelry designs in the Napoleonic period in France and had its greatest success in this country in the Victorian era.
Victorian pieces in her shop include necklaces with crescents and stars in turquoise and pearls, star-burst pins of diamonds and turquoise, and antique globes in coral.
Mrs. Brown's jewelry goes for some fancy prices, because all are of real gems. But the girl who wants to follow the satellite fad without breaking her budget can buy the Sputnik charm bracelets for less than $2.00.
It is estimated by authoritative sources that there are only between 300 and 400 professional astronomers in the United States.

FOR THE BIRDS
ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—The Board of Public Works, asked by Cornell University Prof. F. P. Kellogg to open Stewart Park in the morning hours for birdwatchers, said it would consider the matter. The board shut the park to the public during the night and early morning hours because of recent vandalism. The professor said, "Naturalists are not vandals."

NO VIOLATION
DETROIT (UP)—Robert Smith got some good news when he pleaded guilty to backing his car through an intersection. Traffic Referee Oscar Biopelle informed Smith there is no law against backing a car through an intersection and dismissed the case.

NEW FRENCH PARTY FORMED
PARIS (UP)—A newly-formed ultra right-wing political party said today it strove intention to destroy the present regime in France and substitute "traitors" if it comes to power. The new party—the 14th in France—is the Revolutionary Patriotic Party founded by Jean-Baptiste Baggi. Formation of the party means the emergence of an extremist right-wing group which is the direct heir to the various neo-Fascist leagues which plagued political life toward the end of the Third Republic—before the last war broke out.

KASPER FACING TRIAL
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Deputy U.S. Marshals were ordered Thursday to bring segregationist John Kasper from Washington for a federal court hearing Wednesday. Attorneys for Kasper and six Clinton, Tenn., residents will ask for a new trial. The seven were convicted last July of violating an injunction prohibiting interference with the integration of Clinton High School. Kasper was jailed several weeks ago when the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear his appeal on an earlier conviction of violating the injunction.

SURGEONS REPORT
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Duke University surgeons, who studied small skin samples in chemical solutions, say human skin will remain alive for 26 hours after a person's death. Mrs. Nicholas G. Georgiade and Kenneth L. Pickrell told the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Conference Thursday that a dead person could save the life of another person who suffered extensive skin loss from injuries. But they said permanent grafts would have to be made from the patient's own skin.

A YEAR LATE
NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—(UP)—The faces of some officials at the Northampton fair were redder than some of the crimson flags at the fairgrounds. When results of the 1957 sheep show were posted, a flock of telephone calls followed. Through an office error, the list posted was that of the winners of the 1956 competition.

SPECTACULAR RESCUE APPARATUS SHOWN—Harry Conway, 33-year-old Air Force veteran, has often soared into the wild blue yonder, but his most recent trip into the sky was a most unusual one. An Air Force twin-engine amphibian, traveling at more than 150 miles per hour, snatched Harry from the ground in a series of successful tests of a spectacular air rescue technique developed under military contract by the All American Engineering Company. Conway, who stands six feet tall and weighs 175 pounds, was picked up three times from the runway of the Sussex County airport at Georgetown, Del., and hauled into the cabin of the plane within three minutes. This series of three pictures shows the sequence of events as Conway waits (top) while the pickup plane speeds toward him, as he is snatched from the ground (center) at the end of a nylon rope, and he is drawn upward (bottom) toward the plane's cabin. The Seminole County Chamber Of Commerce Drive Climaxes Soon

This week is an important one in the annals of Seminole County history and the progress of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

The membership drive committee, under the leadership of J. Bradley Odham, has already raised seventy per cent of its quota set early in the planning stage of the committee's efforts to place a $30,000 budget in the hands of the chamber activities groups.

However, this week, membership committee co-chairmen and captains of the various teams contacting lists of prospective members under the categories of business and professional headings, are attempting to bring to a climax the campaign.

There is no reason why the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce should not, this year, begin a new era and have at its disposal a budget sufficient to accomplish the tasks already before it.

With an unprecedented year behind it in accomplishments to benefit the entire county community, the business and professional men of the county should realize that without the Chamber of Commerce this past year we should now be dribbling along without many of the advantages now afforded.

The Naval Air Station retained for the community is a Chamber of Commerce venture that was successful in every respect — and there's another chapter yet to be written in that story.

There are untold stories yet to be unfolded that have been woven together because of a successful, aggressive, and progressive Chamber of Commerce.

Business and professional people, those who benefit because of Chamber of Commerce activities, can assure the continued progress of Sanford and Seminole County by uniting in the one big effort that provides leadership and perspective.

As yet, there are nearly 400 business and professional people who have not availed themselves of a membership in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

It would be wonderful if each one of these business and professional leaders would send their membership checks to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce without waiting for someone to call on them.

It is on the shoulders of these people — these responsible citizens and businessmen of Sanford and Seminole County — that the success of the present membership drive rests.

By Friday morning of this week the goal should have been reached and one of the most eventful years of the community be assured for Seminole County.

Propaganda Minimized By Policy

Reports from abroad have clearly indicated that Russia gained and the United States lost prestige because of the sputniks. However, the earth satellites were not the only factors in this shift of minds and attitudes. Prior to Sputnik I, America did not lead Russia in prestige in many countries. For some time, serious observers have warned that American prestige was declining in many parts of the world.

These warnings were dismissed and sometimes treated as false. Quite a few Americans did not care. Possibly, it took two sputniks and fear about probable Russian possession of intercontinental ballistic missiles to impress on some of our fellow citizens the fact that American prestige abroad is politically important.

All too frequently, Americans have sought to win prestige by favoring a policy of getting ourselves liked, especially through the exporting of a non-controversial and often stereotyped image of America and Americans. By and large, the idea was to export an image of a happy America, fabulously rich, skilled and technologically advanced, an America which should be liked because it has a system which permits it to be a rich country where workers drive automobiles. This kind of propaganda creates envy, and when the image representing this propaganda is refuted or wrecked, the envy comes to the surface.

