Rioters Stone U.S. Embassy

United Press International
Thousands of Nigerian rioters stoned U.S. and Belgian installations Thursday night and looted white-owned department stores in an outburst of anti-white violence inspired by the killing of Congo ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Liberia today proposed a 30-day general truce in the Congo while leaders of all the country's political factions come to United Nations headquarters for peace talks with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and the Security Council.

Stones thrown by the rioters broke many windows in the U.S. and Belgian embassies and the Bank of America, but damage was minor. The mobs also stoned cars driven by white men and broke into many stores.

In the United Nations, Russia used Lumumba's death as a springboard for new denunciations of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, but other nations rallied to his support.

In Brussels about 100 Belgian students staged a counter-demonstration, stoning the U.S. embassy in retaliation for this week's mob attack on the Belgian embassy in Cairo, which was set on fire.

In the French city of Toulouse 150 teenagers—most of them Negroes—battled police outside the Belgian consulate. Three policemen and one student were injured.

In Caracas, a mob of about 150 Venezuelan youths stoned the Belgian embassy and burned a U.S. flag, but there were no reports of casualties, or notable damage.

In Bogota, about 1,000 Colombian demonstrators carrying portraits of Lumumba and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro massed outside the Belgian embassy to shout "Murderers! Murderers!"

In Havana, 300 women and schoolchildren spent 2 1/2 hours outside the Belgian embassy, shouting such slogans as "Death to imperialism!" and "Death to colonialism!"

Surprising support from an Afro-Asian peacemaking group for the United Nations operation in the Congo drew cheers from the West today and caused some embarrassment in the Soviet Union and its African friends.

Western sources said recommendations from the 11-nation conciliation commission which has spent six weeks in the Congo appeared to be generally in line with a program U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson had been trying to work out in consultations here.

The commission recommended, in effect, that the United Nations take firmer action—a move which Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold himself has proposed—to pacify the Congo and get its factional leaders together for a "summit conference."

Rioting raged for hours through the streets of Lagos, the Nigerian capital, before police tear-gas attacks broke up the mobs and restored order. No Americans were injured and no native deaths were reported.

Interstate Road Proposal Meets County Approval

Seminole County residents have no quarrels with the State Road Department over the proposed Interstate Highway from SR 44 to N. King St. in Orlando.

At the public hearing on the proposed road in Winter Park Thursday there were no objections from any of the county residents to the project, although some 25 persons from the county attended.

County Commission Chairman J. C. Hutchinson questioned SRD officials and engineers on the various separations and interchanges in the highway and said he personally felt it would be a "good thing for the county."

Bryan Kimball of the County Zoning Committee, told the engineers of the interest from this county on the road and said they thought highly of it.

Most of the objections at the hearing came from residents of Lake Killarney in Orange County who complained that the road would take away from the beauty of their property.

The proposed road would stretch some 18 miles and cost in the neighborhood of $15 million.

Fair Exhibits Due By Sunday

Officers of the 1961 American Legion Fair Assn. have advised that spaces will be marked and a Fair official on hand to assist all exhibitors planning entries in this year's County Fair which opens Monday for the public at 4 p. m.

Exhibits may be placed Saturday at the Fair Grounds on Hwy. 17-92 from 9 a. m. until noon and on Sunday from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m.

As each article is entered a tag or label should be filled out giving the number or letter of the class, the lot number and the name and address of the exhibitor.

Where agricultural items are entered, the tag or label should show the name or variety of the specimen exhibited.

Fair Association President John F. McCloskey, has advised that the management will not be responsible for exhibited articles but every precaution to save them from theft or damage will be taken.

After the opening day, the Exposition Building will be opened to the public at 5 p. m. Throughout the week, closing time has been set at 10 p. m.

"An extravaganza" is expected in the livestock exhibition for this year's fair, Cecil Carlton, chairman of the livestock committee, said today.

"We will have a complete livestock exhibit, from sheep to horses and including all poultry on display, Carlton said.

Pens and facilities are available for additional entries by livestock owners and they may be entered in the show by contacting Carlton.

Thursday will be a highlight day at the fair. All county schools will dismiss early to allow the 12,882 students to attend Children's Day at the Fair. A free boys' and girls' bicycle will be awarded and student free admission passes will be honored from 2 p. m. until 6 p. m. All rides and concessions will be at reduced prices for the three-hour period.

Civil Service Law To Be Discussed

The City Commission and Civil Service Board will meet in a special session Monday night to discuss proposed civil service legislation.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m.

City Manager W. E. Knowles and many of the city's department heads have voiced objections to the proposed law because it "whittles away the authority of department heads."

The Civil Service Board said in a hearing on the proposed bill recently that the revised law was drawn up to "protect the employees."

However Knowles contended that the main function of the board should be to protect the public.

Road Probers Hear Of Whisky Gifts

MIAMI (UPI) — Road contractors listed for a legislative investigating committee today thousands of dollars they spent on whisky and small gifts to State Road Department employees.

