President May Borrow To Pay Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials say President Nixon, facing a federal tax bill for about half a day earlier than the Internal Revenue Service calculated he would be forced to make the payments, Nixon announced through aides Wednesday night he would pay some $465,000 in income taxes and interest. He acted after being told privately a day earlier that the Internal Revenue Service calculated he owed an extra $432,787 in taxes before interest for his first four years in the White House.

The President's net worth as of last May 31, was put at $680.522 in disclosures Nixon made four months ago. His cash assets were put at $132,874. A White House source, asked how Nixon proposed to meet a taxes-and-interest bill of about $465,000, said the President would use some resources and probably borrow the balance. The White House announced the IRS report of fraud on the part of the President. The IRS contended Nixon improperly claimed deductions for business expenses and a controversial gift of his vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The staff report prepared for the House-Senate, Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation said the President should have listed the improvements as taxable income, in effect a job benefit. The $92,298 figure is the first publicly released estimate of how much of the federal spending on the President's homes since 1969 could be considered improvements. A report approved by a House subcommittee two weeks ago concluded the homes have cost the government $17 million, including all military and security personnel salaries and other federal expenses associated with the homes. They open the way to argument that other government services provided to the First Family also should be counted as income to the President. The trips fall into two categories — those where the President was along, and those where he wasn't.

Baxter: No Room For New Projects

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Comptroller Denver Baxter has asked city department for a reduction of $333,482 in budgeted spending in all departments. "The city is not in dire financial straits, but there is no room for new projects," Baxter explained. He urged that already approved over-budget spending for construction of two tennis courts at the civic center and the hiring of an administrative assistant be deferred until next year. His report included approval of already approved expenditures for two new police

GLEN MILLER... Ought to pay—we do
MRS. L. N. TRUED... Right to pay as we do
WILLIAM P. OWENS... We have to pay don't we?

Reactions varied in Sanford today to news that President Nixon has agreed to pay more than $465,000 in back taxes, but in general his fellow taxpayers agreed: If he owes the money, he should pay. "He's got just as much right to pay as we do, and we wouldn't get away with not paying our taxes," Mrs. L. N. Trued agreed. "It's not fair to let him get away with it." Several other persons echoed these sentiments. "He should pay it," was the identical comment from George Cestar, William P. Owens and Jackie Clark. "Does he think he's better than us, or somebody special that he can cheat on his tax returns and not be made to pay for it? Agnew couldn't get away with it; Nixon should have been smart enough to realize they'd catch up with him too, even if he is president," declared Mabel Duggan. "I'm just sick of politicians taking advantage of their positions and hope this will be an example to all the others who are trying these dodges," she added.

Tornadoes Kill 330; Thousands Injured

By JANET BATAILLE Associated Press Writer
Tornadoes struck an area stretching from Georgia to Canada late Wednesday and early today, killing more than 330 persons, the worst tornado death toll in half a century. Thousands of injuries and millions of dollars in damage resulted from the twisters that hit scores of cities and towns, leaving many in shambles. Early today, two tornadoes hit the town of Meadow Bridge, W. Va., about 50 miles southeast of Charleston, killing one person and injuring several others. Half the town of Xenia, in southwestern Ohio, was devastated. Thirty persons were killed and more than 1,000 were homeless in the community of 25,000. Rows of bodies were arranged in the rubble-strewn streets. More victims were thought trapped in overturned cars, but heavy equipment was unable to get through the streets to lift the vehicles. About 1,500 National Guard troops were sent to Xenia to protect against looting and help in rescue work. A guard spokesman said there were unconfirmed reports of 40 to 50 persons missing. Whole neighborhoods were destroyed, buildings leveled, railroad cars and trucks upended by the vicious winds that struck the Midwest and South. In Washington, D.C., the American Red Cross said more than 800 disaster workers and nurses were laboring to aid the homeless and injured. Other relief workers and disaster equipment from all over the country were en route to the stricken states. Kentucky appeared to be the worst hit, with 77 known dead and hundreds injured after tornadoes skipped across a dozen counties in the center of the state Wednesday, knocking out telephone service and downing power lines. Five persons were killed and more than 200 injured in Louisville, where twisters ripped up large sections of neighborhoods. Alabama reported 69 dead, Indiana 63, Tennessee 54, Ohio 35, Georgia 15, Ontario, Canada, 8, North Carolina 1, Michigan 3, Illinois 2, and West Virginia 1.

Patty Abandons Parents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In working for his daughter's release, Hearst had arranged to release $2 million in food to the poor and announced that another $4 million had been placed in escrow and would be available for making food giveaways if his daughter were released unharmed. For her father, Randolph A. Hearst, newspaper president and editor, the weeks of desperation had begun to turn to hope. Her parents' ordeal, which began when Miss Hearst was dragged screaming from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4, appeared almost over. "The subject has been freed," said a voice identifying himself as "Field Marshall C." Hearst and his wife, Catherine, were stunned. Included with the tape was a color photograph of their daughter holding an automatic rifle and standing in front of a banner bearing the seven-headed cobra, symbol of the SLA. Radio station KSAN had received the package containing the tape, a transcript, and the photo. Hearst said the voice on the tape was his daughter's. Stalling "You were playing games — stalling for time — which the FBI was using in their attempts to assassinate me and the SLA elements which guarded me," Miss Hearst said of her father's food program. "Personally, I don't believe it," Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner and chairman of the Hearst Corp., told newsmen hours later. Telephone lines to Xenia were cut by the twister, but Ohio Bell restored emergency service with mobile phones. The Red Cross set up a relief center in the downtown YMCA, one of the few buildings spared by the tornado. It took in 350 homeless. A grocery warehouse housed several hundred more. Behind the rubble of another building, bodies were arranged in a row. A woman bending over and suddenly cried out, "Oh, my God," and collapsed into the arms of a rescue worker. She had found her son.

Weather

Yesterday's high 91 low this morning 67. Partly cloudy, warm and windy today with chance of showers. Considerable cloudiness tonight and Friday with showers or thundershowers likely.

Still some more...
Had a call last week of a resident telling me he would be running for the seat now held by State Representative Eugene Mooney.
I had mixed emotions. Mooney has done an outstanding job. As a matter of fact, last Saturday, I was to have served as master of ceremonies at an appreciation dinner for Mooney, which was suddenly cancelled at the last minute.
Now it becomes a little bit clearer.
The announcement is made that Mooney is not planning on running to return to this position—getting out of the political arena entirely. A tremendous loss for Seminole County as far as I'm concerned.

Executive Pay Hikes

Lawyers In Last Round Of Chapin Perjury Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys are preparing to present final arguments on whether former White House aide Dwight L. Chapin lied to a federal grand jury probing acts of political sabotage.

The jury of seven men and five women is expected to begin deliberating the case today after the arguments by attorneys for the special Watergate prosecutor and the 33-year-old Chapin and then instructions from U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Chapin, now on leave as a vice president of United Air Lines, was the principal witness in his own defense, testifying for about 3 1/2 hours Wednesday.

Concession

He conceded at one point, "I made mistakes — I believe I did" to the FBI when agents questioned him about the operations of Donald H. Segretti, who pleaded guilty to election law violations in connection with his "dirty tricks" operations.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $5,000.

Chapin said he was disturbed because what he testified the FBI often would up shortly thereafter in the newspapers.

He was indicted on four counts of giving false information to the grand jury, but Judge Gesell dismissed one count. It charged that Chapin lied when he said he did not know what financial arrangements were made in connection with Segretti's job.

The judge described as "very fuzzy" the testimony of Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's former personal attorney who paid Segretti, that he drafted Chapin to tell him the arrangement. "Mr. Kalmbach doesn't know to this day" just

Funds Sought To Improve Small Parks

By JEAN PATTON Herald Staff Writer

"Take A Park To Heart" campaign to stir public awareness and raise funds for the improvement of the parks in Sanford is being spearheaded by the Sanford Junior Woman's Club conservation department.

The parks effort is being coordinated with the current Community Improvement Project (CIP) being sponsored by the Sanford Woman's Club, Junior Woman's Club and the newly-formed Junior Miss Club.

In an effort to raise funds to improve the small parks in the city, members of the Junior Woman's Club are selling raffle tickets for an original oil painting valued at $150 donated by area artist Woody Clarke.

Donations may be made to any club member, or mailed care of Mrs. Tom Freeman, 202 Dogwood Drive, Sanford. The drawing for the winner of the painting will take place on April 27.

Foreign Journalists Told 'How It Is Here'

By CARL W. RITTER Copley News Service

Twenty foreign journalists are making a quick tour of six selected cities in a first-of-its-kind project arranged by the U.S. Information Agency. The itinerary includes New York, Chicago, San Francisco, San Diego, Louisville, Ky., and Washington, D.C.