Policies are more important than propaganda. People abroad, especially in countries wracked by misery and poverty, do not want America "sold" to them; they want to know how American actions and policies will affect their lives. We were almost in danger of going hog-wild with an irrelevant notion of "selling" America.

Perhaps now, our officials and "salesmen" of America will show more sense.

Ours Is A True Free Market

As everyone who follows the news knows, there have been big swings in the market value of common stocks this year. Market downturns have been followed by marked upturns and vice versa. As a dramatic example, the value of stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, after a period of decline, recently registered the biggest one-day increase in almost a generation.

This kind of price activity is the best possible evidence of the fact that the stock market is a free market in the fullest sense of the term.

No man can set the price of stocks. None can say with certainty that this stock or that will be worth so much tomorrow or next week or next year. Values simply reflect the many differing judgements and predilections of the millions of people who own listed stocks.

One owner may take a dim view of the future of some company and decide that it is the part of wisdom to sell. Another may feel the same company has the brightest of futures and decide to buy. On any given day, in these complex and changing times, people may take acutely divergent views as to the health of our economy as a whole, and for what seems to them to be good reasons. Maybe they're right and maybe they're wrong—human judgements are always subject to fallibility. But they're honest judgements, independently reached and acted upon. And stock prices move accordingly.

A free market in stocks is at the heart of the whole free enterprise system of doing things.

Try and Stop Me

A GENT SUFFERING from insomnia resorted to the old remedy of counting sheep as he tossed about in bed one night, but jumped three feet in the air when he distinctly heard one of the sheep bleat to another, "What a night this one's going to be! I've had this character before!"

A pillulated character staggered into a grill room, laid his head on the bar and mumbled, "Gimme a double Scotch." "Nothing doing!" barked the bartender. "You can't even lift your head." "Okay," agreed the lush. "Then gimme a haircut."

Chemists and researchers have been doing a good job in their diligent search for new products that if properly promoted and merchandised will provide a profitable outlet for citrus and fiber crops grown in the state.

Speaking before the Southeastern Chemurgic Conference at the Florida Citrus Mutual auditorium in Lakeland last week, Dr. Everette M. Burdick, consulting chemist of Coral Gables, pointed out that such research means little if the industries that should benefit from it fail to follow through and find a market for such products.

As an example: Florida would be in a bad way today if she had to market her huge citrus production as fresh fruit. It was the research in the field of concentrates and processed citrus that provided an outlet for the distribution of millions of boxes of fruit that would have been difficult to market as fresh fruit.

Steadily increasing citrus production demands that nothing should be overlooked that promises to open new markets for citrus and other crops in the form of by-products.

In 1955 there were 8,200,000 tons of citrus produced. By 1960 there will be 9,300,000 tons and by 1965 there will be 11 million tons. By conservative estimates, present production will be doubled by 1975 and that makes it imperative that the industry take full advantage of the work being done by researchers today in developing new products.

Dr. Burdick points out that citrus production is increasing at a rate considerably more rapid than is our population and it is obvious that new products and wider markets must be found and developed if our future citrus crops are going to find a profitable market.

It is discouraging to our chemists and researchers, who have made notable progress and important discoveries to see their efforts ignored and nothing done to commercialize their new products and develop a nation wide market for them.

Among the avenues open for such development and commercialization Dr. Burdick suggests that more attention be given to providing citrus specialists such as citrus foods prepared especially for

Suicide Not A Problem Concerning Adults Alone

By HERMAN H. DUNSMUIR, M.D.

YOU may read about a suicide in your newspaper every now and then, but you probably consider it an isolated incident. The fact is that, in the age group between 15 and 44, suicide ranks fifth as the cause of death.

Three times as many American men as women take their own lives. Yet this is not strictly an adult problem. Far from it.

15-18 Bracket

Breaking down the statistics have cited above, we find that suicide also is the fifth most frequent cause of death in the 15 to 19 age bracket.

Surprised that suicide is also an adolescent problem? Well, then, here is something that may surprise you even more:

In the 10 to 14 age group, from 38 to 60 children commit suicide each year!

Even Children

Suicide under the age of 10, however, is comparatively rare. Yet even children of this tender age do make threats and do make attempts at taking their lives.

These threats should not be taken too lightly. While they may simply be bids for attention or sympathy, it's good to remember that three-fourths of the adults who kill themselves had previously threatened just that.

Dr. E. Bakwin in a recent issue of the Journal of Pediatrics cites one theory about childhood suicide:

A child who is, or believes he is, unloved, may build up aggressions toward his parents. This is likely to result in guilt feelings and the youngster may turn the aggression against himself.

One way to punish himself and his parents, and at the same time gain more love, is to commit suicide. It's a horrible thought, but it happens.

Special Attention

Bakwin warns that any child who is markedly depressed, often has insomnia, unstable and displays violent temper outbursts "should be suspect and accorded special attention."

Don't ridicule suicide threats or attempts. Treating an already miserable child may lead him to another attempt.

Hospitalize Him

One method of handling a potential suicide is to hospitalize him immediately. Not only does this remove him from the situation that is troubling him, but it also shows him that his physical or emotional problems are being taken seriously.

NO WALKOUT
It's a safe bet that France will remain firmly — and loyally — in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization despite national anger over the Anglo-American arming of Tunisia. And far from weakening Premier Felix Gaillard, the diplomatic dust-up may strengthen him by rousing French national spirit.

Paris reports that NATO headquarters officials are even more angry than French leaders because they were not consulted in advance.

COLONELS AGAINST KINGS
There's a reason why King Saud of Saudi Arabia has not deflected King Hussein of Jordan more vigorously against the attacks of Egypt and Syria. Saud, as a fellow king, is all on Hussein's side. Reports say Saud is alarmed over the ferocity of the attacks and doesn't want to stir things up. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt toppled King Farouk from the throne.