Only one witness at the hearing recounted for the second day admitted, however, that his firm had made cash gifts to state employees.

The committee, headed by Sen. Scott Kelly of Lakeland, voted unanimously to cite for contempt anyone found intimidating witnesses.

Sen. James Connor of Brooksville reported "at least one of the witnesses who testified Thursday has been threatened since he testified." There also were reports of threats to one witness Thursday.

William H. Fields, assistant secretary of C. T. Stockton, Inc., said his road building firm had made some cash payments to State Road Department engineers at Christmas time.

From 1954 through 1960, Fields testified, the Stockton firm spent more than $12,000 on whisky for State Road Department employees, most of it given at Christmas time.

Kennedy Attacked On Wage Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO today attacked President Kennedy's proposal to raise the minimum wage law as "not good enough."

AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer William F. Schmitzler asked Congress to approve an immediate step-up in the federal floor under wages from $1 to $1.25 an hour and expansion of coverage to six million additional workers.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, former AFL-CIO special counsel, was expected to defend the administration's proposal for a gradual increase to $1.25 and extension of the law's protection to 4.3 million more persons.

Goldberg was called as the lead witness at hearings before a House Labor subcommittee on the wage-hour improvement endorsed by Kennedy as anti-recession tools.

Schmitzler in testimony prepared for delivery to the subcommittee, said enactment of the AFL-CIO proposals would put $1.2 billion into the hands of consumers compared to $600 million under the Kennedy program.

THE THEORY OF DOUBLE PROTECTION

Somehow we don't think of the baby's bassinet as a "scientific development." But it is. It has been designed to protect a child from exterior hazards—and from himself. Religion isn't what we would call "scientific." But it, too, embraces this theory of double protection. The man or woman who worships God faithfully is prepared for the unexpected crises in life. And his mature conscience is ready to cope with temptation. This isn't to say that nothing ever goes wrong for the ardent church-goer. But he meets each outward or inward challenge with adequate spiritual resources. There are compelling reasons why you need the Church and its undergirding strength. And for every one that is evident today, there are others you'll confront tomorrow.

HAPPINESS THROUGH HEALTH (BY DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Pains In Joints May Be Rheumatic Fever

The seriousness of rheumatic fever (inflammatory rheumatism), especially in children, cannot be overestimated. This time of the year when one is exposed to cold and dampness there is more danger of having the disease. The condition can start with a mild to a severe sore throat followed by fever and very painful joints. The symptoms may be mild and go unnoticed. The danger here lies in that cases that are not carefully cared for may develop a serious heart disease known as rheumatic endocarditis. Symptoms of the heart involvement may not show up until some time later.

After other methods have failed, many try Chiropractic as a last resort. Yet many of these more difficult cases get well. If any of the above symptoms occur, don't hesitate but call in a chiropractor immediately. Quick action may save a life or prevent a disabling heart.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.)

TURN HERE FOR THE SMARTEST BUYS ON THE ROAD

'61 MERCURY
Save on upkeep with 7 self-servicing features. Things like a pre-lubricated chassis that won't need a lube for 30,000 miles. A shorter exterior (for easy handling) is built around a roomier interior than last year. Doors are wider. More spacious trunk. New Super-Economy engines include Mercury's first "6" — give up to 15% more gas mileage.

Comet isn't resting on its laurels. Sure, it's the proud compact success. The only one with fine-car styling. Now it's even better. Oviedo Woman's Club President Wins Prize At Fashion Show

Mrs. R. W. Estes, president of the Oviedo Woman's Club, won first prize in the Vogue Fashion contest, at the Club, last Friday.

Mrs. Estes, an accomplished seamstress, made and modeled a two piece white outfit. The coat had wide lapels and buttoned at the waist with a red flower arrangement.

Her accessories were all red with blue and white shoes. She will represent the local club at the district contest in Winter Park.

Others who modeled dresses, they made, were Mrs. James E. Broushier, Mrs. Joe Battle, Mrs. Jack Isold, Mrs. Roy Britt, Mrs. Frank E. Morgan, Mrs. Lynn Moser, Mrs. George Carlton, Mrs.

Bob Ward and Mrs. Ray Beasley. Mrs. Carlton modeled a versatile two piece outfit that could be worn two ways. She was also narrator for the show. Mrs. Ward wore a sack dress and Mrs. Beasley modeled an unusual outfit, made of newspapers, trimmed in red with red accessories.

Following the fashion show, Mrs. Tom Ferrell gave an interesting lecture on hat designing. She displayed several hats she had designed, some copied from expensive ones she had seen. To complete a real fashion day, some of the members modeled the hats for Mrs. Ferrell.

A chicken and yellow rice luncheon was served preceding the meeting.

Loss Of Perspective

By BRUCE BOBBAY

A suburban lad handcuffed a young adult couple, strangers to him, and held them in their home at gun point for hours. His grievance? He didn't want to return to the private school his parents had chosen for him.

A five-year-old, angered because a relative refused to take him along on a little trip, carried out his threat and burned down the man's house and barn.