The idea behind the U.S. State Department-approved project is to familiarize foreign writers, mainly specializing in business and economics, with the way this country really functions, contrary to what some possibly have been led to believe.

The club hopes, with a little help from area residents, to save these parks for the community for years to come. Often, says Mrs. Freeman, when lack of interest is shown for the beauty and conservation of small city parks they are used for other purposes. The club hopes to prevent this happening in Sanford.

The Sanford Woman's Club and Juniors will climax their campaign and introduce the picnic season with a celebration in the 5th Street Park on Oak Avenue April 27.

Other clubs in the area are being encouraged to participate in "Take A Park To Heart."

You Can Have A Ball In Mexico

By CECIL SCAGLIONE Copley News Service

There are several ways to travel through Mexico. We tried bus, boat, burro, cab, car and train for more than 3,000 miles. A lot of the way was on foot, too.

My wife Peg; three children, Chris, 18, Mike, 16, and Pat, 15, and I left Tijuana by sceneraiser bus for the 30-hour trip to Mazatlan at 11 p.m. on a Monday.

We returned two weeks later by train. We had no reservations anywhere. All we had was a ball.

Before leaving we asked a Mexican tourist bureau official if we would have difficulty finding good food and lodging off the tourist trail.

"No, no trouble at all," he said. We were right.

We arrived in Mazatlan at 4:22 a.m. With no hotel reservations we wandered along the beach and watched the fishermen sailing for their daily catch and the early-rising restaurateurs opening the bamboo curtains lining the promenade.

After watching the tropical dawn, we headed back to the bus station to ask about a hotel. Our baggage checker made a call and then took us to a comfortable place that charged us $8 for our accommodations.

We had more than enough room and a fresh ocean breeze filled in from the Sea of Cortez a block away.

We picked up our ferry tickets for the 24-mile crossing to La Paz and stopped off at a little blue beach restaurant. Peg, who is allergic to seafood, ordered steak but the rest of us had lobster. The bill, with tip, was $14. The food was excellent.

On the ferry "La Paz" we met and made friends with a handsome Mexico City family.

Crisis, Shortage, Lines: Now It's Minerals

By DANIEL J. FOLEY Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — If you dialle waiting in line for gasoline for your car, you're going to hate waiting in line for the car itself.

An exaggeration? Perhaps. But some U.S. officials are saying that the fuel shortages are only the beginning of what eventually may be a much larger and more serious minerals crisis.

The U.S. industrial complex chews up tremendous quantities of minerals in producing the automobiles, buildings, appliances and other goods which have given this country the highest standard of living — and energy consumption — in the world.

In just metals alone, this includes 1,500 pounds a year of iron and steel for every man, woman and child in the United States, 50 pounds of aluminum, 25 of copper, 15 of zinc, 15 of lead and 35 of other metals, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Metals

The country's huge consumption of metals in many ways parallels the consumption of huge amounts of energy. The parallel includes a significant dependence on foreign suppliers.

As a result of the Arab oil embargo, which transformed the U.S. energy problem into a crisis, some officials are examining the country's future vulnerability to a similar minerals crisis.

"Right now, we are feeling the adverse effects of overreliance on foreign sources of oil," Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said recently.

"Unless we learn from this experience and learn fast, we could be confronted in the foreseeable future with severe shortages of iron, steel and aluminum."

According to the Interior Department, the United States now imports all or virtually all of a number of metals, including platinum, mica, chromium and strontium, and more than 70 per cent of others including cobalt, tantalum, aluminum, manganese, fluorine, titanium, asbestos, tin, bismuth and nickel.

Just as has been the case with energy sources, U.S. dependence on foreign sources of metals is increasing each year.

"By the end of this century, we may be forced to get half, or more, of our mineral requirements from foreign sources," says Elbert F. Osborn, director of the Interior Department's Bureau of Mines.

Competing

"Furthermore, we will be competing for those foreign mineral products with other mineral-hungry nations all over the world. This situation could lead to a global crisis that would make our current energy crisis look like the good old days by comparison."

Ironically, while some officials are concerned about increased dependence on foreign suppliers of certain metals, the U.S. government is selling off its reserve stock piles of some of the same metals.

PEOPLE... IN THE NEWS

Kissinger

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and his bride are keeping a low profile on their Mexican honeymoon.

Kissinger and his wife, Nancy, spent Wednesday reading and relaxing at the swimming pool of the house where they are staying at this resort city. They did not leave the house all day.

The movie being filmed deals with racial separation policies in South Africa and a black fugitive on the run from white police.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a member of the Finance Committee who is considering a 1976 presidential race, said: "It is a terrible example for the President to set for the American people."

Asked how he thinks it will affect Nixon's standing with Congress and the country, Mondale replied: "It won't help and it will probably hurt."

Sen. Vance Harke, D-Ind., said: "It would have been better if he had paid them (taxes) when they were due, instead of now." But he added that "I don't think this will have any direct effect on impeachment since his taxes are not an issue during a September 1974 re-election meeting. But Reinecke later said he first told Mitchell about the pledge in telephone conversations in June."

Reinecke explained that discrepancy by saying the committee asked him only about meetings, not telephone conversations.

If convicted, Reinecke could face a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $2,000 fine on each count.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said: "I don't think there is any impeachable quality in this series of transactions."

Bennett joined other members of Congress in expressing relief that Nixon agreed to pay the back taxes. "I am glad he did this because, coming just 10 days before April 15, this sets a wonderful example for the American taxpayer."

Playboy Not Only One With Access To Jewels

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — For seven years, while wealthy playboy John Jacob Astor III thought he alone had keys to a safe deposit box holding $465,000 in diamonds, 41 employees of the Jersey City bank had access to the vault where the gems were hidden, according to a bank official.

The official testified Wednesday at a trial in federal court in which Astor, a descendant of one of America's foremost financial empires, is suing the First Jersey National Bank because sometime between 1963 and 1970 the gems disappeared.

Hidden

Astor, a Miami Beach resident, reportedly had hidden the diamonds to keep them from his second wife, Gertrude. This was in 1954 when the Astors were involved in divorce litigation.

Bank vice president Herman

Suenholz testified that the bank moved the gems in 1963 because it was remodeling its safe deposit room. He said the bank took the action on its own because Astor failed to answer several notices to pick up his treasures while the remodeling was underway.

At the time the gems were moved from Astor's private depository to a cashier's vault filled with other unclaimed property, Suenholz said, all he knew was that Astor's box was "full of diamonds," he said.

The new location was accessible over the next seven years to 41 persons, Suenholz acknowledged under examination by Astor's attorney William L. Dill.

"It was obvious that someone had gone in there and removed the box," Dill said, referring to what Suenholz saw when Astor came to claim the gems in 1970. "It would seem to me the bank official said Astor is suing the bank for $500,000 on grounds they should have taken care of his jewels better, whether he looked in on them from time to time or not.

No Probe

Where the jewels went has never been discovered. In addition, a source close to the case revealed Wednesday that no criminal investigation was ever launched into the disappearing diamonds, by either the bank or Astor. The loss has not been referred to at the trial as a theft.

The source said the FBI was alerted to the loss in 1970 but did not undertake a probe because the bank refused to sign a complaint that would have admitted the jewels were stolen.

According to Astor's case, the jewels were all accounted for by bank officials in 1963 when they were moved.

DEEP IN THOUGHT

IGNORING PARTISAN ties, Rep. Peter Rodino, left (D-N.J.) chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, confers with Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-Mich.) on who will be permitted access to the controversial evidence concerning President Nixon's impeachment accumulated by special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

The only member of the 10-man committee to oppose release of the staff report, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said: "To have impeachment, you have to have high crimes or misdemeanors. And the tax controversy, regardless of its merits, is not in that area."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a member of the Finance Committee who is considering a 1976 presidential race, said: "It is a terrible example for the President to set for the American people."

Asked how he thinks it will affect Nixon's standing with Congress and the country, Mondale replied: "It won't help and it will probably hurt."

Sen. Vance Harke, D-Ind., said: "It would have been better if he had paid them (taxes) when they were due, instead of now." But he added that "I don't think this will have any direct effect on impeachment since his taxes are not an issue during a September 1974 re-election meeting. But Reinecke later said he first told Mitchell about the pledge in telephone conversations in June."

Reinecke explained that discrepancy by saying the committee asked him only about meetings, not telephone conversations.

If convicted, Reinecke could face a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $2,000 fine on each count.