A like-minded colonel, Abdul Hamid of Syria, is the behind-the-scenes strong man in Syria. Saud doesn't want to start any battle of colonels against kings — the young revolutionary Arab nationalists against the old ruling houses. Saud might be next on the list.

STATE AGAINST DEFENSE
It hasn't burst into print yet. But Tokyo reports there's a grim fight between the State and Defense departments over future control of the island defense base of Okinawa. State is pressing hard for the appointment of a civilian governor. It says that would weaken the Communists, who already have elected a mayor for Naha, the island's capital. Defense is just as determined that the governor shall remain a military man. Its stand is that Okinawa's only value is as a military base and that a military man should run it.

Episcopal Church Scene Friday Of Markham, Baker Wedding

In a double ring ceremony Friday night Miss Paula Gale Markham daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alexander Markham became the bride of Thomas William Baker Jr. The groom is the son of L. Cdr. (Ret.) and Mrs. Thomas William Baker of Portsmouth, Va. Holy Cross Episcopal Church was the scene of the 7:30 wedding. The Rev. John Thomas officiated. The altar was decorated with white Fuji caryanthemums and pom-poms in a spiral effect, with a background of greenery. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her white satin gown was overlaid with lace and net. It featured long sleeves and a tiny collar. Her finger-tip veil was attached to an iridescent band. She carried a white prayer book topped with a shower of white carnations and satin streamers. Matron of honor was Mrs. Betty Lou Hewitt. Mrs. Hewitt was gowned in yellow satin overlaid with lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of bronze and buff caryanthemums, with tallisman streamers and croton leaves. Miss Beverly Evans, maid of honor, wore a gown of yellow net over taffeta. She carried the same bouquet as Mrs. Hewitt. Best man for the groom was his father. Ushers were James Manning of Lake Mary and Harold J. Chapman of Loch Arbor. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Markham chose a blue sheer dress over taffeta, with blue and white accessories. She wore a white orchid.

Tolar School Gives Piano Recital

On Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., Mrs. Mary E. Tolar Nance pianist-teacher, presented a group of her pupils in their first recital of the season in her studio located at 807 Magnolia Ave. Preceding the recital, a paper was given entitled, "How to Keep Your Child Practicing", which was of special interest to parents. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Nance played several compositions by Bach, representative works of the Early Classic school of musical composition. Special guest was Professor Walter Charnbury, Professor Emeritus of Rollins College Conservatory of Music, Winter Park, and member of the Board of Adjudicators of the American College of Music and the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

The program was as follows: Twila Campbell played selections from First Year Book, (Schaum), "The Three Bears" (Ward), "Air" from Surprise Symphony (Haydn), Comin' Round the Mountain (ARR Thompson), Gregory Carlton played Hills and Valleys, The Toy Soldier, and Fishing, (Wagners). Melanie Williams gave April Flowers and My Secret (Williams). Louise Steaky offered Frisky Rabbits, Sleep, Baby Sleep, the Mouse, Good Pierre, The School Boy (Wagners). Doyle Carlton played Dance of the Spooks (Burgmuller), Judy Runyon played Musette (J. S. Bach) and Sonatine G Major (First Movement), by Beethoven. Marchetta Campbell pleased the audience with Theme from Grieg A Minor Concerto (Arr. Conrad) and Sophomore Serenade (King). Mrs. Nance concluded the recital with Prelude and Fugue in C Minor (J. S. Bach) and Solfeggietto (Phillip E. Bach).

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Bonnie Pahl recently entertained the Fasron wives for coffee. This outfit is just overflowing with wonderful people. They are all so nice one is almost tempted to believe all their claims about themselves. If you haven't voted by now, and it is before seven o'clock as you read this, hurry on down to the cotton pickin' polls and cast your ballot for better schools in Seminole County.

Thankfulness Is Subject Of Talk At Class Meeting

The Women's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Bois, 1101 Park Ave. Tuesday evening for the monthly business and social meeting. Co-hostesses were Mrs. W. D. Stine, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. R. F. Cully, and Mrs. B. F. McWhorter. For the evening devotional Mrs. G. C. Dixon called on several members to read Bible verses on Thanksgiving, after which she gave an instructive talk on thankfulness. She especially emphasized the thankfulness of the freedom of worship here in America. The devotional period was closed with prayer by Mrs. Volle Williams Sr. Mrs. B. F. McWhorter, class president, presided over the business meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the secretary, Mrs. Gus Lovejoy gave her yearly financial report. This report showed the class had contributed generously to worthy causes and persons. Each officer was called on for her report and important business was discussed and voted on. The business meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Martha Marshall.

Demo Group Discusses Xmas

The Sanford Home Demonstration Club held the regular meeting Nov. 14 at the Center on Geneva Ave. Mrs. C. L. Wallis and Mrs. J. D. Callahan were hostesses. Mrs. Joe Masters of Osteen displayed and discussed Christmas gifts and suggestions. Mrs. Clarence Snyder, daughter of Osteen, demonstrated the making of candy corsages for Christmas. The devotional was given by Mrs. Eva Harker. Mrs. John Clark gave an interesting talk on "Foods in our Diet". A health report and suggested exercises were given by Mrs. Azarello. Refreshments were served to twelve members and four guests. All women were urged to make note of the free sewing class at the Center every Wednesday morning from 9 until 12:30, with Mrs. Clabaugh in charge. Everyone is invited to take advantage of this opportunity.

Science Today

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (U.P.)—A chemical compound largely responsible for femaleness in women has been isolated from ladino clover in a higher potency than from other sources.

It raises the immediate question of whether females have more or less femaleness because of what they eat—or don't eat.

The compound is estrogen which has a number of variants but all serving the common purpose of enhancing and maintaining femaleness. The new Estrogen was isolated and then reduced to a pure substance by a team of scientists in the U. S. Agricultural Research Laboratory in Albany, Calif.