These are merely new examples of a not uncommon phenomenon of the times. All of us have read again and again of instances in which boys of varying ages have shot and killed one or both of their parents for such minor grievances as having been criticized for not doing their homework.

For a good while it was the fashion in some expert circles to ascribe such behavior either to the tensions of a troubled age or to some dark, mysterious inner human compulsion.

Certainly every case is an individual thing and no one could in good sense automatically rule out either one of these possible causes. There are indeed twisted, tense youngsters just as there are warped adults.

But in the last year or so some students of youthful behavior have begun to suggest that in many cases the cause of shocking misdeeds may be far from deeply puzzling.

They say the evidence is substantial that in countless cases the problem is simply an almost total lack of sound values.

Some youngsters, they say, resort quickly and easily to violent means for redressing even the most trivial grievances because they have never really been forcefully taught that such means are not acceptable in an orderly society living under law.

Their parents often do not enforce the most elemental disciplines. Even when they try, they frequently fail to fix in the growing child's mind the idea that violence is not an approved counterweight to any grievance, small or large.

Meaning, such children are being deluged with comic books, television programs and similar presentations which daily proclaim to them that violence is not only acceptable, but is in all too many instances the only final means of redress.

These distortions of life which flood the American living room cannot alone be blamed. For they fill an awful vacuum of values.

When a good system of values is taught from the earliest age, we can have some hope that children from five on up—excepting always the truly abnormal—will not kill their mothers and fathers because they were refused a favor or ordered to their room.

Violence is kept under control when it is kept in sane perspective.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's position as a principal Kennedy adviser on North Atlantic Treaty Organization affairs indicates that the Atlantic Alliance will be the bedrock of U. S. foreign policy for the future.

Acheson is the chief architect of NATO. He has long held that any U. S. foreign policy which is not based on close cooperation with the British and western Europe does not make sense.

In today's part-Communist, part non-Communist world, a stronger Atlantic Alliance offers certain strengths and also certain risks.

The basic strength is that if the assets of western Europe, Canada and the United States are pooled, their 600 million highly skilled and educated people outnumber and can outproduce Soviet Russia and its eastern European satellites, 2 to 1.

If Communist China is included in the Soviet camp, the Reds outnumber the Atlantic Alliance 8 to 5. One goal of the alliance thus becomes the recruiting of enough support from the new neutral or uncommitted nations of the world to offset the Communist advantage.

Red Liberalism Unmasked By Arrest Of Pasternak Aide

NEW YORK (NEA)—The arrest in Russia of Olga Ivinskaya and her daughter casts more doubt on the current view that the regime of Premier Khrushchev is more "liberal" than Stalin's.

What was Ivinskaya's crime? She was a devoted friend and collaborator of Boris Pasternak and the model for Lara, the heroine of his great novel, "Doctor Zhivago."

It is in the nature of dictators, whatever their color, never to forgive any challenge to their rule. "Doctor Zhivago" became the symbol of spiritual freedom in our age—an idea that will not let the Soviet rulers rest in peace in the Kremlin. Since Pasternak himself was too famous and too ill to be punished by the Soviet secret police, his friends and collaborators must pay the price even after his death.

It is indeed a tribute to Pasternak's memory that Moscow Radin even now hypocritically protests that in age and sickness he was the victim of Olga Ivinskaya's anti-Soviet conspiracies. Even after his death, Communist propagandists do not dare to attack Pasternak directly.

Pasternak, of course, foresaw the danger of Olga Ivinskaya and was deeply anxious about her future should he die.

In a letter he wrote to a friend outside Russia at the beginning of 1959, he warned:

"If, God forbid, they should arrest Olga, I will send you a telegram that someone has caught scarlet fever. This last word will have all the coded meaning of a fact. In that event, all the bells should be made to ring as would be done in my own case, for an attack on her is a blow at me."

Pasternak was convinced that the only protection for Ivinskaya and her children lay in the free West. Himself an extremely courageous man, even in the spiritual dungeon in which he was forced to live, he had, alas, an exaggerated faith in the courage of the "piousness" Western intellectuals.

Where, one might ask, are the bleeding hearts who are quick to protest against any real or imaginary injustice in "capitalist" America? Why are they silent about Ivinskaya and her daughter?

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD

Above a certain table, in a corner of a bistro in Waikiki, hangs a silver symbol. The helmeted head of a knight. It indicates that the table belongs to Les Chevaliers de la Table Ronde.

The Knights of the Round Table. Of which I am one.

Not much of a knight, I suppose, but you should see the other four.

Two or three nights a week, for the past several months, the chevaliers have gathered at that little round table in a corner of Le Coq d'Or, to sip Cafe Guillaume and swap outrageous yarns.

Cafe Guillaume, a French brew concocted for the chevaliers by the proprietor, Monsieur Alphonse Batz, looks like Irish coffee, but isn't. It consists of hot coffee, brandy and coffee liqueur, topped by a ghostly blob of chilled whipped cream.