Watergate 'Fallout' New Tactic

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense attorneys for former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and one-time Commerce secretary Maurice H. Stans argue today that the criminal conspiracy case against the pair contains fallout from Watergate.

One of three motions to dismiss the indictment contends that the grand jury that accused the former cabinet members was tainted by the scandal involving the 1972 break-in of Democratic National headquarters in Washington.

The government rested its case Wednesday, and Federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi scheduled arguments on midtrial defense motions to dismiss with the jury absent. Such motions rarely are granted, but are regarded as a necessary part of the trial record in the event of appeal.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of impeding a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco's corporate empire, in repayment for his secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Airline Sues Gulf Oil On Fuel Contract

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Southern Airways Inc. is seeking a federal court order that would force Gulf Oil Corp. to supply fuel in compliance with a contract which the airline says was signed before the energy shortage.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court here this week, Southern said Gulf charged $240,861.27 above the contract price for three million gallons of aviation fuel delivered from Jan. 1 to March 23.

The contract was for fueling Southern planes at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.; Mobile, Ala.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Columbus, Ga.; Orlando, Fla.; Greenville, S.C.; Baton Rouge, La.; Greenwood, S.C.; and Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Gulf has indicated it would cut off the fuel supply unless Southern pays the total amount Gulf has billed, the suit said. Since it could not obtain fuel elsewhere, Southern said, it would lose $60,000 a day if Gulf stops deliveries.

Southern accused Gulf of charging more for fuel than is allowed under regulations of the Federal Energy Office.

Kimbrough Opposes Aluminum Wire Use

The Seminole County building department has again issued a vague endorsement of aluminum wire for use in homes, but County Commissioner Chairman John Kimbrough remains unconvinced it is safe. Noting the building department reiterated the necessity of aluminum wiring being properly installed before it is safe, Kimbrough said earlier this week he will check with Congressional sources in Washington for results of a national probe into the soft substitute for copper.

The building department's survey of counties and professional engineers throughout the state revealed that those counties allowing aluminum wire do so with the strict inspection and instructions on maintenance.

Charlotte County reported that problems with aluminum forced contractors to go back to copper, while Marion County and Tallahassee do not allow any aluminum wire in homes. The report also contained a list of nine aluminum wire violations found during one week in March, including three by Palmer Electric and one by Tri-City Electric, a firm owned by county electrical engineer board chairman Buddy Eidel.

Drummond said it's time the state took over all Medicaid payments—a move which he said would save Seminole County $180,000 a year. Drummond said the state currently sticks the county with paying for nursing home patients and many in-patient hospital services. The Polk County commission has already adopted a resolution calling on the legislature to provide complete state coverage of Medicaid payments, he said.

The board agreed to study a request for county backing of a $50,000 drug program application, but said it did not have the expertise to administer disputes between two competing agencies. Ron Keeton, director of the county's Drug Action Committee, apologized for the apparent competition between TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Attorneys for 14 defendants in a federal stock fraud trial have opened their case after prosecutors ended their five week presentation.

Tampa defense attorney Ron Peres told the jury Wednesday that his client, Samual C. Watson, did not knowingly use a counterfeit check of stock from Walt Disney Productions as security for a loan from the Apopka Bank.
Contrary to prosecution claims, Peres argued that Scates did not know the Disney stock was "irregular" until the transaction had been made.

Harrell Completes FBI Course

CHIEF DEPUTY SHERIFF HARRELL...They kept us busy

The Seminole County Sheriff's department has a new chief deputy — or an old chief deputy with a new look. After a three month course at the FBI academy Duane Harrell has returned to the sheriff's department much more knowledgeable about law enforcement and trimmer by 50 pounds.

While at the academy in Quantico, Va., Harrell, the first Seminole County law enforcement officer to participate in the course, "I will incorporate the information and experience I brought back from the academy into the sheriff's training program," Harrell said.

One piece of information Harrell said he learned at the academy is that burglars are the most dangerous of all criminals. "A burglar does not know what he will find inside a house. He may find a woman asleep and decide to rape her. Then, realizing his guilt and knowing she is the only one who knows of the crime he kills her and the feeling of guilt will not affect him as much," Harrell said.

Firearms Training
Of all the courses, the chief deputy said he most enjoyed the firearms course. "Targets simulate running men and there are targets that pop up in a window, some of which you are supposed to fire at and others, in the shape of a woman, you are not supposed to fire at," Harrell said.

Humps Slow Traffic At Center

ALTIMONTE SPRINGS—Speed humps placed on Magnolia and Highland Streets to slow traffic enroute to the civic center recreation park will remain for a trial period, Mayor Norman Floyd told disident residents this week.

Councilmen mulling the best course of action to aid city residents were confronted with two petitions—one critical of the humps and the other supporting them. To further confuse the issue some signatures appeared on both petitions and, in one case, a petition carried the same signature twice.

Councilman Dan Dorfman's suggestion that the humps be removed from the block on both streets from Ipswich to Maitland Avenue west and be retained on the block from Ipswich east to the civic center died from lack of official support.

Parents expressed concern that the humps were removed speeders would endanger neighborhood children. Others said the humps are tearing cars up and a third group suggested that the street be closed at the civic center property line. They said a small area could be left open for bicycle and pedestrian traffic.

City Atty. Joseph Davis was asked to look into the procedures required to close off the street. In the meantime, Floyd said the humps will remain as a traffic control device. "Everyone says what he doesn't want, but no one can give a solution," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wholesale prices rose sharply again last month despite the first big decline in prices for farm products and processed foods in four months, the government said today.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Has the energy crisis left an imprint on American life? Associated Press reporters have talked with government leaders, social scientists and the man on the street to get a preliminary reading on this question. In this second of a series of three articles, the effects on the suburbs are examined.

Polygraph Tests Aid Business Honesty

TELL THE TRUTH
Ed Gelb, left, gives polygraph examination

BY MARK RANGE
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD—Edward Gelb sits behind his desk and evaluates the results of a polygraph test.

"The subject shows deception on questions 12 and 13," Gelb asserts positively.

Another polygraph examiner nods in agreement as he looks over Gelb's shoulders at the findings. Both men now scrutinize the polygram's erratic markings which Gelb says indicate deception—lying.

The high markings show that the subject's blood pressure, pulse and respiration increased when asked about former employers.

Gelb points to another erratic arch which he says shows the subject had used drugs.

Because of frequent thefts from the store, the owner required all prospective employees to take the polygraph test.

Gelb and four other polygraphists examine thousands of persons each year for business and industry to test prospective employees and present ones for honesty.

After leaving the Los Angeles Police Department's detective bureau in 1968 as a lieutenant, with a Medal of Valor to boot, Gelb has examined thousands of subjects on the polygraph.

The polygraph is Gelb's major tool in protecting business and industry from theft. Employee dishonesty in retail stores accounts for 70 per cent of all loss, shoplifters net 20 per cent and paper work errors explain the remaining 10 per cent, according to Gelb.

Putting out fires," he says. "Only those who've been burned in the past set up security precautions."

For those who don't want to get burned, Gelb's agency sends investigators to pose as shoppers in an effort to nab shoplifters. And for store owners whose employees are stealing, Gelb's trained agents pose as employees.

He said 14 per cent of all businesses that begin operations will go bankrupt at the end of the first year because of employee dishonesty.

At one drive-in Gelb's agents counted autos entering the admission gate over a week's period. After tallying receipts, the agents informed the theater manager that his employees were stealing 30 per cent of the receipts.

Oil companies which own fleets of self-service gas stations are also clients. Employees of these all-night type stations sometimes perpetrate phony robberies, then report the incident to the police, Gelb said.

One polygraph candidate sat in the company's lobby, appearing nervous. Gelb confided that the man, in his early 30's was referred by an oil company for a periodic test. "Just knowing you have to take a polygraph test periodically is deterrent," says Gelb.

In most cases the deterrent effect holds true, but it had failed to dissuade this young man from stealing. He failed the polygraph test then confessed that he'd stolen.

Along with that impressive figure Gelb adds that the employer has far more to lose than he would be paying for polygraph tests, which range from $35 to $150 for each person tested.

Big Clients

Chain theaters are some of Intercept's biggest clients. Gelb said that often the ticket taker and ticket seller work in collusion to resell admission tickets. In one Los Angeles

The Meyers Count Kilowatts

By SHIRLEY GALLINA
Copley News Service

GOOD MARKS
Mrs. Meyer (left) gets encouragement from Beth Alexander

LOS ANGELES — "I know how I can catch you," said Beth Alexander, pointing an accusing finger at Mrs. Walter Meyer.

Mrs. Meyer, who hadn't been caught once so far, didn't raise an eyebrow.