Found in Ononis spinosa, Estrogens were isolated previously from subterranean and red clover and they are suspected of existing in alfalfa, and in rye, orchard and blue grass. From previous discoveries, it had been deduced that the females of animals feeding on such stuff have their functional femaleness affected by the amount of estrogen in their food.

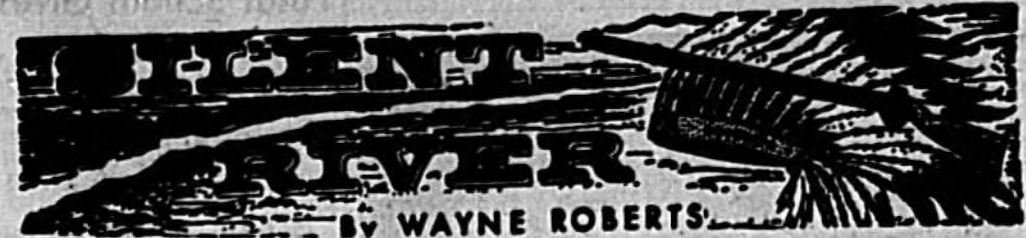

It has been suggested, for instance, that milk cows give more milk but, on the other hand, female sheep are less fertile, since excessive estrogens can submerge other hormones, in this case, the hormones essential for the initiation of pregnancy.

Not only femaleness, but maleness as well. For instance, estrogenic meadows, it is suspected by scientists, fatten steers for market faster—by providing the female chemical which dampens male hormones and tends to push males toward female placidity.

Ladino Clover Forest

So the discovery of the six Albany scientists headed by Dr. E. M. Bickoff was not astonishing in itself. What was astonishing was the high potency of the ladino clover estrogen as compared to the previously proved and purified estrogen from other clovers.

The scientists made their report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. It fascinates chemists and should fascinate you, too, since it opens up all kinds of possibilities. But lest you think that diet increases or decreases femaleness and maleness in people, keep in mind that people have been eating essentially the same foods for many thousands of years but men and women have always been distinctly one or the other.

each how he landed gave him pleasure.

Five minutes later, Chad wiped an arm across his face and looked at Tolliver, who said, "You did a job this time, Lieutenant. You ain't got a mark on you."

"I feel like I have them," Chad said. "See that Mulvane gets back to bed."

"I left the stable, walking slowly; his chest and stomach felt as if he'd been kicked by a mule. When he reached his cabin, he lit a lamp and pouring water into his washbasin, doused his face. He got his file going, and sat before the stove until it was dead.

"There was no use to try to sleep."

He thought briefly of Mulvane, wondering if he had made the right decision when he had told Tolliver he wasn't going to break him. But Mulvane was a good sergeant if he could forget his personal feelings, and Fort Butterfield would need him.

It was midnight when Dora Hagerty came with the news that Colonel Randall was dead. "Just a-t breathing," she said. "Drunk himself to death, that's what." She swallowed, her eyes filled with defiance. "Good riding, sir, if you'll pardon me saying so."

Chad called Anderson and Mulvane to his cabin and told them what had happened. Mulvane's nose was swollen, his face was covered with bruises, one side of his mouth was twisted, and his lips were puffy, but there was no animosity in his eyes.

"If anything happens to me, Anderson," Chad said, "you're in command. We can't expect help for at least two months. It'll be nip and tuck with half our food spoiled, and if we let the men get out of hand, there won't be anybody alive when the first boat gets up the river."

"Will make it, sir," Anderson said.

"I'm sure we will," Chad said, and wished he was as certain as he sounded. "Take a burial detail and dig a grave. See that a coffin is built, and you'd better talk to Mrs. Randall. Find out when she wants the funeral."

Anderson saluted. "Yes, sir," he said, and left the cabin.

Chad studied Mulvane, who was standing at attention. "Sergeant, are you willing to shake hands with me?"

Mulvane managed a lopsided grin. "Yes, sir."

Chad offered his hand and Mulvane gave it a firm grip. After he left, Chad walked across the parade to the blockhouse and climbed the ladder. He would get a transfer for Mulvane next summer if he could, he decided. He spoke to the sentry, knowing he would have to call both companies together and tell them he was in command, but he wanted a few minutes alone before he did this.

The sentry moved out along the catwalk, and Chad, staring through one of the loopholes at the frozen river, wondered if he would live to hear it break its silence.

He'd had his own doubts, his bitter disappointment when he had been forced to leave St. Louis. He had been very close to death a few hours ago when Randall had held a gun on him. But Randall was dead; the one real weakness was gone.

Now, he found that his own doubts were gone. He would never again ask himself if there was anything in Dakota Territory worth defending. Perhaps there wasn't yet, but there would be. It was the army's job to make that development possible, and he was part of the army. Even if he had the chance to go back to St. Louis, he wouldn't take it unless it was to marry Elizabeth and bring her to Fort Butterfield.

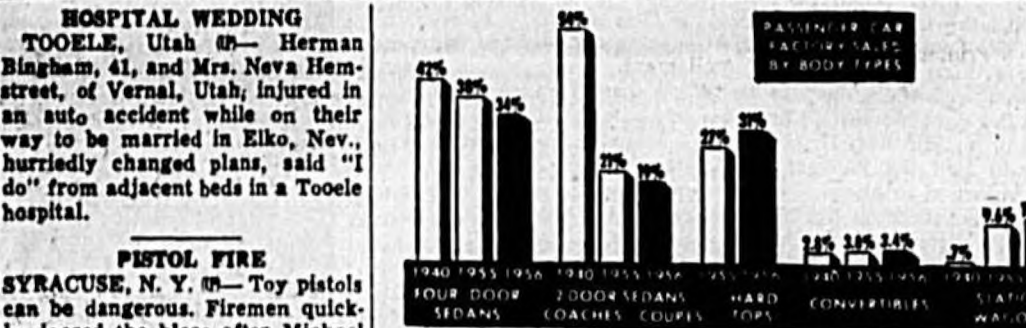

Turning from the loophole, he crossed the blockhouse and went down the ladder. From now on, the decisions were his to make. The difference lay in the fact that always before it had been someone else. Now it was Chad Eddicott, and he wasn't sorry.