By William Drury

Monsieur Batz is a chevalier. In fact, he and I founded La Table Ronde. We would sit at that table and talk of an evening, because we liked each other's company. And sometimes George Berton, Monsieur Batz's French chef, would leave his kitchen to join us in a Cafe Guillaume.

Next came Johnny Kealoha, an Hawaiian taxi driver, who proved an amiable companion.

And then came Anick.

Anick, the only honorary member of our little band, has all the rights and privileges of a chevalier but cannot be regarded as a knight for the simple reason that she is a woman.

Her real name is Helene Adams and she presides over another French restaurant, La Parisienne. She was invited to join Les Chevaliers de la Table Ronde for several excellent reasons, the most important being that she has a pretty French wit and a pretty French face.

Besides that, she happens to be a very brave woman.

We call her Anick because during World War II, in her native France, she was an undercover agent who worked with the Resistance and later the O.S.S. and Anick was her code name.

A chevalier must be an agreeable companion, have a talent for telling tall tales, be something of a bon vivant, and respect sinners as well as saints.

The subjects we discuss are usually interesting. We may plan the perfect murder, for instance. Or devise some foolproof scheme to steal the Statue of Liberty.

The chevaliers have a curious custom, which never fails to amuse other patrons of Le Coq d'Or.

When the first Cafe Guillaume is served, every chevalier—including Anick—must raise his glass in a silent salute and dip first his chin and then his nose in the whipped cream.

The effect is ludicrous, of course. But the purpose of that gesture is to ensure that no pompous stuff-shirt, whether chevalier or guest, ever sits at our table.

And, believe me, no stuff-shirt would dare.

WASHINGTON

The shiny new brown leather swivel chair represented a painful symbol for Judge Smith. It was insult over injury. When it arrived, the white hairs bristled on his neck.

So he took the chair—and impounded it.

The judge is Rep. Howar Smith (D-Va.). Two weeks ago he lost his supreme trust over the House Rules Committee. Congress had voted—over Smith's protests—three new members to his committee to undam blocked-up legislation.

Smith was still raw and hurt over the defeat when an onlooker taunted him. "I see," said the kibitzer, looking out over the chair-ringed committee table, "that the three new members of the committee have only straight-back chairs, and the nine others have swivel chairs."

The lanky, colorful old man gazed across the long table of his once-proud and controlled committee and said:

"Those chairs are good enough for them. They'll be around for only this session anyway."

The judge's sentiment didn't go down too kindly in Alabama, where one of the three new committee members, Carl Elliott, has a lot of friends.

The constituents passed around a hat for a chair that was at least as good as that cranky old Judge Smith's. Collected more than $200, largely in quarters and dimes from small children.

Then, just before noon Monday, the chair arrived—a handsome thing embellished with a plaque that read:

"To Congressman Carl Elliott from his friends, citizens and taxpayers of the Seventh Congressional District of Alabama who believe that their Congressman, who has risen from a tenant farmer's son to a member of the

by Ed Koterba

House Rules Committee, is entitled to a chair equal to those used by other members of the committee."

Photographers scrambled up to the committee office to take pictures of the chair that represented such a gratifying gesture of constituents.

But Judge Smith had Elliott's chair locked in his own private office.

"I'm not," he said, "going to have a picture made of any chair some d---n fool sent up here." We told him the chair was sent by children, among others.

The lawmaker studied his long, unlit cigar, and his jaw muscles worked. "I don't," he said, finally, "care who blankety-blank it was." He didn't exactly say "blankety-blank."

But by a strange coincidence, shortly after the hot chair arrived, Judge Smith's clerk urgently sought three swivel chairs from the Capitol's property people.

The three were promptly sent up, but they didn't match the big, black ones in use since 1953. As it turns out, neither did Elliott's new, brown chair match.

Judge Smith could have ruled it out on those grounds, but he didn't. He was against that chair on principle. It had ground salt into an old warhorse's wound.

Elliott would soon remove the chair to his own office. But no one could remove the string. Somehow I sort of feel sorry for ol' Judge Smith...

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Donnie is "on the spot". And his parents must beware lest they stunt Donnie in 2 or 3 of his "quintuplet" personalities. Too much stress has been placed on sheer I. Q. and brainmaster test-bank facts. "Horse sense" is the real yardstick for measuring a total personality. Beware of slipping grades!

CASE H-411: Donnie F., aged 9, is a gifted child.

"Dr. Crane, the school psychologist says Donnie has an I.Q. of 135 and thus is able to do the work of boys far ahead of his age."

"So teachers have agreed to let Donnie skip two full years. That means they want him to move out of the 4th grade and place him in the 6th."

"What would you do if it were one of your children, Dr. Crane?"

Beware of too much concern over a high I. Q. for success in life is also based on physical equality with one's associates, plus emotional similarity in outlook.

One of Harvard's most brilliant geniuses, with an I. Q. far higher than that of Donnie, thus was pushed through college and graduated at 18.

But he never dated because he was not of the same calendar age, physical ability and emotional level as his classmates.