"I'll bet you have a dirty air filter in your forced-air furnace," Ms. Alexander chided in mock seriousness.

"No I haven't," Mrs. Meyer said gleefully. "My husband changes it regularly."

They laughed and continued on their tour of the Meyers' home.

The purpose of the tour was to see how a suburban Harbor City family rates on energy conservation.

"I've been training the kids not to leave the refrigerator door open for one thing."

Mrs. Meyer did get a demerit for not using her dishwasher. The children have been doing the dishes.

"It actually used more energy resources to do dishes by hand," Ms. Alexander said.

The Meyers and their two children, Dorothy, 10, and David, 8, live in a three-bedroom home of 1,300 square feet.

Meyer was raised on a farm and is well versed in frugality.

"If a thing is precious, such as electricity, I can conserve it," he said.

"I'm going to try my dishwasher again," Mrs. Meyer said. "My kids will love me for it."

Mrs. Meyer scored 100 per cent in the laundry. She does only full loads, never uses hot water, just warm, and occasionally cold.

The Meyers also were rated perfect on the use of their refrigerator and freezer. Both were full.

"It is more efficient to keep them full," Ms. Alexander said, "particularly the freezer."

Fill Freezer
For those who don't always keep the freezer full, she suggests adding bags of ice cubes, or milk cartons full of water. They fill up the empty storage space.

The Meyers do not own electric blankets... another plus.

"I bundle up and wear both my nylons and socks to bed," Mrs. Meyer said, laughing. "I got the idea from an older woman at church."

"Panty hose really keep you warm. I even wear them under pants."

The Meyers own both a color and a black-and-white television set, but the two never are used simultaneously.

Spy-In-Sky Satellites Confirm Missile Sites

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copy News Service

Several months ago, knowledgeable U.S. intelligence sources were predicting that the first-ever test shot of an intercontinental ballistic missile by the People's Republic of China was "imminent."

Sophisticated spy-in-the-sky satellites had confirmed that all seemed in readiness at the China launch site in Sinkiang province for a shot that would be fired over Tibet and India to a splashdown in the Indian Ocean.

It has also been established that Peking has posted a missile-tracking vessel and a missile-recovery ship at the port of Zanzibar. Equipment is said to be in readiness there for shore-based monitoring of the final phase of the ICBM's flight.

There have been unconfirmed reports that China was having some technological troubles at the launch site.

From other quarters came the suggestion that delay of China's firing of its first ICBM—which would amount to a membership card in the international nuclear arms club—is more political than technological.

As everyone is aware, the Indian Ocean is the subject of much debate in strategic terms these days.

There are the claims that the Soviet Union wants to make it into a "Russian Sea" and that this process would be speeded once the Suez Canal is reopened.

Already Soviet vessels are highly visible in South Asia ports, notably Moscow's subs at Vishakhapatnam, on the Bay of Bengal south of Calcutta, and supply ships in and around the Bangladesh port of Chittagong.

The latest focal point of debate is the tiny island of Diego Garcia, 1,200 miles south of India.

The Pentagon has been given permission by Britain, which owns the 5,700-acre island, to make some $20 million in improvements of air and naval support facilities there.

Communist members of India's Parliament have been making a lot of noise about the U.S. plans. Foreign Minister Swaran Singh has even said before Parliament that India was "resolutely" against a major U.S. presence in the Indian Ocean. He said recently the expansion of the U.S. base was contrary to India's aim making the Indian Ocean a "zone of peace."

You can bet your bottom dollar that a Chinese ICBM test shot over Indian territory and splashing down in the Indian Ocean would also be contrary to Indian wishes.

Indian reaction to such a Chinese shot could be an important consideration in Peking's delay of the firing.

One Change We Can Do Without

EDITORIAL

We are for almost any proposal that would give the people more say in government.

But there's a limit to everything, and we have some very serious reservations about a constitutional amendment being pushed by State Sen. Ralph Poston (D-Miami).

Sen. Poston's amendment would, according to his press release, "extend the process of initiative by the power of legislation and allow Florida citizens, through the power of referendum" to propose and repeal laws.

This process could be begun by filing with the secretary of state a petition with a copy of the proposed law signed by five per cent of the voters in at least one-half of the congressional districts of the state. The measure would be submitted to the voters at the next general election and, if ratified, become effective 30 days after it was approved by a majority vote.

Initiative

In a covering letter the senator says it is his opinion that "Florida's citizens should have this procedure reserved to them should a legislature become unresponsive to their wants and needs." It is not anticipated, he continues, that Florida government would be run on a day-to-day basis through initiative and referendum.

We're sure it is not anticipated, but we're not so sure that such a proposal might not lead to just such a situation. In fact, the proposal smacks a little of anarchy.

It also brings to mind the mass confusion that is likely to take place every election day. The average voter has trouble enough sorting out the various candidates under the existing system; let alone the ballot with three, four or five special issues and he's likely to get lost with it.

The Ballot

And there's no question that the ballot would be so burdened. You could get five per cent of the voters in any congressional district to sign a petition to do or away with anything, or anything at all. And once this little chore is accomplished and the proposal is on the ballot, the voters could make the measure sound like the best thing to happen to Florida since the tourist industry.

Citizenry

We already have a system of government that permits —

Maybe The Satchel Will Provide Answer

The question of his guilt or innocence of the myriad charges leveled against him is a moot point. The question of his guilt or innocence of the myriad charges leveled against him is a moot point.

But the Nixon critics will not now — nor will they ever — accept his protestations of noninvolvement without the documented evidence which he has implied exists.

Mr. Nixon may be able to support with logic his reluctance to turn over better-kept all the tapes and records sought by the House Judiciary Committee in its impeachment inquiry. He might be successful in winning court agreement.

"I give him the old one-two and he comes back for more!"

An Unneeded Revival: Isolationism Rears Head

COPELEY NEWS

President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger have spoken bluntly enough to Europe in recent days to evoke promises of more cooperation from European statesmen in keeping their relations with the United States in good order. At a recent news conference Mr. Kissinger added a significant footnote. The underlying reason for President Nixon's current concern about our European relations is an ominous trend toward isolationism in America.

On Shelf

Isolationism has remained safely on the shelf during most of the years since World War II when the United States emerged as the only free nation with the military and economic strength to keep the world from slipping into a postwar chaos that the Soviet Communists were ready to exploit.

Doctrine

Those allies who have now been reminded how the Nixon Doctrine is supported to work. We can hope that Congress has also been reminded that when Sen. Mansfield talks of letting the world shift for itself — whether it is ready or not.

"DIVINE!"

All-Pro Army Is Working From The Mailbag

Editor: The Herald, Sanford, Fla. Dear Sir:

On the front page of The Sanford Herald, Wednesday, March 27, it was reported that Sen. Drummond County Commission, felt that the much publicized surplus of funds that the State has on hand should be distributed to the counties. Not only was this misleading to some, but the article failed to identify to the public some alarming existing facts.

The solution to our over-crowded jail calls for a concert of action initiated by several governmental entities directed in the appropriate directions of responsibility rather than smothering the local taxpayer in the face with unilateral solutions.

I doubt that all of the undercurrent facts will find its way to the vast majority of taxpayers. Therefore, I urge them to obtain this information firsthand and in full. I would commend The Sanford Herald for reporting more of the alarming facts that the public would want to be aware of as opposed to the information reported by the rest of the media.

Greg Drummond, County Commissioner, District Four

(Editor's Note: The Herald has learned that on too many cases the Parole and Probation office in Seminole County has lagged on investigating backgrounds of people convicted of crimes and awaiting sentencing. In at least one instance, a child molester was put on pre-sentence investigation for more than 26 months. He ultimately molested several other children last year.

We feel there is no acceptable excuse for this sort of time lag. The Herald soon will present a series on why it takes so much time to process a background check for state or county officials "the lowest local rate available" to advertisers.

Reception Legality Questioned

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A fund-raising reception for Rep. Ralph Turington may be illegal and should be canceled, says Zollic Maynard, one of Turington's opponents for education commissioner.

Maynard cited a 1972 opinion by Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin which said that state officers, including legislators, could not solicit campaign contributions from other state officers.

Turington mailed invitations, including two $100 tickets, to other legislators for the reception next Tuesday in Tallahassee, Maynard said Wednesday.

Democratic nomination as education commissioner.

First Black Director Hired

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Health and Rehabilitation Services Department has named Robert L. Dennis as the new head of the Division of Administrative Services.

Dennis is the first black division director in the HRS department.

Mr. Dennis possesses administrative experience needed so that he can effectively deliver its many people services," department secretary O. J. Keller said Wednesday in announcing the appointment.