By the first of April, Chad had reason to recall Randall's angry remarks about the bureau of office. Food was running very short, and the Indian menace had in no way lessened.

The only anchor of hope Chad had was the knowledge that spring was at hand, and the tawny waters of the Missouri would soon take the place of dirty, honey-combed ice. Within a few weeks after that, they would see the first of the river steamers, supplies, perhaps even reinforcements. Replacements? Yes, maybe replacements. He might be given another assignment.

His heart leaped with anticipation when he thought of that. It would mean Elizabeth, at least temporarily. The more he thought of it, though, the more he wondered if he really wanted to leave. Butterfield was a rat-infested hole. But it was his for the moment, his first command.

A new danger threatens the fort. Read Chapter 23 tomorrow.

This week I was reading an article in the current Presbyterian Life magazine. A missionary made a request for used Christmas cards. Last year the same request was made and more than 3,000,000 cards were received. These were sent to prisons, hospitals, Bible Schools and Sunday Schools throughout Korea. Used Christmas Cards are welcome every year. Packages (Addressed to the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Provost, Presbyterian Mission, 1 Nam San Dong, Taegu, Korea) must be marked "Printed Matter" and should not exceed six-and-a-half pounds each, for which the postage is eighty cents. A customs declaration tag (Form 2966) is not required by either government for printed matter, so please do not put it on the card packages. For Bible verse tracts they use the whole card not just front. When a large group collects used cards for Korea it is cheaper to use ocean freight which should be addressed to: R. C. Provost, Presbyterian Mission, Via Incheon, Korea. I think this is a good idea for used Christmas cards. I always hate to just

Upon their arrival at Fort Jackson, they were initially assigned to the U. S. Army Personnel Center where they were issued clothing, given a complete physical examination and a comprehensive battery of aptitude tests to determine the Army duty assignment for which they will be best fitted.

During their basic training they will be taught to fire the M-1 rifle. Also included in the training will be instruction in such subjects as military courtesy, first aid and personal hygiene.

Upon completion of basic training, they will receive further advanced infantry training or will be assigned to an Army school. Fort Jackson offers schooling in several specialties associated with an Army division.

Fort Jackson is one of the country's largest Infantry Training Centers and also conducts a program of training for men under the provisions of the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.

How To Borrow Wisely

EDITOR'S NOTE: The third of three dispatches on the small loan business. Today — How to borrow wisely.)
By FRED DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—"Neither a borrower nor lender be," wrote William Shakespeare.
Many of our lending institutions lack on to this phrase, "except in case of emergency."
The fact is that 31 billion dollars worth of installment credit outstanding is helping our economy go round this year.
Our 10,745 small loan offices are lending 5 1/2 billion dollars of this amount, in about 16 million loans, and they expect a 12 per cent increase in volume next year. Ten years ago, the small loan industry volume was $1,400,000,000, in 9 1/2 million loans.
The growth of our small loan industry, made possible by so-called uniform small loan laws (which are actually far from uniform) has taken most of the bite out of the loan shark.
Loan Firms Regulated
Legal, strictly regulated small loan, or consumer finance companies, now are lending money at a maximum annual interest rate of 36 per cent. But this figure is lower in practice because the 3 per cent monthly interest is applied to declining monthly balances.
Recently some sharp operators tried to make a fast buck through "debt adjustment agencies." They would see your creditors and arrange, or try to arrange, satisfactory payment schedules for you. For this service, you were

How much fun boys and girls can have now, putting together favorite nursery rhymes and fairy stories. Gaily colored, molded polystyrene is the material used to make these exciting yet easily assembled story book toys.
It is possible to do "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," "The Three Men in a Tub," "Goosey Gander's Cackles" and other favorites. This new toy series offers a world of quiet fun for children for the "What do we do now?" times. They are also ideal for rainy day play and for the convalescent who needs rest in bed.
These toys can be used as permanent room decorations if the pieces are put together with plastic cement. Some of the older children may want to repaint some of the little figures.
The story-telling toys make ideal gifts for children and are not expensive, only $1.70 and $1.29. It is a good idea to keep several of these toys on hand for young visitors. They encourage quiet play and keep the youngsters occupied. These toys are now available in department stores and toy stores.

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE is the way we Dodge dealers feel about competitors' efforts to match the Swept-Wing 58. They lowered the roof some, but left the sides high. Their windshields got smaller while ours got bigger. So much for styling. Then, for another important comparison, take ride. Here's Dodge with Torsion-Air suspension that just about everybody admits is the greatest advance in sway-free, dip-free, silent going that any car offers. So what do these other cars do? They borrow an air suspension system that's been used in buses for two years! (Costing well over $100.00 extra.) And most of 'em still don't have push-button driving—much less Dodge TorqueFlite—the proven automatic transmission. If you're a little disappointed in the '58 version of your car, come on in and see our Swept-Wing 58. The others are catching on—but they can't catch up. See Swept-Wing 58 by Dodge at

FIRST P.C. CROWN? - - - By Alan Mauer

LEN CASANOVA, OREGON COACH, MADE A GOOD START TOWARD HIS FIRST PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE CROWN.

THE DUCKS HAD A PERFECT RECORD FOR THE FIRST HALF OF THEIR CONFERENCE SCHEDULE. OREGON HAS BEEN IN THE ROSE BOWL TWICE, BUT THE LAST TIME WAS NINE YEARS BACK IN 1920.

Russell Making Good Showing With Celtics

NEW YORK (AP)—The professional basketball season is barely under way today but already the Boston Celtics are making a shambles out of what must laughingly be described as a "tryout" because of a guy named Bill Russell.

for an easy layup and blow it because they were looking over their shoulders wondering where Russell was and whether one of those big paws would come out of nowhere and block the ball.