They regarded him as child and a "kid," as he was in all respects except his ability to make top grades in class exams.

After graduating from Harvard he became a small salaried clerk and for his hobby collected discarded streetcar transfers which he picked up from the gutters of New York's streets.

His living quarters were piled to the ceiling with such piles of old transfers, when he died at an early age.

So his life was wasted, despite the genius rating on his I. Q. tests and his phenomenal record at Harvard.

Donnie should be viewed as 5 personalities in one, so his mother should visualize him as quintuplets.

For we psychologists classify children into various "age" brackets, such as Physical, Emotional, Spiritual, Educational and Mental.

Donnie's high I. Q. proves that he is "big" in the "Mental" quintuplet but what about the other four quintets?

At Northwestern University a few years ago he admitted a special class of 15-year-olds into college, for their high I. Q. qualified them for class work.

But they were misfits on the campus, emotionally ostracized and physically dwarfed in contrast with the usual 18-year-olds, so they couldn't compete in sports.

They led lonely, ostracized existence, much like the Harvard genius mentioned above.

So beware of letting children "skip" grades!

If a boy comes from large, tall ancestry, you might let him skip a full year without jeopardizing his athletic "quint." And a girl might even skip more than that.

But I personally refused to let our sons skip more than a single semester, lest it make social, physical and emotional misfits out of them.

"But what about that wasted high I. Q. of Donnie?" you may inquire.

It will not be wasted if the teacher harnesses it by making him monitor and tutor of other less alert children.

Boy Scouts and YMCA activities also will channel his unused I. Q. Let him carry a newspaper route as soon as possible and join the "Compliment Club."

Encourage him to read this column and make scrapbooks thereof, for a high I. Q. can be occupied with far more subjects than just the English, geography, math and history of the grammar grades.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4c stamped, addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Editor:

To follow up the article "Casselberry Falls to Nominate New Alderman" I would like to attempt to clarify one or two points which weren't clearly expressed.

The statement in the town meeting by the town clerk which you printed, "Mrs. Lillian Beisel, clerk, reminded Lady that he is on the voter registration books as a member of the Republican Party" has nothing to do with Casselberry politics AS FAR AS I AM CONCERNED.

In the recent election, I was elected as a United Citizens candidate, and was opposed by the Republican Club, which is allegedly "non-partisan in local affairs." This can be interpreted in two ways. You might say that they didn't have anything to do with local politics which is certainly untrue as they have controlled the election of municipal officials until this year, or you could say that their candidates weren't necessarily Republicans. In either case, I can't give you an answer, I am not in the INNER CIRCLE of the Republican Club and the entire question is beyond me.

Her statement was obviously intended to imply that I owed some party affiliations to the Republican Club. I am a registered Republican and will be one until such time as Florida has a strong two party system, at which time I will be more considerate of my registration. This has nothing to do with personal political philosophies or how I cast my votes at election time.

Being a Republican Club Candidate, Mrs. Beisel should know whether I "owe" any responsibility to the Casselberry Republican Club, due to my GOP affiliations, or not.

Seminoles Eliminated; OBC Semi-Finals Slated Tonight

The Sanford Seminoles were eliminated from the opening round of the OBC tournament here Thursday night by a score of 55-40 to the Wildwood Wildcats. This advanced Wildwood to the semi-finals tonight and they will meet top ranking Apopka at 8:30.

In other action Leesburg pulled out a thriller over the De-

Land Bulldogs by a score of 37-33. With only two minutes remaining the game was tied at 33-33 but the bigger Jackets dropped in two fast buckets to pull it out of the fire.

In the 7 p. m. tilt between Lakeview and Winter Park the Parkers took advantage of the absence of Lakeview star Maurice Hazen and rolled past the Red Devils by a score of 67-42.

They took a quick first quarter lead and never were threatened. The victories by Leesburg and Winter Park pairs them off tonight at 7 in the semi-final round. The two winners of tonight's games will meet Saturday at 8:30 for the championship.

The Seminoles, minus star guard George Perides who will be out for quite some time due to sickness, gave it a game effort and at the end of the first period they held a four point advantage. Midway the second period they got hot and moved out in front by eight points but as the half ended the determined Wildcats had come back to tie the score at 22-22.

As the Seminoles took to the floor in the second half it seemed that they could not do anything right and the Wildcats could do no wrong. They failed on 12 free throw attempts and were called for walking on several occasions.

In the third period the Wildcats broke the game open by scoring 21 points while the Seminoles were held to eight. With three minutes remaining the Seminoles managed to cut the lead to eight points but once again the Wildcats met the challenge and ran away with the tilt.

For the Seminoles Doug Tamny and John Marsh led the attack with 10 points each and John Taylor was next in line with eight. For Wildwood Robert Thomas led the way with 13 while Roger was close behind with 12. Big Charles Lucas dominated the boards and also added 11 points.