Bill Allows Inspection Of Teachers' Records

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Senate Committee is considering a bill that would open the personnel records of elementary and high school teachers to public inspection.

Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, offered the proposal Wednesday as an amendment to a bill which would repeal the law allowing the records of university and community college faculty members to be kept secret.

Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin had told the Senate Education Committee that "as a parent, if I want to go down and look at the performance record of the teacher of my child, I ought to be able to."

No Action

The panel adjourned without taking action after Chairman Robert Graham, D-Miami, said the bill (SB 176) sponsored by Sen. Richard Deeb, R-Sp. Petersburg, and its amendment would be considered at a meeting next week.

Graham said that in light of the Cabinet's action Tuesday and other developments, the committee should take a little more time to study alternatives.

Tuesday, the Cabinet ordered the personnel records of university and community college faculty members to be opened to public inspection as are the records of all other state employees.

Shevin said he favored repeal of all laws allowing secrecy of faculty members' records. "I don't see any justification of denying out exceptions of the personnel records for education," he said.

The attorney general said he didn't accept the argument that a person making an evaluation could be subjected to libel or defamation of character laws if the evaluation is published by the news media.

And any administrator who does not give a true evaluation because of the possibility it would be open to public inspection "should not be in the system," he said.

Personal Matter

Will Holladay, personnel director at Miami-Dade Junior College, said the performance evaluation is a personal matter between a faculty member and his administrator and should not be made public.

Senate Approves Tie-Down Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Senate today approved a bill that would exempt all mobile homes installed before July 1, 1973 from the state's tie-down law.

The bill, SB 209, sponsored by Sen. Jim Gilson, R-Eustis, was approved on a vote of 28-3.

"This does no great damage to the state tie-down law, Gilson said, adding that it would benefit those older persons who lived in mobile homes.

The Senate earlier deferred action on a bill sponsored by Sen. Law Brantley, D-Jacksonville, that would have softened the state's oil spill law.

The consideration of the bill was deferred because Brantley was absent, due to a death in his family.

In the House, John Shebel, an influential business lobbyist for the Associated Industries of Florida, charged today that a House workmen's compensation bill fails to correct the high administrative cost of aiding injured workers.

"Costs will go up," Shebel said. "The figure 8.5 per cent has been mentioned. Actually it's more like 20 per cent. It's more like 20 per cent. It's more like 20 per cent."

George Stallings, Florida Real Estate Federation lobbyist and a former House member, charged that the bill would force employers to "squeeze profits, raise prices or go out of business."

The House Commerce Committee adjourned without voting on the bill. Chairman Don Tucker, D-Tallahassee, said a bank president and scheduled a vote next Tuesday on the workers' compensation bill by Rep. Charles Papp, D-Miami, focused on a first-time formula providing benefits equal to 60 percent of an injured worker's weekly wage, but not exceeding two-thirds of the average statewide income. That would raise maximum weekly payments from $80 to $98.

Shebel opposed the formula concept, saying the present base of two-thirds of the average statewide wage was "a percentage" that future legislators would double.

A Senate bill (SB123) to revise the state's tough oil-spill law and sponsored by Commerce Committee Chairman Law Brantley was listed first on the Senate calendar but Brantley asked that its consideration be delayed until next Tuesday.

St. Pete Citizens Attack Proposed No-Growth Law

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Twenty opponents attacked St. Petersburg's proposed no-growth plan today during a city council meeting.

The speakers were among 25 who appeared before the city council, and they urged the council to reject the proposal to limit growth to a population of 235,000 — a figure already exceeded by some 20,000.

Representatives of environmental groups, the tourist industry, property owners, neighborhood and civic leaders criticized the plan, saying it would be controlled through land use planning and limited development rather than a numerical population limit.

"The council made this city look foolish in the eyes of the nation," said Thomas E. McLean, a bank president and native of St. Petersburg.

Ed Tract, a civic association leader, said "our request is that this ordinance be killed, embalmed and buried, never to see the light of day again."

Tract said he realized the problems the city was facing with an eight per cent annual increase in population but suggested the solution be found in zoning, limited development and land use planning.

The plan was first proposed by Councilman Hugh Ruckdeschel and passed in first reading two weeks ago by a 4-3 council vote.

"I understand some of my colleagues have changed their minds and want to rescind it," Ruckdeschel said Wednesday.

Council colleague Charles Schuch called the proposal "A mockery of legitimate efforts to get things under control."

"I think it will be voted down," said Schuch. "There are a lot of things. But this specific proposal causes more problems than it solves."

Mayor Randolph Wedding gave it "zero possibility of passage," saying there is no doubt that it would be unconstitutional.

Other cases for argument before the court today were the Orange County Classroom Teachers' Association Inc. vs. The Orange County School Board and the Fraternal Order of Police v. City of Orlando.

The three cases probably will be consolidated for a decision. Supreme Court decisions usually come several months after oral arguments are presented, which would give the 12½ legislature time to adopt guidelines. The court had warned in 1972 that it would write the guidelines if the legislature did not.

Family To Stick By Pet Porker Banned By Jax Zoning Board

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Tippy Sue, the 400-pound pet of the Seymore family, has to hit the road and head for a dog pound, says Tippy Sue's owner, Richard Deeb, R-Sp. Petersburg, and its amendment would be considered at a meeting next week.

Braves Lineup Withheld Until Gametime

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hank Aaron's quest for baseball's all-time home run record resumes in the city where he made his major league debut 20 years ago.

Indoctrination Start

The skinny kid in left field for the Milwaukee Braves gave no indication on April 13, 1954, that he would become one of the game's all-time greats. He was saddled with an 0-for-5 collar that day by a trio of Cincinnati pitchers — Bud Podbielski, Joe Nuxhall and Frank Smith.

Aaron, amid considerable ballyhoo and controversy, was ready to launch his 21st major league campaign today when the Atlanta Braves took on the Redlegs in a 2:30 p.m. EDT clash.

The 40-year-old slugger enters the season with 713 lifetime home runs, only one shy of the record established by the immortal Babe Ruth.

Writers Jam Park

A crush of 250 sports writers and sportscasters was expected for the opener, primarily because of Aaron. And, there was a chance the superstar would not even play.

Braves manager Eddie Mathews unleashed his anger on the eve of the game, saying, "The commissioner of baseball is burying Hank Aaron. He has made him a scapegoat. I am sick and tired and fed up with being the bad actors, the bad cats in this thing."

Mathews was steamed over Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's entering the controversy that followed after the Braves announced prior to spring training that Aaron would sit out the three-game series in Cincinnati and begin playing when the Braves open an 11-day home stand against Los Angeles Monday night.

Kuhn Expects Start

Kuhn said he expected the Braves to follow the pattern of last season, with Aaron starting against Cincinnati Wednesday as was the case last season.

Mathews insisted Wednesday he would announce his starting lineup until just before gametime today and that he and Aaron would get together and decide whether the slugger would play.

Mathews said he had no intention of using Aaron if the playing conditions were poor, and the chances of that were good.

Tornadoes, Rain

At least a half-dozen tornadoes touched down in metropolitan Cincinnati Wednesday as violent thunderstorms rocked the area. The forecast called for a 50 per cent chance of showers today.

"I have some fond memories of Cincinnati and some not so fond," Aaron said.

The good memories include collecting his 3000th hit in old Crosley Field off Wayne Simpson on May 26, 1970.

Perhaps the worst memory was breaking his ankle here on Sept. 5 of his rookie season. It was the worst injury of his career.

Perez, Pinney Facing 'Biggest' Boxing Tests

By LEE GEHNER
Herald Correspondent

Sanford's Vic Perez and undefeated John Pinney from Springfield, Mo., will face their biggest boxing tests tonight in Tampa as they will be featured in a double win-up card.

Pinney will be seeking the vacant Southern Middleweight crown as he takes on former title holder, Dennis Riggs of Jacksonville in the top half of the twin bill at Fort Homer H. Hesterly Armory.

Preliminaries starting at 8:30 p.m., Perez, a last minute replacement for undefeated Glen Morgan will be pitted against one of the best junior middleweights competing in the south, Eddie Davis.

"Ruffin" Davis, Perez said, "I don't believe they would try to do that to me, they are my friends."

Perez took the information calmly, but disappointed his opponent's real name was not given.

Riggs who hails from Jacksonville comes into the bout ranked number one for the crown. Undefeated Tony Licata was forced to relinquish when he captured the North American belt from Emilio Griffin earlier this year.

The north Florida slugger originally took the crown from Gordon Lot of Georgia before he lost it to Licata in New Orleans. In return both the pair battle to a sensational draw in Jacksonville, before Licata ended the series with a close decision win in Tampa last year.