Clubowners Hold 'Bargain Basement Day' On Dec. 2

NEW YORK (UP)—Big league clubowners hold their annual "bargain basement day" on Dec. 2 at Colorado Springs, Colo., when they study a list of minor leaguers that range from "octogenarian" Satchel Paige to Nippy Jones, a real live World Series hero of 1937.

D. Kaiser Named 'Lineman Of Week'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Dave Kaiser was named "lineman of the week" by United Press today but you won't find his name on the enrollment lists of any college in the nation.

South Coaches Named

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Andy Pilney of Tulane, Darrell Royal of Texas and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi were designated as coaches for the South in the annual Blue-Gray football game.

North Miami Is Dropped From Top 10 In Grid Poll

MIAMI (AP)—North Miami was dropped from the top 10 in the weekly statewide prep school football poll today on the basis of its 20-0 loss last week to Archbishop Curley High.

Midwest Offers For This Year's All-America Team

CHICAGO (UP)—Only a select few of these finally will make the 1957 All-America team, but the Midwest can furnish a star-studded lineup that is as good — if not better — than any other section of the country.

Kaiser Named 'Lineman Of Week'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Dave Kaiser was named "lineman of the week" by United Press today but you won't find his name on the enrollment lists of any college in the nation.

Baseball Commissioner Ford

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, who supervises the drawing, announced that player selection will go for $15,000. Triple A players are available for $10,000, double A for $7,500, Class A for $5,000 and Class B for $2,000.

South Coaches Named

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Andy Pilney of Tulane, Darrell Royal of Texas and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi were designated as coaches for the South in the annual Blue-Gray football game.

Two Tackles Could Split Votes

Two tackles could split votes in opposition to Karras, his teammate, Dick Klein, and Purdue's junior guard, Nick Mumley.

8- THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a grateful expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE
 It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:
 "How cruelly sweet are the echoes
 That start
 What memory plays an old tune on the heart."
 Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in words, form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE
 Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Men At Agricultural Scientists Session

One of the principal objectives of the Central Florida Experiment Station is to develop new and improved crops for the Central Florida vegetable growing areas. To this objective Dr. John B. Wilson, Jr., has worked closely with plant breeders in the testing of promising new strains of cabbage, celery, sweet corn, broccoli, and cauliflower. He is continuing his interest in these crops and expects to gather much helpful information at the meeting in Charleston.

Professor Foresees Strong Third Party Movement In South

A strong third party movement in the South is forecast by Dr. Gilbert L. Lyeon, professor of history and political science at Stetson University. This view will be amplified in comments at a meeting of the Southern Political Science Association scheduled for November 21-22 in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. Dr. Lyeon has been asked to comment on a paper by Professor Charles O. Lerche, of Emory University, entitled "A Theory of Southern Isolation". At the same session, Professor Kenneth Vines of Tulane University will give a paper on "Toward a Two-Party South?—The Pace of Republican Development in the South."

HAZARDOUS LEISURE
LONDON (AP)—The authoritative medical journal Lancet said today that interviewing could now be included in the list of "hazardous occupations." The journal, organ of the British Medical Association, warned TV viewers against becoming too engrossed in the programs and advised them to get up and walk about at least once every hour to prevent thrombosis in the leg. It also said that before sitting down to a night's viewing, viewers should remove girdles and other tight garments.

New Yorkers

NEW YORK (UP)—Oh, those in whose will year! Let us wait out our own problems. We New Yorkers are just like everybody else, except that we have more shrewdness and smarts at times. We know we're backward, but we're trying. We need encouragement, not harassment, from the rest of the country.

You Fear Failure?
Seems to me every time I pick up a paper I see that the subway is out of commission up there, the water mains have broken, the lights have gone out on the steam pipes are leaking, the Long Island trains are stopped, traffic is jammed up, there's no place to park, or the mail is late. You poor fellows!

WHEAT TO POLAND
WARSAW, Poland (UP)—More than 200,000 tons of American wheat have arrived in Poland since July 28 under the Polish-American economic agreement, the Polish News Agency said today. The agency also said that 5,000 tons of soy beans, 35,000 bales of cotton and 15,000 tons of oats had arrived from the United States.

Rev. Kuykendall Guest Speaker

The Rev. F. E. Kuykendall, noted Minnesota Evangelist, from Hendersonville, N. C. will be the special speaker for the afternoon service to be held at the Church of the Nazarenes Sunday Nov. 24. The service will be the Remembrance Day's biggest service. Special music has been planned, so that this particular service will be remembered as "the best Remembrance ever celebrated at the Church."

The Gospel Quartet, Thelma Trice, Marie Outlaw, Piedad, and David Wayne Mathis, will be on the music program.

Today's Young Generation Doing Much Reading

By GAY FAULKY
United Press Wire Staff Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—One authority on children's books says today's young generation reads everything in reach.

Which should be heartening news to all us adults who have been fretting about the demands of television on a child's free hours or on reason why "Johnny can't read."

Statistics from the Children's Book Council support Mrs. Spain's observations. Lucy Tompkins, the executive secretary, said that in 1951 there was one children's book editor. Now, the council has 60 member publishers. Non-member publishers of juveniles being the total to 105, she said.

Children's Books Triple
In 1905, there were 57 children's book titles published. Last year, 1,485. The American Book Publishers Council, Inc., reported a 38 per cent increase from 1954 through 1956 in the number of volumes sold, in the 11 and up category. The under 14 total showed a 13 per cent increase.

DEATH PENALTY INVOKED
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—The Lebanese government announced today that the penalty for terrorist infringement of security regulations had been raised from a prison sentence to death. The Council of Ministers took the decision at a special meeting to discuss ways of stamping out terrorist activity, including the throwing of bombs, attributed here to foreign elements.

COLLEGE GRADS EARN MORE
MIAMI BEACH (UP)—Paul J. Gurko, director of the Bureau of Labor Standards of the U.S. Department of Labor, told the Florida Federation of Labor convention Monday that the average college graduate earns a total of $380,000 in his lifetime. Gurko said bureau statistics showed the college graduate's lifetime earnings average $115,000 more than those of a high school graduate and $152,000 more than those of a grade school graduate.