FIRST FIELD GOAL OF THE GAME was scored by John Taylor, shown going up to dump it as Wildwood's Lucas (11) conceded the score. (Herald Photo)

Sanford JVs Play For OBC Honors

The Sanford Jaycees will be out for a decision with the Baby Blue Darters of Apopka and the top honors among OBC B squads Saturday night in the preliminary game before the tournament finals.

The Sanford juniors won a close game from Apopka's reserves then lost the next one, so this will decide their season's series.

Coach Ralph Stumpf said Thursday night that his cagers figure to be improved since the last encounter with their Apopka foes. The Seminole Bs only hit about 19 percent of their shots in that game, when the game average had been 35 percent for the year.

Marksmanship was vastly improved in the closing contests of the year, especially for Duck McMurray, who hit for a high of 27 points last time out against Oviedo.

The Sanford Jaycees go into the tournament with a 13-3 won-lost record, with #2 for OBC play. The Apopka B squad has the same mark in the conference and an outstanding 17-3 season slate.

Only other conquerors of the speedy Baby Darters were Edgewater and Leesburg.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman who has a very dear friend. She and I always do our marketing and errands together because she has a car and I do not.

I suppose you'll think I'm terrible for complaining, but she drives like a maniac. Every time I get into her car I feel like I'm taking my life in my hands. She speeds, goes through red lights and talks so much she doesn't watch where she's going. Do I dare tell her she is a poor driver? Or should I keep quiet and try to get out of riding with her?

weren't as "well brought up" as you think.

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband has been writing to me constantly, telling me what a fool he was to give me up. He wants me to break up my home and come back to him.

I have been married for 15 years to another man and we have a fine family. My ex-husband is also remarried and has children of his own. (We never had children together.)

I tell him to forget about me, and stay with his present family. I've tried to discourage him in every way I can, but he keeps on writing and pleading. How can I put a stop to this? I hate to hurt him. I was never too crazy about him when I was married to him.

DEAR PUZZLED: I am constantly amazed at the number of people who wouldn't dream of eating in a home where the food might be poisoned, yet they'll get into an automobile with a driver who is careless, incompetent and even intoxicated. Tell your friend you refuse to drive with her unless she drives safely and obeys the laws.

DEAR EX-WIFE: Return his letters, unopened.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MADAME BUTTERFLY": Have nothing more to do with him until he can give you proof (from a physician) that he is 100% well.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently engaged and people have been CONGRATULATING me! I was very well brought up and was taught that when a woman marries, it is the husband who is congratulated. The wife is given "best wishes." What do you say to these rude and ignorant people who say "congratulations" to a bride as though she had finally captured a rhinoceros?

'Ocean's Eleven' Set For Movieland

Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin are co-starring in "Ocean's Eleven" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Others in the top flight cast are Peter Lawford, Sammy Davis Jr. and Angie Dickinson.

The film is a fast paced comedy-melodrama with a glamorous Las Vegas setting.

The other feature on the program is "High Time" with Bing Crosby and Tuesday Weld. Both features will play through Tuesday.

On Wednesday and Thursday, "The Trap" with Richard Widmark and "Ask Any Girl" with Shirley MacLaine will play.

A giant triple program will play Friday and Saturday. They are "GI Blues," with Elvis Presley, "7 Ways From Sundown" and "The Rat Patrol," with Tony Curtis.

CLARK GABLE plays a robust itinerant cowboy in "The Misfits" coming to the Ritz Theatre Sunday.

'The Misfits' Coming To Ritz

The finest creative talents in the world of entertainment were brought together for the production of "The Misfits," the new film slated to open at the Ritz Theatre Sunday.

The picture stars Clark Gable, Marilyn Monroe and Montgomery Clift, with Thelma Ritter and Eli Wallach co-starring.

The screenplay for "The Misfits" is the first written by Pulitzer Prize winner Arthur Miller, one of America's foremost contemporary playwrights, whose fame and reputation is world wide.

Filmed for the most part in Nevada, "The Misfits" is an electrifying drama of three independent men and one woman, and their attitudes toward the world in which they live. The world being the raw, carnival atmosphere of a small-time rodeo near Reno.

Weekend TV

FRIDAY

"Route 66" on CBS consists of the second part of its "Fly Away Home" story about a crop-duster.

On NBC "Hell Telephone Hour" presents "The Sounds of America" with an original musical score by Gordon Jenkins into which are woven traditional airs illustrating the country's history. Dancers Gene Nelson and Jacques d'Amboise and the Earl Twins are performers.

SATURDAY

The pro basketball game on NBC is between Los Angeles and New York.

Southern Methodist plays Texas in the College basketball game on ABC.

"The Lincoln Murder Case" is a 90-minute "Show of the Month" drama on CBS. A modern investigator examines the evidence in the plot to assassinate the president, with the indication that the arch-conspirator may have been Secretary of War Edwin Stanton.

SUNDAY

Luther Adler and Alexander Scourby are in the cast. "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "Gunsmoke" are preempted.

ABC's "Fight of the Week" features a middleweight 10-rounder between Gene Armstrong and Dick Tiger.