Two Year Layoff

Riggs enters the bout with a mark of 38-12-3, with most of his losses coming earlier in his career. Since his return to boxing after almost a two-year layoff the former champ has only lost five times while winning 21 outings.

In Pinney, Riggs will be facing another unbeaten foe, but this time his opposition will be the underdog "Hardcase" John Comes into the fray sporting a mark of 21-0-2, the blemishes being draws with Teddy Murray and Jesse Whaley. The former Missouri resident avoided both standouts with easy victories in Ireland.

SANFORD'S FAVORITE SON — Vic Perez in rematch

Main Event Man

Davis has been in the main event on more than one occasion in Tampa and holds wins over world class welterweight Tommy Van Hatten and dynamite punching J.T. Downe.

In his last two efforts the Tampa fighter dropped a main event bout in Philadelphia and came out on the losing end of a fight in the Bahamas with undefeated, top ranked, Eliza Obed.

Perez and Davis met earlier in their careers when Davis scored a three-round K.O., but Perez feels he will be able to

LYMAN'S TERRY BACHMAN SLIDES UNDER TAG ... Of Orlando Jones catcher as Hounds stay on top of loop

Hounds Tame Tiger Nine

ORLANDO — The Lyman baseball team moved to an 8-0 record in the Metro Conference Wednesday afternoon as it took a 10-0 win over Orlando Jones.

On the mound for the Hounds was Mike Simmons who stopped the Tigers on four hits while striking out 13.

Callan Big Stick

Ed Callan was the big stick for the Greyhounds going two-for-three on the day. Included in his effort was a sparkling play in left field when he took a hit away from Jones with a diving catch.

Hal Staats was responsible for five of the ten runs, driving in three with a fielder's choice and single, in addition to crossing home plate twice himself.

Chay Phillips picked up two RBIs with a double and sacrifice fly.

The Greyhounds got two runs in the opening frame after Staats walked and Rodney Dowling reached base on an error. It was at that point that Craig Smith was the key hit as Jeff Clayton and Kevin Barry scored on the sharply hit ball down the rightfield line.

The Tigers are now 1-0 in the conference and 2-6 overall.

France Buries Pompidou; Nixon Might Visit Paris

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou was buried today after a church service in the little cemetery at Orvilliers attended only by his family.

The private eight-minute burial was simple in accordance with Pompidou's wishes, with only a short eulogy by a local priest.

Pompidou had a country house in Orvilliers, 35 miles from Paris, and said in a letter written 20 months ago that he wanted to be buried there.

Before the burial, Pompidou's widow, Claude, and his associates in five years in power held a simple funeral service in Paris.

Casket
In accordance with his wishes, Pompidou's casket was draped only with the French flag, without flowers or wreaths. The one-hour ceremony in a church on the Ile St. Louis was held against a marital background of ancient Latin chants which Pompidou had specified.

Only Claude Pompidou, her immediate family and members of the French government attended the service in the church, barely 600 feet from the Paris apartment where Pompidou died.

EL-BOLSON, Argentina (AP) — Martin Sheffield, Texas sheriff, slayer of dinosaurs, pursuer of Butch Cassidy, gold panner, crackshot, crackpot and general legend about town, may soon pass into immortality.

The Argentine journalist who found his body and cornered his rifle is writing a biography of the transplanted yanqui who, as the story goes, mistook kerosene for whisky at age 72 and passed on 4.

By what few converging accounts remain, the story goes like this:

Sheffield came to Argentina with six other lawmen, apparently hired by Pinkerton, after Butch Cassidy, the Sundance Kid and their lady knocked off the bank of London and South America in Rio Gallegos.

The politicians were making no announcements of candidacy to succeed him while the mourning rites were in progress. But the political battle comes into the open next week.

Argentine army men captured the Cassidy trio and shipped them to Buenos Aires, according to memories, and Sheffield got a reward for finding and fingering them. He, like some of his fellow riders, stayed 4.

Great Man
"He was a great man, known and respected everywhere he went," says 68-year-old Dodo Sheffield, one of the 12 children Martin had with his Araucanian Indian wife.

"He was not exactly the wonderful person that his son describes," recalled an old-timer in this Andean valley town around which Sheffield spent some three decades until his death in the early 1930s.

But all agree he was hard to believe.

Sheriff Sheffield, a huge tin star on his chest went to dances and shot the heels off ladies' shoes. He could do-anything a fly with a bullwhip and part a man's hair with a Bowie knife from 50 paces.

He settled barroom fights by shooting home-rolled cigarettes out of his opponent's mouth. He was an Indian scout with chest- for friends.

The Argentine journalist, Drenisco Juarez de Siete Dias magazine, says that he has 10,000 Sheffield stories which he is saving for his book. He has been collecting material for 11 years.

Imperial made the first oil strike in the region in 1970.

in preparation for the election that must be held April 28 or May 5.

Conquest
There will be a runoff two weeks later if no candidate gets a majority. Many believe the final choice will be between former Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas, a Gaullist, and Socialist party chief Francois Mitterand, with little likelihood of a radical change in France's independent policy no matter which one wins.

The central committee of the Gaullist party scheduled a meeting Sunday to discuss its presidential aspirants.

Chaban-Delmas, the handsome, 58-year-old mayor of Bordeaux, was Pompidou's first premier.

Last Rites Runoff
While the last rites for the president were under way, French politicians maneuvered behind the scenes over his succession but refrained from making public statements.

The government will hold a memorial service Saturday in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, with many foreign government leaders attending. White House officials said it was highly likely President Nixon would be among them.

Pompidou, France's 19th president, died Tuesday at the age of 62 after a long and painful illness reported to be cancer of the bone marrow.

MONEY ISN'T ALL

DESPITE THEIR millions, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burton were unable to buy a home near Puerto Vallarta, where the law forbids ownership of real estate by foreigners if it is located within 30 miles of the coast. Mexican President Luis Echeverria intervened on their behalf and obtained for them a 30-year lease on their south of the border residence.

Now They Hunt For Oil Where Land Freezes

ARCTIC OCEAN, Canada (AP) — Frozen bears, skin speckled with telltale white patches that show where frostbite touched. These are the faces of the men who brave Canada's Arctic wastes. In earlier years they discovered the Northwest Passage, the North Pole, furs and gold.

Today they seek oil. They are in a race to discover the last great reserves of oil and gas on the North American continent.

American-based multinational oil companies have so far spent nearly $1 billion on the search. They are seeking potential reserves of 30.5 billion barrels of conventional oil, nearly as much as that discovered on the North Slope of Alaska that also borders the Arctic Ocean.

The search is a hazardous one. Deep permafrost that binds the earth in ice covers the land masses. And in the Arctic islands, every phase of exploration has to contend with ice floes, treacherous open water and Arctic storms.

"The oil industry knows it takes luck and perseverance to locate the big pools underground," said a government research official at the Arctic circle town of Inuvik.

NEW YORK (AP) — Edson Gould is an elder statesman among securities analysts, a forecaster who has made some notably accurate estimates and whose word sometimes is taken as gospel. He is also considered a bear.

Children's Home Hosts Choir

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA—Music and song filled the Community Center hall of Deltona last Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m., when 23 young boys and girls from the Duval Home in Glenwood entertained members and friends of American Legion Post 255 of Deltona and its Auxiliary.

Directed by pianist Mrs. Ruth Excell, choir director of the Home, they sang several peppy tunes.

Hymns

Then beautiful hymns were sung by individuals, duos, trios and the entire chorus. Hardly a dry eye was seen in the house when one young lad sang, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hand," and "Bless This House, Oh Lord We Pray."

Mrs. Elva Gibbs, secretary of the Home took the place of Mrs. Jane Danchuk, director who was unable to attend due to illness. Mrs. Gibbs gave a short history of the Home which was founded by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Duval in 1947. She explained that the Duval's first child, a son, was born retarded. After several years of caring for their child and noting how much special attention a child of this type needed, they decided to help other children with similar plights.

They adopted one child, then another and soon found mothers and fathers of other children were asking for their help. They purchased a large old mansion in Glenwood and opened the home to all who needed care of this type. They began to receive the aid of several churches. Today they receive aid from 43 Florida churches.

Macomber, director of personnel, Mrs. Eleanor Saunders and Mrs. Mary Buckley, room mothers. She explained that, in addition to the many attendants they employ, they have the services of 48 Foster Grandparents paid for by the Government's Foster Grandparent program.

Frank Hartings is Post Commander and Mrs. Lydia Schmidt, Auxiliary President.

The meeting is open to the public.