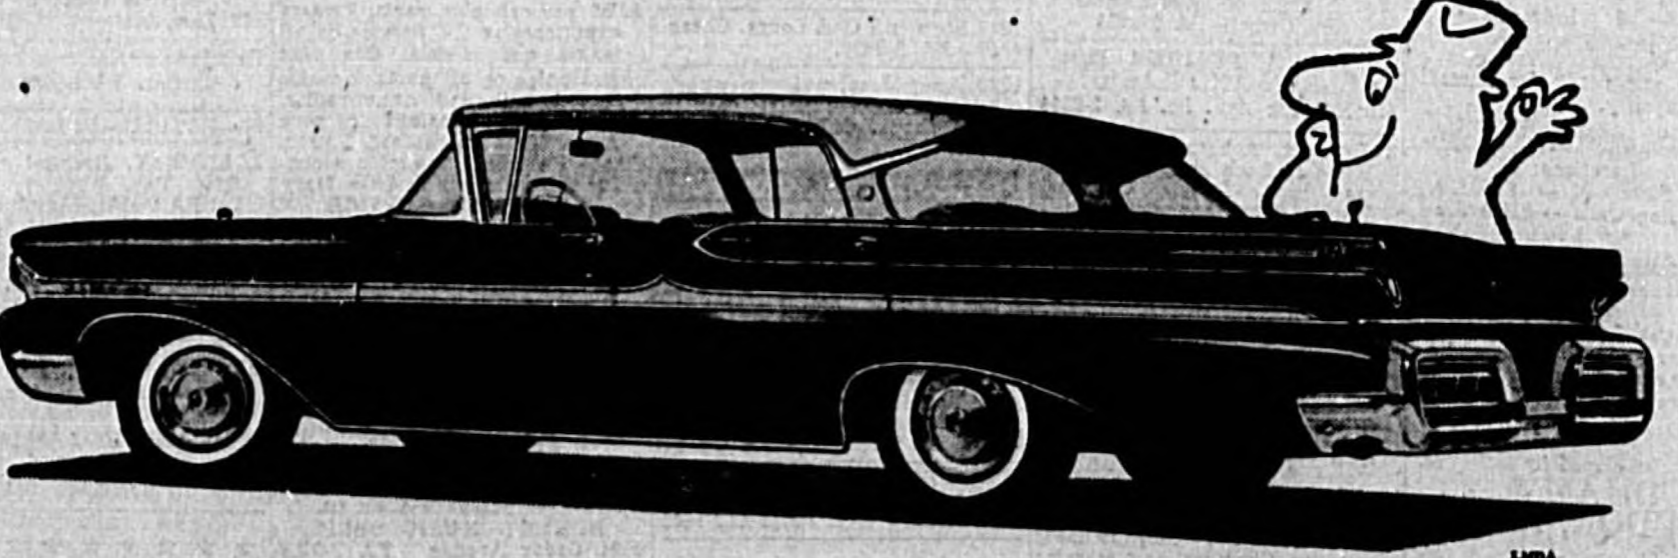

LIE HAINS OUTF
LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth has made a gift of the first chalice and paten ever used at Communion services in America to St. George's Church at Gravesend, N.Y. The church is the burial place of Pocahontas, the Indian princess credited with saving the lives of many early settlers in America.

TO BUILD BOSPORUS BRIDGE
NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. David R. Steinman, designer of the recently opened, 7,000-foot, 200 million dollar Mackinac suspension bridge in Michigan, said Monday he has been awarded a $8 million dollar contract to design a bridge across the bosporus of Istanbul, Turkey.

Soviet Union Makes Economic Support Promise To Egypt

By UNITED PRESS
The Soviet Union has moved to bring Egypt into its economic orbit along with Syria.

Russia accompanied the promise of economic aid to Egypt with new accusations today against the United States and Israel and said they were plotting war against Syria. It said Israel was massing troops for an attack on Syria.

At the same time Cairo reserved its campaign against King Hussein of Jordan and attacked the United States. It accused Col. James G. Sweeney, U.S. military attaché in Jordan, of "collapsing" Hussein from Jordanian military affairs.

The Russian economic aid promise to Egypt was made Tuesday night in Moscow by Premier Nikolai Bulganin at a reception for Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian defense minister and commander of the joint Syrian-Egyptian forces.

Nothing was said in Moscow on the Soviet-Egyptian military relations although Amer met with several high military figures including Defense Minister Rodan Y. Malinovsky. But Moscow observers noted that Amer visited more Soviet military installations than any other non-Communist leader.

Observers recalled that Syria's decision to link its economic future with Russia followed a similar visit to Moscow.

Russia is Egypt's largest customer and supplier, but Egypt also has talks underway with Britain in Rome and with France in Geneva in an effort to repair economic relations with the West.

Recent maneuvers by the U.S. 6th Fleet "give rise to the belief that Washington has now decided to attack Syria from both sea and land, more precisely from Israel."

$1 Million Road Bond Issue Nearer Reality

MAYOR DAVID GATCHEL of Sanford photographed after receiving Good Government Award at Jaycee Banquet at the Beach Club Hotel, Naples, headquarters for the Jaycee fall board meeting.

The possibility of a $1 million bond issue with which rights-of-way may be purchased and other road improvements made in Seminole County came nearer a reality yesterday.

William A. Dial, in a letter to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, said that "the bond issue is possible" with which rights-of-way for the proposed State Road 44, the bridge over the St. Johns on State Road 413, and other road projects may be purchased.

Dial revealed that he had talked with Ralph Hartfield, Director of Revenue Projects in Tallahassee. He said that the bond issue would be possible by pledging the 8th and 9th cent of the gasoline tax.

Commissioners have been concerned over the possibility of having important projects approved by the State Road Board for construction in Seminole County and the lack of funds with which to purchase rights-of-way for the projects.