NBC pro basketball between Boston and Syracuse.

"The Sunday Sports Spectacular" on CBS will devote its 90 minutes to a aerial circus from Doylestown, Pa.

The first of "The Great Challenge" shows on CBS will be a one-hour discussion of "The World Strategy of the United States as a Great Power." Panel members will be Adlai Stevenson, historian Arnold J. Toynbee, Dr. Henry Kissinger, expert on international affairs, economist Dr. Paul A. Samuelson and Rear Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, retired, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Color Does Things For Wardrobe

"Do you think that a woman who has always been alone and worked for her family can suddenly change her mind? I am now alone and the money we saved for is mine alone but, having lost the last member of my family, the financial security seems to mean nothing to me. I am sixty-one and never have been anywhere, have no clothes and no 'social manners.' I have read much because I had to keep my mind occupied. I could not go out or have people come in. I own the house where I live, M.M."

First of all, move. This is, from my viewpoint, the most important thing, and I hope you will get a small apartment and furnish it with modern things using lots of color. Go to a good store and consult the fashion director and have her help you with the selection of some new clothes. Have your hair done, join a club, a church, ask to help on civic programs, invite the women you like to your home for tea or coffee or just for conversation. Your reading will prove of use to you and you do not need what you call "social manners"—just the heart for friends and the need of them. Also I hope that you will consider taking a trip. You can go by boat and relax and meet new people. Have some fun, you have earned it. Make a new life now, after sixty. You can!

"I look best with an open neckline, but my neck is withered and dry. I wear necklaces but they don't flatter such a 'background.' What can I do? I have just been introduced to your column, 'Beauty After Forty' and that's for me!—Sylvia S."

Welcome to "Beauty After Forty." Send for my leaflet, "How to Youthify Your Neck." The plan is simple and it works; that is, if you work at following the directions for caring for your neck. Send me a long, self-addressed, four cent stamped envelope and ten cents in coin. But do not send for it unless you intend to really make use of it.

Basic Education Needed In Texts

Mrs. John R. (Dorothy) Witt of Deland, speaking to members of the DeBarry Woman's Club, advised that the dangers of communistic infiltration into text books calls for the return to the three R's.

Mrs. Witt, a former teacher, has served on a state committee making an investigation of today's texts and has appeared on the Central Florida Showcase as well as before many civic and community meetings.

Her appearance for the DeBarry women was arranged by the Civic and International Dept. of the club which also staged a panel discussion following the talk.

The meeting was held in the Community Center and Mrs. Wallace Gable, president, presided at the coffee service with Mrs. Adam Muller, corresponding secretary at the punch bowl. Members of the department provided tea sandwiches and cookies for the refreshment period.

More forest fires in the United States are started on Sunday than any other day in the week.

Massive School Aid Bill Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a controversy-laden education program which would authorize $5.6 billion in federal grants and loans to build public schools, boost teachers' salaries and increase college opportunities.

Key provisions of the President's special message would:—Authorize federal grants of $2.3 billion for public school construction and teachers' salaries for the next three years, with each state deciding how much of the money would go for each function. The money would equal a minimum of $15 for every public school student "in average daily attendance."

—Establish a five-year program of state-administered scholarships for up to 212,500 "talented and needy" college students at an overall federal cost of $377.3 million. The average scholarship would be $1,000. Colleges and universities would get $350 a year additional for teaching each federal scholarship student. States would have to pass out the scholarships competitively "without regard to sex, race, creed or color."

—Extend the college housing loan program for five years at $250 million annually, and provide $200 million a year in loans for five years to help build college classrooms, laboratories, libraries and related academic facilities.

Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to serve in the White House, made a special point of noting that parochial and private elementary and secondary schools would be excluded from the program.

"In accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution, no elementary or secondary school funds are allocated for constructing church schools or paying church school teachers' salaries," the President said.

Kennedy, in an effort to win over lawmakers, fearful of federal control of schools said "education must remain a matter of state and local control, and higher education a matter of individual choice."

But he said the nation's "twin goals must be: a new standard of excellence in education—and the availability of such excellence to all who are willing and able to pursue it."

"This is a modest program with ambitious goals," Kennedy told Congress. "For some 40 years, the Congress has wrestled with this problem and searched for a workable solution. I believe that we now have such a solution; and that this Congress is in this year will make a landmark contribution to American education."

Federal aid to be provided for elementary and secondary public schools would be distributed under a formula giving poorer states such as Mississippi, a bigger relative share than richer states, such as New York.

Board To Set Road Priorities

The County Commission will outline its top road priority project for the coming year at its meeting Tuesday, Chairman J. C. Hutchison said today.

At the same time the board is expected to consider approving the $500,000 road bond issue.

The board met in a special closed meeting last week for a briefing on the top projects by Road Supt. J. L. Lavender.

The commission hopes to have its program worked out in time for the State Road Department budget hearing scheduled Mar. 9 in Deland.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board will also discuss county top projects and consider an extensive maintenance program this year—instead of new paving work.