Trips Planned

The Empire State Club of Deltona announced plans for a club's last trip to Walt Disney World on May 10, during Senior Citizen Week, were presented by chairman Charlotte Weydij and the audience joined in a community sing.

Herbert Hubach, travel chairman, announced trips to Seaworld, April; Walt Disney World, May 7; Seminole Turf Club, May 17, with dinner being served at the clubhouse; and Sebastian Dinner Theatre, May 28. All interested persons should contact Hubach.

The following new members were welcomed into the club: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DiPaica,

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Belcastro, Martha and Gertrude Rasecke, Margaret Nebredo, Elizabeth McAdie, Wilfred Newman, Harry Kemp and John Rintrone.

The Illinois Club of Deltona met in the Community Center recently for a carry-in dinner and meeting with President Sally Roehser, presiding.

Program chairman Jim O'Brien announced plans for the club's last trip to Walt Disney World on May 10, during Senior Citizen Week, were presented by chairman Charlotte Weydij and the audience joined in a community sing.

Other bus trips are in the planning stages and will be announced at the next meeting, April 15 at 6 p.m., O'Brien said. New members for a report were welcomed by the president. Cards and games followed attendance and table prizes awarded.

Honors Slated

The Deltona Corporation will honor 17 employees on their fifth and 10th anniversaries with the company, April 24 at a banquet at the Deltona Inn. These employees will receive pins and brooches designating their years of service to the community-building firm.

Deltona Corporation is building eight planned communities in Florida. These include Spring Hill, Deltona, St. Augustine Shores, Pine Ridge, Citrus Springs and Marion Oaks, all in Central Florida, and Sunny Hills near Panama City and Marco Island on the Southwest Gulf Coast.

Barracks Elect

Charles L. Edwards was elected commander by World War I Barracks 1197 at the March meeting. Officers of the barracks and auxiliary will be installed May 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the community center.

The auxiliary will elect officers at the April 15 meeting in the community center following a light lunch served at 12:30 p.m.

SHRINERS SELL PAPERS

DELTONA SHRINER Club will sell Shrine papers in Deltona Plaza and Sanford Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to raise funds to support burn treatment centers and hospitals for crippled children.

Deltona Residents Polled For Taxes

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA—Residents are being polled by Deltona Civic Association to learn what they consider top priority needs in the community.

Among the services Deltonans were asked to choose from were police protection, street lights, recreation, zoning letter clean-up, traffic safety, road maintenance and public transportation.

Over 420 new letters were mailed out with a questionnaire asking residents to note if these services should be financed by special service districts created by Volusia County Council and additional taxes.

The proposed revised Civic Association by-laws will be presented for approval at the meeting.

At the April 17 Civic Association meeting, Charles Wyman, zoning commissioner, arranged to present a Land Use Plan he says will be adopted at a special zoning commission meeting this month. More than a year of study and work have been put into the plan by the commission and the county planning group. The meeting is open to the public.

Wyman says he feels it is a mistake to talk about incorporation, just to solve internal problems with out being fully aware of problems of growth in the county surrounding Deltona.

The shortages in the agricultural area are not only fuels, but also such items as nitrate fertilizers and even hay baling wire.

Although the energy situation is charged with creating substantial unemployment up to this time, the data gathered for NFIB indicates that the peak in the rate of job losses has not yet been reached.

In January reports, 12 per cent of the respondents report that due to the falling sales volume attributed to lack of merchandise or materials, they had already reduced hours, employment, or both. But in the months ahead, 17 per cent anticipate a reduction in the working hours and number of employees. Only 56 per cent say they will not have to make such reductions, with 27 per cent on the fence, not willing to predict what will happen.

The second hardest hit, according to the data, will be the construction industry where 22 per cent of the independent firms in this field report they will have to reduce employment in the next few months. The hardest hit is in the area of independent transportation firms where 27 per cent anticipate a job attrition.

Women Successful In Men's World

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service

BURLINGTON, Mass.—Amy C. Spear and Ruth J. McNaughton show compassion for those who fight for women's lib, but they really don't need it themselves. They've succeeded on their own, strictly on top grade qualifications.

She proved her point, Miss McNaughton. Her husband, Edward, owns a scientific business devoted to fog detectors and two of her daughters are headed for engineering careers, both out of Cornell.

AI RCA she has helped design radar systems and is proud of her role as manager of all engineering reliability in a and mathematics early in life. Although early educational advisers tried to discourage her, she was determined. "I told other girls not to listen to such talk," she said. "Women can do anything men can, from hard hat to engineering jobs."

Math Fiend
No less successful here is Miss McNaughton. Her husband, Edward, owns a scientific business devoted to fog detectors and two of her daughters are headed for engineering careers, both out of Cornell.

As for her idea of women's lib, Miss McNaughton said, "Women in engineering don't need it; we can compete with the men. The trouble was there was discrimination against girls in high school in many of the professions."

Both these women were attracted to science, engineering to other girls and I think you'll see more and more of us in it." If they all do as well as she does they will do well, indeed. "Ruth has created many tools that others are using here," Galton said. "We feel we were lucky to get her at RCA."

Army Gave Women's Lib An Early Start

LADY MECHANIC JOINS HUSBAND
Sgt. Phillip Brooks and Pvt. Linda E. Brooks

By FRANK T. MARTIN
Copley News Service

The U.S. Army Reserve was recognizing Women's Liberation long before it became an American household word.

What kind of women are in the Army Reserve? Well, there is Lt. Susan Harden, the commander of the all-male 936th Adjutant General Detachment (Postal) in Fresno, Calif., which provides mail service for an entire Army division overseas.

Then there's Lt. Col. Deloris M. Miller, of Baltimore, Md., director of clinical programs for mentally retarded adults at Henryton (Md.) State Hospital and commanding officer of the 1st U.S. Army Reserve Women's Corps Battalion. She obviously wears two hats.

Disstaff Reserves
Capt. Beverly Krans, an organizer and choir director at the Pasadena, Md., Assembly of God Church, spent her recent reserve duty as a waterfront stevedore officer with the Baltimore-based 117th Outpost at Brooklyn, N.Y., Army Terminal.

And Sgt. Margaret L. Klutz, a 38-year-old grandmother also assigned to the Brooklyn Terminal, is the first woman to graduate the Ft. Eustis Transportation School's marine engineer course.

Good Pay
Women with a civilian job skill after the Army Reserve as privates, first class, two pay grades higher than normal. They spend only two weeks of basic training away from home instead of the usual seven weeks.

The Garden Gate

By CENTRAL CIRCLE
Houseplants are subject to certain problems, even the easy-to-grow varieties. It helps to know what to expect.

More plants perish from overwatering than from underwatering, excessively wet soil crowds out the oxygen needed by roots to support leaves. Even plants that normally require a lot of water can be killed — if soil is not porous enough to allow good drainage.

Aphids
Aphids are much easier to control than red spider mites — fortunately, because the plants attacked by aphids are legion. The insects cluster in the open where they are readily detected.

Check For Pests
Keeping your houseplants free from insects requires extensive care. Check regularly for pests and take quick action when you find them.

Use Good Cheese Instead Of Meat

By LIZETTE L. MURPHY
Consumer Education
Florida Cooperative Extension

Q. What are your recommendations for cheese as a substitute for meat, as to nutrition and cost?

A. Cheese, like meat, eggs, fish, and poultry, is high in good quality protein. For this reason, it can be an excellent substitute for meat. Although the price of cheese has advanced with other food prices, it has the advantage of being fairly economical because it is a concentrated food and there is no waste.

When cheese is used in cooking, choose a suitable type cheese for the dish being prepared and use a low temperature for short periods, rather than high heat. An aged natural or processed cheese will blend better and is less likely to become stringy than natural cheese that has not been aged sufficiently.

Q. I recently read a statement that said the fuel supply wastes every time you use your electric toothbrush and that you should open cans with wrist power, not electric power. Do you know how much electricity these kinds of appliances take?

A. The subject of energy conservation is being sounded across the country in dozens of different ways. Some of the suggestions are same but a few of the ways are sometimes laughable.

These estimates offered by one recent source will help you make some logical comparison.

The electric toothbrush is reported to use about 5 kilowatt hours a year. Since many dentists are recommending the use of both the electric toothbrush and electric water spray, it would seem unwise to eliminate their use.

An electric can opener with normal use will consume approximately one kilowatt hour per year which is the equivalent of burning one 100 watt bulb for a single hour. That's barely enough to be recorded on your meter. Other small appliances that use minimal electric current are: carving knife (8 kilowatt hours), food mixer (13 kilowatt hours), sewing machine (11 kilowatt hours), and an electric shaver (18 kilowatt hours).