Membership Drive Over $7,000 Mark

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce membership drive fund is steadily climbing, a fact that will more than likely be pointed out at the Coffee Club gathering of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning at Mrs. Appleby's Valdes Hotel Restaurant.

Already the fund has exceeded the $7,000 mark and is daily increasing and growing nearer the $10,000 goal set by the Chamber of Commerce's membership drive committee.

In the current drive there are 188 memberships already subscribed to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. Of this total, 44 of the memberships are new and 49 of them have increased their memberships over last year.

Freeholders' Names May Be Investigated

Commission Adopts Street Construction Rules, Regulations

Rules and regulations by which engineers, developers and contractors are to be guided in the construction of streets in Seminole County subdivisions were adopted yesterday by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners and become a part of the plat law, now in effect.

There are eight sections of the regulations which are being made a part of the plat law.

The regulations call for complete plans and specifications to be submitted to the Board of Commissioners for approval before any actual construction is started. "The plans shall be complete and show profiles of streets, typical section of roadway, drainage areas, details of drainage structures to be used along with type of base and surface that is to be used," section 1 states.

Possibilities of an investigation into the names appearing on the certified list of freeholders for yesterday's school bond election grew out of a meeting this morning of the Seminole County Board of Education which met to canvass the vote.

Citizens from four of the Seminole County precincts appeared at the meeting to protest the election and to ask that some investigation be made.

E. Martin Law, an interested citizen and member of the Parent-Teachers Association at Altamonte Springs said "From reports I have heard the same problem exists all over the county."

Paul Bates of Fern Park appeared at the meeting and stated "If I can look at the list of voters I believe I can point out at least 25 names in 10 minutes that have sold their property and moved away."

Senator Douglas Stenstrom, attorney for the School Board said, "A person must be a registered voter to have voted in yesterday's election. Any registered elector who was not shown as a freeholder could vote by signing an affidavit."

There were a total of 3,087 ballots cast in yesterday's election to approve a $2 million bond issue for school construction. R. T. Milwee, Superintendent of Public Instruction, said that approximately 200 of the total number voted against the bond issue. "I was an 18 to 1 vote," he said.

Senator Stenstrom said that he would recommend to the Board of Education that they conduct an investigation into names appearing on the list of registered voters who were deceased, declared incompetent, or had sold their property and moved away.

Milwee, late this morning said "The Board has the authority to conduct the investigation and it may be possible, after the voters are canvassed, that such an investigation will be held."

Stenstrom told the Board of Education members that their first duty is to canvass the election. "You are to ascertain the total number of voters, the number voting for, and the number voting against," he said.

9-Year-Old Boy Kills 10-Pound Turkey Sunday

One young Seminole County hunter has already captured the envy of many an older gun enthusiast.

A fourth grade student of Southside School, in Mrs. Nancy Brock's room, has already shown off his prowess with a shotgun by exhibiting the result of his day's hunt for the turkey.

David Pell, only nine years old, killed a 10-pound Tom Turkey last Sunday with his trusty 12 gauge shotgun as he hunted with his dad on the Turkey Track Ranch.

Zoning Regulations Adopted By County

A 35-section 20-page Zoning Regulation was adopted by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

The new regulations go into effect today which require that permits be obtained from the Zoning Commission of the county for all construction of any nature.

It was pointed out specifically that no "Use Permits" will be issued for any commercial, trade or industrial structure of multiple family building until the "application for such permit has been reviewed in public hearing after due notice and approved by a majority vote of the Seminole County Zoning Commission."

Odham Seeks Price Control Lift

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—Milk Commission Chairman J. Bralley Odham will try to get permission today to lift price controls on milk at the consumer level within the next 90 days.

After hearing day-long testimony from major milk distributors Tuesday, Odham said he felt that a free, competitive market would be best for the milk industry in Florida.

Speedboat Races Scheduled Jan. 19

The 1958 speedboat races to be held at Sanford will be on January 19, Dr. A. W. Woodall, commodore of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club announced late last night.

The date for the second annual event to be held here was set following a meeting of the American Power Boat Association held in St. Petersburg.

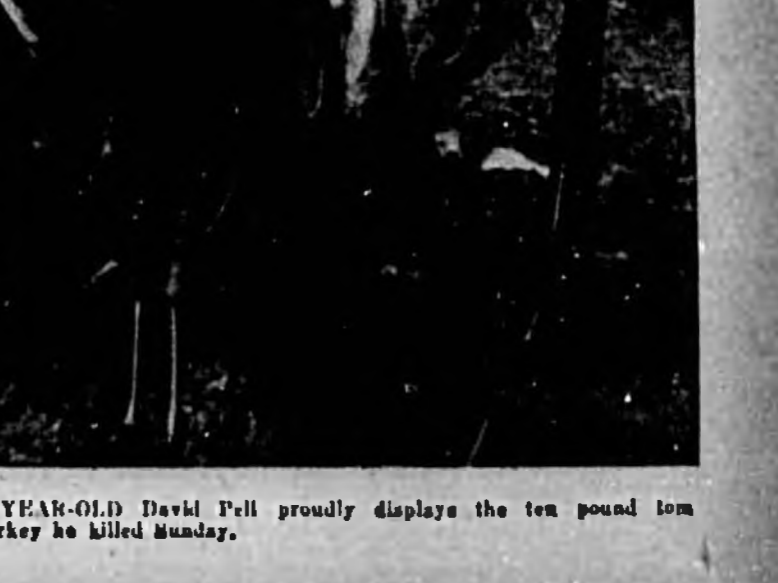

Sheriff Thinks Man Killed To Make Head Collection

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A sheriff maintained today that bachelor farmer Ed Gein committed the mass murder of 10 or more women to obtain his collection of human heads.

Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage County injected the controversial theory into the investigation Tuesday night when he said he found the shrunken head of a missing woman in Gein's "house of horrors."