—Extend the college housing loan program for five years at $250 million annually, and provide $200 million a year in loans for five years to help build college classrooms, laboratories, libraries and related academic facilities.

JACKSONVILLE — Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, Florida State Health Officer, emphasized at the final session of the annual meeting of the Florida Association of County Health Officers that the recommendation for additional state funds for the operation of county health departments had not been approved by the State Budget Commission.

Volunteers Joining Heart Fund Drive

Heart Sunday this year falls on Feb. 26 and the enlistment of area captains and block workers continues in full force, with Bob Katze at Heart Sunday chairman.

Plans for the drive this year have been changed to allow workers to begin their collections on Thursday. This allows the volunteer helpers more time in case of conflicting activities and the possibility of inclement weather, which has been an experience of the past.

All the workers for the annual Heart Fund Drive and members of the Seminole-DeBary Heart Council are unpaid volunteers. They know, often from personal experience, that heart disease is no respecter of persons and can strike any one, of any age, at any time, often without warning. Research into the causes of our public health enemy number one, is carried on through the contributions of all the potential victims of the various forms of heart disease and the many who have already suffered from heart attacks or other heart trouble.

President of the Seminole-DeBary Heart Council this year is Tom Armao of DeBary, assisted by a year-round staff of voluntary members who are local business people and some members of the medical profession. Mrs. Loretta Munson is special events chairman, which includes the Fred Waring Show, The Queen of Hearts Contest at Skate City, the Kart City Races, Mayfair Golf Tourney and other special programs where proceeds are donated to the Heart Fund.

Mrs. Dorothy Odiam is ticket chairman of the Fred Waring Show coming in the Civic Center Thursday at 8 p. m. and Mrs. John Morgan is sponsor ticket chairman.

Crowds Applaud Improved Works In Art Show

By D. HIGGINBOTHAM

Large crowds streamed through the Civic Center Sunday to view the second annual Art Show, sponsored by the Sanford Art Assn. Many were repeat visitors from last year's first showing of its kind in the county who were impressed with the work of the Sanford group.

The quality of the work this year was greatly improved and the level of the presentation was very favorable, visiting artists and judges said.

Jury awards were made in two categories, one for work done in oils and one for all other media, including pastels, water colors and charcoals. Only the original works were considered for the judges' decisions though many copies were entered.

First place in the oil painting category was awarded to Mrs. Georgia Ball, for her "Indian Mound Village Oak." Second place winner was entitled "The Coast of Maine" by E. B. Stowe. "Fruit and Vine," by Beth Gregory was judged third place winner and honorable mention was given to a painting by Gretchen Lewis Crowell, entitled "Eternal Supreme."

In the second category the pastel "Still Life" of Joe Mathieux won first place, with a water color, "Rhythm" by Mrs. Helen DeWitt, taking second. A charcoal drawing called "Life Study" by Beth Gregory was given third place, with the honorable mention going to Mrs. A. B. Stevens' water color, "Red Poppies."

A Junior Artistic Division was judged and "Tray and Cup" by Tommy Hutchinson and "Fruit Bowl" by Diana Jarrett both received honorable mention.

Two special awards were presented, one to John Stufflebeam for his "Teapot and Apples" and one to a painting, entitled "Fishnets" by Margaret Toeva.

Judges for the showing were Dr. Janis Stiles, professor of art history at Rollins College and Tom Peterson, art teacher at the college.

General chairman of this second art show was Mrs. Beth Gregory and making arrangements for the tea and refreshments which were served to visitors was Mrs. Fred Gann, assisted by Mrs. Frank Donahoe and Mrs. Fannar Braden.

All of the award-winning pictures will be exhibited for one week on the display wall at Senkarik's Paint and Glass Store on Magnolia Ave., beginning today.

60 Catholic Schools In Dixie Told To Mix

By United Press International

Plans to desegregate Catholic parochial schools in Georgia and South Carolina will affect about 60 schools, a survey disclosed today.

The Catholic bishops of the dioceses of Atlanta and Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S. C., announced in pastoral letters Sunday that Catholic children "regardless of color" will be admitted to Catholic schools "as soon as this can be done with safety."

The bishops said the desegregation would be an effort on the part of Catholics to influence the Southern "way of life." The letters said desegregation "will not be done later than the public schools." Atlanta is under federal court order to desegregate public schools next fall.

There is a total of 16 parochial and two privately-operated Catholic schools in the Atlanta diocese. Two of these are Negro elementary schools with a total student body of about 600. There is no Negro Catholic high school.

The Charleston diocese covers all of South Carolina and includes 52 parochial elementary and five high schools. St. Anne's at Rock Hill, S. C., which has 12 Negro and 78 white students, is the only parochial school in the two states which is already integrated.

Sister Ruth, mother superior of Our Lady of Lourdes elementary school in Atlanta, said that there are currently about 150 Catholics attending public Negro high schools in the city.

The bishops' letter indicated that parochial school integration was near at hand.