Meanwhile, here are some estimates in kilowatt hours for the big users. An electric dishwasher consumes (360 kilowatt hours) annually, a 14 cubic foot refrigerator-freezer (1,117 kilowatt hours), and a window air conditioner (1,269 kilowatt hours).

Remember, these figures are based on an estimate of annual average hours of usage. Although each household will differ, it makes common sense with the fast shortage and increased prices to only use what you need without being wasteful.

Q. I have heard that an aspirin is an aspirin but T.V. ads have confused me. Is there any difference in brands of aspirin?

A. The pain-relieving ingredient in all ordinary aspirin tablets is the same, acetylsalicylic acid, whether it costs 29 cents per 100 or $1.79 per 100 count. "Inactive" ingredients such as corn syrup, and corn starch may be added to help form the tablet and to make it disintegrate. However, these have nothing to do with effectiveness of pain relief.

Aspirin tablets are required by law to meet the standards of strength, quality and purity set forth in the United States Pharmacopoeia (USP) and must be packaged in the prescribed number.

Buffered aspirin contains an antacid that may help prevent stomach upset which may be caused by aspirin. Manufacturers can use only ingredients specified by Federal Food and Drug Administration as a buffer.

Remember, that advertising frequently appeals to the emotions of the consumer and does not always give unbiased information about the product.

BANKERS INSPECTOR

New Pan Am Bank Opens In County

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Pan American Bank of Altamonte Springs opened in temporary quarters on Wednesday (April 3) in the new Interstate Mall here, according to Gilbert Lewis, president.

A permanent, two-story building which will have five drive-in windows is being constructed nearby. It should be completed in five or six months when there will be a grand opening, Lewis said.

The staff of 10, including the president and James W. Schwartz, vice president and cashier, is "an enthusiastic group of people pleased with the opportunity we have here," Lewis said.

This will be the 14th bank in the Pan American Bancshares, Inc. holding corporation, which recently acquired banks in DeBary, Ormond Beach and Citizens National Bank of Orlando. The others are in southeast Florida.

Pan American is the 12th largest holding company in Florida with $612 million in assets. It also controls a number of non-banking affiliates, including the Altico Mortgage Corporation in Orlando.

Therefore, many of the bank's services will be shared toward women. Booklets on money matters are available to women and the bank will strive to act as financial counselor.

Directors for 1974 include J. Thomas Gurney Sr., chairman of the board; Edward N. Fielding Jr., Dick Holland, Lewis, James H. Robinson, W. Lawrence Swafford and Joseph Weintraub.

Resume Lewis, a native of Illinois, has had 22 years of continuous banking experience. A graduate of Roosevelt University, he also attended De Paul University of Virginia's school of consumer banking.

He is a director of the American Institute of Banking and a past president of the International Consumer Credit Association's Chicago chapter.

Auto Industry Thinks Small

By JAMES A. GROTH
Copley News Service

The automotive industry is thinking small these days, but it doesn't necessarily think it's the answer.

Ford has proclaimed for sometime that it will produce in the neighborhood of two million small cars in 1975 and General Motors said that it, too, will have the capability to build and sell better than two million small cars in the 1975 model year — an increase of about 70 per cent over the company's 1973 capacity.

The fact that the buying public is thinking small was graphically illustrated at the recent Chicago Auto Show where Ford installed counters in the doors of its show cars. The counters rang up 6,000 persons sitting down in a Pinto wagon and only 800 taking a seat in a Thunderbird.

But Ford President Lee A. Iacocca says the switch to small cars is not enough to offset the gasoline crisis.

"In fact," he says, "for the long run, it's irrelevant. The point is not to make cars smaller, but to make them more efficient. As long as fuel is in short supply, the name of the game is miles per gallon. Switching to small cars happens to be one way to increase fuel efficiency quickly. As a matter of fact, our actions at Ford in going from one million to two million small cars in one year will save this country almost 300 million gallons of gasoline every 12 months."

Guzzlers Iacocca says everybody is worried about the big gas guzzlers, but he is more concerned over the "so-called little gas guzzlers like Pinto."

The Ford president says when Pinto came out three years ago, it weighed in at a svelte 2,100 pounds and got nearly 26 miles to a gallon of gas. Since then, however, Pinto has gotten fat.

"We put on 33 pounds for things like better steering," Iacocca says. "We also added 307 pounds to comply with government safety, emissions and damageability standards, and to make the car run after we had added the federal equipment. Gas mileage took a nosedive to 21 miles per gallon — a loss of 19 per cent. This fall we'll add 75 more pounds for government standards."

Iacocca called for laws that we can eliminate, as well as cost, would be in the right direction.

In other words, let's not think small. Let's think light.

"Some congressmen today want to pass new laws to control weight, size, horsepower, minimum gas mileage, and so on," he says. "But our customers are already demanding better gas mileage. To stay in business we're going to have to meet that market demand, and in a million years Congress won't be able to devise a motivation equal to the economic incentive now before us."

Restudy Iacocca also says the nation's safety laws need restudying, both in the interests of conserving energy and as regards their value in saving lives.

"Automotive safety legislation has been in effect for eight years," he says. "And some of the safety standards — restraint systems, collapsible steering columns and high-penetration-resistant safety glass — are worth their weight in gold. But other costly additions — head rests, for example — are clearly low on the totem pole."

"What I'm saying is it's time to give these standards a thorough review. Any weight also of much use. Plants are need or sheared hedges for enclosures.

Wax Myrtles are one of our most desirable plants for landscape use. Being a native plant, it is acclimated to our local conditions. It is very cold resistant, thus recommended for coastal plantings.
 The most serious pest is caterpillars that chew leaves and may also tie terminal
 stems with silken webbing.
 Wax Myrtles may be started from seeds, which should be sown as soon as mature.

New plants may also be started from cuttings and by simple layering.

Prefab Homes On Top

The building boom in Seminole County has seen many new and innovative methods of construction being used as effectively as the more traditional methods. One of the most interesting is the use of prefabricated homes being erected in the Willwood subdivision near Davenport.

Located at U.S. 1742 just north of S.R. 68, Willwood all pre-manufactured in 13 foot sections in Thompson, Ga. National Homes Company, which has a factory scattered across the nation.

Each pre-constructed panel, complete with windows, doors, trim and work-outlets, is transported on open semitrailers to the chosen site, where a home is erected in 90 days—or less.

This kind of construction has advantages for the buyer. Because construction costs are lower, the homes completed here may be as much as 10 per cent lower.

At present there are only ten lots in the subdivision, but Willwood developer Toby Wilcox believes the homes are one of the leading forms of construction in the state.

Toby Wilcox, president of Florida Homes, says people can have comfortable homes without paying a high price or waiting through construction.

The first of the Willwood homes are ready for oc-

Bahia Grasses Growing On More Florida Lawns

Bahia grasses have become increasingly important for several reasons. Most important, bahia grasses can be propagated from seed and relatively fast, abundant and these grasses develop a deep, fibrous root system and spread along the ground surface. Bahias are also known for their runners called rhizomes to which they are attached and rhizomes carry food traffic and nutrients to other parts of the plant.

Once established by seed, these grasses develop a deep, fibrous root system and spread along the ground surface. Bahias are also known for their runners called rhizomes to which they are attached and rhizomes carry food traffic and nutrients to other parts of the plant.

There are four kinds or varieties of Bahias available for lawn purposes. These are: Common, Argentine, Paraguayan, and Florida Bahia.

The narrow-leaf type of Bahia is the most popular. It has a smooth, yellow-green color and is tolerant of shade. It is also known for its ability to tolerate verticillium wilt.

The following information is given to enable you to have an idea of the capabilities of this type of grass. How it is established, what problems may be encountered.

It is recommended that you prepare your planting site with as great care as you would for any other lawn grass. The soil should be prepared to a depth of 4 to 6 inches and should be rich in nutrients.

New Homes Will Be Weathertight

By FRANK WALKOMBER
Capey News Service

American homes and office buildings of the future will be weather-tight, according to a study by the National Bureau of Standards. The study, which is part of a program to improve the energy efficiency of buildings, found that new homes will be built with more insulation, double-pane windows, and weatherstripping doors and windows to help keep the cold out in winter and the heat out in summer.

The study, which was conducted by the National Bureau of Standards, found that new homes will be built with more insulation, double-pane windows, and weatherstripping doors and windows to help keep the cold out in winter and the heat out in summer.

When the mercury is in the 90s, it's not only the people who are uncomfortable, but the buildings themselves. In the summer, the heat is transferred from the outside to the inside of the building. This is done by conduction, convection, and radiation. The heat is transferred from the outside to the inside of the building. This is done by conduction, convection, and radiation.
